

DOLLAR DAYS

This is a lucky week end for local shoppers, as DOLLAR DAYS always are. For the next three days your dollars . . . at least those spent for DOLLAR DAYS bargains . . . will be worth their full par value of 100 cents.

Merchants throughout the city are offering tremendous bargains in clothing for the whole family, shoes, drugs, hardware, groceries and sporting goods.

Almost anything you want to buy from a loaf of bread to a new living room set can be found in the local stores at bargain prices.

Take a look around the house. Is your pantry well stocked? This is a good time to fill up those shelves. Is your linen supply low? Are you out of coffee? Sugar? Juices? Dog food?

Perhaps you want to start your Christmas shopping early? This is the week end to do it . . . you'll find some extremely acceptable gift-giving occasion.

We know it's hot, and we advise you while out shopping to stop in at one of the local clubs for a nice cooling bit of refreshment. Who knows, you just might think of something you've forgotten to buy during such a refreshing pause.

Check the advertisements on the inside pages of this newspaper before starting your shopping tour. You'll be surprised at the low, low prices being advertised during DOLLAR DAYS.

Titanium Strike Ended Workers Return To Jobs

The strike at Titanium Metals Corporation of America was ended Tuesday with over 400 workers reporting for work yesterday, just three weeks after they walked off the job July 5.

The workers agreed to accept the "steel package" or Kennedy non-inflationary wage agreement which was accepted by other steel workers in the nation, according to Steel Workers Representative Van Englestead, who assisted in negotiating the settlement.

According to Englestead, the "steel package" will not give the workers any additional take-home pay, but does carry some additional fringe benefits, including extended vacation time and retirement benefits.

A meeting of the Steel Workers local was held Monday night to announce the

MORRY'S STORY

by Morry Zenoff

Congratulations to the city administration for refinishing the Water Street entrance to the city off the main highway. It looks like it will be first class — and will not only provide more safety for autos, but will lend a touch of beauty to that end of the city. County help enabled the city to accomplish this.

Canadian Open and Steiger in Texas. And Buss Smith's son is competing in the state junior tournament.

We're currently preparing an election poll on the governor's race as it stands in this community at this time. One of our gals is phoning people morning, noon and night and charting the responses. One question is: If election day were tomorrow and the two candidates for governor were Grant Sawyer and Orin Gragson, whom would you vote for? The other question is: If election day were tomorrow and the two candidates for governor were Grant Sawyer and Hank Greenspun, whom would you vote for?

W. P. Winall Dies Suddenly While Visiting In West Va.

William P. "Bill" Winall of 310 Nebraska Avenue passed away suddenly Tuesday night at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, where he and Mrs. Winall had been visiting since early June.

Winall had been in perfect health prior to his death. He was stricken with a coughing attack from which he did not recover. His physician said death was caused by fluid in the lungs.

Mr. and Mrs. Winall came here eight years ago from West Virginia and he was employed by American Potash and Chemical Corporation until his retirement about two years ago. He was a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge and the couple held charter membership in the First Presbyterian Church.

Winall, 69, was born June 8, 1893 at Pence Springs, Virginia. He and Mrs. Winall were married in White Sulphur Springs and celebrated their 46th wedding anniversary there at the home of Mrs. Winall's mother, Mrs.

Annie Forrem, on July 16. Surviving, in addition to his widow, are two sons, Harold D. Winall of 117 Ivy Street and Donald E. Winall of Smithers, West Virginia; one brother, Lawrence, of Charleston, West Virginia; and one sister, Mrs. Violet Cerina of Woodside, Long Island, New York.

Also surviving are three grandchildren, Marilyn and Ralayne Winall of 117 Ivy Street; and Shawn Winall of Smithers.

Shanklin Funeral Home of White Sulphur Springs is in charge of arrangements for the funeral. The date has not been announced.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in West Virginia. Memorial Services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Friends wishing to send flowers are asked instead to give donations for a memorial at the Presbyterian Church.

IN EMERGENCY CASES Hospital Denies Charges Of Ambulance Drivers

Sister Helen Margaret, O. P., Administrator of Rose de Lima Hospital, yesterday branded as false reports that emergency treatment had been denied accident victims at the local hospital.

"Two accident cases brought to Rose de Lima were referred to other hospitals at the request of their family doctors, despite the inaccurate reporting of the Review-Journal," Sister Helen Margaret said.

"When ambulance drivers and the ordinary laymen decide they are the judges of what is or what is not good medical care, and just how emergency room care should be given, then hospitals had better close their emergency rooms and send patients to the home of these would-be medical practitioners," she added.

"We have treated 5338 patients this year and the people of Henderson have been wonderful to us. The six complaints received were overshadowed by the confidence patients have placed in Rose de Lima Hospital.

On the heels of Boulder City's plan to build a half million dollar recreational complex that would bring more happiness to both young and old each day of the year — is a plan being worked on by Mayor Bill Byrne to have a similar layout for Hendersonians. He envisions using the huge piece of acreage on the Vegas side of the Thunderbird Raceway — a 75 acre piece owned by BMI and being kept for possible future plant needs. Byrne would like to get city use of the land for a huge park, which would include playing fields, buildings for adult crafts and arts, youth activities, outdoor and indoor. It would be next door to the big raceway — thus focusing most of the city recreation in one area. Too, tourists would find it easily available and so welcome for a stopping spot. Byrne feels financing of such an ambitious but needed project might come via Urban Renewal as well as from future land sales.

U.S. Lime Workers Sign New Contract

A negotiating committee of the United Steel Workers Union and officials of U.S. Lime Products have reached a tentative agreement on a new contract to replace the old one which expired June 30.

Van Englestead, international representative of the union, said a general membership will be called Wednesday to consider ratification or rejection of the provisions.

Terms of the new contract are not available until the members have an opportunity to discuss them.

