Morry's Story

It sure is a pleasure to pick up a magazine, such as Time of July 23, and find a long story and pictorial display featuring our National Park Service. And more of a pleasure, indeed, as you read on, to see that the Lake Mead Recreational Area leads the nation in tourist attractions. The figures show that by the end of this year some 55 million people will visit the 28 major parks and 153 national monuments, memorials and recreational areas of the national park service. The figures also show that 2,675,000 visit this area.

The story points out that since the system started in 1872 with the creation of the Yellowstone, the tremendous popularity of our tourist attractions, and then of the tremendous job the park service is doing with an under-staffed budget. It costs about $1.25 per visitor. Its present budget is 68 million dollars. The service hopes to solve all its staff and budget problems by 1966, the golden anniversary year of its founding.

The other day Phil Maddex, head of Titanium's operations here, received a letter from the Greenville, Penn., Business Men's Association, and attached to it were a packet of maps, planning designs, population figures, community center activity sheets.

The purpose of the project was to invite Titanium to use the area of Greenville for any possible plant expansion or relocation. This is not being written to tell of a possible plant relocation. It is being written to show how other communities in our nation go out and seek industry to move in and help build the local community.

The letter from this business men's association—a non-profit group by the way—offered to construct a building for the plant and lease it to them—and also offered to give land free if the plant wished to build its own building.

Another folder in this packet showed an area just outside the city which had been purchased by this group and then planned properly as to plant area, homes for executives, homes for workers, homes for rental, and land set aside for other industries.

Another folder told of the fishing and camping facilities nearby for residents. This plus facts and figures on power, water, nearness to labor, nearness to market—all added up to a neat presentation by an ordinary group of business men who have assigned themselves this job of building a more solid community.

It seems to this writer, something of the same can be developed by our chamber or junior chamber groups.

Direct contact with the industrial firms of the nation could be made to bring results. It just needs doers—much hard work and patience.

Political Picnic—Understand Sen. Alan Bible's supporters are prospecting for a site to hold a gigantic picnic for the senator in Henderson Saturday, Aug. 4.

All residents of the community would be invited to attend and the state's junior representative in the upper house is scheduled to be present to shake hands and mayhap kiss a baby or two.

Where?—Now I have nothing against Democrats (especially considering that the boss is aligned with the Bourbons) despite the fact I'm registered on the other side of the fence.

All news stories pertaining to activities of either party receive equal treatment in the Home News, except just this once.

Left at the Home News office this week was the following item:

"The Henderson Democrat Club is having a meeting Thursday (tonight) at 8 o'clock. It will be a combined business and social meeting. All interested persons are urged to attend."

Now I don't doubt that a bang-up time is going to be had by all—all who are able to find out where this shindig is being held.

Whoever turned in the item neglected to insert the minor item about WHERE this combined social-business function was to come off.

And just about the time I typed those last couple of words, Joe Schlotthauer walked in and came to the aid of his party.

The Swanky Club, he says, so the Swanky Club it is tonight at 8 o'clock.

Strange Paradox—From the Department of Economic Development director, Pete Kelley comes word this week that travel dropped sharply on the Boulder Highway last month compared with June of 1955. Kelley said travel was off 8.6 per cent with 12,359 vehicles being checked daily in June this year. The figure for June of 1955 was 13,514.

Those figures are somewhat interesting considering that more visitors toured Hoover Dam last month than in any June on record.

About the only handy explanation is that each vehicle traveling the Boulder Highway, at least in the direction of the dam, contained more passengers.

Many Happy Returns—Couldn't help but be amused by a bulletin circulating at the city hall addressed to all employees re "3,000 Birthdays a Month or 25 Cents a Birthday Please." It reads:

Dear 'Lil' Employees: "Since we have been draining you two and sometimes three times a month for birthdays, going away gifts, showers, weddings, and send home your mother-in-law fund, we have come up with an idea which we hope will please you.

"If each of you would be kind enough to kick in 15 cents each payday (which is only every two weeks), we wouldn't have to pass through our grubby little hands outstretched every other day.

"A piggy bank will be in the Steno Pool Office along with a paper to sign your name. Please feel free to drop in your money in advance, or by pay day.

"The money which is collected for birthdays has nothing to do with the Employees Association which is an emergency fund. Also we have decided to buy a cake and a card for birthdays instead of a gift."

