

CITY COUNCIL VOTES TO INSTALL WATER METERS!

Members of the Henderson City Council have unanimously voted to purchase $100,000 worth of bonds—the money to be used to install water meters. Action was taken at the Monday night session with Mayor James French presiding and all members of the council present.

Actually, all meters probably will not be installed until the Fall of 1956 but once in operation individual users probably will be assessed at a minimum monthly rate of $5 for the first 33,000 gallons and an additional .153 cents for each 1,000 gallons thereafter.

Councilmen were quick to emphasize the meter installation program would not be undertaken "until the water pressure was deemed adequate."

Under a scale tentatively approved, the $5 minimum will apply to single family residences; $3 will be assessed apartment house dwellers; and commercial users will be charged at the rate of $1.50 per outlet.

Present fee is a flat $5 per month.

Henderson families can expect to pay more than the current rate of $5 per month, once the meters are installed, but the saving to the city may approach somewhere in the vicinity of $140 per day—enough to adequately finance the bond issue.

Mayor French said the average family uses about 1,250 gallons per day, or figured roughly, 37,500 gallons per month. That means that the rate for single family residences will range somewhere in the neighborhood of $5.60 per month, during the peak periods. The minimum probably will not be exceeded by most families during the winter months.

Sale of the bonds will undoubtedly require several months after the preliminary paper work has been completed and bids advertised, but the money will insure that at least 2,500 meters can be installed. Installation will take several weeks, depending on the number of men employed. It was reported at the meeting that 30 men could install the meters within three months or, proportionately, six months would be required if only 15 men accomplished the job.

In other business, the council voted to accept the bid of the State of Nevada to purchase $90,000 worth of general obligation water improvement bonds at a rate of 3½ per cent per annum, payable over a 20 year period; set Nov. 21 as the date to hear an appeal by Sam Pearlstein for a use permit on Market street for a restaurant, bar and slot machine license; accepted the resignation of Frank Plasha as a member of the planning commission; and discussed a holiday and overtime pay policy for members of the Police and Fire Departments.

LAUREL GAMMILL SERVICES HELD

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at Bunker Bros. Mortuary in Las Vegas for Laurel Gammill, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Gammill, 133 Fir St., who passed away Thursday evening at 9:30 at Rose de Lima hospital as the result of complications following a tonsilectomy.

Interment will be in Denver, Colo., former home of the Gammills.

Laurel was born Aug. 16, 1948 in Denver, Colo. and had attended school here since kindergarten. She was in the second grade at Park Village school.

In addition to her parents and brother, Darryl, 5, she is survived by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Birkitt of Denver, Colo. and A. H. Gammill of San Jose, Calif.; her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emily Birkitt of Denver, John Birkitt of Honolulu, and A. W. Wren of Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Building Permits Total $90,063 During October

Building permits for the Temple Baptist Church in Victory Village and the Concrete Conduit Company in Pittman, valued at $35,000, sent the valuation of permits issued during October to a total of $90,063. This is an increase of $66,974 over the previous month, it was announced by Chief Building Inspector Pat Doherty.

Building for the first ten months of 1955 showed a total of 718 permits with a total valuation of $1,229,631. During the first ten months of 1954 permits totaled $3,705,545 with October's total at $108,000, including permits for the Youth Center building.

In addition to the new church and commercial building, permits were issued for 14 fences, 17 miscellaneous construction, four additions to dwellings, one temporary commercial, three utility sheds, one residential garage, one foundation, one basement, and 12 signs.

Nice Gesture—At the Oct. 31 meeting, members of the Henderson Lions Club voted to present a medal to the Basic high school player turning in the most notable performance in the Blythe game. Team members were to make the selection.

Following that 32-7 triumph, the Wolves huddled and voted the medal to — their coach, Charles Razmic. No one could argue with the players' choice and a nice gesture, you'll have to agree.

