School in Las Vegas.

An invitation to all of the citizens of Henderson has been extended to show appreciation to those who present the program in remembrance of the veterans who served in past wars.

Names of Henderson deceased veterans have been placed on the memorial and

'Do Pass' For Haynes Drive Rezoning

A "do pass" for the rezoning of lots on Haynes Drive to R-2, was approved by the city council Monday night.

The ordinance will go for final action to the city council at the next regular meeting on June 6.

The council approved in theory the zero lot line setback for sideyards, however, they decided to leave the front yard setback at 25 feet.

In discussing the changes in setbacks in residential areas, Irene Porter told the council that new innovations are being developed as new home-owner needs are being discovered. She said off-site improvements are estimated to cost from $5500 to $7000 which results in higher costs of homes to the potential home buyers.

Planning Director Bob Gordon told the council he agreed with not changing the 25-foot front yard setback and the zero setback.

Did you ever get stalled in an intersection?

If you never have then you can have no feeling for what happens to you.

Your car can perform perfectly—never miss a beat, but there is something about intersections that seems to have a kinship call and just as you are smartly manipulating the curves, you hear that fatal sound and your car dies.

The honks from other cars just further panic you and no matter what you do or call your car, it doesn't matter.

The only thing you can do is smile, and if you think that will get you anything but bugs on your teeth, forget it.

Sometimes after you have given up, settled back and decided your fate is to be killed outright by irate motorists, you turn the key and it runs like it never had a problem in the first place.

Try it sometime, if I'm wrong, I'll clean the bugs off your teeth.

The Salvation Army in Henderson is conducting a drive for camperships to send kids to camp for the summer.

Many local organizations are helping, and in talking to Gus Guiffre, honorary camp chairman, any amount is appreciated.

"I think anyone who gives 50 cents should receive as much thanks as anyone," he said, "because it is just as hard for some to give that amount as it is for others to give much more."

The city hall will be closed next Monday due to the holiday.

Most government offices will be closed that day including the post office and also the banks.

And speaking of banks....

Dacey, and Carlos Farfan. Construction of the huge tent will begin immediately and is expected to be completed by 90 days. It is located on Highway 41 at the Skyharbor Airport.

Ground Broken for 'Big Top'

With Henderson city officials and the press representatives on hand Tuesday morning, ground was broken on the 'Big Top' convention tent at the Skyharbor airport in Henderson.

Sherrell Dacey, president of Big Top Enterprises, estimated the tent would be complete within 2½ or 3 months. Carlos Farfan, who has been in the circus business all of his life, and his father, will oversee the construction of the tent. The construction is expected to cost over $1 million.

The length of construction is based on the weather and the curing of the concrete foundations which is expected to take about four weeks.

City Council Approves Leasing of BMI Water Plant

At a special meeting of the city council Tuesday, members approved the signing of a contract with BMI for the lease of their Water Treatment Plant. The contract will be signed in the next day or two, according to City Manager Robert Campbell, to go into effect the first of June.

BMI has agreed to assist the city during the transition period.

At a special council meeting Monday night, approval was given upon the recommendation of Campbell, to begin drafting an ordinance authorizing and charging the city staff to operate the entire water utility system on a sound financial basis.

Campbell began his recommendation with the consideration that the 1974 Safe Drinking Water Act does place responsibility for water standards on the entity responsible for actually distributing the water.

"Therefore, the City of Henderson is responsible for water quality not only due to the 1954 contract with BMI (which absolves BMI of any responsibility regarding water quality) but under the terms of the Safe Drinking Water Act as well," Campbell noted.

The Basic Management, Inc. requested that the city take over the operation of the water treatment plant since the city is the only one receiving the benefit from the plant. The city would also use the land around the treatment plant building.

According to Montgomery Engineering, who did a study on whether the city should purchase the plant or not, the estimated cost to bring the plant up to standards would be $39,000, "a relatively small amount considering the size of the operation."

Glen Taylor, manager of BMI, requested having a financial adjustment bi-annually, rather than annually. He also asked that the city take over May 31st, as that is the close of the fiscal year for BMI.

