

Police Department "Really Botched Up" Murder Investigation

'Just Ignorant' Deputy D.A. Says About Officers

There was one point upon which both the defense and the prosecution agreed during the trial of Mrs. Maralyn Warrington, 23 mother of three, who was charged with murdering her husband on Oct. 23, 1962 — the Henderson police department "really botched things up."

Mrs. Warrington was acquitted by a jury of seven men and five women when they returned their verdict late last evening.

All is the statement of E. E. Freedman, Deputy District Attorney in one way. He is the Managing Editor of the Henderson Home News. In order that the argument printed here is from the court reporter J. V. Bower:

Mr. Freedman: "Before I go into any more of the physical evidence I would like to point out one thing—one thing or possibly more things like the State is in agreement with the defense and I hate to say, but I agree with Mr. Claiborne that the Henderson Police Department really botched things up."

I don't think there is any doubt about it. You observed them testifying.

Honestly, I believe they are just ignorant. I really do. Here is an officer—I think anyone who goes to movies knows that you don't pick up a murder weapon at the scene and grab it and pick it up and take it back to the police department.

Anyone who has gone to high school or has read anything about crimes knows that you don't pick up the murder weapon."

Three Day Leap Year Sale Event To Start Today

Leap Year Sale Days and Bonus Coin Days will be featured here today through Saturday with local merchants offering bargain prices on a wide variety of merchandise including clothing, household items, groceries, drugs and cosmetics, and materials for home improvements.

Check your merchants advertisements in this edition of the Home News for special prices on everything imaginable.

In addition, the change in your pocket may be worth more than its face value during this big sale.

There will be a loud speaker near the Rexall Drug and another at the Safeway shopping center. At intervals during the sale, certain coins can be swapped for valuable merchandise.

Urban Renewal Eligibility Kept Alive for 1964

The City Council agreed at a special session last night to apply for renewal of its certification for eligibility for Urban Renewal approval, although it indicated that Urban Renewal projects were some distance away.

The certification must be renewed each year, and if it is not, according to City Administrator Hal Corbin, the city has no chance to participate in the program set up on a 75 per cent federal, 25 per cent local contribution basis.

Contrary to a wide-spread belief in the community, the city is not about to launch on a major urban renewal program — due mostly to the lack of finances for the city's share.

But City officials said, and the council agreed, it was a good idea to keep the door open for future use.

CITIZEN OF THE MONTH Through Boom and Bust ... He Never Lost Faith

By RAE Von DORNUM (Ed note—M. E. 'Gene' Ward has been selected by the editorial staff of the HOME NEWS as the February recipient of our 'CITIZEN OF THE MONTH' award. Gene has played a large part in the building of Clark County and the City of Henderson. The force which seems to have motivated his successful career is his great desire to help others. Gene is a community builder with a great heart.)

GENE WARD — sits on the hearth of his living-room fireplace during an interview with a Home NEWS reporter. The native Nevada rock, reflects his love of the desert. It is also used to decorate the entrance of his home.

Gene Ward took a chance on the future of this area a number of years before the Federal Government decided to move into the Nevada Desert and build the Basic Magnesium Plant.

Only a handful of people lived in Jericho Heights when Gene bought the original Midway City subdivision and a large amount of adjacent acreage in the area now known as Pittman.

The first building in this city still stands on Ward's property, although it has twice been remodeled and bears little resemblance to the "speak easy" of prohibition days which was built during construction of the railroad to Boulder Dam and known simply as "Jericho Heights."

The first homes in Jericho Heights were boarded-up tents and some of the families who lived there remained to build more permanent homes when construction of the dam was completed.

The name of the community was first changed to Midway and later, during plant construction days, to Pittman in honor of the late U.S. Senator Key Pittman.

More than 2500 persons lived in Pittman during construction of the plant and houses, motels and business (See Page 1, 4th Section)

277 Basic High Students Get Back On Buses

Approximately 277 Basic High School students, who have been walking or driving to school since September, will be able to ride school buses again Monday morning, March 2, it was announced by Loyal W. Burkholder, Director of Area Schools.

Bus transportation was curtailed at the start of the school year, because of the lack of funds. It was felt that there was a stronger need for libraries, books and other educational needs.

Buses were provided for students in elementary and junior high school living more than two miles from their school of attendance and for high school students living more than ten miles from their school.

As a result of the supplementary aid to schools, granted by the special session of the State Legislature, bus service will be restored for high school students living more than two miles from school.

Fall-Out Hole Costs $2768.86

That little hole they dug for the misplaced fall-out shelter in Carver Park near Lake Mead Drive will cost you taxpayers in Henderson $1384.43 at least, maybe more.

The City Council agreed last night to bear one-half of the scaled down cost of the hole.

The contractor, Allied Shaffer, estimated the cost of the hole, the supervisory staff and all came to a total of $6,165.73 but marked it down to $2768.86.

Mayor Byrne said that the Clark County Housing Authority might absorb one-half of the misplacement project.

But there's something to cheer about — when and if the fall-out shelter is completed in the park site donated by BMI — two years after its completion it will belong to the city.

Hundreds Arrested Here "Illegally"

Hundreds of citizens have been arrested, fined and jailed illegally in Henderson during the past few years, the Home News learned today.

Because of a legal technicality — one which the police department and judges have overlooked for years — charges against David Henry Schmidt, a Las Vegas magazine salesman, were dismissed by Judge Earl Davis Tuesday.

Schmidt was charged with soliciting without a license and was represented in court by Attorney Michael L. Hines of Las Vegas who asked the complaining police officer Loren Lomphey, "Do you have a complaint signed in the presence of Judge Davis and one with his signature."

"No," the policeman replied.

"Why not?" Hines asked. "Oh, we have never done that here."

"But it's the law," Hines said and proceeded to read it in court.

And because all complaints must be signed in the presence of the municipal judge and also signed by him, according to state law, the charges were dismissed and he was released.

Sentencing of another salesman, employed by the same firm as Schmidt, was postponed. His case was heard prior to Schmidt's.

Judge Earl Davis said Wednesday, "I've known about this and I've been looking for some lawyer to pick it up and use it in court."

Few complaints have been signed in the presence of the judge since Judge Davis and George Treem have sat on the bench — and technically the arrests, fines and imprisonment, if any, were illegal.

Police Chief George Crisler said that the system has been followed for a long time and shrugged it off "as a legal technicality."

"We didn't want to be waking up the judge at all hours to sign warrants, and so he signed them on court day or when he came to the City hall," the Chief said.

"When Charles Dohrenwend was judge he insisted that they be signed in his presence, but we haven't done it since that time, Chief Crisler continued.

10 A.M. TODAY PSC Hearing On Phone Rate Hike

The Nevada Public Service Commission will hold a rehearing on a rate increase requested by the Henderson Telephone Company, at 10 o'clock this morning in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

In its original request the Telephone Company asked for a raise in rates September 1, and another December 1, 1963.

The Public Service Commission held a hearing on September 5 and 6, and a rate increase was granted although it did not meet the request of the Telephone Company.

The December rates asked by the Telephone Company were as follows:

For business — individual lines $21.50; two party $17; multi party $17; each extension station $2.50; all exchanges, each trunk $32.25.

The rates requested for residence telephones were: individual lines $8.80; two party $6.50; three party $5.80; four party $5; each extension station $1.50.

BYRNE APPOINTMENT BACKFIRES New Sanitarian Sought, Dr. French Pledges Cooperation With State

Mayor William B. Byrne's appointment of former mayor Dr. James B. French, now of Boulder City, as health officer, may blow up in the face of Henderson's chief executive.

In a telephone call to Dr. Daniel J. Hurley, Nevada's state health officer, Dr. French said Tuesday, "The Nevada State Health Department is dealing with the Henderson City Health Board — not Bill Byrne."

Dr. French promised full cooperation with the State Board of Health and told Dr. Hurley, "I'm seeking a qualified sanitarian to replace Dr. E.R. Lindblom and will make the appointment as soon as the man can be found."

The city's new Health Officer who was appointed earlier this month by Mayor Byrne after the State Department issued a 10-day ultimatum to organize a health department here. The city has had no Health Officer since the death of Dr. Joseph Coogan.

It was also learned that Dr. French acknowledged to Dr. Hurley that Dr. Otto Ravenholt, Health Officer for the Clark County Health District, is in charge of all inspections of restaurants, food establishments which previously had been inspected by the City Sanitarian, Dr. E.R. Lindblom.

Reports from Carson City last evening indicated that Dr. French as Health Officer of the city promised complete cooperation with the State Health Department and its laws.

Dr. French's statement that he "would be working along" with the State Department of Health is a decided turn in events from the Mayor's charges of the past few weeks.

Monday, Byrne said that if the state wouldn't approve of Lindblom they could come down here and make the inspections themselves as they are required to do by law, and that the State Department of Health was fully aware that Henderson now had a new health officer and a functioning Board of Health, after Dr. Hurley said that the "ultimatum" had been ignored.

Litter Bugs Annoy Ladies Living In Trailer Estates

A group of women living in Trailer Estates have called the HOME NEWS about the litter which lines Lake Mead Road and which they claim is getting worse every day.

"We are getting ashamed to have people travel this road when visiting us," they said, "and we think the City should do something about it."

They suggested a rather unique idea for the removal of litter which we are happy to pass on in the hope that it can be worked out for the betterment of everyone concerned.

These women believe that prisoners in the Henderson city jail should be put to work cleaning the litter off Lake Mead Road. This would help the prisoners to work out their jail sentences.

reads clean; a deal might be worked out whereby the State or County could pay a certain amount to the City for each day worked by a prisoner, or by paying the daily salary of the person supervising the clean-up crew.

The HOME NEWS believes this plan is worthy of consideration as it would undoubtedly represent a saving to the Highway Department and the taxpayer.

This plan could be tried here and if successful might prove valuable in other areas of the State.

Released Gerald C. Richard who had been found guilty of driving under the influence and on hit and run charges was released from incarceration after having served 56 days of a sentence and paying the balance of $24.

'It Was Stupid' Defense States In Courtroom

Attorney Harry E. Claiborne successfully defended Mrs. Warrington who was charged with the murder of her husband.

In his arguments before the court this past week, he also attacked the "stupid" procedures used by the department in the investigation of the murder.

Mr. Claiborne "... I have come to the conclusion that if I were an investigating officer and I went down to a crime scene, or alleged crime scene, as they claim they did, as Mr. Perkins says, a man fourteen years as a detective — fourteen years of experience in this sort of thing, and the chief investigator of the Henderson Police Department. Now I have to assume that their not bringing the shirt in here was deliberate, or that he is stupid.

It is one or the other. The first thing I think any man with common sense and with two months experience on a police department when he went into this scene down there would start looking immediately for evidence that would establish either it was a homicide or that there were mitigating circumstances.

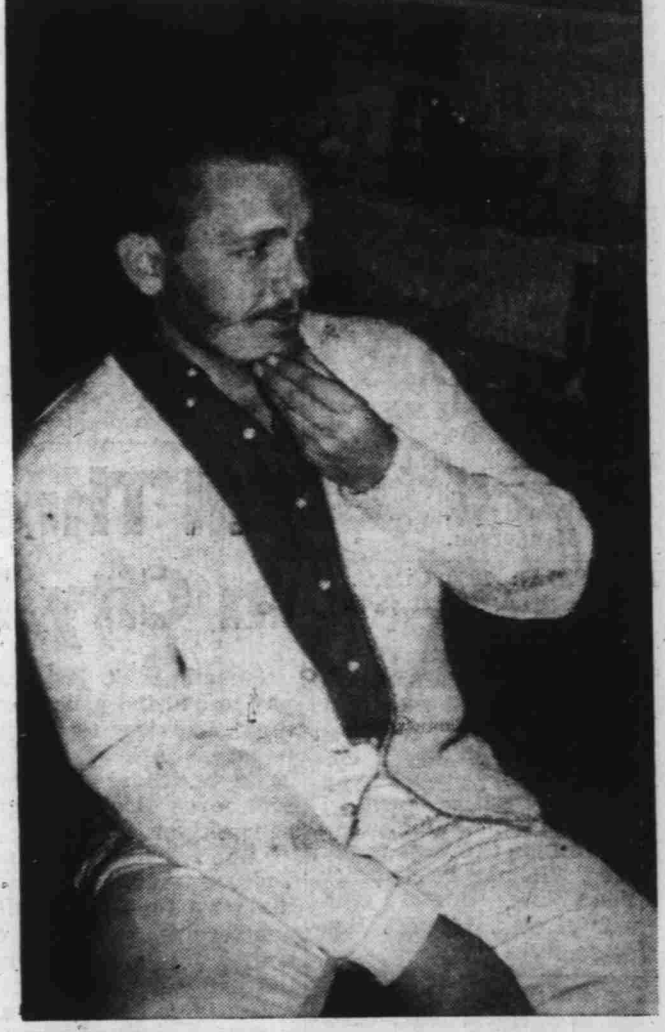

And you will remember that he (Perkins) said he made an investigation to determine whether there were mitigating circumstances. I asked him what he did and he said he went up to the hospital and smelled the breath of the deceased."

Tavern Okayed If Owner Gets Legal Permit

Approval of a liquor permit to William Semeraro doing business as Bills for a tavern and package goods store in the Safeway shopping center was granted by the City Council last night.

Semeraro will have his place of business in a location formerly occupied by Sav-On Cleaners.

