Union Workers To Leave Job At 4 p.m. Today

Eugene Francy, assistant manager of Titanium Metals Corporation of America said Tuesday afternoon that his company had been given the 72 hour notice of a strike as per the agreement with United Steel Workers of America, CIO, and that the workers would leave their jobs at 4 p.m. today.

The union has agreed with TMCA to leave the plant in standby order so that when the dispute is finally settled workers will be ready to go back to their assignments without delay.

Van Englestead, union representative, said early in the week that "money" was the big item in the strike decision. Union workers wanted more take home pay than the offer which was made by the company, it was reported.

According to Van Englestead, representative of United Steel Workers of America, CIO, a meeting was held yesterday at the Titanium plant with Federal Mediator A. L. Fenton to further discuss the impending strike.

Nothing was accomplished to change the union walkout scheduled for 4 p.m. today at the TMCA plant. However a second meeting with the mediator is scheduled for today before the 4 p.m. scheduled walkout.

Picket lines will be established at the plant after 4 p.m. today, and will be maintained until the contract dispute is settled.

Boulder Busy Thoroughfare

A traffic count for 1961 released by the state highway department has disclosed that U.S. 93 (Boulder Highway) was the most traveled thoroughfare in Nevada. This particular section which starts at the east city limits of Las Vegas and runs through Henderson and Boulder City averaged about 12,503 vehicles a day.

Next in line was Highway U.S. 91 about five miles south of Las Vegas city limits. It was reported that 7,049 cars crossed daily.

In the northern part of the state U.S. 40 just east of the Nevada-California line had heavy travel. An average of 5,703 cars used the highway daily. On the same highway east of the Sparks city limit the daily average of cars was placed at 5,325.

Council Has A New Bench Ordinance

The city council meeting Monday night at Eagles Hall passed an ordinance on bench advertising. This new ordinance No. 297 established a business license of $100 for bench advertisers who place benches on private property.

The council also entered into a contract with the Junior Chamber of Commerce on the placement of benches at bus stops and in public places. Under the contract, the city will designate the spots for the benches.

Those Jaycee benches with advertising on them will cost the club $1 per bench for each month they are in operation. Total cost will not exceed $100. Benches without advertising will not cost the Jaycees, the council agreed.

Repair Work Under Way On Water St.

Repair work on the Water Street extension got under way Monday with heavy equipment tearing up the blacktop and preparing the street for a new coating of blacktop.

City Administrator Harold Corbin said the work was being done by the county as a part of their agreement with the city for road repairs. A new sheet of blacktop will be installed before the street is reopened for use.

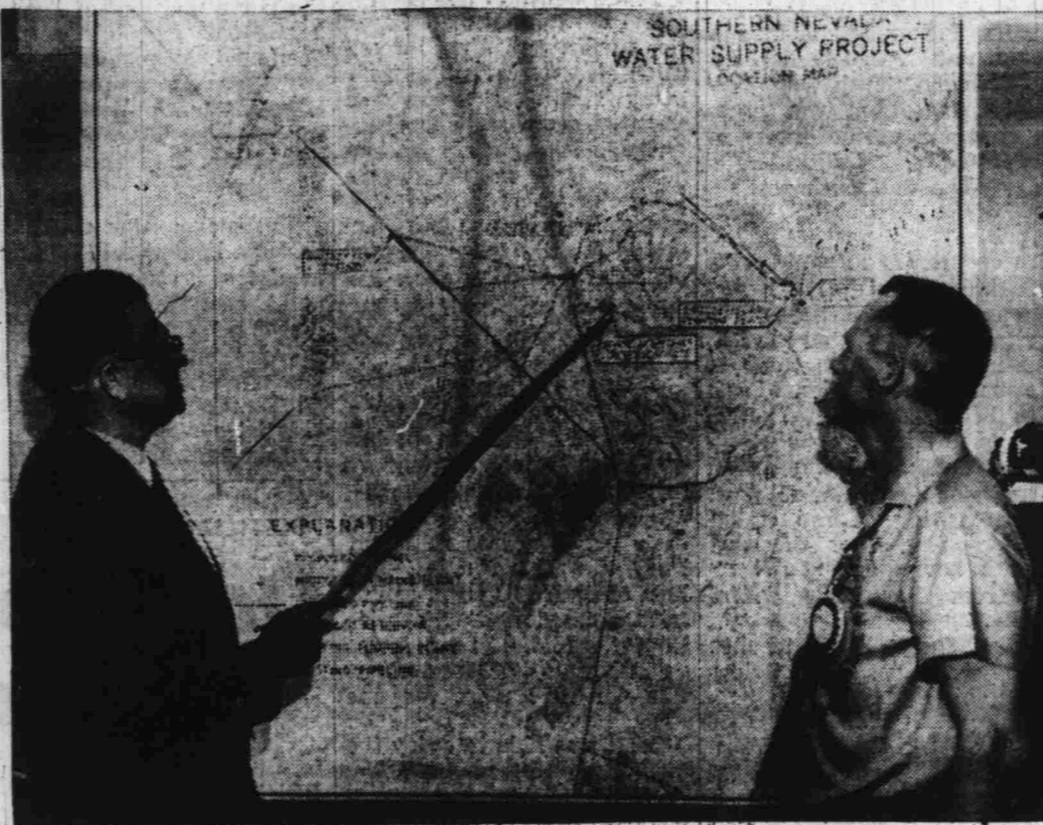

Also included in the plans for the Frontier - Water Street intersection is an island and a stop light. Many car operators have complained about the intersection pointing out that the area is poorly lighted, and that stop signs located there are extremely hard to see.

Council Okays Final Map

The city council at its regular session Monday night at Eagles Hall voted to approve the final map of the Northbrook Subdivision. Action was favorable after a portion of Center street was deeded back to the city.

The map was considered at a previous meeting of the council, but was tabled for study by the engineer.

Ted Turegun who is acting city engineer presented the signed map to the council Monday night, and after some discussion the map was given final approval.

Connection Fee Ordinance Passed By City Council

Ordinance No. 298 dealing with connection fees and refunding agreements was passed last Monday night by the city council at the regular session of the city council, but two or three amendments were made before the ordinance was approved.

It was finally agreed after a lengthy discussion that the $150 connection fee for water and the $150 hookup fee for sewer would be offered all subdividers along with the refunding agreement. Those who had the lower connection fees will not be included in the refunding agreement, it was decided by the council.

City Attorney John Manzone assured the council that they could enter into a refunding agreement with any of the subdividers or individual lot owners after the ordinance became effective.

Under the terms of the new ordinance, the connection fee will be paid when the water and sewer connection is made at the lot. Councilman Frank Morrell had held out for the assessment of the connection fee when the lot was sold for development, so that the city would have a fund to extend water to areas not now serviced. However, he gave in on the stand, and voted in favor of the ordinance Monday night. The ordinance will become effective with its publication in the Henderson News.

The ordinance has teeth in it in that it will be a misdemeanor if the developer fails to pay connection fees when he makes a hookup. The maximum fine will be $299, and the maximum jail sentence will be six months in jail under the ordinance.

The Chamber of Commerce has scheduled an evening meeting Friday at the Colonial Inn. Coffee and dessert will be offered and all members are urged to attend. Many interesting items are on the agenda, according to Secretary Elton Garrett.

REX BELL DIES

The entire State was shocked last night with the sudden death of Rex Bell candidate for Governor.

All-Stars To Play Friday

Plenty of baseball action is expected at Titanium Field at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow when the All-Star teams of the local Midget Baseball-League collide. One team will represent the National circuit.

Dalby Shirley, recreation director said the rival All-Star teams are well-balanced, and that a close and interesting game is expected. The stars have been practicing this week to be ready for the contest.