Also on the local labor front, new contract negotiations opened Wednesday between the Steel Workers Union and the Pacific Engineering and Production Co.

FIRE DAMAGES DOREMUS HOME

The W. H. Doremus home at 335 West Basic Road was damaged by fire early Saturday morning while the family was away from home.

Neighbors called the fire department to extinguish the blaze. Damage was confined to a chair and two sets of mattresses with some smoke damage to the remainder of the house. The origin of the fire was not determined.

Rose de Lima Lauded By Georgia Visitor On Care Of Injured Son

C. M. Galloway of Atlanta, Georgia, who came here to be with his son who is being treated at Rose de Lima Hospital for injuries sustained in a traffic accident; yesterday spoke in defense of the hospital after reading newspaper reports indicating that emergency cases do not receive proper care.

In a signed statement to the HOME NEWS, Galloway said:

"Hope P. Galloway was an emergency patient at Rose de Lima Hospital. When my son arrived at the Hospital, the doctor told me 'he was at death's door' and received the best prompt attention.

"Ever since, I have visited the hospital daily and my boy has not wanted for a thing. I have nothing but praise for the care he received and is still receiving, due to the personal interest of the doctors and nurses.

VFW Barbecue Slated Sunday

Congrats to the Kiwanis club for their project of bringing a band-stand to our city. How many of you remember the band-stand in the old home town — and the many wonderful concerts. Now — we'll have them, too. Let's help the club in any way we can to accomplish their objective.

Congrats to the unions and the titanium management in arriving at a decision to end the strike. The old town should sure celebrate — for it means 400 of our finest neighbors are happily earning a nice living for their families again.

Hope you've noticed the new font of type — the new reading face of these words in our newspaper. We just invested in two of the world's most modern gadgets. One is the type itself — large size, clean-cut for easy reading. The other — an automatic typesetter attachment to the linotype machine. It hasn't arrived yet but is due in soon and we'll want you to watch it run — when we get it running and the bugs out of it. It will enable us to increase our news content for your readership — and will make us one of the most modern newspaper shops in the non-daily field in the Western states.

All this — thanks to you — the merchants — and the good Lord above.

The merchants, incidentally, go all out this weekend

It has often been said that we appreciate what we get by working for it. Miss Lynette Rhees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Rhees of 49 Laswell Street, will testify to the above statement. She is working her way through college, in order to become an English teacher.

Lynette is employed this summer as a cashier in the local Vegas Village Department Store.

A Basic High School graduate of 1960, this determined young lady worked at year at California - Pacific Utilities Company before entering Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, in the fall of 1961.

Eyes sparkling with enthusiasm, Lynette explained why she likes BYU. She feels that the people are exceptionally friendly for a school of 12,000, and everyone participates in the numerous activities.

Lynette especially enjoys these, as proven by her high school record. She was active at Basic in Usherettes, Future Teachers of America, Glee Club and Chorus, Girls Athletic Association, and Sun Youth Forum. She served on the annual staff for three years, as art editor her senior year, and still maintained a place on the B honor roll.

Vivacious Lynette is fascinated by the people she meets at college from various environments. Among her six roommates this past year were a girl from France and one from Sweden.

"I even received three invitations to visit Europe," she said delightedly.

Sherri Thayer Gains Year, Loses Tonsils

Sherri Thayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thayer, 23 California Way, celebrated her seventh birthday July 18, in an unusual fashion — she gained a year and lost her tonsils all in the same day.

But before the tonsillectomy, Sherri's day was brightened by a birthday party, enlivened by a dozen guests. The children played games and enjoyed a birthday lunch, featuring a white cake, trimmed with red and gold ballerina dancers.

The guest list was composed of Jeryl Ann and Christina Moss, Robin, Terry, and Cynthia Gibson, Craig Seal, Mary Ann Laubach, Fredrika Bergmeyer, Patti Wallace, and Sherri's brother and sisters, Andy, Jennylee, and Lucille.

Following the party, not only Sherri, but Andy and Jennylee also, made the trip to the hospital to lose their tonsils.

Bob Taylor Places in 4 Golf Meets

Outstanding amateur golfer Bob Taylor, who is also principal of the Park Village Elementary School, spent a vacation, which brought him honors from four golf tournaments.

In Logan, Utah, Taylor placed fourth out of 170 contestants, then went to Vernal, where he came in fourth out of 150. A week later he took fifth out of 170 golfers at Price, followed by a seventh in Magna. Here he played in a partnership and tied for the "best ball" tournament.

Between golfing contests, Taylor visited with his parents in Colorado. To punctuate the trip, he shared a fish-hip trip at Basalt Lake with Ray Wyman, a local friend.

Tops Initiate Morning Group

The Whistlebait Tops have announced the initiation of a morning chapter of the Tops (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) to hold its first meeting this morning at 10 a.m. at 54 Ocean Street.

Joint organizers of the new chapter are Mrs. Phyllis Woods of the Las Vegas Fabulous Tops, and Mrs. Helen Shroyer, leader of the local Whistlebait.

Anyone 10 pounds or more over weight is invited to attend. Group therapy offered by Tops has proven very enjoyable and effective, according to members of the evening chapter.

As stated in a new ruling, any member who has gained weight must lose it to be eligible for the weekly prize. Twice this ruling has proven effective — Anita Bauer was crowned last week after losing what she had gained, plus more than any other member, then Marijane Lawrence repeated the performance, becoming queen this week.

Mrs. Helen Shroyer gave a report this week entitled, "Forty Ways to Stay Slim Forever."

Measurements will be taken at 7 p.m. July 31 at 282 Tungsten. This will be the last meeting until August 28. Members will weigh in each Tuesday at their convenience.

Local Kids Qualify For State Swim

Roger Lindsey and Patty Johnson distinguished themselves by overcoming tough competition in the county-wide swim meet in Las Vegas July 20. They are now eligible to compete in the state championship contest, August 3 and 4 in North Las Vegas.

