

Season Starts Today!

With the sudden realization that Christmas is less than three weeks away—two weeks from next Wednesday to be exact—the spirit of the holiday season suddenly blossomed in Henderson this week.

Cal-Pacific crews and city employees completed outdoor decorations on light poles yesterday and starting tonight most of the retail stores will stay open until 9 p.m. until Christmas eve, the Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Meanwhile churches and schools have joined into the spirit of the occasion with special programs and festive decorations inside and out.

Most merchants agree that their stores have never been stocked for the 1963 Christmas season and they are anticipating a banner year.

Two decorative contests, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce for business firms, and the other by Gunvilles-Morrell's for homes have sparked interest in making Henderson Nevada's Christmas City.

The Chamber of Commerce will award cash prizes of $25, $15, and $5 for the most effective Christmas decoration among the business houses.

Trophies are awarded in the home lighting and decoration contest with a $25 saving bond added for first place. Registrations for the home contest close at 5 p.m. Dec. 21. A new division—Creative Simplicity Class—is being added this year and awards will be given for the most effective decorations with a small number of lights.

Winners in last year's home contest were Owen Atkins, 35 W. Basic, first; Don Yost, 23 W. Basic, second; and Prat Price, 230, Minor third.

Bob Woodruff is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas decoration committee and one of the highlights of the chamber's program will be the Living Tree at the City Hall. Already about $250 has been contributed to decorating this tree.

The Christmas rush is expected to hit the postoffice this week with most of the overseas mailing out of the way with another plea from Postmaster Charles Connor that to insure cards being received by Christmas they should be mailed to out of town friends no later than December 10.

With layoffs at a low ebb and employment at the industrial centers on an even keel, for an overwhelming majority of Henderson residents it should be an extremely happy holiday season.

The future looks bright too with the announcement that 100 new housing units will be constructed early in 1964 and developers pushing a head for new subdivisions throughout the city.

Flames Destroy Clothes

An appeal is being made through the Home News for clothes contributions for the two children of Mrs. Dorothy North, a girl 2 and a boy 8, whose clothing was destroyed by a fire at 17C in Victory Village about 4:45 yesterday evening.

Cause of the fire is unknown, but it had a good start before the firemen could be summoned. The fire fighters were on the scene for about an hour and confined the damage to the bedroom.

But virtually all of the clothing, the bedding and other items were consumed by the flames.

Mrs. North is presently the sole support of the two small children and works as relief dispatcher of the police department.

Any contributions in the way of clothing or other may be left at the Home News office in Victory Village and they will be presented to Mrs. North.

Any civic organization planning a Christmas party in the Henderson community and in need of candy is urged to contact Lou Riggins of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at 564-3614.

The Jaycees have about 500 pounds of candy which they will be glad to donate to some worthy cause.

Mary Dooley Recovering From Surgery; Hepatitis

Mrs. John Dooley is recuperating at home following heart surgery in October in Los Angeles, and two weeks recent treatment at the Boulder City Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Dooley have moved from their home on Blackmore Drive and are living at the Pacific Arms Apartments, Apt. 1, Pacific and Atlantic streets.

Mrs. Dooley has been ill since last June when she suffered a stroke while visiting at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fox, in Canoga Park, California.

She was recuperating from the first stroke, which partially paralyzed her, when she suffered a second which left her almost completely paralyzed.

Residents Oppose State Income Tax For Schools

By Rae Von Dornum

Residents of Henderson do not favor the idea suggested earlier this week by Leland Newcomer, superintendent of Clark County schools, that a state income tax should be imposed to raise needed money for schools.

Newcomer told Governor Sawyer's finance committee that serious consideration should be given to taxation of income because it is a better indication of wealth than property and is more immediate.

The School Superintendent protested the lack of income and inheritance taxes as a drawing card for the state by stating that he felt the image of Nevada as a tax haven is "a straw man," and that a tax haven for industry is "way down the list as an attraction."

Out of ten persons questioned by the HOME NEWS yesterday, only one expressed a willingness to pay such tax for schools.

The question asked was: "Clark County School Superintendent Leland Newcomer is trying to have a state income tax inaugurated in Nevada to meet increasing school needs. What do you think of this idea? The answers were as follows:

MRS. KARL FOSTER, Housewife, Pittman.

I don't think they should have a state income tax. They should find money some other way, but not income tax. I think the fairest thing would be a county sales tax of one percent with the money to go for schools only.

HOMER ENGLESTEAD, Insurance Agent, 115 Joshua

I don't like it. I think, if they take the two percent sales tax that was supposed to go for schools and put it there, they wouldn't need any more tax.

ROBERT DILL, Dill Realty, 1733 N. Boulder Hwy.

I'd rather have sales tax. Income tax runs into too much red tape. If you dish out a couple of pennies on each purchase, you don't miss it like having it hit you all at once at the end of the

Woman Charged On Short Checks

A 35-year old Henderson woman suspected of passing over $150 in short checks with local merchants was arrested Wednesday afternoon and is being held in City jail.

The suspect is identified as Marlys Cousins who was arrested on the northern outskirts of Las Vegas.

Four of the checks she allegedly cashed totaled $147.96 with still another expected to be returned by a bank.

Month's Building Permits Exceed Quarter Million

Building permits for 1963 are edging up to the $5 million mark, a report from the office of Pat Doherty, superintendent of buildings and safety reveals.

November buildings permits covered 49 buildings, 23 electrical and two air conditioning for a total of $241,018, as compared to $257,105 issued for the same month last year.

Permit with the largest monetary value was the one obtained by the Palm Mortuary and Mausoleum for $103,500. There was also one permit for a new dwelling at $46,000 and three new commercial structures totaling $35,100.

The city is still lagging behind last year's pace, however as the total through November, 1963 is $241,018 contrasted to $256,796 for the first 11 months of 1962 — or about $1-1/3 million behind.

Doherty reported that approximately 715 inspections were made during the month of November.

2nd Charter Petition "Buried" By Council

SBA Schedules Tuesday Session

Operators of small businesses in Henderson will have an opportunity Tuesday, Dec. 10 to discuss their problems with W. Wayne Walrath of the Small Business Administration.

Temporary offices will be open at the Clark County courthouse, third and Carson streets. Appointments may be made in advance by calling the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce at Dudley 2-2366. Interviews will be scheduled beginning at 10 a. m.

Walrath will be available to answer questions concerning small business loans, to discuss business problems and to distribute printed pamphlets of informational material and to take applications.

CC Stockholders To Meet Friday

Four new directors will be elected when stockholders of the Black Mountain Golf and Country Club hold their annual meeting at the clubhouse, Friday, Dec. 6 at 8 p.m.

Annual reports will also be given, according to George Stewart, secretary. All stockholders are urged to be present.

Charter petition No. 2 — the second of 1963 — bit the dust Wednesday night as the City Council in a unanimous vote agreed to concur with the city attorney's ruling that the petition was invalid.

JAYCEES STAND
The Henderson Jaycees last night reaffirmed their stand on the charter petition and will aid in circulating the petition once more.

"We still feel that the people of Henderson are entitled to vote on this important measure," Jerry Brooks, president, said last night.

After an hour's review of the disqualifications listed by Attorney John Manzonie which was presented Monday night, Councilman Wilbur Hardy moved that it be declared invalid based on the attorney's ruling.

Former Council member Frank Morrell, instrumental in submitting the first two petitions, immediately took the floor and said, "We accept the decision, although we don't agree with all of the City attorney's rulings and we have a number of lawyers who think likewise and who have volunteered their services for the next petition."

Morrell said that the petitions were already in the hands of the workers.

SIMPLE PROPOSAL

Dr. Harold L. Miller, who was attending the meeting in other interests, took a long step forward in recommending a plan to pull the petition out of its political mire, which received neither plaudits nor consideration from the pro and con forces.

Dr. Miller said that obviously one-fourth of those who voted in the last election were in favor of a vote on the charter issue, and said, "Why not place the city hall at the disposal of the community? People could come there and sign the petition and at the same time compare it with their signatures on the official voting records. City employees could serve as witnesses, and interested parties could provide transportation for the signers."

"I am sure the sign-up would require only two to three weeks and there should be no question about its legality," Dr. Miller continued.

There was no offer or comment on the part of the council or from Morrell on the suggestion.

KESTERSON SPEAKS

Another former council member, Bob Kesterson, praised the Mayor for his efforts in seeing that the petition "followed the letter of the letter," but pointed out that the petition did not necessarily mean a change in the form of the government but to give the people an opportunity to learn about commission form or other types of municipal organization.