Annual Library Party Slated for Friday

The Henderson District Public Library will hold its annual party for the summer reading program on the lawn of the library, Friday at 7 p.m. Prizes and diplomas will be given out at that time followed by refreshments of ice cream and cake.

In order to determine prize winners, all books must be in by today, the day before the party. Any child who has read one book or more, may attend.

CLOUDY SKIES, WARM AND HUMID WEATHER FORECAST

Rain showers hit the Henderson-Boulder City area late Sunday dumping .41 of an inch of precipitation.

The long range forecast for the weekend was for partly cloudy skies and continued warm and humid weather.

The maximum temperature topped the 100 degree mark five of the last seven days, according to Bureau of Reclamation officials.

Bids to Enlarge Library Opened

While the contract has not yet been awarded, low bidder to enlarge the Henderson District Public Library was Bud Gibson of Las Vegas who submitted a figure of $15,352.65. Second low bid was offered by Jack McDonald of Las Vegas at $15,510 while the other bid was submitted by Shelton Mill, also of Las Vegas, $17,265. Bids were opened July 10.

Mrs. Lydia Malcolm, librarian, reported the library board, composed of Gordon McCaw, Earl Keenan and Barney Cannon, will meet Monday night to study the bids and make recommendations on the awarding of the contract.

Mrs. Malcolm said work probably would start sometime in August.

This Is Our City

Mayor James French Says . . .

Unfortunately when the Council decided against the bonds that were advertised and accepted it left our schedule for the improvement of the water system unfueled. The two projects of the line to Pittman ward and the loop in the business district which were advertised for bid and badly needed had to be stopped until the new bonds are sold and the money in the bank. This was the reason that the award of bid was stopped.

We had proceeded with the improvement of the water system due to the emergency and the fact that we were assured that the bond issue would be sold to pay for the line. Since the Council on a technicality avoided the selling of those bonds necessitating the advertising of other bonds and the delay involved, it made it necessary for me to make sure that they will go along and actually authorize the sale of this new bond issue before we can make any commitments of a financial nature and until I am sure that the money is in hand.

The contractor has voluntarily said he will wait for his money on the line almost completed so that work on this project was not stopped. The work on the meters was stopped because of lack of funds.

I see by the papers that there is now some question as to the method of payment of the Convention Hall bonds. The motel owners are unhappy about the program of a room tax in order to retire this bond and consideration is given to placing this bond on the tax funds.

This, if it is done, is in direct opposition to what was promised to the cities of Henderson and Boulder City in that we were

CITY REQUESTS BMI TO CHECK WATER SUPPLY

In an attempt to prevent another inconveniencing situation that occurred last Sunday when many residents of Henderson were without water for several hours, Mayor James B. French this week directed a letter to Julian Moore, manager of Basic Management Inc. requesting more stringent surveillance at the water treatment plant.

The mayor's letter to Moore read: "Your attention is directed to our letter of April 6 in which the city requested 24-hour surveillance at the BMI-owned water treatment plant. We wish to reiterate this request.

"Over the weekend when the plant was unattended, some mechanical failure occurred which prevented flow through the plant. Evidently, valves on the zeolite system closed, did not re-open and the lines became dry. No one was aware of this difficulty until calls were received by the director of utilities at his home.

"As a result of this failure, Tract 3 and Tract 2 were out of water for sometime as were Manganese Park and church street residents. Due to the dry lines, it was rather late Sunday before air pockets could be eliminated and service restored to normal.

"The installation of an alarm system and the employment of a watchman we feel would be sufficient to forestall the above recurring. Your favorable consideration of this request will be appreciated."

TO ADDRESS LIONS—Sen. Alan Bible will address a combined meeting of the Boulder City Lions and Soroptimists clubs Tuesday noon at the Boulder Dam Hotel and members of the Henderson Lions club and their guests have been invited to attend. The senator's scheduled appearance in Boulder City at the regular Lions club noon luncheon is based on the premise that Congress will have adjourned by that time. The state's junior senator is expected in southern Nevada this weekend, if adjournment comes, and he also plans to address several Henderson organizations prior to the primary election Sept. 4.

Eldorado Bill Appears Doomed

Adjournment of Congress, scheduled for this week, has doomed any possibility of the Eldorado Valley Bill becoming law this year, it appears.

The full senate on Saturday passed the measure and sent it to the lower house for action, which has not been forthcoming this week.