Shirley announced the following schedule for next Monday: 5:30 p.m. - Cubs vs. Lions, Titanium; 7:30 p.m. - Rebels vs. Mustangs at 7:30 p.m. in Boulder City.

RIPPING UP BLACKTOP — Heavy equipment is shown ripping up the blacktop on the Water Street extension preparatory to improving the street. The county is doing the work for the city under a prior agreement.

Arleigh B. West, Regional Director of Region 3, Bureau of Reclamation, was the principal speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Rotary Club at the Royal Club Tuesday. His subject was "Reclamation Takes A Look at Southern Nevada's Water Supply Problems."

The veteran Federal employee went into great detail about plans for bringing added water into the area from Lake Mead for an anticipated growth of more than 500,000 inhabitants by the end of the century.

West said "This area has literally grown up with Hoover Dam — and later by Davis Dam also — to the economy of Southern Nevada is much in evidence. Future developments will continue to boost Clark County's economy, which at present is growing as fast as water lines can be extended to new homes and industries."

"During the past several months the Bureau of Reclamation has investigated a potential aqueduct system to deliver additional quantities of Colorado River Water to Southern Nevada consumers. This plan is called the Southern Nevada Water Supply Project. The name was changed to better reflect its more comprehensive functions. We expect to complete this investigation and issue a feasibility report on the project by June 30 of next year, and have it ready for the Nevada Congressional delegation to present to the Congress for authorization as a reclamation development."

"The project which we are investigating involves the pumping of water from Lake Mead through a backbone aqueduct system, utilizing a regulatory reservoir, to key distribution points. The Bureau does not propose to distribute this water directly to the consumer. This would be the responsibility of the agency or agencies which contract to repay the costs of the project. Several Nevada water spokesmen have recommended that the project area organize into a Metropolitan Water District to contract with the Federal Government for repayment of project costs and to handle the distribution to consumers."

"The Southern Nevada Water Supply Project is an outgrowth of studies first conducted by Reclamation in 1953, 1954. From these came a preliminary report on the Las Vegas Pumping Project which presented a plan for providing supplemental water supply from Lake Mead to the Las Vegas Valley. Then the Bureau concluded that water probably would be needed in the area about the year 1975, and further studies at that time were deferred. "We found that Clark County has grown rapidly, picking up momentum in each succeeding decade since 1910. The county's population increased four percent between 1910 and 1920, and jumped 10 percent from 1950 to 1960. Authorities expect the county's residents to number between 500,000 and 600,000 by the end of the Century. Some have placed the estimate much higher.

"The Southern Nevada Water Supply Project plan which we are now investigating is not unlike the Lake Mead aqueduct system constructed during World War II which delivers water to Henderson and the industrial plants and via an extension to Las Vegas. The BMI system takes water from Lake Mead and pumps it into a 40-inch conduit. The water is relifted part of the way up Las Vegas Wash and brought up to a further relift pumping plant and into Henderson and Las Vegas distribution mains."

"The completed project would assure a water supply for Southern Nevada for the foreseeable future. Under the terms of the contracts of March 30, 1942 and January 3, 1944, with the Secretary of the Interior, the State is entitled to up to 300,000 acre feet annually of water from Lake Mead, subject, of course, to its availability and the final decision in the Supreme Court case Arizona vs. California as to the apportionment of Colorado River Water among the lower Colorado River Basin states. It is vital to Nevada's interest that this available supply be brought to the people who need it."

"Present Reclamation studies — (here West showed Rotarians a map with the plans) — are quite parallel with this concept of getting water to the consumers. Our plan includes a pumping plant on Saddle Island which would draw water from Lake Mead through an intake tunnel into the main supply conduits up Las Vegas Wash. This water would be relifted where necessary, by booster pumps and temporarily stored in an off-stream regulating reservoir in the River Mountain about 6 1/2 miles west of Lake Mead and about four miles east of Henderson."

The River Mountain reservoir would have a capacity of 4,000 acre feet or approximately 1,300,000,000 gallons. West said that the project is an ambitious one, but that he is sure the schedule can be met. He thinks Lake Mead water is the only answer to the water problems of the area.

Won't Serve On Board

The city council turned down a suggestion that one of their members serve on the Plumbing Board when this matter was presented at the regular meeting last Monday night at Eagles Hall.

"We are laymen," Councilman Frank Morrell said, "And I can see no reason for one of us to serve on the board." Morrell did add however that a member of the council could attend a Plumbing Board meeting at their convenience.

It was the feeling of the council members and Mayor William Byrne also, that the council has enough meetings, and that the men should not be tied down to attend Plumbing Board meetings. The suggestion was turned down.

citizenship thru the usual methods offered to immigrants. He gave them a message—message from his heart to theirs—that dealt with how wonderful it is to be an American as against a beaten slave in a non-democratic country; he gave them a message—that dealt with putting off until the future what is causing the rift today because maybe today's troubles will disappear and be like nothing when looked at again in the future. He gave them a message—that dealt with men's lives—like how an argument could bring death, family destruction, factory failure, financial upheaval—which man cannot measure in dollars and cents—but which does take lives. He urged them to see that the loss of one life to any family on either side would be a cost too high for either side to settle for. Both sides agreed the old fellow was right. They found a common ground—and settled. Isn't there a common ground here—today?

The other night the city attorney explained to the city council here that the council could, if it wanted, continue to have a city health department—even though the county health department will be set up to handle this city's problems along with other cities of the county. We can't quite understand why this city needs a health department of its own if the county is planning a first rate staff, is planning to concentrate one man on Boulder and Henderson's problems. It is especially hard for us to understand why the council would even consider spending the tax-payers' money for this—when the tax-payer is already paying for the county department, whether we use it or not. It comes out of the normal county taxes we pay. Are we that fat in the pocket-book, dear city fathers, that we can afford to waste money? If so, you can equalize it in a hurry by dropping the water rates, or add some more and abler policemen, or give the kids a better recreation department, or something.

It was heartening to see the two real-estate councilmen—Morrell and Stevens—taking a back-seat for a change on the council floor—for, in our opinion, the thinking of these two has not been of the nature that will make this city great. Apparently, Pete Mendive, Wilbur Hardy and Lorin Williams are beginning to see the light—for they stood up and were counted this week on issues of lasting importance to the community. Incidentally, the mayor, the other night, while talking in favor of a project of worth to the city, should have taken a seat out in the audience—for allied to his private employers. There is too much of this business of allowing public office holders to talk or vote on issues where they are indirectly or directly involved financially. We have spotted Morrell and Stevens doing this often—so it seems the mayor ought to keep it in mind, too.

I'm sweating out a baby! My first grandchild! Yup—since June 30th my son David and his Nancy have been expecting. They are back from the Philippines; are in Savannah with Nancy's folks. To make it worse, David must be in Indianapolis this week to join Uncle Sam's army for two years—so he's been betwixt and between. The kids are then due to move to Salt Lake in July for permanent residence at the army base there. Can't wait—now I know how you felt when you told me you went thru becoming your first grandpappy.

There are still some answers needed on this one: a merchant wished to prosecute a shop-lifter and sought help at the police department and judge's office. He followed instructions—as best he could—since he isn't experienced in prosecuting—and lo and behold because he slipped up on a minor item—like being told to be in court cause the case would be heard at 10—then because he got there at 10—he found the case was heard (and dismissed) at nine—he was told he should have been there at nine. Too, he was told witnesses would be called—and he gave the court the name of the witnesses—so—the witnesses weren't called. The merchant wants to go all the way on this case—and I don't blame him—because the community needs to learn about shoplifters, about court proses, about shenanigans in general. One of the thrills you must enjoy is visiting Lake Mead Marina down at Boulder Beach. Man, oh Man, what a change in scenery. We're really going big-time—and you start realizing the future is coming in a hurry to our area and its Lake Mead outlets. Slips for boats are in and being used—about 150 of them—being rented as fast as they're built—which means you can actually walk along within yard-length of the big beautiful cruisers and the little family run-a-bouts—where they used to be moored a half mile out in the bay. Too, the McCullough company, which took the Marina over, is building a floating dining room and bar—and its framework is up. We'll betcha money you visit there and you get that "I-wanna-buy-a-boat" itch, like I did.