Sealed bids will be received on over 200 acres of land in the Black Mountain area of the city and proposals on the land will be closed at that time, according to action by the city council in special session Monday night.

A bid of $500 an acre on 180 acres of the land was received by the city council several weeks ago by Lester Burgwardt and Associates and an agreement was drawn up. At the time the agreement was placed before the council for final approval another proposal was received from Dr. Elwyn Camerson for $650 per acre for 200 acres.

City Attorney Kent Dawson told the council Monday that the city is not bound until the contract is executed. He suggested the council accept sealed bids unless one of the interested parties did not wish to go higher with their bids. Both parties indicated they would go higher with their bids.

Councilman Phil Stout said he thought the city should go ahead and accept sealed bids Monday night, however, Councilwoman Lorna Kesterson questioned whether or not each bidder could submit a higher bid without increasing their 1 per cent down payment. Mayor Lorin Williams said he felt it should be delayed until the next meeting of the council.

Councilman Gary Price said he felt the council was obligated to the citizens of the city to obtain the highest amount for the land. Burgwardt told the council his group had ordered big equipment to begin developing the land in good faith because of negotiations with the council.

Dr. Cameron said he did not think he had done an injustice to the city by delaying the bid and offering more money for the land.

Attorney Earl White, Burgwardt's attorney, asked if the city had to notice the land for sale again asking for sealed bids. Dawson said the city did not.

The terms of the sale of the land will be the same as were already arranged with the Burgwardt group. It calls for ten-year payment at 7 per cent interest.

It was interesting at the groundbreaking of the Big Top at Arby Alper's airport Tuesday.

It was so cold and rainy and windy that the whole affair was moved into a hangar at the airport. Miss "Big Top" stood freezing with not much on while most of us sported coats. I heard Miss Big Top had her bikini on for the occasion but decided against that.

Citizens Protest Trailer Estates Subdivision Here

Over protests by residents in the area, City Planning Commissioners approved a zone change from rural residence (R-R) to trailer estates (T-E) on approximately 26 acres in section 8 adjacent to the existing trailer estates.

The matter will come before the city council at its regular meeting on June 6.

The development is planned by James Leitch, who told the people he does not plan to build another trailer estates like the present one. He said they would install a block wall around the entire subdivision, sidewalks, and all required off-site improvements. He also explained that they intend to require double-wide mobile homes on all lots and they plan for the development to look "real sharp."

Stanton Brown of 1215 Toledo, opposed the installation, stating that even if he put in a 50 foot block wall around it, it would completely isolate Toledo. "I don't see how that can raise our property values," he said.

Leitch countered that some of the mobile homes they plan on putting in look better than the homes in the area.

"If the people there are concerned with property values they had better get the paint brush out," Leitch added.

Clyde Evans, 1204 Toledo, said he opposed the zone change because of devaluation of property. He said a realtor had looked at his home and said it would sell for $30,000 in any other area of Henderson but all he could do in that area was to "get him out from under it." He charged the city is not enforcing ordinances in keeping the junk cars away from the area.

The flood water, which plagued that area, was also questioned, and it was explained that the problem will be provided for. Also questioned by Commissioner Edie Barker was the travel flow.

The vote was 5-1 in favor of the change with Chairman Neil Twitchell voting against it.

Rezoning Request For Apartments Denied

A request for a zone change in section 8 from residential to R-3, multiple dwelling, was denied by the city planning commission.

The zone change was requested by Mary Cox who was represented by Tim McCardell.

Several people were there to protest the change.

A request by Nevada Boat Sales, 1200 No. Boulder Highway, for a use permit to operate an automobile repair shop, was tabled by the commission.

Approval was given by the commission to a request by Basic Readimix, (Charles Thompson) for a use permit to operate a concrete batching plant with silo and mixing equipment at 1932 Parkson St.

An air pollution hearing will be held at a later date by the Air Pollution authorities.

Following a public hearing on a request by Pardee Construction Co. for a variance to the front yard setbacks on eight lots in Pardee Green Valley Unit 1, the commission denied the request.

