Detention Basin Added To Flood Control Plans In Our Area Cost Of Project Over $2-Million

Representatives of the various cities in the Las Vegas Flood Control area met on May 26 with Colonel Newton, and other members of District Engineers of the U.S. Army Engineer District of Los Angeles, Calif., to discuss the valley flood control project.

Clay Lynch, City Administrator, who represented our city at the meeting reports that some changes have been made in the former plans for flood control in our area.

A detention basin is now planned for the pass at the east side of Black Mountain, in addition to the channel formerly planned. An outlet would be provided in the levee to be built across the pass and an overflow outlet would be installed at the east end of the levee, which would overflow into the southwest quarter of Section 28 in the event of a real downpour filling the detention basin to capacity.

In former plans, all of the necessary right-of-way for the flood control project was within the 7,000 acres of land recently acquired by the city from the Federal Government.

With the inclusion of the detention basin, a portion of the right-of-way would be in sections 29, 33 and 28. Both section 28 and 29 have been designated by the Bureau of Land Management for use as small tracts and it will be necessary for the city to secure right-of-way through these sections, as well as section 33.

Mr. Hogan of the Bureau of Land Management at Reno, who attended the meeting, was in Henderson yesterday morning and went over the maps for the flood control project with Clay Lynch.

It was brought out at the meeting with the Army Engineers that of the entire project in Las Vegas Valley, the plans for Henderson are considered the most likely to succeed and also that the project here would give more value in flood insurance for each dollar spent, than that of any other section.

Estimated cost of the improvement for protection of the Henderson area is estimated as follows:

Cost of construction or Federal cost would be	$2,290,000.00
Local costs of lands, easements and right-of-way	130,000.00
Local costs of relocations, utilities and highways	20,000.00
Total Cost of the project is estimated at	2,440,000.00

Our People Speak

By RAE VON DORNUM
Are you in favor of having the City sell or lease 40 acres of land from the 7,000 acres here to be used as a site for a Clark County dump?
MRS. COLLIS M. BAILEY, Housewife, 81 East Texas.

No, I don't think it would be a good idea.
THOMAS TEKULVE, Design Engineer, 139 Dogwood.

I live in the area which is closest to the proposed dump site. There are several thousand acres of land in Clark County and I feel that careful consideration should be given to a site, remotely located from any populated area, or areas likely to expand in population.

My first impulse is one of opposition.

MRS. JESS L. HAMMOND, Housewife, 83 Oklahoma.

No, I am not in favor. I think our land in Henderson is too valuable to have something like a dump put on it.

HARRY EDWARDS, Student, University of Nev. Southern, 322 Nebraska.

Generally speaking, I would not be in favor of any garbage dump being located next to a city and unless some good reason could be shown why this is necessary, it would be against.

JOHN HANSEN, Research Assistant, 113 Yucca.
No, I don't approve of it. I think if they want a dump they should put it somewhere else, where it wouldn't stop the growth of our town.

THAROL LEFFLER, Painter, 125 Dogwood.

I think if this is to be done, a lot of thought should be given to it. It is debatable whether our own dump should be located in that area as it may one day be settled.

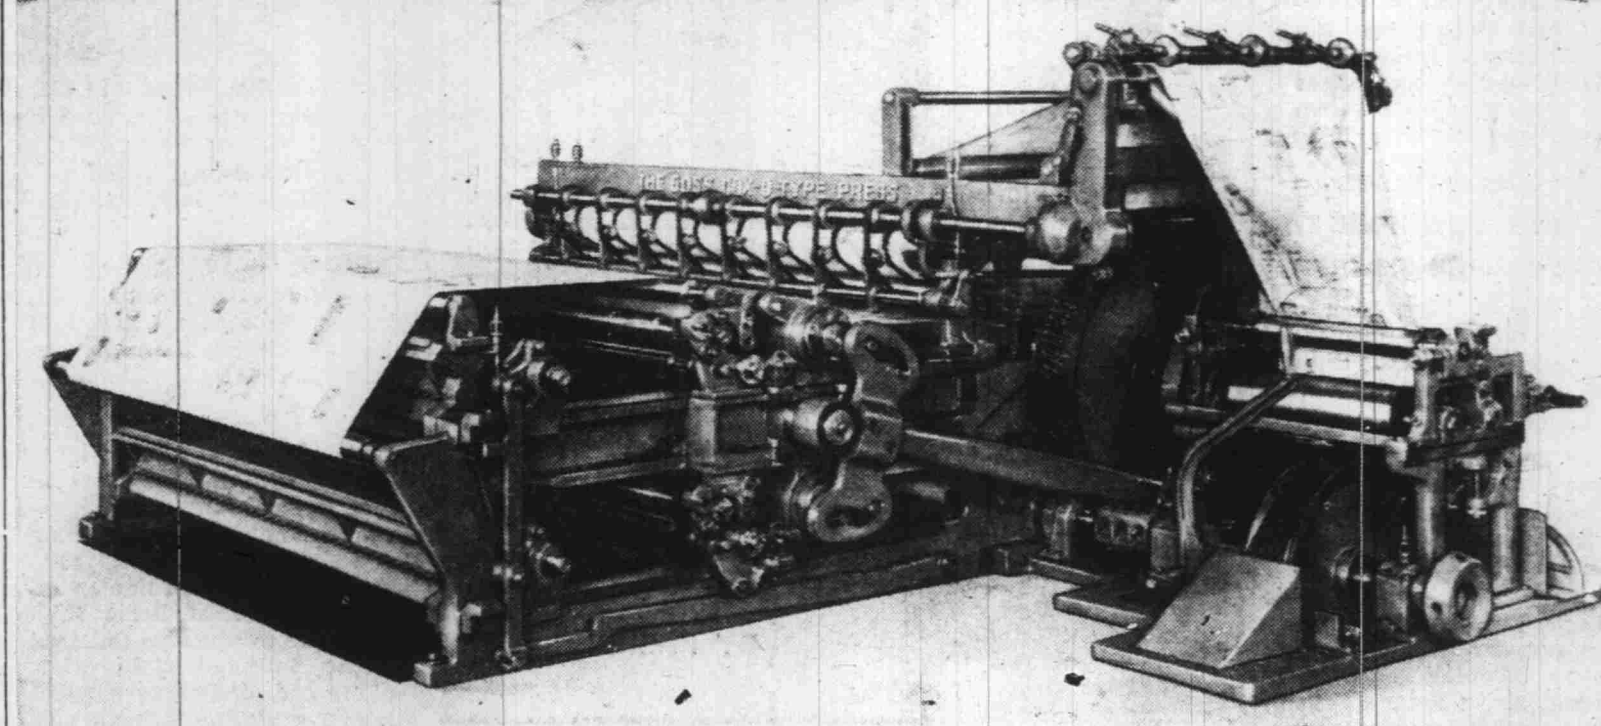

I personally think that land on the way to the lake will one day be valuable.

We know that this town is going to grow and with the recreation area located where it is, I think Vegas Wash Road has great possibilities, which would be dampened by the location of a garbage dump here. I don't think we should clutter up the fringes of the recreation area.

With these things in mind, I think a suitable place should be found and our city dump moved, so as not to prevent growth in this direction.

MRS. VON R. BRADSHAW, Housewife, 630 Federal St.

This Is Our New Press! Today's Newspaper Is The Result!

THE ABOVE GOSS COX-O-TYPE PRESS is the newest thing in automatic newspaper presses. During the past two weeks it has been installed, part by part, in the NEWS Building, Victory Village. It turns out 8-page sections, 8 columns wide, at the tune of 3500 an hour, completely folded and all by the touch of a button. It has a special color attachment and next week's edition will show what the machine can do in color display. As soon as we have worked out the bugs, we plan to hold open house to the public. This new press was made possible by your readership and your use of this newspaper. It's installation enables us to take our place among the nation's leading weekly newspapers in production as well as content.

TWO STUDENTS RECEIVE NFSI SCHOLARSHIPS

Two of Basic High School's outstanding students have been awarded National Foundation Science Institute scholarships, it was announced by Principal John A. Dooley.

Lewis Shupe, a junior, has been awarded a scholarship to Oregon State College and John Duty, a sophomore, has been awarded a scholarship to Brigham Young University.

Young Shupe will attend the National Science Foundation Institute for High School students, to be held June 14-27, at Oregon State College. Tuition and fees, including living costs and direct transportation costs will be provided.

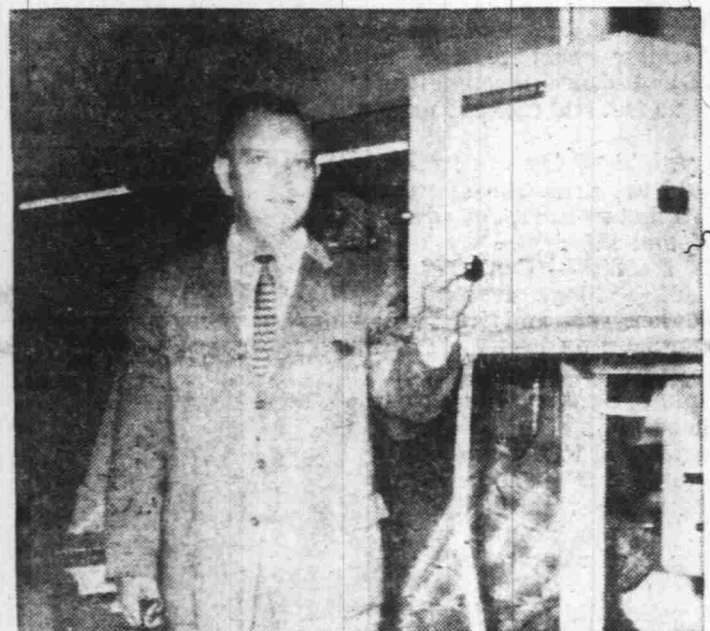

John Duty will attend the Science Orientation Program for secondary school students at BYU, June 15-26. The scholarship includes all expenses for tuition, housing and meals and 4 cents per mile for a maximum of 200 miles for transportation.

