Developed Area On Major Showing Signs Of Life Now
Local residents who have little faith in the growth of the city, should motor out Major this week-end and see the activity in that area. Two good sized apartment projects are slowly getting underway, and there are two good sized privately owned houses already under way.
In addition to this, Royal Enterprises is well advanced with a fourplex. More may follow it is understood.
Development of this area started many months ago when water and sewer service was extended to the area. Streets and curbs have also been installed, making the developed acreage very desirable for homes and apartments.
In addition to the 128 apartment units to be built soon in the Major Street area, many others are expected to be constructed in the neighborhood in the months ahead. The area could become the city's most thickly populated section in the next two or three years it has been reported.

The 17 fourplexes being built by a Las Vegas firm are to be of stucco construction. In the 15 fourplex apartment project, concrete block will be used.
Until a few months ago the city had few listings of apartment dwellings. However the completion of the 128 apartment units will eliminate this problem.
Residential development in the city is on the upswing. One look at the area along Major will convince any Doubting Thomas on this score.
OSCAR JOHNSON RETURN TO ENJOY SEMI-RETIREMENT
"The desert has us," remarked Mrs. Oscar Johnson of 15 E. Basic Rd., commenting on her recent move from Arlington, California. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson lived in this area for 18 years previous to their move to California in 1960.
Johnson, a former Civil Service employee of Nellis Air Force Base, is now semi-retired.
The Johnsons have three sons and a daughter in Arlington, whose families include four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.
"Henderson is a homey community," according to the Johnsons, and they like living near the desert.

CENSUS FIGURES SHOW OUR POPULATION IS EXTREMELY YOUTHFUL
Information received by the Chamber of Commerce on the latest census shows a 3 per cent increase of population from 1950 to 1960 and confirms the findings of the team who surveyed the city for the first city directory—that our city has an exceptionally young population.
Of the 12,525 people living here in 1960, only 2.9 per cent were in the retirement age bracket of 65 years and over; 45 percent were 18 years and under; 52 percent were between 18 and 64 years old.
Marriage statistics also point up the trend toward youthful weddings—75.4 percent of the male residents 14 years and older were married while among men 18 years old and over only 50.5 were married. Female residents 14 years and over showed a percentage of 77.7 married.
The population has since reached a total of 13,520.

Good was dead upon arrival at Rose de Lima Hospital. Arrington was also taken to

Wage Boosts Ratified By Council

The city council last night at its regular session at Eagles Hall adopted the salary schedule as adopted when the city budget was set up for the fiscal year starting July 1.
Don Dawson, city auditor asked that the council ratify the schedule so that it could be put into effect the first of the month.
The new salary schedule is set up so that raises will run about eight percent for the employees in the lower wage bracket down to four percent in the higher wage group.
It was estimated that each city employee would receive a wage boost of $25. Funds were set aside in the budget to take care of the wage increases.

Ordinance Is Read In Title Before Council

The ordinance on Connection Fees and Refunding agreements was read in title last night at the regular meeting of the city council at Eagles Hall.
Councilman Frank Morrell asked city attorney John Manzonie if the council could enter into a refunding agreement after the ordinance became final, and the attorney agreed that it would be legal after the ordinance was passed. This satisfied the council group, and no further discussion was held on the ordinance.
The ordinance will be published, and will then be read in full at the next regular meeting of the council. If approved at that time the measure will become a law.
Resolution No. 103 on business licenses for bench advertising was also adopted by the council last night. The resolution gave the council exclusive rights to enter into an agreement with a person or business to maintain benches at bus stops and other public areas.

