Charter Petition "Illegal"-City Attorney Rules

Some Taxes Up, Others Down—Assessor Says

Not all taxes will go up in Henderson, County Assessor J. A. Bilbray of Clark County points out in a letter to the Home News today.

Bilbray says that a creage and lots, unimproved and improved which have increased in value since the last evaluation, will be re-evaluated which will result in a raise in taxes.

However, he states, this does not necessarily mean residences and business buildings here will be raised except where additions or improvements have been made since the last valuation.

"We will," Bilbray says, use the 1960 state manual for all buildings and improvements which in some instances will be more than the depreciation for an older building. However, most of the homes in Henderson and Boulder City will show a big depreciation."

His complete statement follows:

Mayor Byrne has called my attention to an apparent misunderstanding of an article which appeared in a recent issue of the Henderson and Boulder City News, and I hasten to correct any misunderstanding which the taxpayers of Henderson and Boulder City may have.

The article was correct in that it stated land would be re-evaluated upward since in many instances it has not been checked since 1955, but the misunderstanding apparently came from the reference in the article to "property valuations."

This does not necessarily mean residences and business buildings in Henderson and Boulder City will be raised except where additions or improvements have been made since the last valuation was made or if the buildings or homes were appraised on the 1952 manual.

We will, for example use the 1960 State manual for all buildings and improvements which in some instances will be more than the depreciation for an older building. However, most of the homes in Henderson and Boulder City will show a big depreciation.

However, acreage and lots, improved and unimproved, in Henderson and Boulder City as elsewhere in the County has increased in value over the years since the last evaluation, and these properties, by the mandate of the law passed at the last session of the Legislature, will be re-evaluated, resulting in an increase in the taxes on property.

For example, acreage which was raw-desert land when acquired by the City by purchase from the Federal Government has been resold to private interests, much of it has been improved by these private interests and by the City. These properties, improved and unimproved, will be re-evaluated to establish an assessed valuation of 35 per cent of their present cash values, resulting in increased tax income to Henderson and Boulder City.

SIX TEENAGERS WERE INJURED early yesterday morning when this car landed on its top at the Thunderbird Drag Strip after the driver lost control and the vehicle landed on its top. Four of the young people suffered only minor injuries, while two others were seriously injured in the "unscheduled drag race."

Six Teenagers Hurt at Drag Strip In Unscheduled Race

Six teenagers, two girls and four boys, were hospitalized early Monday morning in an "unscheduled drag" race on the Thunderbird Drag Strip when their 1956 model car went out of control, leaped through the air for a distance of 45 feet and landed on its top.

Most seriously injured were the driver Leon Tony Patton, 16, of 24C Lincoln Carver Park who suffered back injuries and Wanda Bowers, 14, of 17C W. Lincoln with a broken left ankle.

Other passengers included

Kenneth Weast, 16, 17 W. Lincoln Carver Park; Robert Osborne, 16, Village Trailer Park, East Las Vegas; Nickie Halley, 16, 17C Lincoln Carver Park and Richard Root, 16, 110B Victory Village. These four suffered minor head and back injuries, officers said.

The teenagers told officers that the first trip was made up the north side of the oval at 45 miles per hour and the speed increased to 60 miles when the driver lost control and the car slid on the loose mat surface before sailing into the air and landing on its top.

All six were taken to Rose de Lima hospital by ambulance for treatment and the four with minor injuries were treated and released.

The strip is used for approved drag races sponsored by the City Recreation Department every other Sunday.

At one time a fence was placed at the entrance so that no one could get to the strip after the races. The fence is no longer there.

Strikes Out 292 Names Council Postpones Action & Decision to Wednesday

The long-awaited ruling of City Attorney John Manzonie to the City Council was presented last night, but the council took no action on his recommendations that "the petition as submitted fails to meet the statutory requirements and is invalid."

The council recessed its meeting and will study the ruling — meeting again tomorrow night at 5 o'clock for further action on the petition.

In his opinion to the council, Manzonie stated: "The petition that has been presented to the City Council was commenced prior to the June 4, 1963 election. Therefore, to determine whether a sufficient number of signatures appear on the petition, we must look to the total number of qualified voters voting at the last city election, which would be the election held June 7th, 1961, as provided by N. R. S. 267.030 (1)."