The question of a health permit arose, and Councilman Ida Belle Riggins said she favored approval providing Semeraro could get a (Continued on Page 2)

We Learn About The Home News

EDITOR'S NOTE: On Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12, a group of seventh graders from the Henderson Junior High School paid an impromptu visit to the Home News.

Not until the five youngsters departed did we learn that they were on a school assignment.

The quintet, four girls and one boy, came well equipped for the assignment with notebooks in hand and one, Peggy Heard, had her flash camera with her.

The seventh graders all showed great interest in the preparation and production of the Thursday edition of the Home News. Their conduct and courteousness was beyond reproach.

All pictures, shown below were taken by Peggy, with the exception of the large one which was taken by Managing Editor Bill Mason in order that all five could be shown.

Here in her own words is Elizabeth Worst's story of what they did and what they saw:

By ELIZABETH WORST
Randy Neilson, Peggy Heard, Jeanie Hughes, Gale McDane and Elizabeth Worst, five students from Mrs. Reed's seventh grade class at Henderson Junior High School went Wednesday after school to the Henderson Home News.

Mrs. Reed's class is studying newspapers.

The group that visited the Home News is working on the technical part of the newspaper work.

The students met Mr. Mason, the news editor, who showed them the perforator and the linotype machine. Bob Lively made each one of them a lead slug with his name on it.

They also met Mr. McCloud who showed them how the front page is put together and how the press, prints, folds and cuts the paper all in one machine.

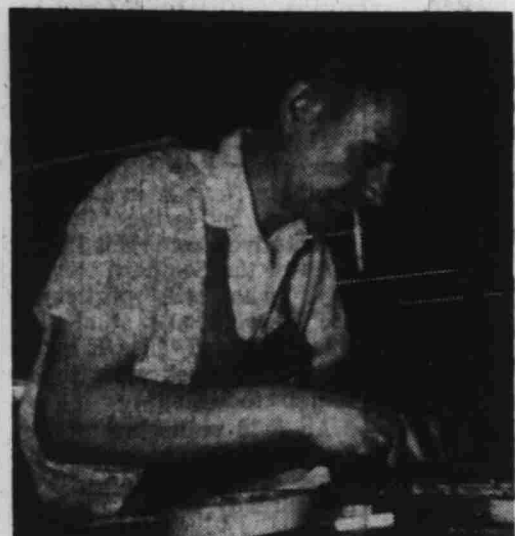

Mr. McCloud also showed them how headlines are written.

Peggy Heard took quite a few pictures of the very enjoyable and educational experience.

And a P.S. kids: We enjoyed having you and hope that Mrs. Reed will accept a clipping of your experiences in lieu of a written report—with your story and pictures and the interest you showed on the trip, you deserve it.

THIS IS MR. STAFFORD as he is making up an ad for the paper.

THEY CALL IT A LINOTYPE. Bob Lively made a lead slug for us.

THEY TOLD us that this looks like a typewriter but it is a perforator.

HERE IS THE PRESS. It prints, as it cuts, as it folds.

School Baseball Season to Open In Three Weeks

The Basic High Wolves open their conference baseball season three weeks from Saturday, on March 21 at Rancho.

Other games slated for March include a contest at Boulder City on March 25 and Gorman high here on March 28.

On the April calendar, the Wolves play Las Vegas high here April 1; travel to Western on April 4; meet Rancho here on April 8; tangle with Boulder City at home on April 22; journey to Rancho on the 25th and host Gorman on the 29th.

On May 6 the Wolves are at Western and close out the season's play on May 9 at Boulder City.

In addition to the scheduled games, each team will be allowed to play a practice game to be arranged by individual teams.

Husband Missing Since Thursday, Wife Seeks Help

Fearing that her husband, Harold J. Henderson, 38, may be a victim of foul play, his wife has reported him as missing to the local police department.

He left his home on Thursday, February 20 about 9:30 in the morning dressed in a carcoat and light tweed brown suit.

Mrs. Henderson said that he never left without advising her of what his plans were and she has contacted friends and relatives in an effort to find him.

The missing man lives at 338 Water street and is employed as a tile setter.

PRAYERS HELPED

Planning Future, Mrs. Warmington

By Lorna Kesterson
Maralyn Warmington, who was acquitted Saturday of the murder of her 27-year-old husband last year, is making plans for her future without the problem of the big "if" plaguing her.

Her one thought at the present time is to thank the people who have helped her during the long ordeal. She said that her prayers and all those who prayed for her have been answered, and that now she is busy thanking God also for she feels that this was a big factor in the outcome of the trial.

Now that she can plan a future for herself and her three children, she is studying the possibility in the future of going to college to obtain a teacher's certificate to teach school.

"I have always wanted to be a teacher," she said,

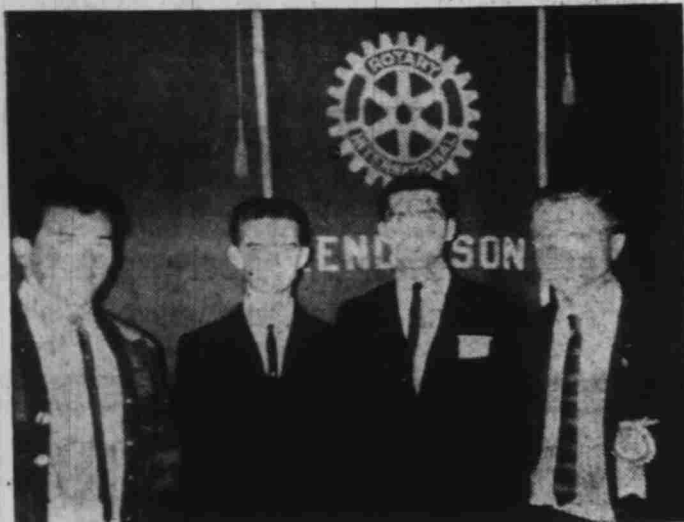

"and at least I can dream about it." Her three children are ages six, four, and 19 months, and the oldest is in kindergarten and wants to live where he can have a horse.

Asked how she spent the Saturday the jury was deliberating, Maralyn said she did nothing but wait to hear the phone ring.

"It was an awesome feeling," she said, "I felt trapped, the jury had my whole future and my children's in their hands. It really drains your strength and you can't sleep or eat, and living is just a matter of moving about. It was the longest Saturday of my whole life."

Mrs. Warmington is looking with optimism towards her future life and now wants to try to forget the things which have happened.

Students Tell Rotarians About Trip To Youth Leadership Camp

John McBeath, Bill Larkin and Steve Hinkell were guests at the meeting of Rotary Club Tuesday where they spoke on their experiences at the Leadership Camp at Camp Cedar, Crest, California.

This was the third Youth Leadership camp sponsored by Rotary District 530. The youths were accompanied on their trip to the camp by Rotarian Bob Olsen.

John McBeath said the camp was the first of this type he had attended. The information given there covered many phases of leadership in life and also offered guidance counseling for the future of individuals attending.

The boys were encouraged to seek high goals, for it was said that those who seek low goals usually obtain them.

Most businesses and professions were represented by the Rotarians who furnished boys at the camp with information about different occupations and the necessary preparation for each one.

District Rotary Governor Chet Baldwin told the group about Rotary and how it functions.

John said, the Youth Leadership Camp served a very worthwhile purpose and will be long remembered by each of those who were privileged to attend.

Bill Larkin told the Rotarians about Sharry Ganges' talk entitled, "Your World of Opportunity." He said that automation had not decreased the number of jobs.

Ganges gave an example of tomatoes that were picked mechanically and peeled mechanically, pointing out workers were instructed in the maintenance and operation of these new machines.

Another speech which Bill found very interesting was Charles Duarte's "Requirements for Leadership." He listed the ten commandments for leadership as:

1. Be warm; but be decisive.
2. Command admiration and inspire confidence.
3. Overcome your own personal differences.
4. Cultivate a good sense of humor.
5. Prove your ability by actually doing things.
6. Be proper in your moral and ethical behavior.

7. Constantly improve your personality.

8. Strengthen your character and do not compromise (important principals.)

9. Keep an open and understanding heart.

10. Be master of yourself and captain of your future.

Steve Hinkell stated that the fellow who prepares for tomorrow will be a hard man to beat. People don't realize that the things they dream about are usually possible.

Miss Sue Yoshino, a Japanese student now attending Los Angeles City College on a Rotary Scholarship, was one of the speakers at the Camp. After completing her year at college in Los Angeles, she plans to finish her education in Tokyo.

Miss Yoshino described a leader as "... a person who can get other people to follow him and one who radiates confidence."

The three young men expressed their gratitude to the Rotary Club for the privilege of attending the Leadership Camp and to Bob Olsen for his time and the expense incurred in attending the Camp with them.

Friends Honor Gene Ward On 76th Birthday

Five birthdays were celebrated when approximately 25 friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ward, 1813 Merze Avenue, Thursday evening, Feb. 20, in honor of Gene's 76th birthday.

Other birthday celebrants were: Bonnie Craft and Myron Thompson, Feb. 12; Joe Gilpin, Feb. 17; and Jim Cecil, Feb. 21.

Sandwiches, cake, ice cream and coffee were served and an evening of friendly sociability enjoyed.

Those attending included: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Perryman, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Yeoman and family; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cecil; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craft and family; Mr. and Mrs. Buck Yeoman; Mr. and Mrs. Perk Perryman and family; Penny Perryman.

WANDA ALMOND PLANS MARCH WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Almond of 249 Carson Way have announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Wanda Almond, to Robert L. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Johnson of Oxnard, California.

The bride-to-be was graduated from the Watford City High School in North Dakota. She was active in the band and chorus and was a cheer leader. She is presently employed by First Western Savings, Las Vegas. Her fiancé is employed by the Beneficial Finance System in Oxnard, California. Miss Almond has set March 14, as her wedding date. The marriage will be held in the L.D.S. Chapel in Las Vegas and the young couple will leave for California immediately after the ceremony.

HENDERSONIAN CHIT ... CHAT

By VICKI NEWELL
Hello there Hendersonians:

Well, the past week has held many world events; Cassius TKO'd Liston in the 7th — They're still picking jurors for the Ruby trial — And it seems the Sinatra kidnap factors are still undecided.

That's a brief look at the world, now how about Henderson:

Miss Nancy Edwards, 1959 graduate of Basic, is studying for her masters degree in English at San Jose State College. She received her B.A. at Whittier. Her brother, Harry, 1957 Basic grad, is studying for his P.H.D. in Chemistry at University of Arizona at Tucson.

Mrs. John Stephens, the former Miss Gwen Nicolay, 1959 Basic grad, is now employed as an escrow officer at Frontier Fidelity.

Ron Mich'l, former basketball star for the Basic Wolves, was recently married to Miss Carolyn Ann Hill in Tacoma, Washington. Ron is stationed at Tacoma during his final days in the U.S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Oscar, former residents of Henderson, now residing in Desert Hills, recently traveled to Tucson, Arizona for a week's vacation. Accompanying them on their return trip home was Mrs. Nettie Lovett, Mrs. Oscar's grandmother. During her brief stay in Henderson, Mrs. Lovett visited with the Ed Lowmans and Rex Newells.

Mickey Shubiyama is in the busy process of painting and decorating her new beauty salon, which will soon open its doors to serve the beautifying needs of Henderson's female population. The shop is to be located across the street from the Henderson Theater.

The Cub Scouts of Pack 8, sponsored by the Community Church, recently visited KTOO Radio. The boys were hosted by Mr. Billy Guitar, disc jockey on the afternoon portion of the station's broadcasting day. The leaders of Pack 8 wish to thank the station and Mr. Guitar for their interest in the Cubs.

The plans for the Spring Style Show to be presented by Vesper Circle in April seem to be coming along fine. Shirley Gove was selected as ticket chairman for the event. This promises to be a real good presentation of today's latest fashions; so be sure to obtain your tickets early.

Mr. and Mrs. Garr Rosequist, 104 Joshua, were recently visited by Mr. and Mrs. Phill Rosequist of Richfield, Utah. The later Rosequist is Garr's brother.

Well, folks, that's about all for this week so "So long" till next Thursday

Alpha Beta Meeting Held At Booth Home

Dolly Booth recently entertained the meeting of Alpha Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at her home, 110 Cedar Street.

Two guest speakers were featured on the program. Genevieve Taylor and Gail Dietrich, delegates from Basic High School to Girls State in 1963. Miss Taylor spoke on their experiences and told the sorority members how greatly they enjoyed their activities at Girls State.

An interesting talk on "People," was given by Miss Dietrich.

Members attending were Lois Foster, Mary Vincent, Donna Vincent, Eva Thayne, Mary Jo Oakley, Jan Leasner, Jackie Anderson, Eleanor Erwin, Rosemary Anderson, Beverly Southers, Miriam Burkholder and Elaine Kramer.

Mothers Anxious To Return Missing Rabbits

On the way to school Tuesday morning, John Allsebrook, 10, found a bunny hopping along Colorado Way.

He caught the bunny and picked up a cardboard carton in an adjacent alley to carry it in. The rabbit attended classes with John at Townsite School and was displayed and petted in various classrooms.

It is something of a mystery how the mate of this rabbit made her way to John's home, but the long-eared pair were reunited when Mrs. Allsebrook came home and found Mrs. Bunny contentedly munching grass on the lawn at her home Tuesday afternoon.

John and his pal, Kevin Wheat, 10, who lives next door, contrived a pen for the rabbits, using two old screen doors and an old trunk and, thereby, Kevin claims an interest in them.

Mrs. Allsebrook has called everyone she can think of who might own the rabbits which seem quite tame and undoubtedly have escaped from someone's rabbit hutch.