FINAL RITES TO BE CONDUCTED TODAY FOR YOUNGSTERS WHO DIED IN FIRE

Funeral services will be conducted today at 10 a.m. for Michael W. Reilly and Lloyd William "Billy" Wilkerson 3-year old cousins, who burned to death Friday afternoon while playing in a station wagon in Pittman.

The rites will be conducted at the Palm Funeral Home in Las Vegas with the Rev. Walter Bishop officiating.

Joe P. Martinez, Jr., another 3-year old boy was in the station wagon with the two other boys when the fire occurred but managed to jump from the car after the first flash of fire which made an inferno of the inside of the station wagon almost instantly.

The door slammed shut and Joey was unable to open it from the outside and ran to his mother for help. Joey is unable to speak English and his story of how he and Billy took matches from the glove compartment of the car and the three boys lighted them was told to local police officers with the aid of an interpreter.

Mrs. Jack Reilly, mother of Michael Reilly, told investigating officers that she and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Wilkerson, had arrived only a few minutes prior to the accident and had left the two boys outside to play when they went into the Wilkerson trailer at Kimes Trailer Court.

The two women first became aware of the mishap when they discovered there was a fire in the station wagon parked nearby and noticed that their children were not among the crowd that had gathered. Firemen found the two charred bodies

Sixth Birthday

The sixth birthday of Russell Englestead, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Q. Englestead, 115 Joshua street, was celebrated at an afternoon party last Friday at his home. Games provided the afternoon's fun, with Roberta Clemmons assisting Mrs. Englestead, and after Russell opened his presents, refreshments of cup cakes, jello punch and suckers were served.

Present were Pete and Pat Murphy, Janet and Jimmy May, Jacqueline Walker, Joy and Faye Rhea, Jack, Steve and Rich Davis, Dennis Orton, Louise, Nancy, Bobbie and Jimmy House, Dickie O'Brien and Donna Rae, Christine and Russell Englestead. Also present were Mmes. Murray Godbee, Robert Davis, Paul Orton and Englestead.

Vacation in Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Burns, Jr. and son, Timmie, have returned from a week's vacation to California. They visited in Hayward with Burns' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Manzer and daughter, Judy, and from there went to San Francisco where they enjoyed seeing a number of the attractions, including Fleishacker Zoo. It was also Timmie's first view of the ocean. They returned by way of Yosemite National Park and Tioga Pass, continuing through Death Valley.

Comstock Detective Work

IT WAS May, 1867, in a small restaurant in Gold Hill. Mrs. Cazentre, wife of the proprietor was just starting to make a dress from a very fine piece of silk, when two customers came into the place. Sitting down for breakfast, they were talking, like everyone else, about the brutal murder of beautiful and notorious Julia Bulette, and the failure of the authorities to find the killer. Mrs. Cazentre was just about to pick up her scissors when one of the customers observed that the murderer was believed to have stolen two pieces of silk dress material from his victim. Mrs. Cazentre gasped! Four weeks ago she had purchased a fine piece of silk from a drifter for far below its obvious worth. She had wondered how he owned such fine material and he had told her a long and involved story about a lady whose husband had been killed in the Ophir Mine. And four weeks ago Julia Bulette had been murdered!

Quickly she got her bonnet and went up to the courthouse at Virginia City, where she told everything to Judge Pitzer. He in turn summoned Harry and Sam Rosner of Rosner & Co., who readily identified Mrs. Cazentre's silk as the very one they had sold to the ill-fated Julia. The Judge then suggested Mrs. Cazentre view all the drifters, vagabonds and thugs lodged in the jail, to see if the man who sold the patterns might be among them. They went down the steps to the dungeon, with its great thick walls, heavy bars, and great bulky locks. Through the bars peered Mrs. Cazentre, and almost immediately she found the man who had sold her the silk dress material.

This man, John Milleain, had been arrested on the street when a friend of Julia Bulette had recognized him as the robber who had been hiding under her bed with a large knife in his hand! While brushing her hair before retiring, she had glimpsed in her mirror the man under her bed with the knife! She ran screaming out into the street, and in the resulting confusion the thief escaped. A few days later she saw the same man in a crowd and identified him to police. He had been jailed for attempted robbery until Mrs. Cazentre recognized him as the seller of the silk. Now other facts began to pour in.