"The total number of qualified voters that voted in the June 7, 1961 election was 3362. The necessary number of signatures on the petition as required by the above mentioned statute would be 840 signatures."

CHALLENGE 292

A total of 292 names on the petition were challenged by the attorney in his ruling, in stating that "my examination together with that of the city clerk's reveal the following:

Different address than registered 39; signed the petition two or more times 136; not living at address written on the petition 3; not a registered voter 47; signed the petition different than registered 28; miscellaneous differences in petition and registration 45; no address on the petition 2; deceased 2.

Assuming that the total number of signatures remaining on the petition after the above disqualifications, as noted, were valid then there were not sufficient signatures to meet the requirements as to the June 7, 1961 election the ruling continued.

Two Additions, One Promotion To Police Force

Two new officers donned uniforms and were sworn into the Henderson police department before Municipal Judge Earl Davis, Sunday.

The two new officers are Bill Miller and George Liggett, the latter has been a sergeant in the police reserve.

Addition of the two men to the force was approved by the City Council in its last November meeting.

Patrolman Jim Jensen was also promoted to the position as detective, a post sought by Chief Crisler at the last City Council meeting.

Jensen will assist Detective Sergeant Wilbur Perkins. The new detective has been on the force for 2½ years and has aided Perkins in his investigations in the past.

STILL ILLEGAL

"If the petition had been initiated subsequent to the June 4, 1963 election, the petition, in my opinion, is still invalid for the following reasons:

Here the ruling lists three points:

(1) The affidavits of the verifier of at least two of the copies of the petition appear to be false in that the examination of the signature by the city clerk reveals that one spouse signed for the other. (He, the city attorney, said that there were at least 126 names which would have to be deleted on this ground.)

(2) It appears from an examination of the petition that the upper part of signature sheets on at least six of the copies have been removed. This would indicate that certain signatures on such sheets had been affixed to a text different than set forth on the original. If this be factual, in my opinion, invalidated the six copies and the signatures thereon.

(3) It further appears from my examination and that of the city clerk that certain addresses were filled in by someone other than the signator, which is not in compliance with N.R.S. 306.030 and that would invalidate at least those signatures and probably that entire copy of the petition.

After a volley of questions from Frank Morrell, former councilman who spearheaded the petition drive, in which he asked if the city attorney had any other reasons upon which to question any further petition, City Councilman Dale Roberts inquired if the council were to accept the petition and to call for an election, would it not be up to those opposed to the charter to prove its invalidity.

The City Attorney agreed that it would be that it would be a costly procedure with a special election costing at least $15,000 and reminded Roberts that going against the attorney's advice on a previous motion that the city found itself a defendant in a civil suit. That was Roberts motion that the building inspector not issue final approval on plumbing or electrical work in Trailer Estates or trailer parks whether the work meets the existing codes until the new ordinance was presented and passed by the council.

The handful of scattered observers attending last night's session did not believe that the council would go over the city attorney's ruling when it meets tomorrow night.

Previously Morrell expressed the opinion that he would circulate another petition if this one were ruled invalid. Meanwhile other persons and groups have expressed similar thoughts.

The men were underneath the truck which had been jacked up and blocks placed under the axle when Michael Moss McCallum of 111 Magnesium Street backed into the jacked up truck pinning Timmons and Lund.

Neighbors notified of the accident rushed to the scene and pulled the two men to safety and they were both rushed to Rose de Lima hospital for treatment of head and chest injuries.

McCallum, a college student in Arizona, who was home for the holidays, said that he was looking for a place to park and did not notice the truck. He was fined $100 for reckless driving in municipal court, Friday.

Hunt Is On For Prized Desert Bighorns For Lucky Few Nimrods

Bighorn sheep, to many dedicated large game hunters in the country, are words which call forth visions of adventurous outings in magnificent, rugged terrain in search of one of this land's most magnificent wild animals. But, bighorns are not abundant anywhere in

IN CLARK COUNTY
Bighorns are native to Nevada, having once been considerably more abundant than at present, although the state still has a considerable number when compared to Pine County and the other est of all. The state has two Wapiti populations of any consequence, both resulting from plantings of Yellow-stone animals in the early 1930's. One is located in the Schell Creek Range and adjacent country of White current sheep populations in the country. At one time the Rocky Mountain bighorn, the Lava Beds or California sheep and the Desert all existed in the state. As far as it is known, the Desert is the only subspecies that remains.

