Corp. Forrester Visits Parents

Corporal Jim Forrester, USMC, is home on leave en route to Vietnam.

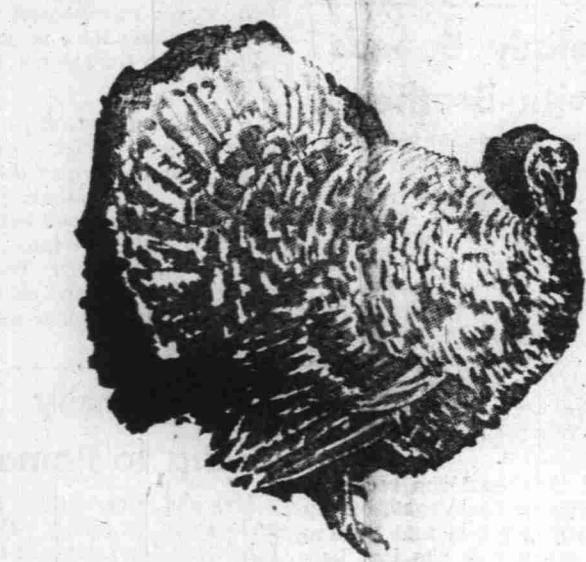

He is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Forrester, who reside at 63 Lowery.

Jim graduated from Basic High School in 1964 and enlisted in the Marine Corp in December of that year.

After completion of basic training, he went to Huntsville, Ala., to attend a year of schooling at the Redstone Arsenal, where he trained as a HAWK Missile Radar Technician.

Corporal Forrester was stationed at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., prior to his reassignment.

"No matter how cars are built and equipped," said Old Sorehead, "they will never be safe as long as they are driven by people."

The traditional Thanksgiving turkey, carved by father and served in bountiful abundance with all the trimmings to all the family, is just one of the many high points of Thanksgiving Day.

Traditional, too, is the thoughtful pause to remember, and to be especially grateful for the many blessings that increase day by day. We join with you and yours in offering a fervent "thank you" for the privilege of this day.

Vandalism To Sign Costs City Money

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce and the city are becoming increasingly concerned over the continued acts of vandalism within the city and, in particular, the damage to the neon "Welcome to Henderson" sign located on the Boulder highway.

Children passing across the highway have broken neon letters in the sign over the past years amounting to many hundreds of dollars.

Parents are urged to caution their children and ask them to cooperate with the city officials in keeping this sign attractive to everyone who enters our city.

Public Hearing on Liquor Ordinance Set Monday

Two items will appear on the City Council agenda Monday night for the recessed meeting at 8 p.m., the public hearing on a new liquor ordinance, and a request of the Black Mountain Country Club. The City Council will meet as a committee for the public hearing on the ordinance which was read in title last Monday night. The new liquor ordinance would allow the sale of package wine and beer within the 300 foot distance of a school or church, which is not allowed at the present time.

The Country Club will probably discuss the possibility of a new water rate from the city, a consideration that has been in the discussion stage for some time.

The change in the liquor ordinance was brought to the discussion stage when a neighbor grocery store on Pacific and Atlantic streets requested a package liquor license. The store is located within 300 feet of the Episcopal Church, and in order to allow the sale, the ordinance would have to be changed.

The Council at first had thought to make it an emergency ordinance, however, it was later considered not of an emergency nature and will be carried through the normal channels.

City Business Sparked By Opening of New Establishments

A number of new businesses within the city obtained licenses from the City Clerk during the month of October, and City Clerk Genevieve Harper noted that a number of people had been in to inquire about other types of businesses, seeking out locations and utilities.

"Things seem to be getting more interesting as to a brighter future for Henderson in the business field," Mrs. Harper noted.

Licenses for the fourth quarter were issued to "The Sizzler," located at 110 North Boulder highway, and "The Pizza Hut," located at 89 Lake Mead Drive.

The Richfield Oil station, 154 Water street, which has been closed for a few weeks, was reopened under the ownership of Kenneth L. Kesterson.

The Rasco stores, located at 524 Boulder highway, put in an application for the fourth quarter.

There were 7 contractor licenses issued; 9 for delivery trucks; 2 general; 27 liquor;

36 gaming, and 6 dog licenses. There were four city council meetings during the month.

Purse Riding On Car Found Missing

A visitor to this area from Whittier, Calif., reported to police that her purse has been lost, and asked that if anyone finds it they contact her.

Mrs. Narretta Buckwaller Dunn, 16103 E. Santa Fe St., Whittier, told police that she and her husband were staying at the Las Vegas Wash resort and had started to Las Vegas. She said he placed her purse on the truck of the vehicle and forgot about it until they arrived at a service station and found it missing.

She had $8 and some credit cards inside.

This Christmas will be a happier one for a lot of children in this area when they receive a personal letter from Santa Claus himself. It will be mailed from and officially postmarked "Santa Claus, Indiana."

"Henderson Chamber of Commerce" makes it possible for every child in the community to receive the Christmas-time message. All that is necessary is to stop in at the Henderson Retail Merchants for these free letters any day from Dec. 1 through Dec. 15 and choose one of the four colorful letters on display. Address the envelope for the child — just as you would a greeting card — and drop it in the special Santa Claus mail box right there. The letter will be returned through the mails with the famous Santa Claus, Indiana, postmark.

Neighbors may also drop Christmas cards in the special mailbox and get the benefits of the Santa Claus, Indiana, postmark.

A deputy district attorney from Las Vegas, now knows how it feels to be on the other side of the law, and was fined $50 in justice court Thursday by Justice of the Peace Delwin Potter, for shooting a hen pheasant instead of a cock.

Two others shared his plight of having shot a hen instead of a cock, and two others were fined $50 for having unplugged guns.

Visit With Daughter Highlights McBeaths Trip To Orient

By KATIE SHANKLAND
Joe and Doty McBeath have just returned from a wonderfully interesting and enjoyable tour of several oriental countries.

Their prime motive for going to this part of the world was to see their daughter, Sherry, and son-in-law, Tom Hsueh, who live in the city of Taipei in Taiwan, formerly known as Formosa.

Accompanying them on the trip were Hendersonians Gordon and Elsie McCaw and Alene Hemington, who used to live here.

Their first stop was in Hawaii. Because of having old friends living there, they were able to see and do many things that would not have been possible on a regular tourist visit to the islands.

They arrived in Tokyo, Japan, for a 10 day special tour, fortunately missing a typhoon that hit the area the day before they arrived. Of all the countries visited, Doty was impressed the most by Japan and its people. Tokyo, with its 11,000,000 population, engenders enormous transportation problems. The train stations of Tokyo have 2,900 professional "pushers" to push and pull people on and off trains during the 30 second stops! There are countless small taxis, all spotlessly clean, which careen recklessly through the narrow streets.