Clara Klann Tours Alaska

Clara Klann, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Klann, 407 Federal Street, will leave for Alaska, July 9, to represent the Clark County Civil Air Patrol Cadet Squadron for two weeks. The young cadet will visit Air Force bases in Alaska, and take a general tour of the newest state, including the capital city and other major points of interest. Miss Klann received this honor by passing tests in such subjects as aviation, weather, airplane construction, and flying techniques. Clara has been a cadet for four years, and prior to this, belonged to Rockets, where she learned survival methods. During her latter years as a Rocket, she served as the Rocket Commander and carried the rank of Major. She is now a Master Sergeant in the Cadets, serving under Major John Sumpolic, Commandant of the Cadets. Cadet Klann spent two weeks encampment at Luke Air Force Base in Arizona in 1960, two weeks at McClellan AFB in California in 1961, and upon her return from Alaska will be sent to Mather AFB in California for two weeks. As a senior at Basic High School this fall, Clara will be a three-year Girls' Athletic Association member, and will serve as club treasurer. She has been a band member for several years, served as vice president of Future Nurses this past year, and has spent many years working at Rose de Lima Hospital as a Candy-striper. Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., Clara assists Lieutenant Katherine Friedrichs and her son Carl with the Rockets. Any youngster between 10 and 15 is eligible to be a Rocket, and anyone 14 through 21 may become a Cadet, according to Lt. Friedrichs. The groups wear uniforms and study subjects essential for service in the Civil Air Patrol, for which they become eligible at age 21, after meeting qualifications.

He drew a $50 fine on a disorderly conduct charge, and was fined $25 for speeding at the rate of 50 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone. Jones was also scheduled for trial on a charge of assault and battery, but the case was dismissed on the motion of city attorney John Manzonia. Insufficient evidence was given as the reason for the dismissal of the action. Bob Taylor was fined on two counts, but Judge Treem suspended sentence for a week. The citations charged that Taylor failed to have an operator's permit in his possession, and that he had fictitious license plates. William Cook was fined $5 for disregarding a stop sign. Judge Treem assessed a teenager a fine of $2 for having an improper muffler. Lawrence C. Stone was fined $150 for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants. He also was fined $10 for resisting arrest. Stone told Judge Treem he fled, and did not fight with police when he was apprehended. Willie Felton May was fined $100 for reckless driving in the city. The citation charged May with driving 90 miles per hour in the city limits. Jim Rodriguez changed a plea of not guilty to a charge of operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants to a plea of guilty, and Judge Treem assessed a fine

Mayor Byrne Argues For Residential Development

The most heated argument at last Monday's city council meeting at the Eagles Hall broke out when the item on the agenda dealing with residential use of land in Section 3 and Section 4 was introduced by Mayor William Byrne. It was brought before the council that certain big money interests were eager to obtain 1,000 acres of land in the north one half of Section 3 and the east one half of Section 4. Mayor Byrne said the developers planned a huge residential development for senior citizens which would run into the millions of dollars. The mayor was convinced that the land should be made available to the developers, and argued the point at great length with councilmen Jack Stevens and Frank Morrell who opposed using land marked for industrial use for residential development. Both Stevens and Morrell felt that the land sold to Industrial Park should be used for industrial development and not made available to the developers. Mayor Byrne told the council he had talked with experts in industrial park development, and that they felt the 1,040 acres obtained by Industrial Park was far too much land for industry. For this reason Byrne argued that the land sought for residential development, should be made available to the wealthy developers. Plenty of support was accorded Mayor Byrne in his stand for the huge residential development. Pete Mendive said, "I would much rather have a 1,000 acre residential development than to wait for years for industry to move in." Mendive agreed with the Mayor on all points as did councilmen Lorin Williams and Wilbur Hardy. A vote was taken on the matter, and the council agreed to invite the developers to a council meeting to discuss a possible deal. Jack Stevens abstained from voting on the matter. Recently the residential developer came to Henderson to discuss the matter. At that time they said they wanted more than 1,000 acres in the area, but agreed to start with the 1,000 acre development. Councilman Frank Morrell read a letter from SNIF of which Mayor Byrne is a member, and he pointed out that the letter supported the council in their stand for an industrial park development. The letter praised the council for refusing to sell the land in parcels, and sticking to the industrial park idea. It was the contention of both Morrell and Stevens that the sale of the land would leave the industrial area with too little land for a real industrial development.

POLITICIANS ATTEND Damboree Successful

By Virginia Morrison
BOULDER CITY NEWS
"If we want to keep our independence, we must work to do so," thus was the keynote of the short, but to the point, speech given at the observance of the Fourth of July in Boulder City by the Hon. Grant Sawyer. He added that it was a pleasure to be with the residents of the most beautiful town in Nevada. From the opening boom of the fireworks which started off the celebration with the parade, to the final fireworks which signalled the end of another wonderful day, Boulderites and visitors stuck to the merry end. Children ate, drank and played their way through the Fourth and Dads and Moms enjoyed a cold beer or pop and renewed acquaintances with those not seen since the last Damboree. No one worried about standing over the hot range—hamburgers during the day solved that problem and a delicious barbecue supplied the main repast for the entire family. Miss Terry Kutcher, Queen of the event, gave her prize winning speech in the American Legion oratorical contest and she was then crowned by last year's queen, Jeanie Perkins who has grown prettier during the year. Her Daddy, 'd, acted as master of ceremonies during the patriotic part of the day's activities. A varied and beautiful concert was given by Ted Vesey and musicians from the strip hotels who get together occasionally and play as a group. The Star Spangled Banner was played as an opener, and I guess we all will acknowledge the emotion we feel when the anthem is played. One mother remarked that she could be depended upon to cry at weddings, school plays, graduation and when the Star Spangled Banner is played. Anderson Dairy was the winner of the parade floats with Lake Mead Yacht Club as runner-up. The Boulder Drove of Does was awarded best decorated car trophy and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary was given honorable mention. Cashman Field Riders capped the mounted group rally and the Boulder City Horseman's Association was second. The Tabony youngsters won the children's entry and a pony and cart were second. Terry Ann Marching Group won in that category and No. 38 Boys Group won the bicycle unit with a bicycle built for two. Betty Wengert won the individual rider unit; Patty Davis, second. Games of every description were enjoyed by the kids during the afternoon. A beauty contest, barbeque, Kart Races, ball game, square dance and fireworks brought to a close another safe and sane program for the Fourth. Residents and visitors owe a vote of thanks to the small group who makes this wonderful day a reality every year. THE NEWS salutes the American Legion, the merchants, both local and area, and all who donated time, cars, etc. in order that Boulder can keep her time-honored annual Damboree. Politicians noted in the crowd were Dick Ham, Bob Glinski, Tom Godbey, and Perle Morris.

Housing Code Introduced By Glenn Manley

Glenn Manley, director of the Urban Renewal in Las Vegas, appeared before the City Council at their regular meeting Monday night at Eagles Hall and presented a Housing Code which he suggested that the city adopt to comply with future development plans. "Henderson does not have a Housing Code, and the one we have presented to you will serve at the present time," Manley told the council. "However if you have amendments to make to the code this can be done at any time by the council," Manley added. The code was presented to Building Superintendent Pat Doherty for his study. No action was taken Monday night, but the council agreed that the code was necessary, and indicated they will act on the code at the next meeting.