Herds of them are found in Clark County, primarily in the Desert Game Range, but also in country adjacent, in Lincoln, Nye and Esmeralda Counties, and there have been unauthenticated reports in other portions of the state.

Henderson Man Named Distributor For Widely Known Battery Additive

A young Henderson man, Bruce Ashley of 52 Country Club Drive, has been appointed distributor for the battery additive VX-6.

The number one cause of dead batteries is sulphation, Ashley says and describes how the VX-6 additive not only restores dead batteries but adds years of life to functioning car batteries.

Ashley is retailing the nationally advertised additive as well as jobbing the product to service stations and to super-markets.

Two local stations, Harrisley Flying A and the Fox Market Town stations, have a supply for their costumers.

The additive, which can be placed in 6-volt or 12-volt batteries, in one minute costs $2.98 retail and is effective for all - weather instant starting chemically recharging while you drive.

"It has added as much as 300 per cent to the life of truck batteries," Ashley says.

Further information may be obtained by calling Ashley at 565-8396.

LONGER LIFE for your car batteries is guaranteed by the use of the additive, VX-6, according to Bruce Ashley. Ashley is Clark County distributor for the additive which is also sold by a number of area service stations.

The Third Stool

How many times in your life have you taken pen in hand to write a letter and suddenly found yourself lost for words?

In writin' my column each week there has been lots of times I've set fer an hour or so, jest thinkin', before I finally figure out a way I want to get started.

This week it wuz jest the other way around. I found myself lost fer words to finish one.

The column I had planned fer you folks wuz incomplete when I heard of the President's death, an' the news affected me as it did millions of other folks. So, instead of tryin' to complete the one I started, I wud like to write about a subject where my feelin's really are.

Ladies and gentlemen: "The President of the United States". Sen. Alan Bible said them words with feelin' an' dignity when he introduced John F. Kennedy to us folks that filled the convention hall last September.

As the President walked to the microphone the echo of the senator's words soon faded an' wuz replaced by the applause 'n cheers of the crowd.

I felt it an honor and privilege to be among the folks to offer my sound of welcome.

While sittin' there in the press section writin' a column about him, I seen many things in the President that my style of writin' failed to bring out an wuzzen't a true reflection of the man he really is.

I seen a man of Irish descent, by heritage, a determined man frum experience a firm man becuz he has to be, an' a man with a sense of humor.

I ain't sayin' a man has to have all them things to be a president, but, if he does have 'em, we ain't so apt to get ourselves in a mess so fast.

It's hard to believe that one man with a shot frum a rifle cud take all them things away from the American people, includin' the life of the man that possessed them.

It's also hard to believe that Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused slayer, couldn't have lived a little longer, as he might have been able to explain in detail, his connection with things that have been tied to him. And as the evidence has been pillin' up against him, my feelin's becomes stronger that he ain't takin' the full burden of guilt with him.

His conscience, maybe, but our courts won't never get the chance to determine Oswald's guilt or innocence.

Regardless of how much information we might have obtained frum Lee Harvey Oswald, or anybody else, that ain't gonna alter the fact that somebody, livin' or dead, is responsible fer the death of our President, John F. Kennedy.

Good-bye, Mr. President, Al Langley

With reference to the Gettysburg Address, Lincoln was a much better speaker than Prophet, as he said, "The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here."

Wolves to Open Hardwood Season

The Basic Wolves hoop squad start their final week of practice for the opening whistle this Friday against Pomona High of California.

Coach Shellinger has been sending his hopefuls through a month's preparation for the '63-'64 campaign. At the moment fifteen lads comprise the team. Bob Fieldson, Denny England, Jerry Nichols, Bruce Reid, and Bill Jilbert are returnees from last year's varsity.

Up from the jayvees are Dewey Braswell, Randy Hawes, temporarily out with the flu, Greg Sullivan, John Ware, and Mike Bergemeyer. Other aspirants looking for berths are Mike Nichols, Frank Levy, Ron Pugh, Jim Pack, and Galen Allred.