Mayor W. J. Byrne thanked Kesterson for his comments on his methodical legal procedure and said, "I hope they are as sincere as they sound."

With the third drive for a "legal" charter petition announced as starting last night — this time it will have 604 qualified signers based on 25 per cent of the number of voters who cast ballots at last June's city election.

Council Okays Mobile Office

At the recessed session of the City Council held Wednesday night, the Lado Corporation was given permission to place a 10 by 44 foot mobile office on Lot 1, Block 1 of the Northbrook subdivision to be used as a sales office. Permission was granted for a period of six months with an additional six months extension if necessary.

Two Dogs Attack 4-Year Old Boy

A four-year old boy who wandered into a neighbor's yard Monday afternoon was severely bitten by the owner's two dogs, it was reported to the police department.

The two animals were taken to a local veterinarian to be checked for rabies and kept under observation.

Shop This Year In Henderson

The beginning of the Christmas rush formally got under way Tuesday and will continue right on down the line until Christmas eve. With the additional shopping centers we now have — you can find everything here for Christmas shopping. Offhand we cannot think of an item that can't be purchased here as economical, if not more so, than in the stores of our Metropolitan neighbor down the road.

And this year in particular — Henderson merchants have gone out of their way to stock their stores. Remember you are dealing with people you know and if there is any question they are right here to settle it to your satisfaction.

Dollars spent here remain here. Those spent in Las Vegas stay in Las Vegas and pay salaries there.

It just isn't economy to use at least one gallon of gas-line to drive there, another gallon looking for a parking place, a third gallon to come home on and pay another $1 for parking and figure you got yourself a bargain because the item was seven cents cheaper than in a Henderson store.

Perhaps a few years back there was some argument for looking and shopping elsewhere. But now, you can do all your shopping here with a wide variety to choose from and with much less confusion than you would find in a downtown metropolitan area.

You will be less tired and money ahead. May we suggest that you patronize your home town merchant. He is interested in your job, and your children, your schools and your community. You won't find that same interest anywhere else.

The Attorney's Ruling

Mr. John Manzonie, City Attorney for the City of Henderson, is employed by the people and receives his pay from the taxes paid by the people of the city; therefore, he assumedly represents the people of Henderson.

His opinion on the adoption of the petition for the adoption of the commission form of government, more commonly referred to as a home rule charter, leads one to wonder in just what capacity he is representing the people.

There seems to be no end to the legal technicalities he can dig out on which to disqualify the voters here who signed the petition, although except for 47 signers who are not registered voters, he does not even intimate that the signatures are not those of registered voters of Henderson or that they were not signed by the voters in good faith.

This type of quibbling, while it may be in keeping with the law, does not seem in keeping with the fundamental ideas or ideals of Democracy. Actually it blocks... with technicalities... the very form of government our nation is founded on. "Government of the people, by the people, for the people."

If Mr. Manzonie is correct in his opinion, then there is something radically wrong with the laws of the State of Nevada and the Laws should be clarified and made understandable.

Laws governing action by the electorate, should be so written that they can be understood by the electorate. No person should need to seek the advice of an attorney in order to know how to affix his or her name to a petition; but, that's exactly what one has to do if a resident of Henderson.

This is the second charter petition submitted to the City Council of Henderson and in each case they have been termed invalid by Mr. Manzonie.

Our City Attorney has even disqualified 45 signatures on this petition for what he calls "miscellaneous differences in petition and registration." Apparently these were hardly worth listing.

The Attorney's opinion is concluded with the following: "It is therefore, the burden of the Petitioners if they desire to test the validity of the petition, to seek whatever recourse they deem proper."

This presents something of a knotty problem. Maybe what is needed is a Philadelphia Lawyer. Something new has been added in Philadelphia which makes the lawyers of this city more noteworthy than ever... they no longer need to formulate opinions.

An electronic brain has been installed in Philadelphia and it need only be asked a question. It can zip through the laws of the State of Pennsylvania in a matter of seconds and give a correct and unbiased opinion to any question.

Since the first charter petition was disqualified on an opinion of the Attorney General based on the ruling of a judge in another state, perhaps it would be possible to present the question of our charter petition to Pennsylvania's legal mechanical brain.

SWIFT JUSTICE
While as a general rule we applaud the justice as meted out in the court of Municipal Judge Earl Davis, we take an exception to a decision of this past week.

The Judge gave a man pleading guilty to gross intoxication "10 minutes to get out of town."
That conceivably could be accomplished in Boulder City — but with our elongated city limits, we don't think that even Jesse Owens could do it in his prime.

Due to the expansion of our corporate limits — we suggest at least 20 minutes for those under 40 and a half hour for those above 40.

THIS WAY OUT
Hizzoner Bill Byrne asked for further comment on the city attorney's ruling on the charter petition, Monday and got it but quick.

An unidentified gentleman expressed in no uncertain words his whole thought on the ruling and was out of the door before Hizzoner could utter the invitation for him to leave.

There was no inclination to seek further information from volunteers.

FACTS 'N FIGURES
The average age at death for Nevada in 1962 was 55.7 years, an unwanted decrease of eight-tenths of a year from the 1961 figure.

This includes only Nevada residents who died in the state during 1962. These deaths numbered 2468 of which 1600 were males and 868 were females.

Out of state people who died while visiting Nevada last year totaled 484 of whom 335 were males. The average death age for the 484 was 53.5 years.

Nevada's average death age is considerably lower than that of many other states — one reason being given is the state's high traffic fatality rate.

All those warnings about "30 Shopping Days Until Christmas — "Shop and Mail Early" and others didn't have nearly the impact as seeing the city crews and those from Cal - Pacific erecting the decorations Tuesday.

It is sort of a signal that you had better "get with it."

A little incompatibility is O.K. in a marriage as long as he has the income and she has the pat ability.

Although we are spending more and more to fight crime and to build bigger and better penitentiaries, crime keeps merrily rolling along.

Property crimes and larceny over $50 are 13 per cent above the first nine months of 1962; auto theft up 11 per cent, burglary 9 per cent and robbery 4 per cent. Murder recorded a 5 per cent rise and aggravated assault 6 per cent.

The picture is not a bit brighter in the West where the increase is 11 percent, exceeded only by the South with 12 per cent.

Shoplifting and theft from autos, the report reveals, are at their peak during the holiday shopping season just ahead.

The Monday accident in which six young teenagers were injured in an impromptu run on the dragstrip was unfortunate, but it was fortunate that the injuries were not more serious and that no deaths resulted.

There is no gate to stop anyone from entering — nor was there a sign proclaiming "No Admittance or No Trespassing."

The way it has been — it is an open invitation for a teen - age driver and — just who isn't these days?

SOME SECOND THOUGHTS: Somehow we always looked at a petition as an instrument to give the people a chance to vote on a particular issue (but maybe that ain't so)... Personalities should definitely be removed (if possible) when and if a third charter petition is drafted... Personally we can conceive of no duller reading than a page or two of the city minutes whether they be Henderson's or some other city's... While we like to protect ours and what should be ours, establishing high solicitor's fees and other tariffs for out-of-town firms won't do the job such as the complaint registered against the catering service from Vegas. (There could be a day when LV decides to levy a city income tax on Henderson residents who work in Vegas)... The anti-charter petition segment of the City Council is apparently better prepared than the pro - charter faction (must be some pre - sessions)... We trust that none of the deceased persons are prosecuted for signing the charter petition and then departing this earth, but there just could be a statute on it... Our sympathy is with the Sun and the subsequent problems in publishing its paper since the fire, but frequent references to rising from the ashes makes us wonder if it won't be better to announce: "We're off our ashes and giving you a paper now."

Edward Pitman's Brother Dies

Edward Pitman of 46 West Pacific Street was called to Ballston Spa, New York on Tuesday because of the death of his brother, Gerald Pitman, who passed away December 3. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon.

In addition to his brother here, Gerald Pitman is survived by his wife, Rose; one son, Randy; one daughter, Dawn; all of Ballston Spa, New York.

Also surviving are his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Pitman of Ballston Spa; and two brothers, Jimmy, of Chicago, Illinois and Robert, who is serving with the U. S. Air Force.

Edward Pitman is expected to return here shortly after the funeral to take care of his business, at the AAA Home Repair Service on Pacific Street. Mr. Pitman is taking care of the shop during his absence.

JOHN DUTY HOME FOR THANKSGIVING

John Duty, a junior pre-law student at the University of Nevada in Reno, spent Thanksgiving at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duty, 36 Mallory Street.

Also seated around the family table were the Duty's other sons, Mark, a senior at Basic High School and Bob, who works for Hampton Plumbing in Las Vegas. Also present was the couple's married son, Harry, with his wife, Charlotte; son, Patrick, and baby daughter Erin Kathleen.

