PEOPLE HERE USING TEN PERCENT LESS POWER & GAS

Morry Story

By Morry Zeneff

Snow use complaining--it's here--snow--like we have seen once before--in '492-when we who lived in Boulder City couldn't get to Vegas for 30 days--we were snowed in bound at the pass--Railroad Pass..and the single laned road then--was deep in ruts--difficult to chance.

And do you know what?. We

Snow Surprises Henderson!

Quiet New Years Spent In Henderson

Except for one major onecar accident on Boulder Highway, the city was quiet over cooperation," Langford said the New Year holiday, according to police.

There were five accidents on Jan. 1, mostly minor, but a Phoenix man was seriously injured in a one-car-roll-over near Horizon Drive about 1

Power and gas usage at California - Pacific Utilities Co. is down about ten percent as compared to last year, according to Ron Langford. manager of Cal-Pac here.

Langford said his company has been contacting heavy users of power and are questioning them as to how much they can reduce their usage

"We've received a lot of "If they are getting as much cooperation nationwide, it should help," he said. Langford said he felt the Daylight savings time would also help. One local resident con-all lived thru it. We made it. There were many sufferings, yet many wonderful moments as we all just grinned and bore it.

Which is what happened now--as an ideal Christmas weather hit us on New Year's Day.

Whatever havoc it wreaked with you--see if your story can top mine.

Needing to go away and get the blood pressure down considerably and the weight as well, we made plans to leave for Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, Eva's hometown, and this year for economical reasons decided to drive instead of fly.

We traded in two old cars to buy one new one--the new one being a "Thing" -- which we know all about from its general acceptance in Mexico as being The car of that country--able to take a beating, able to ride high off the ground to avoid the bottom being scraped by the rocks, cobblestone streets, yet able to drive with top down, doors off--yet able to do 25 miles on a gallon.

So--the takeoff day was set--for the 1800 mile trek straight south to the semi-tropics--with me driving every inch of the way since Eva doesn't drive period.

We'd make it January second as the starting date, we said--which would enable us to help get the first 1974 Thursday paper to press--which would give us time to pack--shove off in the afternoon and maybe make the border by nightfall.

Well--as this is being written--like yesterday press me--we've got no good info from the Arizona highway commission--and we hear that Northern Mexico is having a cold spell with storm warnings out to all tourists.

And the airplanes? They are flying--have seats available and would get us to Puerto Vallarta in less than four hours! Non-stop from Phoenix, says Hughes Air West--flying now every day of the week.

Four and a half to five days--we figure will do it--if I can take the "Thing" and it can take me that long. The car when loaded makes us look like the Beverly Hillbillies--with broom handles, kettles and sheets and blankets sticking out the side-curtains like dirty underwear.

However, it becomes the opening article for this year's travel-along which we did last winter for those who cared to read what we write. We always write as if it were you doing the same, having to do the same--and that way we feel you put yourself in our place and either enjoy, suffer or laugh at the experiences.

Last year we called it The Travel-Along series. This year we'll call it the Trivia-Travelog--since I don't expect anything but the little things in life to fill our days--stuff that you would have to live through if you were writing to us--which, in this case, I wish you were.

But before leaving, we must tell you about two delightful experiences among others of the past week--one--spending an evening with the Belknaps of Boulder City--another watching Sam Boyd's great new show at the Union Plaza.

The Belknaps--so fine, so pure, so delightful--had as holiday guests their two children--Looie and Buzzie--who grew up in Boulder, and then each to the lanes in life that fate would bring. Buzz married a Boulder girl and they live in Hawaii where he publishes travel information books--concentrating until now on the Grand Canyon River Run and all the other runs famous to Colorado, Utah and Nevada.

Looie is married to John Evans and lives in a mountain home outside of Denver. John is an official there with Outward Board--an organization that takes young people into the wilderness areas of the West--teaching them how to live on what nature offers --.

John, at our urging, showed his copy of a film made by the British Broadcasting System of the efforts of a group of international mountain climbers to reach the summit of the world famous, most treacherous 27,000 foot Mt. Everest.

Looie's husband--John--was very much in the pictures--because he was one of the route leaders that take one way toward the summit--while another group went another.

The expedition cancelled out at about 25,000 feet when disagreement prompted some to quit the climb, and when a terrific blizzard--the worst in 80 years--almost wiped them all out--(one in the party was killed by a fall when his spiked bottom shoes didn't hold).

Evans would be willing to try again, he said, but I shifted him to some of his other mountain climbs--like one in the Antarctic.

And then I asked Buzzie about his life under the ice and Byrd camp in his adventure some 10 years ago at the South Pole.

Well--it's like talking to an astronaut, or being in the room with Johnnie Unitas as your close buddie telling you all the whys and hows of a great sport--all right here in your own backyard.

