

Two Pound Baby Is Now Starting School

RECEIVED

EP 2 10

NEVADA STATE LIBRARY
CARSON CITY, NV. 89710

Almost six years ago Toni Marie Radley was born three months premature at St. Rose de Lima Hospital. She weighed two pounds and 12 ounces and was 15 inches long. Doctors didn't give her much chance of survival, but this year she starts school.

She was born Dec. 3, 1974 and will begin kindergarten this year at the Henderson Day Care Center where they have employed a teacher.

Toni, who at the tender age of five, boasts of being an Aunt, stayed in the hospital until she was five pounds and two ounces. Then she could go home. Until that time her mother could only hold her for a short time or touch her in the incubator. It took two months for her to reach that weight.

When she was born she lost weight until she weighed only two pounds and six ounces and it was 16 days until she regained her birth weight. The baby was fed through her nasal through a tube until a tube was put down her throat. They followed that routine until the child could suck on a nipple.

Toni is the fifth child of Mr.

and Mrs. Steve Radley. There are three boys and two girls in the family. The only other child at home is a brother Steve, a fourth grader at Fay Galloway school.

Toni's brown eyes sparkle when she talks about starting school.

She can already read and write, and is probably brighter than most children her age. Her favorite food is mashed potatoes, and one of her favorite things to do is to comb her daddy's hair.

No one could tell that Toni was a two pound preemie as they look at her today.

Tenants have six months to move

Swanky Club Trailer Park to Close

The die is cast. The Swanky Club trailer park will be closed six months after tenants have received notification of the action from their landlords.

This announcement came Monday night at the city council meeting and was made by the Swanky Club's attorney, Frank Schreck. In telling the council of the park owner's intentions, Schreck said it was questionable whether the park should have been there and by following Chapter 118 statutory procedure, the first stipulation for the club's use permit should be satisfied.

City Attorney John Marchiano agreed that the condition

'We'll Wait Out The Six Months--We Have No Place To Go,' Say Swanky Trailer Park Residents

Morry's Story

By Morry Zenoff

Would you buy this? The Henderson - Boulder City A's -- playing in the big leagues of baseball? You going over to the stadium tonite to watch the Yankees play your home town team -- The A's of Southern Nevada?

Well -- this became a dream possibility this past week when the owners of Levi Strauss bought the Oakland A's from Charlie Finley.

And it is a long known fact that the Oakland people do not and have not turned out to watch the ball club, and that Finley had been looking around for a new home base.

Okay -- now there is a new home base possible because Levi Strauss has a new home base -- right here in Southern Nevada -- right here on the hills of Henderson, right here next to the doorway to Boulder City.

I just bet if you and I can get the Strauss people to listen -- and I'm sure they will read this column in-

"We have no place to go so we'll wait out the six months," said most of the occupants of the Swanky Trailer Park who will be given six months notice by Swanky owners that the trailer park will be closed.

Many of the people who occupy the trailer park on Boulder Highway are there because they were not accepted at other trailer parks in the county for one reason or another. Some are there because they like Henderson and want to remain here and have no place else to go.

Swanky owners announced to the city council Monday night that instead of trying to bring the trailer park up to code as required, they would close it. The council voted to approve a use permit for the continuance of the Swanky Club.

Toni Kritzer, who lives alone on social security, has a 12 by 64 foot trailer. She baby-sits and takes care of an elderly man to supplement her meager income. The rent she pays to the Swanky trailer park includes her utilities.

"I don't know what I'll do, I have nowhere to go. When I get my check and pay my bills, my money's gone. I'll just wait out the six months."

Mrs. Kritzer and her husband moved to the trailer park 11 years ago in 1969. Now she is alone to work out the dilemma.

She does not want to move to Las Vegas.

George Leonard, her neighbor, has lived in the park for eight years. He has been retired five years and because of a crippled back, has to have a special hospital bed. He has an older ten by 50 foot trailer which probably would not be accepted in most parks. Besides that, he has three dogs he has adopted that he does not want to part with.

"I might try to get into a senior citizen park," he said. "I'll wait it out as long as I can. I don't know what to do. I may buy a lot in Arizona but it will cost me around $1,000 to move."

Mr. and Mrs. Don-Williams and family may be considered one of the luckier ones. He works for the county but says if he continues to pay rent where he is, cannot afford to move.

They need a family park for their 64 by 14 foot trailer and feel it will cost over $1,000 to move. They have lived in the park for 2 1/2 years. Right now

Council To Spend $1,000 On Senior Transportation

The Henderson City Council Monday approved an expenditure of $1,000 for senior citizen transportation during a 90-day trial period to establish the level of interest and use of such a utility.

The city joins RSVP, Nevada Catholic Welfare and the Economic Opportunity Board in the venture.

The EOB will provide a bus including all operational and maintenance costs.

The RSVP and Catholic Welfare will do all scheduling and administrative work through Mabel Heenan.

The Catholic Welfare will provide a driver for four hours a day and the city will contribute the funds to increase the daily program from four hours up to six or eight hours.

At the end of 90 days the program will be evaluated and hopefully the EOB will take over the program. For seniors who need transportation, they should contact the RSVP office here.

The city council also--
--Agreed to advertise for sale 2,134 acres of land near the Levi plant asked for by Nevada Power for a substation.

--By a 3-2 vote gave a "do pass" to an ordinance rezoning one acre of land in section 19 from R-E to C-1 for J and K Pharmacy. Final action will be Tuesday, Sept. 2.

--Gave a "do pass" to a zone change for Jeanne De Marco from R-R to M-P and M (Industrial park district and industrial district).

Bryan Hafen Seeks Jeffrey's Assembly Seat

Republican Bryan K. Hafen, a dairy farmer and lifelong resident of Mesquite, will challenge incumbent John Jeffrey for the Assembly District 22 seat.

Hafen, 42, a former District 22 assemblyman during 1960-64 and 1966-70 said he is running for the seat at the urging of Republican Party leaders.

Hafen said he will work for reform in the state's Department of Agriculture, especially to try and get a "stronger Director." He also said he will try to draft measures directed toward flood control along the Virgin River.

A former Southern Utah State College student, Hafen said he has "mixed emotions" about Question 6 because "I'm not as familiar with it as I should be."

He also said he is "definitely in favor" of Sagebrush Rebellion efforts to regain land held by the federal government, and that he didn't see any problem with Nevada's Open Meeting Law.

In the top senate and U.S. House races there seems little doubt about the outcome. Senator Paul Laxalt is expected to win easily over challenger Richard Gilster II, on the Republican side. Democrat Mary Gojack is unopposed. Libertarian Allen Hacker is also unopposed.

Incumbent James Santini, congressman, can expect little problems from Lloyd Williams on the Democratic side. On the Republican side, Richard Gilster II will oppose Vince Saunders. Libertarian candidate is Harry Mangrum.

The hottest races for Henderson and Boulder City are the Assembly races and county commission race, along with the school district race.

In Assembly District 22, Assemblyman Jack Jeffrey is being challenged on the Democratic ticket by Bob (H.F.) Rose, and on the Republican side by Bryan K. Hafen and Jim Pullis.

In Henderson, incumbent Nash Sena is being challenged by Danny Thompson, also a Democrat, for district 21.

County Commissioner Bob Broadbent drew all types of competition for Seat "A." On the Republican side he is being challenged by John Kenney, Jr., and on the Democratic side he is being challenged by Ralph Doose, Jim L. Palmer and Arthur A. Hafen.

Judge Stephen L. Huffaker is being challenged for District 9 by Eugenia Ohrenschild and Miriam Shearing.

Only one Henderson precinct No. 30 will vote for University Regent in Sub-district C which has 30 candidates. Those candidates include Monroe Fischer, George Harmon, James M. Jones, Chris Karamanos, (incumbent), Willa Davis Matthews, Andrew Thomas Panico, Gene Russo, and Claude Warren, Jr.

Supreme Court candidates for Seat A are incumbent John Mowbray and Peter Flangas. For Supreme Court District E are George Franklin, Paul Goldman, Charles Springer and Clinton Wooster.

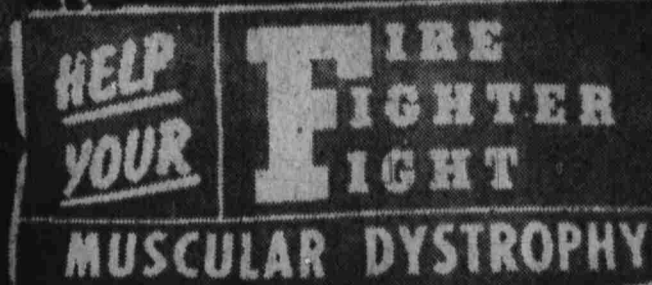

School District Candidates to replace Janet Sobel who is not seeking re-election include Phillip R. Buter, Donald S. Coplin, Shirley Holst and Viola Minaker.

He said he is opposed to the Equal Rights Amendment, calling it a "dead issue."

A current member of the Farm Bureau, Hafen is also the 1974-75 recipient of the Outstanding Young Farmer award, given annually to the four top young farmers in the nation.

Hafen and his wife Dawn, an elementary school teacher, live with their five sons in Mesquite.

A BOOT FOR MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY — The Henderson firemen will help "Jerry's kids" this weekend when they hand you the "boot" at the intersection of Lake Mead and Boulder Highway. Co-Chairmen of the event are Don Griffie and Frank Belger. Shown are Firefighters S. Herron and Walley Linge (kneeling), and standing are Captain Larry Sullivan and Firefighter Gordon Dudley.

The Bottom Line

By Lorna Kesterson

Did you know that you can file for more than one office and run on a ballot in two places if you want to?

According to the Clark County election department, Richard Gilster II, who filed as a Republican Candidate for the U.S. Senate and for the U.S. House of Representatives, is within his rights.

What if he should win both?

Betty Honn has had her share of problems in her attempt to take care of home-land animals.

She has been plagued by the governing body of the county, the humane society and others, but we are happy to report that she has received a glowing report for her efforts in cleaning up her place and bring it into the city's safety codes.

The gigantic job of doing this has been assisted by Grace Shiles, who took on the job to help Betty in her efforts. They both should be congratulated and the public should continue to support their project.

A field inspection of the premises, which are located on Highway 41 near Sky Harbor Airport, was made by Claude Lewis, Bob Smith, Grace Shiles, Greg Gerstner and Jerry Scott.

In their report to the city manager and council, Bob Gordon and Claude Lewis said "In general, the transformation is phenomenal." They said, "We as a community are fortunate to have a person like Mrs. Shiles willing to pitch in the manner in which she has. I believe it is inspirational to Betty Honn whose community service and vision will pay dividends in the not too distant future. The care of her animals is, in reality, an act for each one of us in the community; even more broadly, in the valley. I once learned that love of the earth and its creatures, large and small, is no little thing. While I write, she cares for an animal that might have been mine or even yours."

That's quite a different tune than Betty has had to hear in the past. Much of her money, that could have been spent for the animals, has been spent in court and for attorneys to defend herself from people who could have helped but chose the latter road.

This weekend the firefighters will be at the intersection with a fireman's boot to collect money for muscular dystrophy.

Last year I got to the intersection with no big cash on hand to put into the boot. Embarrassed, I turned my coin purse inside out into the boot.

Would you believe that when I went to look for my keys to the office, our house, etc. they were nowhere to be found?

I called Dale Starr at the fire station and they had them on hand, collected from the boot. When I give -- I give all.

Firefighters to Conduct 'Boot' Drive

The Henderson Firefighters will be conducting their annual "Boot Drive" for three days starting Friday and continuing through Sunday.

This will be the sixth year they will have participated in the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Drive, the only national charity they assist. This is a joint drive with firefighters from Clark County, Las Vegas and North Las Vegas.

The drive will be conducted at the intersection of Lake Mead Drive and Boulder highway and the men will be happy to take any donations you care to drop in the "boot", to help assist Jerry's kids.

Police Check Thefts

Police are investigating the theft of tools valued at $330 from a vehicle which was parked at the SNAP parking lot last week.

The tools were owned by John Welford Johnson.

Cash Taken

The manager of Glen Halla Care Facilities reported to police that two boxes containing $200 in cash were removed from an office at the facility last week.

Police searched the nearby grounds and failed to uncover any trace of the boxes. They say there are no suspects.

Bikes Stolen

A boy's bike, valued at $225 was taken from a front yard on Texas last week. The bike was the property of Daniel Mason Bruner.

Another bike, this one valued at $55, was reported taken from a front yard. The owner was identified as Toshie Brickey.

Wallet Stolen

Kathleen Garrels told police last week, her wallet with $130 was stolen from her purse while she was at the Texaco Service station on U.S. 93.

Stereo Tapes

A cassette case with tapes valued at $90 was reported stolen from a car parked at the Centel parking lot last week. The owner was identified as Annette Gatlin.

Recreation Director Explains Evening Swim Hours

Dundee Jones, director of Parks and Recreations, said yesterday the reason the swimming pools have been closed during evening hours during August is that very few people were utilizing them.

He said, however, that the schedule will be changed when school starts and the pools will be open Tuesday and Thursday evenings for the public.

