FOREWORD . . .

As the years slip by, your yearbook will mean more and more to each of you. In it is stored memories of one of the most important phases of your life.

Although each of you will go your separate way, the joys, sorrows, trials, and tribulations you shared as a class and as a school will remain here.

We hope that the 1963 EL LOBO will provide lasting memories of your high school career at Basic High School!

Respectfully yours,

Charlene Meighan
Editor

DEDICATION

We, the members of the class of 1963, wish to dedicate the 1963 EL LOBO to Mrs. Martha Millick who has given many years of outstanding service to Basic High School.

As librarian, she is always on hand to help with any project a student or teacher might have. She knows and does her work well.

We hope that as the years pass she will remember our class with fond memories.

Sincerely,

The Class of 1963

IN MEMORIAM

Once in awhile as we travel through life's thoroughfare, we meet a girl who leaves within us a warm glow and who makes us better people for having known her. Such a girl was Linda Rhoden, our friend and classmate.

Although her loss left a void that cannot be filled, we will always have memories of her lovely smile and warm friendship. Linda will be with us always. . .

MR. JOHN A. DOOLEY

To the Class of 1963:

The theme of your yearbook, Hail Basic High School, expresses the feeling of pride in your school which you as a class have always demonstrated during your school years. Your class has helped Basic to grow in scholastic stature, competitive dignity and cultural poise.

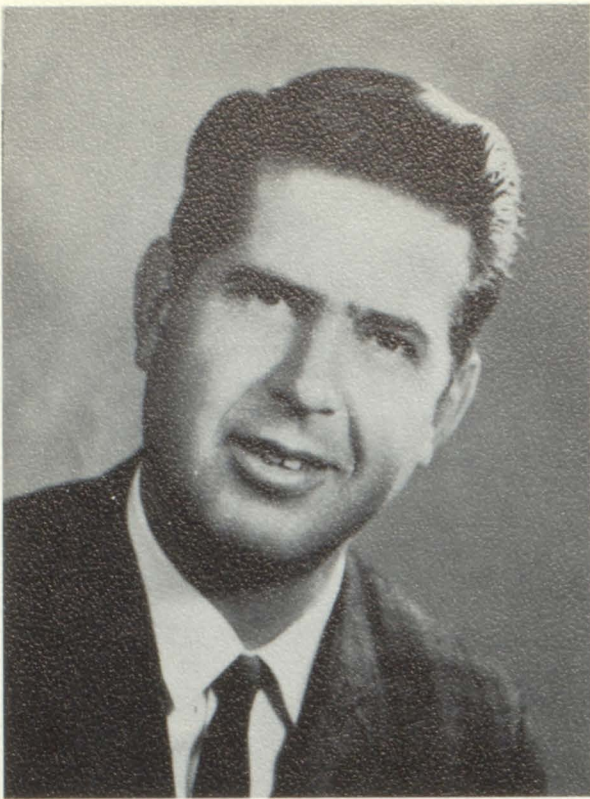

I hope that those who follow you will continue to promote this growth; then you will be able to say with worthy pride, "I went to Basic."

Respectfully yours,

John A. Dooley
Principal

MRS. SHARON JEFFREY

MR. U. ROBERT LUNT

Message from the Assistant Principal:

Today students are faced with more responsibility than ever before. It is one of the main facets of education to prepare you for these increasing responsibilities.

You are constantly challenged in academic and extra-curricular activities, and are exposed to competition every day.

In order to accept and adjust to this competition means that you must constantly improve your status as a student so that you will make a worthwhile contribution to society when you attain adulthood.

Respectfully yours,

U. Robert Lunt
Assistant Principal

MRS. DIANE BERGEMEYER

MR. LYAL W. BURKHOLDER

Somewhere. . . Sometime. . . long, long ago. . . Someone, moved with ecstasy in the presence of supreme excellence, burst forth in exaltation, "Hail to Perfection!" - "Hail to the King!" - "Hail to the Queen!" - "Hail to the Conquering Hero!" So fully and satisfyingly did this simple exclamation permit man to express his highest appreciation for the ultimate in mastery that, from that moment, down through the ages, every person - the world over - has reserved and preserved "Hail!" as a universal expression of the soul to be extended only to the magnificent in beauty and sublime in mind and body. To teachers and students, for a program of education dedicated. . . . . So That Excellence May Flourish. . . . . Hail, Basic High School!

Respectfully yours,

Lyal W. Burkholder
Area Administrator

HOME OF THE PACIFIC WOLVES

"Today we work toward tomorrow's rewards" . . . what we have done yesterday and today will determine what we get tomorrow. Our high school years have been an important step into our tomorrow . . . together we have studied, learned, and progressed. The good time we have had together, the friendships we have built, and the many memories we share of Basic High School will go with each of us into our tomorrow.

CLASS OFFICERS

As Caesar said, "Gallia est omnis divisa in partes tres," and Rome cheered, "Hail Caesar," when he delivered Gaul into the hands of the Empire. So, too, is our high school divided into three years of fun, work, and new experience. Just as Caesar conquered Gaul to add to the laurels of Rome, we, too; shall make our academic accomplishment, laurels not merely to hang from our chests but as stepping stones to a better future: for ourselves and our country. To paraphrase the Romans . . . . Hail Basic High!

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

Memories of Basic will linger on long after we graduate. Especially those of our first year. We will remember the many events in which we took part . . . The Sophomore Reverse--it was a grand success; The Slave Sale--an event no one will ever forget--shaking while standing on the stage, we wondered who would be our owner. Then the words "going, going, SOLD!" suddenly sent us flying to the hand of our Master.

As our sophomore year comes to a close, we look forward to our remaining years at Basic with great anticipation!
