Rumor 100 Employee Pen Factory to Open in Plant Area

Morry's Story . . .

BY MORRY ZENOFF

I cannot believe it, but it's for sure.

That Las Vegas hospitals, North Vegas hospitals are trying to compete with our Rose de Lima in having enough facilities to get the United States selection for a vet hospital.

We must beat their challenge to our economy today — with a direct communication to Senators Bible, Cannon or Congressman Baring!

Tell them in your words what it means to you, to Henderson, to have the vet's outpatient clinic in Henderson, under Rose de Lima's shadow — where all facilities are there, where Henderson will prosper with Federal help, where an accredited hospital serves your sons and ours — but you must take part in this most important campaign to build Henderson today — for our great tomorrow.

Everybody — it seems — went to the Mardi Gras!

What a glorious affair — and it was so alive with Henderson people — plus all the big-wigs of the county from top officials to top society, business and professional people.

Rose de Lima will profit well from it, as has been the case down thru the years, but many of the old-timers feel there'll have to be changes made come next year or the beautiful affair may strike a rock.

It seems the sellout crowd of previous years — was far from it this time. Some believe it has become too costly with the new idea of charging at the door as well as charging them for the food and drinks besides.

Whatever — it will live on because it is so much an evening for everyone to enjoy — as we sure did.

Floyd Osborn has been honored by local democrats by being elected president of the Southern Nevada Democratic Club of Henderson.

There will be a gala installation for this once-great paratrooper of World War II. Would you believe he fought in six major battles in the European theater — and it included four invasion jumps.

For this alone — you've got to reverence Floyd — and then now that he's willing to march the Demos together with a Republican president — he deserves more plaudits.

Best pat on the back I can add — is that he had a grand Mrs. — in Pearl.

Another young old - timer here — George Tidings — rates plaudits today.

You remember when Safeway opened its doors here years ago. Well, George was the manager — having been moved in from a big California store.

Then he was moved into Vegas to help the big chain get stores on the road. He always loved Henderson, though and managed to get back into the local store — where he wanted to work out his final year before retirement.

Next month — the big day comes in his life — retirement day.

No one deserves a better next 20 years as a senior citizen — than George.

The two signal lights to be placed at Major and Basic intersection with Boulder Highway will cost $100,000, of which the city will pay half. They will be installed at the same time the highway is widened to six lanes.

Victory Village . . . is being shorn of its rapidly emptying apartments — and the buildings are being scuttled by Bill Scott's heavy equipment, then being hauled to the dump where the city collects twelve bucks a load — the Village has a couple dozen of its better apartments for rent for those looking for temporary quarters — until Dec. 31.

The new apartments known as Al Landsman are completely filled to the very last 100th unit — and the residents are so very happy.

The city refuses to get another 80 that HUD will okay because HUD won't accept the locations the city offers and vice versa. Meanwhile — the city's valuation loses a total of a million six hundred thousand by this uppish attitude and the city soon will be refused federal funds on other projects because it refuses to make room for some poorer families...don't believe me, if you don't want to — but check with HUD. 80 families will add eight thousand a week into the local economy, and probably from the children among them we lose a star quarterback, a future opera star, a president of the United States.

A letter on the wall at the city employees' coffee room is from Viv Phillips who is living in Hawaii where Bill is entering business. She says they like it, that they live in a high rise apartment where Diamond Head is always within view — and that she will soon be playing golf at a country club there.

Due to become officers of the Henderson Boys Club where Vic Vincent is doing so well as director are: Bill Smith, president; Phil DeLillo, first V.P.; Phil Hubel, 2nd v.p.; Kirby Trumbo, treasurer and Nykki Kinsley, secretary.

They will be installed soon by Judge Del Potter.

Speaking of judges — Jim Jensen has sold his gas station and is devoting full time to the local bench. His night courts are popular in getting more cases heard — by two to one — than before.

Here's an item you won't read in Lorna Kesterson's column — because of her modesty.

She won't brag — but her oldest son Ross, former star baseball player at Basic — has been given a baseball scholarship at Snow College, Ephraim, Utah — which has a baseball team of high ranking nationally. Ross loves baseball and will be used as a first team man this spring. The team will play more than 30 games.