Morrell Gives Report On Insurance Plan

Frank Morrell, a member of the Insurance Committee gave a report last Monday night at the regular council meeting at Eagles Hall. He indicated that the committee was interested in medical coverage and medical benefits, and that the matter would be resolved at the next meeting of the council. Morrell said that the premium payments had been set with the city paying up to half as agreed. The insurance plan when in operation will cover city employees. Mayor William Byrne set up the committee several weeks ago to study bids by several insurance companies on the coverage for city employees. According to City Manager Curtis Blyth, re-surfacing of the northern end of Nevada Highway leading to Boulder Dam will begin next Monday. The approximate cost is $4,000. The paving firm was ready to begin last Monday but due to Fourth of July holiday traffic, it was approved to wait a week. Bids will be opened in the council chambers at 2 p.m. Friday afternoon for a paint stripper, asphalt distributor and removal of the Polka Dot teenage building.

City Attorney Gives Ruling

Mayor William Byrne asked City attorney John Manzonia for an opinion on whether the formation of a District Board of Health in Clark County would eliminate the city health board, and was advised in a finding by the attorney that this would not affect the city health board. "Since the city did not join in the county health board operation from the very start, and has agreed in no way to a county operation, the District Board of Health will not mean elimination of the city board," Manzonia indicated to the mayor in a letter.

BURGLARIES CLEARED UP

Local police have solved several burglaries during the past few days, and have cited several juveniles for their part in the thefts. Elnora Williams, 30 Arkansas recovered an expensive diamond ring, a Remington electric shaver and other items taken by a teenager. The teenager and his sister were cited. A shoplifting case was reported at Rancho Market and another burglary was cleared up by police officers and Police Sgt. Jack Perkins. Police also reported that the holiday was a quiet one, with few calls being received, and very little trouble reported on the streets and the Boulder Highway. Yesterday afternoon only one complaint had been received on fireworks in the city.

UCT GROUP INITIATES NEW MEMBERS, INSTALLS A JUNIOR COUNSELOR

The United Commercial Travelers Council No. 835 and Auxiliary No. 340 met in Boulder City June 30. Three new Auxiliary members, Kay Meacham, Sherley Frey, and Elaine Potter, were initiated. Dorothy Gliem was installed into the office of Junior Counselor.

The group discussed plans for the annual U.C.T. picnic to be held at Lee's Canyon, July 8. All members and their guests were urged to bring their own picnic lunches. Beverages are to be furnished by the Council.

Following the meetings, the group enjoyed refreshments and played white elephant Bingo.

Refreshment hostesses for the evening were Rollene Casey and Madge Farmer.

Sunrise Lots Are Appraised At $2,400

Mayor William Byrne read the appraisals for the 20 lots in Sunrise No. 1 Subdivision at last Monday's city council meeting at the Eagle's Hall. Each of the lots owned by the city was appraised at $2,400 according to Mayor Byrne.

Another lot in Block two was appraised at $2,800, the mayor told the council.

The 20 lots in the subdivision were given to the city as a part of an agreement with the developer. Council members indicated that they wanted the lots placed for sale, and agreed to take the matter up at a recessed meeting of the council set next week.

Sports Here and There

By Herb MacGregor

Major league baseball has reached the halfway mark, and there is no indication in either loop that any one club will run away with the pennant. The L.A. Dodgers have been getting superlative pitching of late, and may be ready to kick up their heels in the senior loop, and then again the series starting today with San Francisco may send the club down the ladder.

Most National loop fans figure that the race is strictly between the west coast powers, with Pittsburgh and St. Louis still having an outside chance.

In the American League, the New York Yankees are still the top heavy choice, but the ball club must show more power than they have been exhibiting to shake off the tenacious Los Angeles Angels, Cleveland, Minnesota and Detroit.

It is heartening to see the Tigers on the rise even with Al Kalmie on the shelf. If Frank Lary could just chip in to help Bunning, Aguirre, Foytack and Jones those Bengals could sweep past 'em all and bring home the bacon.

Kaline rejoins the club after the All-Star game. Just watch those Detroit lads through the rest of July and August. They're going to put the pressure on those Yankees.

Drop in on that Midget League All-Star game at Titanium Field Friday night. Some good baseball is promised as both the American and National divisions boast some real-good talent. The boys have been practicing this week to be at their best for the contest.

Dalby Shirley, recreation director expects a real large turnout for the ball game. Interest is running high in the meeting of the All-Stars.

One week from Friday night the welterweight championship scrap between Emile Griffith and Ralph Dupas takes place at the Convention Center. Griffith is favored, but the New Orleans flash Dupas is plenty confident.

Ticket sales have perked up, it is reported. The fight is not on TV, and many fans are eager to watch the 147 pounders in action.

MRS. CONLEY RETURNS TO SEE SISTER-IN-LAW

Mrs. Wilbur C. Conley of Chula Vista, California, formerly Mildred Russell who taught in Park Village, is visiting her sister-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Love, and Pamela and Lileeann, of 137 Ivy.

Mrs. Conley is the first guest in the Loves' home on Ivy; they just moved from Carver Park.

Picture That

with Bob Woodruff.

Got the gang coming over to your house soon? If you have, here's a new fun idea you can try on them — a Camera Party.

What's involved? A camera, some flash bulbs, some film, and some free-wheeling imagination. For instance: Heap up a pile of old clothes and odd props and challenge your guests to improvise costumes. Then a quick flash and you've saved the fun in pictures.

Or you can invite your guests to come in costume. Then you can snap them in all their glory when they arrive.

The variations on this theme can be as involved and hilarious as you want to make them. But just make sure you don't run out of film and bulbs right in the middle of all the fun. (And we can help you avoid that minor disaster.)

BROWNIE Fiesta CAMERA

It all sounds like fun but you don't own a flash camera? A Brownie Fiesta outfit for just $9.95 can solve that problem neatly, completely. It has a built-in flash-holder that you can't misplace, never gets in the way. It's just aim and shoot for bright clear color snapshots, color slides or black-and-whites.

JAYWALKING . . . IS DANGEROUS

Jaywalking is a pretty dangerous business, and in this city there seems to be more than the occasional darting in and out of traffic at spots other than corner cross-walks and regular pedestrian crossings.

On Water Street and in the downtown business section, the practice is prevalent all day long.

There haven't been any reported injuries that we know of in recent months, but we happened to see two real narrow escapes.

Several weeks ago on Water Street we saw one youth about eight or nine dart across the street in front of an approaching car. Luckily the driver was able to stop the automobile as it almost brushed against the boy. It was a very narrow escape.

Later we witnessed another close one in the downtown business section, this time with an adult pedestrian coming mightily close to being clobbered.

The city does not have the problems of a large city as far as jaywalking is concerned but there may be a time when local residents will wish they had such an ordinance. Just let one resident get hit and killed while darting across the street in the middle of the block, and there will be all sorts of caustic comment.

There may be an ordinance on jaywalking already in effect here, but if there isn't the matter should be discussed.

Las Vegas is even worse than Henderson when it comes to jaywalking. In the downtown casino section one night we counted at least a dozen offenders in a period of about 30 seconds. They would pick their way between cars, and they were lucky not to be struck by a car.

Sure we're in a hurry sometimes—but is a broken leg or arm worth the chance we take to cut across the street in front of onrushing traffic?

Looking into the future toward a time when the downtown section becomes a real busy place, we feel that steps should be taken now to educate the populace that jaywalking is dangerous. An ordinance and strict enforcement of the law would soon have pedestrians going to the corner and to pedestrian crossings to cross the street.