A request from Donrey Outdoor advertising for architectural review of two billboards near the intersections of Sunset Road and Boulder Highway was approved by the commission with Commissioner Edie Barker disapproving.

When someone in a car ahead of you slows to turn or prepares to stop, be courteous and pull slightly to the right so the driver behind you can see his brake light.

Complaint Forms Available To Citizens

Citizens of Henderson may now complain about something within the city and receive an answer within three days unless it is an unusual complaint, according to City Manager Robert Campbell.

Citizen service request forms have been printed and are available at the city hall.

"The purpose of the program is to provide a formal method for us to be sure that citizen requests are responded to in a prompt manner," according to Campbell. "It is not intended to replace normal procedures now used when routine requests or problems are made to the appropriate department, and the service request form need not be completed in such instances.

Campbell gave as examples when the request form could be used as (1) when a situation is reported to the city manager by the mayor or member of the city council. (2) When a situation is reported directly to the city manager by a citizen and (3) when a city department receives an inquiry request that involved another department and cannot be handled informally or immediately.

The forms are intended to speed up the process of responding to complaints.

Campbell said any new system is bound to have a few problems but he said they would be worked out as they go along.

EMCY TRAVEL
ACCORDING TO THE U.S. TRAVEL SERVICE IN 1977 SOME 3.5 MILLION AMERICANS WILL TRAVEL TO EUROPE, SPENDING AN AVERAGE OF $1,026 EACH FOR FARE AND EXPENSES!

June 2nd, 3rd and 4th are the Dates ... If you haven't registered for the FREE Flight to the Grand Canyon (Courtesy of Guardian Flying Service) ... Please do so at Farina. On that Thursday, Friday and Saturday, one name each night will be selected. Sunday, June 12th at 2:30 p.m. is when Bob Whitney will be taking off with the 3 winners. I think I'll let our Damian draw from the registration box.

Guess who's coming to Dinner??? Sometime this week --- Ray and Mike Triscari will sup with us. Ray comes off his California Ranch everytime the Merv Griffin show comes to town --- he is one of the best trumpets around and is always called upon to play the Griffin Show. In addition to spending the week taping the shows, Ray gets a chance to visit with brother Mike, a Vegas resident for years. Mike was one of the best guitarists around years ago. There was another brother the oldest --- Joe was his name and his trumpet playing was legendary among musicians. At one time, both "Triscari" trumpets and Mike's guitar were heard in many of the Big Bands of the 40's ... Especially the Gene Krupa Orchestra when it was a "hot" item. Joe became head trumpet at MGM in Hollywood all thru the era of the giant extravaganza musicals up until a heart attack fatally felled him. He was admired so much that MGM closed the whole studio for one day out of respect. Ray went on from one Band to another and today does much recording studio work for such sound tracks as "Barretta", "Adam-12", "SWAT", etc., etc. ... Mike Played with Lounge acts in the Desert Inn and Sands for well over 10 years. He became a popular bartender on the strip and in fact set up the Farina Bar when we first opened last November.

How we met Mike is interesting. It was a very hot June 4th, 1975 when two station wagons of Farinas pulled up in front of 4505 Buckeye Ave., Las Vegas ... a house which we would rent for the next 6 months. We had down-played the fact that we were a musical family when we had arranged for the rental agent to get us a home in Vegas. There are, at times, "8" instruments being practiced in our home and most landlords don't even want to rent to large families, let alone one in which the constant blaring of horns can be heard. We never bothered the neighbors with our practicing in our home in Tupelo, Miss., because it was 3,000 sq. ft. (plenty of room for the sound to roam) ... it was all brick (good insulation) ... and the closest neighbor was several hundred feet away. But this was "Vegas ... the homes were smaller, not brick and close together. Plus ... we were renters and strangers ... needless to say we were worried ... Well sir, let me tell you... we stepped out of the car and we heard the "Sweetest sound" we ever heard ... the sound of a trumpet ... it was coming from the house next to the one we had rented ... would you believe ... a trumpet teacher lived next door ... would you believe he was teaching a kid by the name of Joey Triscari who lived on the "other" side of the house we rented ... would you believe we blindly rented a house (from 1800 miles away) and being so worried about disturbing the neighbors with our playing ... find ourselves between a "trumpet playing trumpet teacher" and a "trumpet playing student" whose father (Mike) just happens to be a former musician and is brother to "two" of the best known trumpeters in Big Band History. Would you believe further ... that when introduced to brother Ray, we found that he is very good friends with our cousin Gil Falco who plays on the "Tonight Show" Orchestra. Now ... would you believe ... it's a small, small, small world???