A jeweler identified Milleain as the man who sold him a diamond, now known to have belonged to Julia. Milleain's trunk in his room was filled with articles taken from the Bulette "establishment." Other people came forward with more evidence and the charge against Milleain was changed from attempted robbery to murder. Although he protested his innocence to the end, he was found guilty in a sensational trial, and executed in a hanging that made Comstock history. That same history neglects to tell us if Mrs. Cazentre ever made her lustrous silk dress.

The drive to eliminate litter-bugs has definite merits, no argument there. But the brains in Carson who thought up the idea about using the Boulder-Las Vegas Highway photographs to emphasize their statewide campaign didn't have to go to so much trouble. They could have sent their photographer out to take a ride between Carson and Reno and come up with the same results. Or on almost any other highway in the state, as far as that's concerned.

Too Much Trouble—In 1954, the National Chamber of Commerce conducted a comprehensive survey embracing all activities conducted on the local chamber level. Questionnaires were sent to all of the 2,600 chambers of commerce, located throughout the country, including those in Nevada. The result is an 82-page booklet.

Compiling the requested information concerning income, expenditures, activities, and various projects were the chambers of commerce located in Boulder City, Henderson, Ely, Fallon, Sparks and even Wells.

NOT bothering to fill out and return the questionnaires were the Las Vegas, Reno and Elko busy counting all that tourist loot.

One on the House—A New York resident was recently fined $50 in the Elko Justice Court for hunting waterfowl on the Ruby Lake Refuge. The New Yorker's defense was that he believed he was on legal hunting grounds when he shot at—but missed—a duck flying overhead. Before leaving the court room, the guilty hunter asked the judge if it was permissible to fish in the area. "No," replied the judge, "the season closed last week."

The out-of-state resident then went on to explain that he had also been fishing in the same area, but also without success.

The startled judge looked at the unlucky fisherman and hunter for a moment and then commented, "well you've got one on the house."

BENEFIT PARTY

A Halloween benefit cocktail party given by the Henderson Telephone Company employees for the Youth Center building fund netted $254.

A check in this amount was turned over to Colvin Smith, Jr., treasurer for the Youth Center Building Committee.

With $4,000 Check

Stauffer Chemical Company of Nevada yesterday presented a check for $4,000 to the Youth Center Building Committee in keeping with its promise to match contributions made by its employees.

Payroll deduction pledges, which employees are paying at the rate of $1 per week, now total $3,656 it was announced by A. T. Newell, works manager.

In a letter to all Stauffer employees, Newell said: "On behalf of the children of Henderson and the Youth Center Building Committee, the company wishes to extend thanks to all the Stauffer employees who so generously contributed a second time in order that the Youth Center building may be completed at an early date. We wish to express appreciation also to all the supervisors who assisted in making the drive a success.

In keeping with its promise, the company is sending to the Youth Center today a check for $4,000, even though employee contributions have not quite reached that figure as yet.

We feel that it is necessary to get this money into the hands of the Committee so a quick start can be made on completion of the building.

Other companies in the area are proceeding with drives at the present time."

Final Rites

The back of the station wagon contained solvent, paint thinner, cans of paint, and other highly inflammable material which had reduced the interior to ashes in a matter of moments.

It was erroneously reported that the car belonged to Stephen Gaugh, local sign painter, who has a station wagon of the same make and model. It belonged to Thomas J. Duggan, a commercial artist, presently employed at Western Electrochemical Co.

The two boys are the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wilkerson of Little Rock, Ark. Michael Reilly was born Aug. 16, 1952 in Little Rock and lived at 30 East Victory Road with his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wallace. He is also survived by his father, Patrick J. Reilly of North Carolina, his other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Reilly of Little Rock, and an infant brother, Keith Wallace.

