44 Absentee Voters Have Cast Ballots in Election

A total of 44 absentee voters have already cast their ballots for the city's municipal general election slated for June 6, according to City Clerk Genevieve Harper.

Absentee voters still have until Friday, May 29 at 5 p.m. to cast their ballots, Mrs. Harper said. She said that according to interest already shown, there would probably be a larger percent of voter turnout at the coming election than in the Primary.

A total of 168 new voters have registered for the general election, bringing the total number of voters to 4595. The names of the 168 new voters are being printed in the Henderson Home News today. A complete list was printed prior to the primary election.

Although the campaign has been generally quiet, some candidates have been going door-to-door to meet the residents, and have spoken at various political functions where people could meet them.

The election for municipal judge is expected to be a close one, with J. Gary Price pitted against Milton "Bud" Sant. Both men are LDS members living within the same ward. Price is a barber and Sant is a police officer who has taken time off from his duties to campaign.

Challenging Dr. Paul Marshall for council seat 1, is W. B. Byrne, former 2-term mayor, who was defeated in his bid for a third term, in the last municipal election.

This city's first councilwoman, Ida Belle Riggins, is being challenged by barber Pratt Prince.

Incumbent Dale Roberts is being challenged by Pipefitters and Plumber's Union head Barney Cannon, who is also chairman of the Clark County Hospital Board of Trustees.

The new city officers will take over at the first council meeting after the election in June. The Municipal Judge will take over June 7 as Judge Earl Davis said he would retire on his birthday on that date. Davis, who is not running for re-election, has been in ill health.

Band Concert By Elementary Schools Tonight

The Henderson elementary schools will present a band and choral concert tonight at 8 in the Junior high school gymnasium.

The 135 piece elementary band, directed by Richard Geuder and Charles Steele, consists of students from all three elementary schools. The elementary special chorus, directed by Mrs. Sue Martin and Mrs. Miriam Burkholder, recently appeared at the music convention which was held in Las Vegas.

Admission is free and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Police Catch Thieves Before Boat Is Missed

Police here had a case for the record. They picked up a stolen $5,000 boat and trailer before the owner reported it missing.

Motor Carrier field agent Bob Morris stopped a couple hauling a boat at around 12:53 a.m. on Boulder highway near Boulder's Supply, and when he found that the boat was unregistered and the occupants had no proof of ownership, he called the Henderson Police, and Sgt. Loren Ogle and Tommy Thompson responded.

The two occupants were taken to the Henderson Police Department and at 2:05 a.m., Emile's Sporting goods store reported that a boat with a motor and trailer were missing. Emile had looked out the window and had noticed that the boat was missing from its usual place.

Police booked Dan Carroll, 32, of San Gabriel, Calif., and Mary Schurr, 27, also of San Gabriel, for grand larceny, and they were placed in the city jail.

Morry's Story

... by Morry Zenoff

This community lost one of its strongest supporters and investors the past week when the very able, popular and enthusiastic Joe Wells passed away suddenly.

Wells actually was a Hendersonite before there was a Henderson, for he was among those contractors who took part in the actual finding of the land where the townsite and plant was to be built—and he worked right along with Howard P. Eells, Jr. and the McNeil Construction company in developing the plant itself.

Ever since, his Wells-Cargo trucks have been hauling materials to and from the local plants and Wells himself has had many ventures that included local land. A few years ago it was his money that backed an auto race track, that later was torn down.

Most recent development on his planning board was his trailer estates area included in his land holdings along Sunset Road.

Within the past two months, Wells invited this writer to his office in Las Vegas and announced his plans of development of his vast acreage here. He planned first trailer homes, then low-cost housing, then executive housing stretching along Sunset up to Paradise Golf course.

Last year Wells contacted us to suggest this paper dedicate its Industrial Days edition to Howard Eells because Wells felt the Ohioan really could be called the founder of this community. We accepted his suggestion and his offer to pay the complete expenses of sending a reporter to Cleveland to gather the vast amount of material plus direct interviews on the subject. The result was a journalistic feat of great value historically and Wells was proud of what we had done—and said so often whenever we would run into him. Wells was at the Chamber of Commerce dedication to Eells which was held at the Swanky club.

It is a shock and a blow to all—this death of such an able developer—and his name will live long as one of the west's pioneers.

Our heart goes out to his lovely wife, Betty, and to the others in his family.