It doesn't seem to me that they would need to come clear out here to locate a dump. It seems to me there is plenty of room in the country without coming here.

KEN HOUGEN, Owner Superior TV, 613 Burton St.

I would venture to say that we could find better purposes for the land than that. We have enough things around the city now that cause dirt.

The honor of starting the motor for the first turn of our new automatic newspaper press was given to District Judge David Zenoff, and a former newspaperman himself before he entered the field of law.

The equal honor of receiving the first paper ever printed on the new NEWS press also went to the publisher's brother—Judge David Zenoff. The judge had no sooner turned the crank starting the motor than did he turn around and see completed papers rolling off the brand new Cox-O-Type.

Burleson Residence Guttled By Fire, Loss Estimated At $5,000

The Joseph Burleson residence at 347 Nebraska Street was gutted by fire Tuesday night with a resultant damage estimated at $5,000. The fire, believed to have been caused by an unplugged iron was reported around midnight by neighbors, who saw smoke pouring out of the cooler on the roof of the building.

All but one bedroom of the home was destroyed. This room suffered smoke damage, but was not touched by the fire and suffered little water damage.

There was no one at home when the fire occurred. Mrs.

Burleson and the couple's only child were vacationing in Utah.

Burleson, a driver for the Greyhound Bus Lines, had prepared some trousers earlier and prepared to go to work. He says he distinctly remembers turning off the iron, but did not unplug it from the electrical connection.

All of Burleson's clothing and most of those belonging to his wife and child, were destroyed in the fire, and all of the furnishings and other items, except those in the one back bedroom, were lost.

Operation Face Lift Is Huge Success, Everyone Cooperating

Operation Face Lift will end on Saturday and all residents who have not already cleaned their premises of debris and unwanted items, are urged to do so at once.

Small items and trash can be put in containers and left for the disposal company to pick up with your regular garbage collection. Large items will be called for by trucks and residents putting old appliances and other heavy items out for collection are asked to call City Hall, FRontier 2-1741 giving the address where the pick-up is to be made.

Mr. La Fortune of the disposal company reported that his trucks have been hauling from seven to nine extra loads each day and another man was added to each of the crews, starting on Wednesday.

The city maintenance crew will still be on the job to pick up the heavier items, using two and a half ton trucks and a skip loader.

No matter what residents have to be moved, it will be taken away and disposed of, free of charge, until this Saturday night.

Clay Lynch reports that he is extremely well pleased with the great cooperation of our residents during the clean-up week and the success of the drive.

VETERANS HOLD MEMORIAL DAY RITES SATURDAY

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Basic Post 3848, will conduct their Memorial Day Services on Saturday, May 30, at 11 a.m.

The American Legion, Boy Scouts, Cooties and the V.F.W. Auxiliary will participate in the ceremonies.

Color Guard will be provided by Nellis Air Force Base, and the firing squad will be composed of members of Basic Post VFW, Taps and Echo will be played by students of Basic High School.

Raising and lowering of the flag will be by the Boy Scouts of America.

The Memorial Day services will be conducted at the Ben Church Memorial Field on the Townsite School campus. The public is invited to attend.

This city is experiencing the hottest election campaign in our short but active history as a result of the presence of six strong candidates the primary election produced to fight it out for three city council positions.

With election day coming up Tuesday, all candidates have been going at it hot and heavy—and the townspeople have to the speeches, talks, lectures, advertising messages and even joined in by lending their ears rumors.

Several of the candidates have added block parties to their agenda, while others will be week-ending this week with door-knocking campaigns to follow up everything else they've tried to educate the voter to their respective candidacies.

From the smoke of the fire comes rumors galore—such as the mayor resigning, the churches taking an active part, the candidates glaring at each other and not talking, the ballots being too light or too dark, the candidates' wives being on the "inside" because they happened to volunteer to count the ballots.

All of the above paragraph, of course, is plain nonsense as headline hunters for other papers insist on inserting their efforts to make mountains out of mole hills.

The plain fact is—that the candidates are all just plain citizens—like you and me—offering to serve their community the best they know how—and none seeking to besmirch the good name of Henderson with rantings and ravings that hang on around election time of ten come up with.

The citizenry here is really enjoying the campaigning—and will doubtlessly decide the issues by voting to their best ability—and for the best interests of the community.

Election Chief N. D. Van Wageningen has the ballots on hand—all of the same 20 pound paper stock used throughout the state—and he has had some 35 people already cast absentee ballots—and more can do so up until 5 p.m.

His precinct workers are ready for what should be a 70 per cent minimum turnout Tuesday in Wards 1, 3 and 5 where council seats are up for grabs. The other two wards will be open for business only because George Treem is a sole candidate for judge and the law says they must be open. Not more than 10 per cent will probably vote in these wards 2 and 4.

Between today and voting time, voters are urged to stop, look and listen—read everything and think it over—for the candidates are talented, able and willing—to serve their city.

Today's HOME NEWS and Tuesday morning's edition contain messages from the candidates which warrant the attention of all.

The candidates: Claude Pullen vs. Jack Stevens, Ward 1.

Pete Mendive vs. Henry Jones, Ward 3.

Frank Morrell vs. Lou LaPorta—Ward 5.

My 2 Scents Worth

Reckless driving on the part of a very young man here on Monday night, resulted in his being held by the local police on charges of assault and battery, a hit-run accident, property damage and possible grand theft auto.

This young man, whom we shall refer to as Joe Blow, had been drinking. He drove to a local trailer court to visit a friend and drove through the court in a fast and reckless manner.

When told by the owner that he could not drive through the court in that manner, Joe squared off and said:

"Oh, I can't — Can't I?" Making a lunge at her, he twisted her arm and tried for a firmer hold on her.

The lady, who happened to be drinking a coke, hit him over the head with the bottle. A tenant jumped to her assistance and the two of them held the miscreant, after he had been thrown to the ground, while someone else went to call the police.

The police did not arrive for some time and Joe, who was unable to escape from the man and woman who were holding him, begged them to let him go, promising to be on his best behavior.

He finally persuaded them that his intentions were good and they let him go.

Jumping into the 1959 Ford he was driving, Blow took off down the street like a flying saucer, colliding with an approaching Chevrolet. A front fender was knocked off the front end of the Chevrolet and Joe's Ford also sustained a damaged fender.

Abandoning the car, Joe went home and hid out in the bedding compartment of a couch in the trailer where he and his wife live.

The police made a search of the area and Joe was apprehended after he came out of hiding and sought the cover of darkness.

Burglar Takes $1,444 In Credit Card Slips And Cash From Lansford Texaco Service Station

Cash and credit card slips amounting to $1,444.13 were taken from the safe at the Lance Lansford Texaco Service, Frontier Highway and Water Street by burglars on Sunday night.

Detective Sgt. Wilbur Perkins, who has been investigating the case, reports that "this was undoubtedly an inside job." The entrance was made with a key and the burglar or burglars knew exactly where the key to the safe was kept, in addition to having a key to the station. Sgt. Perkins has been making present employees of the station in an effort to apprehend the robber.

The sad part of the loss is the fact that approximately $800 of the loot is of no value to the burglar as it is credit card slips which had not been turned in by the station.

"The loss would be greatly reduced if whoever robbed the station would drop these slips in a mail box or otherwise return them," Perkins said.

The loss included $630.57 in credit slips; $324.01 in cash; and $498.55 in cash and credit slips from Sunday's receipts.

OPERATION SURPRISE — Operation Face Lift took on a surprise aspect in Hillcrest Manor. Residents cleaned their yards and alleys and even the fringes of the desert. The debris for pick-up was all piled in one place, as a surprise for Clay Lynch, Chairman of the Pick-Up Committee, who found this great pile of junk in front of his house and blocking his driveway when he went home from work on Monday evening. POSE WITH JUNK — Mrs. Clay Lynch and daughters, Peggy and Myra, pose beside the huge pile of junk which neighbors piled in front of the Lynch home on Hillcrest Drive as a part of Operation Face Lift. The neighbors gathered to watch Lynch's consternation when he found the junk in front of his home Monday evening. Neighbors said, "he can't forget to have his pick-up committee remove it, if it's blocking his own driveway." This joke by Lynch's neighbors proves that even a clean-up campaign can be fun.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT The NATIONAL PLAN for CIVIL DEFENSE

CIVIL DEFENSE and DEFENSE MOBILIZATION

(Editor's Note — This is the tenth in a series of articles on Civil Defense and Defense Mobilization which this newspaper is bringing to its readers as a public service, in order that each individual in our community may better know his role in the National Plan for Civil Defense.)

Individuals and their families must be self-reliant in the event of fire, improvising to help control fire hazards.

They are responsible for learning techniques necessary to avoid the injurious effects of radiological, biological, and chemical warfare. This information is available through civil defense offices.

Persons who have overcome or escaped the effects of enemy attack should report their availability as man-power to local government authorities.

Individuals should become thoroughly familiar with the "Handbook for Emergencies," issued by OCDM and distributed to 40 million families by the Boy Scouts of America. It is intended to prepare people to meet ALL KINDS of disaster—from tornadoes and floods to radio-active fallout.