Worboys started his grocery career with Safeway in Inglewood, Calif., in 1932. He was in the Army for four years and eight months beginning in 1941. Worboys was in the 139th Quartermaster Truck Company.
The new store director was with Market Town at Gardena, Calif., from 1953 to 1955, and then moved to Las Vegas where he helped open the Market Town Store at Fifth and Oakey.
After working for six months at the Market Town

Michie City Proposal Is Tabled

Mayor William Byrne read a letter from the Michie City Publications offering a proposal to recodify the city ordinances for a sum of $3,900, last night at the regular council meeting.
Under the terms of the proposal the company will make a thorough study of the city ordinances, and bring them up to date with amendments added.
The council asked the mayor to obtain other bids for the work, and tabled the matter until a later date.
Also tabled was the request of Pat Doherty for a salary boost from $627 per month to $659 per month. The administration and the council plan to sit down and study the salary structure for department heads, and will give Doherty's request study at that time.
VISITORS PLAN TOUR OF DEATH VALLEY
Visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Chastain of 239 W Basic Rd. is their daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Brunty and Kim and Troy, of Concord, California.
During their stay, the family plans to visit Mr. Brunty's mother, Mrs. Beulah Brunty, of Las Vegas. While the children stay with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Brunty will vacation at the Furnace Creek Ranch in Death Valley.

Seven members of the Clark County Humane Society appeared before the council at it's regular meeting last night and advocated that the city adopt a method of exterminating dogs and cats other than the method of using carbon Monoxide chamber used in the past.
Ronnie McGee, spokesman for the Humane Society representative urged the city council to either buy an "Euthanaire"; send their animals to Las Vegas for destruction or have the local veterinarian destroy the dogs with a needle.
Mrs. McGee said that Las Vegas has a contract with North Las Vegas and the county to destroy dogs. She estimated the cost at $3 per dog.
The council was advised by Ronnie McGee that the Humane Society felt dogs being destroyed in the chamber here were being killed with pain by strangulation and the heat. She indicated that the Society would prefer the "Euthanaire" or the needle of the veterinarian.
Terry Larkin attended the meeting. He was asked point blank how he was destroying dogs in the pound at the present time. When Larkin answered "I am shooting all dogs", the Humane Society group bristled immediately.
Larkin described the method he used in shooting dogs, and although the women attending seemed to be satisfied, they still indicated that their suggested method would be the most satisfactory.
Mayor William Byrne called upon Sally Murphy, former assembly woman, and a Democratic leader in the area, and Sally asked the council for prompt action in selecting a system of eliminating dogs and cats.
Dr. Erheart Hoentsch said he would use a needle with a solution 10 times concentrated which instantly ended the life of the animal, dog or cat. His charge was $1 for a dog and 75 cents for a cat. The doctor said that he would come to the kennel on the call of the poundmaster to destroy the dog.
Sally Murphy pointed out however that injured dogs or suspected rabies affected dogs be destroyed immediately by the vet.
In closing Mayor Byrne promised the Humane Society representatives that he and the council would take prompt action on the matter, and let the society know in a day or two as to what method the city would use in destroying animals in the future. It was evident that the city leaned toward the veteran.
Precincts To Be Reviewed At Later Date
After discussing briefly the matter of reviewing the city voting precincts, the city council at last night's regular session of the city council at Eagles Hall, decided to take the matter up again at a special meeting.
Mayor William Byrne pointed out the need to make changes in precincts which have become too heavily populated, and urged early action on the survey. It was indicated that the matter would be taken up at a special meeting.
Mayor Byrne after some discussion set next Monday night as the date of the next special meeting of the council. He indicated that a discussion of Urban Renewal was on the agenda for the special session.
Mr. Brunty is a supervisor at the Naval Ammunitions Depot in Concord.

DUELLING DOWN THE STRETCH

Somehow or other the feeling seemed to be that Arnold Palmer lost his chance of gaining an incredible grand slam of golf on the seventy second hole of the U. S. open when he failed to sink a twelve foot putt. He made the tap in to finish in a tie with young Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio state belter at 283, one under par for the four rounds at Oakmont.

Seldom does a linkman win this event. Too often it's a tale of who lost the coveted championship. Palmer, the golden boy of the fairways and the possessor of 6 triumphs this year including the Masters and our own Tournament of Champions started the final day three shots up on the former amateur king, Nicklaus, who has been on the pro trail just seven months.