Jim Hicks, President of our local Bar Owners Association, asked me to come down to his Shanty Bar and sing "Happy Birthday" ... that's right ... "Happy Birthday" to his lovely daughter Lorna during the celebration of her 21st this past Sunday. When James introduced me, he mentioned to all assembled that he thought the Farina Supper Club was the most "unique" restaurant and Lounge in Nevada. Mr. Hicks has always been extremely complimentary toward us... but on the way home ... I got to think' ... you might be right Jimmy ole' boy ... where else can you find ... a nine yr. old maitre 'D ... A complete family operation from the kitchen out ... a stage with a family group ... (each proficient on at least 3 instruments) ... a Dining "AND" dancing area ... A quiet lounge ... A "family" or "couple" atmosphere ... a greeting at the door ... good homestyle Italian food ... decent prices ... and of course, there's always "Me" ... (forget that last comment) ... Seriously ... Mr. Hicks ... You Just Might Be Right ...

LOVE FROM ALL OF US --- FARINA

individual businessmen," said Hicks.

The group has long lists of achievements and projects including a $500 scholarship that is given each year to a student from Basic High School who needs financial help to attend UNLV. Other projects include money given to the Eagles for fireworks, donation to the Salvation Army at Christmas, sponsoring a Little League team, donation to the Boy's Club, participation in Expo and Industrial Days (Hicks was general chairman in 1977).

"Through the efforts of the organization, many establishments have been renovated and remodeled. And we do bring many people into the community especially for pool leagues. These people spend money throughout Henderson and make business better for all of us."

In addition to their own projects, members of the association belong to various other civic groups and become more involved through the years. "I don't think there is an organization in town that one of us is not a member of."

The association also takes care of its own. Recently a barmaid's father was dying and she could not afford the cost of the trip back home. The association members dug a little deeper and took care of the expenses. Several instances of fire victims that have been helped by the association can also be added to their efforts.

Most of the money come from dues that the members pay. It costs each member $120 a year in dues alone, not counting the various other times money is needed from the membership.

The first annual Amateur Pool Tournament, held during Industrial Days, was sponsored by the Association. One hundred thirteen players came into the community and Hicks expects that number to grow next year.

For the future, the association is not idle. Selection of the Scholarship winner will begin soon as will seisions involving other donations the group will make such as a gift of food to the day care group and senior citizens.

"I think we're a valuable part of this community. We work with the Police Department, and City administration to try to have the best business possible and we'll keep working to add as much as we can to Henderson," concluded Hicks.

Energy Conservation... What Can We Do To Help

The President's energy conservation program is highly complicated and afar from the grasp of most of us. No matter how widespread or complicated, it will have to go through congressional debate with amendments and changes.

In the meantime there are several things we can do as residents of Henderson and Boulder City to help avert an energy crisis here at home.

One of our first goals might be the saving of our water resources. Because of some good planning and a little bit of luck, Henderson and Boulder City do not face a water crisis. Yes, we have problems, but we can contribute towards solving them.

What's the old saying, "Charity begins at home"? Maybe that's true in saving water.

For a few cents and a little work we can stop dripping faucets. Experts say that just one leaky water tap can waste up to 200 gallons a day. Multiply just one dripping tap by the thousands of homes in our area and we have saved a small lake of water plus a reduced water bill.

Some residents have said they may let their lawns go dry in order to save water. This may save water, but how about the beauty of our homes and our cities.

Others have suggested we substitute "desert landscaping" for green lawns. After all, we live in a desert country. It may not be a bad idea.

A word of warning...don't go into the desert looking for plants to dig up and take to your yard. Many desert plants are protected by law. Check with your nursery operator. He'll know best on what to plant and how best to take care of them.