Henderson, like the rest of the state, truly will miss Joe W. Wells.

Shrine Ball Set Sat. At St. Peter's

The Lake Mead Shrine Charity Ball will be held at St. Peter's auditorium on Boulder highway on Saturday, May 27 at 7:30 p.m., and 100 percent of the ticket sales goes for the crippled children's hospitals.

George Crossley, president of the Shrine Club, announced that Dennis Rockwell, age 11, has been selected to reign as Prince of the charity ball.

Dennis afflicted with Perthes disease, had been a patient in the Los Angeles Shrine Hospital unit, and although completely cured, returns to the hospital annually for a checkup.

Master of ceremonies for the ball will be Earl McNiven, who has an entertaining evening of talent and dancing planned. Music for the dancing will be donated by the Musician's Union.

LDS THIRD WARD SETS RUMMAGE SALE

A rummage sale, sponsored by the LDS Third Ward, will be held Thursday, May 25 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., according to Ramona Hafen, president.

All types of clothing and handy items for the family will be sold. It is to be held at the Carver Park auditorium.

This newspaper for the fourth successive year Saturday was declared the winner of the top award of the Nevada State Press association when it won title as the state's best non-daily paper for community service.

Governor Paul Laxalt presented the certificate and trophy to Publisher Morry Zenoff at the 42nd annual convention banquet held in Reno's Ponderosa hotel.

The Las Vegas Review-Journal won the daily paper award.

Judges for the awards were out-of-state publishers of California, Utah and Arizona.

In the presentation of the award, Governor Laxalt explained to the convention audience that the Henderson HOME NEWS had broken the record two years ago when it won the trophy for the second time in a row. He added how the paper then did it again last year and now again this year—making it a remarkable accomplishment.

On two other occasions during the past ten years, Zenoff newspapers won the honors, once with the Boulder City NEWS in 1957 and the following year with the Henderson paper—making it a total of six out of the last ten years.

The huge plaque will be on display in the HOME NEWS office for the entire year. It is a revolving trophy with each year's winner encribed on the bottom.

Fire Takes Life Of Local Widow

The first fire casualty for this year took the life of Winona Marie Nelson, 53, Thursday night in her Victory Village apartment as she apparently died of smoke asphyxiation.

Although full results of the autopsy are not yet known, according to Assistant Fire Chief Dale Starr, it is believed she died before she was burned. Her body was found on the kitchen floor at her 65 D apartment, although firemen believe the fire started in the living room.

There were no other occupants in any of the other three apartments adjoining Mrs. Nelson's apartment, firemen said, and the fire was reported at 8:45 p.m. by neighbors who saw flames shooting from the windows, and roof. Firemen said her late husband also died several years ago in a fire.

Clubs Must Apply To Solicit Funds in City-Wide Drives

City Clerk Genevieve Harper reminded all organizations within the city to remember that prior to starting a drive which collects funds for an organization, all applications must be approved by the city solicitation review board which meets on the first Monday of each month.

Mrs. Harper said that a number of organizations are changing officers at this time of the year and neglect to carry out this function.

All applications must be in writing with the proper bond. Applications are on file at the city clerk's office, and all organizations are urged to prepare ahead for canvassing and have material ready to be before the board before they start soliciting for their project.

All organizations are required to submit a financial statement 30 days after each event.

Services will be held today at 2 p.m. at Palm Chapel in Henderson with Rev. Robert Richards of the Community Church officiating. Burial will be at Palm Memorial Park in Henderson.

She was a resident of the area for 15 years. She was born Aug. 19, 1913, in Buena Vista, Colo., and was employed as a licensed practical nurse. She had been employed at Desert Retreat, a local convalescent hospital. She was a member of the Royal Neighbors of America.

Survivors include her daughter, Nita Gunder of East Las Vegas; three sisters, Hattie Baillie, Mrs. Selma Parks, and Mrs. Francis Williams of Henderson; one brother, Herbert Hollyman of Laramie, Wyo., and two grandchildren.

The accident occurred at Boulder highway and Merlayne Drive in Pittman.

Rose Delima Celebrates National Hospital Week With Roaring Twenties Revue

By MARGARET GRAHAM

Friday, May 12, a new club had a brilliant opening and a bang-up closing all on the same night.

The scene was St. Peter's Hall, which was taken over by Rose de Lima Hospital and magically transformed into a speak-easy called "Rosie's Roost."