In the Intermediate boys' division, age 13 to 14, Roger placed second in the 50 yard free style race.

Patty came in third in the girls' 50 yard free style in the Peewee division, a grade eight and under.

City Employees Elect Officers; Plan Picnic

Pat Winters was elected President of the City Employees Association at a recent meeting of the group. Other officers elected were Jack Mackie, vice-president; Nykki Kinsley, secretary and Willie Schoneman, treasurer.

Appointed to the social committee were Janice Wiese, Beverly Wigglesworth, Wayne Sillitoe and W. H. Schoneman. The first duty of the new social committee was the planning of the group's annual picnic, to be held at Bonnie Springs Ranch, near Blue Diamond, August 18.

All city workers, their families and friends are invited to attend. Horseback riding, swimming and games will be featured. There will be no admission charge.

Members are asked to contact Beverly Wigglesworth or Janice Wiese to report the number of adults and children they are planning to take to the picnic.

Cake Walk Highlights Summer Social Of Eagles Auxiliary

An Old Fashioned Cake Walk held by the local Eagles Auxiliary was the highlight of the organization's summer social events, according to Kathy Weese, club secretary. Held July 23, at 8 p.m. at the home of Billy Wieder, 655 Federal, the affair was attended by 16 members and four guests.

Five of the members were dressed in old fashioned costumes. The most outstanding ensemble was made and worn by Betty Elliott, and was complete even to the bonnet. Billy Wieder wore the oldest, authentic costume.

The group participated in such games as Ha Ha, Pin the Towel on the Clothesline (a relay race), and a quiz game, followed by the Cake Walk with nine cakes.

Evelyn Mazrimas, Kathy Weese, and Urbalie Ives were in charge of entertainment for the gathering.

The following members were present: Thelma Rulifson, Cindy McClanahan, Georgia Weese, Evelyn Harris, Della Rudolph, Madolyn Harris, Tessie Hudgens, Winnie Fisher, Lois Ruhnau, Jane Yeager, and Bonnie Allton.

Olive Owens, Marcia Slocum, Ethyl Combs, and Kathy Pierce were introduced as guests.

HOME OF THE WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Jack MacDonald
517 Pebble Place

By Peggy Worst

ANTIQUA CHINESE SCREEN stands guard inside the front entrance of the Jack MacDonald home. Hand carved teak wood frames the slate panels and figures of ivory and mother-of-pearl.

Emanating the "Nevada look" from its every beam and stone is the bold, new Jack MacDonald home on Pebble Way. Just as Nevada is a state of brilliant lights, colorful majestic mountains, and quiet multi-hued desert, so the MacDonald home is a series of contrasts in color, texture, and structure. As this fascinating state offers conveniences and attractions for every resident and tourist, MacDonalds' home is built to satisfy each family member, and to interest each guest.

As varied as Nevada, the MacDonald home is comprised of numerous building materials. Turquoise stucco, glass, flagstone, native desert rock, jutting black beams, and various wood tones are all visible from the outside. The house is surrounded by patios of concrete and wood.

Designed by an Oriental architect, it is built so that no direct sunlight shines within during the summer, but sunlight floods the interior in winter.

Through bright orange double front doors, one enters a wide cool hallway, provided with ample closet space. Immediately, there is a sense of originality about the house. To the left of the front door is a heavy, hand-carved teakwood love seat, a Chinese piece over 200 years old. Its back, legs, and arms are intricately entwined with sea serpents, hawks, dragons, and foliage. It's seat is covered by a crimson velvet spread of oriental design.

Farther along the hallway is a chair to match the couch, and a matching marble-top table, antique gold wall clock, and at the end of the entrance hall, a magnificent Chinese screen. MacDonald explained that the screen was of the type used by Oriental merchants to guard themselves from being approached from the rear.

This massive object was a heavy, hand carved teak frame, and smooth slate panels. On one panel is an ivory-beaked eagle with mother-of-pearl feathers, in relief from the background. The eagle rests on an ivory-leaved branch. On the other panel is a large ivory-petaled flower, a tree branch, and small birds winging across the background. The screen is double hinged, and has designs on the back sides of the panels.

The wall behind the screen is of beautifully matched knotty camphor burl, a rare fine wood.

To the left of the entrance hall is the livingroom, purposely set apart from the remainder of the house for privacy in entertaining. The black beamed, knotty pine ceiling, universal throughout the house, is supported by one wall of white-draped glass, overlooking a patio, the golf course, and rugged mountains scribbled against the sky. A wall of California redwood, and one of domestic birch, give the room a warm rich wood-tone. MacDonald, owner of the local lumber company, has incorporated various woods throughout the rooms.

Riding a deep-pile beige carpet is an ancient Chinese teak chair, carved with dragons and tangled leaf designs, a modern off-white plaid couch, a richly polished Palestine court organ, an antique French chair of African mahogany, antique couch in gray-green velvet, and twin contemporary off-white chairs. Various end tables, Chinese stands, lamps, a handsome glass coffee table, and several oil paintings done by Mrs. MacDonald's mother, coordinate the antique and contemporary pieces to make the room a delightfully unique living area.

One window overlooks what will soon become a tiny flower garden. The two wooden walls continue on past their joiner with adjacent windows, thus shading them from direct summer sunshine, and affording privacy from the street.

Just off the living room is the family room-kitchen area. Pale aqua walls and aqua vinyl floor tile give the room a feeling of homey comfort. As in the livingroom, most of one wall is full length windows, this time with drapes of white with green and brown abstract designs. A white painted, gold flecked player piano stands next to the window-wall in the family area.

Short twin beige couches, a brown leather easy chair, maple end and coffee tables and matching bookcase and desk are grouped into a cozy arrangement. The MacDonalds plan built-in bookcases and desk for this area.

The wall is tastefully decorated with classic blue and white china plates, and various plaques made by the twin boys.