Local civil defense directors can provide specific information on all phases of individual and home preparedness.

INDIVIDUAL ACTION

Civil defense and defense mobilization is the concern of every citizen. The individual must be capable in the event of an attack of caring for himself and of contributing to the organized community effort. The family must be trained and prepared to solve its own emergency problems as well as to assist others in need. Survival could be a starkly personal matter.

Each person and family must be prepared to meet individual survival requirements for two weeks following an attack without dependence on outside assistance.

Essential items which should be stocked include an emergency store of wood, water, fuel, first aid supplies, and other personal materials necessary to sustain life for at least two weeks, including a battery-operated radio to receive survival directions.

Shelter areas should have a covered can for garbage and a container with tight-fitting lid that can be used as a toilet. Household disinfectant should be added to the garbage and human waste containers periodically to control odors and bacterial growth. A supply of grocery bags and newspapers may be useful for sanitary purposes.

Medical care is expected to begin with the individual. At least one member of each family group should be trained in first aid and home nursing.

Persons in areas under heavy nuclear attack cannot count on receiving immediate organized assistance.

HELICOPTER LANDS ON BEACH

Recently, with only enough gas left in their Helicopter to travel a few more air miles, Bill Hall, Ray Hanley and Robbie Hall set their machine down on the beach at the Las Vegas boat harbor for refueling.

The trio was making a return flight from Knab, Utah to Las Vegas.

Traveling from St. George, Utah they followed the Virgin River to Overton, where they set the machine down and took time out for a swim in the river.

Continuing their flight, they flew over the Valley of Fire and a near-by canyon, which the trio agrees is truly a magnificent sight from the air and would make a great tourist attraction bordering the lake.

Flying over Echo Bay they resumed their flight over the lake and between the high walls of the Boulder Canyon, landing at the Las Vegas Boat Harbor.

Let's Divide Clark County — Jake Dieleman

By VIRGINIA MORRISON

Jake Dieleman, assemblyman, is good copy anytime we have an opportunity to corner him, and at last Thurs. night Unofficial Charter meeting he presented a very provocative idea to members who remained to chew the fat after the meeting.

He is in favor, and will go on record, for dividing Clark County in two and forming a Boulder County. He not only favors the idea, but he has drawn a map of its boundaries and authored some publicity in its behalf.

The area would include Virgin and Moapa Valleys, Henderson, Searchlight, Eldorado Valley and Boulder City. According to Jake's proposal, we would have not only Nevada's newest county, but the fastest growing area, finest recreation area, largest industrial area and greatest agricultural potential.

His idea met with amusement at the outset, but those who heard it decided the idea made sense. As Dieleman pointed out, "it wouldn't be the first time the counties were rearranged."

"The main purpose of the proposal," he continued is to

LAKE MEAD ANGLERS and ANCHORS

This past week high winds and rough waters have slowed down the sporting activities on the lake.

CHANNEL CATS

The percentage of catches have been smaller than usual & fishermen are waiting impatiently for the weather to calm down.

The channel cats are beginning to move about. A large group of fishermen will agree that the channel cat provides a real sport for anglers.

Many fishermen who do not know the lake are under the impression that the lake's cats are bullheads, therefore they don't fish for them.

These fishermen are missing out on a lot of fun as a two or three pound cat can put up a real fight when being reeled in. If you are lucky enough to catch a five pounder with light tackle — you are going to find your self in real trouble.

A cat this size will put up such a hard fight that he will break your line unless you reel him in very slowly and let him play himself out.

It would be wise to use a 20-pound test line or more and a heavy rod and reel if you expect to bring in a stringer of cats.

Many cat-fishermen, still-fish, however several anglers are having excellent luck by reeling in the bait very very slowly.

At the present time shrimp and minnows are favorite bait, however there is a wide selection of catfish baits and on your next trip out take a choice of several.

Here Is The First Place Winner In The VFW Auxiliary Essay Contest

by John Springgate

The members of the official armed forces projectile launching crew stood with awed expressions on their uplifted faces as the huge space vehicle roared into the upper reaches of our surrounding atmosphere. The months and years which the scientists worked on the project were finally producing dividends. The missile's success meant that a whole new era had opened upon Earth — the Space Age. Their hopes and aspirations are merely representative of the thoughts of civilized and educated people throughout the world.

However, these hopes can never become realities without research and experimentation. Certain plateaus must be reached and accomplishments made before our wishes come true. Making these accomplishments and reaching these plateaus presents a definite challenge to every living person. In order to become the leaders in the space age we Americans must meet and accept this great challenge.

With the Space Age and the advent of nuclear energy come many useful aids to mankind besides the war weapons which have been developed. New methods of agriculture and preserving of foodstuffs indefinitely have been experimented upon at this point and will undoubtedly be perfected by the time we are fully in the Space Age. Also new principles of healing and medicine will guard our families and friends from the dreaded scourge of disease and other body ailments. We will be able to discard the present means of transportation in favor of more advanced, faster, more comfortable and safer ways of getting from one place to another.

But perhaps the most spectacular thing to come of the Space Age will be actual interplanetary space travel. Within a few brief decades we may be able to travel the distances to the moon, Mars, Venus, Neptune, Saturn, Mercury or any of the other planets in our solar system.

Will we find life on other planets? Will we find that conditions on another planet are suitable for humans? Or will we find hostile animal or plant life with which we may have to do battle? These are but a few of thousands of questions that people are asking today that will be answered tomorrow. The people living in the age of space travel will be true pioneers — just as the people who first settled our continent were. The young people of today may comprise the group of scientists which will initiate space travel. The challenges which we will encounter before any of this becomes a reality are numerous and almost innumerable. Before we travel through space we must solve the problem of being able to bring the pilot back alive; of equipping his ship with sufficient food and fuel; of preparing him to live within the narrow confines of a space ship; and of training him to be able to meet any emergency which may arise in outer space. This is quite a problem in itself as there are probably many crises which we will encounter but which we know nothing about yet. For instance, what will be the effect of the sun's intense radioactive rays on the space vehicle? The only way which we can learn and discover the new facts is by actual experimentation and by experiencing travel in outer spaces.

Think in terms of the vastness of space, we cannot even attempt to fathom its depth. Think of our own solar system as being a drop of water or a small volume of air in a huge world that has its own solar system. We may seem to be a tiny raindrop falling from the sky in relation to the vastness of outer space! This is how minute an atom of a molecule would appear to us.

Yes, the Space Age will present many challenges to Americans. It seems that these years of Sputniks and Explorers are the gateway to the Space Age — the beginning of a fascinating and completely new era. And more exploration, research, and discovery will take place in this period than in any one previous to it.

The only way that we can advance further into the Space Age is by becoming a science-conscious nation. We must train more people with ability to become scientists now than ever before. Technicians ranging from the men in charge of missile bases right down to the laboratory helpers should be in great demand. Private institutions as well as government agencies should answer the challenge by experimenting and searching for that perfect metal that unyielding chemical or that physical law of nature. The schools must place a new emphasis on scientific courses of study to equip the nation's youth with a valuable store of knowledge. All students with exceptional mental ability should be encouraged to follow a scientific plan of study by being offered good job security, free higher education, or other inducements. By looking to the future today's leaders can make the decisions which will prepare America to meet challenges of the coming era, the Space Age.

Phyllis Richardson Selected As Outstanding Trainee In Her Class

Recruit Phyllis M. Richardson, formerly of Townsite Apartments Unit One, has been selected as the Outstanding Trainee of her basic training class at the U. S. Women's Army Corps Center, Fort McClellan, Alabama.

Selection of Recruit Richardson was based on her excellent academic record and superior military conduct and discipline. At graduation ceremonies she received a WAC Center Certificate of Achievement, as well as her Certificate of Completion of basic training.

She is now on assignment orders as a student at the Army Medical Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

For two years prior to her

She is the sister-in-law of Henderson Police Sergeant Al Kennedy, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Richardson of Redmond, Oregon.

While at the Center, which is the permanent home of the Women's Army Corps, Recruit Richardson received physical fitness training and studied such basic military subjects as Army history; organization and administration; and military customs, courtesies and cere-

I am in the Ward 5 Councilman's race because I WANT THE JOB! I want this job for ONE BIG REASON:

There are so many problems confronting this young city that I feel I can best serve in this position because of my knowledge and experience in city government over the past six years. In working with people in the County, State and National offices it has enabled me to be of greater value and assistance to our City more so now than when first elected in 1953!

I have served under two city administrations—I AM NOT IN ANY CAMP AND HAVE NEVER BEEN! My only interest is the general welfare of this City and I am fully determined to stay this way!

PETTY POLITICS such as we have witnessed has NO BUSINESS in our good City! It had better STOP as fast as it has started since we have received enough bad publicity!