I wouldn't be surprised to see the lad go out for football and basketball next year —

Property Tax Hearing in LV

If you are one of the people who has had your property taxes sent into orbit, and you take a dim view of it, you can go in to the Clark County School District's administration building at 2832 Flamingo Road, today and tomorrow, and gripe about it, starting at 9 am.

These sessions are scheduled for local residents as a convenience, as otherwise people would have to trek all the way to Carson City to voice their complaints!

Mother Of Patricia Coffman Dies

Juanita L. Boyce, mother of Patricia Coffman of Henderson, died Feb. 12 at Valley Hospital in Las Vegas.

Mrs. Boyce, a Las Vegas resident, was employed as a bookkeeper and accountant for the Hughes Tool Company. She was born Feb. 11, 1919, in Spokane, Washington.

Her survivors include her husband Martin C. Boyce of Las Vegas, daughter Patricia Coffman of Henderson; a son Kenneth M. of Las Vegas, five grandchildren, and a brother Lester Brown of Anchorage, Alaska.

Services will be Feb. 15, at 11 a.m. at Bunker Brothers Chapel 11th Rev. Douglas Harrell officiating. Interment will be Memorial Gardens.

Black Mtn. CC Champagne Tournament

The Ladies Association of Black Mountain Country Club is planning its annual Christian Brothers Champagne Tournament to be held this year on February 23rd.

The tournament is open to all lady golfers in the area with established handicaps. Chairman Betsy Holmes and assistant Faye Scott and their committee are coming up with a variety of novel features this year to add to the fun.

Golf will be followed by a special luncheon after which the winners will be presented with prizes. There will also be a number of other prizes in several fun events to include higher handicappers.

ELKS SEMINAR TONIGHT ON LOCAL DRUG ABUSE

The BPOE Exalted Grand Ruler Gene Fournance announces that the Elks Lodge 1956 here will conduct a drug abuse program tonight, starting at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The Police Department will show a film on the Circle Park problem, and a display of actual drugs along with a discussion of problems of local interest. Lt. Goff will be the speaker from the Police now that he's six foot three and weighs close to 190.

He's at home this month waiting for the semester break. He had been at BYU. He is working at a Vegas car wash. Mean old Lorna being so tough on such a nice kid.

This newspaper heard from a reliable source yesterday that a ballpoint pen manufacturing company will sub-lease an estimated 100,000 square feet of space from Titanium Metals Corporation, and start a manufacturing operation that will employ an estimated 100-plus people here.

The ballpoint pen company intends to close two other manufacturing plants in the Midwest, and move here.

Reason for locating in the industrial complex, rather than in the industrial park now being developed by the City in Section 32, in the northeast part of the town, is that the building already exists which the company would require.

This factory is apparently the one that City Manager Don Dawson mentioned in his 1972 forecast, when he said that he expected a midwestern firm to close its plants there, and move to Henderson.

It is reported that the name of the company coming in is Fisher, a name in the manufacturing of ballpoint pens. Titanium plant manager Carl Blake had no comment at this time.

Pac. Eng. Union Reach Safety Accord

A meeting was held Saturday, February 12, 1972, at the Nevada Industrial Commission office in Las Vegas, Nevada, to resolve a misunderstanding concerning safety at Pacific Engineering and Production Company of Nevada.

Attending the meeting, Chairman by Nevada Industrial Commissioner Claude Evans was Mr. Frank Walters, President and Mr. Wes Lacy, Safety Committeeman of United Steelworkers of America, Local 4856, Mr. Thomas War, Vice President of Pacific Engineering, Mr. Joe Parrulli, Safety Supervisor and Norman Bernier of the Nevada Industrial Commission Safety Department.

An agreement was reached by all parties attending that in the future, all Nevada Industrial Commission safety inspectors, while inspecting Pacific Engineering, will be accompanied by a union designated representative. It was also agreed that a safety inspection will be made of Pacific Engineering in the immediate future and at regular intervals.

HENDERSON CAB TO LEARN FATE TODAY

This afternoon at 1:30 p.m. the Henderson Cab Company will learn if it is to get the right to operate cabs on the Strip and at the airport. The hearing is being held at the First National Bank Building.

Jeffrey Takes Franklin to Task ---

Councilman Jack Jeffrey last Thursday was critical of the way Councilman Jerry Franklin handled his report on the land contract the city recently closed with Hank Greenspun.

