While registration is closed for those who would like to vote in next Tuesday's primary elections, it opens today for those in this community who aren't registered and want to vote in the city's special election on the fire and policemen's raise ordinance. City Clerk Ann Elsea announced yesterday that registrations can be made starting today and she named Joy Frank, Genevieve Harper and Betty Duty along with herself as registrars. Mrs. Frank will take registrations at the police station, and the other three will take them at the city hall. The special election will be held Sept. 26. The ballot will contain two alternatives — one proposed by the fire and policemen, the other proposed by the city council.

Snake Bites Dog! Beware of Rattlers!

A bold warning that there are snakes to be reckoned with around the city right now was brought sharply to the attention of the community Sunday when a baby side-winder rattlesnake bit a Doberman puppy dog belonging to the Robert Sendleins at 106 Ash Street. The snake was found and killed after discovery that the dog had been bitten on the nose. Fortunately for the dog, the bite on the nose was the one place where the animal has the most resistance, inasmuch as there is less blood circulation there and the poison of the snake could not enter the dog's blood circulatory system. The snake was 7 inches long, indicating that others may be around from the same litter (or is it hatching?) The snake can be seen—bottled in alcohol—at police headquarters.

LORIN WILLIAMS VISITS RIVERSIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Williams, Kathleen and Lamar spent 2 days in Riverside, California over the weekend where they visited with Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Boosey and many other relatives. The center of attraction were the 8 month old twins, Richard Berry and Robert Larry Jones, who were named after each side of the family, who reside in Riverside.

Prompting the trip was Lamar getting to see many relatives before he leaves home soon to enter the University of Denver where he will major in mechanical engineering.

BASIC HIGH SCHOOL GRIDDERS PREPARE FOR ST. GEORGE GAME

By Burt Hoffman
The Basic High School football squad is now in its second week of intensive practice readying for the game with Dixie High of St. George at the local gridiron on Friday night September 9th.

Coach Cummings and his staff had a few scrimmage sessions the latter part of last week and yesterday had his lads go through some dummy scrimmages using some of the plays they will use against the Utahians.

Cummings is working three offensive units, one quarterbacked by Darryl Monahan, one by Frank Schreck, and one by Hank Sena. He has the same defensive unit operating against all three.

One note of encouragement was the appearance of Craig Ballew, who worked out yesterday for the first time.

With little more than ten days before the opening whistle the Blue and White, faced with a wholesale reorganization of both offense and defense, must work rapidly to achieve the teamwork that is necessary to contain the fleet "Dixieites," whose ranks include many holdovers from last year's team.

Despite the lack of size and weight of the current squad, the coaching staff is pleased with the enthusiasm and spirit and look forward to the boys giving a good account of themselves in the initial fray.

Car Riddled By BB Pellets

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bloom of 218 Kansas told police that some unidentified juveniles have fairly riddled their family car with BB pellets. Sgt. Bob Fleming found several dents in the fenders, one broken side window, a blasted rear window and 15 bullet holes in the left rear window.

Asked what was the answer in this situation, he said, "A bullet-proof car."