Income Tax

MRS. MARTHA COOGAN, Housewife, 67 Church Street.

Of course you know, I don't favor state income tax. Newcomer is a new comer and I don't know why we should allow him to decide what Nevada should do.

I'd be more in favor of Federal aid to schools. I don't know why all the counties in Nevada should pay state income tax so Las Vegas and Reno can have more schools.

MRS. JESS H. BACHMAN, Housewife, 480 Federal.

I haven't given it much thought, but we own our own home and I think the taxes are high enough here. I did vote for the increase in sales tax, although it didn't pass.

I do think that rather than income tax, there should be some other type of tax levied. A smaller tax than state income tax could be found which would cover the school needs.

This tax should go directly for schools. I think they distribute this money too much in other places.

I have three children who are through school and one finishing high school next year. The children coming up are entitled to the same opportunities for education my children had, but however the money is raised, it should go for schools and nothing else.

BOYD ALEXANDER, Service Station Attendant, 479 Water Street.

I've only been here a short time but, from what I've seen, it seems that it might be the best idea. Sawyer didn't get the one cent sales tax through. As much as these schools are going up here, they have to appropriate the money from somewhere and I guess they are going to have to have income tax.

MRS. JESSIE JONES, Retired Teacher, 54 East Texas
Being a widow, I think they have enough taxes. I can't understand why Clark County is so poor. My children had their chance and I guess others must have theirs too, even if we don't always understand all the reasons.

R. J. TAYLOR, Taylor Steel Co., 412 Republic

I'm all for education and I know it costs, but cannot say whether this is the correct means or not without making a study of it.

I would be in favor of retaining funds on our federal taxes on a state level and putting it into schools, instead of sending it to the Federal Government and getting it back in Federal Aid. This would eliminate a lot of overhead and we would have carded at least for a month or so.

But holidays or no — the Whistle Bait Tops Club is going ahead with its "fasting away" campaign, and every weekday morning from 9:30 to 10:30 its members gather at the Henderson Boys Club in Victory Village to do something about excess pounds.

Each member sets up her goals — an immediate one and an eventual one. For example, one member joined this past year and weighed 185 pounds. She has lost 10 pounds and her immediate goal is 165 pounds. She eventually hopes to trim down to a neat 135 pounds — some time in the future.

Members join in group exercises and individual exercises, as it seems each one has a different weight problem at a different anatomical spot.

The Whistle Bait Tops Club (the members are seeking a new name) has about 20 members at the present time and wants more to join.

It is not limited to women, but officers hope that men may join the program and particularly overweight young people in the teenage group.

Presently the Club is holding a contest with a cash prize offered to the member who loses the most weight, and in addition another contest is in progress. If any member loses three pounds between Nov. 12 through Jan 1 he will not have to pay dues next year.

In addition to the hour-long exercise period, regular meetings are held at the home of a member. It is there that they hold discussions of "What Causes Us to Overeat?", "Is Overeating an Emotional Problem?" and other related subjects in the field of weight control.

The meetings are also devoted to grooming habits such as hair - styling, the type of clothing to wear and developing proper attitudes in shedding poundage.

Visitors are invited to come to the Boys Club and watch the exercise periods, and for the strong - willed memberships can be taken right now.

For others — well, there will still be room after New Year's.

Morry's Story

We ask you to read the following today because it represents the truest assessment of President Lyndon Johnson that has been published — we believe. It is written by the veteran White House reporter Bill Henry of the L.A. Times. It follows:

WASHINGTON — Opinions differ strongly about our new President. Among supposedly knowledgeable people they vary all the way from the Texas version that he is just what the country needs and a big improvement over his predecessor, to the egghead opinion that he is just a country-boy politician of rather limited capabilities. As always, the truth lies somewhere in between. He might be worse, or better — he'll surely be quite different. Mr. Johnson's great strength lies all wrapped up in one sentence of his speech to the Congress. "For 32 years Capitol Hill has been my home." He didn't just occupy space on the Hill. He learned how things were done up there. This will be his great asset in the future — he will not propose things that can't be done, and what he does propose is likely to be carried out. His actions during his first week in office emphasized his character — he is a well-organized man. He is not likely to be regarded as brilliant. He is more likely to be considered cautious. This is in matters of policy. In matters of operation — getting this done — he will proceed with more assurance. That's where he is an expert, perhaps the most effective President of modern times. He will be just as decisive as President Kennedy but will rely on more mature and experienced advisers. He will have a better organized government — will probably restore the dignity and efficiency of the cabinet once he gets his own people appointed. He will proceed rather cautiously — that's his way of doing things. He will not be glamorous. His great advantage is his dependence on know-how rather than on theory. His appeal will be less to the general public — the weight of opinion is felt only in great crises — and more to the legislators who are the people who translate words into action. He will not just press to get things done, he'll get them done. New problem for the Republicans

If the Republicans think that Lyndon Johnson will be a much easier opponent in November, 1964, than John F. Kennedy would have been, they'd better think again. Mr. Johnson is not going to be an easier opponent, just a different sort of opponent. Politics to John F. Kennedy was a game — he loved it and he played it to the hilt as he did everything — but it was still a game. Politics to Lyndon Johnson is no game — it is a way of life. He has studied it and he has lived by it. While others may seek applause, Mr. Johnson seeks delegates. He knows that votes count, not hand-clapping. If there is any disposition on the part of the Democratic Party "liberals" to try to give Mr. Johnson the Harry Truman treatment as they did to the Missourian when he succeeded F. D. R., they'll have trouble. He is just as likely to "clean house" of the old administration personnel as Mr. Truman but will do it less impulsively, just as thoroughly. Anybody who stays will be a 100 per cent Johnson man. Changes Due Among Reporters

There'll be some changes, you can be sure, among the White House correspondents. The avalanche of "palace favorites" who were assigned because of their close ties to the Kennedys will eventually be replaced by some of the older hands who knew Lyndon Johnson on Capitol Hill. The new President has already called in, for private chats, some veteran reporters who haven't been seen much around the White House in recent months. Mr. Johnson, even more than Mr. Kennedy, has a long memory not only for his friends, but for his detractors. He has noted, without public rancor, all the Ivy League jokes about "Lyndon who?" and he knows who circulated them and isn't likely to do them many personal favors. And — a good thing to remember — Mr. Johnson isn't likely to be too impressed by what foreigners think of us. He prefers votes, which can be counted, to popularity, which can't. He'll not seek admiration for himself and our country — he'll be more interested in genuine respect.

A Tribute to Mrs. John F. Kennedy

To Mrs. John F. Kennedy
For more than 80 long, terrible hours, you were the United States of America — not President Johnson nor anyone else. Upon your slim shoulders rested the responsibility of bringing a semblance of reason and order to this nation. You did it well — everything you did was a right. Your husband would have been very proud of you as we all were.

You brought back to the American language words which had become almost obsolete. Words like gallant, pride, dignity, fortitude, composure, courage, good breeding and good manners. For a while the head-long trend toward casualness (and there is a very thin line between it and carelessness) was halted and we were given an example of what disciplining of one's emotions meant.

You showed us that there are still beautifully trained, well controlled, considerate and compassionate people left in the nation.

Perhaps equally impressive were the actions of your children. They were delightful and lovable throughout this trying period. They, too, were perfect and brought us both joy and sorrow.

During those long hours you represented not only your country at its best, but all of the millions of widows of this nation. Only they can really know and understand your deep sorrow and grief. You represented them well. You can carry your head high, knowing that you did all that your husband expected of you.

We sincerely hope that you will find it in your heart to continue your efforts to develop a cultural center in our nation's capital. You are needed. Please do not let this seed you have planted die out. We hope you will accept our heartfelt thanks for the restoration work you did at the White House.

We know you have the courage to go on with your life. You have our deepest sympathy.

WILL IT DIE HERE? — This "tentative map" of a luxury golf course development had been turned in by the Thomas Companies shortly before that firm's contract expired with the Black Canyon Country Club. This is the first publication of the map, (Knighton Photo) which illustrates a complex including luxury home lots and a nine-hole course which would have been utilized by duffers and pros in the Boulder City — Henderson area. The map may never be used or it may be resurrected if negotiations renew.

ANOTHER $100 CHECK to beautify Henderson during the holiday season was presented recently to Bob Woodruff, left, Chamber of Commerce Christmas decoration chairman by Joe Crowley of the Eldorado Club. This is the second check of this amount presented since the drive began late last month. A $100 check was also donated by Starlight Estates.