We can have beautiful homes and landscapes and save water at the same time.

Above all, don't waste that precious stuff. It's our life and our future.

Letter to the Editor Bus Station Service Poor In Henderson

What has happened to our Henderson bus station? The hours they are open are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. We had a relative, who had three bus layovers, coming from Texas, and instead of coming in at 7:30 p.m., she landed here at 2:30 a.m. She had two heavy suitcases. There was no place to check her baggage and there's not even a telephone booth, outside the station, where she could make a call. We just happened to meet the bus at 2:30 a.m. and picked her up.

Can't the City of Henderson do something about this kind of situation? At least have an outside phone booth?

We Need Convention Facilities Here Too

A few issues ago we called for the Las Vegas Convention Authority to allocate money from its advertising fund of more than $3 million to build convention halls of practical size in Henderson and Boulder City.

We did not ask for money from the $12 million in bonds for the construction of a sports arena and convention center in Las Vegas. In fact, we think such facilities are needed.

But we do feel that money to be spent on advertising campaigns is being duplicated and in many cases wasted. And we still think that way.

This week the Convention Authority met and sidestepped the issue. What they determined was that the sports arena would be build first and then the convention center.

Of course, the problem is complicated and there are many powerful interests at work.

But, shall keep a close eye on the Authority when it gets around to making final decisions of convention facilities. We will fight for Henderson and Boulder City getting their fair share. After all we pay the room tax into the Authority's coffers. We should get back what is rightfully ours and what is really needed.

Memorial Day...What Does It Mean?

In a few days we will be observing Memorial Day. But, what does it mean?

Is it the Indy 500, a picnic, fishing on the lake, a small parade with the roll of drums, taps being played at a local cemetery?

Can't we stop for just a few minutes and reflect on what may be the true ideal of Memorial Day.

Is it a question of wars won or lost? Is it thoughts given to those who gave the "last full measure"? Do we see in our mind's eye the poppies growing in Flanders Field, is it a reflection of Bull Run or Gettysburg? In the composite picture are there scenes of Iwo Jima or Vietnam? Is there a mirror which throws back to us the images of Bunker Hill and the march from Lexington to Concord?

Perhaps they are all there. But what do they say? What do they tell us, if anything? Everyone will have individual visions and thoughts.

But, if we put all the pieces together, don't they really paint a tapestry woven into a fabric called "liberty and democracy".

Yes, democracy was molded into a great principle found nowhere else in the world.

Democracy is not perfect. It is full of faults and much injustice. It is not very efficient and often times looks like it lacks direction and purpose. But, is this not true of all ideals and dreams.

Let's turn back the pages of history and take a hard look at how this day, Memorial Day, was born.

Memorial Day was originally called "Decoration Day". It was established just before the Civil War ended. However, it was declared an official holiday in 1910. But, is battle born as brother fought brother on American fields of battle. But, even then it was for the cause of freedom and liberty. Let's never lose this ideal. Let's think of it and understand what it means, this Memorial Day.

Basic High School Juniors Score at The National Average On APL Survey

The Basic High School junior class scored at the national average in a test recently administered to determine if these young people can function at minimal adult levels, according to Principal Frank Brusa. The Adult Performance Level (APL) Survey was given to all juniors in their English classes in mid-April. The test was divided into content and skill areas. The content areas covered things in everyday life that students need to know about. This area was broken into five sub-areas.

1. Community Resources - The services that supply recreation information, community help and transportation.
2. Occupational Knowledge - Finding, getting, working at, and keeping a job.

3. Consumer Economics - Managing family or personal money and understanding good buying habits.

4. Health - The rules and habits that lead to good mental and physical health.

5. Government and the Law - The structure of the Government, the functions of the legal system, and your rights and obligations under them.

The skill areas covered the use of numbers and written information in everyday life. These included:

1. Identification of facts and terms - Knowing the important words and ideas people use in dealing with the content areas named above.

2. Reading - Being able to read such materials as ad booklets, directions, contracts and forms.

3. Writing - Knowing how to write such things as notes, letter and applications.

4. Computation - Being able to use numbers in daily situations. For example: Those involving money, weights, measures, and calories.