She says, indications point to a blessed event just in time for a nice basketful of baby bunnies for Easter.

The two little boys are delighted with the bunnies but their mothers are appalled at the prospect of a future "rabbit farm," and hope the owners will come quickly and claim their property before the youngsters become more attached to them.

The rabbits will be returned to the owners upon identification at the Gilbert Allsebrook residence, 19 Arizona Way, or by calling 565-8421.

Jim De Mint to Represent City At All-Scout Day in Carson City

Boy Scout Jim De Mint

Jim De Mint will represent Henderson and the Lake Mead District of the Boy Scouts of America today at Carson City for the All Scout Day, according to James A. Moss, scout executive of the BSA.

He will participate with four other Boy Scouts from Southern Nevada in the state function, but is the only representative from Henderson.

All of the Southern Nevada boys who will participate are Eagle Scouts, and Jim was awarded his Eagle badge one week prior to his 15th birthday.

An avid enthusiast of Boy Scouting, Jim hopes to become a Scoutmaster and he has already started the trail to becoming one. He spends several nights a week on Scout work, serving as a den chief for Cub Scouts and a patrol leader for the Boy Scouts.

"Scouting takes a lot of time," Jim said, "But I got interested in it and I just can't keep away. I think every boy should be in the Boy Scouts, it really strengthens character, just like the poster says."

On February 7, De Mint was selected for Boy Scout Civic Day to represent Judge Compton.

He attributes much of his success in his scouting work to his parents and scoutmasters.

Eminently Worthwhile

The automobile has become a taken-for-granted necessity in the lives of almost everyone—and that includes millions of teenagers.

Along with this development has come a gruesome problem—the higher teen-age automobile accident rate. It's hard to pick up a paper these days without coming on an account of some tragic accident, involving young, inexperienced, and careless drivers.

An inevitable result has been a fast-growing program of driver education in the nation's high schools. But, in many instances, schools lack the financing and the necessary specialized knowledge to develop adequate training aids.

An oil company decided to do something about this now in its mid-Western area, and later throughout the country. It, and its dealers, are supporting driver education through the development of eight new films for classroom showing, plus the necessary supporting materials for their more efficient use. A teacher's manual is included, along with an informative booklet, "Tips From Pro Drivers." Students who take and pass the course will be given an all-weather bumper decal, indicating that they have been "Schooled in Safety." In the words of the company's president, "The decal will serve notice that the young person at the wheel is a knowledgeable and responsible driver and citizen, and we hope it will also serve as a constant reminder that automotive safety is a never-ending consideration."

Here is an eminently worthwhile activity, conducted by a commercial enterprise. May other organizations follow the example.

Troop 111 Busy At Work Earning Points on Badge

Girl Scouts of troop 111 have spent the last few meetings working towards earning the badge of the sign of the arrow, according to Scribe Rita Harris.

"There are nine different requirements for this sign, some we do at home and some we do at the troop meeting."

"One requirement is to know and tell a story of one of our country's symbols. Marie Olenlager talked on the Statue of Liberty; Pamela Crandy on the motto 'In God We Trust'; Rita Harris on the flag raising at Iwo Jima; Margie Cochrane talks on stamps about great Americans and their deeds; Ramona Keeth spoke on the flag; Helen Cox on the Star Spangled Banner; Jackie Neilson on the Pledge of Allegiance; Susan stalls on state flowers; Marion Hartley on Old Ironsides.

"Several of the girls have yet to give their talks. We have also been folk dancing with girls of troop 107, another junior troop in Henderson. We have learned a French, German and American dance towards earning a badge. Mrs. Bernice Roberts teaches the dances every other week."

Is Moral Integrity Imperative For Survival... by Sue Green

Editors Note: The following is the speech delivered by Sue Green, a junior at Basic high school, to members of the Lions Club this week. Her speech earned her first place in the contest and she will now compete in the regional contest this spring at Las Vegas. Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ancel Green, 135 W. Victory Road. The title of her speech is "Is Moral Integrity Imperative for Survival?"

This world is full of hope and joy, but it is also beset by immorality. We, as Americans and members of this world, are basically decent human beings, but there is a distinct line which separates some individuals from other individuals. This line constitutes a division between morality and immorality.

The degree of immorality may be steadily increasing, but most of us are disinterested. A great majority of people seem to admit to themselves that, "They all do it." These people, however, have some mark which distinguishes them as being either a cheater, a swindler, an extortioner, a briber, or a chisler. But on the other hand we are both partners and victims; the only distinction between them and us is that they are apprehended and we aren't.

Sex Causes
Sex is the cause for much of the immorality among individuals today. In the book, "This Side of Paradise," Scott Fitzgerald alarmed mothers by telling them how casually their daughters were accustomed to being kissed. Today, some mothers thank God if kissing is all that their daughters are accustomed to.

If I may, I would like to refer you to an example where the sexual desire of a man caused the ruthless killing of Sonja McCaskie. When Thomas Bean was asked "why" he killed Sonja McCaskie, he could not give a reason, nor was he sorry. To us these problems seem extreme and farfetched, but they can happen and they will happen. We seem to have the attitude that they can only happen one time out of a million, but as our population increases such problems as these increase. We must remember, that the adolescent of today is the adult of tomorrow. And if you are the parents of this generation, as were Thomas Bean's parents, you not only have a responsibility to this generation, but also to the next generation, for it is your duty to instill within us certain morals, so that we may in turn instill those same morals into our children.

Extremists
We also have examples of the extremists. The latest being that of Lee Harvey Oswald. We knew little about this man, but we do know that he helped to, or destroyed a man that most of us loved. What value did this man lack? Was he a man that hated other men to the extent that he could not tolerate honesty and moral integrity? It has been said that Lee Oswald was in some way mentally incompetent at the time of President Kennedy's death. There is no proof, however, that he had always been in this state of mental incompetency. So what happened to this man during the time of his adolescence and up until the President's death? Who is to blame? What made him susceptible to so much propaganda?

Insecurity
We find an arsenal of excuses to absolve the individual of his actions. But is it always in the realm of justice and morals? A man may commit a crime because he has nothing else better to do. Members of minority groups, racial or otherwise, commit crimes because they are economically deprived or socially estranged. The words "right" and "wrong" seem to have little value to us anymore.

How Many Guilty?
How many other people are like Lee Harvey Oswald? How many boys and girls, and men and women are guilty of illicit affairs? How many people are guilty of crimes that are against all laws of government and society? How are we to survive if they survive? It is no longer a question of survival of the fittest. It is going to take more than a strong mind or body to suppress or survive such obstacles as communism, civil rights, or even the probability of another war.

Thursday, February 27, 1964

MORAL INTEGRITY was the topic of speeches presented to the Lions Club Monday night, with Sue Green, center, declared as the winner. Her topic was "Is Moral Integrity Imperative to Survival?" On her left is Sharon Empey and on her right Russell Lawrence, both of whom were awarded trophies for competing. On the extreme left is Peter Davidson, club vice-president, and on the right, Lee Lamoreaux, club member in charge of the speech contest.

Near Chaos
Our society is bordering on chaos. The morality of a nation is not just the sum of the moralities of its individuals, but it is the moral integrity of each individual. Thus, moral integrity is imperative for survival, and it's time that we stop rationalizing about wrongdoing, excusing it on the grounds that everyone is doing it. It is time that we realize that we have a responsibility to our society. It is also time that we submit more ethics, law, and even more important prayer to our society.

I would like to leave you with an idea taken from a very great man. It was the late President Kennedy's idea that there is an appointed time for everything. There is a time for love and a time for hate; a time for peace and a time for war. And I think that I could expand this idea one point further, "There is a time for everyone to return to moral integrity."

FAMILY FUN DAY PLANNED

Black Mountain Estates To Unveil New Home Sunday From 12 to 4 P.M.

The most exciting new homes in the area will be unveiled this Sunday, March 1st, when Black Mountain Estates in Henderson holds a gigantic "Family Fun Day" and Open House from 12 noon until 4 p.m....

THIS IS TYPICAL OF the beautiful Black Mountain Estates homes which will be open for inspection during "Family Fun Day" Sunday, March 1, at the Black Mountain Golf and Country Club. Refreshments, entertainment, drawings for portable transistor radios and the premiere showing of newly furnished model home will highlight the afternoon. The event will start at 12 noon and continue until 4 p.m. Everyone is invited.

NAMELESS, The Clown, along with Sam Goodman, sales manager for Paradise Homes, builders of the Black Mountain Estates invites everyone to the big, "Family Fun Day," Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. to see the new housing development at the golf course. "Nameless" will be on hand to entertain the children and to pass out the famous balloon animals. Four portable transistor radios will also be given away during the afternoon.

CITY AUDITOR SAYS

Mayor Demolished Dist. Health Board

To the Editor of the Henderson Home News — As City Auditor for the City of Henderson I attended council meeting Thursday, February 13. So much has been said regarding the Health Department of the City of Henderson and the Clark County District Board of Health I feel I would like the interested people of the City of Henderson to know what happened and what was said at the council meeting that night.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir: Having just read your Tuesday, Feb. 11, 1964 edition, we feel that we must try to explain to the public about The Lake Mead Association for Retarded Children. In our application for a fund raising permit we stated that we expected to raise $475 which, we agree, is not enough to even start a building but we also have to consider Boulder City in the drive as it is in our Charter's boundaries and that is another $400 in Boulder City.

Do Frogs Have Knee Caps?.... Children Ask

"Does frog have knee cap?" "Is Gila monster poisonous?" "Do Otters have webbed hind feet?" "How was Bald Eagle chosen national bird instead of turkey?"

These are just a few of the dozens of questions third grade students asked guest speaker Dr. Gerhard Hoentsch Friday afternoon at Basic Elementary School. The children also asked a great many questions about snakes.

The local veterinarian spoke to the class during preparation for a poster contest for National Wildlife Week. As the result of a film-class wanted information on the ferret, enemy of the porcupine. Dr. Hoentsch told how European hunters utilize these small blood-sucking animals to hunt rabbits.

In reviewing the state of the buffalo or bison. Dr. Hoentsch told of seeing water buffalo in Egypt, merged except for their nostrils to escape the heat. He also touched upon the condors of California and the whooping cranes in Texas, as well as Nevada's mountain sheep and bluebirds.

RECREATION NEWS CORNER

The Recreation Department is in the process of accepting bids for the purchase of a Swimming Pool Heater which will be installed and ready for use before the swimming program begins this summer. Also approved by Council was the construction of a wading pool adjacent to our present municipal pool; bids will be accepted from local swimming pool contractors and will give our small fry a chance to do their share of splashing this summer.

These additions are being purchased from the money donated to the Recreation Department from Basic Management, Inc., and will certainly be a welcome addition to the community. Dalby Shirley, Sup't. of Recreation is attending the annual Pacific Southwest Recreation and Parks Conference in Anaheim, California.

TEEN AGE DANCE

February 29th will be the date of the next Teen Age Dance from 9:00 until closing time.

SENIOR SPORTS PROGRAM

A program is presently being set up to provide sports and activities for the adults of the community; this will include leagues in basketball, baseball, softball etc., if you are interested in joining one of these teams or working in this new program, please contact the Recreation Director; this should provide some of that 'physical-fitness' we hear so much of these days for our adult members.

REQUEST FOR BID

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed bids for GASOLINE IN BULK will be received by the CITY OF HENDERSON, NEVADA, until 8:00 p.m., on March 12, 1964, and be publicly opened and read at a public meeting held in the CITY HALL, located at 243 Water St., HENDERSON, NEVADA.

Boulder Gets a Master Plan: What Is It?

(Ed. Note: Recently submitted to the city was Voorhees-Trindle's preliminary version of the long-awaited master plan — a document upon which the entire development and future of Boulder City is based.)

The NEWS offers this series of studies on the master plan, what it says about Boulder and what it suggests for our future.)

WHAT IS A MASTER PLAN?

The process of developing the master or general plan for Boulder City can be divided into three major time elements: the past, present and future.

Past: The past is involved with the research and study necessary to determine the forces that contributed toward the origin, location and development of the community. It is essential to understand the history, growth pattern, and recent trends of the community and of the region. The combination of forces or attractions that was mainly responsible for the origin of the city is not always the one that accounts for its subsequent and in many cases, its greatest development. Cities are forever changing in response to human needs, and an understanding of the changes and of these needs is essential in the planning process.

Present: The second major time element involved in the preparation of a master plan is concerned with the present. The operation involves itself with current conditions. Facts about the people, the land, and the economy of the community must be compiled. There must be a clear understanding of the age composition, employment status, population stability and educational status of the inhabitants of the community. Physical conditions, topography, natural resources, existing use of land, streets, highways, stores, residences, factories, open spaces, schools, the industrial economy, places of employment, income, purchasing power and shopping habits must be analyzed. The findings must be properly studied to understand the current condition of the community and region. Problem areas must be carefully diagnosed so that the proper corrective programs can be put into effect.

Future: The third major time element is concerned with the future, which is the principal purpose of the master plan. The needs of the community must be projected into the future. The proper determination of future needs is based upon past trends, proper analysis of existing conditions, and the goals and objectives of the community. The modern city has a complex make-up and an infinite variety of functions, all of which are interrelated. These relationships are also tied to neighboring communities and to the region. A change in any one part of this complex structure has an effect on the community as a whole. The experiences of many communities have proven that uncontrolled or unguided growth and change in this complex structure have resulted in chaos.