In answer to a question of why the pools were not open at night, Jones said he had more questions of why they were since it costs $17.25 for every hour they are open.

For the Lorin Williams pool for June and July for 37½ evening hours the pool was open, there were 140 swimmers or 3.73 per hour, Jones said. At the BMI pool with the same staffing pattern for 72 evenings it was open, there were 367 swimmers or just over five swimmers per hour.

"We've had more participation at both pools this summer than ever before," Jones said, "and with Brent Cecil coming back as pool manager for the Williams pool, we expect great things."

The HOME NEWS will be sending a reporter out on the streets in the future to ask residents of Henderson their opinions on a variety of subjects.

The column kicks off this week with the question "What do you LIKE about Henderson?"

The place -- near Pacific and Water Streets.

1. Russell Allen -- "I like the people. I've got a lot of good friends living in Henderson and I love it here."

Mrs. Carol Kuykendall -- "The people. Their all friends. It's a nice town. We haven't lived here long, but we are going to buy a house and stay."

George Carter and his Aunt Del Carter -- "The smallness, you know who you're dealing with."

Steven Earl -- "I like the lake, the mountains, cause I climb, the desert, the park and the swimming pool. I like to eat at the Eldorado and the Rainbow and Wendy's."

Howard Blum -- "The people and the work. There is work here and everyone is pretty nice to everyone else."

Eva Rosendal -- "I like it because it's still a small town and full of nice people."

asmuch as they are on our subscription lists for both the Henderson Home News and the Boulder City News -- I just bet you and I can go out and sell 40 thousand season tickets right now -- even on a guaranteed basis for the next ten years -- if that is what it would take to move the ball club here.

In the meantime, we have something to cheer about, we folks who like to acclaim home - towners wherever they are, we can root for the Levi - Strauss A's -- because Levi Strauss is part of us -- its employees are your neighbors and mine; its bosses are at the same lunch table, bank at the home town windows, etc.

Can you imagine for a minute two home-towners sitting on a patio overlooking the hills surrounding LaCosta, just off the seaside of Carlsbad and Oceanside and Del Mar, sitting there talking about Henderson and Boulder City's delightful, well - designed place of much pleasure for many of us and certainly for the tourists -- Old Vegas, Cecil Simmons and I talked for much time about his plans and the latest implacements at Old Vegas. Cecil, the main organizer from the beginning and now certainly one of the main money gatherers and generals behind the scenes, says they've just put another million and a half dollars into installing other old relic buildings and either actual or simulated replicas of Western lore. It's going to be and it is actually getting to be very much like, yet much better designed and built in most instances, another Western Village -- like we all remember was next to the Old Frontier Hotel in Vegas in the fifties and sixties.

Simmons' life has been filled with dream realizations and it seems a cinch he'll see this one bearing great results one day -- as will we who live with it day by day -- a grand addition to our way of life, especially for those of us from Henderson and Boulder.

If you haven't seen it lately -- Cecil urges you to do so.

On that same patio, the same evening, where many gathered to sing happy birthday to Evelyn Roen's mother Sophy on her 85th -- we gathered some quotes too from others who have rubbed elbows with us in Henderson and Boulder City. Let's take Frank Scott and his Charlene, for instance. Frank put the roofs on most of your houses in the days when he operated Roberts Roofing. He did all the Federal Homes' roofs. Earlier he worked on the plant during its building days and later, for a while. Frank is now one of Southern Nevada's giants in finance, business and development. His partners include the Union Pacific, and individuals like Zack Taylor, Charles Chairsall (both ex generals and aces with the air force) (both ex - commandants at Nellis).

Frank told me he preferred Nevada to any other spot on earth and his life is dedicated to projects in it. He excitedly points out his refurbishing the old Mizpah Hotel in Tonapah. His First Western Savings and Loan is secure and growing and its millions are financing the growth of Southern Nevada, as, of course, are the other fine loan agencies like Nevada Savings and the Boulder Dam Credit Union, etc., Frank's main order of business, though, is building the Union Plaza clientele and layout into a downtown edifice. He has recently acquired the use of all the Union Pacific land behind the Hotel and it will become a complex to handle the millions of tourists of the future ... plus be an additional working place for thousands of Southern Nevada workers. So many Henderson and Boulder people are on Frank's payroll.

Our chat on the LaCosta patio brought out his desire to see the gaming overlords only license the clean and the pure and the strong and the honorable so that all the finger pointing at Nevada gaming will one day stop. Frank was never a gambler, so when he became interested in it, he said he ran it like he did his roofing company. He counted the nails then and he does now -- which means he operates it like a business and he says that's all anybody needs to do to make a success. He believes the handling of people is number one -- as his employees will attest. He walks and talks with them at all hours of the day and night .. they know he knows what they do and how well they do it. It is the secret of operation, he feels.

He plays as hard as he works, this man Frank Scott, who is just about 60. He and Charlene are tough battlers on the tennis court; they just had a winner from their 12 horse stable at Del Mar. Frank told us his horse would win the other day but we didn't bet on it. It won. His son, a veterinarian, is one man he listens to above all -- and who else would best know a horse's condition? He picked an unknown jockey to ride the horse. Why, we asked, Because the boy was an expert on short races and could get the horse out of the gate in a hurry. That was all Scott wanted, to get the horse out on the track. Frank knew by the bloodlines of the horse and the condition of the horse that his son had warranted -- Frank knew he could win. That's the way to run a railroad, wouldn't you agree?

Then Lori was there on that patio -- remember Lori -- Lori Adelson? Those homes around Black Mountain golf course -- the early ones built by Paradise Homes -- those were built by Lori and her husband Merv and also by Irwin Milasky, others, whose money for the land surrounding the course was the money used in building the second nine. Anyway -- there was Lori, still the sparkling dark - eyed beauty -- raving about her kids now all over 20 and out into the world of education and business. Lori -- you see her name so many times on the screen of your TV or movie theatre .. printed out this way -- Lorimar productions. Sure she's got it made, and so has Merv, with money they first made in Henderson. They owned Market - town earlier. Remember that big store we had down on the corner of Boulder Hiway and Lake Mead Road. It was the first supermarket where Henderson and Boulder people shopped. She asked about our towns, our people from the Leonard Atkinsons, to the Jack Millers, to the playability of the Black Mountain first nine (now the back nine). Lori used to play a good golf game on our home course and also in Vegas .. as did in those days Mike O'Callaghan's big - hitting wife. We told Lori of the new course in Boulder and she promised to come try it one day. So did Evelyn Roen, who was always one of the low handicappers playing at Black Mountain. Even her husband, Allard, is still playing to a six or seven. I give him the names of the pros at both clubs as he has something in mind. He asked if Hersh is still hitting the big boomer and if Dave Jamison still has that half swing that goes a mile.

Last to give us some words at that patio gathering was Louis Nizer, famed lawyer for the film industry, officing in New York, attorney for the name cases that you and I often read about. He was worried, in his words to me, about whether Carter could win because of his weakness -- going back and forth on decisions -- all the way from yes to no in many instances.

It dismayed him, I believe, when I said I felt Carter would win Nov. 4.

Rev. Osko and Family Return From Vacation

R.S.V.P.

By Mabel Heenan

Rev. John Osko, Pastor of First Baptist Church, is home from vacation and will be bringing the message at the First Baptist Church this Sunday, August 31st, at the 11 a.m. Worship Service.

Rev. and Mrs. Osko and daughter, Lynette, wish to express their very sincere appreciation for the extended vacation time given them by the members of the First Baptist Church. They were away from the church for a total of six Sundays, visiting relatives and friends in several states.

Leaving Henderson on Saturday, July 19, the Oskos, along with Mrs. Osko's brother and sister-in-law, Donald and Diane Roberts of Yucca Valley, California, travelled to North Carolina to visit Mrs. Osko's parents and other relatives and friends. This was the first time in 26 years that Mrs. Osko and her three brothers had all been together at the same time. Leaving Donald and Diane Roberts in North Carolina to later fly back to California, the Oskos travelled north to visit with Rev. Osko's relatives and friends, and then west to Denver, Colorado where Rev. and Mrs. Osko lived during Seminary days at the Conservative Baptist Seminary of Denver, Colorado.

The Oskos enjoyed the many visits with family and friends, the delicious meals with fresh vegetables from the garden, the tours of outstanding places of interest, and the various churches attended in five different states.

Places of special interest included a Sacred Musical Concert in North Carolina; Car-O-Winds amusement Park on the border of North and South Carolina; the Smithsonian Institute, Art Museum, and the Museum of Natural History in Washington, D.C.; Cape Cod, the Mayflower II, Plimoth Plantation, and a Sacred Musical Concert by The Continentals in Massachusetts; the magnificent Niagara Falls from the Canadian side; Huckleberry Railroad and Crossroads Village in Michigan; Elitches Gardens and Amusement Park in Colorado, and home through the beautiful Zion National Park. Of special interest to many people of Henderson, the Oskos spent two days with ANDY ANDERSON, formerly of Henderson, and especially enjoyed beautiful drives through Massachusetts and New Hampshire, including the outstanding tour of the Mayflower II and Plimoth Plantation.

Returning home August 25, after travelling a total of 8,000 miles, Rev. Osko says, "It was great to get away, but as always, it's great to be back. We are thankful for this time of relaxation and refreshment and for the wonderful people of First Baptist Church for this time of vacation. We look forward to being back in church this Sunday and resuming the Pastoral responsibilities and privileges of the coming days."

First Baptist Church is located at 47 East Atlantic Ave., Henderson. For information call 565-9511.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Nevada Department of Transportation, Planning Division is asking the public to comment on a draft of the 1980 Nevada State Rail Plan - Update. The Plan Update responds to federal legislation dealing with the enhancement of rail freight service.

Section 5 of the Federal Department of Transportation Act provides federal assistance for abandoned or light density rail lines in Nevada. Monies provided can be used for a variety of strategies intended to improve or replace service on abandoned rail lines. Assistance is also available for the rehabilitation or facility construction of lines or projects associated with those lines not subject to abandonment. The assistance is generally limited to light density rail lines carrying less than 3 million gross tons in the previous year to the project application.

In this plan the Nevada - D.O.T. presents two projects - one rehabilitation and one a facility related to a line - it will recommend for federal assistance.

Persons, organizations or affected parties interested in rail transportation are encouraged to testify at a hearing scheduled for September 9 beginning at 7 p.m. in Sparks, Nevada at the Nevada D.O.T. District II offices at 310 Gallett Way. Written testimony may be submitted to Mr. Dennis O. Barry, Planning Division, 1263 South Stewart Street, Carson City, Nevada 89712, until September 23 and additional information can be obtained by calling (702) 885-5400.

Henderson 79'ers News

The Henderson 79'ers held their August outing at Enterprise, Utah. Texas boy and Cajun gal were the trail bosses for this outing. Horse shoe pitching and bingo games were held during the day Saturday. Some of the members went fishing. We were very delighted to have Red Eagle and Red Eagle Squaw join us as guests of Texas boy and Cajun gal. Saturday evening we all enjoyed a very delicious pot luck dinner. Some of the members saw some deer. Mr. Perry was the only one who caught any fish. a real nice trout.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I am so tired of hearing of the white cloud over Henderson, we have been the butt of jokes from Las Vegas since I can remember.

Of course some people will swallow a camel, but gag on a gnat.

Automobiles are the greater part of pollution but you don't see anyone walking. Most people will drive, even if it is only a couple of blocks.

If it weren't for those plants, Henderson would be a ghost town. They employ a lot of people and those dollars are spent in Henderson.

If the cloud bothers some people so much, why don't they move? Although they would have to go to a mountain top somewhere to be completely pollution proof.

We moved here because of my and our daughter's health. We have asthma and chronic bronchitis. The cloud doesn't seem to bother us.

Lets let the cloud rest and find something more worthy to complain about, like that stupid judge who says he is going to turn criminals out on the street. I wonder why he doesn't take them into his home and take care of them if he wants them pampered like babies.

What is this world coming to when the judges think more of criminals than the tax payers. How do you get rid of a federal judge anyway?

M. Watts.

Seniors Returning To Girls Hoop Squad

The return of five seniors combined with the addition of a promising basketball player from New Mexico should make the Basic High School girl's basketball team a formidable force this year, according to coach Diane Hernandez.

Hernandez said

Marenda Clark, Jackie Holliday, Brenda Doddridge, Debbie Bech-nell and Brenda Whitney are returning to the court this year and the new addition, Terri Williams, a promising sophomore from New Mexico, gives the team a powerful look.

The lady Wolves have only had two practice sessions to date, according to Hernandez, with a total of 27 girls working out. She said she will narrow the team to approximately 24 players before the first game next week. The girl's basketball team is scheduled to play in the Indian Springs Invitational at Indian Springs on September 5 and 6.

Cross Country Team Chafing At Starting Line

A squad of six is now in serious training for the girl's cross country team, according to coach Chris Cartright, who said Jeannie Nelson, a senior, and track star from last year, has joined the cross country team this year.