Hello Dolly--Henderson's Sam Boyd's newest presentation at the Union Plaza--is an absolute must. Familiar to you and to me, of course, are the tunes, the words--but seeing again the acting, hearing again the music and enjoying again the plot plan--so well paced

Also, the chemicals facility of its kind in all are kept at the proper level at all times to The water tempera- insure a healthy and safe ture is held at a pleasant water quality.

The locker room facilities include a shower room with water as hot as you like it. Also, in the basket room are special bags and clothes hangers to accomadate any type clothing you may be wearing.

Amoment taken to view from the balcony the beautiful blue water accentuated by the sky blue ceiling of the building is time well spent.

Ground Fault Interrupters Required On Outside Receptacles

Starting Jan. 1, homeowners are required by the electrical code to have all outdoor receptacles in residential occupancies and all circuits serving storable (non permanent) swimming pool equipment protected with ground fault interrupters, according to Pat Doherty, building superintendent.

Doherty said the city building department will start enforcing this national electrical code at the beginning of 1974.

Industry is showing very strong interest in ground fault interrupters (GFI), even more interest than swimming pool owners, who are required to install ground fault protection. I-T-E Imperial Corporation, a leading manufacturer of GFI, reports this trend, based on discussion with plant engineers. Industrial interest in GFI is so right now the electrical cal receptacles at con- equipment designed strong, I-T-E states, that equipment industry is struction sites have specifically for high swamped with requests ground fault protection. amperage equipment for GFI devices.

industrial engineers are using it is as an indicator of current leakage to ground. A well - insulated electrical circuit will have no more than 1/2 milliampere leakage. Deterioration of the insulation or accidental damage may increase this value gradually. At 5 milliamperes, a GFI will trip the circuit breaker protecting a circuit. If leakage current is rising gradually, the breaker will be opened by the GFI well before GFI in many types of the current leakage rises to a point where it will cause serious damage to equipment.

> Thus, engineers are using GFIs as indicators of potential equipment trouble and can frequently maintain or repair equipment and wiring before a costly arcing fault to ground occurs.

Higher Interrupting Rating

Along with this very fast widening of applications for GFI, I-T-E has recently modified its GFI design to raise the interrupting capacity of their devices from 5000 to 10,000 amperes interrupting capacity. With the broader use of GFI, and with higher fault currents becoming available to both residential and industrial circuits, the increase in interrupting capacity means one further step toward greater personnel protection.

Council Gives Tentative OK To Clean Air

The City Council gave its tentative approval to a county wide air pollution control agreement during a Committee meeting on Thursday.

The proposal, which is an inter-local cooperative agreement between Henderson, Boulder City, North Las Vegas, Las Vegas and Clark County, seeks to outline air quality standard for pollution. A complex source of delegated authority from pollution is a development which does not create pollution itself, but wheih attracts pollution causing elements. Examples would be shopping centers, air-

"complex sources" of air

The agreement is being sought so that all cities within the County will meet federal and state air quality standards. Under current regulations if the cities do not come up with and means of enforcement for complex sources, either the state or federal government will.

According to City Attorney Kent Dawson, "It is in the interests of all parties to retain as much local contraol as possible.'

He added that the old agreement, submitted in November, was inadequate because it illegally the County Board of Health to the city government.

The major change in the new agreement is that final review authority for all complex sources will now rest with the Health Board.

Dawson said while the cities want to retain as much control as possiole, in order to have any control at all, some of the authority has to be vested in the Health Board.

The Council was SENIOR generally favorable to the agreement, but expressed fear of possible political maneuver-ings within the Board of Health.

Concilman Richard Stewart Sr. commented that while presently there may not be any politics in the Board what is to prevent the Board in the future from making "political decisions in Las Vegas which may prevent Henderson from doing what it wants to do?" Councilman Jack

Jeffrey said he wanted a better idea of what the actual requirements in the agreement are, and a better definitionfof what complex sources were.

Don Arkell, director of the Air Pollution Control Division, said presently all the division wants is some feedback on the agreement from the cities involved.

Power Co. Files For Rate Hike

Nevada Power Company filed today with the Public Service Commission an application for a 12% rate increase to meet the new increases in fuel oil prices occuring since November 16, 1973.

Harry Allen, Power Company president, pointed out that in the 40 days involved Nevada Power oil costs have risen by $6,579,924 on an annual basis, and the rate increase is to offset this new cost. Nevada Power is presently using gas and oil for one-third of its electric generation and is experiencing drastic curtailment in its natural gas supply due to the Federal Power Commission's priority system for dwindling natural gas supplies.

Local hearings by the PSC are continuing on the Company's previous requests for rate adjustments covering earlier fuel increases, air pollution control installation and other costs.

Individual TV Offered Patients

Small individually tuned color television sets available in all patient rooms are one of the added services offered at the new Boulder City Hospital.