In the committee meeting of the City Council held that night, Jeffrey said he was disturbed about the way that Franklin 'dropped this hot potato in our laps' without prior warning.

Franklin had previously alleged that the down payment on Greenspun's 4720 acres of land should have been $665,172.50, instead of the $264,378 that Greenspun was asked to and did pay.

Franklin opened by repeating his position, that a resolution was a binding document until changed. He said that the City Charter states that the council must adopt a resolution to sell land. The land sales contracts that did not require a 25 per cent down payment were the 200 one-acre parcels now selling in Mission Hills, and the Greenspun contract, Franklin said.

Councilman Lorin Williams said that the council had varied from the rules several times, and he agreed with the opinion of City Attorney Jay Brown, that resolutions are not legally binding.

Jeffrey also questioned whether the rule about the down payment being the acquisition price plus 25 per cent of the total sales price had been followed in many cases.

Franklin said that in most cases the down payment had been well over 25 per cent. He read off some examples of this.

Mayor Estes McDoniel agreed that the rule concerning down payments had been broken before, and that it seemed to depend on how much land that the applicants wanted to buy. He felt that imposing a big down payment on a large land sale, such as the Greenspun land contract, would tie up money that might otherwise be used for development.

Jeffrey commented: "In most cases we have been much tougher," (in the contract terms) "than the resolution required. I am more interested in what goes on the land than in the terms."

"I feel that this policy benefits the City more in the end," Jeffrey continued. "We need more exact guidelines for the future."

It was noted at this point in the discussion that Resolution 203, which is what all the fuss is about, is about eight or nine years old.

Franklin observed that the down payment price did not cover the acquisition price in the Greenspun agreement.

Jeffrey said that he was disturbed about the way in which Franklin had handled the matter. "You never discussed it with anyone," Jeffrey pointed out, "you knew that the administration was not prepared to answer your question, and I feel that the implication of this goes deeper than your questioning of the resolution."

The Mayor interjected that there was no question that the Greenspun land contract was good, and that all of the Councilmen had voted in good faith.

Franklin contented himself by observing that resolution 203 should be amended, so that it could be followed in the future.

point of view, saying that if the resolution was wrong, the council should make a resolution to rescind it, if they were not paying attention to it.

City attorney Jay Brown gave his legal opinion that resolutions were guidelines only and that the council was bound by Ordinances only. He also suggested that resolution 203 should be rescinded if the council so desired, and that it did not affect the Greenspun contract.

(The City Attorney's opinion was published in last Thursday's paper - Editors note.)

Dawson then came into the discussion by noting that the council had voted to borrow $306,000 to buy the land from the federal government that Greenspun finally bought. The Council therefore knew how much money was being spent to buy the land.

"I do not know the motivation in this case" Dawson said with asperity, "and I do not care to know."

Jeffrey joined the attack, saying "You knew about this, but you (Franklin) did not tell anyone, you just dropped this hot potato in our laps."

Before Franklin could issue any rejoinder to this, the Mayor cut off further discussion on the subject saying: "I think that we should continue this discussion in a personnel meeting, but not in a public meeting." So the discussion ended here, and will presumably be continued in a closed session, from which the press is excluded.

Franklin commented afterwards: "There's nothing wrong with being right, than being right too soon."

Council OKs Tentative City Budget for 1972-1973

City Manager Don Dawson last Thursday night showed he could do something that eludes President Nixon — present a balanced budget.

The proposed 1972-73 budget for the city is $10,154,441, which is about $1.5 million higher than last year's. As is usual, the requests by the various department heads had to be trimmed to meet the income.

The biggest reduction was in Public Works, which was cut from $637,468 to $370,701. Apparently most of these savings will be made in reductions on street paving, which will be done at a slower pace, and in various beautification projects.

However, the City intends to start work on two new parks this year, the American Legion park in Valley View and one on Horizon Drive.

Despite the cuts, the tentative budget still displayed a deficit of $227,696, due to the expenditure on the water supply, $673,196, exceeding the revenue of $445,500.

Dawson said that the deficit could be eliminated in either of two ways — raising the water rate, or by cutting expenditure.

The first of these is the proposed $2 per month hike in the basic water bill, which has been tabled in committee, and which will take a unanimous vote of the council to bring it back on the agenda.