Nevada protects its pedestrians at crosswalks and pedestrian crossings by making the car operator stop for the pedestrians. This is not required in the middle of the block, so think twice before jaywalking the next time.

HOME OF THE WEEK

The Owen Atkin Residence, 35 West Basic

by Peggy Worst

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Atkin performed the "magic" which transformed an ordinary two-bedroom tract house into the gracious, homey dwelling at 35 West Basic Road.

From the street, one is struck by the livability of the neat yellow and white house, surrounded by a well-kept lawn and decorative white cement-block fence. This livability is emphasized by the large elm shade tree in the front yard, the neat shrubbery and flowers, the ivy-covered carport, and the comfortable front veranda.

The Atkins enjoy entertaining at the rear of their home on the exotic, roofed patio. The focal point of the patio is a large Chinese Elm tree which grows through an opening in the roof. The tree trunk is decorated with numerous stuffed and carved animals and birds, and is surrounded at the base by colorful rocks and foliage.

Camouflaged in the "undergrowth" are colored floodlights which create an exotic aura after dark. Sharing the spotlight in this unique outdoor living area is a three-tier waterfall, adorned by small Japanese figures.

The patio is furnished with comfortable cane chairs and a large dining table set, and carpeted with thick braided rugs. Colorful knickknacks, such as Hawaiian plaques and bright glass balls, hang from the redwood walls and white beamed ceiling.

The view from the patio harmonizes with its outdoor decor; a lawn bordered by flamboyant flowers, including enormous red, pink, yellow, and white roses, gladiola, and pink and purple candytuft. The lawn and flowers are protected by a redwood wind fence. Adjacent to the house is Atkin's workshop where he carries on his business. . . inventing. He is presently working on filters.

Inside the house, one is again struck by the homey simplicity of the decor.

"We have nothing here we don't use," the Atkins explained.

The kitchen, which they enlarged by setting the refrigerator into the back wall, is done in yellow, with black and white harlequin tile in the stove corner. Abundant shelves along one wall display Mrs. Atkin's cup and saucer collection and various delicate china pieces.

The dining area is separated from the kitchen and dining area later, Mrs. Atkin said. Bright, realistic plastic flowers accent the off-white walls and beige carpet in the living room. The couch and chairs are brown, set off with orange, red, and green toss pillows. The white-draped, corner picture windows, installed by the Atkins, lighten and enlarge the living room, and afford a view of the inviting front lawn.

One wall is covered by artistically grouped desert and county scenes. A large stereo set offers soothing music as a final touch to the coziness of the room.

The same off-white is given a rosy glow in the master bedroom, by use of pink nylon curtains and pink light bulbs.

"We built this room to live in," commented Atkin, surveying the kingsize Hollywood bed, polished ash dressers and desk, and three easy chairs. An aqua bedspread and chair enliven the pink-biege feeling of the room. Luxuriously thick wall-to-wall carpeting and spacious closets along one wall add to the comfort and efficiency of the master bedroom.

Another outstanding feature of this home is the third bedroom, which is not really a bedroom, but a fallout shelter! It differs from the rest of the house in that the walls and ceiling are of 16-inch-thick solid concrete and steel, and the windows are of lead-glass, equipped with lead shields. A double bed, dresser, short leather couch, corner cupboard, and small bunk are the main articles of furniture in this room. Atkin has equipped it with collapsible bunks to accommodate 10 people. The cupboard and storage space beneath the bunk hold enough canned food and water to supply 10 people for 60 days, according to Atkin.

"But I hope we never have to use it for anything but sleeping quarters," Mrs. Atkin added.

In her workroom the Lady of the House displays over 150 dolls, each dressed in clothing she crocheted. The dolls were shown in the art exhibit during Industrial Days.

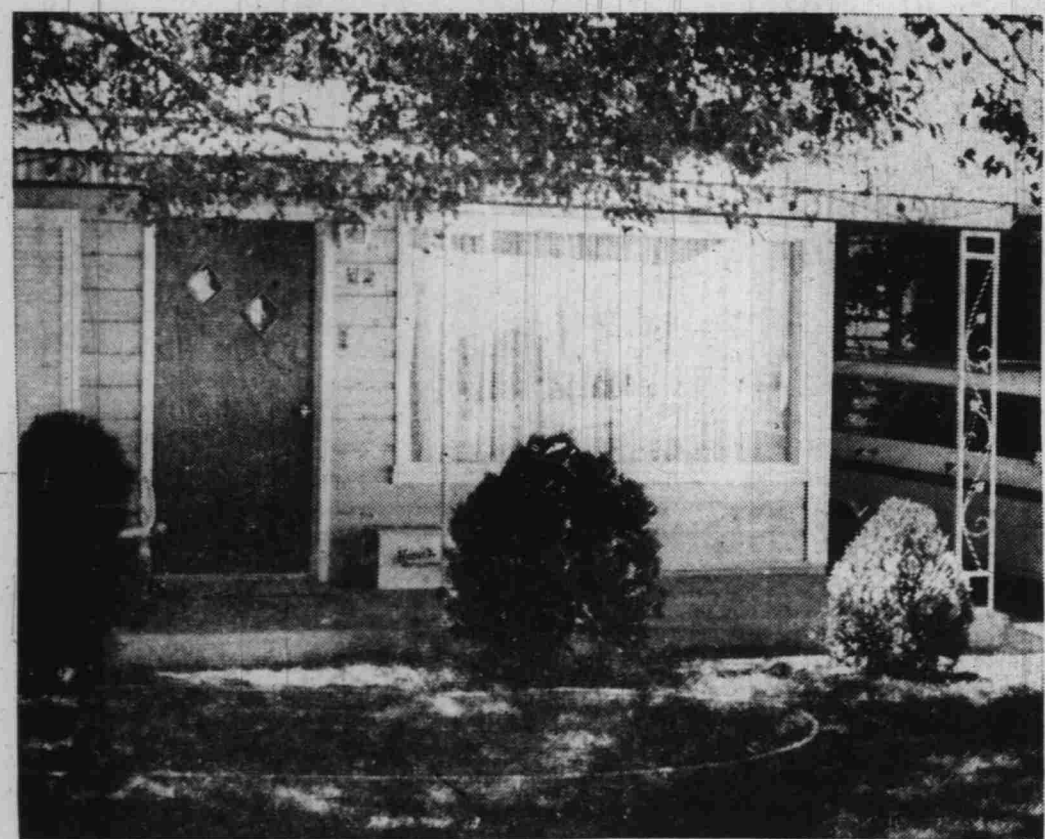

Mr. and Mrs. Atkin moved into their home on Basic Road about a year ago, and within this time have added the patio, master bedroom, second bath and fallout shelter and remodeled the remainder of the house.

The Atkins admitted that it has taken lots of hard work and persistence to create what they intend to make their permanent home.

They were married in Las Vegas when it had a population of five or six thousand and one paved street. They feel that this area now has the greatest potential in the nation.