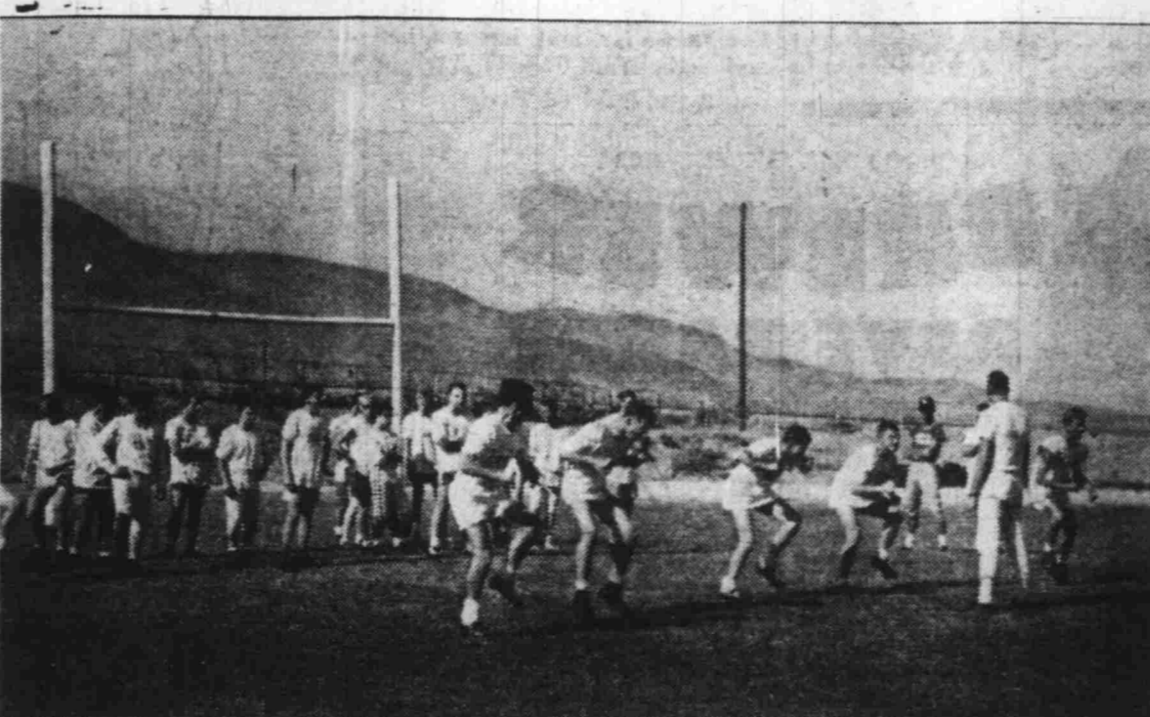

It is against the law to shoot BB guns in the city limits and police are keeping a sharp lookout for the juvenile who damaged the Bloom vehicle.

AGAINST BACKGROUND OF BLACK MOUNTAIN, Basic offensive units run through series of plays in preparation for long campaign.

COACH CUMMINGS outlines play to be used against St. George as squad prepares for initial encounter. Coach Dick Empson looks on.

The flag ceremony was by the Henderson First Ward, and the opening prayer by Mary Louise Empey. Gay Pendleton, stake Beekeeper gave the welcome address.

Dear Morry:
You may have heard about the proposed panel discussion on gambling, to be held here in Carson on September 14th. This will be so arranged that an agenda will be forwarded well in advance to each person participating. I think views honestly and impartially stated at such a forum can be of great help to the industry and the Legislature. I would be most appreciative if you would consent to participate. Would you advise by return mail.

Attending the party were Barbara and Bradford Jones, Milena and Richard Eidson, Tony Dillard, Bob Bernsten, Charles Edward Baker, Tommy Dickinson, the guest of his brother and sister, Peter and Kathy Olsen.

Ethel Jilbert of Federal Street held a "Come As You Are" breakfast and tupperware party. Many fines were collected from those girls who claimed they did not know it was "Come As You Are." Dorothy Dietrich won the prize for the most relaxed looking costume.

Those attending were Maryon Hebert, Dorothy Dietrich, June Ross, Dorothy Hastings, Andy McClanahan, Malhilala Hillis, Evelyn Sellar and her mother and sister from Canada, Tarrain Smith and Mildred Tiegler.

Mrs. Joe Phillips Shower Honoree

Mrs. Joe Phillips was honored and surprised recently with a stork shower at St. Peter's Auditorium when she was told "to come to a meeting that Sister had arranged." On entering, everyone shouted "surprise" and she was seated at the long gift table in the front where two large colorful storks reigned.

The room was elaborately decorated in baby colors of blue and pink. The gift table was laid with an ecru lace cloth over pink with a wide apron of pink petals to the floor. Behind the table were pale pink streamers forming a large pink bow. The reception table was covered identically to the gift table and was centered with a large white sheet cake bordered in blue and individual pieces topped with a pink bootee. Colorful fruit punch was served from crystal service.

Favors pinned to each guest were polka-dotted diapers. The guests were seated at "L" shaped tables centered with pink olenders and greenery where they played writing games. Winners were Caroline Rodrigues, Angie Monohan and Marge McManus with the door prize (could it have been FIXED?) by the honoree, Shipley Phillips.

Hostesses arranging the party were Loretta Winzinger, Kathryn Jones, Marie Kelley, Frances Hinkell and Lela Buescher.