A drop leaf maple dining table, matching china closet, and antique corner chair, as a second grouping provide a comfortable dining area.

On the patio beyond the glass wall is a glass-top white wrought-iron dinette set.

A breakfast bar is planned to separate the kitchen from the rest of the area, but a long two-tone beige dinette set serves the purpose nicely at present.

The kitchen cabinets are birch, the counter tops are gold-flecked white formica. One outstanding feature of the kitchen is a counter-top range installed in a walk-around counter in the center of the room. Closer examination reveals that the stove may be moved anywhere in the room!

Joanie, MacDonalds' pre-teen daughter, contributed an interesting flower cage made of wire coat hangers, to the kitchen decor.

An antique radio-bar which Mrs. MacDonald received from her father along with the Chinese furniture, sits comfortably across from a small turquoise phone desk in the alcove between the kitchen and the entrance hall. The walls of this alcove are of Japanese Ivy wood. The area houses an intercom system which has speakers outside the front door and in each bedroom. The intercom is for communication, as well as piped in hi-fi radio music.

Across the halls Mrs. MacDonald's convenient sewing and ironing room.

The master bedroom is the epitome of comfort and luxury. The lavender-draped floor to ceiling windows overlook the other houses in the Black Mountain area. Beige carpet and white walls serve as a placid backdrop for the lavender-spread giant size Hollywood bed, and four slender Japanese prints above it. The bed's paneled headboard, as well as the dressers, are of fine walnut. Three antique chairs, a carved teak table complete with portable TV, and a small cedar chest which MacDonald made of tiny squares of the wood, complete this room's furnishings.

On either side of the door leading to the master bath, are large closets with sliding doors, accessible both from the bedroom and the bathroom sides.

Directly opposite the bath entrance is an alcove with a pink tub and pink and gold fish design shower curtain. On each side of the tub alcove are twin lavatories — his and hers. The lavatories have pink fixtures, ample counter space, and large aluminum framed windows with attached glassed in shelf.

Twelve-year-old Joanie's room is complete with bath and private entrance. The white walls are given a rosy glow by the pink ruffled bedspread. White drapes with delicate silver plaid, and white vinyl floor tile sprinkled with sparkly silver and gold dots contrast with the maple furniture.

In her bathroom, a feminine blue and white dressing table is an added convenience for the young lady.

Stewart and Stephen, the 13-year-old twins, share a bedroom which boasts a private entrance and bath, also. They enjoy decorating their walls with mobiles made from match sticks and toothpicks, papier mache masks, plaques of hammered copper, pictures created from tin cans, a dart target — things to interest eighth grade boys.

Their whiskey bottle collection adds an interesting touch to the room.

Cocoa-beige walls, tan floor tile, sturdy maple furnishings, an orange built-in desk, and a TV set make this room comfortable and adequate for the boys. Although the MacDonalds plan more building in the future, this first home in the Black Mountain region stands as a strikingly beautiful citadel atop the hill, seemingly complete and perfect, almost a symbol of the bold variety of Nevada.

FAMILY FUN is centered in this area which connects the living room and kitchen. Maple furniture and beige couches are set against an aqua backdrop. Wall decorations are family keepsakes and creations of the twins.

THE OLD AND THE NEW mingle cordially in the MacDonald living room. Antique Chinese chair (left background), French chair, and carved divan (right) contrast with contemporary pieces to form a charming arrangement. Blending with the redwood (back wall), birch (right wall) and knotty pine (ceiling) tones is a lush beige carpet.

COMFORTABLY CAPACIOUS is the MacDonald master bedroom. White walls, beige carpet, and black-beamed ceiling form the setting for rich walnut furniture and lavender bedspread and toss pillows.

Palmer, Swift Joined In July 21 Ceremony

II-24 Palmer, Swift
Miss Darlene Palmer became the bride of Richard Louis Swift, July 21, in St. Peter's Catholic Church. Officiating at the ceremony was Monsignor Robert Anderson. Miss Palmer was given in marriage by Elwood Swift, who substituted in the absence of her father.

Miss Ardis Koerwitz of Las Vegas, organist, played Allan Caron's "March Mystique" as a processional, and Mendelsson's "Wedding March" for the recessional.

The church decorations consisted of bouquets of white chrysanthemums and Stephanotis arranged on the altar; pews marked with pale green satin bows and white baby mums; a white carpet covered the floor.

The bride's gown was of white nylon organza, with Chantilly lace trim at neckline and matching insets in the skirt. It was fashioned with long tapered sleeves and a Cathedral train. From a pearl tiara flowed the elbow-length veil of illusion. The ribbon-entwined shower bouquet was styled from Stephanotis, white carnations, and an orchid.

Mrs. Neal Shafter of Boulder City attended as Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Swift and Mrs. Alan Chatterton. The attendants, attired in matching dresses of mint green Chantilly lace and chiffon, carried pink carnation nosegays.

Stephen Shawl, of Las Vegas, a childhood friend of the groom, served as Best Man. Ushers were Jack Avery and Alan Stengel, also of Las Vegas.

Mother of the bride wore a lavender and white print dress, complemented by a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother selected a John Frederick's imported silk dress in emerald green, enhanced by a pink carnation corsage.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of the groom's parents, 24 Mallory Street. Flaming silver candleabra and white tapers decorated with pink cherubs enhanced the mint green satin covered table. The display surrounded a three-tiered white wedding cake with delicate pink roses, and the traditional bride and groom figurines.

Miss Annette Ellis of Las Vegas acted as supervisor at the Guest Book. In charge of the gift table were Mrs. Don McCullough, Mrs. Vernon Edmondson, and Miss Dene Butler.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. H. D. Palmer and children Ray, Dee, Lee, Michael, and Cindy, all of LaHarpe, Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Miglio of Millbrae, California; and numerous guests from Boulder

City and Las Vegas.

The new Mrs. Swift is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Palmer of LaHarpe, Illinois. She attended schools in California before entering Basic High School in her senior year. She plans to attend beauty college in the future.