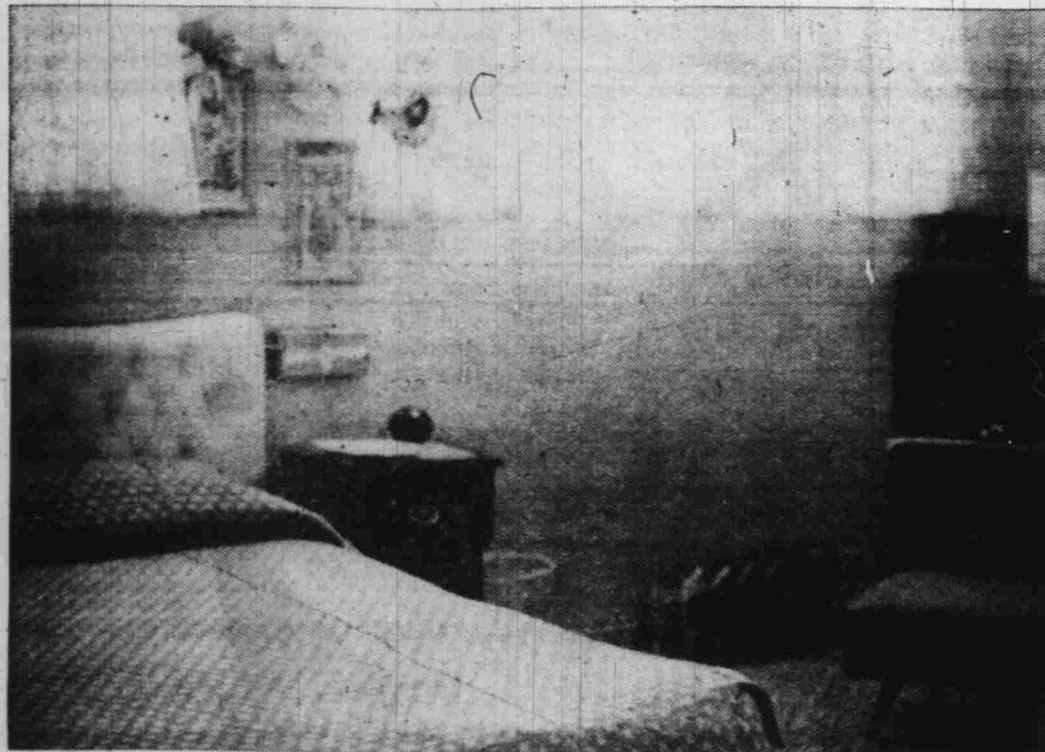

OUTSIDE IN — The Atkins brought the outside inside by building their enclosed patio around this big elm tree and adding a fountain and numerous planters to complete the illusion.

ENTRANCE — The entrance of the Atkin home has been enhanced by the installation of a picture window and a front porch with aluminum roof and wrought-iron trim. A large elm shades the front of the house and evergreen shrubs have been planted along the edge of the porch.

FOR EMERGENCY — The fallout shelter in the Atkin home serves as an extra bedroom and is done in pale green. The bunk shown here camouflages a supply of canned food and water. The room is equipped to sleep and feed 10 people in time of emergency.

A ROOM TO LIVE IN — Pink light bulbs and curtains give the beige walls of the master bedroom a rosy glow. Aqua bedspread and chair brighten the color scheme. On the wall hang some of the Atkin's treasured keepsakes.

Foresters To Appear At Lutheran Church Thursday

THE FORESTERS — The Foresters, a male quartette from Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Illinois, will present an hour of sacred vocal and organ music at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Our Savior's Lutheran Church at Lynn Lane. Members of the quartette (left to right) are: Lee Stocker, B. Wayne Bisbee, John Huxhold and Ronald Schnell.

The Foresters, a male quartette from Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Illinois, will present an hour of sacred vocal and organ music on July 5th at 8:00 p.m. The concert is sponsored by Our Savior's Lutheran Church and will be given in the church which is located at Lynn Lane.

Immediately following the concert, the Foresters will show colored slides of Concordia Teachers College, at a social gathering in the church hall. The quartet will also sing some lighter secular numbers.

Students at Concordia, the Foresters are currently touring twenty central and western states, singing in parishes of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The group is noted for its high quality performance of music from the rich heritage of the church. Included in their concert are vocal works by Hassler, Gumpelzhauser, Tomkins and Clokey, and arrangements of familiar hymn tunes, folk songs and carols. Organ works by Bixtehede and Vienne will also be presented.

The aim of the Foresters is not only to offer parishes a spiritually uplifting musical experience, but also to acquaint more people with the purpose and program of Concordia Teachers College and the Christian educational system of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. This church body operates the largest parochial school system in American Protestantism with over 1300 schools located throughout the country. Members of this year's group all come out of the Midwest. Lee Stocker, first tenor, and John Huxhold, baritone, both live in Chicago, Illinois. B. Wayne Bisbee, second tenor, is from Poynette, Wisconsin, and Ronald Schnell, bass, resides in Richville, Michigan. Three of the men are in the Bachelor of Science in Education program of the college while B. Wayne Bisbee is a graduate student completing requirements for the Master of Arts in Education degree. The training these young men receive at Concordia is in preparation for future service in the school system of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

By SENATOR ALAN BIBLE

Fellow Nevadans: I was extremely pleased that the Interior Department acceded to my demands, that the Bureau of Land Management take another look at its decision in rejecting approximately 850 small tract applications in the Las Vegas area.

Earlier, the BLM had refused to permit applicants the choice of pressing their claims for disputed land parcels, or accepting alternate land tracts. I called upon the Secretary of the Interior to reconsider the decision and, as a result, the Bureau will not issue a supplemental decision giving the applicant the choice of either accepting the alternate tract or having his application remain in status quo until the validity of the mining claims is determined.

I am strongly in favor of having more of the public domain brought into private ownership and will continue my efforts toward that end. In my opinion, the present Wright, Nevada Highway Enactment, but the problem seems to stem from the fact that the Bureau is interpreting the laws too stringently.

I am studying the over-all problem of public lands disposition and if a solution doesn't emerge through administrative policy, I contemplate holding hearings in the field to determine the need and type of legislation which would best achieve the desired results.

HEADWAY IS RECORDED ON HIGHWAY WIDENING

I am pleased to report that my efforts to secure funds necessary to widen Highway 95, from Las Vegas to the Atomic Energy Commission's test site at Mercury, are beginning to bear fruit. This project became a federal responsibility after it was determined that the State of Nevada was unable to undertake such a large project, estimated cost of which is $10 million. Following conferences with Governor Grant Sawyer, wherein the state's Chief Executive agreed that Nevada would contribute $1 million, I proceeded to seek authorization of a federal expenditure of $9 million. The Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee has approved the recommended federal expenditure after I pointed to the mounting number of tragic accidents because of congested traffic as a result of stepped-up activities at the test site. I anticipate approval also by the Senate Appropriations Committee, of which I am a member, during the current session of the Congress. W. O. public land laws are adequate, has said that preliminary work on the road will start immediately following the release of funds, and the project should be completed within two years.

OASI PAYMENTS: Monthly benefits under the Old Age and Survivors and Disability Insurance programs totaled $1,261,655 for 18,470 residents of Nevada, according to figures supplied me by Abraham Ribicoff, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. During 1961 the total benefits paid to Nevadans under these programs amounted to $14,875,000. Clark County leads the state in monthly benefits with $480,130 being paid to 6,900 recipients, followed by Washoe County with $419,314 paid to 5,933 were instituted in Gold Hill, Virginia City, etc. 100 years ago, it was while we were still part of the territory of western Utah.

When the Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1 was instituted in March, 1869, it was thought to be the first in the world, but after it found out that a previous one had been started in Iowa, four months before. (Schuyler Colfax, a vice-president of the United States was the founder of the Rebekah degree.) Some of the original regalia collars were used by the Rebekahs of Virginia City. For the opening meeting of the State Assembly.

Our main speakers were Oakford A. Schalick of New Jersey, deputy sovereign grand master; and Ione McCauley of Arizona, official representative of the president of the International Association of Rebekah Assemblies.

Odd Fellows See Centennial At Virginia City

By ESTHER SHIPP

Nine of us from Boulder City and two from Henderson attended the state sessions of the Grand Lodge of Nevada, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and the Rebekah Assembly I.O.O.F. of Nevada, recently. Our order was celebrating its Centennial Anniversary in this state, so practically everybody in attendance wore clothing of 100 years ago — which many of the other tourists thought was part of the natural atmosphere of Virginia City.