In addition, Tammy Kalber, also a member of the track team last season, has joined the cross country team. Other members of the team include Irma and Mercy Hernandez, Tammy Powell and Cathy Lamb.

"We've got a fine team and we are looking forward to a super year," said coach Cartright. "We are anxious to get into some serious competition."

Montoya, who is also head basketball coach, takes over the duties as tennis coach this year.

He said he now has eight players practicing and won't make any cuts until his vacationing players return. Two seniors return to the team this year. Sean Barlow and Sean Rynearson, according to Montoya. In addition, Montoya said the team will be strengthened by the addition of a talented freshman from Burkholder, Don Christensen.

SPORTS from the pressbox

Phyllis George, sportscaster, is rejoining CBS' "NFL Today" program after a two-year absence. George was a member of the crew during the 1975, 1976 and 1977 seasons, but Jayne Kennedy, who recently was released by CBS, had occupied her place since. George is married to Kentucky Governor John Y. Brown and gave birth to a son in June. "Because of responsibilities to her family and young son who just underwent surgery, the exact date when she will rejoin the program is not set," said Van Gordon Sauter, president of CBS Sports.

Karolyn Rose said the major problems with her marriage to Phillies first baseman Pete Rose were her husband's "girl-friends." Mrs. Rose got her recent divorce because of gross neglect of duty. She said Pete's girlfriends plagued her for the 16 years they were wed.

"Regardless of other successes, I've got to be the biggest loser in baseball," says Ted Turner, owner of the Atlanta Braves. "I look at baseball as a little extra burden that I have," he told me. "Some people have to live with ailments. I have to live with a losing baseball team. I'm not going to complain if the worst thing I've got is a losing baseball team. At least I got one. Better a losing team than none at all."

Baseball players are well paid now, but not always. Just ask Bob Uecker, third-string catcher turned TV personality. Bob was scouted by the Milwaukee Braves in the early 1960s. So what happened, Bob? "Well, the bonus money mentioned was $3000. And that really created a problem for my father." How come? "He didn't have that kind of money."

For child abuse benefit

Dale Evans & Roy Rogers Make First LV Appearance at Sam's Town

A long established tradition of not appearing in Las Vegas casinos was broken last week when Roy Rogers and his wife of nearly 33 years, Dale Evans, performed a charity benefit at Sam's Town Hotel and Gambling Hall for the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse, of which the couple are national co-chairmen.

All proceeds from the benefit, which was held last Friday evening, were matched by the hotel for the child abuse charity.

Roy and Dale appeared with the legendary Sons of the Pioneers, who are fulfilling a two-week engagement at Sam's Town.

Rogers, who still looks just about as young as he did when in the height of his movie career, said he has kept his youthful appearance by keeping busy. Both he and Dale still appear from time to time on television and at county fairs, but they aren't interested in taking on more singing engagements.

WELCOME TO SAM'S TOWN - Bill Boyd, left, and his father Sam Boyd, were on hand to welcome Dale Evans and Roy Rogers as they arrived at the popular casino last Thursday afternoon. Also pictured are the Sons of the Pioneers who are completing a two-week engagement in the Virginia City Room of Sam's Town.

"With the personal appearances we already make, television commercials, my Roy Rogers restaurants, and our museum in Victorville, California, I don't want to do anything more," Rogers said.

Dale said that the book she wrote quite a few years ago, "Angel Unaware," about their daughter who was mentally retarded and had a defective heart, started a whole new life for her. She has continued writing and "sharing my faith singing gospels."

They also said they have no plans for returning to movie-making, unless they could do something like "The Yearling." "I've always wanted to do a good movie," Dale said. "If the right script came along, I would make a movie like that, but some of the films they're making nowadays, I wouldn't even let Trigger watch," Rogers grinned.

Rogers noted that Trigger died several years ago and is stuffed and mounted, rearing on his hind legs at their museum in Victorville. "When I go, I've told Dale to just put me there with Trigger, smiling and waving to the folks," he said.

"That's not for me," Dale replied. "I'm not that stagestruck."

Rogers talked about founding the Sons of the Pioneers back in 1934, not too many years after arriving in California from his hometown of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the only surviving original member of the group as Bob Nolan, the other original member, passed away just a month ago.

During the years there have been 16 men appearing with the group.

The Rogers family consists of six of nine children still living, 19 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren with "one in the oven." Four of the five are adopted and one is a foster child, "and one of those was an abused child."

Dale explained how they became involved with the Prevention of Child Abuse committee. Their oldest adopted daughter, Cheryl, was on a committee for International Orphans. During a special award ceremony at which then Governor Ronald Reagan was in attendance, Reagan said, "Why don't you do something for children in the United States? Child abuse is the number one killer of children in the United States," he told them. And that was the beginning of their involvement.

Dale's most recent book is titled "Hear the Children Crying," and is about child abuse.

She said they believe in the organization very firmly. "We have some 300 Roy Rogers restaurants throughout the country and we are contributing a nickel from each coke or tab purchased for the child abuse project.

"In Children's Village in Beaumont, California, there are some 60 kids who have been damaged in body, mind and spirit. Child abuse is on the increase," Dale said, and added that she thought one of the big factors is drugs.

"There's something very wrong in our society when this can happen."

Ray Cummins Joins Ben Stepman Dodge

Ray Cummins

Long-time Henderson resident Ray Cummins has recently joined the sales staff of Ben Stepman Dodge and invites all his friends and acquaintances to stop by and visit.

A native of Kentucky, Cummins first came here when, as a member of the United States Air Force, he was stationed at Nellis Air Force Base.

"I retired as a Master Sergeant after 20 plus years and decided to make my home right here," he explained.

"My first job in car sales was with Dick Stewart right here in Henderson and I was with Dick for a couple of years before going in to Las Vegas to work. Now I'm back working in Henderson and happy to be here."

Cummins and his wife, Joan, who works for the ERA Realty Center, have two children, a daughter, Pam Watson who teaches at Basic High School, and a son, Ray Jr., who will be a junior this year at Basic High.

Cummins said that while Ray Jr. loves golf, he is just a "duffer" and much prefers hunting and fishing for his spare time activities.

Church of God of Prophecy

The Bible tells us that in the end times those who love Jesus and serve him will know when the end times are come upon us. To the majority of people the second coming of Christ will be a complete surprise, they will not be ready for this wonderful event. Those who serve Jesus are looking up for their Savior and His soon return. Yet the vital question is not, are you ready for the return of Jesus? but, are you ready to meet Jesus NOW? Jesus may not come tomorrow or the next day but you may come before Him today. Now is the day of salvation, as we have no promise of tomorrow. If you feel Jesus knocking at your heart today then today is when you should give your heart to Him. We are the generation that will not die but we have no guarantee that we as individuals will live till tomorrow. If Jesus isn't your Savior then you could die in your sin and that is a terrible fate. Come worship with us and grow in the love and grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus wants you and you need Him. Our altar is always open and we are ever ready to serve your spiritual needs.

they are looking for a place to move.

Home To Me

"This trailer park has been home to me for the past two years," Kathy Norville said when interviewed. "We have no place to move to so we will hold out until the six months are up. I still have a grandson to raise."

Mrs. Norville by herself and her travel trailer would probably be accepted in an adult mobile park, but her grandson lives with her. Before she settled at the Swanky Club she looked in Boulder City, Las Vegas and Henderson and was only accepted at the Swanky Club.

"I understand the owners have a right to do what they want to but they have collected our money and never put a penny back into the park. Mrs. Norville paid $110 per month. To make her space more liveable, she has planted grass and set up a utility shed and she keeps her place clean and neat.

State law requires that tenants in a mobile home be given six months notice to move.

"People with older coaches have trouble getting a place," lamented Sadie Perry. "We've been trying to find a place for over two weeks now and haven't been able to find anything yet, but we do know we can't afford to go into debt...to buy a new coach.

"And," she continued, "I don't want to move into Vegas."

The Perrys, who still have one son living at home, moved into the trailer park just before the change of ownership last year.

Mrs. Perry said they haven't been able to find any park locally which will accept them, because their coach is older and they have a teenage son.

"There's a possibility we might have to sell the coach and move into an apartment," she said, but this idea isn't really to the Perry's liking.

She explained that her husband is close to retirement and they might possibly move when that time comes so they are definitely against buying at this time.

For Pauline Webb and her husband, having to move now will present a real hardship financially.

When they moved into the trailer park last November, they thought it would be a permanent location for some time to come.

The space they rented was "a garbage dump," she related. "We had to haul off three truck loads of junk."

But they didn't despair and cleaned everything up, planted a lawn "which was beautiful until the flood wiped it out," and even fenced in three sides of the lot.

However, this past summer Mrs. Webb has had two major surgeries and is unable to do anything other than light housework and won't be able to do anything for several months to come on orders of her doctor. And Webb was injured on the job and is presently unable to work...his future in limbo until NIC either decides he should be hospitalized or makes a settlement.

The Webbs lived in Searchlight for six months before moving into the Swanky Club park, but prior to that they had lived at Ballerina Trailer Park. However, their daughter and small grandson make their home with the Webbs and when Ballerina converted to an all adult park, they were told to either move or get rid of the kid!

"We'd like to find a bigger lot and buy a new trailer," Mrs. Webb said, "but for now we'll just have to wait."

She also said that they have not had any problems with the landlord and anytime something needed to be fixed, it was taken care of.

"No trailer park in the world takes four children," said Geri McMahan, "and there isn't any new trailer park that would take my trailer."

So Mrs. McMahan is exploring the possibility of buying a home but since her husband, who is employed as a plumber, has been out on strike since July 1, buying a house right now is not feasible financially.

The McMahan family have lived in the park for three years and they do have four children which makes it impossible for them to move to another park even if their trailer was newer.

And she feels very strongly that the owners of the Swanky Club have been very unfair to their tenants. "Just look at what they have done to so many families."

Extremely Popular Novel 'The Black Stallion' At Last Makes It To The Movie Screen!

(Advance Production Feature)

Walter Farley's "The Black Stallion" is one of the incredible success stories of American publishing. Written by Farley when he was still in high school in 1941, its immediate popularity with young readers has spawned sixteen sequels that together have sold more than eight million copies in the U.S. and an additional four million in twenty foreign countries. Called "the most famous fictional horse of the century" by the New York Times, "The Black Stallion" has surprisingly escaped Hollywood's notice until now. The Francis Ford Coppola presentation of "The Black Stallion" is the first screen adaptation of a book by "one of the most popular authors in the country" (Chicago Sun-Times). The film, from Zoetrope Studios, is released by United Artists, a Transamerica Company. It will open Wed. at the Rainbow Theatre.

Executive producer Francis Coppola, a longtime admirer of independent filmmaker Carroll Ballard, asked producer Fred Roos to find a feature project for Ballard to direct. When Ballard expressed an affinity for classic adventure stories of wide and perennial appeal, Roos was struck by the number of people who recommended "The Black Stallion." Screen rights to the first book in the series were then acquired by Coppola's company to launch Ballard's theatrical-feature career. Ballard directed from a screenplay by Melissa Mathison & Jeanne Rosenberg and William D. Wittliff.

"The Black Stallion" is a classic story of a boy's love for his horse, a magnificent Arabian stallion. As the sole survivors of a shipwreck, a young Alec Ramsay and the wild black horse embark on a frightening adventure of survival which creates a lasting bond between them. After their rescue from a deserted island and eventual return to the United States, Alec and the stallion join forces with Henry Dailey, an irascible ex-trainer who is quick to realize the Arabian's potential for racing. The story climaxes in a match race with the two greatest thoroughbreds of the day, a race in which the Black is billed as "The Mystery Horse."

"The Black Stallion" stars Kelly Reno, Teri Garr, Clarence Muse, Hoyt Axton, Michael Higgins and Mickey Rooney. The fine score was composed by Carmine Coppola. Robert Dalva served as editor and the brilliant camera work was done by Director of Photography, Caleb Deschanel.

Straight Talk About Your County Taxes

- Q: Are County property taxes going up?
A: No, on the contrary. In spite of inflation and rising costs, your county property taxes have gone down. Property tax rate in unincorporated towns: 1979-1980 Down 8% 1980-1981 Down 10.5%
- Q: Are our Countywide property tax rates fair?
A: Yes. Your Countywide property tax rates are the second lowest of all of Nevada's seventeen counties.
- Q: Are we paying too much for Countywide services?
A: You pay less for your Countywide services than tax payers in most other counties. Take Washoe County (Reno) for example. Washoe County residents pay some 45% more County property tax to support their County government than you do.
- Q: Do the residents of Clark County get their money's worth for the hundreds of millions of dollars spent on our airport and our convention center?
A: Our airport and convention center cost Clark County residents nothing. These facilities are not paid for out of your tax dollars. They are paid for through rentals, carrier fees, and by tourists through the room tax. These two organizations are the very life-line of our tourist economy, yet they cost local taxpayers nothing. This is not the case in many other counties throughout the country.
- Q: How do we know that Clark County's budget is properly prepared and administered?
A: Each year Clark County submits a copy of its financial statement to the Municipal Finance Officers Association of America. This is a voluntary act. Most counties don't do it. The Association judges our financial statement by national standards of approved procedure, legal compliance and proper accounting standards. Clark County is proud to be a multiple recipient of the Association's stamp of approval, "A Certificate of Conformance." Of the 3,500 government entities who seek this Certificate each year, Clark County is among less than two percent of all the governments in America to receive it.