BEE KEEPER REMOVES SWARM FROM TREE ON KAREN WAY

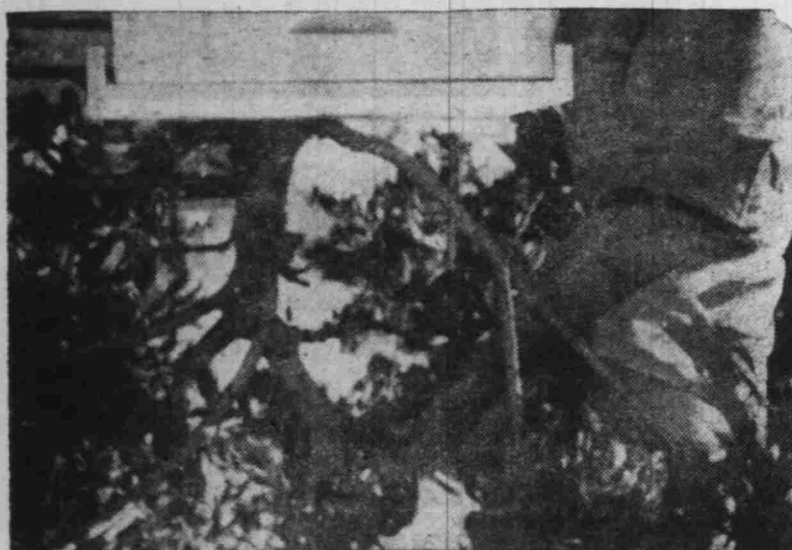

SWARM OF BEES — this swarm of bees, estimated by local Bee Keeper Floyd Head to number 3,500, attached themselves to the limb of a peach tree in a yard on Karen Way one day last week.—Woodruff Photo

BEE KEEPER CALLED — Neighbors called the HOME NEWS and we in turn contacted Mrs. Head, who managed to get in touch with her busy husband, who came to the rescue with an empty beehive. After placing the hive directly below the swarm of bees, Head is shown preparing to shake the bees off the limb of the tree.—Woodruff photo

BEES FIND WAY INTO NEW HOME — Head watches as the bees follow the queen into the hive, they will later be taken to the "honey house" in Whitney where Head and his partner Carl Fossett will prepare them for going out into the fields to gather honey.—Woodruff photo.

STRAGGLERS ARE SCRAPED OFF THE LIMB — Head is shown scraping bunches of stragglers off the limb of the tree by hand. These bees drop down to the top of the hive and will follow the queen into the colony's new home. Head and Fossett now have 180 colonies of bees in Las Vegas Valley. The honey produced is available at local markets under the brand name "Desert Blossom Honey."—Woodruff Photo

A City Manager Or Administrator Serves As A Good Right Arm Of City Government Pennsylvania Expert Explains

By RALPH L. YANISH
Borough Mgr. Quakertown, Pa.

Don't accept the borough manager job — there's nothing worse than working for a bunch of small town politicians." That was the advice of my boss, chief engineer of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation section for which I was staff engineer.

Now, after ten years as Quakertown's borough manager, I find that I have no regrets. More important, some of the most pleasant relations I can remember are the ones that I have enjoyed with those same "small town politicians."

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that these men and women who serve as municipal representative are by and large a dedicated lot. They are eager to serve their fellow citizens.

Nor can the majority of our capable business and professional men be prevailed upon to run for office. They either "can't be bothered," or if you dig a little deeper, it's "I just don't like to be beaten — if I knew I'd win, yes, but I wouldn't want that so-and-so to beat me."

Because of this reluctance on the part of too many of our competent men and women, positions of importance are often filled by inexperienced—even if honest—officials, many of whom you wouldn't trust with one cent of your firm's money.

Manager Government Grows—With Reason

The number of cities and towns functioning under the so-called manager plan has doubled during the past five years. I had the honor of being the first municipal manager appointed in my home county of Bucks, and at that time (1948), a manager was looked upon by most as a cross between a dodo bird and a pink elephant. Now there are eleven in the county, all of whom were appointed since 1948.

The International City Managers' Association recently reported a total of 1,534 council-manager municipalities in five European countries, compared with 1,522 in the United States and 50 in Canada. It should be mentioned here that the status of the European manager is different from that of his North American counterpart. Most of the European managers are career administrators appointed for a period of 12 years. In this country most managers are appointed annually and may be released at any time upon a majority vote of the council. This provision, in many cases, deters capable administrators from accepting the proffered appointments.

It is my belief that the most noteworthy advance in the interests of better government has been the adoption of the city manager or administrator-council type of local operation.

Manager-Council Government—Good town

Communities that have gained reputations as good places in which to live are being more and more frequently identified with manager administration.

By the same stick, those that are slowly strangling in creeping blight, inefficiency and graft are invariably victims of the old "in-again-out-again, part-time, patronage-riddled system" with a superintendent of street, for example, who can get out the vote in his district — but whose knowledge and experience with roads stops with riding on them.

Under council-manager government, traditional reluctance of citizens to participate in local government is breaking down and residents are interested enough to demand that councils and school boards square meet the problems that confront them.

These trends are directly attributable to the new straight line of communication between the taxpayer and his city government — a line that is established on the day the manager assumes full responsibility for administrative functions. Backed by the council, which, as elected officials, establishes policies under which the city must be governed, acts upon his recommendations and establishes the ordinances by which he operates, the manager is the focal point of contact from both directions.

Not a Cure-All
Council-manager government, however, cannot be presented as a cure-all. It can't make two dollars grow where one grew before, but given a cooperative governing body, the capable city manager will give you a full dollar's worth of service for each dollar spent.

Complaints can no longer be "swept under the rug," a common occurrence under older forms of municipal government. Savings under an able administrator are to be expected, but it is just as important that questions of taxpayers be answered and that the citizens be kept informed. While our answers have not always been what Quakertown citizens have wanted, they have received replies to all their queries. Reports of interest are sent periodically to the local newspaper and doings of local government are published in an annual report. The last seven have received top awards in a state-wide contest.

Before stones are thrown at politicians and local officials, it must be recognized that most bad government today can be laid at the doorstep of the average voter, who does not take time to acquaint himself with his city or its problems.

Nor can the majority of our capable business and professional men be prevailed upon to run for office. They either "can't be bothered," or if you dig a little deeper, it's "I just don't like to be beaten — if I knew I'd win, yes, but I wouldn't want that so-and-so to beat me."

Because of this reluctance on the part of too many of our competent men and women, positions of importance are often filled by inexperienced—even if honest—officials, many of whom you wouldn't trust with one cent of your firm's money.

Yet these people spend millions of tax dollars for improvements and expensive, complicated qualification. The manager must be able to get along with people. The efficiency-expert type, trained to get things done, personal feelings notwithstanding, has a doubtful place in government. The American public demands the "common touch" in its local government. It wants you to listen to all the individual problems, but if you can drop a good belly-laugh into your discussion, people will try a little harder to understand why funds just aren't available for rebuilding their street or replacing that sewer this year.

So there you have your city manager — not a cross between a dodo bird and a pink elephant. If perfection could be achieved, he would be more like a composite of a Judge Bean, a Perry Mason and a digital computer.

ed equipment. They are allowed to staff your water, sewer, electric, road and sanitation department with friends, ward helpers and other incompetents. Then you ask why the costs of governments are so high.

The really sad part of the common local government picture is that with re-election, these incapables actually believe that their election automatically qualifies them to supervise such highly technical departmental activities as water, streets and bridges, sewer, fire, traffic control and police.

There is a councilman in a nearby city, for example, who was recently appointed chairman of the committee supervising the fire department. One of his first acts was to order firemen in that city to flush all fire plugs at least two hours before each fire. The chiefs are still shaking their heads over it.

The foregoing is not an isolated occurrence. Head-shakers happen with startling regularity in local governments administered by part-timers. They are good for laughs — until realization dawns that this same official may be called upon to rule on the desirability of installing, repairing or replacing highly technical equipment, construction of street and highway facilities, or solution of transit and traffic problems, police communications or fire department problems, to name but a few.

These are some prime reasons for a trained, experienced manager, but unfortunately, too many of our cities adopt a council-manager form of government only as a last resort, after financial affairs have become hopelessly muddled. It's a bit like waiting to call a doctor until it is so late that it's really an undertaker they want.

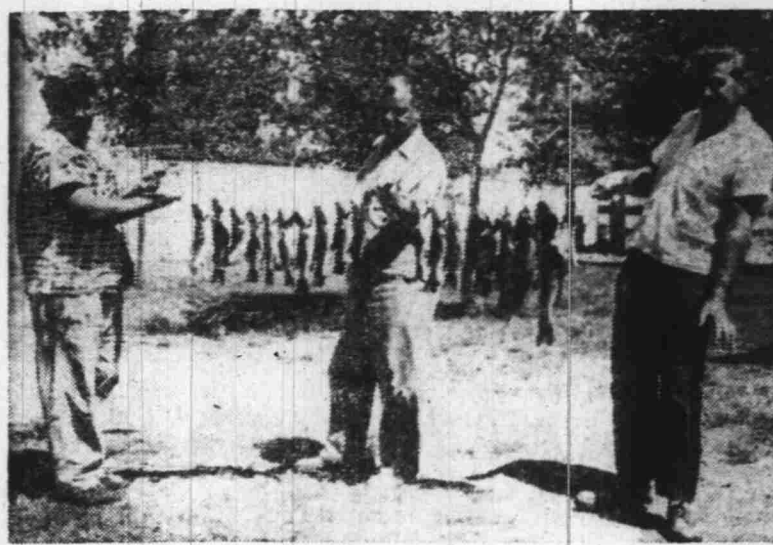

More Than An Administrator

The city manager must be able to see municipal government thru the eyes of the councilman, the city employee and the man down the block.

He must be economy minded — but not too extreme lest he be accused as one city manager has, of considering "the use of lightning bugs for street lights."

If he is to succeed he must be willing to learn from the councilmen who are experts in their fields as he is in his. It has been my good fortune to have served under councilmen from all walks of life — bankers, engineers, businessmen, skilled workmen, office workers and salesmen, the last predominating. I learned more, for example, about securities and bond investments during the four-year term of a banker-councilman than from all the books I might have digested in a comparable time.

On the other hand, the council owes an obligation to the town and to the manager at the time he is appointed. Only if the elected body gives him a free administrative hand can he put municipal operations on a sound business basis or staff the various city departments with the finest qualified personnel. These must be done without political influence.