The master plan should serve to organize and coordinate these complex relationships for the greater safety, health, welfare and convenience of the people and the efficiency of the community by providing a direction for growth and change.

A long-range, comprehensive general plan is a guide for the orderly development of the city, it is a policy statement which, in general terms, acts as a directional guidepost for future developments; it expresses the community goals and objective—that is, what the community desires in the future, and it establishes policies for approaching these goals. The general law of the state of Nevada direct each Planning Commission to prepare a plan which shall be:

"COMPREHENSIVE:" it is comprehensive in nature because it deals with all factors of community growth. Planning in isolated terms has proven to be ineffective. Isolated planning for schools, streets, or other public facilities, each standing on its own feet, has resulted in pitfalls. The reason for this is that there is a relationship between each of these elements. A new street opening, a new school or new public facility has an effect on not only its immediate area, but the entire community. A comprehensive plan eliminates the mistakes which are the result of isolated efforts by providing, relating and balancing all types of land use and public and private facilities within the city and its environs.

"LONG-RANGE:" It is long-range because it projects the community needs and thinking, as far as practical, into the future. It sets down at one time the best thinking of the citizenry as to the overall desires of the community.

"GENERAL:" Because the plan is comprehensive and long-range, it must be general, showing only the approximate size and location of elements. The plan cannot be considered precise, final and inflexible because changing conditions and developments of the future will necessitate modifications and adjustments in the plan from time to time.

The master plan is neither perfect, complete, nor final, and no plan which is long-range, comprehensive and general should be so considered. New conditions, new technological advances and new developments will require modification and adjustment. The plan must be reviewed periodically, revised where necessary and yet remain basically intact.

"NEED:" We need only to look at many of our communities to see the results of uncontrolled, unplanned and uncoordinated growth and development. The prevailing conditions of traffic congestion, inadequate parking facilities, overcrowded schools, inadequate street improvements, mixed land uses, overcrowded use of land and the lack of basic services such as sewers, storm drains and water systems are all too commonplace. There has been a failure to foresee the implications of expansion and growth. This is the result of lack of planning.

The master plan has a two-fold purpose: (1) to prescribe solutions to the city's present problems, and (2) to guide its future growth along the most desirable lines.

City or urban planning, in its simplest terms, can be defined as intelligent forethought applied to the development of the community. A plan for a town, city or metropolitan area is an outline which attempts to set down in words, maps and charts a guide for public officials and private citizens in developing and using land. This plan is commonly known as the comprehensive, general or master plan for the community.

For Boulder City, the name of the plan is the Master Plan.

SPECIAL EDUCATION VISIT — Mrs. Eloise Blue, center member of the Clark County Board of School Trustees representing Boulder City, observes Special Education program for visually handicapped children at Fifth Street School in Las Vegas during one of five visitations currently in progress by Board members in various instructional areas of the Clark County School District. Mrs. Blue is observing reading lesson of Juanita O'Hara, fifth grade student at Fifth Street, who is instructed by Frank Holtzman, left.

An extra has been added to the search for something new and interesting to offer with drinks when you welcome guests: low calorie nibble foods for appetizers, canapes or hors d'oeuvres! Hide the salted peanuts and the potato chips, and prepare an easy and flavorful dip, served hot for the winter season, with chilled crisp vegetables for dunking. Placed beside an iced pitcher of martinis or manhattans, your large bowl of vegetables arranged on crushed ice or cubes will arouse excited comments from all concerned when you mention that these nibblers count less than ten calories each and taste just great.

TOMATO BAGNA CAUDO

1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce 1 to 2 cloves of garlic, mashed 1 tablespoon anchovy, to a paste with a dash of mashed or paste pepper, pinch of tarragon
Yield: about one cup.

ZESTY HOT DIP

1 pint cottage cheese 1 envelope dehydrated onion
1/4 cup buttermilk soup mix
Beat cottage cheese and buttermilk until smooth. Stir in the onion soup mix, straight from its envelope. Just before serving, heat slowly, stirring constantly. Yield: generous two cups.

CURRIED SHRIMP DIP

1 can (10 oz.) frozen condensed 1/4 cup dry vermouth cream of shrimp soup defrosted 1/2 teaspoon curry
1/2-1 teaspoon curry

Combine all ingredients. Stir over low heat until blended. Mash shrimp in sauce with fork. Yield: about 1 1/2 cups. The dips should be kept warm over an alcohol burner or small electrical unit. As for the dippers, imagination can have free run. Almost any raw vegetable works from the traditional celery and carrot sticks to washed mushrooms, cauliflower heads, broccoli stalks, and even thawed and drained frozen asparagus.

Be sure your new puppy is in good condition. Accept no underfed pup or one whose eyes or nose are running. Check his teeth and gums. Teeth should be clean and white. His gums should be pink. Look in his ears and see if they are free from any signs of infection or inflammation. Feel his body—see if he seems firm and solid. Stand him up where you check his stance and see if his limbs are straight and not twisted or deformed in any way. See if he tends to favor any limb. Of equal importance with the physical condition of the pup is his personality, say experts at the Purina Dog Care Center. Don't buy that cute little fellow over in the corner who seems to be shy of his litter mates. A normal, healthy dog is aggressive and wants to make friends with you and the whole world.

Old Duck From Nevada Caught In Russia Without Passport

The question of peaceful coexistence between Capitalistic and Communistic nations is strictly for the birds.
While the people of the USSR and the USA are busy with their ICBM's, nuclear tests and satellites, each trying to frighten the other into a more peaceful state of world affairs through a bristling show of might, ducks migrate back and forth in a happy quest for food and nesting grounds with never a thought of fighting each other. They don't even need a passport.

Duck hunters who were successful during the recent hunting season may have brought home a Russian-born duck, shot on the Pittman sewer ponds.

The migration of ducks between the two countries was shown by the recent return of a duck band from Russia.
The duck, an adult male pintail, banded at Overton, Nevada February 7, 1956, was recently shot in Neshkan, Uelen District, Chukotka,
Russia.

The band was returned to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service by Mr. A. Vinko-
v, Chief of the Bird
Ringing Center, Moscow, and was sent back to the Nevada Fish and Game Commission.

The Commission found this extremely interesting from two aspects. First the pintail was recovered about 4000 lineal miles "as the crow flies" from Overton
where it was banded.

Chukotka lies across the Bering Strait from Alaska and the way the duck had to fly it, along the coast, it would entail more than 4000 miles.

Secondly, it has been seven years since the bird was banded and it was an adult at that time, which would make it a pretty old drake
... probably eight or nine years old.

The Fish and Game Commission says that the duck might have made this trip
a number of times during its life.

Breeding grounds for many pintails which fly the Pacific Flyway is the Bering Strait region and it is quite likely that some of the ducks taken here during the hunting season may have been raised in Russia.

"I've lived a long time and associated with people all my life," said Old Sorehead,
"but I've never got used to them."

It Won't Be Like Home---But Shelters May Just Save Your Life

Few people realize it—even the hundreds who work at the industrial centers of TMCA, U.S. Lime, American Potash, and Montrose Chemical—that fall-out protection is provided for Henderson's 17,000 residents plus some other nearby community.

The basement level of these gigantic industrial plants were not designed with this in mind, as scientists were still working on the Manhattan project which created the bomb in 1941.

when work started on the titanium plant. But the labyrinth of concrete reinforced storage rooms and alleyways—some 1½ miles long makes an ideal shelter for the entire city.

No other community in the West has anything to compare with it, and only the task of stocking the rooms with food and medical supplies remains after final surveys of the vast rooms are made.

Hospital Unit

Already stocked in one sector of the TMCA building is a $40,000 hospital unit complete with surgical supplies, an x-ray unit and all drugs, except narcotics. This could be moved in an hour's notice to Basic High school after the danger of the fall-out was gone for a permanent hospital. The equipment is equivalent to that of a 200 bed hospital.

Similar equipment is stored in Boulder, North Las Vegas, Overton, Pioche and Caliente with an underground hospital unit at Blue Diamond.

General J. T. Roberts Clark County CD Director, says that the Las Vegas Valley is not in danger of a direct atom bomb attack—with the prime targets located on the West Coast, which would give this area from seven to 24 hours to take to the underground.

One Year Old

The Civil Defense agency started stocking the basements of the industrial complex 11 months ago and sufficient ration crackers, sanitation disposal units and empty water cans are available now for 5,000 people.

The program is expanding as fast as surveys can be made on the facilities for shelters and supplies can be obtained.

We're aware of the indifference of a majority of the people to fall-out danger, the General says, but we're pushing ahead with the program.

The key people—the doctors, the engineers, the law enforcement officers and others know their assignments when an emergency arises and that's what counts.

The only time the people are upset is when another crisis arises in Cuba or in Germany and we have learned to expect that attitude, but we are going ahead preparing for any eventuality, General Roberts said.

Alert System

"Clark County has one of the finest alert systems in the U.S., the General remarked, and we are gradually expanding our system of sirens.

"Another one is needed in Henderson," he said.

A two-week stay in the shelter is the present program set up by the Civil Defense Agency with enough food and water supplied to carry through for 14 days, and by that time the radiation should be decontaminated enough for those in the shelter to get out of the diggings.

For your information, life isn't a bowl of cherries" in those shelters—you and your family will be existing on Ration Crackers—they are about the same size as a soda or graham cracker, rich in dextrose and calorie content. As a matter of fact, they taste something between a graham and a white soda cracker.

Six of these crackers makes a meal—so during the course of a day your diet would consist of 18 crackers and rationed water.

To correct a false impression which somehow has gained wide-spread favor throughout Henderson, only empty water cans are stored in the shelter. "There is no point in storing canned water there, as we'll have plenty of time to obtain water from surface sources or through manholes leading into the shelter, General Roberts and Deputy Civil Defense Administrator Bob Lund said.

The story has made the rounds that canned water was being stored in the basements and already most of it had evaporated.

Few Comforts

Don't look for "all the comforts of home" underground.

You have to furnish your own blankets. There won't be any cots or beds. There will probably be a stand-by generator to furnish lights—but no radio or television, except transistor type radios, and you'll be confined to a space of about 10 square foot per person—that's what the agency establishes as the minimum.

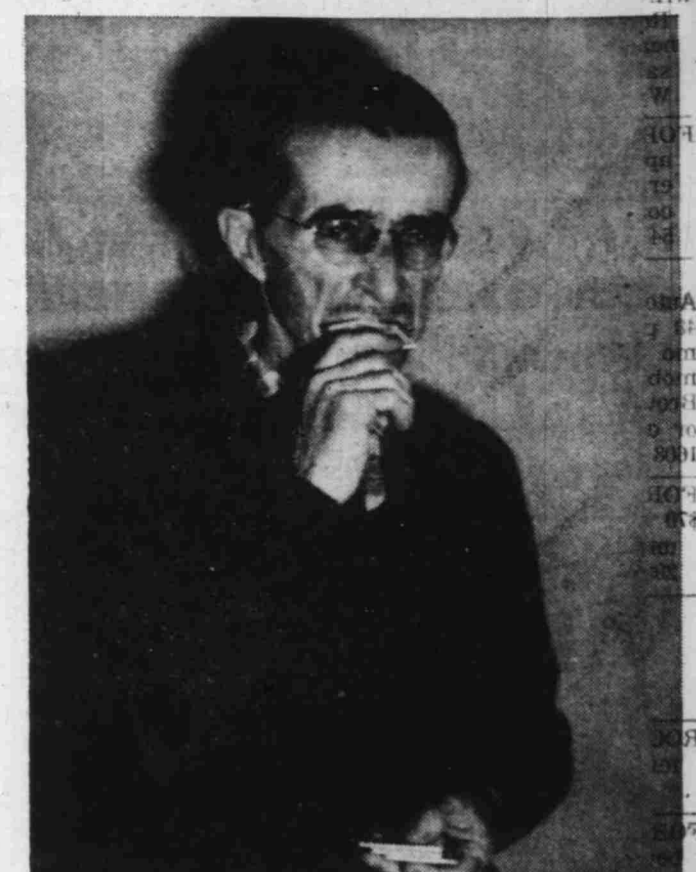

The chances are that you'll be sick and tired of underground life—and people—but do you have a better solution?

"Henderson" is more fortunate than most communities in the state," the General stated, "with the facilities at the industrial area."

"We have had over 4,000 people who have completed the medical self-help program and there are about 20 old mines nearby which surveys have shown can be used for shelters if need be. The new "misplaced" shelter or prototype shelter will be used for instructional purposes when it finally finds a home," he said.

"The government is concentrating on an educational program with our children, so that they can inform their parents what to do in an emergency," General Roberts declared.

You walk out of the darkness and bleakness of the shelters and ponder about all the advancements contributed by science and mankind in your generation and consider that you might have to burrow into the ground in the future to save your life. You don't like it a bit—but what can you do?

THE EXPRESSION tells the story as Bert Havens of Woodruff's Basic Photos bites into a ration cracker, which tastes something between a soda and graham cracker, but not quite so tasty. These crackers, six per meal plus water would constitute your dinner—as well as your lunch and your breakfast while in the fallout shelter.