Clara's Cookbook

By Clara Bossell Crook

Before the strawberry season is gone, try some new recipes to add to your list. Of course, for those purists who believe the less done to the luscious berries, the better - just serving washed berries with hulls and stems left one in a bowl. On each person's plate, have a cup of sour cream and a generous serving of brown sugar. The plan is to dip each berry in sour cream and then in sugar - and really enjoy. But for others of us who like the strawberries prepared with other foods, I encourage the following recipes for taste-enhancements.

STRAWBERRY TARTS

- 1 quart strawberries
- ¼ tsp. vanilla
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1½ Tbsp. cornstarch

Teachers' Center Celebrates Third Year

September will mark the beginning of the third year of the federally-funded Las Vegas Teachers' Center, one of the original 61 established throughout the country.

Centrally located at 600 N. 9th St., (inside the Curriculum Center maintained by the Clark County School District at their N. 9th St. facility), the Teachers' Center is open to all public and private school teachers in Clark County.

All year round the small double-wide trailer bustles with activities designed to stimulate creativity and revitalize teaching techniques.

Over the summer new materials and equipment were added to the Center and plans were made for new, innovative programs and workshops which will be conducted throughout this 1980-81 school year.

All teachers, teachers' aides, education students and interested parents are invited to visit the Center on Mondays and Fridays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

INSIDE TV - Beautiful "CHiPs" star Randi Oakes has fallen head over heels for Gregory Harrison, Gonzo in "Trapper John, M.D." They are even sharing a spacious home they just bought in Los Angeles. But she admits that Broadway Joe Namath, the man she lived with for five years, will always be the great love of her life. "I met Joey in 1970, just after that year's Super-bowl game," Randi told me. "I loved him for years and he loved me, too. We did discuss marriage, but it was hard to reach a conclusion. At moments, getting married seemed the natural thing to do. But it wasn't meant to be."

Phyllis George will be re-joining CBS Sports' Emmy Award-winning "The NFL Today" after a two-year absence. The announcement was made by Ms. George and Van Gordon Sauter, President, CBS Sports. Sauter said: "We are thrilled that Phyllis will be back. Because Phyllis has responsibilities to her family and young son, who is recovering from surgery, we are not yet ready to announce the precise date when she will rejoin the show, but it will be fairly early in the season."

TV HOTLINE - Greg Evigan is shedding his teeny-bopper image. Women over 30 are flooding NBC with fan mail telling the "BJ And The Bear" star just how sexy he is. And his biggest 30-year-old fan is his wife, Pam Serpe, who's also his manager. She's the woman behind his beefcake posters and she loves knowing women all over the country are admiring her 26-year-old husband. Greg and Pam have been married over a year and he says it's one of the smartest moves he ever made.

'A Few Things Counted'

The Henderson Christian Church

"You have been faithful with a few things; I will put you in charge of many things." Matthew 25:21.

So often people want to do or be recognized for the very important or impressive things that can have acclamation by many people.

Who wants to do those little insignificant tasks that go unnoticed; phoning someone you have not seen for a few weeks, to see how they are doing. Maybe doing something for a neighbor who isn't a 'friend'. How about praying daily for those you know? What about the small things on your job?

Daniel is an Old Testament example of being faithful in a few things, that God counted important. Within time he was placed in a position where he was accountable for many things.

The first thing God wants is a changed heart. There is no life so shattered or so wicked that God can't make something beautiful out of it.

Because EVERYTHING God does counts for all eternity.

Come worship this Sunday at the Henderson Christian Church.

SERVICES: 9:15 Sunday School; 10:30 and 7:00 Worship.

CAMPER SECURITY PRECAUTIONS

Incidents of theft and vandalism are on the increase in many public and private camps as well as on the home front.

Insurance and law-enforcement agencies have predicted as the economy worsens, so will these incidents.

Protecting against such problems is considerably more difficult than doing so at home, but the effort must be made to avoid becoming a victim.

In a trailer (not camper-trailer) and a motor home, the job of providing security is considerably easier than in a tent or tent camper. There are burglar alarms and similar devices that may be obtained for these RVs and they should be very seriously considered.

When we go out in the evening, we always leave lights on, just as at home, and a radio playing softly. More often than not a potential thief will hear the noise and won't stop to find out if it is a person or a radio.

Some people leave a dog in the RV, but I don't even recommend bringing a dog on a trip when it can be avoided. The animosity of other campers and irate neighbors provoked by the dog's barking and whining, just aren't worth it.

The two steps mentioned above usually work pretty well. You might also ask someone at a neighboring site to keep a weather eye out for you.

Tenters are considerably more at the mercy of these villains and it is harder to protect property. You can't lock up a tent and even if you could, canvas is easily slit. What to do?

First of all avoid taking any expensive or flashy equipment when traveling this way. Don't place temptation in the face of the easily tempted. If possible, leave one of the party at the tent site at all times.

Chores are usually split up among the party and we make a practice of having whomever has pulled cooking duty for the day, stay within eyeball distance of the tent and gear.

Frankly, the problem isn't all that great, but it is on the increase and those who fall victim are more often the ones who failed to take simple precautions.

WHAT'S WORSE? TO SMOKE OR DRINK?

Dear Dr. Esse: I don't believe I'm strong enough to give up two bad habits at the same time. I'll have to choose. What's worse? Smoking or drinking?

I am 44 and have been smoking for at least 25 years. Lately, at least two packs a day. I began drinking beer when I was in college. But the pressures of business have gradually turned me into a hard, social drinker.

By asking for your help, I realize I'm only looking for an excuse. Nevertheless, I'll be interested in your reply. — Mr. C.

Dear Mr. C.: Give up which poison? Have you thought of it that way? What rational person would continue taking poison?

The trouble is that the poison of alcoholism and tobacco do not threaten to kill immediately. They are slow poisons, and those who continue to take them are committing only slow suicide.

Boulder City Sisters Take 'Gold' In L.V. Dive Meet

When the City of Las Vegas Recreation Department held a Invitational Diving Meet last month four young divers from Boulder City were invited to attend and the quartet included two young ladies from one family. Both walked off with gold medals in their respective age categories.

Jill Dennett, 12, and her young sister Heidi, 6, impressed judges with their diving board skills and impressed their competition though both girls maintain they had no difficulty with the required dives.

For Jill, competition is "old hat" because she's been at it for the last six years.

She scored a total of 105.26 in the Las Vegas competition, taking first place against 15 other divers in her age group.

She performed a flip with a half twist, a forward dive with a half twist and an inward flip among other difficult dives.

Heidi, in her first competition, performed a back dive, an inward and a forward with a half twist, she took the gold medal in her age group easily.

The girls are the daughters of Donald and Arlene Denton. Arlene attended Basic High School and Donald is a businessman in Boulder City.

Though the girls have a swimming pool at home, their practice diving is done at the Boulder City municipal pool, which is now closing down for the season, so Jill will be going to Las Vegas where she has joined the UNLV diving team.

Heidi is uncertain as to her future in diving, though the taste of victory in her first competition seems to have renewed her interest in practice though, in the words of a busy six-year-old - "It's pretty boring -- all that practice."

Practice is no stranger to her older sister, however, and she continues to dive at least two hours a day though now she will be practicing at the UNLV pool.

Jill takes her competition cool. "I've been in enough diving meets that I don't get nervous anymore," she says. She's been winning diving events for quite a while and at age 5½ she won state championship in a Las Vegas meet.

Jill's next challenge will be with the UNLV diving team which is slated for competition in San Diego on September 7. As has always been the case, she will get plenty of support from her family which attends all meets to cheer her on.

"What about the Olympics?"

"I am planning and working toward the Olympics -- I think I'll be there some day."

says the sparkling eyed, charming little blond girl.

And her answers, together with her self assurance, leaves little doubt that she will give it a champion's try.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

Behind practically every successful American business enterprise, it seems, is a tale of men that survive and succeed despite seemingly insurmountable odds. So it is with the story of "Mr. Coffee," the man responsible for its creation, and its overwhelming success as a new kind of home appliance.

Vincent G. Marotta, of Cleveland, Ohio, manufacturer, businessman, and inventor of the "Mr. Coffee" machine teamed up seven years ago with the legendary "Joltin' Joe" DiMaggio, the man known to millions as one of the greatest baseball players of all time.

The "Mr. Coffee" machine, invented and perfected between 1969 and 1971, was first introduced at the Chicago Housewares Show. After dramatically successful test marketing in the Chicago area, Marotta was inundated by orders from major retail outlets all across the country. The test response clearly indicated that the product had the potential to be a tremendous success. But Marotta was cautioned by experts that competing in a market long dominated by giant home appliance manufacturers who would undoubtedly follow his lead with imitations would probably be an effort in futility.

He could have quit there, but Marotta had faith that his product, which he had patented, could be a success. What was needed was a way to convince the American consumer of the quality and integrity of the product.

Marotta determined that a readily identifiable celebrity, in the role of company spokesman, could achieve this goal. In his search for just the right man, Marotta looked to the world of sports and there he found Joe DiMaggio. A former professional baseball player himself, Marotta contacted DiMaggio personally and told him what he had in mind.

DiMaggio was interested in the product, as he had just won a "Mr. Coffee" machine in a golf tournament.

NEWS of Education

That brainchild of the 20th century, the computer, is coming up with some answers that are bringing concerned taxpayers and dedicated educators together on common ground.

Learning the ABC's by computer is a bit of tomorrow in today's classrooms.

Answer comes in a fraction of a second, either: "That's right," "Try again," or "Go back to chapter five."

The system is being used by children and adults of all social and economic levels who need assistance in the basic skills: reading, grammar and mathematics.

Increasingly, educators and community leaders are moving forward with forward-looking techniques that prepare youth for the future—at prices we are prepared to pay in the present.

You have three separate personalities and you're eating for all of them!

presidential party and out they went along the road to the dam, with the sun blazing down on the rocks and sand and sage brush that made Boulder City, with its streets and flowers and tree shaded parks all the more a miracle.

President Roosevelt Arrives at Hoover Dam

Promptly to the minute, along came the official cars, first the soldier guard on motor cycles, then more officials, then the Presidential car, and close behind it a car on which the secret service men clung like living bees.

They drove out onto the dam, stopped midway while the President looked and pointed and asked questions. Then over to the Arizona side for another view and then back to the stand for the ceremonies.

It was an impressive ceremony, this formal dedication of Boulder Dam, but a friendly, informal sort of affair, Six Governors were there, and Cabinet members, and Congressmen and many important folk, and elbow to elbow with them were men who helped build the dam, sunburned ranchers and their wives, townfolk and visitors.

When the ceremonies were over Mrs. Roosevelt was escorted by Superintendent of Construction, Frank Crowe and she was given a ride on the cable platform. She ate with the men at Anderson's Mess Hall, she thoroughly enjoyed herself.

We thank Serene Ziemer for the Roosevelt visit to dedicate Hoover Dam. On Sept. 30, 1980 we will print more of the story.

Serene Ziemer Presents Local Reporter with Roosevelt Paper

By Teddy Fenton

Serene Ziemer knows more about Boulder City history dating back to 1931 than perhaps any other pioneer woman. That is, she has the written proof of the "Way it Was" thanks to the fact that her husband, Bob Ziemer was a collector. When we say collector he was far and away the proudest of his early day collection than any other pioneer. Furthermore he kept it in impeccable condition.

Bob Ziemer died this year. Behind him he left with his widow, memories of 50 years of a perfect union. He left also his scrapbooks and his letters from people like Sims Ely, city manager, Claude Williams the U.S. Marshal at Boulder City's first settlement, "Ragtown" which was located by the Colorado River. He left an important newspaper. It is the Boulder Journal, Sept. 30, 1935. Yes! The day President Franklin Delano Roosevelt and his wife, Eleanor, came to town to dedicate the great dam. It is 12 pages long. It is nearly four inches wider than the NEWS. Every page is a masterpiece in reporting and advertising. Full two page ads welcome the President to the Dedication of Boulder Dam. Deciding what to tell our readers is a hard task. The paper is fragile and should be encased in plastic for public viewing. We thank Serene Ziemer and we thank the memory of Bob Ziemer for as far as we know this may be the only complete copy of this Boulder Journal in our town. We mean the Sept. 30, 1935 issue. There is so much excitement about the 50th anniversary celebrating the March, 1981 birthday of Boulder City.

The date Frank Crowe arrived with a small crew of men to begin Six Companies Inc. construction was related in a March 14, 1931 feature by Elton Garrett. He wrote ... "A stake was driven into the ground and the baby was born". See the March 11, 1932 anniversary special in Micro-film at the B.C. Library where the story is repeated verbatim.