Chaddis Funeral Held Wednesday

Funeral services for Cecil O.B.S. Chaddis, who died Saturday morning at a Las Vegas hospital after suffering burns in a garage fire the previous day, were held Tuesday at the Palm Chapel with the Rev. Ford Gilbert officiating.

Mr. Chaddis was born April 13, 1912, in Texas and lived in Henderson for 13 years. The family home was at 83 Church Street. He was an automobile mechanic by trade. Survivors include his widow, Ruth, and two brothers, Neil of Montana and Virgil of Texas.

Burial was at the Memory Gardens. While it may be suspected that a Republican blew up the Dade county (Miami, Fla.) Democratic party headquarters, it is probably more likely that a Democrat did it — that is, a "Goldwater Democrat," whose name in the South is legion.

It's NOT TOO LATE!

The Third Stool

Whatta life to get news for this paper. I've attended council meetin's, plannin, commission meetin's, talked to Las Vegas Judges, made a lotta folks mad at me, helped confuse city hall, raided wastepaper baskets, covered football games 'n wrote a - bout the president of the United States.

Now, if our managin' editor has a supreme test up his sleeve fer me, I'm ready. It don't make no difference to me wot he shakes out, I think I can do it standin' on my head.

I know he can't shake out nothin' else that wud compare with my assignment to the gals' style show.

Count DE Marco ain't got nothin' on me. I spent a whole afternoon right in the middle of about 300 gals, includin' the cooks.

There ain't no doubt in my mind who has the curb on crowds here in town-football, Country Store 'n style shows.

The only other person in the place that carried a bill-fold in his hip pocket wuz Bill Knighton, our photographer.

I'm sorry, Bill, but if a medal ever comes outa this mess I can't recommend you get one, becuz you was standin' too close to the exit all the time.

I sure do hope our new boss still wants me to write a 24 - inch column each week becuz since attendin' this style show I'm loaded. I can give him anything from a 36-24-36 to a 40-50-60.

There ain't nothin' cheap about this bunch of gals; they modeled everything they wash in the sink to winter coats.

I even seen a hat I sud-den't have a bit of trouble catch a limit of bass with.

About the first gal to hit the spot lites on the stage wuz wearin' a pair of stretch pants. Now I don't know wot way they had to be stretched, but it shore wuz in the right direction.

Now, gals, as you know, I ain't never complained about nothin', but that wuzen't no proper time to start sellin' fruit cake and candy.

I wuz jest gettin' over the shock of them stretch pants when they brung out a stage full of gals to sing fer us. That's jest wot I needed fer my nerves. They called them selves the Sweet Adelines. The more they sung, the more they reminded me of a bunch of canaries in a black-berry bush, jest as sweet as it cud be.

The head gal told us they wuz always lookin' for new members 'n Mama looks at me and sez sit down.

The lunch was fine 'cept fer dessert. At a style show, most gals start thinkin', and punkin pie with gobs of whip-pin' cream jest don't fit in their plans.

The models kept comin' 'n goin', everything wuz different. They ain't like them fellers that's dressed in pajama tops 'n golf pants at football games.

I'm sittin' there jest poppin' with dignity an' everything runnin' smooth as a greased skillet, then it happened.

I looked up, an' there on the stage stood a gal that jest plumb forgot to put a dress on. We wuz both lookin' — she wuz lookin' her best an' I'm helpin' her.

The narrator gave the price of the two - piece outfit - $16.90; $8.95 for the top and $7.95 for the bottom half.

Mrs. Lillian Collins sure is a quick thinker. To get me outta that mess, she started sellin' fruit cake 'n candy again.

After I found my contact lens, hadda smoke and a cup of koffee, I kinda calmed down, but not fer long.

If the Sweet Adelines wuz-zen't singin', other gals wuz handin' out door prizes. This bunch has sumpin' goin' on all the time. They handed out everything from a bottle of dog shampoo to the thing I won and hadda model before I could claim it.

I probly set the modelin' business back 20 years, but it ain't my fault. I ain't up on these new fangled things that ain't got no shoulder straps.

Didja ever try to put a clothes hanger up that ain't got no hook? Well, it ain't easy, is it?

There wuz one gal that hadda dress on that looked like she wuz poured in it. I betcha if that thing ever got wet, it wud go up her back from them fancy do - dads like a window shade. I didn't see no "A frame dresses — I keep tellin' Mama her's is the only one in captivity. Now I know it is.

I hope my next assignment will be a huntin' trip in Africa with a pea shooter, it cud-den't be near as excitin' as this one.

To sum it all up, gals, here's the way I really seen your show:

President - Mrs. Albert E. Hartley - a nice leader 'n well - liked.

Fashion show chairman - Mrs. William Deane, lots of hidden work we don't see.

Luncheon chairman Mr's William Trelease, a master at the art.

Mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Lillian Collins, can keep your attention with a pleasant feelin'.

Narrator, Mrs. Bambi Thompson, has personality to spare.

Cake and candy sales, Mrs. Albert Hamilton, jest as sweet as wot she was sellin'.

Gifts, Mrs. Donald Cooper, felt bad becuz everyone didn't win one.

Publicity, Mrs. Edward Rheinfield, can't beat her, all tickets sold.

Decorations, Mrs. Fred Hudson, no room fer improvement. Tickets, Mrs. William McCormick, greeted all of us with a smile.

Entertainment, Sweet Adelines, an' they wuz too.

Good Nite,
Al Langley

Trailer, Mobile Code Ordinance Again Tabled

Ordinances No. 332 (trailer parks) and 333 (mobile code) which were scheduled to be read and passed in November are still on the city agenda, as the council tabled the two ordinances until a conference between George Perkins, director of public works, and trailer park operators has been arranged.

City Attorney John Manzonie told the council that the restraining order against a motion by City Councilman Dale Roberts by Bentonite, Inc. has been delayed until the end of December.

Passage of the two ordinances could mean that the restraining order would be dropped by the attorneys for Bentonite, Inc.

Also tabled was a petition which had been presented by Pittman residents for sixty-foot widths on certain streets until 100 per cent of the property owners have signed.

Sandwich Wagon Hurts Drive-Ins Council Informed

A catering wagon from Las Vegas is seriously hurting the drive-in restaurant business in Henderson. O. W. Atkin, told the City Council Monday night and inquired to see if the wagon license fee could be raised.

Atkin reported that the drive-in operated by his wife had cut two employees from the staff and others would lay-off as many as six part-time and fulltime employees.

Since the catering service has started canvassing the area, Atkin reported that business at his wife's drive-in had dropped one-third, with total receipts off from $65 to $80 daily.

He said that other drive-ins were experiencing the same situation.

Atkin declared it wasn't fair to have to pay the health fees, taxes and other costs of business and compete with an organization where all the money returned to Las Vegas.

Many of the lost customers were city employees, Atkin reported to the council.

The council took no action on request by Atkin, but said the matter would again be considered Wednesday.

Anyway, when the villain in the old dime novel had tied the heroine to the railroad track and a train was approaching lickety-split, the reader wasn't kept on tenterhooks for a full minute by the interposition of a commercial.

Centennial Panamint Ball On Trip to East

The huge Panamint Ball produced from silver mines of Nevada is on its way to the Philadelphia mint.

A formal ceremony was held this past week with Miss Eva B. Adams, native Nevada and director of the U.S. Mint, participating in farewell ceremonies when the Silver Treasure truck left Carson City on its cross country trek.

In the upper portion of the photo, foundrymen water intently as molten silver pours into the mold to reproduce one of the bandit balking balls of bullion that were used by early day Nevada mining operators to insure the safety of their shipment.

The newly cast silver sphere is shown in the center picture.

In the lower photo Miss Adams is seen with Roy Hardy, chairman of the Nevada Centennial Commission's Commemorative Medallion Committee. Both are wearing the red miner's shirts which have been adopted as official grab for Nevada's Centennial celebration in 1964.

Colo. River Water Users Association Convenes In Las Vegas This Weekend

Ray Rummonds, Coachella Valley farmer, a member of the Board of Directors of Coachella Valley County Water District and the Colorado River Board, will present a report on Russian agriculture at the Twentieth Annual meeting of the Colorado River Water Users Association to be held in Las Vegas December 5 and 6, according to Dallas Cole, Association president.

Rummonds will show a series of candid slides which he made in two recent trips to Russia as a member of a group of California farmers. His first trip to Russia was in September 1962, and the second was in September of this year.

The Colorado River Water Users Association is composed of members from the Wolford River basin states of Arizona, California, New Mexico, Colorado, Nevada, Utah, and Wyoming.