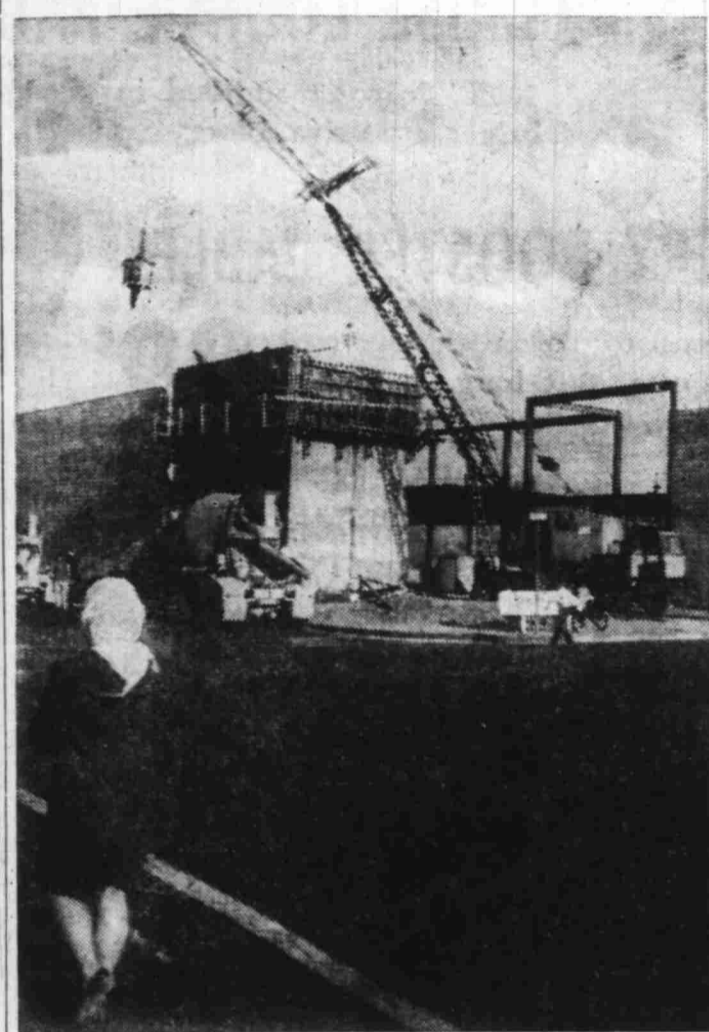

EMPTY WATER CONTAINERS are stored in the basement of the TMCA building. Civil Defense Directors say they can readily be filled when needed, and it would be useless to do it now. Holding the container is Walter Leschig of TMCA.

SHELTERS ARE MARKED in the Industrial Area. These signs, one of which Deputy Civil Defense Director Bob Lund is pointing tell where the fallout shelters are. In the center is Gen. J. T. Roberts, Clark County Civil Defense director, and on the extreme left is the hat brim of Walter Leschig, safety director for TMCA.

AN ENTIRE HOSPITAL UNIT is stored underground which is equivalent to a 200-bed hospital. Shown here are Bob Lund, Henderson Deputy Civil Defense Director; General J. T. Roberts, center, Clark County CD Director, and Walt Leschig of TMCA. This would be moved to Basic High School after radiation danger was gone.

GOOD WEATHER HAS ENABLED contractors to push ahead on the two largest projects on the agenda for early 1964 in Henderson. On the left is the future home of the Palm Mortuary and Memorial Park located on Boulder Highway. On the right, one of the tallest buildings in Henderson, the new home of the Bank of Las Vegas, located on the corner of Pacific and Water Streets

Hardtner Advises Residents To Find Out What Urban Renewal Is

Joe Hardtner, a member of the City Planning Commission, is anxious for every resident of this city to understand what Urban Renewal means before any such project is started in Henderson.

He requests that every citizen of this city, who has any interest in civic affairs, read the story, "The Mounting Scandal of Urban Renewal" in the March issue of the Reader's Digest (now on the news stands) and if after reading this article you are opposed to such a project here, call your City Councilman.

Speaking of the Urban Renewal program in Washington, D.C. the article states: "Once the program is started, no one is free from condemnation on whim. If out-one small structure in a block of five buildings can be declared substandard, all houses or businesses in that block can be condemned for urban renewal. Thus, local initiative to improve property is throttled, and blight is accelerated by the very law designed to cure it."

DIGGING AND COVERING HOLES is generally considered child's play—but not here. A city dozer pushed back all the earth Wednesday which a California contractor had dug up 10 days before for a fall-out shelter. Before the proper location was located, the BMI, the City of Henderson, the Housing Authority, the Civil Defense agency, the General Services Administration and who knows who else was involved. Actual excavation and covering costs are not known, but it is safe to say there were a few thousands of dollars of paper work involved. Children play with paper money—your money.

Scouts Help School On Book Drive

Always quick to respond to a service for the community, Boy Scouts of Troops 1, 2 and 7 will carry out the national tradition of their organization Saturday when they participate in the book collection drive for the Junior - senior high school library.

Troops are active in civic affairs as well as their own programs of camping and advancement.

Doorbells will be rung all day Saturday in an effort to secure books no longer needed by householders, but which will help augment the needs of the school library. They may be hard or paper backs. Types of books needed are listed in another article in this week's newspaper.

Classroom Shortage Hits Clark Co.
Harder Than Other Nevada Sectors

Clark County School District has been hardest hit by the classroom shortage in Nevada. Harvey Dondero, Assistant to the Superintendent said Friday.

Commenting on a report from Washington by the United States Office of Education which noted that the state was 414 classrooms short when public schools opened last fall, Dondero pointed out that 280 of those needed classrooms are right here in Clark County right now.

And, of the 350 new ones required to accommodate excess enrollment, Clark County ranks first on the list with 319 including 39 of 64 needed to replace unsatisfactory facilities.

Of the 9,674 students in room supply, 8,046 are in Clark County schools. The normal classroom size is figured between 25-30 students. And, of the 14,000 students state-wide on less than full day sessions, 12,504 are in Clark County.

Of the 3,234 classrooms available in the state when schools opened in September, 1,413 were located in Clark County and of the 410 new rooms to be built during 1963-64, 255 are being constructed in the county.

Dondero said the figures used by the US Office of Education are taken directly from the various state departments of education and that he annually compiles such a report for Clark County which is forwarded to Carson City.

"Our School Facilities Department is doing everything it can to try and catch up with this shortage," Dondero said. An eight-room addition to the Paradise Elementary School in November and the opening of Paul Cully Elementary this month have helped some. Six additional elementary and one junior high school are due to be completed later in the year.

Dondero also squashed a rumor that school enrollment had diminished since the first of the year. His February total enrollment report showed a gain over January of 234 students to raise the total number to 50,255 for all 66 schools in the District, an average of almost 60 per week.

Dondero showed the following figures to show the steady gain in enrollment:

Feb. 7, 1964	50,255
Sept. 20, 1963	49,567
Increase	688
(Average 34 per week)
Feb. 7, 1964	50,255
June 1, 1963	43,085
Increase	7,170
Feb. 7, 1964	50,255
Feb. 1, 1963	42,587
Increase	7,668

Teachers Get Dental Manuals

Teachers in Boulder City and Nevada this week are receiving a special dental manual from the state division of health, which is mailing the document to every teacher in the state.

The 127-page guide was originated by Tennessee and adapted to fit the Nevada scene, says Omar M. Seifert, D.D.S., chief of the division's section of dental health.

"This manual has the right approach to dental health," Dr. Seifert states. "The basic idea is to instill lifelong habits that will maintain a good mouthful of teeth right into old age, and the manual encourages this."

Current distribution of the guide is limited to one copy

To Let U.S. 95 Rd. Job Contract Near Lathrop Wells On March 12

Bids for reconstruction of U.S. 95 south of Lathrop Wells in Nye County will be opened at highway headquarters in Carson City on March 12th. The 7.4 mile job will cost $500,000, according to Department estimates.

Beginning two miles west of the present Mercury junction, the primary project will extend to nearly a mile west of the junction with State Route 16 (Johnnie road). Plans call for replacing the existing roadmix surface with a 32-foot wide plantmix pavement.

per school, but additional copies are available on request. Dr. Seifert can be reached at 821 Ryland St., Reno.

As designed, the upcoming road will follow the same alignment as present U.S. 95 through that area. When complete, the route, at its southern terminus, will tie into the Mercury highway contract now underway north of Indian Springs.

This section of Nevada's primary system is one of the oldest in continuous use. Nearly three decades have passed since the Highway Department built the road. Since that time it has been maintained and widened by state maintenance forces.

In 1934 and 1935, four contracts were awarded for initial construction and paving. Over $250,000 was spent to complete an 18-foot wide highway.

by NIKKI HARTZELL
Joey is the miniature Dachshund with personality plus which makes him liked immediately by all who meet him and which proved irresistible to Klara Roach. After talking to Klara, I believe that no matter what his cost she would have managed to beg, borrow, or steal the price just to be able to bring Joey to reside with her at 540 Hopi in Boulder City.

I am sure if she were offered cash ten times his original cost, Klara would look at you as if you were missing a few of your marbles. (But then isn't that the way most of us feel about our loved pets?)

Joey likes to make believe he is quite an adult dog now, as he will never be one year old again, but you should hear of some of the silly things he did when he was just a pup so many (?) long months ago. Like the time he was running to come in the house and bumped his nose on the back porch step. My goodness, what a little fellow supposed to do when people build such high porches. It must be way over four inches! Now that he is full grown and about that tall himself, Joey can take that mountain on as if it were nothing.

When it comes to standing on his hind legs, he has a real advantage as that makes him about three times his height. This he uses for practical purposes like the day he found he could reach the board with the food on it for the birds. Joey wasn't really hungry but it was fun to snatch one piece of bread or bacon at a time and bury it in the back yard. —That is, he thought it was fun until Klara saw what he was up to and bawled him out. Joey wasn't really upset that day but, boy, was he ashamed of himself the day Klara found him sampling the front room rug padding. From the way he seemed to ask her forgiveness I don't believe he will try this test again.

Even though he has his own little back door, Joey likes it when his neighbor and friend, Nell Nazer, picks him up at noon for a visit. She has the most fascinating fuzzy slippers. Joey is positive they are two little puppies and is determined some day he will get them to really break loose and play with him.

One day Joey ran in front of a car and just missed being hit by inches. It was because of this near accident that Klara entered my beginners obedience class. Joey's training was only partially completed as Klara hurt her back but what he did absorb has already paid off as far as Klara is concerned. Joey believes he can eat big dogs alive and likes to prove this at every opportunity. Two dogs were loose in Joey's neighborhood the other day and Joey started lickety split after them when Klara called out for Joey to "stay". He stopped where he was and just quietly watched these stray dogs for over five minutes.

Klara really let Joey know how proud she was of him after the dogs had gone away. Could you imagine her accepting the offer of a motel owner to trade his cat for Joey? (This really happened on a recent trip to California.)

Joey doesn't care for any of the commercial canned or dry dog foods. He much prefers to eat what ever Klara is having for dinner, although he has discovered that cooked chicken skin is a bit too rich for him. If

4-H 'Babyproofs' for Safety

How do you "babyproof" a home? Suzanne Simmons, 16, of State College, Mississippi, says it involves removing every possible home hazard that might harm a baby. In this manner she made her own home safer for her little brother and began a program of safety projects that lifted her to national honors in the annual 4-H safety competition.

Suzanne was selected as one of eight national winners of $500 General Motors scholarships for outstanding 4-H farm, home and highway safety projects. The winners also received all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Suzanne began her "babyproofing" project when her young brother learned to turn the handles on the home's gas space heater. She repositioned the handles, placing them out of his reach. Next, the national winner moved medicines, poisons and sharp objects out of sight and reach. Among other precautions was the placement of safety gates at the head of each staircase in her home.

Suzanne's safety demonstrations have won numerous awards and include "Safe Toys for Children," "The Invisible Passenger—Carbon Monoxide Gas," "Halloween Safety," and "How to Use a Fire Extinguisher."

National 4-H winners were selected from a group of 44 state safety award winners. General Motors, now in its 20th year as safety awards donor, also gave state winners trips to the Club Congress.

Other national winners include: Larry Roffee, 16, Wheatridge, Colo.; Janis Lindsey, 16, Columbia City, Ind.; Maria Langlois, 16, Greenwell Springs, La.; Diane Barrigar, 17, Winthrop, N. Y.; Judy Styles, 19, Brentford, S. D.; Brenda Bennett, 17, Cleveland, Tenn.; and Monty Blakemore, 16, Celeste, Texas.

Their advice: MAKE EVERY ROOM UNDER YOUR ROOF SAFE FOR SMALL ONES...BABYPROOF!

Klara puts Joey's dish down first it will just remain untouched. Joey refuses to eat alone and politely waits for Klara to seat herself at the table so they may start their dinners together.

One of Joey's toys is a stuffed cloth dachshund longer than himself. It is quite entertaining to see Joey rattle this dachy 'till he gets tired and rolls over to fall asleep in his usual upside down position.

Behind The Wheel Driver Training Proves Its Worth at Basic High

Students at Basic High School will be learning safe driving techniques again this year in a program of classroom study and behind-the-wheel driver training.

The course consists of study of traffic rules and sound driving practices as well as on-the-road supervised training in automobiles equipped with AAA dual controls.

Gaudin Motor Company is loaning a 1964 Ford to the school for use in the program. The dual controls are

'Slot Car' Club Plans Endurance Races, March 7

The Henderson Sidewinders, Slot Car Club, is still looking for new members.

Meetings are held Wednesday evenings from 8 p.m. - 9 p.m., at Hobbies Galore.

Anyone interested may attend the meetings.

Requirements are that new members must own or be building a slot car.

At the last meeting a 2 hour endurance race was voted to be held on Saturday March 7, 1964. The entry fee is $2.00 and the race will consist of teams of 2 men. The car bodies must be of the sports car style and equipped with lights.