Her bridegroom is the son of pioneer residents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Swift of 24 Mallory Street. He has lived in this city since he was 19 months old, arriving here from his birthplace in Ottawa, Illinois. Swift attended Basic, Townsite and St. Peter's parochial schools, was graduated from Basic High, spent two years at Nevada Southern, and graduated from the Weaver Personnel Training School in Kansas City, Missouri. He is currently employed by Maslow Construction Co. at Desert Hills.

The bride chose a powder blue suit for the Honeymoon trip to an undisclosed destination. Upon their return, the couple will make their home in Parkdale.

Effects Of Steel Strike Still Depressing Industry

By DAVID R. JONES
Staff Reporter of The Wall Street Journal

PITTSBURGH — The steel industry is heading into one of its worst summers in several years with a case of the jitters over how strong its long-awaited pickup will be.

No one doubts there will be a pickup; steel always gets at least a seasonal lift after the traditional yearly low point is passed in July. But many steel men see signs that customers liquidation of the inventories steel users had piled up as a strike hedge early this year will go deeper and last longer than they had thought. Reports from some big users — though not all — confirm this view.

As a result, steel men are generally lowering their production estimates both for the third quarter and the year as a whole. Three months ago, most executives were predicting 1962 output of 106 million to 110 million tons. Leslie B. Worthington, president of U. S. Steel Corp., still thinks production may "possibly be as high as 105 million." But a couple of the nation's largest steel makers now say privately they doubt output will top the 99.3 million tons poured last year. And a good many others believe 102 million tons is about the most that can be expected. Output in the range would make 1962 the fifth straight year of production at about two-thirds of capacity, regarded as a mediocre mark, against an average of 89% in the previous decade.

'NOT GOOD'

"This year will end up just about the same as the last three years — not good," grumbles an executive of a Midwestern mill. Adds a steel market analyst: "We can't seem to get much over this 100-million-ton level, and that's a shock to a lot of people. I don't think we're going to move out of this area till the mid-1960s. It's a nice level, but it's not nice compared to the capacity we have." Steel making capacity is estimated at about 157 million tons a year.

These assessments come at a time when steel could use some cheer. Weekly mill output already has plunged more than 35% in the past three months, as customers have been chewing up the steel they had stockpiled prior to the industry's early labor agreement in March with the United Steelworkers of America. The industry closed out June with production of about 6.7 million tons, the lowest for any non-strike June since 1946. Now the mills head into what is historically their most slack month — and indications are that it will be slack indeed. Production lately has been running around 52% of capacity, but it may drop below 45% this week as many mills close for the July 4 holiday and in many cases for several other days as well (see story below). For all July, prospects are for production of about 6.2 million tons, or, excluding strike periods, the lowest for the month since 1949.

Consumption vs. Inventories

After that, operations will move up to some higher level; they pretty much have to, since July is an abnormally low month. And there are some strong elements in the picture. Some mills report that orders in June, while still low, showed a bit of improvement over May. More important, steel men believe actual use of their metal is high enough to support a mill operating rate 10 to 15 percentage points above the present level if inventory-cutting were not a factor.

But inventory-cutting definitely is a factor. A few weeks ago steel men had expected it to be out of the picture by August, paving the way for a strong pickup in mill shipments to begin by the middle of that month. Now many are abandoning that view.

"Our salesmen told us that people would be back in the market in July, and then they began pushing this off until August," says a market expert for one large steel producer. "Now you won't see any improvement in our shipments before September." A sales official for another company comments: "We had hoped inventory reduction would be over by the end of

Reno N. Fruzza Promoted To Manager Of New Bank Office

RENO N. FRUZZA

Reno N. Fruzza, Assistant Cashier with the First National Bank of Nevada, Third and Fremont Office, has been promoted to Manager of the new Twin Lakes Plaza Shopping Center Branch. The appointment was made by President Harold S. Gorman, according to an announcement by Administrative Vice President of the Bank's Southern Division, B. Thayer Bigelow.

A native Nevadan, Fruzza graduated from the Sparks High School. In 1940, following studies at the Reno Business College, he joined the staff of the First National First and Virginia Office in Reno as a clerk. He received his promotion to Pro-Assistant Cashier in 1947, and was transferred to the Fallon office as Chief Clerk in 1942 at the time he was named an Assistant Cashier.

The following year he was assigned to the South Boulevard Branch in a similar capacity. In 1955 he was named Manager of the office in Tonopah where he served four years until he joined the staff of the Third and Fremont office.

Allegheny Steel Cuts Prices

PITTSBURGH — Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp. cut the price of popular grades of stainless steel sheet and plate by about 5%, effective today.

The leading specialty and stainless producer also trimmed its discount to distributors to 5% from 10%. The two price changes make Allegheny Ludlum's mill price competitive with warehouses that have been giving a 5% discount and also make it more burdensome for warehouses to maintain their 5% discount below mill price.

The company said the reductions are "necessary because of competitive conditions which have prevailed in the stainless sheet and plate market for a considerable time." It was referring to widespread price shading on these products in recent months, particularly at the warehouse level.

(July 27, 1868) — The Secretary of the Treasury was directed by the Congress to enforce the law prohibiting unauthorized killing of fur seals in Alaska. Also the President was authorized to regulate traffic in firearms, ammunition and spirituous liquors in Alaska. The President assigned police work necessary to enforce these provisions to the Revenue Marine, the forerunner of the Coast Guard.

July, but now we're sure it will extend into August and some people won't be done till September." Some steel men say the industry's biggest customer — General Motors Corp., which buys about 10% of all steel shipped — will not have inventories in line before November.