The annual meeting affords an excellent opportunity for those individuals and agencies directly affected by conditions on the river to be kept up to date Cole said.

Floyd E. Dominy, Commissioner, Bureau of Reclamation, U.S. Department of the Interior, will address the Association on December 5 on the activities of the Bureau in the Colorado River Basin. General Arthur H. Frye, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, will discuss the role of the Corps of Engineers in the planned development in the river basin.

Rex Goodsell, President, Feather River Association State of California, will report on "Federal and State Rights in Water Resources Development."

Other speakers will include Governor Grant Sawyer of Nevada and Jordan Crouch, Vice President, First National Bank of Reno.

Basic High Introduces Wrestling For First Time in School History

An added treat is in store for sports enthusiasts in the Henderson area as interscholastic wrestling is being introduced this year for the first time under the direction of Coach C.A. Piggott.

Before scheduling matches with other high schools, Coach Piggott plans to carry on an educational program to acquaint both students and adults with the finer points of the increasingly popular sport.

Wrestling has gained increasing stature throughout the East and Middle West on both the college and high school levels but has been somewhat dragging its heels in the far West, Coach Piggott states, but he believes it won't be long until its popularity is established here.

So popular has wrestling become in some schools and in some states that wrestling crowds now outdraw basketball audiences.

SCIENTIFIC SPORT

It will come as a shock to some fans that the interscholastic and intercollegiate grappling bears entirely no resemblance to the "ham acts" performed by the professions — on and off TV.

It is a highly scientific sport which requires new knowledge every time a boy enters a match.

Probably no other competitive sport requires as good conditioning. Six minutes against an equally matched opponent is equivalent to a double-header football game or two 380-yard runs within an hour's time.

Nor is it entirely an individual sport. No boy leaves the gymnasium after he has finished his match. He waits to see how his teammates come out in their matches and how his team's points compare with the opposition.

SIZE INSIGNIFICANT

To play on a high school basketball team today you must be six feet high — or preferably taller. With one or two exceptions, very few high school football coaches are interested in candidates weighing less than 150 pounds.

Tain't so in wrestling. The range goes from 90 to 105 on up to the heavyweight or unlimited class. Various state school athletic associations have varying weight programs.

As a rule the weight classifications are in these ranges: 95, 103, 112, 117, 125, 133, 145, 150, 165, 175 and heavyweight — although they may vary from this schedule.

To acquaint the students and public with the art of wrestling, Coach Piggott plans to stage a number of intra-squad matches and demonstrations to educate fans on the sport.

About 35 candidates are reporting daily to learn the fundamentals and basic holds, he reported, and the response is encouraging.

Dates and times of the intra-squad matches will be announced in the Home News.

A NEW SPORT MAKES ITS APPEARANCE at Bacis high school as wrestling will be introduced to both students and to fans this year. Shown here is Coach C. A. Piggott, standing, demonstrating a hold with two of his grappling squad aspirants, Bob Hawkins, center, and Dan Northan, right. Novice demonstrations and intra-squad matches will soon be held to familiarize the sport in this area. It is rapidly becoming one of the most popular high school athletic events. MAYOR BYRNE GIVES APPROVAL to the addition of rear units to the Henderson police department. Chief of Police George Crisler, left, explains to Mayor Bill Byrne just what the radar can do in the way of slowing down speeders in the city. After a demonstration Mayor Byrne was converted to the electronic device as a safety measure Both stress it will not be used for raising revenue

WHAT'S THAT GIMMICK this unidentified driver seems to ask as he is stopped by the Chief of Police George Crisler, right, and is given an explanation on the operation of the radar-timer. Municipal Judge Earl Davis, left, listens to the explanation. This driver was stopped near the intersection of Basic and Water and was warned by the police chief to slow his speed.

Lighting Survey Sought Along Boulder Highway

A lighting survey along Boulder Highway (or Fremont street) within the city limits has been asked by the Traffic Advisory Committee after a discussion of safety problems on the highly traveled road this week.

Also discussed was the traffic situation at the intersection of Boulder Highway and Water street and the feasibility of having a right-hand turn lane constructed off Boulder highway onto Water Street. School bus loading and unloading was also given consideration with most members of the board favoring loading off the Boulder highway and proposing that loading stations be designed at Palm Street and unloading at Athol.

Patrolman Milton Sant displayed a map showing intersections in the city which he felt should have signs and designated speed limits posted.

The map was referred to Police Chief George Crisler and George Perkins, Director of Public Works, for further consideration.

Also discussed was the condition of the major street in the vicinity of Center Street and the feasibility of establishing a speed zone posted at 30-mile per hour.

Recommendations and suggestions will be forwarded to the City Council at a later date.

County School Enrollment Near 50,000 Figure

Clark County School District has gained 2,612 students since the District's 65 schools opened in September Assistant to the Superintendent Harvey Dondero today announced. The new record enrollment figure was based on tabulations made through the middle of last month.

The additions boosted total District enrollment to 49,818 against 47,206 students when the current school year opened Sept. 3. The gain was 8,432 students over November of 1962 when the District had 41,386 students and 297 over October of this year when there was a slight decline of 22 students.

Dondero said school growth was continuing along projected lines, pointing out that the District has been swelled by 6,733 students since schools closed last May. The last revised prediction for the District, made before the present school year started, was 51,000 by May of '64.

An American Thanksgiving

Americans have reason to give thanks this year. As symbolized in this photograph, each one of our farmers, the world's most productive, can feed himself and 28 others. In the Soviet Union, by contrast, one farmer can feed only four others. During National Farm-City Week, Nov. 22-28, communities all over the country will sponsor events showing how our free, prosperous American Agriculture is linked to the well being of every city dweller, industry, and commercial enterprise. Assistance in organizing similar activities in your community can be obtained from the National Farm-City Committee, 101 East Erie St., Chicago 11, Ill.

Oh Well, It Was Fun For Awhile

City Auditor Bob Adams reported to the City Council last night that it would cost between $85 to $100 to reproduce two pages of city council minutes to be distributed to whosoever might read them. This, he said, would not cover the mailing or delivery costs.

Meanwhile Council Wilbur Hardy who stated that all three newspaper were unfair in reporting council news reported that Boulder City had a system of reproducing the agenda and later the minutes of council meetings which it was using.

Then Hardy suggested a six man committee, to be made up of three councilmen and three press representatives to listen to the tapes of council meetings to determine if "I'm off base or if you are." and "If I am I'll make a public apology."

Councilwoman Ida Belle Riggins said that a city hall publication would only reflect city hall thinking.

The entire issue died a passing death when Ragnald Fyhen, a regular at council meetings, stood up and said, "An old friend of mine, Sen. Pat McCarran always said, 'Don't fall out with the press unless you own one.'"

Mayor Bill Byrne said he heard the late Senator make the same statement, but that was one piece of advice he received from him that he did not take.

Without further ado, almost everybody forgot what the whole discussion was about and went on to other matters which mattered.

SYMBOL—The Rev. Glenn Lutz, pastor, is shown in front of the First Presbyterian Church where a white metal cross was erected this week. The cross, a symbol of Christ's Church, is a memorial to Harry E. Parsons, Henderson's first City Clerk, who was a charter member of the church.

Evangelistic Meetings Slated At Pittman Bible Chapel

The Rev. Emil Busk, pastor of the Pittman Bible Chapel has announced a series of evangelistic meetings to be held from December 8 through 15.

Evangelist Bud Miller will conduct the meetings at 7:30 each evening. Special music will include community singing and solos by Charles Smith.

The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of the meetings, Rev. Busk said.

SPEEDING DRIVERS RECEIVE SUMMONS

Excessive speed brought a host of citations to drivers within the city limits during the past week.

Among those charged with exceeding the speed limit included Herschel L. Wallace going 85 in a 45 mile zone who was fined $40; Anna Mae Scorbrough charged with traveling 70 miles per hour in a 45 mph zone whose case was continued; Shirley Meeker Cree, charged with going 60 in a 45 mph zone who was fined $15. Two other drivers, Dorene DeMille and Alfred Robert Pinther, both charged with going 55 in a 45 zone did not appear.

FREAK M'SHOP—A parking brake, released as a prank, resulted in damage to three unoccupied cars Saturday night on Avenue. L. A vehicle, owned by Terrence Vaughan, rolled down the street, hit a car owned by a Californian, forcing it up on a lawn and back into the street roadside. It in turn hit a camper truck owned by Dusty Rhoads. Damage was minor to all three cars. (Knighton photo)

Big Horns Host St. Annes Here Toastmistress

St. Peter's soccer team must beat St. Annes Saturday if the local team is to keep alive its hope for the CYO Crusader league championship.