Other guests present were: Mary Anne Struthers, Frances Leavitt, Mary Goretzki, Dorothy Harkins, Gerrie DePeal, Arleen Rodrigues, Margaret Lomprey, Madeline Hinkell, Isabelle Pearson, Jeanne Olsen, Bernice Kwiecien, Rosemary Rose, Bert Shearin, Marge Manion, Annette Dromirecki, Belle Sanner, Bernice Schwartz, Elaine LaPorta and Madolyn Watson, all of Henderson; Charlotte Cantwell, Phoebe Rodrigues and Teresa

Residents Enjoy SNU Classes

A large group of local teachers, future teachers and people simply interested in improvement, took courses at Nevada Southern this summer.

Students included Mrs. Joe Schreck who took history of arithmetic and psychology of the adolescent. Mrs. Lydia Malcolm, local librarian, says she took an interesting vocabulary course. Lee Lamoreaux and Eunice Haines studied anthropology — American Indian of the West and Mrs. Don Smith enrolled in a physical education course.

Teachers took the courses for credit to keep their teaching credential current; others simply because they enjoy learning.

Mulroy of Las Vegas and Marge McManus of Boulder City.

4-YEAR TERM

2nd Installment of Stevens Land Case Hearing Testimony

(Editor's Note — Following is a continuation of the details of the hearing held by the City Council last week on the malfeasance in office charge against Councilman Jack Stevens. This material is taken from the files of the City Clerk's office—the public record of the proceedings. The HOME NEWS will bring the entire matter to its readers as a public service. Space limitations force our doing it in installments. The next installment will be printed in Thursday's issue.)

MAYOR: Excuse me, Jack, a minute. Bill, it was my impression (and Bob, for your information as well as my own) that I'm asking questions because I certainly don't know the proper conduct; I know the proper conduct for the holding of this hearing, but I feel that perhaps it might not be in order for this to have been read at this public hearing. It certainly was called and, as a matter of fact, even requested to be held as soon as possible by Councilman Stevens; and I don't know whether we would be committing—if you'll remember, Bob, the reason for the setting aside—the prime reason, I should say, for the setting aside of the action of a City Council in a sister-city, was because the person complained of did not have the opportunity to present his side of the matter, and because of what the Court felt was absolute improper conduct in the hearing. So, I certainly don't want that to happen; and, I'm asking our City Attorney for some advice, now as to whether or not we are in a position of having two commitments, with Councilman Stevens being required to give us the chance to do so.

CITY ATTORNEY: Well, I want to say first, Mayor, that you have adopted, apparently, one method provided by the law to hear this matter. Now, as Councilman Kesterson has pointed out, there's another. This could be brought by any complainant; it could be brought by one of the Councilmen, it could be brought by a citizen, it could be brought by any court. You are not required to have such a hearing as has been proposed here. But, as I pointed out in the letter, it is certainly your duty, if you feel that there has been misconduct, that it be brought to the attention of the City Council.

MAYOR: Well, therefore, Bill, would it be proper and in the proper order of business to permit Councilman Stevens to make his statement and then Councilman Kesterson to make his motion; and if it finds favor with the majority of the Council, then, of course, we would proceed that way. Or would it be out of order for Bob to make his motion and it would make it fair, if it finds favor with the majority of the Council, should Councilman Stevens not have had the opportunity to make his statement?

CITY ATTORNEY: Well, personally, I think that the complaining factors having been read, and the opinion of such, that Mr. Stevens should have the opportunity; this was the cause of the Public Hearing. He should at least have an opportunity of equal ways and time to give his side of it, if he wants to.

STEVENS: I certainly do, Bill. It's been out in the open in the local press long enough—and I'm ready. I want to discuss it right now.

CITY ATTORNEY: If it is the desire of the Council not to examine, they could do it one of two ways. They could vote against removing Mr. Stevens from office; and in such case, it would still not preclude someone from bringing the court action. On the other hand, they have the power, if they so desire and believe what they believe to be the facts, to remove Mr. Stevens. In other words, it's a matter of what the Council wants.

STEVENS: I want to say, Bill, that my integrity has been questioned here; I have a side to it; and I haven't yet been given an opportunity to present these facts to the people; and I'm ready to proceed with the hearing. The hearing has been duly called, the charges have been made and spoken here, and I'd like to be heard at this time.

MAYOR: Well, I'll ask Councilman Kesterson, then—if you have any objection, Bob, to Councilman Stevens making his statement; and after he has made his statement, if you and the majority of the Council do not want to proceed any further with the hearing after he has made his reply, then, I will entertain a motion from you that we do what you have suggested.