Deeper Cuts Than Expected

The principal reason that inventory cutting may last longer than expected earlier is that most steel men now think the cuts will be deeper than they once had thought. It's generally estimated that steel users began the year with a stockpile of 10 million to 11 million tons; then built that up to 15 million or 16 million tons by April to guard against a strike. No one expected them to keep that big a pile around permanently, but mill officials had figured the customers would retain a permanent stock somewhat higher than the end-of-1961 inventory. Now, however, the view is gaining that the users will cut all the way back to the turn-of-the-year level, and perhaps even lower.

"We think customers will plan on entering 1963 with less steel inventories than they entered 1962," says an official of one Midwestern mill. "They know they can get fast delivery and good service, and feel there is no need to carry large inventories." Another executive says: "I would say the loss of business confidence, reflected in the stock market, is going to mean businessmen will carry lower inventories, maybe not go ahead on capital projects, and this would tend to depress the outlook."

Several customers confirm at least part of this thinking. "Our steel use and inventories differ in every segment of the company, but in general we anticipate buying steel at lower than consumption rates for at least four or five months."

First National Bank Opens First Clark County Office

First National Bank of Nevada President Harold S. Gorman announced the opening of a new First National office at the Twin Lakes Shopping Plaza Center in Las Vegas. Open house ceremonies for the new quarters will be held early in August. This sixth office to be opened in the Las Vegas area is located approximately two miles north west from the center of the city at 1002 Tonopah Highway.

The shopping center is a well established one. It is situated on the highway leading to the atomic test site at Mercury where it is anticipated there will be increased activity which should have a direct effect on this service area. Forty-one percent of the entire population of Las Vegas is in this district and totals in excess of 20,000 residents.

The new First National office will be in full operation early in August and will be equipped with full banking service and a night depositary. The Las Vegas architectural firm of Zick and Sharp were responsible for designing the modifications needed to turn the structure into a modern, streamlined banking office.

25 years ago this month in 1937, First National Bank entered Las Vegas by purchasing the 32 year old First State Bank at First and Fremont. This Las Vegas First National Bank branch later moved to Third and Fremont, and First National has grown to a $350,000,000 bank with 24 branches located throughout Nevada. Since the purchase of the First State Bank, First National has opened a new office in Las Vegas on an average of one every four and a fraction years. The new branch will be opened in the Twin Lakes Shopping Plaza Center, bringing the total in the area to six.

During the years between 1937 and 1962, First National opened the South Boulevard office in 1951, the facility at Nellis Air Force Base in 1952, the 15th and Charleston office in 1955, and as the Twin Lakes branch begins to serve First National customers early in August, the North Las Vegas branch celebrates its first anniversary.

In keeping with its basic policy, First National will continue to keep in step with the development of the community.

JOHN FISCUS TAKES BRIDE

Beverly Lorraine Van Vleet and John Fiscus Jr. were married Sunday afternoon at Bethany Baptist Church. The Rev. Clyde Speas officiated at the double ring ceremony. The ballet length bridal gown was blue nylon tulle and tulle, with a long sleeved bodice of lace. The bride wore a white pillbox hat and other white accessories, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums on a white ribbon.

The Maid of Honor was Frances Fiscus, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a dress of white lace over taffeta, with a pink sash. Her pillbox hat and other accessories were pink.

James Goff served as best man.

The new Mrs. Fiscus came to Nevada from the state of Washington, for her health. She has been working as a short order cook in Henderson and Las Vegas. Her husband has lived in Boulder City most of his life, and is a graduate of Boulder high school. He has most recently been employed by Titanium in Henderson.

The couple will live temporarily with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fiscus Sr., 402 Lakeview Drive.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the church. Martha Shafer registered the guests. Cake was cut by Ruby Nicks, and the punch was served by Ivetta Moore and Jeanette Battey.

Warn Campers Of Extreme Fire Danger In Mt. Charleston Area

District Forest Ranger Fred W. Isbell has issued a warning of extreme fire danger in the Las Vegas Ranger District of the Toiyabe National Forest which has intensified fire prevention of the U.S. Forest Service.

From now until welcome rains come this fall, lookouts will periodically be posted on vantage points overlooking Kyle and Lee Canyons, and air reconnaissance of the Mt. Charleston area will be made each Monday morning, so as to spot any hold-over fires that might occur over the weekend. Patrolmen are also thoroughly checking campgrounds and homesites for possible fire hazards.

Last weekend Forest Service patrolmen found two small fires caused by careless campers. The fires were quickly extinguished before they had a chance to cause great damage.

This potential hazard to the recreation areas brought a warning to all campers to obey the following rules when building a campfire, and to build fires only in authorized areas.

Campground stoves should be used if possible. If not, pick a safe place away from all vegetation. Clear an area at least ten feet in diameter down to mineral soil. Keep your fire small and put it dead out when you leave, by pouring water on it. In the case of strong winds put all fires out immediately.

S.R. Whitmore Granted Leave To Campaign

City Attorney of Las Vegas, Sidney R. Whitmore, and democratic candidate for the office of Attorney General, requested and was authorized leave without pay by the City Commission of Las Vegas beginning August 2nd through 14th and August 27th through 31st. Whitmore will be throughout the state during these periods of time and will announce shortly a schedule for each community.

In order to maintain the legal staff at City Hall in Las Vegas, Nevada, Albert Matteucci has been appointed as Special Deputy.

WHITMORE ATTY. GEN. CANDIDATE

Sidney R. Whitmore, City Attorney of Las Vegas and a native Nevadan, announced today he will run for the post of Attorney General.

Whitmore feels he is qualified for this office by reason of his having served as City Attorney for the past 2 1/2 years. He has vigorously supported additional airline facilities for the community and fast growing Nevada and has been successful in representing the public in defeating an increase in rates of public utilities.

As City Attorney, to keep up with the problems of a rapidly expanding area, Whitmore streamlined his office by establishing a civil and criminal division with deputies both in City Hall and the Las Vegas Police Department.

A World War II U.S. Army Veteran who served in the North African and European campaigns, Whitmore was born in St. Thomas, Nevada, attended school there and was graduated from George Washington University law school.