The two opening skirmishes against the Californians, and North Sevier of Utah, on Saturday, both on the local hardwood should give the Wolves fans a line on how the Hendersonites might fare this season.

An intramural all-star game will precede the varsity encounters each night.

Another meeting will be held at 8 p.m. December 4, at the home of Margie Nelson, 10 Brown Street. All local members of the 1954 graduating class are asked to attend and help formulate definite plans for the reunion.

Present at the recent meeting were Nancy Mackie, Olene Holley, Nancy Weber, Dolly Booth, Shirley Hall and Margie Nelson.

STAMP COLLECTORS

Daniel L. Paschall, 441 Merlayne Drive in Pittman, reported to the police department that he noticed four teenagers riding around on scooters on Thanksgiving Day near his residence and a short time later reported that a jacket, an alarm clock a shaving mirror, a flashlight and 12 books of Orange Stamps were missing. Police are seeking the culprits.

Time To Wake Up!

As Commander of Basic Post 3848 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, I feel it is my duty to express some of my views at this time.

The time is past due for the people of the U.S. to rise and be counted as good Americans.

We are an easy going bunch of people who have worried more about the almighty dollar and less about the great things which our country stands for at this time - I say the American people should rise to the defense of our country.

We have allowed our great country to become infested with all types of people who have but one ambition - and that is to overthrow our government and wreck the American way of life. This was proven with the assassination of our leader, John F. Kennedy, President of the United States.

In my way of thinking there are several steps to be taken now. Let us be good Americans. Fly the flag of the United States proudly from your homes and places of business. Show your respect when the flag goes past at parades. Salute the flag and be proud to be an American.

Thousands of men have died for our flag, our country and our way of life. I, for one, do not intend to let these men down.

John F. Kennedy was one of these men.

To the men and women of our armed services: Be proud to wear your uniforms. Show the world you are an American; a defender of our great country; a goodwill ambassador to the foreign countries where you are serving. We at home are depending on you.

To the ex-service men and women of the U.S., I say join a veterans' organization and keep informed. I, for one, do not want to lose everything I fought for in World Wars land 2. Do you?

The late President Kennedy said a few weeks ago, "If a nuclear war breaks out within a period of 24 hours there would be 300 million people killed - not to mention how many would be maimed for the rest of their lives."

Some people say this could not happen. But who would believe that the president of the United States would be assassinated by a Castro sympathizer?

It is time for the American people to take the American way of life in a serious manner.

Let us get behind our new President Lyndon B. Johnson and show the world we will not allow our freedom to be taken from us.

Merlin Jackson, Commander Basic Post 3848, Veterans of the Foreign Wars of the United States.

Homespun In Henderson

By BILL MASON

After Thanksgiving That: I'll eat anything today but a turkey sandwich.

Just in case you didn't see it there are a number of sobering thoughts in La Porta Agency's magazine which just came through the mail. They are prediction of Deborah Partridge Wolfe, education chief for the U.S. House of Representatives.

(1) 90 percent of all the scientist who have ever lived are alive today.

(2) More mathematics has been created since the beginning of the 20th century than in the rest of history combined.

(3) About three-fourths of all persons working in industry by 1975 will be directly or indirectly producing products that have not yet been invented or discovered.

(4) More than half of today's high school students, who live until the year 2000, will probably have to undergo vocational retraining at least once because their old jobs will be obsolete or their work taken over by machines.

Unfortunately, life is a lot like Christmas: You get what you expect rather than what you want.

The VFW Junior Girls presented Sister Helen Margaret of Rose De Lima hospital with favor trays to be distributed to patients the day before Thanksgiving, and in return Sister Helen Margaret surprised them and treated the gang to popicles, last Wednesday evening. It was an unexpected and pleasant surprise for the young girls.

Considerable criticism has come into the Home News office about the business as usual attitude on the part of Henderson during the weekend of the assassination and funeral for our late president.

While Las Vegas' casinos did the unprecedented and closed from 7 a.m. until midnight on the day of the funeral - our places of business went merrily on their way.

And while major athletic contests were postponed or cancelled over the weekend - that had absolutely no effect on the Sunday drag races here.

Aside to the management of the Thunderbird downs: How about a HENDERSON DAY at your track?

With Hershel Trumbo's horses coming through with five winners out of 10 entries some recognition should be coming in this direction.