The second of these is by not buying things that are needed such as new water meters, and a backhoe for digging trenches. Dawson said that this method of reducing expenditure would end up costing the city far more money than it saved.

Otherwise, Dawson drew praise for his clear and comprehensive budget presentation from the councilmen. He explained every item on the budget and the council unanimously voted to approve the tentative budget. It will now be discussed at a hearing on the 28th of March.

Council Recommends Re-Zoning, Gaming Devices, for 'Do Pass'

At the committee meeting of the City Council Thursday night, the council recommended that the south half of Section 32, which is in the northeast part of the City, north of Lake Mead Drive, be zoned for light industry, to make the industrial park recommended by City Manager Don Dawson

This item will be on the next council agenda with a 'do pass' recommendation. The councilmen also voted to put a 'do pass' recommendation on the alteration of number of slot machines in gaming establishments, so that operators who have already been approved by the State need not go before the council for every alteration in their number of gaming devices.

Approval of such changes has been routine, and this move is just to cut down on the load at the Council meetings.

Bob Whitney To Study Traffic Problems Water Adequate Till 1990, Butler Says

At a meeting of the Henderson Traffic Commission yesterday, three new lay members — Basil Hillis, Sara Rosch and Marvin Rose, were elected to the commission. Public Works Director Bob Whitney was assigned to study means of improving the traffic flow on Pacific Ave., traffic channelizations at the junctions of Major and Center with Boulder Highway, and downtown parking problems related to camper and van parking.

He will also study all day parkings in commercial areas, and traffic flow at the Water - Lake Mead junction.

Mass at 9 o'clock.

All the faithful are encouraged, though not obliged, to abstain from flesh meat on all the Fridays of Lent, if they find this to be a salutary penance for them.

Until the population of the Vegas Valley reaches 700,000 there will be no water shortage, and this population figure is not expected to be reached by 1990, if then.

That was what Dr. Thorne Butler, of the Las Vegas Valley Water District, told a meeting of the Henderson Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

With the increasingly strict water quality controls now being imposed, Butler said that the cheapest solution at this time is to export the waste water, so that it does not contaminate Vegas Wash.

Butler said that the most probable location to which the contaminated water would be piped is the dry lake at Apex, north of Vegas. The water would be allowed to evaporate, and could not find its way back into the Colorado River, he said.

Wolves Meet Las Vegas Cats On Home Court

BY BLAINE ECKMAN
After a loss to Rancho, Friday 81-30, Basic returns to the friendly confines of its home court to face the Wildcats of Las Vegas High.

The Vegas suffered a humiliating defeat to Valley and will be most determined to take their spite out on the Wolves.

The Wolves shot very poorly from the field against Rancho as one can readily notice from Basic's six field goals of the evening. Had they not needed rather well from the foul line, the game would have been worse.

Gary Williams collected high point honors for Basic with 9 points. Rancho's Holder, Walker and Banks combined for a total of 43 points to keep the Wolves far behind.

Coach Stanfill is hoping for a much better performance against Las Vegas. Only by keeping control of the ball and hitting good percentage shots will the Wolves be able to make a good comeback.

The J.V.'s fared better, as they lost a close 53-48 game to Rancho. Mike Bennett again led the Basic fortunes with 16 points. Both Mike Moss and Fred Turner collected 10 apiece.

Rancho's only player in double figures was Anderson with 13.

Both teams collected 20 field goals, but Rancho was much better at the foul line. Basic lost the game due to their poor foul shooting.

Daisy Downer Describes Last Month's Fire at Hobby House

Daisy Downer told this paper about the fire that they had at the Hobby House last month. As the Hobby House is now open, with a bigger stock than ever, we were curious about how the fire started, and what were the reactions of the people.

"I had just got out of the hospital, and we were just sitting in the store," Daisy said, "and we suddenly saw black smoke coming out of the louvres of a door." (The door has since been replaced with a different type). "Then flames came through the same louvres."

"My son grabbed the fire extinguisher, and opened the door, and a great gush of black smoke came out. Despite this he put the fire out, but we were then forced to evacuate the store due to the toxic smoke from burning plastic."

The amount of heat generated was surprisingly large, and Daisy commented on what the heat did. "Just before the fire started, I had a deposit of $369.10 that I was just about to take to the bank, and we had to get out so fast that it was left there. The only thing that survived was the dime! All our stock was destroyed by smoke, heat and the water from the hoses."