Thus, putting it bluntly, even a great city manager is just as good as his council will let him be. If the council is not willing to give the manager full operational authority, they are merely adding another needless expenditure to an already overburdened debt load.

Fortunately, most elected officials realize that city government today involves difficult and complex engineering, social, medical, financial and other highly technical problems. The

"I believe that the answer to himself bewildered while attempting to discharge his duties in the best interest of all concerned. average lay councilman finds the problem is appointment of a city manager or administrator to act as the good right arm of the governing body."

He will insist upon an honest day's work by each city employee and a dollar's worth of value for each dollar spent. This service can be rendered only by specially trained men who have years of government operating experience behind them.

GUESTS
Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Olsen of Springdale, Utah, were guests in the Elva Twitchell home at 103 Ivy last Saturday. The Olsen couple visited with other friends and relatives in this area over the weekend.

VISITOR IS RODEO CHAMPION
Helldorado brought a notable visitor to town in the person of Lloyd, eldest son of Mr. Floyd Sloan of 263 W. Basic. Lloyd (better known as "Cotton") came down from Westville, Okla., to engage in the bulldogging competitions.

His prowess may be judged from the fact that he was placed second and third in his class. Indeed he is well known at similar gatherings all over the West and Southwest. He and his horse have competed and won in Wyoming, Nebraska, Texas, Arkansas, and as far away as Chicago.

After Helldorado Sloan and the five fellow competitors, who made up the Westville contingent, left for Hobbs, N. M. to take part in a rodeo there. When that is over he returns to Westville for a time and later travels to Fort Smith, Ark., to participate in what may well be the most interesting rodeo of the season, for children at least. For them it will be enlivened by the presence of Zorro of TV fame.

At home in Westville Sloan, who is married and has a four-year-old daughter, runs a business, while following the exacting, exciting, sometimes risky and sometime profitable sport of bulldogging, as a hobby.

In his free time here he enjoyed boating and fishing on Lake Mead with his three brothers, Randal, Gerald and Chester Sloan.

SHARP RELIEF

Midwives used to put a knife under the bed to "cut the pain" of childbirth. Sounds foolish, nowadays. But then, we're lucky. We have many wonderful pain-relieving drugs... other powerful medications, too. When you're ill, take advantage of the newer, effective medicinals. Seek your physician's advice... he's the only one qualified to prescribe for your health. Then, if he recommends medication, come to us for prescription service.

MRS. VOSE HOME FROM VACATION
A month ago Mrs. Nellie Vose and two children, Donna and Elme, of 102 Fir street traveling by train to Chamas, New Mexico where they have spent the past month visiting with Mrs. Vose's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Onofre Gallegos. Last week Mrs. Vose's husband, Elmore, took a week's vacation from his job and motored to Chama where he joined his wife. Traveling from Chama to Santa Fe they toured points of interest in the area and were overnight guests in the home of friends. On their return home they spent the day in Albuquerque enjoying the park and seeing the animals in the zoo so fascinating that they insisted on spending more time at the park. Nellie reports that they experienced a cold spell with lots of snow in Chama and they

For Beauty's Sake! by Lisa Louise
In Spring, a young woman's fancy turns to... thoughts of beauty, of course! And well it might, for as we prepare to unbundle from our yards and yards of woollens, isn't it nice to think that a prettier "we" may be hidden somewhere underneath? But lest we forget, don't YOU forget that Spring is just around the corner and that now is the time to take your own personal inventory on things still "to-do". For instance... Ah yes—a pluck in time saves nine in the eyebrow department, but join the throng if you're the type also plagued by the bona fide lack of a good hair or two! Here are a few tips which may prove the saving of you: (1) Use mascara on the brows before your pencil. (Not only will it make the few hairs you can call your own darker and more luxurious but it will afford you the added bonus of pointing up your own natural arch.) (2) Try using two colors of pencil (brown and gray, for instance) for the oh-so-natural, ever-so-becoming depth of real hair. "Delicious!" best describes the new light, light lipsticks on the blooming young, but a word of caution, if we may! For those of us not fortunate enough to have a high coloration of our surtizes magnificently to insure the ultimate in beauty care. Incidentally, Barbara Gould... for years a leader in the "treatment" field... has allowed me to inform you that for a limited time only you can receive a generous sample of this precious fluid cream simply by sending 25¢ in coin to cover handling costs to Barbara Gould, 35 West 34th Street, New York City... So, "For Beauty's Sake," put your prettiest face forward!

Father Knows The Best Aerosols
Spring clean-up chores generally fall on just one person — namely, Dad — who has become over the years a very proficient week-end gardener. He knows by trial and error that the home place just doesn't take care of itself. To keep ahead of the season on-rush, he's starting now to get hand tools, heavy garden equipment into working shape. Fortunately for Dad, local hardware stores today have a wide variety of pressure-packaged aerosol products designed to aid him in this work. Rust cutting sprays speed cleaning rakes, shovels, spades put away last fall. Spray degreasers quickly unclog the power mower. Rust inhibitor sprays, applied to snow shovels, snow plow, snow pusher, will protect these valuable tools until needed again next winter. Tree wound sprays are used on winter damaged shade trees, ornamental shrubbery without messy applicators. And as the season advances, aerosol weed killers aid in lawn care; other sprays check poison ivy, oak before they get started. There are aerosols which prevent grass from sticking to the cutting blades of the power mower. Push-button stain remover hand creams, waterless grease cutting hand cleaners, used out in the garage, save arguments with mother indoors. When Dad finally sits down with his evening paper, spray foot powders make life worth living again. But, the best aerosols of all are paints which Dad uses to color code his expensive collection of gardening equipment. It's easy now to identify his tools when they disappear into the neighbor's garage.

R. C. ELLSWORTHS NEW RESIDENTS
New residents on Silver street are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ellsworth. They moved here from Boulder City where they have made their home for 17 years. Ellsworth is retired, and they have a married son and daughter-in-law in Las Vegas, and two small grandsons. BAGLEYS WELCOME FOURTH DAUGHTER
Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Bagley of 149 Fir street are the proud parents of a baby girl born Friday morning, May 22, at the Boulder City Hospital. At this time a name has not been given to the eight pound twelve ounce girl. The couple has three other children, all girls. Mrs. Bagley's mother, Mrs. Florence-Gibson of Heber, Utah, is visiting in the Bagley home and helping to care for her daughter and new grand-child.

At 72, Minnie Sutton Is Both A Homemaker And A Motel Operator

By OMAR RYAN
 "As my day, so shall my strength be."
 The tiny woman's voice carries a sort burr that is almost, but not quite Scottish. Hardly taller than her broom, out-weighting but little her mop bucket, —under five feet and weighing less than 90 pounds — she bustles about, cleaning the motel.
 Minnie Sutton was born in Lancashire, England. She came alone to America in 1927, settling in Montreal, Canada. She, by diligent saving and labor was able to send for her son, Lionel, in just one year time.
 They lived in Montreal until five years ago when the textile mill, at which Lionel was employed, went out of business.
 After living in Massachusetts for four years, they settled in Southern Nevada. Lionel is now employed as maintenance man in the shop of a local newspaper. Minnie manages a motel in Pittman.

 Both mother and son have a pleasing burr in their voices.
 There is some disagreement between them as to its origin. Lionel claims that it was acquired while living among the Scotsmen in Montreal. Minnie declares that it is the remains of the English Lancashire dialect.
 To demonstrate the fine job that she does of managing the motel, Minnie points to the fact that she has had but one vacancy in the last four months.
 She says, with justified pride and satisfaction:
 "When I started here, no one thought I could possibly keep house and take care of a 12 unit motel all by myself."
 Minnie is 72-years "young."

Rebekahs Honor Ann Adams Theta Rho Prexy

Ann Adams, president of the Theta Rho Girls Assembly I. O. O. F. of Nevada, was honored by Cactus Rebekah Lodge No. 40, I. O. O. F. during a recess before their last regular meeting. Noble Grand Kittie Kivett presented her with a gift of a traveling kit, to use in her official visits to other Theta Rho clubs in the state.

Miss Adams, a junior at the Boulder City high school, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams, 420 Avenue B, who are both members of Cactus No. 40. She was initiated into Las Vegas Theta Rho Girls Club No. 6 when 12 years old, and served as musician before going thru the chairs. She announced that by June there would be 10 Theta Rho clubs in the state, and she intends to visit them all. She explained that the term of office in clubs has been changed to six months, and the Theta Rho Girls in Las Vegas will have a combined installation with the Junior Odd Fellows in July.

The Las Vegas Theta Rho club is composed of members from Las Vegas, Henderson and Boulder City. Other local girls attending the Assembly in Me Gill were Karla Kay Foresman, Sylvia Elkins and Edna Conrad. Also twelve from Las Vegas.

Rebekah district deputy president Pearl Atherton reported that Miss Adams did an outstanding job of conducting the Assembly when the president was absent because of illness.

How To Dispose Of Trash, Litter Just Plain Junk

Do you have trash, litter, old appliances, old automobiles or car parts — or just plain junk — that you would like to get rid of? If so — this is your opportunity.

During Operation Facelift, all kinds of trash will be carted away and dumped — the only cost to the citizens is the work entailed in getting it out of the yard, street or alley and ready for pick-up.

Trash should be put in containers and put out with the regular garbage for pick-up by the Henderson Disposal Company on their regular pick-up days in all areas of the city.

Container must not weigh more than 100 pounds (according to law) and there is no limit on the number of containers to be emptied or removed.