The Big Horns of St. Peter's goalkeeper Mike Townsite Football Field beginning at 2:15 p.m.

The two clubs played to a 1-1 tie in Henderson earlier this season.

Last Saturday St. Peters lost ground in the league race as they were defeated by Our Lady of Las Vegas Rovers 6-2. Pat Burns, playing for the first time on the offensive line, scored the local's initial goal. Richard Collins, outside right, accounted for the losers' other goal with a 10 yard boot late in the game.

Despite the score St. Peter's goalkeeper Mike Tharp played a tremendous game. Tharp, playing in the goal for only his second time, made many terrific saves.

A nomination and election of officers will be held when the Henderson Saddle Association holds its general meeting on Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

All members are urged to attend the meeting.

A breakfast ride was held recently by members of the club and all those who participated reported an enjoyable time.

The United Nations, now 18 years old, continues to bark lustily. It's a great pity, though, that it hasn't yet cut any teeth.

Susan Poladin will give her icebreaker speech and Rae Von Dornum will be toastmistress. Evaluators will be Maxine Holberg, Ellen Shirley and Bernice Sanger.

President Charlesworth has asked that all members attend as there is some impor-

Surprise! City Okays Another Sign on Highway

By a 3-2 vote with Mayor Byrne casting the deciding ballot, the City Council Monday night concurred with the recommendation of the Planning Commission for placing a 10 by 40 foot billboard advertising the Dunes Hotel near the Ace Motel in Pittman.

Despite comments to the fact, that Boulder Highway or Fremont street is being a boulevard of signs and that the saturation point is near, Council Dr. Paul Marshall and Wilbur Hardy along with the Mayor voted to concur with the recommendation. Councilmen Riggins and Roberts cast opposition votes. During the discussion, Mayor Byrne instructed George Perkins, director of public works, to survey the number of signs within the city limits and to make recommendations for further installation, if any.

Charioteers Set Car Wash, Sat.

A car wash will be sponsored by the Charioteers Car Club of Southern Nevada at Dick Stewart's Flying A Service station on Saturday, Dec. 7 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

During the discussion, Mayor Byrne instructed George Perkins, director of public works, to survey the number of signs within the city limits and to make recommendations for further installation, if any.

A NEW BANQUET ROOM will soon be ready for Henderson patrons as construction moves ahead at the Swanky Club. The new room will accommodate over 100 diners, according to Jack Mallory, owner, shown on the left, as he describes the addition to Bert Hoffman of California-Pacific Utilities. Mallory said that the room will be completed for pre-holiday and holiday functions. (Home News Photo and Engraving)

Two Complete X-Ray Program

A Henderson woman, Margaret Ford, and a Las Vegas man, Jimmy Rodgers, have been awarded Nevada Southern University's first certificates for completion of a course in X-ray technology. The two received awards after two years of academic study and on the job training.

The X-ray program is sponsored by Rose de Lima hospital, the Southern Nevada State Vocational Education Department and the University.

The program was founded by Dr. Herbert Derfelt, head of NSU's education department. Olive Faizy serves as coordinator.

Presently there are 11 students in training who will receive awards in September. They then become eligible for the American Registry examinations in the X-ray field.

Chamber Dinner Postponed Until Sometime in Jan.

The annual Chamber of Commerce banquet will probably be held sometime in January, President elect Frank Morrell said Monday. The banquet at which time new officers were to be installed was originally set for Nov. 22, the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas. After the president's death, the banquet was cancelled.

Gov. Grant Sawyer was slated to be the speaker and the definite date will depend upon his availability, Morrell said.

Poetry Society Slates Conclave

John Pilon Weds Las Vegas Girl On November 9

Miss Connie Gomez, daughter Grace Gomez, daughter Fred Gomez, both of Las Vegas and Larry Pilon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Simmons of Henderson, were united in marriage at formal ceremonies performed in St. Anne's Catholic Church on Nov. 9.

For her wedding, the bride wore a skirted gown of bridal satin enhanced with insets and trims of Chantilly lace.

The lace bodice was fashioned with a scalloped neckline and long, tapered sleeves. The skirt was styled with an over-fold and a front panel of lace extending from the waist to the floor was accented by six bows of satin.

A princess crown of crystal and seed pearls held her tiered bouffant veil of illusion and she carried a large cascade of white carnations entwined with white rose buds.

Miss Janette Willis attended as maid of honor and the Misses Marilyn Guier and Ardis Koerwit attended as a bridesmaids.

Tommy Ford served as best man and Ronald and Fred Gomez as ushers.

The couple will make their home at 641 N. 11th Street in Las Vegas after a honeymoon to San Francisco.

charged with possession of an unregistered gun.

The men booked were John Marty Payne of 213 Randy Way and James Robert Lomprey of 601 Federal.

Payne was fined $100, $50 each on counts of assault and battery while Lomprey entered an otg uilty plea on the two counts. Lomprey also was fined $50 for being in possession of an unregistered gun.

This is a lucky year for the man in your life. Now you can show your appreciation for that fur he bought you by doing the same for him.

Dad won't be wearing fur around his neck, but on his feet. The latest in men's footwear is fur shoes. You can see these at Van Valey's. They are made of unborn calf and are as smooth as silk. Van also has imitation alligator and the very popular hand-sewn moccasins.

Ladies shoes are the most beautiful in history. The new Patina (which looks like patent leather) comes in the most beautiful colors imaginable, some of which are iridescent. There are also ladies dress boots with heels or flats in a wide variety of colors and sequined evening shoes. The latest fashion is backless or cut-out, both of which are featured at Van Valey's. The beautiful Patina finish is also featured in little girls' shoes and there are Patina purses specially made to match.

You can delight that special lady in your life with a really different sweater from Desertwear. Satin lined sweaters with wide sequin collars come in black and white. They also have jeweled sweaters, black with multicolored jewel effect or white with silver.

Another new fashion is the mohair bolero style sweater. Desertwear also has long or short leather gloves in white or beige and is one of the few places here where you can find ladies hats.

Need something decorative for the home? Go to Gunville's. Besides furniture, glance around at hundreds of lamps featured at this store. Gunville's has lamps of every conceivable size, shape, color and style. There's something here to match any decor and please any homemaker.

If it's a picture you want, just let your glance wander around the walls and you'll agree, this store could almost double for an art gallery. And everything is beautifully displayed for your shopping pleasure.

If you like to give neckties and belts for Christmas gifts

(and who doesn't) you'll find some especially made for the very young men in the family at Kiddie Korner. Just like Dad's but in Junior size.

For the very young lady there are beautiful dresses to choose from and frothy white, permanently stiff bouffant slips that are as delicate and beautiful as the frosting on a cake.

There are some lovely fashions for the mother in waiting, too.

You can get a real bargain in candy, for the family or for that special gift, at Denton Drugs. You'll have to hurry as this candy is being sold at 20 per cent discount, while it lasts. The Millionaires made by Pangurn's are just out of this world.

Tape recorders continue to become more popular all the time and although a couple of years ago, you wouldn't have believed it — you can buy one today for less than $25.

There are a variety of sizes and styles of recorders at Woodruff's Basic Photo and they work wonderfully. We know, we have seen them in operation.

Get one and save the oohs and ahs and joyous exclamations of the kiddies on tape. These little transistor recorders are especially enjoyable as they work anywhere and at less than a moment's notice.

Women Are Empowered To Shape Nation's Destiny

"Politics" is not a dirty word, according to Webster and the late Maude Frazier who served for 12 years in the Nevada Legislature, following a noteworthy career as a teacher, and in 1962 was appointed Lieutenant Governor to fill the vacancy created by the death of Rex Bell.

In an article written for the P.E.O. Record, published by the P.E.O. Sisterhood, Miss Frazier said:

"It is commonly believed that women set our social standards. If we can do that, why should we not set the standards in political life. Government . . . national, state or local, good or bad . . . affects women as well as men.

"Let's go back a hundred years and take a look at the status of women at that time. What changes have been made? Have the changes been good or bad?"

"A hundred years ago, our nation was torn apart by civil war. Women suffered the hardships of that war, yet they had no voice in public affairs.

"One hundred years ago, a woman ate only if she pleased some man. First her father, then her husband who was usually chosen by her father, (a good provider and forget about the romance,) later by a brother or perhaps a son.

"Always a male member of her family was responsible for her. He made all important decisions for her since she was not thought capable of making her own.

"She worked. How she worked. But at proper feminine tasks like cooking and scrubbing and bringing up children.

"On public affairs, she was not expected to have any opinions. Some women may have liked the lack of responsibility. Most women didn't like it but didn't know how to do anything about it.

