

IF you find yourself on the wrong side of the new police booking area, you'll find that the steel doors close behind you and can only be opened from the outside. Inside the block walls, which are encased with steel netting, the officer is protected in a booking office. Shown here is Officer J. H. Brown, who takes valuables from the ar-

YOU enter the new police booking area from the back of the police station, and if you go straight to jail, you never see the front office of the department. Let's say you were arrested from drunk driving or gross intoxication, the second step the arresting officer takes is to have you breathe into gas chromatagraph analyzer. This too, you do through the netting so if you ecome violent, you do it all yourself. The analyzer tells to what degree you are inebriated.

THIRD step in your arrest would be fingerprinting and mug shots. This is also down in the new booking area. Here Officer Brown shows Lt. Bobby Taylor how it feels to be on the "other side." Before the prosepctive prisoner leaves this area, he receives a towel and some of Henderson's guest clothing which is sort of uniform throughout the jail .Just around the corner from this point-is the jail, and there you are.

ON TV, TOO-If you've always had a yen to be on television just cause a ruckus and come in that iron door at the back of the police station, and you'll make it. Under the National Highway Safety act, the Henderson police department has installed the latest in police equipment which allows them to monitor actions of prisoners as they are being booked. The action can be re-taped for permanency and can be used as evidence in court. The police dispatcher can also watch proceedings from her office. Officer Brown is shown adjusting tape and picture for use. The equipment was only installed Tuesday. Police also have a portable unit to take into the field. The equipment cost $3200, but the city paid only $320.

Skeleton Found

A skeleton, believed to be that of a woman, is being studied for identification after it was found Monday by Sheriff's deputies.

The remains were found about six miles south of Black Mountain, and both Henderson police officers and men from the Sheriff's department were at the scene.

Identification of such skeletons can be a laborious and time consuming process since detectives and pathologists have little to go on.

Football Seats For Home Games Changed at HS

This year Basic high has reorganized the seating arrangement for all home football games.

The primary purpose for this change is to have a more efficient system of crowd control.

This year the students and band will sit in the west bleachers, which in the past were reserved for the visitors. Parents and Basic high boosters are also invited to sit on this side if they wish. Visitors will be seated in the east bleachers, next to the gymnasium.

Walkers Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary Saturday

An open house, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Clave Walker, of 307 Kansas street, on their 50th wedding anniversary, will be held Sat. beginning at 7 p.m. in the garden of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Marlan Waiker, 442 Republic street.

An invitation to all friends of the couple to visit them during the open house has been extended by their children which includes Mrs. Leon Sullivan and Eldon Walker of Roseville, Calif., and Marlan.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker, who might be called pioneers in Nevada, have lived in Caliente and Henderson total of 35

To show that long courtships don't always make the most successful marriages, the Walkers met only ten times before they were married in the St. George, Utah LDS temple on Sept. 10, 1920.

Mrs. Walker was born in Southern Utah, and at an early age, moved with her parents to Hurricane, Utah, which at that time was just a settlement.

Although Walker was born in Eden Valley, Utah, (northern Utah,) he had a sister living in Short Creek, Ariz. When he was separated from the army after World War I he went to visit her, and as she was in Hurricane to have a baby on July 24, which is Utah's pioneer day, he met the future Mrs. Walker at the INSTALLS celebration there.

YOU AND

THE ELDERLY

Not long ago, mention of grandpa or great aunt Min conjured up visions of bent figures' searching the ground afoot for each step. Often the familiar, stooped posture was less the result of time than failing eyesight, or cataracts, which required heavy specs that distorted the things around them.

Today, due to tiny plastic contact lenses, scores of a new generation of venerated relatives are happier, younger-looking folks. And, they are scanning horizons not the ground.

According to Barnes-Hind Pharmaceuticals, Inc., makers of ophthalmse fluids, aphakia another name for cataracts, is an affliction of non-youth, and it usually starts around the age of 50 and up. The crystalline lens (focusing mechanism of the eye) becomes cloudy and opaque. In many cases the clouding-up increases until vision is ril and surgery is required. When the cataracts are removed, a substitute vision aid must be found to replace the "lost" crystalline lens in order that useful vision may become possible.

Until 20 years ago the usual possible.

Until 20 years ago the usual remedy for the post-operative cataract patient was cumbersome bottle-bottom thick eyeglasses. These would restore only limited vision and, almost no peripheral (side) vision, both so vital to confident bodily movement.

Now plastic contact lenses, no larger than an aspirin and paper-thin, are fitted to the healed syrface of the eye. And, because they most closely resemble the natural contour, aphakia patients can have undistorted, clearer vision, sometimes achieving up to normal 20/20 acuity.

times achieving up to normal 20/20 acuity.

In addition to better vision, contact lenses give a strong morale boost to these patients. Since the tiny lenses go undetected and offer freedom of movement, they provide a psychological lift.

While millions of Americans now wear contact lenses, it's the legions of elders who have made dramatic use of them. With a bat of the eye, they can keep up with younger kin, as nature might have intended.

Your First Home

The words "your first home" conjure up all sorts of romantic, rose-covered possibilities, but all too often, what you're faced with is bare rooms, four walls and a teeny budget. Whether it's a small apartment or a large house, filling these rooms can present one of your greatest dec; house, filling these rooms can present one of your greatest dectorating challenges.

I love decorating first homes because there's no limit on the imagination. In doing one such home for my niece, in fact, I discovered all sorts of ideas I'd never been aware of.

For the bedroom, I haunted thrift shops and the Salvation Army and picked up a plump red velvet Victorian settee and an old trunk. I painted the trunk silver and used it as a night table. Above the settee, in one corner of the bedroom, I hung a framed piece of fabric in a modern silver frame.

Then, I covered the bed with Bates' Maxi-Mum bedspread, a handsome chrysanthemum print that goes a long way toward adding inexpensive excitement to a room. I chose it in the red, white and blue version, then a room. I chose it in the red, white and blue version, then teamed the spread with matching Piping Rock cafe curtains in the same shade of blue. (When you're plucking solid shades from prints, the trick in conforming colors is to work with the Match Makers collection—a marvelous problem-solver, since none of us, I find, can keep colors clear in our minds.)

our minds.)

Underneath it all went a shaggy, off-white rug-a touch of plush for an otherwise simple setting. The finished room turned out to be a burst of gloriously patriotic color accented in silver. And what was more important, I left two happy residents prepared to settle down and enjoy their first home . . . beautifully.

A specialist says an ambitious person is far more likely to have a heart attack than an unambitious person. That figures. Ambition causes a person to work hard, an unnatural and often harmful thing to do.

THANK YOU

I would like to heartily thank my supporters for placing me on November's Ballot for STATE MINING INSPECTOR.

Mining has made the foremost contribution towards Nevada's great past. It is my belief that the mining industry will be an outstanding part of Nevada's great future.

I WILL WORK TOWARDS THAT GOAL.

Sincerely,

Harry Eugene Springer