Extra trucks will be on duty to handle the extra hauling. These will be supplied by the Disposal Company at no extra cost to the City. The only requirement being that the clean-up committee furnish helpers on the extra trucks.

Sam Cohen of Cohen Salvage Company will furnish equipment and operators who will remove items, to heavy for the disposal company to handle. These will include old automobile bodies, electrical appliances — any large heavy things to be disposed of. Helpers will be supplied by the clean-up committee.

Open trucks will also be used for hauling things such as tree limbs, etc., as the disposal service equipment will not handle anything more than three feet long.

In order that Cohen's equipment can be put to good use and this work be done without delay — anyone having old stoves, refrigerators, etc. which they would like removed from their premises, may call FR 2-1741 and ask for Operation Facelift. Your address will be recorded and sometime between May 23 and 30, the big equipment from Cohen Salvage Company will remove it to the city dump.

Debris and trash may be put out in containers anytime between May 23 and May 30. Since the disposal company removes garbage from all parts of the city twice each week, it will not be more than a few days before it is removed, no matter when it is set out.

Trash should be protected; however, so the wind will not blow it out of the containers, necessitating a second cleaning.

CANNON ACCEPTS REQUESTS FOR USMM ACADEMY

Senator Howard W. Cannon has announced that he is accepting requests for nominations to the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy.

Candidates selected as a result of the College Entrance Examination Board's test in March 1960, and qualifying under additional requirements, will enter the Merchant Marine Academy in August 1960, Cannon said.

A nominee must be single, in excellent health, must have reached his 17th, but not his 22nd birthday by July 1, 1960, be a high school graduate or now in his senior year.

The academy located at Kings Point, Long Island, New York, is about 16 miles from New York City. It offers a 4-year course leading to a license as an officer in the U. S. Merchant Marine, a commission as Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve and a Bachelor of Science degree.

Tuition, room and board, required uniforms and text books, medical and dental care are provided by the Government.

Graduates of the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy have a unique opportunity to serve in the nation's fourth arm of defense, and at the same time establish themselves in a proud maritime profession, Cannon said.

Qualified Nevadans should write to U. S. Senator Howard W. Cannon, Senate Office Bldg., Washington 25, D. C., for details.

Desert Cabin Bears Witness That The Good Men Do Lives After Them

By OMAR RYAN
Seldom does a man leave any single thing behind him that speaks of himself so clearly as does the cabin of the lately deceased Fred "Firpo" Sifford.

The cabin crowns a small hill that looks over the entire valley; one can well understand why a thoughtful man would choose this site as a place of meditation.

The sign by the door asks those who use the premises not to be destructive and wishes all mankind peace of mind. On the interior of the cabin is another sign that cautions against taking revenge upon your fellow man.

Firpo firmly believed that vengeance belonged to the Lord. The view from the cabin is inspiring but not more so than was the life of the man who built the cabin.

Firpo was a veterinarian, a gambler, a saloon keeper, a speculator, a minor, and a patent medicine manufacturer. He was all of these things, not consecutively but collectively. Old interests did not make way for new but rather new interests were added to the old.

The man himself seems a paradox: He was a saloon keeper, that neither drank nor smoked;

A professional gambler, who believed that good predominated in his fellow man;

A veterinarian, who primarily was interested in the, so called, incurable ills of humans; A miner, less interested in gold than in earths that might hold some curative value;

A speculator who, valued money less than he valued people; A manufacturer of patent medicines, who believed in his own product to the extent that he used them upon his own family and friends — (and cured them — to boot.)

Firpo was all of these things, cemented together by a deep religious beliefs and a benevolent charity toward his fellow man.

He was born at Bloomfield, Missouri in 1883. His life un-realized ambition was to be a physician. He became instead a veterinarian, then spent three years preparing for a medical degree at Terre Haute, Indiana when circumstances forced him to give up his studies.

During World War One, Firpo served as Regional Veterinarian over twelve counties in Kansas. During this time, he helped in the perfection of two serums; one for the control of hog cholera and the other for blind staggers in horses and cattle.

After the War, he became a professional gambler in Maryland. The profession that he practiced was honest but — in that state — slightly illegal — he came west.

Firpo became a partner in the Four Square Club in Las Veg-

Boatmen Advised To Heed Safety Rules In Stormy, Windy Weather

By MAC EDDY
During high winds, such as have prevailed during the past ten days it is extremely important that all boatmen should observe the safety rules for stormy and windy weather, to insure their safe return to harbor.

Before starting out in your boat, check for the red flag which is flown at each of the marinas when a storm is expected. A check can also be made before leaving home, if the weather is threatening, as the local radio and television stations repeatedly give the weather reports for the Lake Mead and Lake Mohave areas, during the day and evening.

If you miss these, the National Park Service Rangers are installing weather forecast boards at each of the paved launching ramps around the lakes. Heed the weather.

If you still should be caught out in a storm, don't try to come back to the dock, but pull into shore immediately.

Before you go out, anytime, let someone know where you are going and when you expect to be back.

Leave instructions with this person to call the National Park Rangers if you are not back with in a reasonable time. "Lakes Mead and Mohave are extremely large," Chief Park Ranger Joe Keefe, veteran of hundreds of rescues, reminds us. "Lake Mead itself is approximately 120 miles long and has over 500 miles of shoreline. One person or boat is a mighty small object in that expanse."

That is why "where you are going" is so important and can save from hours to a day or more in a rescue operation.

If you have no one at home to leave word with, tell the Park Rangers, or leave word at one of the marina offices.

Be sure to notify these people when you get back. Several full-fledged search operations have been launched in the past, using boats, airplanes and helicopters. Those who had reported the parties missing forgot to report when they came back in.

This might seem funny, except that it can cost you, the taxpayer thousands of dollars per hour for such operations. It could even cost the life of a pilot and observer, for low-level search flying is dangerous.

"In spite of all this," Keefe said, "we would rather make a search everyday of the week, than have one dragging operation."

LOCHRIDGES PLAN SUMMER VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lochridge and their son and daughter, Davy and Jan, plan to spend the summer here, but will take time for a visit to Chadron, Nebraska, where Mrs. Lochridge's parents reside, and to Red Lodge, Montana where Lochridge's parents live.

Lochridge is a mechanical drawing instructor at Basic High School and will next year assume duties as the new assistant football coach.

Reality and Life

by Rev. Clayton H. Gill, Ph.D.
Community Church

Thomas Marcek of the Marriage Counseling Service recently told an audience in Henderson that husbands and wives should keep finding ways of expressing their affection and respect for one another. "We all need the reassurance that someone cares for us," he said.

Outside the family also it pays to show appreciation and human regard. "Outdo one another in showing honor," teaches the Testament, suggesting a creative line of competition.

With an aim like that in mind, the Marriage Counseling Service will soon be making its annual "Family of the Year" award.

This award will be presented to a Clark County family whose "family unity, understanding, activity and devotion demonstrate a successful and happy marriage." To qualify, a family has to be a resident of the county for two years, has to be married for more than five years, but less than twenty-five. It is preferable that they not be married before, but this is not a requirement.

Nominations for this award can be sent in from churches, social, civic and service organizations in Henderson and Boulder City as well as the remainder of the county. A special committee will select the award winner from the nominations. Here are some of the criterion they will use in making the selection:

"Are the respective spouses devoted to, and do they understand each other?"

"What are their common recreational, social and religious activities?"

"In what ways do the parents participate in their children's activities?"

FROM ARMED FORCES
Local men separated from the Armed Forces in the past five weeks were announced by Major James A. May, State Director of Selective Service. They are all now in the reserve.

Edward D. Smith of 103 Yucca Street was released from the Army. Dale W. Roberts of Pittman was discharged from the Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Suit and their son are enjoying a two weeks vacation in Borger, Texas, where they are the guests of their son and daughter-in-law.

Mrs. Suit is employed as a clerk at the Pittman Post Office and Clark works for the City. They plan to be home on June 1.

Planning Board Approves Athol St. Zone Change

The City Planning Board, at its meeting on Thursday, voted to rezone the Athol Street area of the Pittman business and motel section. This action was requested by a petition signed by 52 residents of the affected area, who have protected an automobile wrecking yard which recently moved into that area.

The license for operation of the wrecking yard was approved by the Planning Board at a former meeting and when protestors appeared at the City Council the matter was returned to the Planning Board and approved for a second time.

When the controversial license appeared on the agenda of the City Council, both the wrecking company and the motel owners were on hand to state their views.

The council did not approve the issuing of the license and the wrecking firm took the matter before the District Court to seek a writ of mandamus, allowing them to operate. This was denied on the ground that it was not a proper request.

Members of the Planning Board made personal visits to the area in question before the

Negotiations End Strike at Potash, BMI Continues

The month old strike at American Potash and Chemical Corp. and aBsic Management Inc. by four trade unions, is no nearer a solution than it was when negotiations ended more than two weeks ago, according to A. J. Carrado, Manager of Administrative Services at American Potash.

Negotiations with the trade unions continued after chemical workers accepted the company's offer and returned to work.

Approximately 70 men are on strike, including: machinists, operating engineers, electricians and pipefitters. Another 15 workers in these crafts are on strike at B.M.I.

Basic Management holds control of the water supply of both the city and the industrial plants. City water is delivered from the pumping station at Lake Mead through a B.M.I. owned pipe line, to the redwood tanks near City Hall.

One of the strikers at B.M.I. told the HOME NEWS that there is no one duty at this time to repair the pumps, should they break down, but the pumps have not developed any trouble during the month the men have been on strike.