President and Party
Cheered by Thousands as Roosevelt Arrives

Marjorie Driscoll, a correspondent for a Los Angeles paper wrote a story detailing every move made by FDR and his entourage. Executive inspects Man-Made enterprise; Bids all world to come see for itself. He stood on a broad, flag-draped platform on "Lookout Point" on the Nevada side. Level with his eyes as he looked across to the bare rugged cliffs of the Canyon, cliffs with black shadows etched deep into their red brow walls, were the giant intake towers, already weathered to a grey and olive green."

Just below stretched the mammoth curve of the dam itself, with thousands of spectators clustered thickly along its top.

They expected 20,000 people and there were fully that many on hand and yet thousands contented themselves with parking along the highway and listening to the words broadcast over loud-speakers.

So excellent were traffic arrangements, worked out by Government, Six Companies, Union Pacific and other officials, and smoothly enforced with the aid of infantry, United States Marshals and Legionnaires, that even in this country of winding roads and long distances, there was no trouble.

Crowds Assembled
at Daybreak

Early in the morning, the cars began parking along a permitted stretch of highway. By 10 o'clock they stood nose to taillight for fully five miles, and every car held its capacity of visitors to cheer as the President went by. The big day began at 3 a.m. when the President's Union Pacific special tipped to its spur track at the edge of Boulder City, carefully nudging along as its passengers slept.

Daylight saw the crowds beginning to assemble along the track beside the train, their attention centered on a Pullman at the end of the line with its curtains drawn and a watchful guard of Secret Service men and soldiers of the Thirty-eighth Infantry from Fort Douglass, Utah.

They were late risers aboard the special but one by one merged Senators, Governors and other dignitaries. Shortly after 8 a.m. Mrs. Roosevelt, in all white, went down the train from the Presidential car, smiling out through the windows, and the Boulder City people were joined by Las Vegas onlookers. At 9:30 FDR emerged with his gold braided military aid. He waved again and again and they entered the car.

In the meantime the children and their parents and hundreds of others were assembling on the great-green tree-shaded Administration Building lawns. They had flags by the dozens and flowers. The crowd cheered as the President's car, driven by Construction Engineer, Walker Young, swung past Government Park. Closely followed by the

Don't Touch

Did you know that you don't even have to touch the leaves of poison ivy, poison oak, and poison sumac to be infected by them? The irritating oils these plants secrete can be spread in many ways ... like touching an animal that has been in contact with the leaves, or through exposure to the smoke of the burning foliage.

Hospice Volunteers Graduate

HIGHLY MOTIVATED--The second group of Hospice volunteers graduated recently from the Nathan Adelson Hospice and Health District Hospice training program, bringing the total of active volunteers to 30. The second group of Hospice Volunteers recently completed the Nathan Adelson Hospice and Health District Hospice training program, bringing the total of active volunteers to 30. The volunteers provide care to cancer patients serviced by the Health District and Nathan Adelson Hospice programs.

During the 20-hour training course, the hospice philosophy and role of the volunteer were stressed. Other topics included understanding physical pain and distress of the dying patient; emotional and psychological pain of the family; limit setting by staff; personal conception of death; financial burdens of terminal illness; physical comfort; program mechanics; physical manifestations of the disease; spiritual supports.

Volunteers interacted with the staffs of the hospice programs, a local attorney specializing in wills and estate planning, a dietitian, a psychologist, a representative from American Cancer Society, a physician skilled in pain control, a registered nurse skilled in counseling techniques, a local funeral director, and a social worker from Nevada State Welfare.

A cross-section of the community is reflected in the occupations and ages of volunteers. Participating in the two volunteer classes to date are physicians, registered nurses, homemakers, truck drivers, secretaries, social workers, self-employed businessmen, students, Protestant clergy, Catholic nuns, a UNLV professor and retired citizens -- ranging in age from 16 to 70.

The Wine Rack

By BIANCA St. JOHN

Have Your Own Wine-Tasting Party
Having a wine-tasting party is great and it need not be expensive.

How to buy your wine for the affair? If your guests and you are sophisticated wine drinkers, you might want to explore the differences in taste among different vintners and different vintages of the same wine. A California Zinfandel would be an excellent choice for this in-depth tasting, offering subtle differences which are often hard to distinguish between different bottles. Or, you can pick an area of the world, like Sicily, and offer only wines from that particular region of vineyards, comparing different varieties of wines. Or, choose a single year and provide a wide variety of wines from all over the world which are of the same vintage.

About the only hard and fast rule for selecting wines to be tasted is that you stick to either white or red and do not mix them up; this confuses the taste buds and makes it difficult to appreciate either type of wine.

The perfect glasses for a wine-tasting are large, clear, tapered glasses in the eight-ounce size. Stemmed glasses are not mandatory but they do help you appreciate the aesthetics of the wine being tasted, and clear glass, not colored, is a must for judging color and clarity of wine.

In addition to the wine, you should also provide chunks of bread and cheese so that guests may "clear the palate" between tastings. Keep the cheese served mild so that taste buds are not distracted.

Deer Tag Drawings Completed: 97 Tags Remain Available

By: David K. Rice

Nevada Department of Wildlife's computerized drawings for 1980 deer tags has been completed and results show 97 resident general hunt tags remain available for management area eight.

At its meeting on Friday, (Aug. 22) the seven-member Wild life Commission approved a request by Department of Wildlife to extend the second application deadline date to 5 p.m., Sept. 16. Applications will only be accepted by mail and those received after the sept. 16 deadline will not be eligible in the drawing.

A second deadline application date and drawing is established each year in the event tags remain available in any of the 29 deer management areas. The original second application deadline was Sept. 3, however, NDOW officials reported that adherence to this date would not allow sufficient time for interested hunters to apply.

Preliminary figures show 29,681 residents applied for the 19,799 available general (any legal weapon; hunt tags).

The remaining 97 tags are all for management area eight, a new area added this year which was previously a small portion of area seven of north-east Elko Co.

NDOW regulations describe management area eight as, "That portion of Elko Co., bounded on the west by the Fall Creek - Rock Springs - Thousand Springs road from the Idaho stateline to Montello, and on the south by State Route 30 - 233 from Montello to the Utah Stateline."

Resident hunters interested in obtaining an area eight tag can do so by completing a 1980 deer tag application form available at all hunting and fishing license agents and NDOW offices. If more than 97 hunters apply, the drawing will be conducted following the Sept. 16 deadline.

Applicants can apply for a tag and license on the same application, however, those planning to hunt other species are advised to purchase their license before applying.

FLIGHTING HEROES

A Spanish-speaking American is helping bring future communication into the homes of millions, most of whom have never even heard his name.

The Bell System is in the lead in bringing lightweight transmission to the American public and Manuel R. Santana is helping to assure that lead.

Lightguides are hair-thin glass fibers which use light instead of electricity to transmit information. Lightguide cables can carry many thousands more telephone conversations than comparably sized copper cable. But the hair-thin glass fibers need to be protected. And that is where Mr. Santana came in.

After leaving Cuba in 1962, Santana completed his engineering studies and in 1970 became an engineer at Bell Telephone Laboratories — the research and development arm of the Bell System. One of his early assignments was to develop a rugged protective sheath to enclose the glass fibers.

"What we arrived at was a sheath of polyethylene and steel that protects the fibers at temperatures as high as 170°F and as low as -40°F," explains Santana, who now supervises The Lightguide Cable Group at the Bell Labs Atlanta facility.

The cable Santana helped design helped bring all America video signals from remote locations at the 1980 Winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N.Y. Other areas where the Bell System has installed lightguide technology are Chicago and Connecticut. Western Electric is producing the lightguide cable for a 611-mile-long installation, announced this year by AT&T, between Washington, D.C. and Boston. A major installation will be completed in Atlanta later this year.

Clark County School District Announces New Attendance Policy

During the past five months, officials of the Clark County School District have been engaged in a review of attendance patterns for students enrolled in grades nine through twelve. This research has shown that, while most students attend school on a regular basis, there is a growing number of students who are absent from class for one or more periods each day. Research verifies that there is a direct relationship between good classroom attendance and high student achievement.

In September, the Clark County School District will institute a new policy governing the attendance of students in all secondary schools. This policy, and its companion regulation, will set limits on the number of absences a student may acquire during any school semester. Students who exceed these limits may be excluded from attendance from that school site for the remainder of the semester and no school credit may be earned at that site for this time period.

Briefly stated, a student who exceeds more than five unexcused absences may be excluded. Examples of unexcused absences include, but are not limited to, hunting trips, family vacations, baby-sitting, personal business activities while securing a health card or a sheriff's card, student job hunting, or vehicle breakdown. A student who exceeds a combined total of more than eighteen excused and/or unexcused absences may also be excluded for the remainder of the semester. An excused absence, as defined by the regulation, shall include an absence caused by illness or medical appointments, a death in the immediate family, mandated court appearances, approved religious holidays, or an emergency outside the control of the student or the student's family. Such excuses are subject to the approval of the principal. A student will be considered to be absent when that student is not present for all or any part of a school day.

An appeal procedure has been established when the student, parent, or legal guardian has reason to believe that there is an error in the attendance record of the student or extenuating circumstances exist. Student absences will be communicated to parents periodically by mail throughout the semester.

All of these activities have taken place for the purpose of establishing and communicating an attendance standard for secondary school students. Because the Clark County School District is mindful of its obligation to provide educational opportunities which will enhance the student's ability to become a useful, productive citizen in our society, standards must be established and maintained. We encourage you to discuss this matter with your student and to work with us as we continue to offer the highest quality educational program to this community's youth

DONALD S. COPLIN SCHOOL TRUSTEE, DISTRICT A

Donald Coplin is a resident of Boulder City and has a dental practice in Henderson. He is a member of the Henderson Chamber of Commerce. Has been active in Boy Scouts as a Scoutmaster and as an Adult Leadership Trainer. He has attended So. Utah State College, University of Michigan and UNLV. Graduate of University of So. California Dental School as a member of Alpha Tau Epsilon Honorary Dental Fraternity.

LISTED BELOW ARE A FEW OF DR. COPLIN'S VIEWS ON SOME ISSUES CONCERNING EDUCATION IN CLARK COUNTY.

- More local authority of schools. Schools must be allowed to express their own personality and character. Each area in the district is different. We must allow for these differences.
- Narrow the gap between the School District Administration and the teachers.
- Decision making made at the level of primary responsibility. Teachers decide for classroom; Principals decide for schools; Administrators decide for the District.
- Insure wise use of the funds available when cuts are made. Let fundamentals alone and cut where it won't affect the quality of education.
- Firm discipline - Chronic offenders do not belong in the system.
- Vocational Education for those with aptitude, attitude, and desire. Not for use as punishment or banishment within the system.
- Teachers are a valuable asset, protect them by enabling them to improve their own proficiency and training.
- Be goal oriented as a district from K-12 if it doesn't fit long range plans, it doesn't belong in the system.
- Sex Education - We have it by legislation, it must be rigidly structured and reflect traditional moral values. Homosexuality not to be taught as an "alternate lifestyle". "Values Clarification" only to be used to "clarify" traditional moral values.

The Issue Is Leadership

Jack Jeffrey has represented the people of Henderson, Boulder City and the outlying valleys since 1974.

In 1979 he teamed with Henderson and Boulder representatives and Father Caesar Cavaglia to secure $1.9 million for the Henderson Community College.

He is chairman of the powerful Commerce Committee which is responsible for legislation involving banking, savings and loan associations, insurance, real estate, regulatory boards, most health care legislation and NIC widow benefits.

He voted for tough new criminal laws, backed the largest tax reduction package in Nevada history, supported bail bond reform and generic drug legislation, fought for increased benefits for working people killed or injured on the job and voted for revenue bonds for veterans' housing.

He opposes a state income tax and will continue to fight consolidation of governments without a vote of the people affected.

He's compiled a 100 per cent voting and attendance record during the last two sessions of the Nevada legislature. He takes a stand and doesn't duck the tough issues.

That's the Jeffrey record...leadership and accomplishment.

Union Leaders Spotlighted in New Series

Editors Note: Because the HENDERSON HOME NEWS - BOULDER CITY NEWS would like our readers to have an opportunity to take a closer look at the union leadership of Nevada, we are running a monthly series of "profiles" on some of our union leaders, submitted by the Nevada State AFL-CIO. This month the spotlight is on Mark Massagli, president of the Nevada State AFL-CIO.

Mark Tully Massagli

Mark began his professional music career in 1955 and performed as a professional musician (bass player - vocalist) through 1967. He has worked in most hotels and clubs in the Las Vegas, Reno and Lake Tahoe areas.

Mark's union career began as a trustee (1966 - 1967) in Musicians Local No. 369. In 1966 Mark began serving on the Negotiating Committee for Local No. 369 with the Nevada Resort Association. He has served on every Negotiating Committee since 1966. He became Secretary-Treasurer of Local No. 369 in 1968 and held that position through 1978. In 1975 Mark served as a trustee on the American Federation of Music Employees Pension Welfare fund, which has assets of over $170 million. In 1979 he was elected President of Local No. 369 and still holds that position. At the same time that Mark held positions of importance in his Local, he was also elected to the International Executive Board of the American Federation of Music of the United States and Canada, largest entertainment union in the world with 300,000 members. He has served on that Board continuously, having recently been re-elected at the National Convention in Portland, MA. He is presently serving as President of the Nevada State AFL-CIO, having been elected in 1978.