Everywhere they went, visiting places of special interest, they encountered many school children in uniform, all well behaved. They found out that the schools organize trips for the young people so that they may see the places that are part of the heritage of the Japanese people.

They were impressed by how clean, neat and well-dressed the people are, and found the young children adorable.

Joe attended a Rotary meeting every week on this trip. At the Tokyo meeting he was given a very small apparatus to place in his ear. Through this instrument the entire proceedings were translated to English. All without wires!

After leaving Japan, they spent two wonderful days in Okinawa. They visited Dr. Lorne Phillips, Agnes and the children, our own Henderson people. They were all fine. The Phillips live in a house high on a hill, on a point of land, with a view of the ocean on three sides. With the Phillips, they visited the original "Tea House of the August Moon." Afterward, they had a warm and friendly evening at another tea house where the talented Geisha girls made the occasion a memorable one.

Now came the time that Doty and Joe were looking forward to the most. They arrived in Taipei, and seeing Sherry and Tom. They met many very interesting friends of Sherry and Tom, both American and Chinese. Almost everyone spoke English, and also had one to three other languages at their command besides their own.

The island of Taiwan reminded them of Hawaii. It has a similar beauty and also produces sugar, pineapples, bananas and rice for export. Many American business firms are represented there.

After more than a week in Taiwan, Sherry joined them for six days in Hong Kong. They found the setting of this great city similar to that of San Francisco but more spectacular. Of course they shopped, as everyone does when in Hong Kong, but they took time to see many of the surrounding areas. A highlight was a harbor tour on a private boat, complete with gourmet food! Also, they enjoyed the ferry boat trips, especially at night.

Bangkok, Thailand, (Siam) was the last place where the whole group, including Sherry, was together. This city was so fascinating that they tried unsuccessfully to extend their stay. All hotels and plane flights were booked solid. Here they found well laid out, wide streets and a strong European influence. They were much impressed with the health and welfare facilities. Included was help in rehabilitating people. Much of the progress of Thailand is attributed indirectly to the influence of Anna of Siam, the King of Siam. Notable also were the beautiful women of Thai and their lovely dresses made of native silks.

On their whole tour, contrary to previous expectations, they saw no begging on the streets. Of special interest to Joe was that everywhere they went they saw businesses and delivery trucks of the drug firms that he does business with at home.

At Bangkok the group separated. Gordon and Elsie McCaw flew to Australia, arriving there just before President Johnson's scheduled visit. Gordon's brother is Attorney-General of Australia. He invited Elsie to accompany him in the official party greeting President and Mrs. Johnson. Afterward, they dined with the President. What an unforgettable experience this was! The McCaws expect to remain in Australia until next March.

Now came two and a half more weeks in Taipei for Doty with Tom and Sherry. When she left, there were 18 people at the airport to see her off.

Doty purchased some things for their new home on the golf course at Black Mountain while on the trip. Of special interest is a very wide, 400 year old silk screen for a wall of the living room. Both Doty and Joe are very busy now unpacking and getting settled and landscaping their new home. However, even moving into a new home does not crowd out the happy memories of their trip.

NEVADA SHARES WICHE GRANT

Dr. Juanita White, regent of the University of Nevada, has been notified by the executive director of Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, Robert H. Kroepsch, that WICHE has been named the recipient of a two-year grant from the National Institutes of Health under the heart, cancer and stroke legislation.

This will provide over $1.6 million to be divided between Nevada, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming, states which have no medical schools, and a director will be named for each state.

According to Kroepsch, the money will allow an opportunity to investigate, at the grass roots level, ways and means by which citizens of the four states can benefit from the new advances in knowledge about the above killer diseases.

It is the only grant to date, of this type, which has not been made to a medical school. It is the outcome of a medical survey made between 1961-1964 and Dr. White (PhD) and her husband, Dr. Thomas White, physician and surgeon, were on the original survey committee.

Melody Bounds Visits Brother

Miss Melody Bounds of Ashland, Oregon, spent this last week here visiting her brother, Dennis Bounds at 65-D Victory Village.

She arrived in Henderson after an interesting trip. Melody spent three months in Wichita Falls, Texas, when she decided to continue home-ward. But before doing so, she visited her brother in Henderson, whom she had not seen in three years.

At the depot she requested a ticket to Las Vegas, but upon arriving late that evening she discovered she had been sent to Las Vegas, New Mexico.

Since the New Mexico Las Vegas is near the Colorado border, Miss Bounds decided to visit her sister, Lee Gettling, in Colorado Springs. After which she made an uneventful trip to Henderson, and spent an enjoyable week here. She left for home last Saturday.

The Third Stool

by AL LANGLEY

Me 'n Zeke Guber wuz doin' more sidewalk talkin' the other day an' we figgered there wuz a whole bunch of stuff that needed to be wrote about.

The only thing that stood in the way of me gittin' started wuz fer us to figger out which mess to git started on first, a guide down at the dam that don't know his war is over, the new city manager's salary, the Great Society an' it's tail spin, the reason fer Laxalt's victory, petitions, corn squeezein's card playin' 'n wild wimmen or the three dollar raise us folks are gonna git tapped fer.

Zeke allowed as how it didn't make no difference wot order they fell in jist so they git wrote about, so let's start with these here petitions that's bein' brung around to some of you folks fer signin'.

First off, maybe I had better clear up which petition I'm referin' to becuz the way things look there might be six or eight more before the turkey hash is all gone.

I'm referin' to the one where some folks don't like the three dollar bill they are gonna git nipped fer by city hall.

Now, dad blame it, folks, we can't have our cake an' eat it too.

We got between now an' June's bride blushin' time to fatten city hall's sugar bowl or the possible chance to lay off some badge toten' fellers, firemen tote 'em too.

If some policemen go, you ain't gonna git as much pertention; if some firemen go, you drop a couple pegs on insurance rates an' they go up.

Like I said, we ain't able to keep our cake an' eat it too. No, I ain't sidin' in with city hall. I brung these things up fer you to think about.

The next time somebody shoves a petition under your nose to sign, ask 'em if they have been to enuf council meetin's to understand why they are doin' wot they're doin'. I'd like to hear some of the answers you git.

I guess we can take the rest of these items in order, an' the guide at the dam is next.

Now, I ain't took a dam tour since the retired colonel guides got thicker then the hair on a dog's back, an' I ain't figgered out which one a pass-thru tourist wuz talkin' about.

Anyway, while me 'n Zeke Guber wuz doin' some more sidewalk talkin', a feller from back East ask us if the dam was under marshall law, the army, or some other outfit.