After being checked over by one of the "Detroit" boys, led by big boss Dr. Swackhammer, the audience was carried back many years to the days of the flapper, the Charleston and bathtub gin.

A musical revue, "Roaring Twenties", the likes of which has never been seen in Henderson, was well received by all and the chorus line defied description.

According to the mistress of ceremony, Sister Bridget, the average age of the girls was 23 — back in 1920. A cast of over 20, all hospital employees, performed brilliantly and the revenue bounced from beginning to the grand finale.

The revue opened with the overture "There Will Be a Hot Time in Rosie's Roost Tonight" featuring the entire cast. During this production head flapper, Margaret Lohn, introduced the waiters especially brought in from the coast to serve.

Under the derbys were Dr. Kemp, Dr. Walker, Dr. Tabar, Dr. Ferguson and Dr. Holmes, who are now seeking employment elsewhere due to the unfortunate demise of the club.

Following the overture there were such acts as "Fractured Flickers," John and Mary O'Neill; "My Blue Heaven," Bill Sanderson and Bill Graham; "Me and My Shadow," Mr. and Mrs. Wilson; and an unforgettable performance by Arlyne Miller — "the last of the Red Hot Mamas."

The Lumpy Rockettes, featured in Tap Your Toes and Ma-He's Making Eyes At Me, drew a huge round of applause, if not for their dancing ability then for their vim and vigor.

The finale was well under way when everything folded. Out of the wings appeared Judge Del (Elliot Ness) Potter, deputy Dale Starr and two policemen with the cry—"The Joint's Raided."

With pistols blasting they rounded up screaming chorines and performers thus bringing to an end a never to be forgotten night.

Rosie's Roost was produced on the premise that people who work in hospitals care about others and in working together on an event such as this, they get to know one another better thus insuring good relationships with fellow employees. This in turn is reflected in their treatment and care of the patients and the smooth operation of the hospital.

Hospital Week was really celebrated in a unique manner in Henderson this year.

War Mothers Thankful For Carnation Sale Success

Georgia Weese, president of the Henderson Chapter of the American War Mothers, extended her appreciation to the people of this city for their generous donations in the recent carnation sale.

This is an annual project for the American War Mothers all over the U.S. to sell the red and white carnations on the weekend before Mother's Day.

"I believe the work our organization does is becoming known," Mrs. Weese said, "from the way people in Henderson accepted us." She said all of the carnations were gone in such a short period of time, and the money donated goes to the needy veterans and their families of this community.

Each year the women go to Whipple, Ariz. to spend a day with the veterans in the hospital there. This year they have been requested to bring certain items and are asking if anyone here has anything they wish to contribute, to contact them.

Needed items include craft kits of any kind, either new or partly used; partly used skeins or balls of yarn, crochet cotton, and embroidery threads and such items, old jewelry, cigar and other boxes; glass jars, pocket books, puzzles, magazines, and games.

If anyone has some of these items they may contact Mrs. Weese at 565-8557 or Ann Parker at 564-9294.

Ex-Woman Marine Detests Bearded Viet Protesters

Ellen Compton, an ex-marine who served her country as an auto mechanic during the last war for three years, said she is "sick" of picking up the newspaper and seeing dirty-faced bearded protesters of the Vietnam war.
Mrs. Compton, whose family agrees with her, said these people should be thankful for the country they live in and be willing to sacrifice for it. Her son Curtis, is an airman second class, and is serving at the present time at Castle Airforce Base in Merced, although he is transferred around to give special training for which he is qualified.
She quoted her uncle, who adopted the U.S. for his country after being imprisoned in a Japanese prison camp for five years in the last war, to show his feeling for this country.
Now in his 60's, George M. Boulton said, "Two of our boys, both sergeants, are crazy about the trays, and as they are booked for Vietnam, I give little gifts to our guys who are going to the far east to keep the U.S. Base sound and secure. LBJ I don't care so much about, but a difficult job, and I am 102 percent American and am with the U.S. government. I'd go to Vietnam tomorrow if it would help our country."
Boulton, who was formerly a British subject living in Hong Kong, met Mrs. Compton's aunt while they were both traveling, and after a romance they were married and settled in Hong Kong where Boulton worked for a Chinese navigation company.
When he and his wife were captured by the Japanese they remained in a prison camp for five years. They tell of having only morning glory vines and brown rice to eat, and seeing human skin used to make purses. The old school where they were kept was on a high plateau, and the Japanese told them every morning that they would eventually be marched off the cliff.