Of more importance than the positions Mark has held is the work he has done, not only for members of his own Local but for workers state wide. During the 1979 Legislature Mark found time to lobby against anti-union legislation that would hurt the workers' of Nevada and for legislation which would help them.

Lest you think otherwise, Mark also has a private life. He has been married to Joan Sauer of the Sawyer Sisters Vocal Trio for 17 years. They have two sons, Mark III, 15, and Michael, 12. His hobbies are golf, cooking, fishing and boating. Mark is also very active in local community and civic affairs, serving on the Board of Directors, United Way; Governor's Conference on Library and Information Needs; Citizen's Advisory Board, Channel 10; Industrial Relations Research Association; and lecturer on Collective Bargaining, Labor and Economics at University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Organized labor is proud of Mark and his many accomplishments.

Colorado River Salinity Control Council to Meet

The Colorado River Basin Salinity Control Advisory Council, representing seven states concerned with maintaining water quality in the Basin, will meet in Santa Fe, New Mex., on September 12, 1980, to discuss salinity problems in the Southwest's major river basin.

The seven states include Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, California, Wyoming, Utah, and Colorado. Commissioner of Water and Power Resources R. Keith Higginson invites the public and those persons and organizations interested in the river's water quality to attend the session.

The Council, composed of representatives from each of the seven states, will hear reports from three of the Federal agencies working to control salinity in the river: The Water and Power Resources Service, the Soil Conservation Service, and the Bureau of Land Management.

It also will discuss preparation of the Council's annual report to the Secretaries of Agriculture and Interior, and to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

The Council was established by the Colorado River Basin Salinity Control Act of 1974 (PL 93-320) to act as liaison among the three administrators and the Basin states. The goal of the act is to maintain salinity levels at or below the 1972 level.

The Council meeting is scheduled for 8 a.m. on September 12, 1980, in Room 339 of the Executive Legislative Building, State Capitol Complex, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Cloud Lake, Fla., in 1979 returned to the U.S. government $22.61 in disaster aid since no one in town had reported a disaster.

NEWS OF HEALTH

New Help For Arthritis

More than 31 million adults and children in the U.S. suffer from arthritis in one of its many forms. In addition, arthritis cripples more Americans each year than any other disease, including diabetes and heart disease.

There is no cure for arthritis, and the traditional treatment has been aspirin and a small number of prescription drugs.

However, the 23 million American victims of the two major forms of this crippling-rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis—now may be helped by a new prescription drug, Meclomen.

Meclomen's efficacy and safety have been substantiated in clinical studies involving more than 2,700 patients in the U.S. and Europe during the past 16 implicated in the inflammation associated with arthritis. The Parke-Davis Division of Warner-Lambert Company recently received clearance from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to distribute Meclomen, the first new chemical compound to be introduced for the treatment of arthritis since 1974.

Hard Work and Good Times

A summer of hard work has drawn to a close for the 26 young people from Boulder City, Henderson, and Las Vegas that participated as enrollees in the Youth Conservation Corps camp at the Lake Mead National Recreation Area.

Hard work and good times is the motto of the YCC. Clearing trails, hauling rocks, pouring cement, and clearing brush is hard work indeed. But when young people work together, take responsibility for their actions, and interact with new people and situations, even the toughest of jobs offer good times.

The YCC is a nation-wide program which employs youth from all social, economic, and ethnic backgrounds. The young people, 15-18 years old, accomplish needed conservation work on public lands and at the same time develop an understanding and appreciation of the nation's natural environment and heritage.

This year's projects will benefit the park visitor as well as the park's resources. One project of particular significance and pride was the handicapped access ramps and walkways that the enrollees constructed. These walks are located at the Boulder Beach picnic area comfort stations and are made of concrete. This project gave the enrollees a chance to learn the basics of working with cement; a skill that may be useful to them in the future. Most importantly, they are proud of their project and the knowledge that their efforts will be appreciated by handicapped visitors to the park.

The YCC participated in needed clean-up and beautification projects around the park. This ranged from rehabilitation of trash can holders and cactus gardens to clean-up of Boulder Beach campground and various viewpoints. The corpsmembers became very sensitive to the litter problem in the park. It was upsetting to them to see people litter or find piles of trash left behind by thoughtless visitors.

The enrollees left their mark on various interpretive areas of Lake Mead NRA. They constructed two large campfire circles to be used by the park naturalists and visitors at the Boulder Beach amphitheater. These new additions can be used during the winter months. The nature trail behind the Alan Bible Visitor Center, off of U.S. 93, was rehabilitated and made ready for use for the coming school year. A new self-guiding nature trail was also constructed at Cottonwood Cove on Lake Mohave.

To become environmentally aware is a goal of the YCC program. An environmental awareness program was incorporated into the daily activities. Approximately two hours each day would be spent in learning situations that introduced the corpsmember to the work site environment. The two hours would not necessarily come in one block but would usually be spaced throughout the day. Several field trips were also taken this summer to areas in and around the park. The enrollees visited the Las Vegas Air Quality Control Board, various flash flood damage and erosion sites, Clark County Waste Water Treatment Plant, Lost City Museum in Overton, Roger's Spring, three local mines, and the Nevada State Fish Hatchery. The environmental awareness time was unpaid experience as the enrollees received pay for six hours worked each day.

There were, however, several projects which involved the young people in resource management work. Time was spent constructing and clearing watering holes for the Desert Bighorn Sheep. Having these watering areas maintained is important to the National Park Service and the Nevada Department of Wildlife. They play an important role in the management and survival of a very interesting animal.

A project that developed a lot of excitement was the enclosure that the corpsmembers constructed on Gull Island in the Overton arm of Lake Mead. As the water of Lake Mead has risen, a large area of land, about 12 acres in size, has become an island. Two feral burros have been left "stranded" on this island, choosing not to swim to shore but to stay on their new domain. This has given Park Service resource managers an ideal chance to study what impacts the burros will make on the desert vegetation on the island. In order to gain data on this it was necessary to construct a 30' x 40' enclosure made of wire fencing to keep the burros from grazing this plot of land.

The YCC accepted this responsibility. They gathered all the tools, materials, and equipment necessary for the project and headed for Echo Bay. They were met and transported by Park Service boats to the research area on Gull Island. For many of the enrollees this was their first visit to this area and for some their first time on the lake.

At the job site the enrollees divided into two work groups. The dimensions of the enclosure were marked off and then the hard work of pounding fence posts began. Even this had some fun to it as the enrollees made a contest out of pounding posts. Teams of two corpsmembers would vie for the shortest time needed to set a post. The new record in post pounding, or so they claim, is 16.3 seconds. A few dissenters brought up the interesting point that not everyone was fortunate enough to have been over a sandy area when the pounding began.

In a little over two hours the enrollees would be standing in front of their project posing for pictures and satisfied with their accomplishment. The data gathered from this project could be very instrumental in the future management of their park's resources.

Young people interested in next year's camp should contact their school counselors in January for an application. You must be between the ages of 15-18 years old, have a social security number, have not served with YCC in a previous year, and have an interest in working with an environmental learning-work program. The deadline for applications in years past has been March 15.

New Interior Designs At Lewis Homes-Boulder City

To keep up with the latest trends in interior decoration, one may study the photographs in home fashion magazines. A simpler way is to visit the model homes at Lewis Homes' Boulder City community.

Under the direction of Jerri Lynn, decorating specialist for Lewis Homes, the display models at that community have been given a new decor ambience reflecting "style trends of the 1980s," it was announced.

"The redesigned interiors are aimed at helping our buyers visualize their furniture arrangements in their homes, even using the present furnishings," Ms. Lynn stated.

Lewis Homes-Boulder City, displays two series of plans -- the Classic Series and the Prestige Series -- differing in size and decor but alike in many of their interior amenities.

The homes are constructed in both one-story and two-story elevations, the complete price bracket ranging from the low $60,000s to the low $100,000s.

A notable styling in the Prestige Series is Plan 386, a two-story design measuring 2,085 square feet of livable area. The home achieves a fashionable touch with its ceramic tile entry foyer, soaring two stories in height.

Millspaugh Endorses Hafen

Today, Greg Millspaugh, a formerly announced candidate for Assembly 22, endorsed Bryan Hafen for the Assembly 22 Republican nomination. "I deeply regret that professional responsibilities have prevented my actively campaigning this year," Millspaugh said, "but I am very pleased that a fine candidate such as Mr. Hafen has come forward instead. Mr. Hafen's eight years of experience as a former assemblyman will restore the caliber of

"For too long we have had a do-little representative, who can't be found except during elections." "Mr. Hafen's experience on the taxation, government affairs, and transportation committees are sorely needed during these trying times. I have pledged to assist Bryan Hafen in his campaign in every way that I can," Millspaugh concluded.

A really wild chapeau? Look Again!

Boulder City resident Tina Gaines is shown displaying a most unique hair styling known as the "Weaved Hat."

Acquiring this look is no simple matter. Tina says it took stylist Mike Lattin approximately five hours to complete the intricate task on Tina's tresses (yes, that's all her own hair.)

Why the unusual coiffure? Tina's an aspiring model and was chosen to appear in an annual fashion benefit sponsored by Armando's Beauty Salon in Las Vegas. Held at the Jubilation last Sunday night, the affair featured Sue Parkinson as Mistress of Ceremonies and drew a sellout crowd of approximately 700. Proceeds are donated to "We Care," a child abuse prevention agency.

For her appearance, Tina received "the works." Her fashions were by Ted Lapedos, makeup by Taylor Reynolds, nails by Dolores White. There were 75 models appearing.

Tina's lived in Boulder City "off and on" since she was eight years old. Her parents are Mike and Diane Gaines; her grandparents are Bob and Babe Cowan, 48 year B.C. residents.

Following graduation, Tina attended "Charm Unlimited" in Las Vegas. Several exciting modeling jobs have followed, each bringing her more exposure and experience.

Needless to say, Tina's ambition ... to become a full fledged professional model.

Mark Twain's First Earthquake (Part II)

By PHILLIP I. EARL

Continuing the story of Mark Twain's first earthquake in San Francisco, we find the western humorist writing as follows:

"The 'curiosities' of the earthquake were simply endless. Gentlemen and ladies who were sick, or were taking a siesta, or had dissipated till a late hour and were making up lost sleep, thronged into the public streets in all sorts of queer apparel, and some without any at all. One woman who had been washing a naked child ran down the street holding it by the ankles as if it were a dressed turkey. Prominent citizens who were supposed to keep the Sabbath strictly rushed out of saloons in their shirt-sleeves with billiard cues in their hands. Dozens of men with necks swathed in napkins rushed from barbershops lathered to the eyes or with one cheek clean shaved and the other still bearing a hairy stubble. Horses broke from stables and a frightened dog rushed up a short attic ladder and out on to a roof, and when his scare was over had not the nerve to go down again the same way he had gone up. A prominent editor flew down stairs in the principal hotel with nothing on but one brief undergarment, met a chambermaid and exclaimed: 'Oh, what shall I do! Where shall I go!' She responded with naive serenity: 'If you have no choice, you might try a clothing store!'"

"A certain foreign consul's lady was the acknowledged leader of fashion and every time she appeared in anything new or extraordinary, the ladies of the vicinity made a raid on their husbands' purses and arrayed themselves similarly. One man who had suffered considerably and growled accordingly was standing at the window when the shocks came, and the next instant the consul's wife, just out of the bath, fled by with no other apology for clothing than a bath towel. The sufferer rose superior to the terrors of the earthquake and said to his wife, 'Now that is something like! Get out your towel my dear!'"

"The plastering that fell from ceilings in San Francisco that day would have covered several acres of ground. For some days afterward, groups of eyeing and pointing men stood about many a building, looking at long zig-zag cracks that extended from the eaves to the ground. Four feet of the tops of three chimneys on one house were broken square off and turned around in such a way as to completely stop the draft. A crack of a hundred feet long gaped open six inches wide in the middle of one street and then shut together again with such force as to ridge up the meeting earth like a slender grave. A lady sitting in her rocking and quaking parlor saw the wall part at the ceiling, open and shut twice like a mouth and then drop the end of a brick on the floor like a tooth. She was a woman easily disgusted with foolishness and she arose and went out of there. One lady who was coming downstairs was astonished to see a bronze Hercules lean forward on its pedestal as if to strike her with its club. They both reached the bottom of the flight at the same time -- the woman insensible from the fright. Her child, born some time afterward, was club-footed. However, on second thought, if the reader sees any coincidence in this, he must do it at his own risk.

"The first shock brought down two or three huge organ pipes in one of the churches. The minister, with uplifted hands, was just closing the services. He glanced up, hesitated and said: 'However, we will omit the benediction,' and the next instant there was a vacancy in the atmosphere where he had stood. "After the first shock, an Oakland minister said: 'Keep your seats! There is no better place to die than this,' and added, after the third: 'But outside is good enough!' He then skipped out the back door.