Chief George Crisler is to be congratulated on the addition of a radar unit in patrolling the streets.

From past experience we know they are effective.

The next step is to post the city with signs proclaiming "Speed limits controlled by radar."

Somehow it has an immediate effect on heavy-footed drivers.

Overhead in Valley View: Mother: Jimmy, what are you doing now?

Jimmy: With you, the angels and Santa Claus watching me all of the time, how much can I do?

We sincerely applaud the city's drive to clean-up yards and vacant lots and to make this a more attractive spot in which to live.

There's a burned out structure - right close to the source of the clean-up campaign which undoubtedly should be the No. 1 target.

Yours truly had the good fortune to meet the late president in 1960 in Colorado at the State Democratic convention prior to the national convention.

At that time he was campaigning in every state in the union. His two brothers, Ted and Bobby, were with him - and Bobby said that John F. Kennedy had not had as much as six hours sleep for the past month.

It is little wonder that the Washington correspondents called him "Our hardest-working president."

Sometimes we just think that we are paying more taxes than anybody else, but if this is any comfort to you - residents of two states are worse off than you and me.

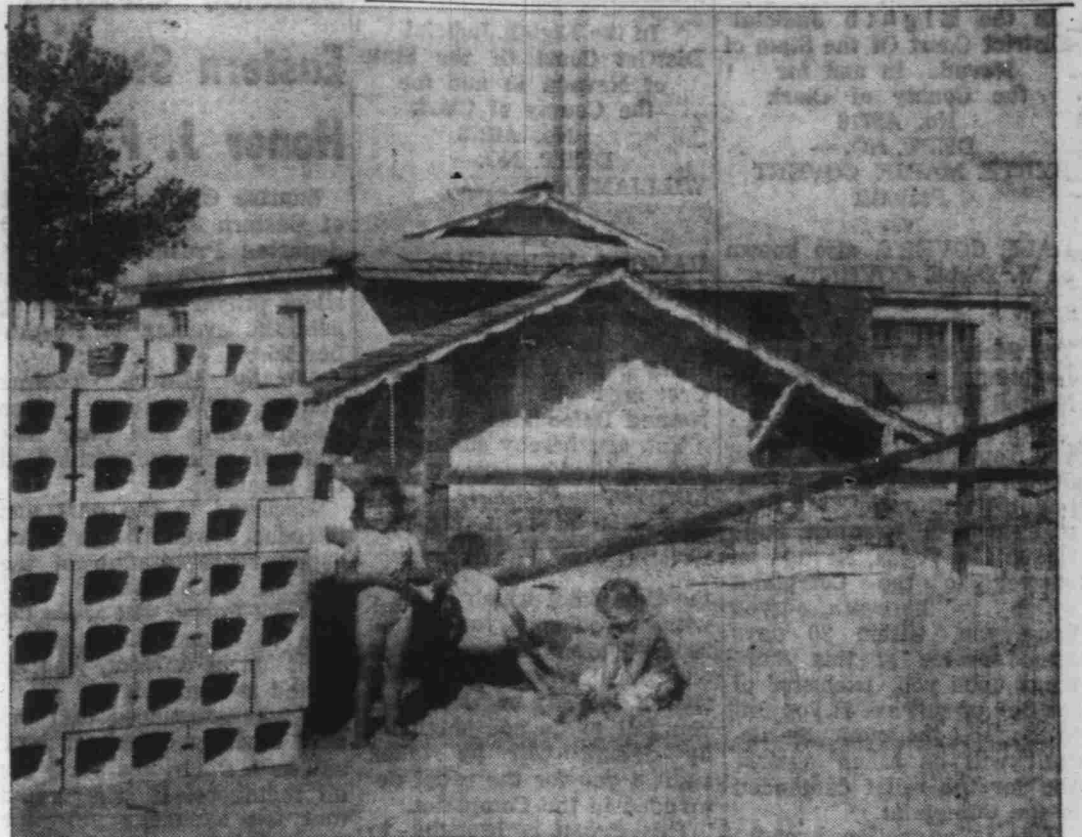

The per capita burden of state taxes in Nevada is $273. That's the third highest among the 50 states in the union. But take comfort, we are topped by New York with $309 and California with $304.