The bill, which passed the senate without dissent, would convey about 125,000 square acres of land in Eldorado Valley (Dry Lake Valley) to the State of Nevada.

The land would be used for developing an industrial site and Gov. Charles Russell has indicated that several Eastern firms are interested in the state's development program.

The bill, as approved by the senate last Saturday, gives Nevada five years to purchase the land and the option of obtaining it in separate installments of not less than 10,000 acres at fair market prices.

Girl Softballers In Utah Tourney

Leaving tomorrow to compete in a softball tournament at Cedar City will be members of the Nevada Hardware Girl's Softball team.

Manager Ross Salter reported the tournament starts tomorrow night and continues through Sunday.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES GOING TO PHOENIX

Members of the Henderson Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are making preliminary plans to attend a four day training program in Phoenix, it was announced this week. About 2,500 fellow Ministers are expected to attend.

J. D. Sizemore, presiding Minister of the group, in discussing this announcement to the Congregation, pointed to the change of Christian thinking and Christian works in the rising tide of materialism.

"The object of the program," Mr. Sizemore said, "is to equip every one of the preaching fellowship of Jehovah's Witnesses in the practical use of the Bible as a help in fortifying the spiritual morale of people in our community."

WORK HALTED ON HIGHWAY, ENGINEER SAYS

Construction on the new highway linking Henderson and Highway 91 at Sloan came to a halt Tuesday but will be resumed about Sept. 1, Otis Wright, state highway engineer reported yesterday.

Wright said the Hoops Construction Co. of Twin Falls, Idaho, ceased operations but he emphasized the firm has not been granted an extension of its contract by the highway department.

The state highway engineer reported the 12-mile stretch of highway is to be completed by about Dec. 1, according to contract stipulations.

The contract further requires that the oiling portion of the highway construction must be finished by Nov. 1, because of cool weather conditions which prevail after that date.

Wright said he had been informed the company temporarily halted work because the gravel plant is not yet ready to be moved here to this area and also the company's heavy equipment needed for the job is engaged elsewhere.

ST. TIMOTHY'S CHURCH SCHOOL STARTS JULY 30

Instead of a daily offering, a registration fee of $1 per child will be charged.

The school will begin each morning at 9 a.m. from Monday through Friday and will be dismissed about 11:30 each day.

Assisting with the school will be Ed Murphy, the summer student assistant at St. Timothy's. This Sunday, July 29, Murphy will preach the sermon at the 9:30 service of Holy Communion.

TEEN-AGE DANCE, SWIMMING PARTY SATURDAY NIGHT

Featuring swimming and dancing around the pool, a teen-age party will be held Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the Youth Center, according to Gloria Martinez, president of the Teen-Age Club.

Miss Martinez said 30 cents per person would be charged with all profits to go for purchasing a juke box for the Youth Center, scheduled to open next month with official dedication ceremonies. Refreshments will be available Saturday night and dancing will be to new records.

THUNDERBIRDS HEAD MIDGET STANDINGS

Sporting a record of five wins and one loss, the Thunderbirds lead the Midget League baseball standings by a half game.

In second place with a 4-1 record are the Braves while the Yanks are third with a 3-1 mark.

Then in order follow the Pirates (3-2), Cubs (4-3), Boulder City (3-3), Dodgers (1-5) and the Eagles (0-6).

In games played Monday, the Yanks downed the Cubs, 5-4, Thunderbirds whipped Boulder City, 7-1, and Braves topped the Pirates, 17-0.

NO COUNCIL MEETING NOW UNTIL AUG. 6

Welcome Wagon Program Revived Here; Georgia Fries is Hostess

Welcome Wagon Hostess Georgia Fries set forth on her initial round of calls on families in the city on July 21. In the tradition established by pioneer women who drove covered wagons out to meet new settlers with fresh water, food and supplies—Welcome Wagon hostesses call on friends and neighbors, new and old, on the most important occasions in family life—carrying messages from the community's church, civic and social welfare organizations and gifts from the public spirited business people who sponsor this continuing service. Mrs. Fries offers the following excerpt from an issue of The Visitor, Welcome Wagon publication, as a means of conveying the very spirit and purpose of this plan of public relations:

"Thomas Drier said, 'You cannot add to the peace and goodwill of the world if you fail to create an atmosphere of harmony and love right where you live and work.' Do not let love lie dormant in your being. Bring it out—give it full expression—and the world, so in need of love, will shower you with blessings."

