Morry Zenoff Wins Zenger Award

Moritz (Morry) Zenoff, owner, editor and publisher of two Nevada non-daily newspapers -- The Henderson Home News and the Boulder City News-- has been selected to be the 1974 winner of the coveted John Peter Zenger award, given annually by the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The award is named for the 18th century New York newspaper editor who was jailed because of his editorials protesting the repressive measures of the British colo- Vegas, Nev., on Saturday, Nov. nial governors. In his ensuing trial he was acquitted, a verdict that established the historic American principle of freedom of the press.

It will be presented by Wisconsin Supreme Court Justice Robert W. Hansen, who has twice served as grand worthy president of the Eagles and who headed this year's Zenger selection committee. It will be given at the Western Regional Conference of the Eagles at Las

"During the past 26 years of Zenoff's 45 years in newspapering, he has devoted his life to so-called country journalism, in which his papers concentrated on home-rule, citizen participation in community affairs, and the promotion of 'chat-over-the-back-fence' way of life," Hansen said. "Boulder City and Henderson both needed assistance in establishing municipal government and Zenoff's newspapers, often in the face of bitter criticism, battled, informed and educated the path to home rule charters.

"The Zenger award represents above all else freedom of expression and encouraged freedom of all Americans to speak up and be counted--regardless of race, creed or color. Gibson, Sena, Jeffrey Potter Win!

Gibson Re-Elected By 3-1 Margin

State Senator James I. Gibson was re-elected to a third term in the senate Tuesday by a 3-1 vote over his opponent Fire Chief Don Richard.

Unofficial returns showed Gibson's vote 6,116 to 2,170 for his opponent. The senate district was created in 1965 and Gibson was elected to fill that post. In 1970 he was unopposed in the election.

When contacted after the election, Gibson said, "Naturally I'm pleased to have been given this vote of confidence. I'd like to thank all of those who assisted in my campaign and worked in my behalf."

clean campaign. Since the two the post, they did not run in the primary.

"I'm looking forward to the 1975 legislature," Gibson said, and recognized that there will be many important matters coming before the groups.

"One of the most important issues to be before the legislature will be the problem of financial support for the small cities." Gibson said. "I think this will have to be resolved in the coming legislative session.

"Also we will be faced with necessary legislation to continue the next phase of the Southern Nevada Water Project and the implementation of the advanced water treatment plant for the Las Vegas Valley," Gibson said.

"I also anticipate there will be some meaningful legislation in the area of support for our elderly citizens by way of

'ax relief or tax rebates. "One of the issues which there was considerable concern expressed in this campaign was the work done with the Urban Action Committee's report and particularly

> "One of the things I will work to do is to change the election laws so that at least the candidates will know where they stand on election night, as well as the people," Gibson concluded.

Jack Jeffrey

New Councilman?

With the election of Councilman Jack Jeffrey to the State Assembly, the city will be faced with appointing a new city councilman.

The council, which consits of four councilmen and a Mayor, already has two appointed councilmen, Dick Stewart and Carlton Lawrence. If another councilman is appointed, the majority of the council will be appointed.

Only Mayor Cruz Olague and Councilman Lorin Williams will remain as elected by the people.

Jeffrey said he had mixed emotions as he ran for the assembly seat, in giving up his council post. His term would expire in June.

Jeffrey Campaign Is Over

Councilman Jack Jeffrey, who won the District 22 seat to the assembly by a narrow margin over incumbent Republican Hal Smith, said. "It was a tough campaign and I'm glad It's over."

Jeffrey said he will resign his council post when he leaves for the legislature in

He thanked the people who worked for him throughout his district.

His main interests at the legislature, he said, would be a reform of the probate law so that small estates can be settled without an attorney, some reforms in the Nevada Industrial Commission laws, and to keep the smaller cities away from consolidation.

Final tabulation was 2602 for Jeffrey and 2592 for Smith. A former tie was at 2588 each.

Nash Sena, a newcomer to politics, who captured a large margin of votes over his Republican opponent, Bill Dedmon, was impressed with the people of his district after going door-to-door.

According to unoffical returns, Sena won 2,164 to 565.

"All I can say is to thank the many people who exhibited confidence in me," Sena said. "I won't let them down and I'll work to the best of my ability."

Basic To Withdraw From AAA League?

By Lorna Kesterson

Basic High School Principal Frank Brusa today will appeal to the Nevada Inter-scholastic activities association from the Southat a meeting at Lake Tahoe, to allow Basic High School to withdraw from the Southern Nevada Triple A football conference for a period of two years.

Brusa is making the appeal after a losing football season with the Wolves winning only one game. He said he is asking for the two-year time to try to rebuild the football program at Basic High School. At the end of two years the football program would be evaluated to see if the Wolves are ready for AAA conference play again.

The withdrawl from the AAA conference in football would not effect the basketball, wrestling or baseball programs, or those of the Justice of the Peace Delwin Potter, who has served Henderson in that capacity for the past ten years, expressed appreciation to the voters yesterday after his re-election to that position.