KESTERSON: Well, I still do not want to be involved in the hearing as such, that the Court render a decision. I don't feel qualified to render a decision on this.

MAYOR: Well, we wouldn't have to do that if you make a motion after he makes his statement; or you can make a motion now, and I'll have to have an opinion.

INTERRUPTION: With Several People Talking At Once.

STEVENS: I think my entire defense can be answered by a very pointed question from information that I have here tonight and that I will present to him. And I see no reason any citizen that want to, even after this hearing, can still go forth and go into court and bring any charges that they wish. And I think that the hearing should proceed.

CITY ATTORNEY: Mr. Mayor, I don't think it depends upon the wishes of any individual Councilman as to whether Mr. Stevens be allowed to present his side of the story.

MAYOR: Except that if he moves it be according to his recommendation, I'll have to accept a motion; and at the time it has a second, we will have to vote on it—and if it finds favor, that is what we'll have to do.

CITY ATTORNEY: Well, that would be, in effect, tabled. That is what it amounts to.

MAYOR: Well, his motion would be that we refer the matter to the District Court and make the complaint to the District Court.

PERSON UNKNOWN: There is no proof.

MAYOR: Well—

PAGAN: Then I think it's up to the Council to make the referral.

MAYOR: Beg pardon?

PAGAN: Then it's up to the Council to make a referral.

CITY ATTORNEY: This is not a matter of making a referral to the District Court. An action has been asked to be started in the District Court and it has to be started by someone. As I say, you can do it either of two ways. If the Council, as a body, feels that what took place constitutes malfeasance, misfeasance, and they so desire, they have the power to vote Jack Stevens out of office. If they do not decide, then they leave him in office.

MORRELL: Bill, could I ask this question. You had based your opinion upon information you accrued by your letter and telephone, which you stated in your reading. Now, it would be very possible that additional information could be rendered; and that you, yourself, would change your opinion on the basis of this additional information rendered.

MORRELL: I'd like to know who's going to make the complaint, now. How can the Council make the complaint without knowing the facts? I mean, just who's going to do it? Who's going to do it?

KESTERSON: I don't know who'll do it; but I imagine the complaint has already been made, actually.

INTERRUPTION: Several People Talking at Once regarding who should Make the Complaint.

STEVENS: Somebody has to go into the District Attorney and sign the complaint; and until this is done, it will not be taken into court, and I do think that I have my right to stand up here before these good people of Henderson and present my side of the picture.

KESTERSON: That's perfectly alright with me, Jack. I've stated my views on it; and the way I feel about it, I—the way I feel about it—

STEVENS: Well, Bob, what are your objections to this? It could still be presented to the Court. You don't have to give a decision. What is your objection to this?

KESTERSON: I've already stated my feelings, now, and I've made a motion; and if it gets voted down, that's fine, Jack.

MAYOR: Do I hear a second to the motion?

PAGAN: I second it.

MAYOR: The motion has been moved and seconded that the complaint be presented to the District Court for its hearing and decision; and that the Council do not hear any more of the complaint tonight. Is that the motion?

CITY ATTORNEY: I don't think it's an adequate solution to just say that the matter be referred to the District Court or that a complaint be filed. The Council would have to direct that filing; they have no authority to direct you, as Mayor, to file a complaint. They can individually file it if they wish. I don't think it would be possible.

KESTERSON: I didn't say he should file it, did I?

CITY ATTORNEY: No, I did not say you did, but you didn't mention anyone. I am just pointing out that—

SEVERAL PEOPLE SPEAKING AT ONCE

KESTERSON: If nobody files a complaint, then that takes care of it, doesn't it?

STEVENS: Take care of it, yes, but I'm going to have my right to speak.

INTERRUPTION: Several people speaking at once. Mayor raps for Order.

MAYOR: Do you wish to clarify your motion, Bob?

MORRELL: . . . we want to do it the right way and the reputable way.

CIVIL DEFENSE: An American Tradition

SUBMITTED BY LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS WHO PARTICIPATED IN VFW CONTEST

By LINDA PHILLIPS
This was not a large city. It was only a middle-sized American town — shall we call it Westfield — with a few thousand average citizens. For months, even years, this community knew that an atomic attack was possible. Oh, there had been attempts at civil defense. In fact, each month the sirens blared, the radios switched to the CONELRAD frequencies, and policemen with little black bands on their arms busily routed the enthusiastic, interested citizens into their dens of shelter. Automobiles were abandoned in the middle of the jammed boulevards, and people ran helter-skelter and disappeared into massive cement structures. In a matter of moments, the drill was over; and once again the devoted participants returned to their separate walks of life.