"The queer earthquake episodes that formed the staple of San Francisco gossip for the next week would fill a much larger book than this.

A clergyman reacts to the earthquake described by Mark Twain.

THE WOES OF TOES... AND OTHER FUNGAL FOES!

This summer, more than 50 million Americans will participate in some form of summer sports—and a substantial number will develop "the woes of toes:" athlete's foot.

Athlete's foot is really a fungal infection called "tinea pedis." This type of microscopic fungus thrives in warm, dark, damp places like lockers, showers and pools and in sweaty shoes and socks. It is nourished by dead skin cells from the outer layer of skin, called the epidermis, which is constantly being shed by the body.

Although tinea pedis does not attack living tissue, it secretes a substance which inflames the living skin beneath the epidermis. This results in the itching and burning sensations associated with athlete's foot.

Anyone can develop athlete's foot, but sports activists are more vulnerable, because they perspire a lot, use common showers and locker rooms and spend a good deal of time barefoot. Similar fungal infections which are also more prevalent in warm weather are "tinea cruris" (jock itch) and "tinea corporis" (body ringworm).

Jock itch is characterized by red, scaly patches on the inner thigh or groin area and is aggravated by the friction of clothes or the thighs rubbing against each other.

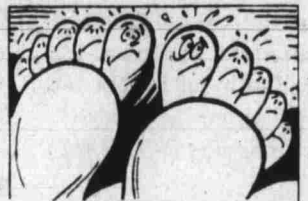

Body ringworm can occur on arms, legs or virtually any body area simply through exposure and susceptibility to the fungi which cause it. It appears as a raised circular area with a clear center and is also characterized by inflammation and itching.

While all three of these common minor infections can be easily cured with an over-the-counter antifungal such as TINACTIN, prevention is preferable.

Here are some tips for avoiding "the woes of toes and fungi foes:"

- Don't use towels or articles of clothing which belong to other people.

- Launder socks, underwear and athletic supporters after each use, and dry them whenever possible in direct sunlight. The sun's ultraviolet rays provide a natural germicide and fungicide, because they kill the fungi spores which cause athlete's foot and jock itch.

- Avoid going barefoot as much as possible, especially when using common showers and locker room facilities.

- Wear loose-fitting clothing during sports activity to allow free circulation of air.
- Dry thoroughly after bathing.

- Wear sports attire made from natural fibers, such as cotton, rather than synthetic fibers. Synthetic fibers don't "breathe" and absorb moisture as well as natural ones.

- If you are habitually susceptible to athlete's foot or jock itch, use a fungicidal powder or spray regularly to prevent re-infection.

If athlete's foot, jock itch or body ringworm does occur, treat it promptly with a fungicidal medication, because it can spread to other areas of the body and lead to other complications.

LONELY - LONESOME - ALONE

Clara - You once claimed that a lonely old person was a lonely young person. Do you still feel that way?

Roberta - Yes - in this sense. Most of us grow in a certain direction - our pattern is usually set. So I don't believe that stepping from one age or state of life into another, by itself, changes the individual pattern or direction.

Clara - I don't agree that change is as impossible as you seem to feel. But back to the lonely. You know as well as I do that one of the pulls at peoples' hearts and purses is the lonely old one.

Roberta - I think even more poignant is the lonely young one. Granted, they have hope - or we have it for them - of changing their state of loneliness. We believe they can change their ways.

Clara - So you do believe that change can be achieved. If the young can change their ways why isn't it equally possible for the old?

Roberta - Clara, it can be done. My original point is that when you see a lonely old - that person was always lonely. Age only exaggerated it. And as for modifying loneliness - that is a personal responsibility. What are we really talking about? Lonely - Lonesome - or Alone? I believe there is a difference. Clara - We are talking about being. When you are alone there is more likelihood of being lonely and lonesome. But I do not at all agree that because people live alone - especially older people - that they are necessarily lonely.

Roberta - What about all the jargon and pathetic pictures foisted on us about how terrible it is to be old and alone?

Clara - I'm sure that there are many old people for whom that is true. But I'm equally certain that the majority of elders who live alone are making it.

Roberta - And the ones who are coping don't necessarily make the news.

Clara - What triggered these feelings was reading an appalling interview with a psychologist who claimed that living alone can be so hazardous it can lead to premature death.

Roberta - His postures must be exaggerated. It's hard to believe that older people have learned so little during their living as to not be able to cope with alone living.

Clara - Roberta, this man goes on to say that loneliness can bring on self-destructive behavior, that it accounts for longer hospital stays than necessary, and is a reason for hypertension.

Roberta - Surely those are not solely the province of old people living alone. The really self destructive ones don't live to an old age - they start self-destructing before old age. As for staying in hospitals longer - that is from practicality. Who can afford nursing care at home before you're ready to take care of yourself?

Clara - I hope we agree that living alone can and does mean a good life - and that the frightening projections by the psychologist can be avoided. Just to make sure, Roberta - I do not discount the awfulness of aloneness. But there are many resources available to every person. It takes as little effort as looking in the telephone directory and making a few calls. Senior Centers - Volunteer Centers - Church Groups. And programs like Neighbor on the Block - if there is one in your area, check it out.

Roberta - And I include the late night talk shows - they are good for developing interest and keeping in touch. Check your local Information and Referral Office for Seniors for available resources.

Frederick the Great of Prussia often had his coffee made with champagne instead of water.

BABY'S SHOES

Dear Dr. Esse: With times being as bad as they are, we can't afford to keep buying every few months, special leather shoes for our infant. They cost anywhere from 20 to 25 dollars a pair.

Our friends tell us they're necessary if we want our youngster to grow with normally developed feet. How about children in China and India? I've heard they go barefoot and don't develop flat feet or fallen arches. Any suggestions? — Mrs. E.

Dear Mrs. E.: You'll be interested in an article in The Journal of the American Podiatry Association (5/80) by Drs. Joseph I. Seder and Paul G. Dymont, called "Infant's Shoes."

They mention that the question of baby shoes has significant economic implications for the average young family. You'll be happy to learn that "most podiatrists believe that simple, inexpensive shoes are adequate for the normal baby's growing feet, and that specially constructed baby shoes are an unnecessary expense."

The majority of podiatrists questioned replied that tennis shoes were adequate — and much less expensive.

The article concluded: "It would appear that the widespread belief among parents about the importance of baby shoes is not widely shared by the pediatric or the pediatric professions."

For Mrs. W.: An organic vitamin supplement simply means that it is of animal or plant origin. Some say these are more readily absorbed than inorganic vitamins. © 1980 McNaught Synd.

REFUNDING AND SENSE by VICTORIA R. FLEMING

Editor:

This newspaper carries the syndicated column "Topics for Taxpayers," written by Ernest Newton...

Newton disputes the need for a consumer advocate to represent utility customers at rate increase hearings...

This statement is patently false. Perhaps Mr. Newton got his information from Gov. Robert List.

The PSC's neutral nature was a matter of substantial debate as recently as last year, when Assemblyman Tod Bedrosian...

It is not the duty of the PSC to represent consumers. The statutes which established the PSC dictate that it is a quasi-judicial and administrative body...

Mr. Newton further notes that public utilities are not really monopolies since, "there is no constraint on installation of a gasoline or diesel powered generator to serve your electricity needs."

To offer such an argument that public utilities are not truly monopolies is to say that anyone who does not need a car may go out and buy a horse and buggy...

Mr. Newton closes his article in praise of our current utility system by stating that, "if it ain't broke, don't fix it..."

He defends public utility profits as reasonable, although public utility stock nationwide is an investment which pays disproportionately high yields...

General rate increase applications now pending statewide are designed to keep profits and stock yields high, but there is no competition to keep prices down...

We need an independent office of consumer advocacy here in Nevada. It will be small and efficient, and will use up only one-third of the current surplus in the Public Service Commission's tax fund...

Mr. Newton not only has his facts wrong, but also his conclusions and priorities.

Thank you very much. Randolph Townsend Coalition for Affordable Energy

Alternatives in Tax Reform

On November 4, Nevada voters will be asked to cast their vote on a Constitutional amendment which is now better known as Question 6. This amendment which revises the method of limiting property taxes has already been approved once by Nevada voters, but as is the case with all constitutional amendments initiated by voter referendum, it must receive a second and final voter ratification. In the interim between the two general elections, the Legislature adopted an alternative tax reform package. This, in contrast to Question 6 which solely addresses real property taxes, was a comprehensive package reducing not only ad valorem taxes, but simultaneously eliminating the personal property taxes on household goods as well as the sales tax on food. In November, electors must decide between the two approaches, since adoption of Question 6 immediately nullifies the already implemented reforms which have been instituted primarily via S.B. 204.

Both methods of limiting property taxes are extremely complex in their mechanics and have different effects on the individual property owner. Close examination of the intricacies of each reveals a property tax reduction through adoption of Question 6, his next door neighbor may actually be paying an increased tax bill. The effects are so varied under both methods of limitation that it is impossible to expect a unilateral property tax reduction for all Nevada residents.

Presently, the Nevada Constitution requires that individual properties be reappraised at least once every five years. An appraisal is an attempt to estimate the market value of both the land and the improvements made to it. The appraised value of property is not the same as the assessed value. Nevada law places the assessed value at 35 percent of the most recent appraised value. For instance, if a home was appraised in 1978 as having an estimated market value of $100,000, the assessed value in both 1979 and 1980 has been $35,000. Unlike most states, the Nevada Constitution presently already places a maximum limit on property taxes. The maximum tax rate which can be applied is $5.00 per $100 of assessed valuation. The house which was appraised at $100,000 in 1978 and thus had an assessed value of $35,000 would be subject to a maximum property tax of $1,750. Over and above the $1,750 in ad valorem taxes, the property owner of this house was, prior to 1979, also subject to a personal property tax on the furnishings.

In 1979, however, Nevada's legislators enacted a series of laws designed to provide Nevadans with substantive tax relief. The most important parts of the package were included in a bill commonly known as S.B. 204.

S.B. 204 not only lowered the maximum property tax rate from $5.00 to $3.64 for the first year, but it also imposed spending limitations on state and local government bodies throughout Nevada. In fiscal 1979-80, the first year that such limits were in effect, the tax rates in Clark County dropped significantly and varied from $2.25 to $3.59 per $100 of assessed valuation, depending upon where the property was located in the County. (Residents in the non-urban areas of the County naturally pay less taxes since they are receiving no urban services.) The legislative package set a ceiling on tax rates in State Statute representing at least a 27 percent reduction from the previous rate ceiling. The home with a 1978 market value of $100,000 which previously had a maximum real property tax of $1,750 was now subject to a maximum real property tax of $1,274.

To complement its efforts to reduce property taxes, the Legislature simultaneously imposed spending limitations on all levels of government in Nevada, including the State itself. These "spending caps", as the limitations have become known, restrict government spending growth to a rate which is less than the combined effects of population growth and current inflation. For instance, Clark County's general fund budget for 1980-81 increased less than 10 percent over 1979-80 as compared to combined population growth and inflation in the same period of an estimated 20 percent or more.

In addition to the significantly reduced property tax levies and accompanying controls on government spending, the Legislature adopted two further tax measures. These were the elimination of the sales tax on food items and the elimination of the personal property tax on household goods. Neither of these reforms are addressed in the constitutional revisions proposed in Question 6 and may be revoked with its passage.

In essence, Question 6 is Nevada's version of California's Proposition 13. If passed, Question 6 would set the tax rate at one percent of the full cash value of the property. It, therefore, alters the current 5 percent of the assessed value to 1 percent of full cash value. The amendment stipulates that "full cash value" will be the appraised value recorded on the property in 1975, unless such property was sold after that date, in which case the subsequent appraisal will be effective. Question 6 allows for an annual increase in the property value, but it freezes it at 2 percent per year, regardless of actual inflation statistics.

In examining the measure closer, several fine points have to be taken into account. While Question 6 does essentially limit taxes to 1 percent of the 1975 value with a maximum 2 percent increase, analyses have shown that this does not mean all property owners will receive a property tax reduction. In fact, a common argument against Question 6 involves the fact that many property owners will have higher property taxes under Question 6 than they have under the Legislative tax package. This results from the fact that Question 6 will roll back property values to 1975 only if the property has been under both the same ownership since 1975. Secondly, the tax rates necessary to raise funds to pay outstanding debt are imposed outside the one percent limitation, meaning that the actual tax rate applied will well exceed 1 percent. In rapid growth areas of Nevada, such as Clark County, dramatic new construction and real estate sales related to population growth since 1975 lead to the conclusion that many property owners will not be eligible for a rollback of values to 1975 levels and thus be subject to the far higher appraisals of subsequent years. Population growth has also meant that many facilities such as schools have been built through debt financing. The debt incurred to provide such facilities must be paid by tax rates which cannot be limited. These factors combined result in the ensuing variations in property tax bills. Finally, it should be noted that changes in corporate ownership, such as frequently occur in large businesses like hotels - casinos, do not constitute a change of real property ownership, and thus such businesses are more likely to receive a property tax savings from Question 6.