Delegates from Boulder Lodge No. 50, I.O.O.F. were Neil H. Holmes, past grand master of Nevada, and trustee of the Grand Encampment; John H. Shipp, Encampment trustee; and Forrest Ray Mecham. Rebekahs of Cactus No. 40 were Clara Turner, who served as supporter of the junior past president, and received her commission as district deputy president of District 7; Helen Holmes and Mildred Kine, who served as altar bearers; Esther Shipp, state publicity chairman; and Marjorie Mecham, who received the Assembly degree for the first time.

From Tucker Lodge No. 52, Henderson, was W. S. Smiddy. Delegate of Sunshine No. 41 was Alice Smiddy, Assembly Chaplain. One of her supporters was Blanche Smith of Ely R.L. No. 27, who now lives in Boulder City.

We were kept busy with special events for this memorable occasion, including a short commemorative service at the monument erected 25 years ago at Gold Hill, site of the first lodge hall in Nevada. When the Odd Fellows lodges

Fran Belknap Featured in Story By Christian Science Monitor

(Editor's note — The popular and talented Fran Belknap, wife of Bill Belknap of Boulder City, recently was the subject of a feature story in the world-famous Christian Science Monitor, written by that paper's assistant woman's editor — Nan Trent. Because we are so proud of Fran and the prominence the story brought this area, we herewith reprint it.)

Temperatures would be 120 F. in the bottom of the Grand Canyon and there would be no refrigeration, but that didn't daunt Fran Belknap. She accepted the challenge of planning and packing three meals a day for a nine-man, nine-day expedition up the Colorado River, in which the men and their boats would run the notorious rapids in reverse!

Fran's husband, William Belknap, Jr., was joining the expedition — the first of its kind ever attempted — as photographer, and her son, Buzz, was copiloting one of the boats.

"The food had to be something that was quick and easy for the men to prepare, and it had to be filling," Fran recalled here recently, soon after 14 pages of Bill's photographs and article about the trip had appeared in the National Geographic magazine.

No Heavy Loads
"But most of all, the food had to be lightweight," Fran continued, "so that it could be taken out of the boats and carried around each of the rapids — a walk of anywhere from 10-14 miles over rough terrain, along the canyon walls. When those 18-foot Turbocraft boats, with jets powered by 185 horsepower engines climb rapids, they don't need any cargo!"

So Fran hit upon the idea of using five-gallon gasoline cans, cutting the tops off, and attaching rope handles with rubber hose hand grips to make portage easier.

"I packed a dinner and a breakfast for nine men in each can," she told me, "and covered each with heavy plastic. My proudest hour was when I learned that even though one of the boats turned over in midstream, the cans of food floated on the surface and the contents remained dry as driftwood."

Dinners, as Fran planned and packed them and as the men ate them, were one-pot affairs, such as a dehydrated pea soup cooked with water from the Colorado River and hot dogs from cans. There was tinned fruit for dessert.

For breakfast there was a hot cereal prepared with river water and raisins, figs, or dates and brown sugar. And always there was plenty of fruit juice for the thirsty adventurers. Tang citrus crystals, which the men mixed with water from the river, required no refrigeration and added little bulk.

"When you first see Colorado River water it is a little shocking," Fran admitted. "You know what they say about it, don't you? 'Too thick to drink and too thin to plow.'" (Although silt comes down with the melting snow, it is pure mountain water.)

Fran Belknap's skill in coping with the challenges of living in the Southwest results from a life-long romance with this area of broad deserts, snow-capped mountains, deep canyons. It's an area dominated by the Colorado River, and she knows it well.

She arrived at Grand Canyon, Ariz., the little village on the south rim, in time to celebrate her second birthday. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Spencer, officials of the Fred Harvey organization for many years, and their home was the Hopi House, on the edge of the canyon. As a little girl, Fran's playmates were the children of the Hopi Indians on her father's staff.

Happy Summer Days

"We used to hike down to the bottom of the canyon," she recalled, "taking a packet of sandwiches with us, and we'd be gone all day. Later, when I went away to boarding school, I always returned to the canyon to spend my summers."

Bringing home schoolmates from the East who had never seen a cowboy or an Indian, Fran took them out into the Navajo and Hopi reservations, on pack trips to Monument Valley, and into spectacular Canyon de Chelly. She loved to share her country's beauty and its grandeur, and this love characterizes her life today.

"There was a great sense of freedom in those days," Fran explained. "We didn't worry about whom we might encounter. We'd just take our bed rolls and sleep out in the desert."

It was during one such summer vacation, that Fran met Bill Belknap, a New Yorker, who had been coming out to the West since he was a small boy, and loved it as she did. They were married in 1941, after Bill had joined the Navy as a photographer and had been selected for special photographic work with Life Magazine. In '44 and '45, he was attached to the White House as official Navy photographer, and the Belknaps made their home in Washington. There, Buzz, and a daughter, Loie, were born.

Before Loie was four months old, the war was over, and the Belknaps went exploring as a family. Soon, Fran was heating Loie's bottles over a campfire and zipping two-year-old Buzz into his own down-filled sleeping bag. Both children learned to eat their Pabulum in the shade of a cottonwood tree instead of in a high chair.

Cautious and Alert
"Cases of Carnation milk and 10-gallon cans of water stowed in the back of the station wagon will see you through any emergency," Fran observed gaily. "We've always been able to feel self-sufficient in the desert. We're cautious and we're alert."

Then there was the time after a Hopi snake dance on the reservation, Fran recalled, when a flash flood covered the main road, so they decided to go out by the way of Blue Canyon. "We had heard the road was pretty bad," Fran said, "but we had a shovel and even though the car mired down, we made it. When we reached the trading post at Tuba City, Ariz., we told the trader that we had come by way of Blue Canyon.

"You couldn't have come through there," the trader said. "That road has been closed for two years."

Open New Vistas

"Well," replied Fran, "we've just opened it."

"And as a family, they have been opening vistas for others ever since. In an attractive shop here in this little green oasis in the desert, Fran and Bill are offering what they feel is representative of the best in Southwestern arts and crafts, as well as the finest in photographic equipment — and advice.

Fran's buying trips take her to Santa Fe, Tucson, Phoenix, Los Angeles, and keep her in touch with leading artisans throughout the region, including her beloved friends, the Hopis and their fine silver work.

Fran keeps the home fires burning too, serving on the library board here in Boulder City, and on the juvenile committee for Clark County.

"When Mother was our Girl Scout leader," said Loie, a prize-winning horse woman, "we had the best trips of any troop, ever!"

That man is truly free who desires what he is able to perform, and does what he desires.

BOAT SAFETY WEEK IS OBSERVED

Now that Lake Mead boasts a Coast Guard contingent headquartered in Boulder City, tips on safety are being offered from a local standpoint in observation of National Safe Boating Week.

Among the warnings given to protect the boater and his equipment are: check the weather forecast before starting out, bad weather is a leading enemy of pleasure boaters. The Coast Guard suggests that if a storm blows up while on the lake, head for the nearest shelter on shore. If waters become choppy, seat passengers on the bottom of the boat, keeping them as close to the centerline as possible and head the craft into the waves with reduced speed.

A half a tea cup of gasoline can be as explosive as a stick of dynamite and boaters are warned not to smoke and to put out all flames, shut off all spark-producing machinery and have an extinguisher handy when filling the tank. Don't spill any fuel and don't fill the tank completely. If you smell gasoline, don't start!

Among items of equipment not mentioned in boating regulations are, anchor, line, paddle, first aid kit, flashlight, fenders, tool kit, extra can of fuel, compass and distress flare.

Courtesy on the water is an important safety factor, the Coast Guard warns. Keep clear of fishermen, swimmers and water skiers and don't buzz docks or shoreline.