He lives with his wife, Suzette, whom he married in Algiers, North Africa, and three children — Mark 15, Sylvianne 11, and Kenneth, 9 — at 2909 W. Charleston Blvd.

Turpins Write Friends Here

Cecile Turpin, who last month joined her husband, S-Sgt. Homer Turpin, Jr., in England, left a very wide circle of friends here. Since it is impossible to write to everyone she has promised to write to the HOME NEWS so the letters can be shared with all of their friends. Here is her first letter, dated June 26:

Dear Rae:

We are starting our third week here in dear old England and I've wished a thousand times already that I was back in the States.

We had a nice flight over, by jet from Las Vegas to Pa. then by bus to McGuire AFB. Landed there at noon Wednesday, June 5, stayed in the base hotel and left on a DC-7 (an old Army crate) at 4 p.m. June 6.

Our first stop was Gander, Newfoundland, where we had a two hour layover which I didn't mind as it was a fabulous place, so modern and truly beautiful.

We were in rain from the time we left Chicago (where he changed planes) until we hit Shannon, Ireland, where we spent an hour in the terminal. The trip from Las Vegas to McGuire took 11 hours, with a 16 hour stop there and another 16 hours from McGuire AFB to England.

I went into shock when I walked into this house. It took quite a while for my husband to settle me down. You get your better English rental houses by long term leases, so you have to pay the monthly payments even though you move out and someone else moves in, until your contract has been paid in full.

My husband looked for so long, he finally took this house without too much notice. I have never seen such filth and old beat-up furniture. We had not a rag, broom mop or any cleaning stuff, so took all day Thursday and Friday to get a few things to do any cleaning.

We got sheets and G.I. blankets from the base and bought other stuff and cleaned two days to be able to camp here.

We have an old stucco and brick house right in the middle of town. We have three bedrooms and bath upstairs and kitchen and sitting room down stairs.

The windows and doors open right on the public street. A bakery, owned by our landlord, is part of our house.

The kitchen has a stone floor and a tiny drainboard and sink with separate faucets, a real small gas stove and a new three-foot high refrigerator two-and-a-half-feet wide — no freezing compartment — and an old rickety portable upright cabinet for groceries. This is painted blood red.

The sitting room has pieces of red carpet, all shapes and sizes laid loosely on the floor to cover it, and a tiny couch and two (overstuffed?) chairs that I wouldn't even see in our city dump. I've stuffed them with pillows to fill the holes and cover the springs.

The whole house has only one small closet . . . too narrow for hangers, so we have some clothes still packed and other garments hanging on every door and nail we can find.

Our mattress is made of straw and so lumpy, I'm sure Noah threw all the furniture out of the Ark.

We rented a television for $7 a month and can get only one station. They only have two.

I can't keep the place warm as there is a tiny fireplace in each room. They use coal and I've never been able to get a fire going so gave up and got a kerosene heater which we carry around from room to room.

We have draw drapes. You draw them by hand as they are on strings tied to nails on either side of the windows — no shades or screens on the windows or doors.

I rented a wringer washer but couldn't use it, water pressure is too low. No place to put clothes lines except the street. The streets are very narrow . . . more like a wide sidewalk . . . and this left-handed driving is really something! On these trails, it scares me stiff.

I don't even try to drive. The train station is only one block away and the trains go everywhere I want to go.

John and I went with two local ladies on the train to Lowestoft. It's a big shopping center 25 miles away. They have a beach there three miles long, right on the North Sea. People were swimming while I was freezing stiff just watching them.

To wear cotton dresses here they wear light weight coats or heavy sweaters. I have been in winter clothes ever since I arrived.

Cottons are very expensive here, but I can have a suit and matching coat tailored of top quality wool for $75 or half that much for either.

Ready-made suits and coats sell for $25 and $35 . . . beautiful things. Raincoats which look like our best light-weight coats and with umbrellas to match are only $15.

A sheath dress and jacket . . . two piece . . . sells for $22.50 or you can have them knitted to order for about the same price. I am having a short, bulky knit, hand knitted for me now.

I have met several British families and they are wonderful people. I really like them. We all meet in the pub every Friday night and visit. The pub is really a bar, but not for the English. To them it's a place to visit friends as their homes are too small to have friends in.

They work and save all week for that one night at the pub.

Few have refrigerators. Everyone has a little garden and flowers, no matter if they are in the middle of town. Right here, they will take a little dab of front yard like I have and fill it with garden and flowers. Most things are bought by the meal, or day.

They have so little storage space in their houses that they take the corner furthest away from the fire as a place to keep milk, butter, eggs, fruits and vegetables, etc. This is also where the coal is stored.

The country is beautiful now, green as a carpet with every tree and weed full of flowers. Road hedges are of wild bridal wreath and the roses and lilacs are the largest I've ever seen. Big trees, not bushes of lilacs . . . white, pink, lavender and purple ones. Hollyhocks grow wild and are as big as cups.

Gasoline costs 75 cents to 80 cents per gallon so most of the people having cars leave them in the garage except for Sunday rides and even the oldest models look like new.

People ride bikes and its nothing to see men and women in their 50's and 60's riding motorcycles. Even the old people ride a bike ten or 15 miles to the store and carry their supplies back in their hands.

I have missed Henderson, the sunshine and all our wonderful friends very much. It's windy, cold and damp here today. I have a fire going in the sitting room but the rest of the house is cold.

GUNTERS RETURN FROM MISSISSIPPI HEAT

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gunter and 15-year-old Joel, of 430 Republic, returned recently from a vacation in Mississippi. They came back sooner than expected — to get away from the heat, they said. Mississippi's temperatures were above the 100 degree mark, and the humidity was pushing 100 per cent.