He sez the reason fer askin' he jest had a tour of the dam an' his guide introduced himself as colonel so and so an' wudden't let us fergit it the rest of the trip.

He also said the guide seemed to be a nice feller an' cud answer any question he wuz asked, but since the army ain't runnin' the outfit, this colonel stuff wuz carryin' it a little bit too fer.

Well, let's see, I guess the city manager's salary is next. At a council meetin' a spell back some feller jumped up n' down and got all red in the face becuz Dr. Gray is gittin' $16,000 a year.

I don't think this feller knew that Dr. Gray is holdin' down more jobs than a copy boy.

Besides bein' city manager, he is the finance officer, an' real estate officer, plus a few other odd jobs.

Now, you add all them salaries up an' he is savin' the up-with livin' in a society they can't afford.

If Lady Bird don't hang onto her kitchen sink, L.B.J. might jest give it away.

Now, Laxalt an' his victory, the way I got it figgered, it wuz 10 per cent work an' 90 per cent Great Society livin' that elected him.

Corn squeezein's, card playin' an' wild wimmen is next to last on the list.

Now, the way I look at it, if a person wants a big poke full of wheat, he goes to Kansas. If he wants some nice potatoes, he pays a visit to Idaho. Oranges, either California or Florida. If he craves a little excitement fer the gamblin' tables, he heads for Nevada, all parts except Boulder City.

Now fer the three dollar raise on our utility bills.

There ain't no reason to git city better than $7,000 a year.

Now, fer the Great Society an' its tail spin. It jest simmers down to one thing. I think both the Republicans an' Democrats alike are fed all excited becuz us folks are still payin' a heap less then they are in other towns fer the same stuff.

To sum this mess up, we got some folks in this town that ain't able to win nothin' at election time.

Like I said before, when somebody hands you one to sign, look 'em straight in the eyeball an' ask 'em if they have attended enuf council meetin's to know why city hall needs the extra money.

Happy Thanksgiving n' Good Nite,

Eye Additional Gaming Tax As State Spending Spirals

An internationally known accounting and consulting firm today was reported to be in the final stages of an extensive study of the Nevada tax structure as directed by the 1966 special sessions of the legislature.

Russell W. McDonald, legislative counsel, who is coordinating the study for the bipartisan Legislative Commission, said the survey was ordered to evaluate comparative potential sources of revenue because every time the lawmakers meet in Carson City they are faced with increasing demands for services, each of which requires more state spending.

The Legislative Commission is made up of equal numbers of Senators and Assemblymen of both parties and functions as Nevada's only interim legislative committee. Members are selected by the lawmakers in regular sessions.

Archie Pozzi, Jr., commission chairman, said the firm of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery was selected to make the study after representatives of top national and international companies were interviewed by the Legislative Commission.

The legislature, blessed with more revenue as the state grows but faced with the fact the population increases bring spending demands well in excess of higher revenue, decided a thorough study of all phases of Nevada's tax structure was in order.

Noting mounting pressure to tax gaming, McDonald said the lawmakers told the Legislative Commission to pay particular attention to the state's major industry to see if it can afford additional taxation and, if so, how much.

Pozzi, in issuing what he said "probably will be the first in a series of reports on

Historical Society Program To Feature O. D. Gass Story

The So. Nevada Historical Society will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday, Nov. 28, in the courtroom of Judicial Dept. No. 1, at the Clark County Courthouse in Las Vegas, at 7:30 p.m., it was announced by Maryellen V. Sadovich, secretary.

Florence Lee Jones, member of a pioneer family, and well-known Nevada historian, who has spent many years researching and seeking information about the old Las Vegas pioneers, will tell the story of O. D. Gass, revealing important and yet unpublished historical data of those years when Las Vegas was only a ranch, and Mrs. Gass was the only white woman in the valley. Octavius D. Gass lived in Calville in 1865, when he was elected to serve in the House of Representatives of Arizona Territorial legislature. He served through 1868, when Arizona finally recognized the validity of the federal action extending Nevada boundaries in 1866 to the Colorado, and relinquished claim to the lands which are now southern Nevada.

The public is invited to attend this meeting, and members are urged to bring guests because of the outstanding character of this program. There is no charge for any club activities.

Taxpayers Soon To File Directly With Regional Center

The law signed by the President on Nov. 2, which authorizes IRS to require taxpayers to file returns directly with its regional service centers, will be put into effect over a period of several years, District Director of Internal Revenue Warren A. Bates, announced today.

At present, the tax returns of Nevadans are filed with the IRS district office at Reno, and after initial handling there, are packaged and shipped to the service center at Ogden, Utah for processing by automatic data processing (ADP) equipment.

Mr. Bates said the new legislation will not immediately affect filing of all Federal tax returns. However, he called attention to the present optional direct filing program under which individual income taxpayers in Nevada are permitted and encouraged to file refund returns directly with the Ogden Service Center. This will speed up the processing of refunds and effect economies in IRS operations.

IRS will provide pre-addressed envelopes for mailing refund returns to the Ogden Service Center by Nevada taxpayers.

As mandatory direct filing to the Ogden Service Center is phased-in for Nevada, IRS will issue advance announcements and instructions to inform the taxpayers concerned, Bates said.

Annual savings of nearly 4 million dollars should be realized when direct filing of returns is effective on a nationwide basis, Bates said. The savings are expected from elimination of double handling and shipping costs and through other economies inherent in volume processing.

Bates emphasized that direct filing will in no way curtail services Nevada taxpayers receive from IRS district office. He said, "by relieving the district office of the burden of receiving returns and preparing them for transshipment, we will have a greater opportunity to render services to taxpayers."

Hi Value Lands Up for Sale

The first significant public auction of federal lands under the 1965 public land sale act will be conducted in Las Vegas, Nov. 30, Senator Alan Bible announced today.

Bible, who steered the public sale bill, said 56 scattered tracts of high value real estate, located mostly near the Las Vegas Strip, will be offered for home building and light industry.

The parcels range in appraised values from $1250 to $40,000, according to the Bureau of Land Management. One parcel of 120 acres is located near Moapa.

Bible said city and country officials were to be commended for their effective cooperation in classifying and zoning the lands proposed for sale.

Darlene Cantrell Becomes Bride Of Neal Knappenberger

The First Baptist Church at Atlantic and Kansas was the scene of the wedding of Darlene Cantrell, Dallas, Texas, and Neal Knappenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Knappenberger, 118 Hickory, Oct. 21.

The evening ceremony, the first to be held in the newly remodeled church, was performed by Rev. John Osko, and the music was provided by Mrs. John Osko.

The bride wore a white lace gown, styled in a princess manner, with full length pointed sleeves. Her elbow length veil was attached to a small pillbox headpiece. She carried white carnations with a white orchid inset corsage.