"We had $20,000 worth of stock, and insurance only covered half of this. Fortunately the Sprouse - Reitz store was closing, and we got their fixtures real cheap. Marge Ivary of the Chamber of Commerce donated a display counter from the museum, and then we heard that Bob's Rocket & Hobby Shop in Vegas was going out of business, because he was retiring, and we bought all their stock."

BUSINESS FEE HIKE SCUTTLED BY COUNCIL

A proposed hike in various business license fees, which would have brought in an estimated $10,000 a year to the city, came under heavy fire at last Thursday's committee meeting of the Council, and was scuttled.

As soon as the subject was brought up, the barrage began. Councilman Cruz Olague said that if the increase was voted, it would hurt business. In defense, City auditor Al Hyman said that everything had gone up. Olague felt that the people and the economy of the town was in bad shape for an increase.

Jim Henderson, of Budget Finance, commented that the proposed increase was most inopportune now, because his concern had had its biggest loss ever this year.

Dr. Harold Miller said that it was the skilled tradesmen that were making all the money now not the owners of businesses. The owners no longer had control of expenses due to continual demands of the skilled trades, and that their income was going down. He thought that a City poll tax, so much per person, might be the solution.

(The State of Nevada used to impose a yearly poll tax of $3 per person who worked, but this was repealed several years ago - Editors note).

Harry Polk alleged that it was impossible to buy goods in Vegas and have them delivered here, because of taxes on trucks. He said that he would rather see another one per cent on the utilities to balance the City Budget.

City Manager Don Dawson said that the proposed increase was just remedying inequities in the city's fees, as compared to those elsewhere.

Upon being asked by the Mayor, City Clerk Genevieve Harper said that this proposed increase must be acted upon within 30 days, or it would automatically lapse.

Olague then returned to the attack upon the increase, saying that this was a depressed area, and that the proposed increases would be passed on to consumers. "The timing on this increase is wrong, and I move we disapprove it now," Olague concluded.

Councilman Jack Jeffrey agreed, saying that the timing of the increase was wrong, that a small increase should be initiated at some future date. Olague added that businesses in this town should not be pressured now.

Councilman Lorin Williams said that the proposed raise in business fees should be disapproved now, and it could be brought back later, when the economic climate had improved.

Dawson said that if the proposed hike in fees was tabled,

Paul Medina Arrested On DUI Charge

Paul Leroy Medina, 21, was arrested at 12:30 am on Wednesday, Feb. 9, on a charge of DUI, and on two counts of leaving the scene of an accident.

According to police, at 11 pm on Tuesday they were summoned to Unit 42 of Victory Village on the report of an accident and injury. They found a power pole lying on its side, and were told that the suspect car had fled.

Police then went in search of the car, and found it right away near unit 55, where the car had struck a fence and run into a ditch.

Medina was taken to the police station and charged and Cal Pac replaced the pole.

NOTICE

There will be a service of Holy Communion plus the imposition of Ashes this Ash Wednesday evening at St. Timothy's Episcopal Church at 7:30 p.m.

A unanimous vote of the council would be needed to bring it out of committee.

The Mayor noted that the fees had not been raised in ten years, whereas other prices had gone up, and that sooner or later it must be acted upon. However, now was not the time. And so the fee increase joined the water rate hike, tabled in committee indefinitely.

MIKE HERNANDEZ IS STAR SCOUT

At Boy Scout Troop 45's third annual pot luck and Court of Honor, Mike Hernandez received his Star Scout Rank. The Presentation was made to this senior patrol leader by his scoutmaster Paul Ostrom on Feb. 7.

Mike also received merit badges in personal fitness, reading, personal finance and swimming. An interpreter's stripe was also presented to him.

Tony DiCiccio received a merit badge for woodworking.

Kyle Stewart was recognized as a First Class Scout.

The Wolfeline Patrol won the feather for the Kondike Derby. Patrol leader James Corn received these.

Troop 45 tried out their sleds made for this event at their annual Lee's Canyon winter outing Jan. 29. The only casualty of the trip was that of one of the adult escorts — the dog belonging to Mrs. Munzinger was struck by a car and died.

Craig Burgwardt, on behalf of his High Flying Hawks patrol, received the ribbon for their patrol spirit in this Kondike Derby.