When it was announced that Publisher Morry Zenoff had won the Peter Zenger award through the National organization of Eagles, the people in the cities of Henderson and Boulder City must have met the news with mixed reaction

A newspaper editor can ! never be popular with the majority of people as has been evidenced when they have run for public office. Usually they meet with sounding defeat. Someone always has an ax to

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Morry chose sports as his field. He got a job in the journalistic field for the Hearst papers when jobs were hard to find, and with his energy and drive, won acclaim for his reporting.

He bought the Henderson and Boulder City Newspapers in 1948 and thus became a controversial figure in this area. I became associated with the newspaper shortly after he purchased it and have been in and out of the organization ever since. Morry's office wall is covered with letters of resignation from me.

I have disagreed with him on almost everything. Like politics, religion, how to handle stories, dealing with people, what to drink, the way to spell words, salary, working hours, and you name it -- we disagree.

The only reason Morry keeps me on is that since we usually think opposite, he feels it is fair to the community to represent opposing views. Most people might not give that idea any consideration but that is his feeling.

He has jumped into fights and areas where even the angels would fail to tread.

He has been right and he has been wrong, but whichever way he goes, he will defend his stand.

Most times he is fair and allows those who feel differently to use his columns to give their views.

Take me, for instance. If there is a dirty job to do I am editor and must think like a man and stand up and be managing editor. If I assert myself I am only an employe and have no say on policy.

Some of the things he does that people don't know include helping hundreds of 'downers and outers' with money from his own pocket. He has one favorite indigent who shows up regularly for a hand-out. A widow needs to put in a thankyou ad but has no money--it goes in at Morry's expense.

Morry's wife, Eva, asks the butcher how to tell if some meat is spoiled. The butcher says to feed it to Morry and if he doesn't die the meat is ok.

Morry bought a movie camera and spent the first roll of film taking pictures of his own schnozz as he held the camera backwards.

Deathly afraid of-guns. Morry walked around for several months with a live shell hanging around his neck as an ornament.

Morry believes if a man is paying your salary you don't need to love him but you should deliver the goods and put in an honest day's work. He detests talking when you should be working.

He respects great minds and when he relaxes, he does it completely and blocks out any nagging problems he might Whatever his hang-ups are, his loyal staff congratulates him on his honor.

Potter, who said he had received "bad press" by sitting in for justices in Las Vegas, said he hoped the legislature will make changes. so that he will not be called to sit in those positions.

Asked if he planned any changes in the court, he said it is difficult to change the kind of job he does.

"Apparently people are somewhat happy with the job I've been doing, and I hope to continue to give the same kind of service.

A school teacher. Sena spent his summer going door to door to get acquainted with the people.

He expressed appreciation to his opponent for running a cleam campaign.

He said one of his aims in the legislature will be to work for aid for the senior citizens to try and have the sales tax taken from such commodities as food and other necessities. He expressed his objections to consolidation of the city to the Las Vegas area in any

Local Residents Can Use Dump Transfer Free

Councilman Dick Stewart complained Mon, night at the city council meeting that local residents should not be required to carry a city utility bill with them to have the privilege of dumping at the new transfer station without paying.

"Some people, like those who live in trailer parks, do not pay a utility bill as such. but they should be allowed to dump," Stewart said. Stewart suggested that the resident wishing to dump for no charge, be able to use his driver's license or other identification showing that he is a resident of Henderson.

City Manager Don Dawson

agreed that arrangements would be made with Black Mountain Disposal Co. to use other identification.

Those not residing within the city or contractors are required to pay $4 a ton to dump at the transfer station. Discussion also centered around where contractors could dump large materials such as concrete or paving. Public Works Director Bob Whitney said the city will make a provisimn for that type of dumping when the contractor comes to the city for a

The dump is open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. daily and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Children Not Safe In Parks Claims Citizen

Complaints that the city parks are not safe for women and children were made to the city council Mon. night by George Zohovetz who asked the council to take action to provide protection.

He suggested that the city have someone in the park from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. such as a police officer to provide protection. He also said he does not believe there is enough police protection. He told the council he has started a petition to ask the city to provide better protection. He claimed several children and women had been attacked at the park.

City Manager Don Dawson said it was his belief that the parents of the children have responsiblity to provide protection at the parks. He said, "It boils down to the cost of labor." He said the city could have partial coverage but could not guarantee a man at the parks at every hour because there are to be four parks and not enough men.

Councilman Lorin Williams suggested that perhaps the city could designate hours such as from 2 p.m. ot 5 p.m. since schools are now in session.

Councilman Jack Jeffrey suggested the city define the problem and then find the solution. It was then turned over to the administration for study.

Police Chief Floyd Osborn said after the meeting there is no big problem in the parks as to rapists. He said there are no recent reports of attacks in the parks Authorization was given by the council to call for applications for towing service for the city.

Councilman Dick Stewart asked what the city had been doing since the contract ran out in June. City Manager Don Dawson said the city is operating under the old contract.

Franchise ordinances for Continental Telephone Co., Nevada Power Co., and California Pacific Utilities Co. were approved by the council. The new franchises are for 25 years of service.