The maid of honor, Miss

Sylvia Knappenberger, wore an empire style linen dress in off-white and avocado, with full length sleeves ending with a ruffle at the wrist. She wore a corsage of Cymbidium orchids in matching shades.

The bridegroom's mother chose a silver grey gown with matching accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Bob Christian of Boulder City, was the best man and William Donahue served as usher.

A reception for 40 guests followed the ceremony at the Knappenberger home.

The beautifully appointed bridal table held a four tiered wedding cake, especially baked and decorated by Mrs. Gloria Westover. The wedding cake was frosted in white and ornamented with pink roses. Each tier was topped by a pink poinsettia. The top tier held a bride and groom figurine.

Presiding at the table was Mrs. Herb Dobberstein. Miss Sylvia Knappenberger attended the guest book, and Mary Ray Knappenberger and Bea Knappenberger assisted at the gift table.

Out of town guests attending were the groom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bea Ray, Alhambra, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Harrell, Sherman Oaks, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent L. Ray, San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Neal and his bride were both in the Army and met while they were stationed in Heidelberg, Germany.

The young couple is living in Las Vegas where Neal is presently employed by E.G.&G. Inc.

Letter To Editor

Dear Mr. Zenoff:
Congratulations on your invitation to participate in the Special American Study Mission to Saigon and Vietnam. It is quite an honor for an area to have the editor of one of its community newspapers so selected.

I do hope you will be able to make the trip and give your readers the benefit of your opinions gleaned from it.

Margaret Thorne
Health Educator.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT

We didn't win — BUT — that's not all important. In my opinion, the most important fact is — that this high office was not won without challenge and that you, the voter, had a choice.

Personally, I enjoyed the campaign very much and am most appreciative of all the help so graciously given in my behalf.

Part II --- Colorado River Plans Unfolded

 "In order to keep the Fish and Game Departments of California and Arizona informed of the progress of the work and the plans for the review of the completed drafts of reports on the Topock Gorge, Parker, and Yuma Divisions, two meetings were held in October of 1965, one in Las Vegas, and one in Sacramento, Calif. At these meetings it was agreed that the department would have all three drafts reports in the hands of the states so that there could be a simultaneous review. The states thus would have an opportunity to comment on the Secretary's report. Hopefully, the goal was to achieve a substantial meeting of minds before launching on any new work program on the lower Colorado River.

"In response to the request of the State at the Sacramento meeting, and in order to assist him in making his decision as to the scope and nature of the river management work to be approved for accomplishment, Secretary Udall appointed the Advisory Group, which I mentioned earlier, made up of representatives of the interested resource agencies of the two States, the Colorado River water-user agencies having contractual rights to the use of the water from the river, and the interested Indian tribes.

"This Group's first meeting was some 72 days after the third and last Departmental draft report had been submitted to the States of California and Arizona for review. It was the hope of the Secretary that, with the benefit of information developed at this meeting, the final comments by the States would reflect the unified opinions of all State agencies having an interest in the development of the resources of the Colorado River. We were also hoping there would be substantial areas of agreement between the Department of the Interior's report and the comments of the States, and that most of the States' recommendations could be fitted into our final work plans to the general satisfaction of all interested parties.

"We have received California's comments, and in all honesty, I have to say that my initial review of the comments in the States' reports left me rather disappointed. Just the same, I am confident that there are at least some additional points of difference that we can reach agreement on, and if we continue to seek areas of understanding, and if the State fish and wildlife interests are willing to scale more of their recommendations to the limitations the Department of the Interior must operate under — then perhaps we can increase those 'some points' of agreement to a substantial number.

"We are now in the process of giving the State of California's report a full review, and until we have completed that review I am not in a position to tell you to just what extent we will be able to accommodate some of the State recommendations, or just how we may be able to modify some of our plans in order to arrive at some reasonable alternatives.

"I want you to understand the difficulties of our position with respect to the State report. The State report, which was prepared by the Resources Agency of California, supports to a substantial degree the recommendations of the California Departments of Fish and Game and of Parks and Recreation. Comments of the Department of Water Resources, and of the Colorado River Board of California, which represents the contractors for water from the Colorado River, were bound in with the report, but their views are not reflected in the report's official recommendations. These latter agencies have a substantial — a vital — interest in what is done on the lower Colorado River.

"So if the Department of the Interior were to revise its work plans and make them conform to all of the report's recommendations, we would be adversely affecting the interests of important groups in southern California, representing some 10 million people who have a great stake in the future of the lower Colorado River.

"Even though you people here today may be in favor of the State recommendations as they now stand, I'm sure you can appreciate — objectively — the position that report puts us in. If we were to adopt all of the report's recommendations, we would be opposing the wishes and interests not only of our own Department of the Interior, but of the California Department of Water Resources and the Colorado River Board and all of its water user groups. They want us to go ahead and implement the Interior Department program as rapidly as possible.

"If we were to go ahead as they recommend, then obviously we would not be satisfying the desires of the Resources Agency, or of the California Departments of Fish and Game and of Parks and Recreation, and perhaps some others.

"I am reminded of Aesop's fable of the man, his donkey, and his family. By trying to follow the conflicting advice of everybody, he wound up pleasing nobody. In the end he decided to go back to doing things his own way, and then he got along much better.

"Now, don't take my reference to that fable to mean that we plan to ignore the report and jump to work with our own program exactly as it stands. At the very least we will diligently seek more areas of agreement than now appear to exist. And I would certainly hope that before it becomes necessary to make final decisions regarding this program much larger spheres of agreement can be achieved by the various State agencies and groups whose interests are affected.

"We want to try to stay flexible as long as we can. In areas where there are feasible alternatives to our proposed programs, and one serves the interests of the California outdoorsmen and one does not, then we will be glad to accept the alternative that does serve those interests. We want to do the best we can to preserve the scenic and recreation values of the lower Colorado, and to mitigate or enhance its fish and wildlife resources.

"Meanwhile, work in the Cibola and Palo Verde Divisions, which both California and Arizona have favorably commented on, has been continuing. Likewise, work is continuing in the Upper Parker Division, where no dredging is involved, in order that the Colorado River Indian tribes may go ahead with their recreational developments. Maintenance operations also are continuing along the river where the channel work has been completed.

"Getting back to our future work programs, I must emphasize once more — as I did when I met with you last year — the limitations under which we are bound to operate. There is only a certain amount of water in the lower Colorado River — not nearly as much as we wish there were — and certainly not enough to satisfy all the desired goals of everybody. The limited water of the lower Colorado has been apportioned by the Supreme Court Decree. There is no extra water that has not been spoken for and allocated. We cannot justify a program that calls for more water than there is.