The sets are mounted on swivel arms adjacent to patient beds and are easily accessible for individual tuning and adjustments by the viewer. They operate on a battery system which elimates the problem of unsightly cords and the possibility of electrical shock.

SOUP IS DINNER IN A KETTLE

A hearty bean soup is a complete dinner in a kettle. Easy on the budget, too satisfying and highly nutri tious. No matter which vari ety of dried bean is used as the basis for the soup, the bean can be counted on to be a good source of protein, "B" vitamins and iron as well as food energy.

The savory well seasoned oup given today is made with canned dried beans to cut the cooking time to modern requirements. It uses pinto or kidney beans with tomatoes, onion, garlic, spices, herbs and a little pork. Dark corn syrup brings out the flavor of many bean dishes. In this soup, it adds just the right amount of sweetness to help

MAKE-UP ARTIST RECOMMENDS HIGH PROTEIN FOR INSTANT SLIMMING

By no the wonderful results a high checks: apply below the protein diet can have on your figure, but do you know that applied on the outside, protein does beautiful things for your complexion? According to Coty make-up artist, Wayne Franken, that's so. Protein is important as a cosmetic ingredient -- it helps fill in tiny lines and wrinkles and it locks in the complexion's own natural moisture. Wayne uses Coty's new Great Coverage protein slenderizing cosmetic shadowing. Special model techniques can cleverly slim and behind the shape facial contours.

"Foundation is even more effective than a shading cream. Because you're shading with true skin tones, it looks more real, especially into nothing close-up," says Wayne.

For instant facial slimming effects

Choose a color one shade darker than your usual. If your skin is Nordic pale, Golden Beige will probably be perfect for the dark tone, and Basic Bisque will be your overall color. If your skin is tan, use Golden Bronze Great Coverage for shading, Sunny Tan for overall. If it's olive, use Tawney Rose for shading, Tea Rose for overall.

Apply the darker color first, then apply your usual color, overlapping lightly and blending for a smooth graduation of tones. Here's how to use the darker shades:

strip down either side of the nose, just at the top edge, stop at the the bridge of the nose,

3. Put hollows in your checkbone on the lowe back quarter of the check Blend toward the tip of the ear, away from the mouth and eye Bringing it too far forward is a common mistake. It should be no further forward than the outer corner of the eye and no higher foundations and blusher for than the middle of the ear. 4 Define the jaw line:

> apply under the chin from ear and continue the line down onto the neck, fad ing the color ness by the first ring on the throat. It's important to fade color gradually out onto chin, throat and ear so that it is not noticeable. This shading is most flattering, but only if it is subtly done

Blush Beautifully Blush is a lively beauty accomplice that looks best when you don't notice it Apply sparingly and only in the limited area of the outer cheekbone. Put it higher than your nostrils and further back than the middle of your eye. Within this space, the shape of your blusher can make a big difference. 1. Squares of color balance a narrow chin. Triangles, wider toward the ear, make a broad or chunky square face appear more slender. Slant the tip of the triangle down toward the mouth if the face is square, up toward the bridge of the nose if the face is a heavy oval or egg shaped.

3. Horizontal bars of col nostril and or running across the tops of the cheekbones shorten the dimension of a long face.

Happy New You!

At this time I want to relate a true story that happened this past week and hope that it will make you realize that overweight could possibly make this your very last holiday season.

The past week I went to a party where they were going to play the old children's game of "Musical Chairs". They asked for six men to volunteer and of the six that did, not one was less than twenty pounds overweight. The thing that was noticable was the way they hugged and puffed just raising their hands to volunteer. They were wrinkled of clothes and body and looked like they had the weight of the world on their shoulders. As the game started the music played slowly, and the men fooled around, but as the game progressed and the music went faster and depended on their sitting down. Finally, there were two men left. At this point the more overweight of the two was completely out of breath and just about able to waslk in a circle. The music stopped for the last time and they both were awarded a breeze. The overweight man breathed a sigh of relief and quickly returned to sit down. About ten minutes after returning to his seat he slid quietly to the floor apparently suffering from some carwere in now. diac difficulty. The emergency squad arrived and began heart massage (which was not an easy job to perform on one so neavy). They continued the massage until the ambulance arrived and took him away. Whether he survived or TODAY: Regret is an not I do not know.

Boulder City motels would go dark should our town be by-passed when the Colorado is bridged ... and related businesses on Nevada Highway would feel the pinch. The present "energy crisis" gives merely a mild foretaste! So what is the alternative?

Anticipating such a situation, there are many approaches to consider. The best, no doubt, would be one that would be beneficial regardless of what happens to highway routes .. one that would entice travelers off the distant highways just to visit our town and spend however many delightful days they care to spend here. In short, the best answer to any bypass must be the town itself and what it may have to offer.