The family went "home" to visit their relatives. They saw Mrs. Gunter's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hodges and their six children, another brother, Luther, and his wife and child, all of Greenwood. They enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Gunter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hodges, also of Greenwood, and 97-year-old Grandmother Belia Hodges.

In Jackson, the family visited Gunter's sister, Miss Benie Gunter, and enjoyed a family reunion with relatives from as far away as Washington, D.C.

It was an enjoyable eight days, the family reported, but it sure was nice to get back to "cool" Henderson!

LOCAL STUDENT HONORED BY OLIVET COLLEGE

Miss Margaret "Peggy" Worst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Worst, 230 West Basic Street, has won recognition for superior scholarship at Olivet Nazarene College by being placed on the Second Semester honor roll.

The announcement was made by Dr. W. E. Snowberger, Dean of the College. The honor roll consists of the names of those students with a grade average of "B" or above.

Olivet Nazarene College is a fully accredited four year liberal arts college owned and operated by the Church of the Nazarene. It has an approximate enrollment of 1,200 students.

Local Cadet At Air Academy Touring Edge Of 'Bamboo Curtain'

U.S. AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. — Cadet Charles H. Rogers of Henderson is presently on an Air Force Academy field trip to overseas bases in the Pacific. The tour will take him to the edge of the "Bamboo Curtain" as he visits the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong and other important areas.

Cadet Rogers, a member of the class of '64, will be assigned to an operational Air Force unit for a two-week period of duty under "Operation Third Lieutenant" upon his return from the Pacific area. He will serve in a junior officer position for first-hand training in Air Force base operations.

The cadet, son of Mrs. Mary C. Rogers, 48-D Victory Village, Henderson, is a graduate of Basic High School.

His father, Charles R. Rogers, resides at 2345 N. Daley St., North Las Vegas.

Totally, 270 antelope tags are available for the 1962 season in 11 different areas of the state. Three of these areas are in north Washoe County, three in Humboldt, three in Elko County, one in White Pine and Elko Counties, and one in Mineral and portions of Lyon County.

These tags will be awarded to resident Nevadans only at at public drawing to be held on Saturday, August 11, with the deadline for receipt of applications at 5 p.m. on Friday, August 10. The drawing will be held at the Fish and Game Commission office on 1100 Valley Road in Reno.

Wally Jonasen In National Pistol Match

Walter A. Jonasen, 417 Birch St., will compete in the 1962 National Pistol Championship field of 1800 of the country's finest military, police and civilian pistol shooters, who will shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio, from Tuesday, July 31 to Saturday, August 4.

The competitors will fire a tough 270-shot course at 25 and 50 yards in slow-fire, and rapid-fire matches for the national title now held by Master Sergeant William B. Blankenship, USA. Blankenship will be gunning for his third national title in a row.

The pistol matches are part of the National Championship Matches sponsored by the National Rifle Association of America in co-operation with the U.S. Army and the United States Marine Corps. #### SCIENCE SERVICE

Progress depends on spiritually meaningful activity. This is a theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Truth" at Christian Science church services Sunday.

Scriptural passages will include these verses from Proverbs (4): "Let thine eyes look right on, and let thine eyelids look straight before thee. Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established."

A citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p.323): "In order to apprehend more, we must put into practice what we already know. We must recollect that Truth is demonstrable when understood, and that good is not understood until demonstrated."

The Golden Text is from II Timothy (2): "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

(July 15, 1870 - Congress directed cutters of the U. S. Revenue Marine Service - the forerunner of the Coast Guard - on the northern and northwestern lakes when commissioned shall be specially charged with aiding vessels in distress on the lakes.

Craziest Race On Record Is Scheduled Here This Sunday

Swimming in Lake Mead, playing slot machines and perhaps even twisting on Fremont Street may be some of the stunts an estimated 750 contestants will perform during the second annual Southwestern States Championship Poker Run, scheduled here on July 29.

"It's going to be one of the craziest races on record," said Paul F. Foust, Jr., spokesman for the Charioteers Club of Southern Nevada, following completion of plans for the event during a special meeting at the Thunderbird Hotel.

The event, being sponsored by the Charioteers, will attract contestants from most of the western states and will feature $1,000 in cash prizes plus more than $500 worth of trophies.

During the T-Bird meeting club officials mapped out numerous stunts contestants will be required to perform during the race. "We can't say what they are now but we are certain that when the event ends each contestant will have had more than his share of excitement," said Foust.

Drivers will register between 9 a.m. and noon at the Convention Center on the day of the event. Each contestant will be given a clue in order to reach his first stop. When he reaches the stop he may be required to perform some sort of gimmick or stunt in order to obtain a card or clue for the next stop.

Officials also are keeping secret the number of stops in the contest.

The average time to complete the run will be recorded before the event.

Contestants coming closest to the average time will be declared winners but should they complete the run faster than the average time they will be disqualified.

Officials stressed that all

WHITE PINE HORSE SHOW ANNOUNCED

The 12th annual horse show of the White Pine Horseman's Association will be held Saturday and Sunday, August 4 and 5, at the fairgrounds arena in Ely.

Neil Larsen, association president, and Sunny Martin, secretary, announced that prize money, ribbons and trophies will be awarded. Everybody is invited to enter or attend and have a good time.

Nevada traffic safety rules will be obeyed by the drivers.

The event will be climaxed at the Day Dream Ranch with a dance and barbecue. Winners will be announced during the evening activity and various cash prizes and trophies will be distributed.

NEXT TUESDAY IS DEADLINE FOR NEW CAR PLATES

Louis P. Spitz, Director of the Nevada Department of Motor Vehicles has again issued a plea to automobile owners to avoid a last minute rush by registering their cars now.

Spitz predicts a long wait for motorists who delay until the last few days of the registration period to license their cars.

Motorists have until July 31 to renew old registration or register a new car.

There will be no grace period this year after the July 31 deadline, Spitz emphasized. Anyone driving without a valid registration after July 31 will be cited by the Nevada Highway Patrol.