"In addition to the limitation of water, I have to work within another limitation — that of financial feasibility. In testifying before Congress in support of programs for the lower Colorado River, I have to be able to demonstrate that the Department of the Interior's proposals are engineeringly sound and that the benefits to be derived from them exceed the costs. I do not expect to go before Congress with proposals that are not financially realistic.

"I want to point out that not all the work we can do in the future to benefit recreation and fish and wildlife interests is contained in our presently proposed work programs for the Topock Gorge and the Parker and Yuma Divisions. I am referring to work in line with the long-range goals of the Lower Colorado River Land Use Plan. A number of those recommendations, covering additional recreation areas, will probably be needed in the future but are not required now. As the need for them arises, and when the developments can be justified, we will certainly give them serious consideration.

"So even after final decisions have been made on our currently proposed programs, we will be able to come back with additional programs of benefit to recreation and fish and wildlife interests. This is especially true if and when the flows of the lower Colorado River can be augmented from an outside source — whatever outside source that might be.

"Meanwhile we will continue to seek areas where our proposed programs can be modified to further satisfy the interests of recreation and fish and wildlife enhancement. We will do our best to seek out and adopt beneficial compromises that are within the boundaries of the limitations of available water and of financial feasibility.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING — Clever Christmas gifts are being made for the LDS Relief Society Bazaar of the Henderson Ward for December 2 at the Ocean street church. Here President Ila Tobler and Mary Bennion put the finishing touches on some of the gift ideas. The budget dinner will begin at 5 p.m., and the bazaar at 5:30 p.m. Visitors may eat for $1.50 per plate, and the cost for members is their budget assessment.

ANSWER TO WATER SHORTAGE

Tiny Submersible Well Pump Efficient Aid In Tapping Plentiful Underground Supply

In New York City, you don't get a drink of water in a restaurant unless you ask for it. Across the country in California, men are arrested for the crime of watering their lawns in defiance of a municipal edict. In the Midwest, an irate mother organizes a picket line because she's tired of putting her children to bed without a bath. In dozens of communities everywhere, families have to take turns using their plumbed-in equipment because the taps run dry.

The signs appear to be plain. America, the land of plenty, seems to be running out of water.

But is it? No, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau says. True, we're polluting our surface sources of fresh water faster than we're cleaning them up. True, desalination of sea water is still too expensive for general adoption — as much as $1 per 1,000 gallons, compared to 13 cents for the same amount of treated surface water.

However, America has plenty of underground water, the Bureau points out. Under the state of Florida alone, there's five times as much as in the five Great Lakes combined. Fresh water can be mined from these underground sources by means of individual wells.

Already, 25 percent of the U.S. population gets its entire water supply from individual wells. Each year, 50,000 wells are drilled to serve as a supplemental source of water for families who get municipal water — but not enough. Water from an individual well costs less than city water — about 2 to 5 cents per 1,000 gallons. It usually tastes better too.

The modern well uses an electrical submersible pump — so called because it's installed right in the well. It's usually about 3 or 4 inches in diameter and turns on and off automatically when water in a storage tank reaches a predetermined level.

Would you like more information about individual wells? Write to the Ground Water Resources Institute, 205 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606. Ask for a booklet titled "How Water Wells Can Help Solve Your Water Problems Easily and Economically!" It's free.

WHERE DID WE GET THE WORD "THANKS"? FROM THE NORSE "THANKA"...

TO TODAY'S THANKSGIVING CLOTHING CAMPAIGN!

Language scholar Eric Partridge suggests that we owe "thanks" in its verb form to the Nordic invaders — to the Frisian "thankia", to the Saxon "thankon" or to the Norse "thakka". They all meant "to thank" and to this day are preserved in modern Germanic words for "thank you": the Danish "tak" and the German "danke", for instance.

As a noun, Partridge theorizes, the word "perhaps comes straight from the Old English thanc or thone, meaning 'a thought', hence a grateful thought, hence the expression of such a thought."

That's where the definition has returned to its starting point. For through their generosity, Americans are putting "a thought" back into "thanks". Sometimes it's by sharing the Thanksgiving table with a few boys and girls from an orphan's home. Or the thought may be expressed as a contribution to the Catholic Bishops' 1966 Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign — a thought that reaches the desperately needy half the earth away.

Americans in all 50 states are clearing their closets of serviceable clothing and taking it to their nearest Catholic church. There, the gifts are sorted, packed and shipped to needy people of every race and creed in 80 countries.

Permit No Xmas Tree Cutting In Toiyabe National Forest

Christmas Spirit has its limits, according to the U.S. Forest Service. The Las Vegas District office gave its yearly warning against the cutting and hauling away of Christmas trees from the Charleston Division of the Toiyabe National Forest.

The Forest Service will not give away trees or let them be taken for resale, they are needed for roadside protection, announced Fred W. Isbell, District Forest Ranger.

Roads in the National Forest area will be patrolled and violators fined. Persons who get their Christmas trees from private property within the Toiyabe National Forest may do so only with the written consent of the property owner and with a State Christmas tree shipping permit allowing transportation over the state highways.

Give Bathroom For Christmas

Have you thought of giving your family a bathroom as a Christmas present?

Don't laugh! More and more families are doing just that, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau reports. There's a definite trend toward such family-size "practical" gifts as a new or remodeled bathroom, the addition of a family room, a den for dad, a sewing or utility room for mom.

Appliances such as automatic dishwashers, food waste disposers and freezers are coming in for their share of popularity too, the Bureau says.

If a new bathroom is your family's choice, be sure to get the job started early enough to have it completely finished by Christmas. And if you're looking for layout ideas, you might be interested in a booklet containing over 30 possible arrangements. It's available for 25 cents from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Clothes Care

News

SAVING CLOTHES IS OUR BUSINESS

For years when people asked me what I did, I said: I'm a dry cleaner.

Well, I'm still a dry cleaner, but now when people say what do you do, I say: I'm a clothes saver.

This naturally makes the one who asked lift an eyebrow and pursue with further questions asking what that means.

And I have to explain that I'm not in the used clothing or salvage business.

I go on to tell them that we clean, we spot, we press, size or resize, mend or alter, re-button, and re-zip, weather-proof, pre-shrink, dye, bleach if necessary, give advice on buying, and so on and so forth.

Which, all of it combined, is a lot more than "dry cleaning."

In short, put it all together, and the net effect is to save your clothes for you.

If it weren't for fellows like me, I can assure you that you'd get only a few wearings out of a suit or dress, or any other fabric item, instead of many dozens and even hundreds of wearings.

And just as it makes a difference as to which doctor you go to whether or not you get well soon, or keep suffering, so it makes a difference as to which cleaner you take your things to.