All those who are eligible to sponsor the Welcome Wagon program in Henderson have not yet been invited to do so. Your hostess asks for time. But to those progressive and public spirited sponsors who are now supporting the program and to future sponsors—sincere gratitude from your Hostess for starting the Welcome Wagon on its way to a better understanding among all of us who live and work in Henderson.

Present sponsors in Henderson listed in alphabetical order are: California Pacific Utilities, Desertwear, Henderson Chamber of Commerce, Henderson Appliance and Furniture Co.,

NATIONAL GUARD NEWS NOTES

By SGT. DON SHILES

This week our battery was inspected by some of the top men from the Nevada National Guard headquarters. The party included Col. Miller, Lt. Col. Muldoon, Major Haas, Capt. Harris, Capt. Wright, 1st Lt. McIver, M Sgt. Grady and M Sgt. Smith.

These men inspected the armory, equipment, records and personnel. We won't get the official rating for about a week but unofficially the inspection seemed to proceed fairly well. I won't attempt to guess what rating we will receive but I am positive we received a satisfactory rating.

At this time, we would like to announce the promotion of the following enlisted men: Sgt. Delmer G. Rider to the rank of sergeant first class; Corporals George A. Adamson and Milton E. Mortensen to the rank of sergeant; PFC Ralph J. Barger to the rank of sergeant; Specialists Third Class Emerson Bock, Charles F. Rudder and Dale H. Swindlehurst to the rank of specialist second class; and Private First Class Carl A. Friedrichs to the rank of corporal.

Also at this time, we would like to introduce the two new men who have enlisted in the battery. They are John J. Moritz of 483 Hazel St., Henderson, and Paul L. Wilkin of 473 Rose Way, Henderson. We want to take this opportunity to welcome them into the battery.

Next week, we will give you the results of the inspection.

Boulder Defeats In Pitching Duel Merchants, 4-3,

Scoring all runs in a big fifth inning, the Boulder City-Bidulph baseball team, defeated the Henderson Merchants, 4-3, in a game that wasn't decided until the final out last Friday night.

The game was a pitcher's battle and fielder's night mare as Roger Barnson for the winners struck out 17 while Ted Blue for Henderson sent 11 of the Boulder batters back to the bench on strikes. The Boulder infield kept Barnson in hot water most of the way committing nine errors while five miscues were credited to the losers.

Barnson had the Henderson Merchants handcuffed as he permitted only one hit, a solid blow to center field by Bob Peck. Off Blue, the winners mustered only four safeties, but one was a booming triple by Joe Faulkner that drove across two tallies in the fifth.

Leading 4-0 going into the top of the ninth, Henderson put together a three run splurge without the aid of a hit and had the tying run on second base before Barnson personally checked the rally by striking out the last two batters.

In addition to Faulkner, other Boulder City players hitting safely were Catcher Rex Newell, Second Sacker Carl Wegren and Barnson.

Fred L. Bohn, Zanesville, Ohio, businessman, who was elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at the Order's annual convention in Chicago July 9.

Of two evils, choose neither. There must be a third lying around somewhere which hasn't been tried.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

August 9th and 10th saw the judging in Chicago of entries for the Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety. Administered by the National Safety Council through grant of Shell Oil Company, the Awards are the first and only to recognize achievements of American women in the field of traffic safety.

The Awards, given to the three individual women and the three women's or parents' clubs who have developed and directed the most effective traffic safety programs during the previous year, are presented at the National Safety Congress in Chicago each October. Top award in each category is a $1,000 Savings Bond and a bronze statuette; second award in both classifications is a $500 Savings Bond and a bas-relief plaque of the trophy; third-place winners among both individuals and clubs are awarded $250 in Savings Bonds and bas-relief plaques of the statuette.

Among the judges this year were Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States; Miss Marion E. Martin, Commissioner of Labor and Industry, Maine; The Honorable Geraldine F. Macelwane, Judge, Municipal Court, Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Margaret Woolverton Savage, Quin-ton Engineers, Los Angeles; Mrs. Raymond Sayre, Past President Associated Countrywomen of the World, Iowa; Mrs. Haven Smith, Chairman, Women's Committee, American Farm Bureau Federation, Nebraska; and Miss Elizabeth DeCesari, President, National Association of Insurance Women, New Jersey.