5. Problem Solving - Knowing how to find solutions to practical problems.

Basic juniors scored an average rating in all areas, but scored below the average in the content area of consumer economics. Twenty-five percent of the students surveyed scored above average on all items. Fifty-five percent were average, and twenty percent were below average. The information gathered from this survey will assist the school in better evaluating its overall curricular program, stated Principal Brusa.

Basic Wrestlers Compete In Final U.S. Team Trials

Three Basic High School wrestlers left today for the final U.S. team trials at Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, accompanied by Las Vegas YMCA and U.S. world team assistant coach, Clem King.

A large turnout is expected at Central Michigan University with more than 400 of the best 17-20 year old wrestlers in the United States competing for top 10 positions on both the U.S. freestyle and Greco-Roman teams.

Those attending are Dennis Mattingly, sponsored by Don Vincent Bail Bonds and Wayne Castleberry of American Pest Control, Larry O'Dell sponsored by the Townhouse and Mark Dominguez, sponsored by Sam Boyd's California Club.

The best ten will be eligible to compete in the World Tournament which will be held July 11-16 in Las Vegas. Sixteen countries are expected to participate at that time.

Basic star Anthony Salazar, who had been considered practically a definite U.S. team member, was injured recently in a motorcycle accident and will not be able to make the trip. He is on crutches.

The local wrestlers qualified for the final trials through an elimination tournament earlier this year at the Las Vegas YMCA.

Quicksilvers Home For Holiday

The past week certainly was no holiday for the Las Vegas Quicksilvers professional soccer team. After playing an overtime shootout contest with Vancouver on last Friday, the team had to prepare for the long trip to Hawaii to battle TEAM HAWAII on Sunday night.

If that were not enough the Quicksilvers return to action on Saturday night at tough divisional foe Dallas.

The road trip concludes on Memorial Day, May 30th when the Portland Timbers venture to Las Vegas Stadium for an 8 p.m. holiday contest.

This game looks to be one of the most exciting on the schedule. The Timbers have not forgotten the early defeat put on them by the Quicksilvers in front of their home fans. Timber Archie Robostoff has not forgiven Quicksilvers coach Derek Trevis for the off-season trade which sent him from Las Vegas to Portland.

The Slimlife Company has purchased 3,000 seats for this game and will distribute them to their customers and to local charities.

On Thursday, May 26th the Quicksilvers will be holding a free clinic at Las Vegas Stadium. The clinic begins at 6 p.m. All youngsters attending this clinic will be given a coupon for a free ticket to the Portland game when accompanied by a paid adult admission.

One of the brightest spots in the Quicksilvers defensive attack has been the play of standout goalkeeper Alan Mayer. Mayer recorded his fifth shutout of the year against Vancouver to set both personal and franchise season highs.

The league record for goalkeeper's average is 0.62. Currently Mayer has posted a 0.50 mark - surrendering only four goals in the team's first eight contests.

Mayer, an original draft choice of the franchise when it was located in Baltimore, played collegiate soccer at Madison College. He is a native of Long Island, N.Y.

Following the game with Portland, the Quicksilvers will remain home for a June 4th contest with the Chicago Sting.

Lake Mead Memorial Day Services

Memorial Day Services will be conducted on Lake Mead at 9:30 on May 30 by members of Branch 279, Fleet Reserve Association.

Ceremonies will be held on the water just south of the Vegas Wash Marina in the area between the boat ramp and the marina. Services will include the laying of a wreath on the water to honor deceased members of the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard.

The public is invited to join the service which can be seen and heard from the shore. Boats will assemble at 9 a.m. in Vegas Wash straight out from the marina and parade to the site of the ceremonies. Boaters who desire are encouraged to join the parade and participate in the ceremonies which will take about 15 minutes.

Part 8 of a series

Maryellen Vallier Sadovich, a noted Nevada historian, and a Henderson resident since 1954, treated our readers with a most unique bicentennial series during 1976. This year, she has researched the local newspaper files and the archives of Henderson's City Hall, the Chamber of Commerce, and BMI, to produce an economic history of Henderson from the first day of incorporation to the present.