We have our graduate degree of Doctor of Cleaning, cum laude. We invite you to CALL OR BRING THEM TO

Munfords Visit In Pittman

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Munford and their son, Ted, enjoyed a visit here on Nov. 14 and 15.

They were guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Emaline and Wes Adams, and their granddaughters, Kathy, Connie and Jenny. The Adams family lives at 1429 Palm St. in Pittman.

Wesley Adams is a lieutenant of the Henderson Fire Department at the Pittman station.

While in the area, Mr. Munford also enjoyed a short visit with his sister, Margaret, in Las Vegas.

Ted Munford will return to Henderson Nov. 21 to spend one last day with his sister and her family before being sent to Vietnam.

On the morning of the 22nd he will fly to Oakland, Calif., after which he will be transferred with his unit for a one year tour of duty in Viet Nam.

Councilwomen Named As Lunch Chairmen

City Councilwoman Ida Belle Riggins, along with Boulder City Councilwoman Jan Jones, have been selected by the National League of Cities, to be chairwomen of a luncheon during the NLC conference in Las Vegas in December.

Theme of the conference is "City of Man," and the luncheon will be held for women officials who customarily attend the meetings.

The luncheon will be a no host affair at the Dunes Hotel Sunday, Dec. 4. The two women were recommended for the responsibility by the City of Las Vegas and the Nevada Municipal Association.

Terry Shearin Going to Hawaii

Where have some of Basic's graduates gone? After they leave school, alumni go their separate ways. Many are directly drafted or join the Armed Forces.

Terry Shearin, graduate of the class of '64 is in the army, 47th Infantry. At present, Terry is stationed at Fort Riley, Kans., but reported to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Shearin of 4653 Harmon Avenue, Desert Hills, that he will be going to Hawaii for jungle training.

Another Terry; Terry Nixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Nixon, of 1433 Chestnut, Pittman, joined the Navy. He is on the USS Annapolis, a mobile communications ship. The ship is now harbored outside of Sasebo, Japan.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Saner of 23 Idaho Way, have a son, Arthur J. Saner, another Basic graduate, in the Marine Corps. Arthur is attending Field Medical Service School at Camp Pendleton, Calif. The Saners received a letter from their son Friday, Nov. 18. He mentioned that he ran into an old Basic buddy on the base, Steven Bradley. Arthur also mentioned that he expected to be on the same base until March.

Members present were Shirley Gove, Ilene Ravlin, Mary Lou Fielding, Selma Classen, Sally Moore, Nancy Wertsbaugh, Ruth Ball and Mary McCullough.

Wayne Bates Concludes Combat Training

Marine Private Wayne E. Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bates of 1940 Bearden Ave., has completed four weeks of individual combat training here.

During the training period, he received more than 200 hours of instruction in guerrilla warfare, the use of infantry weapons, combat patrols, and squad tactics.

His next assignment is four weeks of basic specialist training to prepare him for a specific job in the Marine Corps. Marines to be assigned to infantry units will be taught sub-specialties such as the technical operation of the machine gun, grenade launcher, or mortar. Those entering highly skilled occupational fields will receive advanced training at resident technical schools.

African Violets Thrive Here

By MARGARET GRAHAM

Mrs. Frank Moine, 315 W. Tungsten, has a hobby that is as pleasing to the beholder as it is to her. She raises African Violets and the evidence of this hobby can be seen throughout her home.

When she and her husband, Frank, came here from Des Moines, Ia., 17 years ago, she brought a few of her violet plants along and fully expected them to grow and prosper as they did back home.

However, despite everything she did the plants either wilted and died or remained stunted and unhealthy. When she decided that it was useless she saw an advertisement on a restaurant napkin which offered violet plants for a ridiculously low sum, sent for them, and received six bedraggled plants.

Determined to succeed, Mrs. Moine experimented with different potting soils and finally found a particularly black and rich humus which seemed to help the plants a little. Then she began to use distilled water and rain water on them and one day mistakenly watered them from a container into which she had put Hyponex, a commercial plant food, that she had mixed for some other plants in her yard.

Immediately the plants seemed to perk up and soon produced beautiful blooms.

The combination of potting soil, rain water, and the plant food, along with tender loving care the plants received from Mrs. Moine has produced large healthy leaves with beautiful flowers.

The plants are displayed on shelves in front of a window in the Moine's living room, on the divider, and all through the house.

Violets multiply in the pots and when the container becomes crowded, Mrs. Moine separates the plants and repots them. Also, violets can be rooted by cutting the leaves off at an angle with a sharp knife and placing them in a container filled with rain water over which slitted foil has been placed. The leaves are then slipped through the foil.

Violets must never be watered from above because water on the leaves causes spotting and sometimes rotting. All of her violets are placed so that they receive filtered sunlight, preferably morning light because hot direct sunlight causes the leaves to curl and may kill the plant.

Frank Moine thoroughly approves of his wife's hobby, and although he said his only function was to enjoy the blooms, Mrs. Moine stated that he is her runner—he runs for humus, fertilizer, and water when her rain water runs out.

Mrs. Moine has several varieties of violets including: Lady Geneva, a variegated double bloom in shades of orchid and white; Master Blue, a single bloom in deep rich tones of violet blue; Blue Boy, Love and Kisses, a large double flower in pink shades; White Knight, a large double white bloom, and one she believes to be an Apple Blossom Pink.

Also, in her violet collection she has a Gloxinia, which is a member of the same family, except that it is a bulb variety and has large bell-shaped flowers.

AFRICAN VIOLETS and other exotic plants are the hobby of Mrs. Moine.

Rebekahs Hold Nominations

Sunshine Rebekah Lodge 41 held its regular meeting at the Victory Village auditorium Nov. 15, at 8 p.m.

They are hoping to dispose of every toothbrush.

Last Sunday the Red and Blue teams vied in their monthly contest at the Black Mountain Country Club. Preceding play, a delicious breakfast was served by Dan Furse. The match was all tied up with one foursome left on the course. Al Wengert, playing for the Reds, in this last foursome, came in with a net 30 for the last nine holes played and cinched it for the Red team. The winning Reds are now nine points ahead.

VETERANS GRATEFUL FOR STAMPS

To quote Frank "Doc" Jensen, "The man in the white coat that you see messing around with the tiger (trash can) in the post office lobby, brought over a letter to Esther Shipp that he received Nov. 15." It reads:

Dear Mr. Jensen: We wish to thank you for the stamps you have sent us these past many months, for our stamp club. Your interest in the rehabilitation of our hospitalized veterans is appreciated. Sincerely, J. A. Doering, M.D., Hospital Director, VAD Hospital, Roseburg, Oregon.