It is well known now that you may get along at Christmas time without the holly, but you must have the berries.

WHO REMEMBERS: The fruit cake put away in coffee tins for aging? . . . The frantic rush in the kitchen at this time of the year to make Turkish delight and fondant for the holidays? . . . When popcorn and cranberries threaded on a string and candles were the principal decorations for the Christmas tree? . . . And when you could go out into the forests and select your own tree? . . . When plum pudding took precedence over pumpkin and mince pie as the holiday-dime dessert? . . . When at this time of the year the annual search for the wooden Christmas tree stand got under way? . . . When the classmate in the first grade seriously informed you "There ain't no Santa Claus? . . . When you eagerly awaited for the drawing for the class Christmas party and mumbled a secret prayer that it would be cute little Jane across the aisle?

And don't say we didn't tell you. Santa Claus will be coming down the chimney three weeks from tonight.

UNUSUAL STYLING of this home on Brown street off the Water street extension has the passing motorist wondering if the house is rising or sinking. At any rate excavation work is going ahead in front of the home and it provides lots of sand for these three little girls to use as a sandpile.

MR. AND MRS. ALWIN LUNZMANN

Mr. and Mrs. Alwin Lunzmann celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday with a reception for close friends and relatives held at their home from 5:30 to 8 p.m. followed by a dance at the Eagles Hall.

More than 40 guests attended the reception and buffet dinner at the Lunzmann home, 141 Fir street, and the couple were showered with many beautiful gifts of silver. These were joined by other friends at the dance which followed.

A beautiful tiered Silver Wedding cake, topped by the numerals "25" was served by the celebrating couple to friends attending the reception and buffet dinner.

The Lunzmans were married November 26, 1938 at Markesan, Wisconsin and are long time residents of Henderson. They have four children, James, 23, Lowell, 19, Marcia 16, and Alvin Jr. (Mickey) 8.

VFW Post And Auxiliary Honor Kennedy

Members of VFW Basic Post 3848 and Auxiliary Monday night joined with other Clark County Veterans organizations and auxiliaries in paying tribute to President John F. Kennedy at the impressive memorial services held at the Convention Center.

The Knights of Columbus served as the Honor Guard and the veterans, marching two abreast, entered the rotunda first and were seated at the front of the audience. Each post, auxiliary or organization posted its banner on either side of the altar.

At the end of the services, the veterans filed past in single file, each saluting the flag draped casket.

Representing Basic Post were Commander Merlin Jackson, Past Commander Charles Elkie and Department of Nevada Chaplain Joel Zander. The Auxiliary was represented by Past President Julie Elkie, who is now serving as Senior Vice President of the Department of Nevada, and Senior Vice President Phyllis Zander.

Commander Jackson said the Post will keep its flag at half mast for 30 days in honor of the late President.

Talented Husband And Wife Operate Similar Businesses

If similar interests contribute to a happy marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Lyday should be a most congenial couple as both are talented along the same lines.

Lyday is the genial barber at 111 Water Street while his wife Edna and her partner Laurel McAdams operate Edna's Beauty Salon at 77 Lake Mead Drive. Lyday is looking forward to moving into his new shop which will be located in the Bank of Las Vegas building at Water and Pacific streets.

Edna and Laurel recently reported the addition of Patty Garvin to the beauty salon staff to take care of their growing business. Patty previously worked with her two employers at the Town House Beauty Salon. Patty is a graduate of Basic High School and the Hollywood Beauty College. She attended advanced hair styling classes at Corner and Daran and Clairol advanced coloring and bleaching school in Los Angeles, California.

Laurel has managed and worked for Cameo Beauty Salons out of New York City. She took her advanced training from Richards and Scott in Denver and has also had advanced work in facial massage.

Wolves Howl

By PAMELA LOVE

The shot that was heard around the world this phrase was used in history once to describe the shot that killed Archduke Ferdinand of Austria which in turn started World War I. I now use it to describe the shot that killed our late president, John F. Kennedy.

Indeed, it was heard around the world as was demonstrated by the large number of delegates present at the funeral. There were representatives from France, Germany, Ethiopia, Canada, Korea, Belgium, El Salvador, the Philippines, and many others. Among the delegates there was an occasional king queen or other such leader of a country.