NEW BREED OF WOMEN
"Then along came a new breed of women. They called themselves suffragists and some other people called them by less complimentary names.

"This new breed of women claimed that women no less than men were capable in matters of government. These suffragists were ridiculed and caricatured but they never quit.

"We modern women owe a great debt of gratitude to those early suffragists who endured hardships and abuse to pave the way to the freedom we enjoy.

"Finally, the work of those suffragists began to bear fruit. In most states a woman could attend school board meetings and could vote for school trustees. Gradually the names of other non-partisan candidates were placed on women's ballots.

"Men were not yet ready to share party politics, the science of government. So, most women thankfully accepted their limited franchise and the hardy suffragists kept working. They never gave up nor even faltered.

PARADE WITH A PURPOSE

"Before women had complete franchise, I had a wonderful experience. I was a teacher in the then live town of Goldfield when Anna Howard Shaw, one of the later but no less ardent suffragists, came to town.

"First she organized suffrage parades. Some men were very favorably impressed, as they had to be, after listening to her, and offered their cars, but of course no prominent man would be seen driving in a suffrage parade. Very few women drove at that time, but many boys were willing to drive cars on any occasion. No drivers licenses were required, so the boys and I kept the parades moving.

"I could drive but didn't have a car, so I drove the banker's car and the banker's wife and her friends. The banker's car was on a par with the Cadillacs of that day.

"We rigged up a float featuring the people who were not eligible to vote: Two children, a prisoner in his stripes, a bright teenager who was camouflaged to look like an idiot, some aliens (and they were real,) and a beautiful college girl in her cap and gown. That float was a real eye opener.

"Anna Howard Shaw wanted to go to other mining camps, so we borrowed a Ford and drove all over that territory.

"Wyoming was the first state to fully enfranchise women. I wish that could have been Nevada but it wasn't. The first time women all over the nation could vote equally with men was in 1920. Men had given us the full franchise. We had no other way of getting it. We were politically responsible equally with men.

"Having heard Anna Howard Shaw tell of her hardships and indignities suffered by those early suffragists, in order to give us something they didn't have, it never occurred to me that any American woman would miss an opportunity to vote if she had to crawl on her hands and knees to the polls!

"But we women have not accepted our political responsibility any better than men have.

"Our forefathers went to a great deal of trouble to make sure that we can cast our votes as we wish. Our right of free choice is guarded at every turn. What wouldn't the people of some other countries give to have the freedom of choice that we have!

"Yet some Americans don't bother to vote. A WOMAN MUST BE A LADY

"Some men politicians subscribe to the idea that a woman loses some of her femininity if she is a candidate for office, particularly if she is elected. In my first venture into party politics, three men called on me to tell me some things for my own good. (Things told to us for our own good often are unpleasant.)

"The laws are made, said the three, not in the capitol building, as I thought, but in the bars of Carson City or Reno; that a woman who wants to pass her bills must spend her evenings sitting on bar stools and drinking with the boys; that the legislators would tell dirty stories and she would be embarrassed.

"After twelve years in political office, I can truthfully say that I've never sat on bar stools to drink with the boys, nor heard a legislator tell a dirty story, and have been able to get some of the laws we needed.

"In politics, as in every other situation, a woman who acts like a lady will be treated as a lady.

"The purity of its women may determine whether a nation shall rise or fall. Some have the idea that being pure means staying out of things; being passive about public affairs; having the habits of a hermit.

IT'S A MAN'S WORLD
"When women exercise their political potential, perhaps we can get as much financial backing for symphony concerts as for prize fights; perhaps parks and playgrounds will be as well supported as fish and game preserves. We must learn to make our voices heard in the state capitol and in the halls of Congress. How are our officials to know what kind of government we want unless we tell them?

"More than half the voters are women. What are we waiting for?"

"We still live in a man's world. Make no mistake about that. Every working woman knows that, in most cases, a woman has to do more work, and better work than a man and for less money. Whose fault is that? Our own. The men did all they could for us when they gave us the full franchise. We have been timid about using the rights we have.

"We have made progress but our job is far from finished. Our nation may rise or fall according to the interest and activity of our women; according to their purity, according to the time and effort they devote to public affairs.

"In no other nation on earth are so many women empowered to shape the destiny of so many people, but it is necessary that we live up to our political responsibilities."

THE BOULDER CANYON PROJECT Employees' Benefit Association has two happy customs which it carries out when one of its members retires; there is a farewell gift of a $100 Savings Bond and an orchid for his lady. In the picture, you see John Phillips as the retiree, and his daughter—Mrs. Katherine Smith—standing in for her mother, whose ill health prevented her from attending. Phillips has been a well-known figure around Hoover Dam for the past 21 years and one who takes with him the best wishes of the entire Project for a long and happy retirement.

The Words Of John F. Kennedy

We must always keep our armaments equal to our commitments. Munich should teach us that; we must realize that any bluff will be called. We cannot tell anyone to keep out of our hemisphere unless our armaments and people behind these armaments are prepared to back up the command.

...Why England Slept, 1940

The courage of life is often a less dramatic spectacle than the courage of a final moment; but it is no less than a magnificent mixture of triumph and tragedy. A man does what he must . . . in spite of personal consequences, in spite of obstacles and dangers and pressures . . . and that is the basis of all human morality.

...Profiles in Courage, 1955

I believe in an America where religious intolerance will someday end . . . where all men and all churches are treated as equal . . . where every man has the same right to attend or not to attend the church of his choice . . . where there is no Catholic vote . . . and where Catholics, Protestants, and Jews . . . will refrain from those attitudes of disdain and division which have so often marred their works in the past, and promote instead the American ideal of brotherhood.

...Meeting with Protestant ministers, 1960

If we are given the mandate, and if we lead, we are going to get America moving again.

...Campaign speech, 1960

Let every nation know whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall . . . bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and the success of liberty . . . To those nations who would make themselves our adversary, we offer not a pledge but a request: that both sides begin anew the quest for peace.

... Inaugural Address, Jan. 20, 1961

And so, my fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country.

... Inaugural Address

The people will find it hard, as I do, to accept a situation in which a tiny handful of steel executives, whose pursuit of private power and profit exceeds their sense of public responsibility, can show such utter contempt for the interest of 185 million Americans.

... News conference, 1962

I think this is the most extraordinary collection of talent, of human knowledge, that has ever been gathered together at the White House . . . with the possible exception of when Thomas Jefferson dined alone.

... Dinner for Nobel prize winners, 1962.

One path we shall never choose, and that is the path of surrender, or submission. Our goal is not the victory of might, but the vindication of right; not peace at the expense of freedom, but both peace and freedom here in this hemisphere, and, we hope around the world. God willing, that goal will be achieved.

What kind of peace do I mean and what kind of peace do we seek? Nor a Pax Americana enforced on the world by American weapons of war.

Not the peace of the grave or the security of the slave. I am talking about genuine peace . . . the kind of peace that makes life on earth worth living . . . and the kind that enables men and nations to grow and to hope and build a better life for their children . . . not merely peace for Americans but peace for all men and women . . . not merely peace in our time but peace in all time.

... Commencement address, American University, June 10, 1963.

Now the time has come for this nation to fulfill its promise. The events in Birmingham and elsewhere have so increased the cries for equality that no city or state or legislative body can prudently choose to ignore them . . . it is time to act in the Congress, in your state and local legislative body, and, above all, in our daily lives.

According to the ancient Chinese proverb, a journey of 1000 miles or even more, let single step. My fellow Americans, let us take that first step. Let us, if we can, step back from the shadows of war and seek out the way of peace. And if that journey is 1000 miles or even 11 more, let history record that we, in this land, at this time, took the first step.

Lake Mead Mirror

By BARBARA O'KELLEY

The U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, a strictly voluntary nonmilitary organization, met for installation of new officers for 1964, at the Lake Mead Marina Nov. 26, Commander Lee Searls who had the office for two years turned over his office to the new Commander Dale Milner.

Lee was given a surprise gift of a burgee jacket as outgoing Commander. Bob Lee was last year's Vice Commander. Bill Trelease assumed that post. Everell Kyle will be the '64 Training Officer. Milo Matticks held the post for 1963.

The appointive office of Secretary Treasurer will be held by Helen Searls who has done the job so well for the past two years.

The Auxiliary was created by Congress to aid boatmen in promoting water safety, to lend a helping hand to the boating public and to assist the Coast Guard by promoting safety of life at sea.

Membership is open to all boatmen who are U.S. citizens over 17 years old and who own at least a quarter interest in a boat, yacht, private airplane or licensed amateur radio station. The activities available cover a large range of interests, from boat cruises to classes in boat handling, races, and helping the Coast Guard in rescue work.