Jensen wishes to thank all of his friends who have helped in this endeavor, which has been carried on for many years. Among them are the BPO Does, Pythian Sisters, Rebekah Lodge, the B.C. Clinic, the staff in Dr. White's office, the USBR personnel in Mails and Files—all of Boulder City; Rubye Hostetler, Inez McLeod, Henderson; and MSGT. Daly (Ret) of Las Vegas.

Jensen arouses curiosity when seen in the post office, tearing stamps from the corner of mail discarded in the rubbish. He feels that every stamp is valuable, as 1000 or more are needed for each veteran to regain the use of injured hands.

SCIENCE SERFICE

"There is no wisdom nor understanding nor counsel against the Lord."

This is the Golden Text of this week's Christian Science Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday. Title of the lesson is, "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, De-nounced."

PREPARING FOR TRIP — Pearl Osborn, Henderson business and Professional Women's Club president, is pictured with Marilyn Doty, state corresponding secretary of the Nevada Federation and past president of the Boulder City club; and Louise Culbertson, Boulder City BPW Club president, as they load luggage in her car in preparation for a trip to Tonopah. The club officers are attending a state board meeting of the Nevada Federation there where plans for the 1967 state convention to be held in Carson City will be discussed.

AMPOT WINS SAFETY AWARD — Members of American Potash and Chemical Corporation's Union-Management Safety Committee (first row — Joe Wargo, Bob Price, Mil Goble, Walt Rowden; second row — Bill Voorheis, Gerald Lewis, Henry Curtis and Jim McGee) proudly show off the Lamont duPont Safety Award which was presented to Ampot at the 1966 Manufacturing Chemists Assn. meeting. This is the highest safety award obtainable in the chemical process industry. Each Ampot employee was presented with a key chain replica of this award.

TO THE PEOPLE OF NEVADA:

THANK YOU FOR YOUR WONDERFUL SUPPORT. I AM MOST GRATEFUL FOR THE VOTE GIVEN ME FOR SUPREME COURT JUSTICE.

The Answer Or the Illusion?

By KAY HAVENS
A compact for education, the Education Commission of the States, came into being with little or no fanfare shortly after the publication of a book "Shaping Educational Policy," by James Conant, in 1964.

In chapter five of his book, Conant points out that educational policy in the United States has been determined in the past by the more or less haphazard interaction of (1) the leaders of public school teachers, administrators, and professors of education, (2) state educational authorities, (3) a multitude of state colleges and universities, (4) private colleges and universities, and (5) a variety of agencies of the federal government, through which vast sums of money have flowed to individual institutions and the states. Conant said, "It is my thesis that such a jumble of influential private and public bodies does not correspond to the needs of the nation in the 1960's. Some degree of order needs to be brought out of the chaos, primarily for the benefit of the on-coming generations, but also, to achieve a more effective use of public and private monies."

of endorsement also provided in the article. States can, at the commitment of their governors, join the Compact or they can join by means of an enacting statute approved by their legislature. Governoratorial approval is necessary by Dec. 31, 1967, if a state is to remain a member.

Western legislatures which have given their approval to the Compact include Hawaii, Alaska, and New Mexico. Other approving legislatures include Arkansas, the Virgin Islands, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Maryland, South Carolina, Delaware, New York, Puerto Rico, and Wisconsin.

The following western states have been committed to temporary membership in the Compact by their governors: Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Washington, Colorado, and Arizona. Other states temporarily committed include: Minnesota, Illinois, Texas, New Hampshire, Ohio, Vermont, West Virginia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Missouri, Alabama, North Dakota, Iowa, Tennessee, and American Samoa.

The nine-article Compact which the states endorse as they enter the agreement provides a good outline of the purposes and policies to be pursued as the effect of the organization increases in the future. The preamble is a statement of the philosophy which was transferred from Conant's book to furnish the justification for the creation of the Compact. This philosophy encompasses the aim to properly educate all citizens, and to preserve a free and open society in this country, in addition to meeting increasing demands for an expanding educational service, and a broad exchange of research data and information concerning the problems and practices of education.

A statement of purpose and policy is contained in Article I of the Compact. It emphasizes that the action of the Commission will be on a state level, but throughout the nation. Thus, it underlines its intention to be 'of' the states, not 'above' them.

Article V provides that "the United States may be represented on the Commission by not more than 10 representatives... but no such representative shall have a vote on the Commission."

One of the first major criticisms of the Compact came soon after its creation. Concern was voiced over the apparent power of governors in the affairs of the new Commission.

problems. Therefore, is it not right that they should have a key position? The "rightness" of the governors' position was not obvious to all; there were some complaints.

The state of Nevada is not a member of the Compact. Up until now there has been no word from Gov. Sawyer or Governor-elect Paul Laxalt, in this connection.

That there is unrest about the Compact is evident. In one state the legislature refused to accept the Compact after the governor had endorsed it. In others, legislators grumbled that the governors had been given too much power in the new organization. To be sure, the Compact provided that both houses of the legislatures would be represented on the state delegations at the annual meetings of the ECS, but there was no formal assurance that the legislative voice would be as strong as that of the governors on the steering committee, where many of the decisions would be made.

The battle was joined in California and other states, and nationally-known state legislative spokesmen like Un-ruh of California and McCarty of Oklahoma made their views known.

Other protests emanated from higher education, which felt its representation in Commission decision-making did not adequately reflect its importance.

Presidents of state universities are worried about the possibility that the seven-man state delegations to the Commission might become additional "state educational councils" and be one more policy or review group to deal with.

State officeholders and other citizens, baffled by the complexity of educational needs, are looking to this agency as one that can provide the answers. Perhaps it can—in time and in some measure. The Compact may be able to do a great deal, but it probably cannot perform all the wonders expected of it.

It takes time to launch an organization... when 50 states are involved. It takes time to get public cooperation in a venture of this sort. Time is what the Compact needs to prove itself.

Fleischmann Foundation Gives Funds To State Museum

Judge Clark J. Guild, the Nevada State Museum's board chairman and general curator, announced this week that the Max C. Fleischmann Foundation of Nevada has donated $81,234.08 "to help the museum continue its broad work in behalf of Nevada history during the next year."

In making the gift known, Judge Guild pointed out that the Fleischmann Foundation

"has been a mainstay in the development and operation of the museum ever since it was started with the substantial personal help of Major Fleischmann 25 years ago."

The judge emphasized that the State of Nevada, through legislative appropriation, has made the museum "an effective and important state institution." However, the Fleischmann Foundation, he reported, has been the largest of many private contributors.