BROTHERS VISIT MRS. DEVON BECKSTEAD

Recent guests at the DeVon Beckstead home, 141 Elm, were Mr. and Mrs. Rulon L. Denney, their son and daughter, and Robert O. Denney and his two daughters.

The Denneys are brothers of Mrs. Beckstead and the visit was practically a family reunion as only one sister was absent, Mrs. Myron E. Stam.

Couple Injured On Way After Wedding License

A local couple on their way to Las Vegas to get a wedding license were injured Friday night when a car driven by a Nellis airman collided with theirs at the corner of Case Parkway and Vegas Wash Road.

The driver of the car was Leonard Cafferty, 38, who was turning onto Vegas Wash road from Victory Village. He was cited for no Nevada drivers license and for cutting a corner.

The wedding bound couple were Clarence H. Masterson, of 11-B West Lincoln, Carver Park, an employee of a service station operated by Gene Baird, and his fiancée, Edna Sevedge, of 226 Nebraska.

Masterson received minor but painful head injuries and the intended bride was confined to Rose de Lima Hospital for observation. She suffered lacerations of the legs and face.

The airman was not injured, but both ends of the vehicles were damaged.

The accident occurred about 9:20 p.m. Masterson said that he was doing about 30 and watching traffic pretty close and "then wham . . . we didn't have a ghost of a chance."

It was the second accident which brought bodily injury in recent weeks that has plagued the Vegas Wash area. Recently a motorcycle and auto collided and the cyclist is still on crutches. That accident was on the Cholla Street turnout from Manganese Park.

Campers, hunters, fishermen, boatmen, housewives, cross-country truck drivers—all have use for a sleeping bag. Here's a new model that's adaptable for all sorts of situations. It has a full separating zipper, two air-mattress pockets, and detachable head flap. Bag is equally useful for station wagons, aboard the family cruiser, or as extra bed for youngsters. Because it is insulated 100 per cent with "Dacron" polyester fiberfill, it is lightweight, resilient, unattractive to insects, absorbs essentially no moisture, is not weakened by mildew, and is non-allergenic. This "Smokey Bear" style is available at better department and sporting goods stores everywhere.

AP&CC OPENS NEW MIDWEST OFFICE

The National Northern Division of American Potash & Chemical Corporation has opened a Midwest area office to be headed by Earl J. White, Jr., at (70 Boundbrook Drive) Dayton, Ohio, according to an announcement by John A. Haynes, sales manager of the National Northern Division.

Haynes said the expansion move was made because of the continuing rise in National Northern activities such as explosive metal forming, pyrotechnics devices, gas generator propellants, squibs, detonators and other explosive hardware. One of the principal customers of the company is the Air Force, which conducts much of its research in the Dayton area.

ALIBI OPERATOR SEEKS LICENSE FOR BLACKJACK

City Clerk N. D. Van Wagenen has received a request for City Council approval of a blackjack game at the Alibi Club in Pittman.

According to Van Wagenen, if all investigations are completed, it will be presented at the next Council meeting on June 3.

The application was made by Michael Peterson, and was approved by a five to two vote of the State Tax Commission, with George Ullom withholding approval of the application because Peterson has had no previous gambling experience.

Former operators of the Alibi Club have operated blackjack, roulette and bingo games at this location.

MRS. EMIL RICE PASSES IN TEXAS

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

SPARE THAT ANTHOLE.

While the cold war waxed and waned in the outside world during this past two years, I have been engaged in a private war of my own. The enemy — ants.

Hostilities commenced when I accidentally brushed against a shrub one night and it felt as if a thousand needles were pricking me all at once. "Funny," I thought, "I never knew there were any stinging plants around here." Then I saw them, dozens and dozens of the vicious little brutes, all seemingly intent on making a meal of me.

Since then insecticide has been my weapon and persistence my watchword. But with each assault, the ants, intelligent creatures that they are reputed to be, undoubtedly say something like, "Here comes that tiresome human again." They seal the existing entrance to their stronghold, open up another and it's business as usual.

When I saw two small boys crouched over the hole, their noses practically brushing the ground I yelled, "Look out, the place is swarming with ants."

Two absorbed young faces were raised and the owners informed me, "We know. We're catching them to bring to school to study in class." A plastic bag in which several specimens were already imprisoned was waved in my direction and I had to curb a strong desire to turn tail and run.

"This one's a queen and that one's a king," they told me helpfully. "We got lots more." Tenderly placing a board over the anthole, they departed with their booty, leaving me to a moment of doubt. What if I were hampering the march of progress by destroying the raw materials of scientific research?

MRS. JONES HOME

Mrs. Henry N. Jones, 259 Kansas, returned home on Tuesday of last week following a two day stay at Rose de Lima Hospital. She had been hospitalized for observation and tests.

ACROSS THE STREET

The McKinney household, 46 Wyoming is preparing to move, but only across the street. They have purchased the house at 47 Wyoming and hope to move in by June 1st. Meantime they are busy prettying-up the new home, giving it a paint job, setting the yard to rights, and taking care of the numberless other chores that invariably accompany a change of residence.

They also have as house guests Mr. McKinney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. McKinney of Topock, Ariz. As is their custom, the senior McKinney couple are spending part of the summer here, and later will probably visit another son in Los Angeles.

Other McKinneys with out-of-town company are the G.B. McKinneys of 82 Utah Way. Their son, Robert, his wife and two children, Robert Rudd and Toni Therese are here from Long Beach, Calif.

GOOD CATCH

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cooke and daughter, Debbie, 2 E. Texas, spent a fishing weekend in Hawthorne, Nev., and came home with a fine catch of thirty rainbow trout. Best score was chalked up by little Debbie who accounted for no less than 12 — pretty good going for a five-year-old.

4 Local Members Attend D.U.V. Dept. Convention

Four local members of the Elizabeth Benton Tent, 79, of Las Vegas, attended the recent Department Convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War. The convention was held at the El Tejon Hotel in Bakersfield, California.

Local members attending were Vivian Wile, president of the local tent and Alice Smiddy, color bearer number one, both of Henderson and Marion Johnson, secretary, and Ethel Caples, guide of Las Vegas.

Vivian Wile was elected delegate at large of the Department and Ethel Caples was elected tent delegate to attend the National Convention of the D.U.V. which will be held in Detroit in August. Mrs. Wile was also appointed color bearer number one for the Department Convention to be held in Bakersfield next year.

Roll call of descendants of Union Veterans, taken at the "Granddaughters" Luncheon, was answered by 33 daughters, one son, 64 granddaughters, 15 great granddaughters and three great, great granddaughters.

Alice Smiddy represented the local tent in the impressive memorial services, standing in for Chaplain Velma Purdy, who was unable to attend. Members of

Marriage Counselors Speak At Meeting Of Church Association

The Women's Association of the Community Church met on May 20, at Haynes Chapel with Thomas Marshak and Mrs. Sam Weiman of the marriage counseling service as guest speakers.

An outline of the services performed by this group was given.

each tent in the Department participated.

The department drill team, consisting of 20 members of various tents, received a special invitation to attend the national convention from National President Mrs. Inez Farmer of Minneapolis, who was present at the convention in Bakersfield.

The local tent took first prize in the apron parade, held on fun night. The winning apron was made of blue satin with a bib in the shape of the State of Nevada made of white satin. Nevada was spelled out in gold letters, across the top of the bib and a gold star marked the location of the local tent.

It was pointed out by the two speakers that it is the duty of marriage counselors to guide, rather than advise, persons seeking this service. The talks provided both informative and interesting.

The devotional, entitled "Hannah, the Mother of Samuel," was given by Mrs. Leonard Gallo-way. The opening prayer, a poem entitled "Obey," was by Mrs. John Ryan.

A discussion of projects for the year was held and it was decided that the Rock Point Mission on the Navajo Reservation would be retained as the main missionary project for the year.

Another project under discussion by the group is that of sending wearing apparel to needy persons throughout the world. This is a project of the Council of United Church Women.

The Mary Magdalene Circle was hostess circle for the meeting (with refreshments served at Gilbert Hall, following the

By MIKE O'CALLAGHAN
The selection of Dennis Rosch to the R-J All - Star Baseball Team makes him the only member of the graduating class of '59 to receive such honors in two sports this year. Rosch's ability to hit the apple and his speed on the bases gained him the recognition he deserves as an athlete.

It is almost certain that Jerry Goyneche and Bruce Alverson would have been selected to the All-Star team along with Harold English if the Wolves had ranked higher in the final standings.

English is a consistent hitter and knows his game from A to Z. This applies to Goyneche also, who can play any position available on the diamond. Goyneche chucked one game this year and came away the victor over neighboring Boulder City.

Bruce Alverson is without a doubt the best pitcher in the State of Nevada. A little more control would cinch him a place on any college pitching staff in the country. Al's strike-out record, the best in the conference, shows that he has the stuff to make the ball bend.

More support from the players behind him would have given Al a better win-loss record this year. However, Al could have done a great deal more work in early training this spring as he started slow and never did reach his peak during the scholastic season.

The Home News will soon carry a feature story about the plans for many of the graduating athletes.

meeting. The annual breakfast for the women of Grace Community Church will be held this year on July 15, in Gilbert Hall.

Information about the plans of young men like Rosch, Williams, Hornyak, Alverson, and many more is now being gathered by this writer. We hope that the majority of them do not stray far from home pasture. Those that do go great distances to attend college or do their service duty we hope will return when their job is complete.

The young student - athletes are the cream of the crop and our local society needs them so that we may build a solid foundation for a great future. To assure their return we must make opportunity available in Southern Nevada and particularly in Henderson.