However, only a small few of the people of this town were interested. The others sat complacently in front of their television sets, at the wheels of their yachts, and strolled along the fairways of the country club. They ridiculed the pathetic efforts of the handful of serious volunteers. These people knew that protection was needed; they did not stop to think that it must be provided before, not after the sirens sounded for the real danger.

The cautious, prepared individuals in the city had, step by step, made ready for the disaster that they knew could play a tragic part in their lives. To them, the frequent practices and warnings given by the Office of Defense Mobilization were not monotonous and boring. They built good, strong shelters and did not heed the jeers of the nonconformists. They industriously filled the shelves and nooks of their homes with water and food and bandages for the wounds that were sure to come. With determined hands they printed the names, addresses, and religions of their loved ones on small tags so a separated family could be together again. On and on they worked, quietly and steadily with fear in their hearts but common sense in their minds.

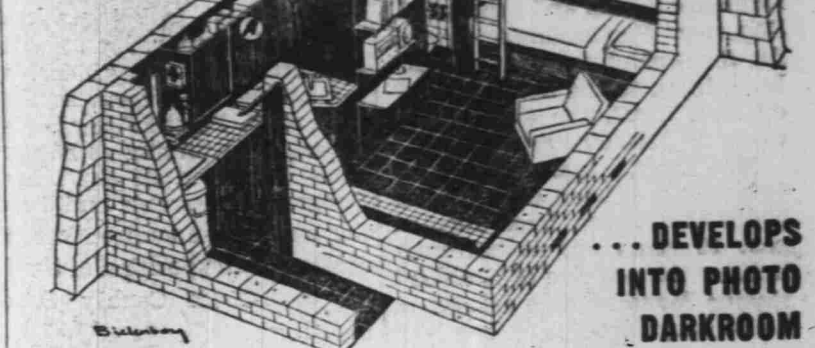

At last, on one fall day, the years of make-believe rehearsal were to have their chance on a real stage. The movements and plans that had become so mechanical would be the delicate line between life and death. There were two alerts practiced by the city. The first, "Operation Yellow," began when the enemy planes began their flight across the American skies. The prepared citizens began the routine they knew so well. The flow of music on their radios was broken by the words of the announcer: "We interrupt our normal program to co-operate in security and civil defense measures as requested by the United States Government. This station is now leaving the air. Tune your radio dial to 640 or 1240." Anxiously the people waited for the comforting words. "Do not be alarmed; this is only a practice." The words did not come. Their hopes were crushed by the reality of the moment. This was for real!

Not more than an hour later, "Operation Yellow" became "Operation Red." The bombers were heading directly for Westfield, and time was running out. The high, shrill whistle of the sirens pierced the air, and the people ran for their familiar shelters. Meanwhile, the streets were overflowing with the throngs of people who never bothered to listen to the earnest warnings of the civil defense leaders. Confused and panic-stricken, these victims of mass hysteria fell upon the ground and upon each other. The news was quickly spread that New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco were completely destroyed—H bombs. The President was dead, and the last seconds of their own lives were ticking away. The common cry from the lips of those who once thought civil defense was so funny was, "Please, just one more chance!" But there was no second chance. The deafening roar of the overhead planes drowned out the screams of the humans below. A blinding flash of white light, far brighter than the sun, illuminated the area. Then, quickly as it had begun, it was all over.

A quiet hush fell upon the twisted, crumpled city. From atop a tall, slender pole, a shredded red, white and blue flag dangled without stripes, stars or pride. Grotesque shapes of molten lead circumscribed trees and houses and human forms. A middle-sized American city was gone. Yes, there were a few who lived because of the simple steps they took in time. Civil defense—an American tradition? Indeed it is. Just as there has always been and always will be a flock of laxy, contented and uninterested individuals, there shall also be an army of courageous, serious minded heroes who have the pride, the defense, and the future of a nation at heart.

Gaming Hearing Statements Are Presented Today

(Editor's Note—The following is a condensed version of the city council's public hearing held last week on the subject of zoning changes to allow extended gaming in the downtown area. Last week the city clerk and her assistant attempted to draft a word for word report of the hearing—but ran into recording machine trouble and thus last Thursday's report and this one which concludes it cannot be adjudged as completely accurate as a direct testimony report usually is. What is presented following is from the city clerk's file—as near accurate as could be obtained as a result of the badly acting machine. The gist of the statements follow.)