Henderson and Boulder City Artists Invited to Exhibit Works in Show

Plans were announced this week for a statewide art exhibition and competition, to be held in the new Fremont Hotel in downtown Las Vegas, according to Joe Mast, president of the Las Vegas Art League. Participation will be limited to artists residing in the State of Nevada, each of whom will be permitted to submit two entries.

Edward Levinson, president of Fremont Hotel, Inc., said that the banquet room of the Fremont will be turned over to the League for the exhibition, which will run for three days, Sept. 15, 16 and 17. Admission to the display will be free of charge, and the public will be invited to attend.

"The Fremont Hotel is happy to cooperate with the Art League in this venture," said Levinson. "We feel that activity of this kind creates better community relations, and at the same time indicates to those who are not altogether familiar with the 'behind the scenes' life in Las Vegas, that our community has its cultural side."

Applications for entry in the show will be accepted and screened by the Art League, according to Mast. Two judges will be selected, who will make awards prior to the public opening. Entries will be limited to oils and water colors. The competition is open to anyone who is a bona fide resident of the State of Nevada, amateurs and professionals alike. Artists who wish to participate may obtain entry blanks by writing to the Las Vegas Art League, P.O. Box 893, Las Vegas.

It takes a mighty short time to lose a good reputation, but years and years to get another one.

Naturalist Lake Mead National Recreation Area

To have an opportunity to see one or two bighorn sheep in the wilds of Southern Nevada and within the Lake Mead National Recreation Area is a thrilling experience indeed; but to have the daily chance to see a band of seven or eight of these magnificent animals is really thrilling! That is just the experience which Bureau of Reclamation men Skippy Barnson and Tex Nunley and the other workmen have down near Lakeview Point.

Tex called the other day and told me about these animals. Later Skippy reported additional information.

From the overflow of a water tank behind the large BR warehouse, a small amount of water escapes; but the quantity is sufficient to provide a little extra greenery and an attractive amount of water. Encouraged by this source of water, Tex and Skippy report that a band of seven or eight bighorn sheep come into the area almost every day.

When they first appeared, the condition of the creatures was reportedly very poor. Intending to assist the bighorn sheep during this dry season—one of the driest in many-a-year—the men banded together and purchased bale after bale of hay to feed the sheep. The animals were prompt to respond to such thoughtfulness and now they come back day after day for this assistance. Eventually the bighorn sheep lost some of their instinctive wariness and now approach to within 30 or 40 feet of the building.

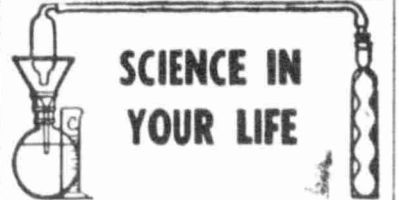

Southern Nevada and the Lake Mead National Recreation Area is one of the last strongholds of this spectacular Desert or Nelson Bighorn Sheep.

Their numbers once much larger have become greatly reduced; even to the state where it was thought at one time that the species might become entirely extinct. Their range has become much more restricted. The coming of the sheep herder and his bands of disease infested domesticated sheep; the hunter with deadly rifle fire; the introduction of the burro, an animal which competes for food and water, are among the many factors which have caused such a reduction in the numbers and range of the native bighorn sheep.

How fortunate it is that here in the Lake Mead National Recreation Area, one has an opportunity to view a wild, native bighorn sheep. It is not an infrequent experience to see bighorn sheep as one drives along the roadways and byways or flashes in a boat along the shores of Lake Mead or Lake Mohave. It is a majestic sight.

Some people have made an art of being slow to pick up the check. You've got to hand it to them.

There's one advantage in buying rock 'n roll records—when they wear out, you can't tell the difference.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Sauce For The Gosling

What is sauce for the goose has long been said to be sauce for the gander, but it was a considerable surprise to one group of research scientists to find that it was sauce for the gosling too.

The scientists were testing a drug combination called Bonadoxin Drops, a liquid form of a medicine which has been highly successful in preventing morning sickness in pregnant mothers. It consists of two ingredients: vitamin B-6, and the antihistamine drug medicine.

The scientists were startled to discover that Bonadoxin Drops was also useful for the infant after it was born, turning fussy, colicky babies into placid and contented ones!

In clinical studies with this drug, 52 infants less than nine months old were treated. The results were excellent—and without the drowsiness or other unwanted side-effects often seen with other colic remedies.