The vacation of the alleyway in block 35 of the Henderson Townsite, fronting on Atlantic and Magnesium, was approved by the city

A requirement was placed on the transaction for property owners to have the area surveyed and a plat made at the property owner's expense. The property owners will also have to pay to have the water meters moved at city cost and that gates be included to provide access for maintenance. It was also stipulated that a 20 foot utility easement be provided.

Who Was John Peter Zenger?

Editor's Note:

When Morry Zenoff was notified that he will receive the John Peter Zenger award, it prompted us all to ask -- "Who was John Peter Zenger?"

The following article was taken from an article, "Who Authored Our Liberties?" We reprint it for your interest.

The Author of American liberties?

Not Patrick Henry and his speeches.

Not Thomas Jefferson and his writings. Not George Washington and his leadership.

The author of American liberties was a German immigrant boy who came to these shores long before there was a United States of America.

His name was John Peter Zenger. He landed a job in a New York City print shop, served his apprenticeship. saved his money and, in 1726. went into business for himself.

The newspaper he started, the New York Weekly Journal, was a newspaper different from any other in the colonies. In it he attacked the British colonial governors and their tyrannical policies. So John was not very popular with the reigning governors, the ruling class or the other newspaper editors.

An indictment for treason, calling for the death penalty. was sought against Zenger. Instead, the grand jury indicted him for malicious libel.

Zenger went to jail. He wrote his editorials from the jail cell. The jailers took away from him the paper and writing materials. John Peter then shouted his editorials through the barred window to his wife who wrote them down and printed them in the weekly paper.

Then came the trial. John's lawyer was Alexander Hamilton. In his plea to the jury, lawyer Hamilton said:

"The question before the court and you, Gentlemen of the Jury, is not of small or private concern. It is not the cause of a poor printer alone which you now try. No! It may in its consequences affect every freeman. It is the cause of liberty . . . for securing to ourselves, our posterity and our neighbors. that to which nature and the laws of our country have given us -- as a right -- the liberty both of exposing arbitrary power and (in these parts of the world at least) of speaking and writing the truth."

That 1735 Jury Verdict has been termed "the germ of American Freedom, the morn-

firm assertion that man as man had certain inalienable rights not safely to be delegated to the holders of public power. The weekly newspaper publisher who risked his life to assert his right to print and publish the truth was the real author of our American liberties.

It is true that, as a price for approving a federal constitution with federal authorities and powers, the people insisted upon a First Amendment spelling out inalienable freedoms including freedom of worship, freedom of press, freedoms of expression and assembly, and a less frequently discussed Ninth Amendment reserving to the people all powers not delegated to government. The reiteration did not make basic individual freedoms a grudging gift from government. Freedom of worship derives from the spiritual nature of man. Freedom of press derives from the right to seek and publish the truth. Freedom of expression and assembly derive from the social nature of man.

These basic rights of people in the non-governmental areas of living are not for government to give or take away. They constitute an independent sector of living in which people may do as they please, not as someone else pleases.

The current attacks of American Bar Association leaders on the right of news media to cover criminal trials seems an effort to transplant the English system of a news blackout on court proceedings to American soil. The proponents have going for them individual cases of prejudicial press coverage, as in the Shepard case, and the fact that the brain-washing techniques of some big city dailies have destroyed reader confidence in their fairness and objectivity.

But removing a case from a center of press and public pressure, as was done in the Speck murder case, is a far better answer than blacking out a whole community to insure that 12 jurors are kept ignorant of the details of the crime. You ought not plunge a town into or unpopularity. The question is whether there is to remain in America an area of personal and associational freedoms outside the reach and range of government. Freedom of press happens, as is usually the case, to be the first target. But newspaper publishers and radio-TV broadcasters ought not to be left to fight the fight alone. If they lose today, others will lose tomorrow, and we will be on our way to that all-embracing state in which government is everywhere and everything. Then government of the people, by the people, for the people will be replaced by government of a small elite, by a central propaganda apparatus, for an atomized populace.

> 4lpha Beta Sponsor

Henderson-Many have wondered what is a sponsor in sorority? What part do they have in Beta Sigma Phi?

Miriam Burkholder is thankfully ours. She was asked by our chapter in 1952 and has accepted the invitation ever since. A sponsor is named by the chapter for a period of one year. She works in cooperation with the Social committee and to assist with the chapter's social activities. A sponsor may be reappointed each year so long as it is agreeable to the sponsor and chapter.

Alpha Beta is so glad Mrs. B. has been with us and we hope she will remain so.

Mrs. Burkholder was a music teacher most of her life and if you had music at McCaw elementary, you'll remember her, she is a great lady.

Tolerance is one of her qualities - she traveled with eight sorority sisters to a convention in Flagstaff and we were like school kids, just making all sorts of noise. If you could have seen us all talking at once, you would understand.

Miriam is married to Lyal Burkholder and he is retired from County Office where he had worked since 1943.

Also Mrs. Burkholder is retired from teaching. She taught for 24 years.