Lloyd W. Wilkerson was born June 18, 1952 in South Carolina and resided with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilkerson at Kimes Trailer Park in Pittman. In addition to his parents, he is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wilkerson, and Mr. and Mrs. N. Harris of Forest City, Ark.

Announced for Week

Mrs. Marie Thomas, a cook at the Basic school cafeteria, returned to work on Monday after more than two weeks absence due to a knee injury sustained in the cafeteria kitchen.

This week's menu at the local schools was announced by Ida Belle Riggins as follows:

Monday: Spaghetti and meat sauce, cole slaw, French bread and butter, pineapple sauce, and milk.

Tuesday: Vegetable soup, beef and noodles, turnip wedges, cherry cobbler, bread and butter, and milk.

Wednesday: Hash, sliced tomatoes, fruit cup, bread and butter, and milk.

Thursday: Chili beans, pineapple and carrot salad, apple Betty, bread and butter and milk.

Dr. Frederick R. Duke of Iowa State College will address the Boulder Dam Section of the American Chemical Society at a meeting to be held tonight at 6:30 p.m. at the Lake Mead Lodge.

All members are invited to attend and bring their partners to the dinner and enjoy the speaking which will follow at 8 p.m.

Dr. Duke is professor of chemistry at Iowa State College. He has formerly been a professor at Princeton University and at the University of Michigan and an employee of the DuPont Company.

A recent dinner in honor of A.C.S. President Joel H. Hildebrand was attended by approximately 50 members and guests at the Wigwam Room of the Thunderbird Hotel.

Dr. Hildebrand spoke on the subject of "Democracy and the Gaussian Distribution Curve."

LITTLE THINGS about the Stars

TELEVISION - RADIO - HOLLYWOOD

By GEORGE LILLEY

NEW YORK, N. Y. — One of the more interesting summer shows on television is "Make the Connection" (Thursday night, NBC-TV), starring a panel of Eddie Bracken, Betty White, Jim McKay and Gene Klavan — this one replacing Borden's "Justice."

Around the country, it seems, there are people whose lives have crossed in the past in unexpected, unusual and often humorous ways.

Bracken Betty White McKay Klavan

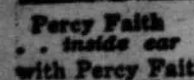

Such people the show's producers bring in weekly as guests and the panel tries to name the connection between each pair. Each week there will be a big name star as a guest.

Bracken you know, from age nine when he was an "Our Gang" moppet, to such hit movies as "Miracle of Morgan's Creek." Betty White, delightful and cheerful has been a West Coast favorite, "Emmy" award winner and has her own network program "Betty White Show." McKay and Klavan, pleasantly soft-spoken fellows, made their own "connection" on the show—both originally out of early TV in Baltimore, Md.

SOMETHING FOR SUMMER

With the signing of a major company that never went into network radio before, CBS Radio has come up with convincing proof that daytime and summer listening, let alone radio itself, is far from dead.

The show: "The Woolworth Hour," a soothing hour-long musical series with Percy Faith, orchestra and chorus of 45 musicians, 1 p.m.-EDT, Sunday afternoons. For the stay-at-homes — and the car and the beach fans polls can't count—Percy lays an inside ear to the musical ground and comes up with pleasant pre-hearings of Broadway and Hollywood shows, record hits and hits-to-be. The program is embellished with guest stars, most of whom you've heard, some whom you'll hear about quickly. You'll also hear Faith's interpretation of the top song of the week and a patriotic or religious number.

ONE DOG'S LIFE

The entertainment business may turn out to be a "dog's life" for some performers, but not for the dog Lassie.

For while other top TV stars lose sponsors or networks, Lassie, after her first season, sits happily in her air conditioned Hollywood kennel, firmly signed for a contract to be seeing you for the coming full season of 1955-56. But this dog deserved it. Her TV show received not only an Emmy award ("best children's program") but the highly coveted General Federation of Women's Clubs award as well. Now on a sirloin diet, she'll be seeing you — in the fall.