It was a battle all the way Saturday. At one stage Palmer and Bob Nickols were in a tie on the final back nine. Then Nichols bogeyed two of the last three and was out of it. A bit earlier, Phil Rodgers got lost in the trees on the seventeenth and took an eight that put him out of contention. It then was a duel between Nicklaus and Palmer. Both had chances to birdie either or both of the last two holes but both failed.

So for the first time since 1957 a playoff ensued. Nicklaus was supremely confident and a picture of concentration. Palmer was errant on the front nine and at one stroke, Jack had a four stroke edge. Palmer got his first bird at the ninth and made the turn three down. When Arnie also scored birdies at the eleventh and twelfth, he was breathing down Nicklaus' back. But a bogey on the thirteenth gave the Ohian a little more running room as with five to go, the Columbus lad had a two shot edge.

They matched shot for shot for the next four and went to the eighteenth with Nicklaus still in the van. Only a miracle could rescue Palmer from defeat. Arnie was worried. You could see the concern etched on his face as he waited for Jack to drive. Nicklaus wafted a long one into the rough. Palmer was straight. However Arnie's second was short of the green. A bird for Palmer and a bogey for Jack would tie it. When Nicklaus checked his ball, it seemed to be deeply imbedded in the rough, a difficult lie. Since Palmer was in a poor position after his second shot, Nicklaus after a consultation with the officials as to his lie, played it safe and made a short left just to get on the fairway. He seemed to be serenely confident though there was only evidence of grim determination.

Jack's iron shot was a beauty less than three feet from the pin. All hope for Palmer seemed gone: He had to sink a 15 footer and hope that Jack would blow the three footer.

Palmer read the turf carefully and stroked his ball which slid off to the right. He graciously conceded the putt to Jack, congratulating the youngster on his achievement. Nicklaus, however, had to hole out, which he did and a new champion was born. Twenty-two years old, Nicklaus is the same age that Gene Sarazen was when the Stanford squire won the first of his two open titles forty years ago.

Nicklaus has tremendous power off the tee and is an excellent putter. The new champion was a stroke behind Palmer in 1960 in the open and last year finished in a tie for fourth behind Gene Little. He has been a threat in all the tournaments on the trail, but this was his first success since joining the pro ranks, and he won the biggest event of them all. How far he will go is unanswerable, but he seems to be made of the mold of Nelson, Hogan, and Palmer, and we should be hearing lots more about the Ohio lad who won the U. S. open in a torrid stretch duel with the incomparable Palmer.

Annual BPW Ice Cream Social This Friday At 27 Nevada Way

The annual BPW Ice Cream Social will be held the evening of Friday, June 22, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ruth Ball, 27 Nevada Way.

This social, which has been held each year since the Business and Professional Women's Club was organized here, is a traditional summer social event and one of the highlights of the season.

People from all parts of Southern Nevada attend the BPW social each year and many of them enjoy visiting with friends whom they do not see at any other time during the year.

The price of tickets for this event have never been raised to meet rising prices, remaining at 50 cents each since the first social was held.

For this low price, those attending are promised all the ice cream and home made cake they can eat. Coffee and iced tea are also served.

The first social was held at the Ball residence and since that time scene of the social as well as the event has become traditional. Picnic tables and chairs are placed in the spacious yard at 27 Nevada Way and the trees are liberally decorated with Japanese lanterns, which add a festive touch to the social.

Cakes are baked and donated for the occasion by members of the BPW Club, all of whom assist with the serving. Funds raised at this year's event will be used for a scholarship for a Basic High School girl.

Ruth Ball is general chairman of the event; Lena Cataline is cake chairman and President Isabel Ashley is ticket chairman.

Tickets for the social are available from members of the club or may be purchased at the gate.

Everyone is invited to attend. "Come and bring the whole family," said publicity chairman Bee Keenan, "kids love an ice cream social and we love to have them."

The Ball home is located on the Boulder Highway ac-