During the race there will be a pit stop to add lights and a tire change if necessary. The last half hour of the race will be held in the dark.

A trophy will be awarded to the winner of the race.

Anyone wishing to enter this race may do so, if their car meets the qualifications stated.

After leading the Southern Nevada area for two years in percentage increase of new construction, Henderson fell behind in 1963 with the only losses in the area.

Las Vegas was up $24,015,506, in construction permits, an increase of 29.5 percent; North Las Vegas was up $2,443,679 an increase of 19.2 percent; the unincorporated area of Clark County was up $6,648,496, an increase of 7.3 percent. Henderson with only $2,975,050 in total permits was off $1,339,049, a decrease of 31 percent.

Las Vegas showed an increase of $21,906,290 in housing, up 47 percent over 1962 totals; North Las Vegas showed an increase of $3,813,931 or 53 percent; Clark County was up $11,014,521 or 36 percent; and Henderson showed a loss of $208,029, down 36 percent.

Building permits for the year reached a new high of $220,268,269. During the second quarter of the year it became apparent that the high level performance of the first quarter, which was 109 percent higher than 1962's first quarter, would not be sustained. At the year's end the total volume showed an increase of $31.7 million, for a percentage gain of 17 percent.

Total bank debits reported by the Federal Reserve Bank for the Las Vegas region showed an increase of 34 percent; bank resources declined a fractional .14 percent.

Visitors taking the Hoover Dam guided tour during 1963 increased over the previous year by 52,600, a gain of 10 percent. Visitors at Lake Mead showed an increase of 15 percent.

Basic P-TA Sees Slides of State; Name Committee

The February meeting of the Basic Elementary P-TA was held Tuesday, Feb. 18 with Ralph Cramer, local photographer, show slide scenes of points of interest throughout the state of Nevada, as well as plants and wild flowers.

The attendance award went to the sixth grade class. Refreshments were served by the third grade room mothers.

Invocation was lead by Marlin Walker, LDS Bishop. A nominating committee composed of Charles Galloway, Mrs. Marva Peterson and Miss Linda Gold was named to offer a list of candidates at the next regular meeting.

UP-TO-THE-MINUTE MEN DEFENDING AMERICA

In addition to teaching the skill and knowledge necessary to drive a car, the course is designed to develop in young people a sense of responsibility for safe driving. Also included in the course are topics such as the psychology of the driver, care and maintenance of an automobile and the problems of highway development and traffic management.

Last year some 262,000 students in California and Nevada completed a course in the classroom phase of driver education and 157,000 received behind-the-wheel driver training.

2 Local Youths Are Stand-Outs In Soccer Meet

Two Henderson soccer players stood out, Saturday evening although the team they were playing on — the Las Vegas All Stars — dropped a 9-1 game to the visiting Blue and White Rangers from Anaheim, Calif.

The game was one of three played at the Las Vegas high school field.

Tim Manion, center forward, made the only goal for the all-stars from his center forward position, while Mike Tharp, the other Henderson player, was goalkeeper the first half and at a forward position, the second half.

On Pictures
Ever wonder who paints the pictures you see hanging in the Bank of Nevada?
The "Painters and Pot-ers" do!

The club meets at the high school Tuesdays at 8 p.m.
The teacher is Warren Frank, and we are impressed by his dedication to his profession and devotion to art.

On Boy Scouts
Two requirements are necessary to get a boy eight years old into the Boy Scouts in Henderson.
One is religion.
The other is that you must be willing to sign up the whole family to be good Scouts.

If you say, "This isn't true" — you're either a Boy Scout leader or you don't have a boy.

I do.
With Girl Scouts, it's different.

Your girls are placed in the capable hands of someone like Mrs. Arlen Harris. She bubbles over with enthusiasm and her girls love her.

They wanted to sign a letter nominating her for a good citizen award. But she said "No." This is the type of person she is.
I know because my daughter ter is a Girl Scout.

It's The Season

Ever sit on the bleachers and watch a wide-eyed, small boy who has a new mitt, bat and ball but unfortunately has never played baseball.

Try to get into a local ball club.

He comes every day. The wind blows. It's hot and he has a friend who sits with told him he has to come to a practice before he can play ball. Maybe he'll practice next time.

He comes, he sits, he waits.

His mother doesn't come anymore.

Someone tells her there are too many boys—and not enough men to coach them. The mother wishes someone could help. She counts nine boys. It's enough. Could she do it? No, women don't get along with men coaches.

Are we expecting too much from our volunteers? They aimed to win. They weren't coaching anymore and we would like to have joined in on the talks of teaching boys to lose—except there wasn't any.

And a Tribute
There is one coach in this town for the mothers like myself who are weary of seeing their boys sit and wait.

This man is Pat Winters, who says, "We didn't win all the time, but my boys played ball — everyone of them." If there's another Pat Winters, he'd like to meet him. Also remember girls play ball, too. Someone please inform us when does spring training start?

Honor Roll
If you read the Basic High School news, you saw the name of a student on the A-B Honor Roll.
Good, you say.
But did you know that she is an adult with two well-cared-for children, a clean home, and the smell of cookies and good food comes from her kitchen.

She finds time to enjoy bowling with her husband who is a top-notch bowler. We maintain that if she can do it—you teenagers who are not making the Honor roll can do it, too.

Because this student is average to everyone but me. You see—she's my sister. Her name is Marietta Jonas.

Random Thoughts

If I were a teacher, I would refuse to go to PTA meetings; instead I'd go to my students' homes for supper and see what I could see.

ADVICE: Little boys, if you must fight. Don't throw rocks. Throw your fists but only at little boys your own size by mutual agreement. Don't enter into the arguments of children, especially with their mother. Those kids will be playing together in 10 minutes and adults stay angry a long, long time.

Worthwhile

Barbara Jackson, apprentice model, will visit the Whistle Bait "TOPS" tonight at 7:30 at 282 Tungsten. The public is invited and teenage girls might find this a good way to spend an evening.

IN Closing PAWS PAUSE
Please my dear,
Make me add here;
To my diet,
Quiet
No riot;

What is that I hear?
Paw so near,
Chomping, Romping,
Stomping
Yes, my dear you do hear,
The midnight raid of Paw we fear."

Bank of Nevada Moves Up 481 Notches In U.S.

The Nevada State Bank, Las Vegas, Nevada which reported deposits of $20,652,543 on December 31st, gained 481 places in its standing among the 1500 largest commercial banks in the United States during 1963 and now ranks as 1493 largest in size compared with 1974 place at the end of 1962.

Deposits of the bank totaled $14,990,240 a year ago.

This is revealed in the 1964 Annual Roll Call of the 1500 Largest Banks in the United States published by the daily AMERICAN BANKER of New York, which is the trade newspaper of the banking business. There are 13,511 banks in the United States.

J. Picotte Sweeps Game and Series Honors On Lanes

J. Picotte swept individual honors in the Powder Puff bowling league on Feb. 11 with a 215 game and a 558 series.

L. Knepper was second with a 203 game followed by Picotte again with a 203. Second high series honors went to L. Knepper's 504 and third place to P. Morris with a 498.

In the team division, Freels and Morrell's 564 was the best game, with Nevada Ready Mix bowling a 555 and H. and L. Masonry a 536.

The Ready Mix keggers had a 1529 series; H. and L. Masonry a 1475 and Freels and Morrell a 1459. Splits converted included:

This week's senior is George (Rusty) Hammond, 17. He is the son of Mrs. George F. Hammond of 430 National Rusty was born July 12, 1946, in Berkeley, California. He has dark blond hair, hazel green eyes, weighs 170 lbs., and is 5 feet 11 inches tall.

Rusty's hobbies are listening to music and collecting coins. His other big interests are in the DeMolays. His pet peeves are inconsiderate teachers and stuck-up girls. His favorite food is the hamburger. His favorite class is physiology. His favorite teacher is Mr. Empson. The lake is his favorite place to go in the summer and sleeping is his favorite pastime.

Rusty plans to attend college at San Jose State College to major in Biology. He has lived in Henderson for 16 years. He lived in San Francisco before coming here. During the summer he is employed at the Young and Rue Mortgage Company in Las Vegas.

This year Rusty is in Aristocrats, Biology Club, National Honor Society and is president of Fine Arts Club, vice-president of Spanish Club and treasurer of Physical Science Club. Earlier this year he was in the Sun Youth Forum and the Senior Class Play.

He thinks that the Vegasland Park will be great if it is anything like Disneyland. He also thinks that it would improve the high school if the freshmen were deported to the junior high again. This would leave the sophomores, juniors and seniors to comprise the student body.

In the ninth grade, Rusty was on the B-Honor Roll. In his sophomore year he was in National Honor Society, Science Club and on the B-Honor Roll.

Last year he was very busy with National Honor Society, Science Club, Jr. Class Play and Sun Youth Forum. He was also manager of the J.V. Basketball team. During the summer he represented Basic High School at the National Conference of Christians and Jews' Brotherhood U.S.A.

ENGAGEMENT
Caroline Baum and Gail Cox recently announced their engagement at a small dinner party held at the bride-to-be's home.

They set the date of the festive occasion for July 11 at the Community Church.

THIS 'n' THAT
Geneve T., such luxury! Not everyone has a personal chauffeur who has his own car. Texans seem to be a fad these days. I see that Sylvia likes them too. Mary Lee, aren't you fetching? Sharon W., How do you like you men? Bald?

Ed D., did you ever considering accepting the office of Postmaster General? You should! Who gives you that old feeling, Pam R.? He y. Gretel, how is Hansel, and the witch? Don't tell anyone, but there is another hood at BHIS. She is known by her alias "Kleenex Kid" to most people but sometimes she goes by her real name(?) Kay Steiner. T.M., what is the name of the play that you were reading the other night?

Pays $5 Fine
Naomi Holmes Lewis paid a fine of $5 for a stop sign violation when she appeared in Municipal Court Tuesday.

You have probably noticed the similarity of the expression on the face of a girl who is wearing a new engagement ring and that of a cat that has just eaten the canary.

Law Is Specific On Loose Dogs — Poundmaster

Dog owners, who permit their animals to run - at - large, are being served with copies of the ordinance which prohibits this action, according to Poundmaster Terry Larkin.

Paragraph 4 of Ordinance 288 reads:

"It shall be unlawful for any owner, possessor, or person who keeps any dog, or dogs, to permit the same to run at large upon the private property of others or upon the streets, alleys, sidewalks, highways, vacant lots, school yards or other unenclosed places in the city."

Copies of this ordinance are given to violators with the notation that "It would be appreciated if you would please comply with the foregoing, or legal action will be taken."

Larkin said that no further citations or summons have been issued since the case against Cliff Deyo was dismissed in court last week.

Larkin also said that after March 1, a $1 penalty is added for those who have not obtained their 1964 dog tags.

MEETING MEMOS: Feb. 28, 7:30 p.m., Boulder City Woman's Club Building — regular meeting of Boulder City Horsemen's Association.

Feb. 29 beginning at 10 a.m., "Wild West Day" at the B.C. Arena. "Peb" Cole chairman, assisted by Thomas Blake, Jeff Cathcart and Gary Elam. Morning activities will include burro riding and lassoing for boys and girls from eight years of age through twelve. Each person attending will be expected to bring their own lunch and beverage. Beginning at 1 p.m. events for teen-agers are planned including lassoing, burro riding, barrel racing, pole bending, stake races for practice.

Feb. 29, 8 p.m., Western Dance sponsored by Henderson Saddle Association to be held at the Pittman Women's Club Building. Admission one dollar per person, with money to go to the building fund for sanitary facilities for the Henderson Corral and Arena area. Chairmen for the event are Della Rudolph, 2 Montana Way, 374-4871; and Delores Vohs, 4941 Harmon Ave., Desert Hills, 731-2262. Everybody welcome.

Board of Directors meeting for Henderson Saddle Association will be held during the first week in March. Check time with President "Ike" Maupin, 565-8678.

PADDOCK PATTER: PRIDE, bay three-quarter quarterhorse mare with the white diamond on forehead in the Roger Fisher corral at the B Bar C corrals, has as sire, GOLDEN NUGGET, registered quarterhorse, Alamo, where Fisher and "Peb" Cole summered their horses until this past year. PRIDE stayed closer home this last hot spell, grazing on the Lewis's Overton-Glendale Ranch. At present she is sharing stable room with JOHNNY the burro who is becoming increasingly familiar with children in the neighborhood of Kings and Kendrick Places, where Fisher's grandson, Richey Stahl, takes him on visits. JOHNNY was originally owned by Perlie Morris and was turned out on the range with other burros in the Cole-Fisher-Blake strings, but being too friendly, kept to the highway and was struck by a car. He's over his injuries but range-land is now out of bounds for the friendly donkey. BUCK, the buckskin mare from the thoroughbred CARROT, no longer is in the Fisher group. BUCK first lived at Henderson and was used in burro hunting. . . . now has been taken to Las Vegas as a brood mare.

BENT SPUR, who won his race this week at Santa Antia Race Track, was raised on the George Thomas thoroughbred Farm at Glendora by Thomas's BENT SPUR, whose famous father was PIE KING, though no longer owned by the Thomas's, still by California Racing Rules, returns the Thomas's ten percent of the winnings since they raised the horse and he is California bred. HAPPY WORDS will be the next mare of the Thomas stable to foal. . . . TONKA, owned by Jeff Cathcart, newest gelding at the B Bar C. . . . PET, bay mare of Mona Maupin is a seven-year-old and used by Mona in barrel racing, gymkhanas, horse shows and rodeos, incidentally Mona hails from Manassa, Colorado home of Jack Dempsey.