"Without their very valuable assistance," said Judge Guild in a statement, "we could not have succeeded in our work as a recognized educational and natural history museum — one of the very best in the West." We could never have hoped to do the things we have done in archaeology and other fields—for instance, the great and significant dig these past two years at Pyramid Lake.

"The gratitude of the trustees and members for such great contribution to the history and meaning of Nevada is limitless."

Predicts 1967 Record Year For Car Imports

Citing the widening price spreads between the lowest-priced American compacts and economy imports, Toyota Motor Distributors president, Shoji Hattori predicts that 1967 will be a record year for import manufacturers in the United States.

"With the de-emphasis of compacts in the 1967 domestic models and generally higher price tags," Hattori said, "affords the import manufacturers one of their finest opportunities to fill the void left by Detroit in the economy field."

Predicting that the U.S. import sales will top 600,000 in 1966, Hattori sees 1967 sales reaching 650,000 to 700,000.

Hattori believes that Volkswagen will enjoy "about a five to seven percent increase in 1967 sales" and that Opel, due to Buick's established dealer network, will be the second largest selling import line in 1967.

HEALTH FACTS by Rohe

THE DISCOMFORTS OF AGE

Not the least of the discomforts of the elderly is an affliction called Xeroderma (pronounced Zer-o-der-ma), an irritating skin condition characterized by a tight, dry itchy feeling.

Dermatologists (skin specialists) have found a capful or two of a therapeutic bath oil greatly helps the condition. But they also know that some elderly people are endangered by the oil film clinging to the bath tub, occasionally causing accidents.

Now, there is a new therapeutic bath oil called Alpha-Keri Spray which may be applied after the bath when the skin is still wet. As effective as soaking, it eliminates the danger of slipping. Non-prescription Alpha-Keri Spray is available in pharmacies.

Since publication of that book the interstate Compact for Education has emerged as the instrument responsible for bringing "Some degree of order... out of this chaos."

The short interval of time between the publication of Conant's idea and its shaping into a form of reality under the leadership of Terry Sanford, former governor of North Carolina, has amazed and, at times, dismayed on-lookers and participants alike.

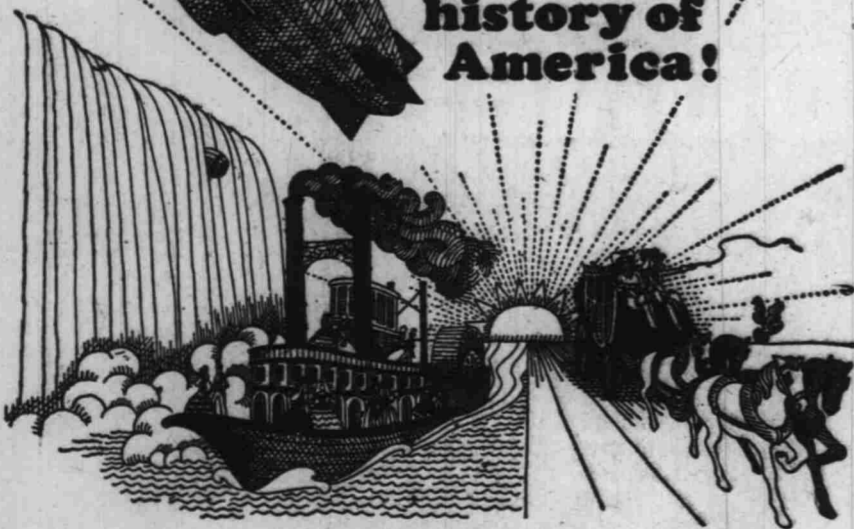

Fred H. Harrington, president of the University of Wisconsin and vice chairman of the Education Commission of the States (formed by the Compact for Education), spoke to the participants of the July 1966, Institute for College Self Study at Berkeley about the Compact and its prospects.

In introducing the subject of the Compact, he began by saying, "... if the Compact has a contribution to make, it is basically in the field of the interrelationship between education and government. He added, 'note that I say 'if.' This is not meant to suggest doubt as to the value of the Education Commission of the States; rather, the intention is to suggest that any discussion of the Compact must be primarily a discussion of the future. The organization is formally in existence, but it is not yet really off the ground. This is a point that requires emphasis."

Harrington remarked that he had heard conflicting opinions on the worth of the Compact, and remarked that it is not as yet particularly important, being so new. He said it does have real promise for being useful, both to education and to state government, but there is also the chance that it will damage existing institutions. But, as of now, the Compact is not a major force.

However, the Compact is a reality. At its first official meeting in June at Chicago, the Education Commission of the States (ECS) reported that 36 states had become members. Article VIII of the Compact required that only ten states need to join for it to become effective. Only 13 of the 36 states can be considered permanent members at this time due to the two methods

GETTING TO LOVE DELIVERY MEN
By Bob Bartos, Manager
Friskies Research Kennels

If your dog takes his protective instincts out on the mailman milkman or other service delivery people, here's an approach that should disarm him.

Have a tête-a-tête with one of your regular delivery men. You'll need his full cooperation which you'll probably get if he feels it will make the route to your home less perilous. Tell him that you'll leave your dog's dinner at a predetermined spot, each morning, such as atop Mrs. Jones' mailbox two hours down. He's to pick it up, bring it to the edge of your property and let your dog sniff it. Let the sniffing be through the fence if you have one. He should then proceed up to the porch with the food where he deposits it and stands by while Fido eats it. After a few days of this routine you can simply leave a small snack in place of the meal. Of course, you may have to change your dog's feeding schedule to fit in with the delivery man's arrival, for your pet must be hungry for this ruse to work.

If your pet now befriends the hand that fed him but still has it in for the other delivery men, you'll have to go through the same routine with each in turn.

Feeding tip: Good blood requires Vitamins A, B-6, B-12, folic acid and niacin along with iron, copper and cobalt... all of which are included in a quality prepared dog food such as Friskies.

Center Students Offer Services In Beauty Care

The beauty shop will cater to the public on Thursdays and Fridays only until students become increasingly proficient. Hours will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and appointments may be made by phoning 731-2772.

Governor Issues Alcoholism Week Proclamation

Gov. Grant Sawyer has proclaimed Nov. 27 to Dec. 3, 1966 as Alcoholism Information Week in Nevada, and called on all residents to support the State Alcoholism Division in its campaign against the disease.

"The cost of alcoholism in human suffering, in disintegration of family and in economic loss to the individual and the community is incalculable," the Governor said. "This campaign is designed to alert the public to the danger."

He noted alcoholism, according to a new figure released by the National Council on Alcoholism, afflicts 6,500,000 Americans and ranks with cancer, mental illness and heart disease as a major health threat.

Grant B. Harris, administrator of the Alcoholism Division, said his office is cooperating with the National Council on Alcoholism in a program of education, community service and research.