14. Mrs. Neilson, 478 Rose Way: "Any good property owner wants to protect his own property, and that is what our zoning laws are for. I cannot understand why we have schools in a gambling area—the school was there first. If we let one person have gambling tables how can we refuse to let other ones come in. Now is the time to act—people should have the opportunity to go to the polls and vote for or against gambling."

15. Neil C. Twitchell, 121 Fir Street: "I am a teacher and have taught approximately 130 of your children in the last four years. The zoning ordinance originally would keep all gaming on the Boulder Highway. Gambling helps bring about criminal acts. Let us make our town the kind of a town we want to live in."

16. Mr. Bert Coe, 425 Federal: "I would like to take issue with several people. I differ with Mr. Christian in the addition of employment of 20 people. Where are they coming from? What does a meal have to do with gambling? If they are there primarily to supply meals for the plant men, let them supply the meals. Why do our elected officials keep bringing up the question of gambling. When we elect or officials, we believe that they will follow the things they stand for when they campaign."

17. Mr. Simon, 102 Hickory: "I work for a living with my hands. Where will revenue come from for employees of the Firemen and Policemen Departments? If there is no revenue for it, then it must come out of our pockets. As you probably noticed, in this coming election we will vote on a raise for the firemen and policemen. They need it. Now where is the revenue coming from? The way I see it now, if we don't do something to get new revenue into the City, it is coming out of yours and my pockets. If the revenue the City gets from putting in the new '21' and 'Crap' tables will help me to reduce my taxes and water bill and pay the City Employees a decent living wage, then I am all for it."

18. Dr. Jones, 1 year resident of City: "Gambling is a recognized legal business. I am not for a mass clean up. The main question here seems to be to keep gambling away from the schools, and I think that it should be."

19. Mrs. Webb, 441 Basic Rd. 8 year resident of Henderson: "Las Vegas keeps their gambling away from the schools. The children are the most important investment in the City of Henderson. If this re-zoning is allowed there will be more gambling establishments near our schools. Gambling attracts loiterers and we do not want loiterers around our schools. I don't want to leave Henderson. There are too many things that I do like in Henderson, but I don't see why we should allow gambling to go around our schools."

20. Mrs. Haag—"Our committee is not opposed to gambling except near the Townsite School. I feel sure that the industry that might be discouraged from coming here by having open gambling within the City would hire more employees than that number the Royal would be hiring. Gambling cost the City money in added police protection, social problems that cause added personnel, and industrial repercussions in employees' relation problems. Mr. Mayor, rumors indicate that you have conflict of interest involved in the passing of the zoning ordinance. Is it true you are considering going into a gambling venture after the zoning ordinance is passed?"

Mayor Byrne's Answer: "No I am not at the moment, but I am not promising that I will not. If you are talking about '21' tables and 'crap' tables I am not, but if you are talking about 'slot machines,' possibly in the future."

"Mr. Morrell, is it true that you are considering perhaps going into a gambling venture after this zoning ordinance becomes law?"

Mr. Morrell Answers: "I can say this, if I were, I would not vote on it."

21. Lloyd Davis, 43 Church Street: "I work at the Royal. I am married and have one child, and I have no fear of gambling whatsoever. There will be no access to the gambling for the children. Everyone should be allowed to make their own decisions."

Mayor Byrne at this time read letters addressed to the Southern Nevada Industrial Foundation from the following companies:

- Nevada Natural Gas Pipe Co.
- American Potash and Chemical Corporation
- Clark County School District
- Stauffer Chemical Company.
- Southwest Corporation.
- Reynolds Electrical and Engineering Company, Inc.
- Southern Nevada Power Co.
- U. S. Lime Products Corp.
- Federal Services, Inc.
- Union Pacific Rail Co.

all saying that gambling in Nevada is not a drawback to industry.

Following a short question and answer period the public hearing was closed at 10:45 p.m. Ann Elesa City Clerk

STAUFFER HONORS EMPLOYEES, AS SHOWN HERE; 40 Stauffer employees were feted at a luncheon at the Swanky Club recently and were presented with awards for their 15 years of service in the local plant. Men received engraved tie clasps and ladies, bracelets. Ilean Crawford and Toni Carter, hold a "75" sign indicating Stauffer Chemical Company's completion of 75 years of business success as it completes 15 years of local operation.