Local persons raising Quarterhorse and thoroughbred colts are much interested in the work being done by a committee of the Nevada State Horsemen's Association for presentation to the Nevada Racing Commission. If accepted, both Quarterhorse and Thoroughbred Breeders in Nevada would receive a return from the colts they sell if they are raced on a recognized track in Nevada. All breeders are asked to help on this proposal. New rulings, in addition to those published in last week's issue, reported from Nevada State Horsemen's Association, are effective for the Industrial Days events scheduled for April 23-24-25 and 26 and for all other N.S.H.A. approved horsemanship activities. The rulings can be obtained by calling yours truly at 293-1925.

Ten younger members of the B Bar C Corral group have sufficient experience based on their past two years appearances at various Clark County Horse shows to ready themselves in short time for the Industrial Days Horse show, according to Hila Boyer, who trained the group for past performances. These Boulder City Horsemen Association members and friends include: Jackie Ahlstrom, Terry Chamberlain, Candy Cole, Peggy Farmer, Gary Hillyer, Sharon Hillyer, Sherry Kaiser, Cindy Perkins, JoAnn Opat and Betty Wengert. Cindy Atkinson, who is away at college, has had jumping lessons, and Dawn Opat and Kathy Dieleman also are experienced equestriennes who are concerned with college classes rather than show classes at the present time.

Sorry to hear that three people who are interested in the Boulder City Horsemen's Association are hospitalized — Veva Johnson, Nick Grana and now Ed Reese. Nick is also listed as a member of

New Way To Beat A Winter Worry

Local merchants are offering a new solution to an old problem, personal daintiness during winter, with its steam heat and heavy clothing. The new product, called Ban Cream, is a full-strength anti-perspirant and deodorant cream with a pink vanishing base that helps it disappear quickly on the skin. It's one of the many products local merchants offer to help us win out over winter.

Plan Added Ski Facilities In Lee Canyon Winter Sports Area

A prospectus has been offered and bids requested for proposed winter sports development at the Lee Canyon, Charleston Mountain recreation area which will add greatly to our winter recreational facilities. The proposed development, announced by Ivan Sack, Forest Supervisor of the Toiyabe National Forest, will cover approximately 470 acres of national forest land in the upper end of Lee Canyon, adjacent to the end of the present State Highway 52.

Two tows or lifts are to be provided along with a warming shelter, water and sanitary facilities. Slopes will be cleared for at least tagging along; Ray Blair, 533 Elm St., was also in on the action. Butch Hesketh had the loan of CHEYENNE from Raymond Sanders.

The adults on the sidelines got in their fun in their own way with the two board of Director representatives Loyal Miller and Tom Blake busy trying on Hila Boyer's formal jumping hat when she didn't have it in use; Fuzzy Wengert enjoying the games and the comments on her gold boots, won the night before; Sue Cathcart, with the first aid kit handy "just in case" with one eye on the activities and the other, her sewing. And the laughter of all adults around when a mare standing at corral side nickered, a female spectator said "who's the soprano" and straight faced Loyal Miller answered, "Are you sure that's a soprano? Sounds more like a burr-otone."

two downhill ski runs. The ski slopes will be laid out to provide skiing for beginner, intermediate and expert classes. An area for "snow bunnies" will also be provided.

One ski lift will provide for a minimum of 200 passengers per hour. Extensions of one lift may be made to serve as a summer scenic view from the top of the Kyle Canyon-Lee Canyon ridge of over 11,000 feet elevation.

The successful bidder will have up to December 1, 1967 to complete the minimum development, Sack states. It is estimated by the Forest Service that costs will be from $100,000 to $200,000.

A 20-year term permit will be issued for the portion of the area where facilities are installed. All development will be in accordance with State and local laws and ordinances.

Hang 'em all... and HAPPY HOLIDAYS... with "SHOW-OFFS". These famous miniature, plastic "clothes pins" will put your Christmas cards "on the line." It is the decorative way to display the warm wishes of the Holiday Season, and easy enough to let your children have the fun of doing it. Buy several, you'll enjoy them. Available at your local supermarkets, drug, variety, gift and department stores.

Registration Call Issued for May 5 School Elections

A bond election calling for $37 million to build schools has been scheduled for May 5 by the Board of School Trustees of Clark County at which time registered voters of this District will have an opportunity to express themselves on this issue.

Deadline of registration is March 28, and Henderson residents may register at the office of Genevieve H. Harper, city clerk, in the city hall.

Persons who should register include those who have changed their addresses since they last registered; those who did not vote in the General Election on Nov. 6, 1962 and have not registered; those who have become 21 years of age; those who desire to change their political affiliation; newly naturalized citizens.

The above list also includes new residents of Clark County who have the following qualifications: citizens of the U.S., 21 years of age, resident of Nevada for the past six months; resident of Clark County for the last 30 days and resident of your precinct for 10 days.

NEVADA SALUTES AIR PIONEER

Nevada Senator Howard W. Cannon, right, discusses new Air Force jet fighter plans with retired Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, The General, who flew with Orville Wright in 1902, celebrated his 84th birthday in Washington by becoming an honorary member of the Air Force Thunderbirds—precision flying team stationed at Nellis Air Force Base. The presentation was made by Senator Cannon.

Main Theme Cited At Area Churches

One of the main themes at Christian Science Churches in Boulder City and Henderson Sunday will be from John 1:17: "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

The Bible lesson on "Christ Jesus" will also include this selection from the Christian Science textbook: "Christianity as Jesus taught it was not a creed, nor a system of ceremonies, nor a special gift from a ritualistic Jehovah; but it was a demonstration of divine love casting out error and healing the sick, not merely in the name of Christ, or Truth, but in demonstration of Truth, as must be the case in the cycles of divine light (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 135).

GENE WARD... citizen of the month

IN HELLDORADO ATTIRE — Former Clark County Sheriff Gene Ward, at right, is shown with the famous Death Valley Scotty, who annually participated in the Helldorado Old Timers Parade. Scotty always wore a big Stetson hat and a red necktie. Ward looked so fine in Western togs that his picture was used by the Chamber of Commerce to advertise Las Vegas as "Still a Frontier Town," during the days when the "Western" image was in use.

MESQUITE GROCERY — Taken during the 1920's, this picture shows the Mesquite Grocery on the corner now occupied by the California Club, looking down Fremont toward Second Street. There were no parking meters, no neon signs and all the men wore hats or caps. Gene Ward operated the Mesquite from 1918 to 1936 and at one time also had two cash-and-carry grocery stores on Fremont Street.

Bids for 40,000 Gallons of Gas Asked By Council

The city of Henderson is issuing a call in today's Home News for gasoline in the bulk estimated to be at 40,000 gallons. The bids will be received by the City Council until 8 p.m., March 16 at which time they will be opened and read. The gasoline is to be of premium grade and is to be delivered to the city of Henderson storage tank in quantities of 600 to 800 gallons within the period of March 21, 1964 to March 21, 1965.

Four Local Men Are Released From Services

A number of men from Henderson are among the 94 Nevadans who have been released from the Armed Forces in the past six weeks. Discharged from the Navy were Kenneth M. Picotte, 56-C Victory Village, and Phil Stout, 677 Burton Street. Discharged from the Air Force was Troy J. Bartlett, 21 Mallory Street. And discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps was Bruce Phillip Snyder.

Morris Ernest Lee was fined $50 in court Tuesday for driving his vehicle with expired California license plates.

Over 700 trailers were parked in a trailer park on a part of Ward's property leased for this purpose.

An addition was built on the old Jericho Heights 'speak easy' and it became the Midway Casino, a very lively club, complete with bar, gambling and a cafe operated by Nick Coroneos, who also owned a hotel on Boulder Highway.

When the war was over and the plant closed, many of the people left and houses, motel units and even business buildings were moved out of the Pittman area.

AFTER THE BOOM
Boom and bust was nothing new to Gene Ward and he felt certain that others would come to Pittman and build permanent homes. Having started his career as a grocer, he applied the old grocery store adage, "When there are no customers, that's the time to polish the apples." He subdivided an additional 90 acres of land, known as the Ward Addition.

During the intervening years, Gene has sold all of the lots in both of these tracts except those on which he lives and has rental buildings.

Lots have been sold to home builders for as little as $5 per month. Gene has handled all of the financing for these sales and has never foreclosed on anyone who was having trouble making their payments.

In some instances, he has returned the money paid on lots to those who found they were unable to complete the payments.

Some would feel that this is bad business practice, but Gene has continued to prosper and the community where he makes his home has continued to grow.

Gene has been active in every community project ever attempted in Pittman. He worked for the incorporation of the City of Henderson, which would not have been possible in 1953 without including Pittman, which at that time contained the only property owners within the city limits.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Boulder Highway Association and was one of the most active workers for the recent street paving project.

Ward was born February 20, 1888 in Morenci, Michigan and grew up working in his father's grocery store. He came West in 1908 to visit an aunt in Randsburg, California and remained there ten years working for the Randsburg Mercantile Company.

IN FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS
Shortly after moving to Las Vegas in 1918, Ward purchased the Mesquite Grocery at First and Fremont streets, where the California Club is now located.

During the 18 years he operated the Mesquite Grocery Gene weathered two very distressing periods. The first was a railroad strike in the early 1920's which threw most of the people in Las Vegas out of work and the second the depression which brought a rush of hungry, out-of-work people into the area seeking work on Boulder Dam.

Through these hard times, Gene never sent anyone away from his store without food and his credit accounts soared out of all proportions. Some of these whom he helped paid their accounts, some did not; however, none of them were ever taken into court for collection of debts.

The construction of Boulder Dam also brought the first building boom to Las Vegas and Ward opened two cash-and-carry grocery stores, which he operated in addition to the Mesquite.

ENTERS POLITICS

The Mesquite Grocery was sold in 1936 when he was elected Clark County Sheriff, to fill an unexpired term of two years. He was re-elected for a four-year term in 1938.

He was elected Justice of the Peace in Las Vegas in 1945 and during his two-year term of office, he married 9500 couples.

Since the incorporation of Henderson, his neighbors have urged him to run for City Councilman of Ward Five, but Gene has persistently refused to re-enter the political field.

The esteem in which Gene Ward is held by his neighbors was demonstrated when they held a testimonial meeting for him about three years ago at the Pittman Community Center.

Ward and his wife, Grace, live in a lovely, comfortable house at 1813 Merze Street, with fireplace of native Nevada rocks. Gene loves to astonish visitors by telling them that the house was built in 1927.

The Wards have five sons: Leland Ward of Detroit, Michigan; Charles Ward of Las Vegas; Joe Gilpin, Las Vegas; Marvin Gilpin, Denver, Colorado; and Orville Gilpin now serving with the U.S. Marine Corps at San Diego, California; and two daughters, Shirley Simms of Camas, Washington and Allie Belle Phelps, Dumas, Texas. They also have 18 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

75 Young People Enjoy Jr. Girls' Valentine Dance

Approximately 75 young people from Henderson and Boulder City attended the Valentine dance held February 15, at the VFW club-rooms in Victory Village, sponsored by the Junior Girls Auxiliary of Basic Post 3848.

Music was furnished by the Impallas and refreshments of cake and punch were served. Ice cream was donated for the occasion by Anderson's Dairy. The refreshment table was decorated in a Valentine theme.

In attendance, to assist with the serving and help the young people have a good time, were several members of Basic Post and Auxiliary, under the direction of Chairman Dorothy Keith and Mary Carter, Co-chairman.

Feb. 29 Dance Is Postponed

The dance scheduled to be held Saturday evening, Feb. 29 at the Pittman Women's Club by the Henderson Saddle Club has been indefinitely postponed, according to Ruth Farnsworth, publicity chairman.

Another date will be announced for the dance at a later time.

MRS. WEIKEL HONORED

MRS. WEIKEL

The appointment of Mrs. Karl Weikel as Nevada publicity chairman for the Twelfth Annual Conference of Republican Women in Washington, D.C. April 8-11, was recently announced by Mrs. Amy Gulling, Republican National Committee Woman. Mrs. Weikel is currently serving as second vice president of the Nevada State Federation of Republican Women and is President of the Nel-Ser Republican Women's Club.

Dennis Bowmer Installed As President of Radio-TV Ass'n.

Dennis Bowmer, owner of Boulder Appliance, Boulder City, was installed as President of the Clark County Electronics Association at a dinner held recently at the Elks Club in Las Vegas.

The dinner and dance was the first held by the Association and, because of its success, it is planned to make this an annual affair. Arrangements for the well attended event were under the direction of Jim Berkabile and Del Cram.

In a formal ceremony, Bill Preece of Master TV was awarded a plaque honoring him for his unstinting efforts as President of CCEA during the past year and Preece in turn handed over the reins of the Association to the incoming president.

Larry Forbach of Quality TV also received an award in acknowledgment of his service as past president.

Installed to serve with Bowmer during the coming year were Kurtz Whitaker, Frontier TV, vice president; and Phil Hubel, Phillips Radio and TV, Henderson, secretary-treasurer.

President Bowmer announced that one of the first undertakings of CCEA will be a publicity campaign to acquaint the public with the aims and efforts of the non-profit corporation to upgrade the servicing profession and assure the highest technical and ethical standards in TV and electronic service.

Drove of Does Adds Members

Four new members will be initiated into the Boulder Drove of Does during the meeting tonight which convenes at 8 p.m. at the Elks Lodge.