Most mothers have developed their own household remedies for the treatment of colic. None in the past has been successful, and parents have had little choice but to wait until their child "grows out of it." Most colic symptoms disappear after the baby is three months old.

indeed, to see the massive head of the ram outlined against the desert's rugged and rocky skyline.

Unfortunately from time to time, bighorn sheep are killed on our highways by the speeding motorists, frequently more intent upon dashing sightlessly on their way than looking for and at some of the outstanding features of nature within this region. Not always is the motorist at fault. Occasionally the bighorn, along the roadway, had a seemingly difficult time deciding what to do; and when it does decide to dash across the highway, it may be too late for the car to screech to a halt.

One of the interesting features about the bighorn sheep is the fact that both the males and females have horns. The males or rams have massive and curving battering horns, whereas, the females or ewes have short and spike-like horns. Visitors occasionally mistake the female with a spike deer.

If you take the time to keep on the look out for the bighorn sheep you will eventually be rewarded by an exciting sight which will never leave your memory! Within the Lake Mead National Recreation Area our living bighorn sheep, the remnant of greater numbers in the past, provide enjoyment for thousands of visitors every year. The presence of the majestic bighorn adds life to our desert region!

MARWOOD A. DOUD'S

Mad About Dogs

No cat chat this week! Well, not the kind of chat that cats cause, with their characteristic indulgences, but—well, I might as well get to the point. I was the cat in last week's columnated miscarriage.

The little Dachshund's tail was amputated by one who knew his business, not chopped off by an amateur. It was removed because of an injury—not because someone thought a dachs should have a short tail. The humanitarian family that owns and cares for the dog, has spent more time, effort and money trying to correct the doxie's ailment, than folks ordinarily spend on victims of severe injuries.

Instead of being neglected, that pup probably gets more attention than any other four or five dogs in Boulder City. The whole family works and plays with Ginger, they massage him, exercise him, and do whatever the doctor recommends, for his pleasure, his comfort and his well being.

That is a meager correction of last week's misapplied criticism by M.A.D. However, it only puts those straight who took to heart, the things I so carelessly submitted last week. Nothing can erase the embarrassment and chargin, the anger and bewilderment imposed on those who were involved by implication.

To them, my humble apology. I've tried to teach my ten-year-old the importance of getting things straight before passing on information—of refraining from saying things that may hurt someone, or from speaking disrespectfully of anyone. It's the same sort of thing that I have been taught too, but somehow, I am disposed to listening to misinformed individuals, who are inclined to take things for granted and pass them along as factual.

Anyhow, I took up a part of some nice people's dinner-hour, apologizing for my blunder and assuring them, that from now on, I would attempt to get solid facts and then temper the facts with the kind of judgment that any adult should possess.

Speaking about facts, those booklets by Judy, with instructions for raising and house-breaking puppies, proper feeding of dogs, etc., are now on hand. I ordered four of each, but if more are needed, I'll gladly send for them.

The AMERICAN LEGION
By C. H. JOHNSON

The American Legion has proposed a three-year extension of the World War II G.I. Loan program as "a matter of simple justice" to thousands of veterans. The program is due to expire July 25, 1957.

Miles D. Kennedy, The American Legion's national legislative director, said before a Senate Labor and Public Welfare subcommittee June 20, that if the program ends next year it would have a "serious effect" on the nation's economy. He said it would "drastically influence" the price of existing homes and units to be built within the next year.

Describing the program as a "$36 billion shot in the arm in the nation's economy," Kennedy said more than 4.7 million veterans have purchased homes with G.I. home loans. He said, however, that an estimated ten million veterans still have not used their entitlement to the programs, and that the Legion figures between 800,000 and one million veterans will want to get in under next year's deadline unless it is extended.

This could lead to an inflationary sellers market," Kennedy warned, in which veterans would be bidding against each other and non-veterans for the limited number of available homes.

Kennedy said it was no fault of their own that some veterans have not used their entitlement yet. He blamed unavailability of homes, high prices and the disruption and dislocation caused by the Korean War for this. He said "countless veterans" are just now well enough established in their jobs and businesses to take on the obligation of buying a home.

Christian Science
Topic to be 'Love'

The value and importance of right motives in daily living will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love" will include the following (454:17-21): "Love for God and man is the true incentive in both healing and teaching. Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way."