STAUFFER HONORS 40 15-YEAR EMPLOYEES

Stauffer Chemical Company held its first annual luncheon at the Swanky Club recently honoring more than 40 employees for 15 years of faithful and devoted service at the company's plant here.

James Orr, Works Manager, served as master of ceremonies, expressing the company's appreciation and passing out 15 year awards of tie clasps for the men and bracelets for the ladies. Vice President, John Stauffer, who has been actively interested in Henderson, sent a telegram that was read, expressing his appreciation to the faithful workers.

Honored at the luncheon were George Black, Ed Blankenship, Frank Bleak, Frank Bouksa, Art Brown, Elmer Buescher, Arlene Carter, Roy Clark, Thomas Cole, Willie Coleman, Ilean Crawford, Billie Delaney, William Doremus, Thomas Flack, Elvis Gill, Ernie Graham, James Hardy, Paul D. Harris, Joe Harrison, Nick Havrilla, Lawrence Helms, Waldo Highfill, Elmer Hilsinger, Walter Honey, Elmer "Roy" Hughes, Dirk Kossen, Jim Lloyd, Doyle Martin, Rey Martinez, Harold Miller, Wesley Miller, Manuel Sanchez, Sr., Billy Saner, Samuel Schiers, Frank Schreck, Paul Shepherd, Charles Truworthly, Jack Warren, Henry Weidman, Charles Welsh and Cletus Wirth.

The 40 employees receiving their 15 years' awards were among the 130 persons employed by Stauffer Chemical Co. when they started their operation here in 1945. The majority of these employees had previously worked for Basic Magnesium Inc., many of them in the chlorine, caustic department.

Works Manager, Orr gave a run down on the history of the plant here and of some of the difficult times they faced. He concluded, "In appreciation for this work and loyalty, to better Stauffer Chemical, I am very happy we have these tokens of esteem which we hope you will wear with pride."

Asst. Works Manager, Len Edwards commented, "It is just this kind of thing that has contributed to the success of Stauffer Co. Who is responsible for Stauffer's 75 years of success? People like you."

Humorous stories were told in a lighter vein which brought back memories of other days and friends that had been transferred to other plants.

Firemen Kept Busy by Alarms

Local firemen were busy the last few days answering 5 fire alarms when 4 of the fires were cars.

A refuse pile at the rear of the Henderson Auto Body shop, owned by Chris Torres, was extinguished by firemen who kept the flames from causing any damage. The Pittman and Townsite trucks were both used Friday about 3 p.m. when Mr. Torres was led to believe that two youngsters may have caused it.

A car fire call was answered also by firemen Friday at the home of Thelma Christman, 223 Tungsten. Firemen disconnected wires to the battery on the 1953 Chrysler and damage was slight.

A car fire at the home of Mrs. Ragan, 30 Atlantic was extinguished when the front seat of the car was burning. Ted Russ said the fire could have been caused by a cigarette.

Another car fire reported was at the home of Mrs. Allen Windall, 530 National which was determined to be caused from the ignition.

A house fire was extinguished at 34 West Pacific at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ward. The home was owned by William Midwood of Long Beach.

A theft of clothing from an automobile mounting to around $364 was reported to the local police Saturday by Charles R. McEwen of Orem, Utah.

Due care is a legal phrase, but the lack of it causes the deaths of many Americans every year.

The boys came in 5th for the season but declared "next year, we'll play just like our Dads and show up better!"

Judge Treem's Court Friday

Appearing before Judge Treem Friday in Municipal Court on charges of reckless driving was Paul Wagner, who changed his plea from not guilty to guilty. His excuse was that he was not driving recklessly, merely showing off for the benefit of his passengers. "I think he was more thoughtless than reckless," City Attorney retorted. Wagner was found guilty and fined $100.

Three cases involving excessive use of alcohol crowded the agenda: Donna Lou Bugg, 30, pleaded guilty to the charge of gross intoxication—Judge Treem fined him $25; Jody Paul Hill, 33 pleaded not guilty to driving while under the influence of alcohol with his bail of $200 to stand.

George E. Clark, 48, in police custody on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol, did not appear.

June Chamblin pleaded guilty to disregarding a stop sign and not having a Nevada license in her possession, was fined $5. The case of Robert Dorman was postponed to September 26th.