Among those present at this meeting were 1st Class Bosun's Mate Nick Galash and his wife Martha, Bill and Fran Trelease, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hold, Everell and 'Al' Kyle, Joe and Janice Tomlinson, Gene and Nadine Gatzke, Bob and Maria Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Milner, Paul Kirk, Leo and Maxine Cornett, and Lee and Helyn Searls.

There is a membership drive on now and many activities are being planned for the coming year.

If you would like to know more about this fine organization call the U.S. Coast Guard Office 293-2291 or go by the Coast Guard building at Colorado and Ash. Meetings are held every second and fourth Tuesday of each month at the Coast Guard building at 7:45 p.m.

Have you been curious about the dropping of the water level in Lake Mead? According to the Bureau of Reclamation the Lake is 56' lower than it was a year ago at this time. And it is due to go lower yet. The Lake will probably be about eighteen feet lower yet. The lake will probably be about eighteen feet lower by next June. Right now the Lake reaches about 1141 foot above the mean sea level and has about 16 1/2 million acres of working water in it now so it is a long way from being dry.

Foot Care For Students

For most students the school year means hurried walks to and from classes, frequent stair climbing, fast-paced gym sessions - and tired feet!

The wise student, therefore, establishes a footcare program with a year-round beauty and health routine. To help you, Dr. William M. Scholl, world famous foot authority offers these tips:

Keep feet clean - bathe them daily. Pay attention to backs of heels and between toes. Rub briskly with a dry towel and then apply foot powder.

In addition, apply soft cushioning pads to tender spots, corns or callouses. Also wear proper shoes - sturdy leather shoes with firm arch support and low heel are best for daily wear. Use foot powder - daily applications in the shoes help absorb excessive foot perspiration.

This easy foot care routine should eliminate most problems dealing with the feet.

Christmas Toys Net Big Warning

Safety experts Dr. Albert H. Domm issued a warning to Boulder City and Henderson parents concerning the selection of harmless Christmas toys this week.

"Random selection of toys could mar your holiday season," he said.

He pointed out that many of the festive season's accidents could be prevented if parents would choose toys wisely—and train their children to use them safely.

"No child should be given a potentially hazardous toy unless he is mature enough to accept the responsibility of using it and unless his parents assure themselves that they will take time to teach the child its safe use."

To help keep those traditional jingle bells as merry as ever, Dr. Domm listed hazards that should be avoided:

1. objects with sharp or rough edges that can cut and scratch.
2. toys too heavy for a child's strength.
3. toys featuring removable parts that could easily be swallowed.
4. poisonous paint.
5. even such seemingly safe items as dolls and stuffed animals, if they have glass eyes that can come loose.
6. chemicals that may explode or poison.
7. toys requiring the use of electricity or flame that could ignite, shock or burn.
8. games featuring missiles as darts, arrows, air rifles or dangerous tools as wood-carving sets, screw drivers, claw hammers, unless there is a certainty that they will be used by older children under adult supervision.

All About Dogs

By NIKKI HARTZELL

Graduation has finally come and gone for my beginning Novice class. First place went to Dr. Carol Whitmoyer and her Golden Retriever, "Jody", after winning the runoff which broke the tie with Diana Jones and her German Shorthaired Pointer, "Missy".

Tim Rowland's Beagle, "Waggie", was the "Most Improved" dog of the class and Colleen Ashley's German Shepherd, "Moose", would definitely be in the ribbons at any obedience trial, once she learns the "Stand for Examination".

I also wish to thank Paula Morton, Jan Jones, Thea Johnson, and Maurice Hastings for their cooperation and hard work in helping to make the graduation exercises a success.

While I am on the subject, I would like to give a belated public "thank you" to have Vegas Valley Dog Obedience Club for the lovely silver charm bracelet they gave me for judging their last Practice Match.

I know summertime is when we usually think about Rabies but I believe it would be a good idea right now for all of us to check our dog's Rabies Certificates to find out when their next shot is due. The use of this serum has been a great help in the prevention of rabies.

In the fifteen year period 1946-1961 the total rabies cases dropped from 10,872 to 3,470 with the greatest contributing component in the decline being the 92 per cent decrease in canine rabies, which fell from 8,384 cases in 1946 to only 594 in 1962, according to a report by the Communicable Disease Center of the United States Public Health Service.

Two areas New England and the Mountain States have reported little or no rabies since 1951. The most marked decreases have tak-

'Are Americans Ashamed To Be Identified With Moral Decency?' FBI Chief Asks

By J. Edgar Hoover

Are we Americans ashamed to be identified today with decency and morality? Are we forsaking the time-tested principles upon which our great country was founded for a substandard, more accommodating code of conduct?

There appears to be a preponderance of evidence to indicate a truthful reply to these questions has to be in the affirmative. However, here a true answer is the "wrong" answer, and it is high time righteous, freedom-loving people take a closer look at what is happening to JUDY MEETS JETS. Stewardess Judy Stillwell proves that all jets do not fly as she inspects the new Eureka fan jet powered vacuum cleaner. Behind her at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport is an American Airlines Astrojet, part of the airline's fan jet fleet.

The Eureka "Princo II" has a new fan jet motor which creates jet stream air current at the nozzle—a high velocity air movement that carries away deepest dirt, freshens rugs through and through in "jet speed" time. It is dynamically balanced and rubber-mounted for quiet, efficient operation.

The appliance weighs less than 20 pounds, complete with five accessory cleaning tools, including a floor and wall brush, carried inside.

en place in the South Atlantic and East South Central regions.

Wildlife rabies accounts for an increasing percentage of the total cases of animal rabies each year. Earlier, foxes appeared to be the most important active reservoir of infection, but now skunk rabies have assumed a dominant role.

During the fifteen year period, the number of rabid bats reported annually has also increased, so says the Gaines Dog Research Center.

perplexing and controversial problems facing our Nation. Why? Primarily, it is because of individual and collective moral cowardice on the part of our society.

We do not have the courage to stand in conflict with the mad rush for material wealth, indulgence, and social prestige. We are condoners and appeasers of a practice which we distrust and disapprove but which we will not overtly oppose.

The lack of morality and integrity stems from a false sense of values. Many persons are so preoccupied with selfishness and greed they no longer know — nor care for that matter — where honor stops and dishonor commences. Others are simply confused. Rationalization and double standards have so clouded some moral principles that right and wrong are no longer clearly distinguishable.

Moral retrogression is not confined to any one group or sector of our country. This social illness is universal. Immorality rears its ugly head in every American institution and profession.

None is free from its stigma.

It is reflected equally as much in corporate price-fixing as in teenage vandalism; in payoffs to politicians as in classroom cheating; in sports world bribes as in law enforcement scandals; and in income tax returns padding as in voting frauds.

Immorality itself is not the only danger of the crisis. Some theorists suggest our moral standards be scrapped for a less restrictive code by which our moral derelictions can be justified. Such thinking is a flight from responsibility and an accelerant to further moral decadence. If the destruction of our great Nation itself were the goal of these advocates, they could not devise a better means to achieve it.

With the approach of the joyous Holiday Season, let us God-loving people shoulder our moral responsibilities, not flee from them. Let us stand proud and erect, champions all, for morality, integrity, and godliness. Let us assure that it may always be said of our country, "America is great because she is good."

Jailbird Swaps Coop for Cooler

One smart cockatiel flew the coop, tired of his freedom and turned himself over to the Police. The Kelleys knew they had a smart bird and now they've proof of it.

Very tame the cockatiel enjoys riding on the head and shoulders of members of the family. He was free of his cage as usual when he was taken outside to enjoy the lovely weather. Suddenly he flew and he spiraled high out of sight.

The Kelleys searched long and late for him until it was too dark to see well. Early the next morning they started their search again. And where was the bird (Captain Kidd by name) during all this time?

Tired by his long flight Captain Kidd lit on the street in front of 700 A Street where help came promptly, as Police Officer Jeff Jefferson topped his patrol car and walked over to Kidd.

Captain Kidd gratefully hopped onto the hand of Officer Jefferson and then onto his shoulder where he rode to the Police Station.

At the Police Station Captain Charlie Weaver had Captain Kidd released to his custody and took him home, where his little daughter Linda helped the guest relax with seed and water.

Next morning Nona Peters' sons helped the Kelleys as they searched for the bird, then went home and told their mother what had happened. Nona works for the Police Department and told her boys where the bird was. They told the Kelleys who thankfully went after their bird.

Properly enough that was Thanksgiving Day.