The elaborate funeral of JFK's was sharply paralleled by that of Lee H Oswald, Kennedy's assassin, who was killed just two days after his crime. Oswald's funeral was very simple as someone told the undertaker to give him a very cheap burial.

There wasn't enough of the family present to serve as pallbearers so the newsmen that did show up acted as the pallbearers. There was two wreaths of flowers, one yellow and one white.

The only people present at the funeral were his mother, his wife, his two small children, a brother and a sister. The public was not allowed in, but it didn't appear that anyone wanted in.

Another funeral was held in Dallas Monday that was the one for Police Officer J. D. Tippit who was shot to death by Oswald when Tippit tried to arrest him for the presidential killing.

Little John-John Kennedy still doesn't understand about his father. When given a small American flag to play with he asked if he could have one to take to his father. He later said "A bad man shot my daddy, but why doesn't he come home?"

This is Thanksgiving Day. You have something to be thankful for — your life. Why must some of the most brilliant leaders of our time be taken from us so rudely? Why must Jackie and the rest of the Kennedy family suffer so much? It has been only three months since they lost Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, the late president's baby son and now President John F. Kennedy is gone.

LAUNDRY COIN BOXES RIFLED

Fourteen coin boxes lining the north wall of the Day and Night Laundry at the Market Town shopping center were rifled sometime Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, according to a report filed by the owner to the police department. Extent of the loss was not immediately known.

Police investigator theorize that the culprit limited his activities to the north wall which could not be seen by passersby. Officers are also checking into the possibility of a lookout being employed in the thefts.

My Two Cents Worth

By Rae Von Dornum

A very interesting discussion was held on television on that dark Sunday when this nation stood still in disbelief and grief over the death of President Kennedy.

Featured on the program with one of the news reporters were two Jewish Rabbis two Catholic Fathers and two leaders of the Protestant Churches.

Father Kellar, of The Christophers . . . the only member of the panel whom I knew . . . said: "President Kennedy may have rendered his greatest service in dying."

He said that this tragedy would start a soul searching by the people of the whole world.

Kennedy was decried by these six religious leaders as a man who had a sense of mission . . . of destiny. The image of youth who breathed this youth into our lives.

A man who seemed always to base his reasons and his actions on a high moral foundation and set an ideal for young people to follow.

One of the Rabbis remarked that we should all concern ourselves with our country and our times as there is a kind of a feeling that prevails which results in violence. This, he said, is caused by fear which turns into hostility and result in violence.

We are living, he said, in a world of suspicion and fear. A world divided by East and West and a nation divided by North and South. This kind of thing, given sway, can result in all kinds of violence, even revolution.

We should all be concerned with this condition and with what has happened to produce such a condition in our country and our world.

Kennedy was further described as a man with deep, passionate concern for human dignity and equality. A man whose deep religious and historical roots were shown in the way he faced the racial issue, which he called a moral issue, and in his concern for the aged and for youth.

It was pointed out that this man was a man because he stood for something moral; and, to the extent which we perceive the ideals for which the late President stood, to this extent are we the heirs to his ideals.

If the feeling of mourning which prevails in the hearts of Americans could bring about equal rights in our own land, and undo the wrong done through centuries, it would become a dynamic force for good in this country.

This, said the four Church Leaders, cannot be brought about by preaching, it must be implemented by deeds.

It can only be done by each person in America being willing to give equal rights to those in his own block, his own community; and from this beginning it will grow to encompass his state, his nation and the world.

The Mayor of Dallas was quoted as saying: "Hundreds of thousands were cheering . . . only one wanted to kill."

The Church Leaders believe that, in some way, each of us is, in a way, responsible that any American should have this feeling of violence or hatred. "A hole punched under any seat in a boat will sink the whole boat," they stated.

If each of us would look at both sides of every question, regardless of color or creed or nationality, a transformation would occur to make this day a memorable one. "If we could recapture this," one of the Rabbis remarked, "it is the closest we could ever come to the Kingdom of God on earth."

The six men suggested that those who mourn the death of President Kennedy, and especially young people, should build a personal memorial to him by attempting to follow in his footsteps and by adopting his moral ideals.

Overcoming prejudice, they agreed, is a tremendous job and one that must be overcome on a personal basis, by every man, before it can be overcome as a nation.