The freedom-giving power of divine Love will also be brought out in the Scriptural readings which include the following (1 John 4:18): "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

Wengert, Baumer Return
From Salt Lake City Trip

Al Wengert and Dennis Baumer of the Fix-It-Shop, located at 753 Nevada Highway, have returned to Boulder City after attending a ZCMI Wholesale Distributors open house held in Salt Lake City.

They reported that 1957 models of TV, radios, washers, ranges and other appliances were displayed and that next year's models are all improved compared with previous models from a standpoint of efficiency, advanced design and convenience.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Moritz M. Zenoff
Boulder City News
Henderson Home News

Dear Mr. Zenoff:
I hope you'll pardon the informality in this letter I'm writing you. I also must apologize for not writing sooner.

Though we have never met officially, I hope and feel that we are friends. I can't adequately express my sincere gratitude and thanks for the scholarship so generously awarded me by the University of Nevada in your name.

No award was more warmly appreciated and accepted than that given me, in the form of your scholarship. Myself, my wife and my daughter can only thank you very much and say that you helped a great deal in making my last year of college possible.

As an ex-serviceman going back to school after several years absence, I find it hard, at times, to become a student again. Receiving this scholarship has not only lessened the financial load of going to school and supporting a family, but has also made me feel that there are other people who have put their faith in my ability to succeed. This feeling makes the accomplishment of that success much easier.

I feel I'm doubly honored because I'm not only the recipient of your scholarship, but the first one to receive that award, as well. And I'm sure the journalism students that follow me as recipients of the scholarship will feel the same as I do.

Coincidence seems to play strange tricks at times and it certainly did when I received this award. About ten years ago, I called Boulder City my home. My family and I had moved there in 1941 and lived not far from the original location of your paper. In the fall of 1946 we left Boulder and moved here to Reno.

We watched Boulder City

grow and with it, the Boulder City News. At one time, during the war, I worked for the paper. It was during a summer vacation and it was my first taste of the newspaper career that I now plan to follow.

I don't think I ever enjoyed a part-time job as much as that summer I worked in the back shop of the Boulder City News. I have to laugh when I remember my many unsuccessful attempts and eventual success in learning to cast the mats the paper used. Many a casting was ruined because I had allowed the mat to float up in the molten lead in the casting box.

I'm happy to say that I think I've improved a little since then, at least in the editorial end of the newspaper business.

Since returning from the service I've been fortunate in being able to secure jobs working for the Reno newspapers. I worked full-time last fall as a reporter for the Nevada State Journal, but had to give up my job in order to finish my schooling.

Since that time, I've worked for the university weekly paper and a local radio station.

At present I'm operating the Fairchild engraver for the Journal during my evenings, taking summer school courses in the morning and continuing my work for the radio station in the afternoons. In addition, I'm keeping up my editorial experience by editing and publishing a summer school paper for the university.

I don't mean this brief description of my activities as bravado. I only hope this might help explain why I haven't written you sooner.

My family and I have many friends still living in Boulder City. And I hope this summer or next summer, for sure, to take my wife and new family down to Boulder for a visit. We all hope that then it will be possible to thank you in person.

Yours sincerely,
William Engel

COTTONWOOD COVE REPORTS EXCELLENT FISHING RESULTS

Word comes from the Cottonwood Cove fishing harbor on Lake Mohave that the fish are still biting there. Fishermen at the Cove have taken a 14 pound catfish and many limits of bass have been recorded. One of these had a fish in it that weighed seven pounds.

Otherwise, Cottonwood Covites report that the summer season of rain is approaching with beautiful sunrise and sunsets accompanying each day on the lake.

It takes very little energy to produce sound. For example, note how much shouting and yelling a spectator at a baseball game derives from a few calories supplied by a handful of peanuts.

A man leads with his chin when his mouth is wide open.

Eugenia C. Smith Hits Land Action

Mrs. Eugenia Clair Smith has promised the sportsmen of the state she would print at her own expense, for their edification, details of the Senate hearings on the proposition to take over additional land in northern Nevada for a gunnery range.

She declared that the State representatives in Congress acted without regard for the sportsmen of the state and "sold them down the river" along with the people of Nevada who, due to their intense aridity in most areas, have very little in the way of recreational potential.

Mrs. Smith promised, in addition, to do all in her power, if elected, to secure a federal grand jury investigation of the land grab on the part of certain legislators who were featured in a recent report of the Ormsby grand jury.