Mrs. Boulton was taken to the Philippine Islands and later to the U.S. She stayed in Henderson with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Baggett and her sister, the late Sally Patton, just going out in the desert and picking up rocks to pass time waiting for her husband. She had contracted cancerous sores in the prison camp and died in 1964.
He was taken to Japan, to Canada, and later got to the U.S. and obtained his citizenship. He is now working in Tacoma, Wash., and every patriotic day he flies the U.S. flag.
"With all these hardships he has never lost the love of his adopted country," Mrs. Compton said, "and he'd be willing to go back and fight for it if necessary."

Magnesium Recovery doubled the score of American Potash with 84 although both teams scored 11 hits. Winning pitcher was Barton, and losing pitcher was Suter.
Process downed Stauffer with a 12-2 score. Winning pitcher was Haag and losing pitcher was Casy. There was one out when the winning run scored.
In seven innings of play, the city adult softball team downed the Technical team by a score of 21-11, last Monday.
The city, behind Pitcher Perkins, rolled up 25 hits and three errors, compared to Teck's 12 hits and five errors. Poulsen was losing pitcher.
Recently on the same day two almost incredible things happened: (1) Americans bombed airfields in No. Vietnam; (2) Russia announced a cosmonaut lost his life in attempting to make a safe return to earth.

When Summer's heat comes on, the coat simply comes off—and you're still as fresh as a daisy! And the COIN hangtag is your assurance that this outfit will keep its unwilted good looks season after season. Only the strict quality control standards set by Coin International have been commended by the National Institute of Drycleaning, because every COIN bonded fabric meets the rigid requirements for drycleaning of Standards L22, U.S.A. Standards Institute.

BUSINESS Keys to Success

How To Stop Office Drips

Somewhere between the top of a business organization and the bottom, there's a huge hole in the dyke. What's steadily drip-drip-driping out is information—important information that top management wants its people to know about, but doesn't get to them.

Modern managers are learning their lesson, and there's a raft of rewards for the person who learns to carry more information without spilling it.

A recent survey showed that of the information flow from top management:

- * Men at the vice-presidential level understand about two-thirds of what they hear from the top.
- * Men at the general supervisor level get 56 per cent of it.
- * Men at the plant manager level get 40 per cent.
- * Men at the foreman level get 30 per cent.

Men on the production line get 20 per cent.

Like the meek cowhand who explained his saloon thrashing at the hands of Black Bart with "He said shut up and I thought he said stand up," many secretaries get into trouble because they don't "listen good."

Here is a four-point formula developed by a firm that specializes in better communications through copying, Bruning Division of Addressograph-Multigraph Corporation:

1. Always repeat instructions back to the person who gave them. "I always look for the girl who rephrases the gist of what she's told to see if she has it straight," said one Detroit auto executive.
2. When you disagree with an order but must accept it, take extra care to get it right. Many people, when asked to do disagreeable things, don't listen well.

3. If an assignment sounds exciting, watch out for errors of exaggeration in your understanding of it. The prime example of all time: Orson Welles' radio broadcast in 1938 of H. G. Wells' "The War of the Worlds," describing a Martian invasion of earth. It panicked thousands who hadn't been good listeners.

4. Concentrate on the unfamiliar items in any message. Be a "good reporter," not afraid to ask "dumb" questions regarding your instructions.

What Do You Know About Tooth Care?

from the Crest Council on Dental Care

What, for example, do you know about toothbrushing? Recent studies show that despite frequent educational campaigns urging everyone to brush after every meal, forty per cent of the American public brush only once a day or less.

Yet, toothbrushing is the most effective way of protecting your teeth from cavities. Brushing removes food particles from between the teeth and from the crevices of the chewing surfaces and thereby helps prevent decay-causing acids from forming.

Also, use a fluoride toothpaste, like Crest which is the only toothpaste to have been granted the American Dental Association's Seal of Acceptance as an effective anti-cavity dentifrice.

Use a good toothbrush, preferably one with a flat brushing surface, firm bristles and a head sufficiently small to permit access to all surfaces of the teeth. It is also desirable to have two brushes to use alternately. And, of course, after using each, hang it up to dry.

And, do remember to brush after every meal. For proper tooth care is the key to a pretty smile.