The lack of young people that have completed their elementary or secondary education in Henderson and then have gone on to complete college before returning to the city is a danger sign to our society. How many people in this category can you find living in Henderson today?

If you are approached and asked to buy a Little League card that designates you as a supporter of the group, don't hesitate. The person offering to sell you the card is probably donating much more than a dollar to this worthy cause and is asking very little of you.

Men like Bob Hamiter, Junior Davidson, and Red Melton are contributing much more than money to this organization. They are contributing time and effort to guarantee healthy summer recreation for the local youth.

A PLACE TO MEDITATE — this small cabin, situated on a hill a few miles from Henderson, was built by the late Fred Sifford, known to his friends as Firpo, as a place to meditate. It commands a beautiful view of Las Vegas Valley and is far enough removed from any settlement as to give one a complete sense of isolation.—Home News Photo

ALL ARE WELCOME — this sign, which hangs on the wall next to the door, reads: "I am a miner's shack, located on this beautiful hill, where a glorious sunrise and sunset reflects its beauty all over me and surrounding view. I am green, little, helpless and mostly all alone. I make my prospector a very happy home—so please don't molest—leave me all alone and we will all have a home. To all mankind I wish peace of mind and health—of which is our greatest wealth. Firpo—Fred Sifford, D.V.M."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT — Firpo's philosophy is expressed in the words printed on this sign which hangs inside the shack, below a picture of Christ on a cover from Abundant Life Magazine. It reads: "May 15, 1958 I was three score and ten plus five, and very much alive. For a man to obtain peace of mind and health—because your fellow man has misused you and you try to pay him back in the same old way, it won't make hay—only hell, I know very well. Firpo." Firpo claimed that a wash near the shack was beneficial to those suffering from arthritis and rheumatism and many who have gone there for help claim that the wash has healing properties.—Home News Photo.

Nazarene Foreign Missionary Group Becomes Star Society

The Foreign Missionary Society held its last meeting of the church year recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myers, and it was learned that this group is now eligible to be a Star Society.

The five points of the Star represent the number of members; prayer and fasting members; the number reading the six missionary books for the

Safeway Holds Free Ham Dinner Saturday, June 6

George Tydings, manager of the local Safeway Store, this week issued a special invitation to everyone, to attend a free ham dinner to be served at the Safeway Store on Boulder Highway between 6 and 8 p.m. on Saturday, June 6.

The free dinner will be served smorgasbord style and will feature ham with all the trimmings.

Following the dinner an evening of entertainment has been planned on the parking lot.

Exhibition square dancing will be put on by the Do-Si-Don'ts; the Lazy Eights and the Satellites. The latter is a square dance club made up of children from 9 to 12 years of age.

Following the exhibitions by the three square dance clubs, simple easy dances of the circle and round types will be conducted, so that all who attend the dinner, adults and youngsters alike, can participate in the fun.

Calling the dances will be two well known callers, Ralph Cramer and Don Paquette.

A number of prizes will be given away during the evening, Tydings said.

Local Honey Said Beneficial For Allergy Sufferers

A great many claims have been made about the curative properties of honey, the latest of these had half the nation eating honey, fortified with "royal jelly" at fabulous prices, and even invaded the cosmetic field, with "royal jelly" face cream also priced much higher than most merchandise in this field.

The latest of these claims is a little more logical than most and comes to us from Dr. Earl Gould, a local chiropractor.

A number of Dr. Gould's patients have been suffering from hay fever and have reported to the doctor that since they have been eating honey made by bees located in this area, they have built up a resistance to their allergies.

Dr. Gould checked with several other chiropractors in this area and all told him they had known of this old Indian remedy for years.

The theory is that the bees make honey from all of the growing things in the vicinity and those eating the honey build up antibodies which immunizes them from former allergies.

Dr. Gould did not reveal the names of his patients, but said he had tried eating locally produced honey and that it appears to be relieving his own allergies.

The District Assembly of the Nevada-Utah District of the Nazarene Foreign Missionary Society will be held on June 1 and 2, at the Las Vegas church, located at 14th and Ogden. The meeting on June 1 will convene at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Milton Harrington, District President from Reno will be in charge.

The next meeting of the local group will be held on June 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stukas, 419 West Atlantic. The study will be on Africa and all interested persons are welcome.

THROUGH YOUR LOOKING GLASS

By BETH JANOSIK

Third and, I believe, most important in our five basic beauty steps, is stimulation. Either too much or too little causes serious problems.

Over-stimulation on oil skins makes them more oily; thin sensitive skins tend to become irritated or tiny broken capillary veins appear. Because the blood stream is the only real source of food supply for your skin it is necessary to keep your circulation under control, as it were, in affected areas.

Dead, flaky skin must be removed to allow supplementary treatments as such penetration as possible on dry skins. Oily skins need the thick coarsened texture corrected. Blackheads and whiteheads need cleaning plus revitalizing sluggish pores.

Beauty grains are effective where thick, coarse or dry, flaky areas form. The friction and formula help sluff off flakes, refine coarse skin and dislodge blackheads as well as whiteheads.

Stimulation masks, creams, and lotions encourage circulation in sallow or sluggish conditions just as liniments are used to relieve congestion on your body.

Unless you are quite sure of your skin needs, it is best to go to a person trained in this field and have the proper analysis and prescription — home remedies can be as disastrous in skin care as they are sometimes in health care.

SISTER AND HUSBAND GUESTS OF GIBSONS

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson were Commander T. J. and Mrs. Sorenson, who is a sister of Mrs. Gibson.

Commander Sorenson, who is with the U.S. Navy, had recently returned from a brief trip to Japan on the S.S. Hornet. He returned by air. While he was absent, his wife was a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brimley of Las Vegas.

Summer Typing Classes Possible

Elbert Edwards, principal, says that considerable interest has been expressed in summer school work at the high school. A class for beginner's typing has aroused the most enthusiasm. This course can be made available, Edwards stated, for a minimum of 12 students at a cost of $22.50 per student for the six-week, 60 hour course. A half unit of credit will be given those qualified. Parents or students interested are asked to call the high school office immediately for registration.

GRACE CHURCH BIBLE SCHOOL SCHEDULE SET

The Grace Community Vacation Bible School is set for June 8 through June 19 inclusive. Classes will be conducted at the church each week day from 9 to 11:30 a.m. The first hour will include a worship service and Bible study, followed by a 15 minute recess and craft classes.

Registration blanks will be sent home with the children Sunday and those not registered may do so June 5 from 2 to 4 p.m.

CLARK FAMILY VISITS OUR CAPITAL CITY

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. "Duke" Clark, 644 California, recently returned from a weekend in Carson City. The Clarks went there to welcome the new Jaycees chapter that has just opened. To welcome in the new chapter, they held a banquet for them. Clark is the President of our chapter here. Carrol McCall accompanied them on this trip. He is the President of the Nevada Jaycees.

The theme for the session is "Living With Jesus in the Space Age." Mrs. John King will be chairman of the classes for four-year-olds and Mrs. Edward Rogers will conduct the five-year-old classes.

Mrs. E. A. Cunningham will head the Bible study and Mrs. William Glover, craft work in the primary group. This group will meet in the Youth Chapel. The Junior department, under the supervision of Mrs. Buel Morton and Mrs. Wade Taylor, will meet in the church sanctuary. Intermediates being taught by Mrs. Harold Lambert and Mrs. A. W. Skerry Jr., will meet in the church social rooms.

Mrs. Esther Waters, Mrs. Shirli Stice, assisted by Miss Elaine McAdams and Miss Patti Lewis will act as secretaries. Mrs. Clarence Johnson, 421 Birch St., will care for the young children of mothers who will be teaching. The teaching staff will be announced later.

FOUR PASTORS TO CONDUCT BACCALAUREATE

Four pastors of local churches, the Rev. David K. Wilson, the Rev. Earl Fox, the Rev. Louis Nimmo and Bishop Bert Whitney will conduct the Baccalaureate program for graduating seniors May 31 at the elementary school gym at 8 p.m. The program will open with "Pomp and Circumstance," Peggy Wood and Mary Kay Taylor; the Invocation by the Rev. Wilson; "Lift Thine Eyes," Girls Glee Club; Scripture Reading by the Rev. Fox; "If With All Your Hearts," Girls Glee Club and a prayer by the Rev. Fox.

The Rev. Nimmo will deliver the sermon and this will be followed by the hymn, "I May Never Pass This Way Again." Madrigal Singers will offer "Turn Back, O Man" accompanied by Nita Kay Layton. Bishop Whitney will give the benediction.

"Pomp and Circumstances" will accompany the recessional. Sixty-four seniors will be graduated at exercises June 2 at the Athletic Stadium at 8 p.m.

2 Seniors Given State Awards By Elk Foundation

Two high school seniors, — Margaret Ann Willoughby and Judith F. Bell, were awarded state prizes given by the Elks National Foundation, it was announced by John King, youth chairman of the Elks Lodge here.

Margaret Ann was given a leadership prize of $250 in bonds and Judy received a $500 scholarship for the colleg of her choice.

Presentation will be made at the Honors and Awards assembly at the high school gym May 27 at 8 p.m.

King said that he felt that Mrs. Lillian Honeycutt, girls counselor, deserved credit for encouraging students to make up the required scrap books of their activities.

These scrapbooks were entered in the national contest in which the foundation donates a large number of scholarships to boys and girls. Leo Dunbar, treasurer of the local lodge, said the winners will be announced in July. Because of expansion in the foundation awards program, the above prizes are the largest so far on a state level. National awards have also been increased in size and number.