Those joining the group are Carol Erb, Wanda Bodine, Ethel Grimmet and Judy Pike. Charter members will also be honored.

Final plans will be made for the state convention scheduled here March 6 and 7 and all members are urged to attend the meeting.

Historical Society Field Trip
This Saturday At Goodsprings

The Southern Nevada Historical Society will hold its regular meeting and annual February field trip in conjunction with the fifth session in its 1963-64 Centennial Lecture series this Saturday at 11 a.m. in the Community Club House at Goodsprings, Nevada.

The Fayle Hotel at Goodsprings, which is still operating, was declared by the to be the finest hostelry in the state, when it opened with a formal ball on the evening of May 13, 1916.

Mining operations with shipping reports indicating the famed Yellow Pine Mine had already produced some $10,000,000 created good cause for the booming community to celebrate. However, as in other Nevada communities, the boom didn't last, and now Goodsprings has a population of 20, the shell of a once magnificent hotel, and a wealth of Nevada History.

Arthur Clark Terrill, Mining Engineer, who maintained an outstanding display of fluorescent mineral rocks at the San Francisco World's Fair in 1939, and came to Henderson to work on the Basic Magnesium Plant in 1942, will guide the members and guests of the Southern Nevada Historical Society through Goodsprings, and to the old Yellow Pine Mine, for the annual February field trip.

Terrill will be assisted by Gilbert Allsebrook, Project Engineer for Titanium Metals of Henderson, and David Lowe of Las Vegas.

Mrs. David Lowe, author of numerous western stories and features, who with her husband and children, bought the old hotel in 1945, and lived in Goodsprings for many years, will conduct a Goodsprings Historical Symposium, with several people who have lived in Goodsprings since the boom days.

The regular meetings of the Southern Nevada Historical Society will be conducted at the Goodsprings Community Club House, across the street from the old hotel, with activities to start between 11 a.m. and noon.

Down U.S. 99 to Jean, and then to the right 7 miles on a paved road! The directions are simple, and all those attending must bring lunches and water. There are no restaurants in Goodsprings.

Members are urged to bring guests. Rockhounds and mining personnel are especially invited. There is never a charge for any of the programs of the Southern Nevada Historical Society.

A Peek Into Nevada's Colorful Centennial History...

Today's Star in Our Crown
We have learned not to measure young ladies' waists, especially with a one foot ruler. It appears they don't like it.

sad State
The Reese River Reveille, always ready with thoughtful suggestions for the benefit of its readers, a century ago suggested the following: "It is more than six weeks since we had occasion to announce a marriage in Austin. What are we coming to?"

There are half a dozen or more eligible young men and as many young ladies there are half a dozen or old enough to join fortunes, and yet nothing happens. Not even the widows are getting married. It is sad to be deprived of such items of interest.

"Has interest in courtship and marriage declined, at least temporarily, because the weather persists in being so cold our young people are reluctant to go out in it, and the living rooms in the girls' homes are too crowded with younger fry to make courtship easy for the bashful swains? If so, why not restore the good old pioneer custom of bundling? That ought to stir things up and make the marriage business boom."

Today's Star in Our Crown
The Reveille was worrying without cause. We have more descendants from pioneers than there are descendants from Mayflower passengers.

Go West, Young
Rivalry, not to say antagonism, between Nevada and California without doubt existed from the day the first settler took up residence in Nevada Territory and scowled at his neighbors across the mountains. Illustrating that condition, the Reese River Reveille said a hundred years ago: "Nevada don't assume one hundredth part of the airs of her big sister across the Sierras. It has no Golden Gate; no consuming droughts; no overwhelming floods; no wholesale lottery swindles; no mammoth headquarters for heaving stock boards; no big bank; no vanity.

"Big sister does have all those things and is welcome to keep them. Even more, Big Sister, can have, and we wish she would keep them too, the horde of undesirable bums and loafers she permits to trickle over here in a steady stream. Quite a collection of them she can't have back, though. We've already buried them."

Today's Star in Our Crown
Nevada's attitude has changed now. It is glad to welcome Californians for frequent visits, thus making living in California less intolerable for them.

Nude Swindle
A hundred years ago Virginia City established itself as the center of what in those days were called "nude" theatrical exhibitions. The "nude" actresses wore tights, and were often more heavily dressed than are many women on the street in summer today.

Commenting on Virginia City's increasing trend toward nudeness, the Gold Hill News said: "Virginia City is a fast town in the line of nude drama. Over there they are now running an extravaganza entitled 'Lady Godiva.' When it is recalled that the original Lady rode through the town of Coventry with only the covering nature gave her, it is only reasonable to wonder what will happen to her when she rides through Virginia City's chilly mountainous atmosphere.

"It seems to us the least that could happen to her would be goose bumps and pneumonia. But why worry? Lady Godiva was the epitome of virtue, and as such would never set foot in Virginia City, anyhow. The whole thing is bound to be a swindle." Today's Star in Our Crown While it may or may not be true that the gals of a century ago were something, once a few outer layers were peeled off, there need be little speculation about those of today.

1864 can understand why Lousetown was so called. It was a sort of breathing stop at the foot of the mountains a few miles from Virginia City. It had hostleries of a sort where drinks, meals and even lodgings could be obtained.

Unlike Virginia City, Lousetown was a reasonable peaceable sort of place. Whenever a teamster got lit up and went looking for trouble he was always accommodated, usually by a couple of other teamsters who knocked him out and put him to bed. As a rule, all Lousetown patrons were saving their energy for a really active night when they reached Virginia City.

Our Lousetowns of today are more delicately named, such as Heavenly Acres Park, Glorious Paradise Motel and so on. We've gone soft since 1864.

Khrushchev recently put the squeeze on Castro twice; he embraced him upon his arrival in Moscow, an closed a deal with him to supply Russia with Cuban sugar at 6 cents a pound, which is 5 cents below the current market price.

Donal N. (Mike) O'Callaghan, former Basic high teacher and now Nevada Health and Welfare Chief, said Tuesday that he was not a possible candidate for Cong. Walter Baring's seat.

O'Callaghan, a former Home News staff writer, gave his reasons for eliminating himself from the race or from political activity of any sort.

He also said he would make no endorsements. "I have said earlier I would not run if a qualified candidate decided to enter the field. One such candidate has assured me that he will file to run against Baring.

Political rumors indicate that Clark County Commissioner Ralph Denton and Attorney Robert Jones are in the race for the House seat.

O'Callaghan declined to say who it is that he considers as the qualified candidate.

(Ed. Note: The Pacific Southwest Water Plan, a long-range project to provide water from the Colorado River to the southwest portion of the United States, was recently completed by the Department of the Interior and will be studied by Congress in the weeks ahead.

This is the second in a series of articles examining the plan and its possible effect on Southern Nevada.)

PART II

The original version of the Southwest Water Plan, released in August of 1963, proposed that the states of the Pacific Southwest put aside the long and wear-some controversies that have plagued Lower Colorado Basin development for over half a century and unite in support of a broad regional approach to assure that water as required would be developed and made available to meet all needs within the region wherever and whenever they occur.

It proposed the establishment of a Pacific Southwest Development Fund as the financial foundation upon which the comprehensive plan could be established.

To demonstrate how new water sources could be developed for the Pacific Southwest, it outlined a plan of physical works separated into two phases. Phase I, the immediate action program, was recommended for early authorization and Phase II, the continuing program, for further study.

Together the works proposed were designed to erase the existing water deficiencies in the Pacific Southwest and meet the needs of future municipal and industrial growth to about the year 1990. In both phases, substantial emphasis was placed on the salvage of water and more efficient water use.

In transmitting the report to the governments of the affected states, Sec. of the Interior Stewart Udall made it clear that while the report had been approved as a proposed report for transmittal in accordance with the Flood Control Act of 1944, nevertheless as Secretary, he had made no final judgments concerning the component parts of the plan and that it was his intention to maintain an open mind on all of its details until the comments and recommendations received in the course of the statutory review were taken into account.

The obvious thoroughness with which the proposed report was reviewed by the states and federal agencies, the statesmanlike nature of the comments submitted, the constructiveness of the many suggestions received, and the prompt responses were most gratifying. The suggestions for modification and improvement of the proposed plan were most valuable.

They were instrumental in decisions leading to revision of the proposed plan and preparation of the final report.

The entire region endorsed the broad underlying concepts of a comprehensive regional approach, establishment of a Pacific Southwest Development Fund and the attainment of optimum use of existing water supplies on water salvage.

There was general recognition of the great potential of desalting as a major future source of new water supply. There is a common ground on which the people of the Pacific Southwest can unite in forging solutions to their interrelated water problems.

Within the framework of these basic concepts and in recognition of the many constructive suggestions for improvement received, the plan presented originally has been revised substantially.

Physical works proposed for congressional authorization at this time are limited to those related to a proposed initial plan. We can be confident that timely solutions for the long-range future will be developed if a framework for regional development and the basin fund principle are established now.

However, reference now to any specific plans or features which might be considered as parts of such long-range solutions would be misleading. Reference to those items has been deleted from the new report. Instead, the Department of the Interior proposes that a regional commission be established to coordinate long-range planning.

GARDENING the easy way

Indoor Greenery

Gardening need not be exclusively an activity for the great outdoors. Homeowners, as well as the apartment dwellers, can enjoy gardening, indoors, particularly in cooler weather.

Growing house plants can be a very satisfying indoor gardening experience, if you bear in mind a few simple precautions. Terra cotta pots are usually best for your plants. They're porous and allow the soil to absorb air. To prevent water-logging and rotting of roots, make sure the pots have holes in the bottom and are set in saucers for proper drainage. Most people tend to over water house plants. Remember, the soil should be kept moist, but not wet. Generally, watering twice a week will be enough.

If your plants begin yellowing between the leaf veins they are very likely suffering from iron deficiency or anemia. Prompt attention is needed to cure this anemia.

A simple, effective and economical method is now available through the latest research. One-quarter of a teaspoon of Geigy Sequestrene 330 Fe iron chelate per quart of water, applied in a normal watering, is the recommended prescription.

As plants grow, their root system usually grows with them. Thus, occasionally it is necessary to repot house plants. If you desire help, florists will do it for you at a small charge.

Code for Parents Group to Hold First Meeting Monday, March 2

A parent-teenager code of respect and cooperation which was first published in this area by the Home News will serve as the basis for an organization of parents, teachers, religious workers and others vitally interested in today's youth Monday, March 2 at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Charles Prohaska was so impressed with the 10-point code that she added another one to make it a total of 11.

Meanwhile she contacted teachers and church pastors who shared her enthusiasm for the program.

The meeting will be held in the multi-purpose room of the Basic high school and presiding over the organization gathering will be Tom Marcek of Las Vegas.

The meeting is open to all parents and teenagers who feel that much can be gained by working together on these problems.

Rotarians Hear From Three Who Attended Camp

Three Basic high students, Steve Hinkle, Bill Larkin and John McBeath gave their impression of the Youth Leadership Camp at Lake Arrowhead, sponsored for high school students by Rotary District 530 at the regular meeting of the Rotarians, Tuesday.

Bob Olsen, who attended the Youth Camp, as the boys' counselor was the program chairman.

Ben Cowan of the Basic faculty was also a guest and accompanied the boys to the meeting.

Nominations for the six vacancies on the board will be made at the March 10 meeting with elections to be held the following week, March 17.

President Tom War presided over the meeting.

CARD OF THANKS

My sincere thanks to everyone for their prayers, cards, flowers and expressions of sympathy extended to me during my recent bereavement.
A special thanks to the Sisters and Doctors of Rose De Lima Hospital, the Police Department, and my co-workers at Dentons.

Residential and Trailer Estates Setbacks Must Conform to Laws

With many home projects started or about to start in the Henderson vicinity, Supt. of Building and Inspection, Pat Doherty, reminds residents that Ordinance No. 290 provides exacting limitations for residential and trailer estate setbacks.

As a community service, the Home News is happy to relay this information to builders and do-it-yourself builders:

FRONT YARD SETBACK: There shall be a twenty-five (25) foot setback from front property line to front building line.

SIDE YARD REQUIRED: No dwelling, addition to dwelling, or building attached to dwelling, constructed or moved onto, shall be closer than five (5) feet from side property line.

SIDE YARD SETBACK ON CORNER LOTS: There shall be twelve and one-half (12½) feet setback required from property line to building line on side street of corner lots, except in the case of odd-shaped lots; and then to be decided upon by the Building Official.

REAR YARD REQUIRED: There shall be a rear yard of not less than fifteen (15) feet in depth.

EAVELINE SETBACK: No eaveline shall be closer to the side property line than eighteen (18) inches.

ACCESSORY BUILDING SETBACK: An accessory building of BLOCK construction can be built on side property line, providing there are NO openings and that roof line drains on own property, and set back ten (10) feet from existing dwelling. Accessory buildings built of other materials must be set back five (5) feet from side property line and ten (10) feet from existing dwelling. Windows, doors or openings are NOT allowed closer than five (5) feet from property line.

5 Reasons Why Safeway Meats Are A Better Buy!

- 1 Note the large portion of lean meat to fat and bone.
- 2 There's bone, of course, but it's carefully trimmed.
- 3 Just enough fat is left on a Safeway Chuck roast to make sure it will cook tender flavorful and juicy.
- 4 It's cut from U.S.D.A. Choice Beef.
- 5 Like all steaks and roasts at Safeway, this chuck roast has been carefully aged to peak of tenderness and flavor.