While there are many technical and legal issues which have not been discussed in this review, it is clear that different property owners will stand to either gain or lose under Question 6. Following are charts showing what possible effects could be seen by property owners in Henderson and Boulder City under a variety of tax laws.

NPS Continues Flood Hazard Study At Willow Beach

Superintendent Jerry Wagers has announced that on August 18, 1980, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, at the request of the Department of Justice, dismissed the Department of the Interior's appeal of a U.S. District Court decision which allowed the long-term trailer village at Willow Beach to remain open until the National Park Service complied with the National Environmental Policy Act and national floodplain management guidelines.

"A U.S. Geological Survey hydrology study previously showed that the Willow Beach area was susceptible to flash flooding from Jumbo, Willow Beach, and Access Road Washes," Wagers noted, "and it prompted the closing of the NPS campground and picnic area on July 16, 1979, and an attempt to close the long-term trailer village, all in hazard areas." The concessioner's trailer village has remained open, however, pursuant to an order of the U.S. District Court in Phoenix, Ariz.

The National Park Service still considers the Willow Beach area to be susceptible to hazardous flash floods and has marked the affected areas with signs. However, the Willow Beach marina, restaurant, motel and day-use facilities are open to the public, while the overnight campground in Jumbo Wash remains closed.

In the Aug. 12, 1980, Federal Register the National Park Service gave notice that it is preparing an Environmental Impact Statement to analyze impacts of various alternatives for the mitigation of flood hazard and future management of the Willow Beach developed area on Lake Mohave within Lake Mead National Recreation Area, according to Wagers.

Wagers said, "All interested agencies, organizations and individuals are invited to submit comments or suggestions for consideration in the preparation of the Draft Environmental Statement." Comments should be sent to Donald Tiernan, Pacific Northwest/Western Team, Denver Service Center, National Park Service, 775 Parfet St., P.O. Box 25287, Denver, Colo. 80225, on or before September 15, 1980.

The Draft Environmental Statement will be released for public review in late 1980, followed by public meetings, he concluded.

There's mother's day, father's day, government day's, state day's, and a bunch of other day's but I ain't never heard of a day set aside fer grandma's.

Here's a lil poem I run across the other day I thot wuz real nice.

I don't know who wrote it but I do know one thing, they can put their feet under my supper table fer a mess of turnip green's 'n hog jools anytime.

It goe's like this

What a grandma is for.

A grandma is for giving
The extra hug and kiss
That help to heal the little hurts
When things have gone amiss.

A grandma is for tucking in
And hearing prayers at night
She never thinks it's sissy
To leave a little light

A grandma is for keeping
Lots of cookies in the jar
And tracking rainbows in the sky
Or wishing on a star

A grandma is for playing games
And finding things to do
On rainy days and when you're sick
She takes good care of you

And when other folks are busy
And haven't time to spare
That's when a granma's best of all
Just for being there.

I do lil things like printin' poems fer folk's once in awhile, it's a community public service I do.

I see by the T.V. it gittin' politishun time again. I'll tell you them commercials are gittin' about as thick as the hair on a dog's back.

The other nite I wuz watchin' one of them mushy kissin' movies and a gal already had all of her eighteen hour thing's off and wuz workin' on shakin' a ribbon frum her hair and up popped a politishun.

Now if that feller want's my vote he had better have his commercial placed in a diffurent spot in these kinda movies.

Fer instance, when the gal's cookin' breakfast and the man's mowin' the grass.

Excuse me a minute, Morry our boss want's to see me.

I know exactly wot it's all about, it's about my ten percent annual raise.

I walked in his office with a poker face all set to act surprised and he sez sit down, I'd like to talk to you.

First I had to shoo his ole cat out of the chair and empty an ashtray then I said, "Wot's up."

He sez Slim, I've been puttin a lil money under the rug fer a spell to give the front of our buildin a new face lift and git the roof fixed.

Now when Morry git's to talkin' like that you might jest as well keep your poker face becuz it ain't gonna git changed.

Then to my surprise he sez, "Slim, instead of usin' that money on the buildin' I'm gonna hire a tutor fer you to help out with your english 'n spellin'."

I ask wot in the world is a "tutor he sez it's a teacher that makes house call's.

She ring's your door bell about the same time each day and after you invite her in she will show you book's 'n stuff that can help you spell better in your column.

Slim, your spellin' 'n' english ain't only got our computer blowin' fuses I've got half the english teachers in Clark County on my neck.

Now I thot that wuz mighty nice of the boss, givin' up fixin' the-buildin' so we can have better spellin' 'n' english in this here award winnin' paper.

I told him I ain't had much skoolin' and this gal's gonna have her work cut out fer her.

He sez, do the best you can, and fer heaven sakes don't offer her one of your drink's.

Good nite
Slim

Animal Antics At Lake Mead

This Labor Day weekend the National Park Service will present two special programs Friday and Saturday nights at the Boulder Beach Amphitheater. Desert Bighorn Sheep and the reptiles of the Lake Mead region will provide an interesting weekend for all. This Friday night Ranger Bill Burke will present a program on the Bighorn and their ability to survive in the rugged mountain areas.

Populations of Bighorn are large enough to allow trapping of our sheep to stock less populated areas. Management philosophies and problems concerning the Bighorn, as well as other plants and animals of this area will be discussed.

"In the Cool of the Evening," Saturday night Bob McKeever will again present his exciting program on reptiles. Snakes, Lizards, and other reptiles have developed many interesting ways to live successfully in this desert area. If you've never touched or held a snake, this will be your chance. Bob will have several non-poisonous reptiles for you to meet.

The programs on Friday, August 29 and Saturday, August 30 will be at 8 p.m. as will all programs presented at the amphitheater for the season. To reach the amphitheater, drive four miles east of Boulder City on Highway 93, turn left and drive two miles to the Boulder Beach turnoff. Parking is at the base of the campground behind the amphitheater. For more information, contact the Alan Bible Visitor Center at 293-4041, ext. 16.

'Seek'

Self Esteem trying to get Everything and Keeping it for yourself.

Service Evident for Everyone through Kindness

These two statements are written in an acrostic form. If you take the first letter of each phrase; they both spell the same word -SEEK- yet with two different motives behind that one word.

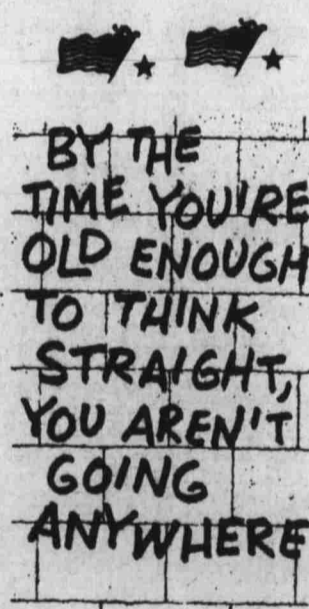

Do you believe in the existence of a living God? Are you earnestly seeking Him? Or are you out for number #1 and all you can get out of this life?

Maybe you are believing in God through Jesus Christ, but are you seeking the betterment of others before yourself.

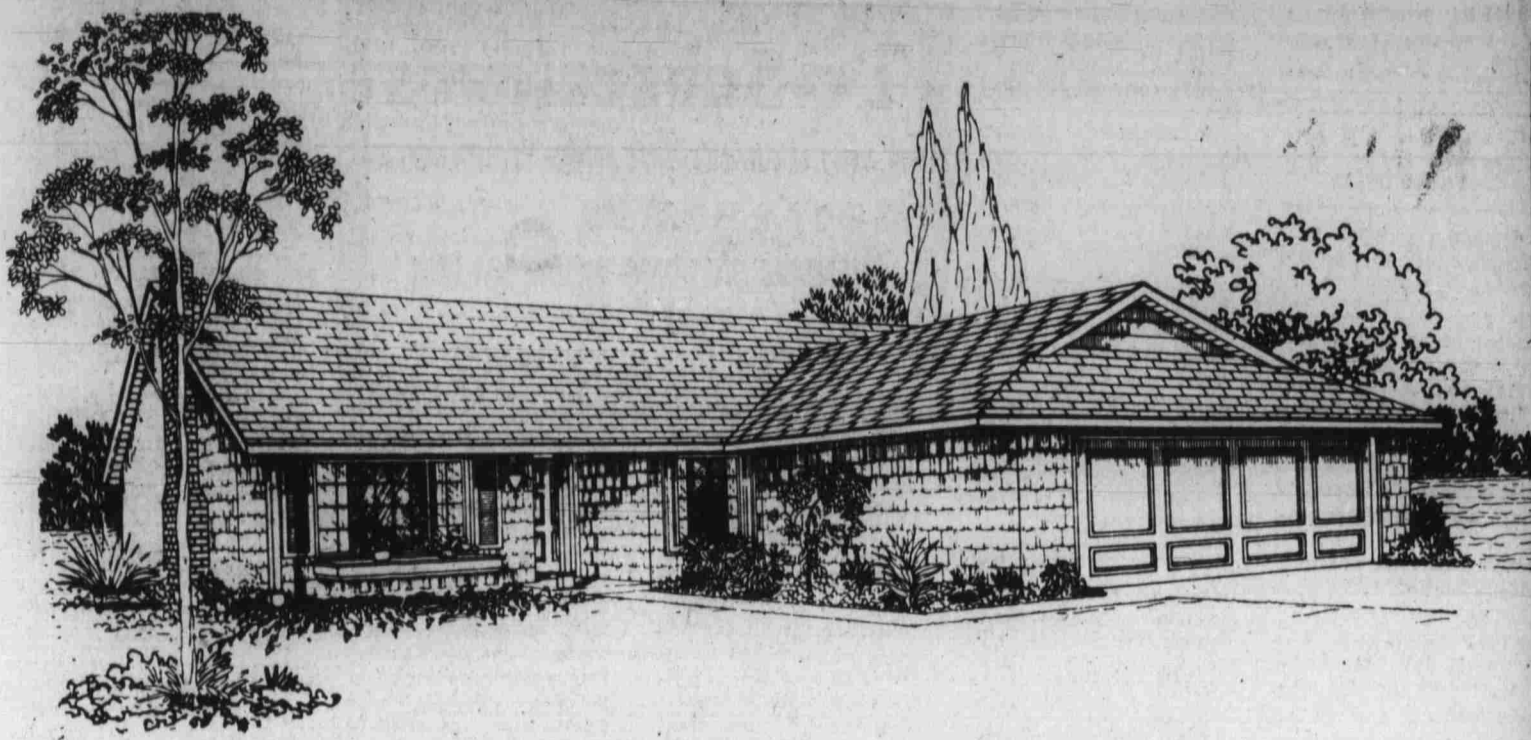

Re-read those two acrostics and see which one typifies your life?

You are invited to worship this Sunday at the Henderson Christian Church, 101 Temple Dr. directly across from the Black Mt. Golf Course where Major turns into Country Club Dr., then into Greenway at Horizon.

Foothill Estates 'Diamonds in the Rough'

FOOTHILL ESTATES -- Lewis Homes community in Henderson offers wide variety of floor plans and 19 different exterior motifs. Plan 165 features three bedrooms, two baths, family room and many decor highlights.

Just a few short months ago the homes in Foothill Estates were diamonds in the rough. Today they're completely finished two, three and four bedroom gems.

Cut on lots of over 8,000 square feet in a scenic and picturesque setting in Henderson, Lewis Homes' Foothill Estates now offers homebuyers a step up in convenient and comfortable living with their Classic and Prestige Series of homes that come in seven floorplans and 19 exteriors.

Of these, one of the most distinctive is Plan 165, a charming three bedroom home with two baths, spacious family room, and over 1,350 square feet of living area in addition to an oversized two-car garage.

"It's perfect for the three-bedroom family," said Robert E. Lewis, president of the prestigious building company.

Plan 165 embraces Lewis Homes' trademark of luxurious styling with its picturesque entryway and attractive exterior architecture.

The living room's custom-designed fireplace, the kitchen's luminous ceiling and the master bedroom suite's dressing area and built-in vanity table are noteworthy highlights of this functional home.

Foothill Estates offers six other plans, catering to the needs of a variety of households, including singles, young marrieds, retired couples, and first-time buyers.

Interior appointments found in various plans include dramatic cathedral ceilings, ceramic tile entries, spacious family rooms, guest powder rooms and separate laundry rooms.

Purchase price at Foothill Estates begins at $60,000. Selected homes at this price offer V<sub>2</sub> or FHA financing at 9½% interest (10% annual percentage rate) sponsored by the Nevada State Housing Division.

The first sleeping cars for railroad travel were built by George Pullman in 1858.

THEN and NOW

THEN: Through the 17th century, the dominant philosophy of education was rooted in the belief that the mind was a muscle. Like any other muscle, it would be strengthened by exercise. And so it was: Children were made to memorize and recite by rote—and not much more.

NOW: We recognize learning as a complex, developmental process that proceeds at a different rate with every individual. The importance of individualized teaching is underscored by the growing use of computer-based instruction, such as the PLATO system developed by Control Data Corp. and used throughout the country to teach basic skills.