Mrs. Smith, who is a candidate for Congress on the Democratic ticket, declared that she believed the land grab scandal represented "only a scratching of the surface." She said that "big people are involved and have apparently been in the business of filching state land for years through an inside knowledge of when and where land was available."

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Just recently the AAA did a survey on average yearly driving costs for a family of four. Results of this study bear out one of my pet theories—that the farther you travel by car, the cheaper it becomes. In other words, it's "cheaper by the mile!"

Certain costs of car ownership do not change with mileage. Depreciation, license fees and insurance remain fixed no matter how much you drive. The main added expense for extra miles is for gasoline and oil. However, competition among U. S. oil companies keeps these costs down. Results of the survey mentioned above were as follows:

For 5,000 Miles	For 15,000 Miles
$481.33 depreciation	$481.33
104.38 insurance	104.38
16.86 license fees	16.86
115.00 gasoline and oil	345.00
37.00 maintenance	111.00
25.50 tires	77.50
$781.08 TOTAL FAMILY COST	$1107.08

Cost per mile for 5,000 miles—33¢
Cost per mile for 15,000 miles—1.9¢

There you have proof that every mile you drive costs less than the one before. So, whether it's for convenience, pleasure, or for economy, it's smart to drive MORE because it gets cheaper by the mile. And since five can travel as cheaply as one, it's also cheaper by the carload!

Eugenia says . . .

As details of the sellout of Nevada lands, both on a local and on a "national" scale become clearer each day, the need for a really thorough investigation of both aspects of the problem seems obvious.

With millions of acres sacrificed to military demands through the ineptness and incompetence of our representatives, and lesser thousands filched from the public wealth by conscienceless legislators in Carson City, it seems that the time has come for a thorough airing of the details.

The newspapers have printed at length the details of the disgusting actions of certain legislators who used connections in the office of the Surveyor General to obtain information on the availability of State lands, but I believe that a federal grand jury probe would bring to light the real story in all its gruesome details. Since the government was an unconscious partner in the transactions, perhaps its Attorney General could do the people of Nevada a favor and expose the whole story.

In connection with the surrender of the gunnery ranges in the northern portions of the State, it will give me great satisfaction during the coming weeks to demonstrate to the people of Nevada—especially its thousands of sportsmen—details and documented facts which point clearly to the existence of either confusion or ignorance in the squirrel-heads of our national representatives.

The texts of the hearings on the Sawhawe (Lave Bed) and Sawhawe Extension ranges for gunnery purposes—which resulted in the withdrawal of land which stands mighty little chance of ever being returned to the public—will be printed as a public service. Land in Washoe and Humboldt, and in Clark County, where the need for a recreation potential was never greater than now, has been the subject of compromise after compromise by the boys we sent to represent us in Washington.

The compromise, as always, was made with the demands of the government and very little compromising or even promising was made in connection with the sportsmen of the State who watched some of their fondest hopes go down the drain.

If elected to Congress I promise to do all in my power to bring about a thorough, high-level investigation of the land-grabbing in Nevada, especially in regard to the rape of the Valley of Fire, which seems to have been underway for years. If I am elected, the sportsmen and the people of the State will have somebody in Washington who will not take any guff from the big brass, somebody who will always be available to her constituents. Someone who knows the difference between a Blue-Winged Teal and a Mugwump who is always straddling the fence.

Someone who will not be dazzled by the gleam of Washington brass!

Oddly enough, the same appealing approach suggested by the Washington brass to the sportsmen of the State is the same as that made to Russia by our fourth-dimensional statesmen. The plea being made to the hunters and outdoor recreation lovers is for "co-existence."

Why not vote for someone who cannot be bought, by a fat purse or a mealy-mouth?

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
HUNGARIAN GOULASH
1 pound onions, thinly sliced; 1 tablespoon salad oil; 1 teaspoon caraway seeds; 1 teaspoon marjoram; 1 teaspoon salt; 2 teaspoon paprika; 1 teaspoon vinegar; 2 pounds beef, cut in 1-inch cubes; 1 cup red wine.

Saute onions in oil until tender and golden; add caraway seeds, marjoram, salt, and paprika molated with vinegar, and mix well. Add meat and brown well on all sides. Pour in wine, cover tightly, and simmer for 2 hours, or until meat is tender. Add water sparingly during cooking, if necessary. Serve over buttered noodles. Serves 6.