Sailboats and rowboats have the right-of-way over power boats.

SCIENCE SERVICES

Communion services will be held Sunday at Christian Science churches throughout the world.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament" is the Golden Text from the Bible (Galations 3): "Ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker

Eddy will include: "To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done. Outward worship is not of itself sufficient to express loyal and heartfelt gratitude, since he has said: 'If ye love me, keep my commandments.'" (p. 4).

How U.S. Savings Bonds help you save the things worth saving

With the world the way it is these days, money is just one of the things worth saving.

Another is freedom itself, threatened in many ways, in many lands. Another is peace — costly to preserve but far costlier to lose.

One easily made investment in U.S. Savings Bonds helps you save all these worthwhile things, all at once. Uncle Sam uses the Bond dollars to help pay the costs of keeping America strong right now. When you cash your Bonds in later on, you'll discover you've saved not only money, but have helped save freedom as well.

Why not make the investment that saves you so much more than money? Buy U.S. Savings Bonds soon.

"Save for a new home with Savings Bonds," says Leonard L. Frank of Long Island, N. Y., President, National Association of Homebuilders

"You can enjoy the home you save for only if America remains strong. You can have the kind of life you plan only if we remain free. Savings Bonds represent a way to save while helping to assure a tomorrow in which all Americans can enjoy the results of saving. The home builders of America are proud to endorse and support Savings Bonds."

One American in four has this disease

Physicians call it obesity, but it's just as unhealthy if we call it pounds—too many pounds. In some places a chief cause of early death is malnutrition but in this country the Grim Reaper's number one helper is overeating. Overweight people subject their heart and blood vessels to undue stresses and strains. Every ounce of excess flesh is a menace to health. Which is why so many of us diet today. And those of us who are wise see a physician first. We, as professional pharmacists, know how effective a doctor's advice can be.

Gallagher To File Again

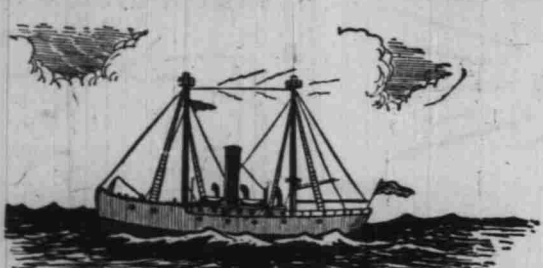

Mervin J. Gallagher

Mervin J. Gallagher, incumbent State Inspector of Mines, today filed for re-election on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Gallagher, 51, was first elected to the office in 1950 and won re-election in 1954 and 1958.

A native of Virginia City, Nevada, Mr. Gallagher was reared there and attended and graduated from the local schools. He spent two years at St. Ignatius College in San Francisco (now the University of San Francisco) and then returned to the Comstock to work in the mines. In 1942 he was appointed Deputy State Mine Inspector under the late Matt Murphy and served in that capacity for four years. Mr. Gallagher was elected to the State Legislature in 1946, as assemblyman from Storey County, and re-elected to that position in 1948. He is married to the former Clarisse Young and they are the parents of three daughters.

Las Vegas To Be Site Of NCHA Finals

Las Vegas recently landed another major event when this city was named as site for the 1962 National Cutting Horse Association World Championship finals with the entire three-day program, Nov. 9-11, to be held on the grounds of the Thunderbird Hotel.

Confirmation of the site came following a meeting between Joe Wells, president of the Thunderbird; H. L. Akin, president of the National Cutting Horse Association, and officials of the Las Vegas Cutting Horse Association.

"We of the NCHA feel this could be the greatest national finals ever," said Akin. Zack T. Wood, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the national group, said in a special letter read at the meeting that everyone on the national level is looking forward to visiting Las Vegas next November for the big event.

A record $20,000 — perhaps more — will be distributed to the winners.

It is estimated that between 60 and 100 contestants from throughout the nation and Canada will compete for honors. The event also is expected to attract several hundred other interested spectators from around the nation.

This will mark the first time the finals have been held in Las Vegas.

Officials said actual site of the cutting action will be an arena to be constructed soon on the Thunderbird grounds.

Verda Davis

Verda and Frank Davis of Caliente have purchased a house at 517 Eden Circle, Las Vegas, and have been busy each week-end going back and forth getting things settled. Verda has been planning to visit Boulder City to see her friends and former neighbors. Monday, she decided to visit "Mother's Club" and bring along daughter Marlene Clark (you remember Marlene Moore, a B.C. graduate.) They started — but the car brakes gave way and Verda ran into another car. She phoned Frank, who brought Marlene's car for them to continue on — but the lights went out on it. Sooo, they never did get here!

Incidentally there have been four generations at the Davis home, as Verda's mother was also visiting from Caliente, and Marlene has her children with her.

Auto Owners Should Have Registration Renewal Now

CARSON CITY — Persons who have not received their 1962-63 vehicle registration renewal certificate should contact either a branch office of the Department of Motor Vehicles or the appropriate county assessor, Director Louis P. Spitz of the DMV announced today.

All of the renewal forms, for which we have the address of the registrant, were in the mail during the first week of June, said Hale Bennett, chief of the DMV's automation division.

Most of those who have not received one of the JBM vehicular renewal slips are persons who either have changed their address since last year or recently purchased the vehicle, Bennett said.

"If we do not have the person's proper address, it stands to reason that we cannot mail them their renewal blank,"

Bennett stated. Persons who have not received a renewal blank, and live in Washoe County, should go to the DMV branch office in Reno. Those in Clark County should contact the Las Vegas branch office. Residents of all other counties should see their county assessor, Bennett pointed out.

There were 12,000 renewal forms returned by the Post Office recently. A majority of these were for people who have moved out-of-state, Bennett pointed out. The remainder are for persons who have not reported changes of address or left no forwarding address for mail with the Post Office.

A person moving is required by law to report his change of address to the Department of Motor Vehicles within 10 days.

EDITORIAL

It has always been recognized that smoking cigars and cigarettes is hard on a person with a heart condition. Doctors are quick to order their patients to refrain from smoking when they discover that they have a bad heart.

The latest reports of research on the matter were made recently by Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, director of statistical research for the American Cancer Society, and they place added stress on the dangers of smoking when the ticker is faulty.

The research group led by Dr. Hammond found that smoking damages the air sacs and blood vessels in the lungs to such an extent that it places an unusual burden on the heart.

Not too long ago it was reported that cranberries were being sprayed with a chemical which would cause cancer. People became alarmed immediately, and the sale of cranberries fell with a thud. However many of these same people have been reading for years now of the injurious effect of cigarette smoking on the lungs, and yet they have failed to show any undue alarm about the matter. Smoking has become such a habit with most people that some would continue to use cigarettes even if they knew it would shorten their lives.

Being a non-smoker and hailing from a long line of non-smokers we have never given the matter much thought.

Over the years we have had close contact with many chain-smoking friends. Most of them appeared real healthy, and showed little effects from heavy smoking other than being a little more nervous than other people.

However judging from the research team's report as the years take their toll, and the old ticker weakens, this heavy smoking could have disastrous results.

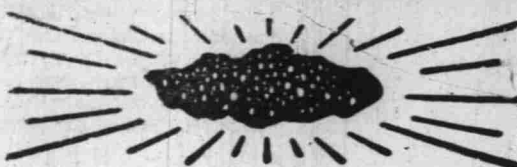

Smoking has become a controversial subject for years now. The number of smokers far outnumbered the number who are abstainers, and in all probability it always will, research reports and cancer reports notwithstanding.

It is time to give the effects of smoking some serious thought however if we know we have any heart ailments or associated maladies. If Dr. Hammond says smoking could result in heart failure he should know. He is an expert on such matters.