As Henderson officials pondered their city's myriad financial problems they could not help but notice activities taking place nearby that seemed to bring the promise of new industries and perhaps new sources of income to Henderson and all of Southern Nevada. Just a few miles to the south, the initiative of the little village of Searchlight was creating headlines. That tiny metropolis, that had in 1909 vied with Las Vegas for the county seat of Clark County, was in 1954 little more than a ghost town. For ten years the community tried to interest the Nevada Highway Department in building a new road between Searchlight and the California highway at Nipton to improve the rough, one lane, gravel trail that in March 1954 was used by thousands of California tourists making their way through Searchlight to the fishing grounds on Lake Mojave. In desperation Searchlight officials petitioned the state legislature for a self-supporting, twenty-mile, paved toll-road that would shorten the distance from between Los Angeles and Nevada by twenty-five miles, and hopefully bring still more visitors to Southern Nevada. In addition, the National Park Service released monthly figures indicating that many thousands of tourists daily visited Boulder Dam. Many of these visitors remained to camp on the shores of Lake Mead where fishing and other aquatic sports were reported superb. In the month of June 1954 alone, 271,639 visitors were reported at the Dam.

It was obvious that many thousands of these visitors passed through Henderson, but the city did not yet offer even one modern hotel with swimming pool or one modern dining facility to attract overnight guests.

Mining was also revived near Henderson in 1954, when the newly completed Manganese Incorporated plant, much of which had been destroyed by fire in 1953, was reactivated. Following a ceremony on January 26, in which Henderson officials voiced their enthusiasm for this new industrial endeavor, production at the Manganese plant soared. Many Henderson residents would soon find employment at the Manganese mill.

Meanwhile, to the west, a new settlement was being organized just over the Spring Mountains in Pahrump Valley where experiments with cotton farming were taking place.

Late in January 1954,

Senator McCarran announced from Washington that Nevada's newest infant industry, cotton farming, had received a boast when the Senate approved a 2289 cotton acreage allotment for 1954, a 27 percent increase over 1953. As cotton production increased, much attention was directed toward the little valley. Developers moved tourism industry in southern Nevada without the necessity of a toll-road. And in September, the pride of Pahrump Valley in their agricultural community was reflected in Mayor French's invitation to the ceremony opening a new Las Vegas to Pahrump highway.

When the summer of 1954 ended, construction was already underway on Manganese Park in Henderson, a housing development designed to lodge the many employees of Manganese Incorporated. Searchlight had been assured of a new highway to expand the zation on Sunday, the twenty-sixth of September... the invitation read. During those early months of 1954 the industrial plants of BMI had also expanded production. Henderson was the undisputed industrial center of Nevada and the central city within a varied of extensive and varied profitable activities.

CORRIE TEN BOOM

New Film About Corrie Ten Boom at First Baptist Church

"Corrie: Behind the Scenes with THE HIDING PLACE," a new full-length color release from World Wide Pictures, will be shown at the First Baptist Church of Henderson, 47 East Atlantic Avenue, on Sunday, May 29, at 6 p.m.

THE HIDING PLACE, a true story filmed in Holland and other European locations, is based on the experiences of Corrie Ten Boom, who, with her father, sister, and brother, provided refuge for countless Jewish families. A secret room was constructed in their home as a hiding place for use during Gestapo raids. The Ten Boom's activities were discovered, and they were sent to prisons and concentration camps.

According to Kenneth Bliss, Director of Distribution for World Wide Pictures, THE HIDING PLACE has been extremely well-received, both by audiences and film critics. "CORRIE" was produced to give people who have seen THE HIDING PLACE or read her many best selling books an opportunity to hear her share many of her memories about her life in Holland, her family, and her lifetime of service to others."

Bliss added that the film "offers a great lesson in the perseverance of a personal faith in a very dark and trying period of world history. Corrie Ten Boom, now in her eighties, has a tremendous vitality, a deep spiritual commitment, and a profound love for her fellow man. We believe we have succeeded in transmitting a part of her zest, personality, and source of strength through this film."

Bliss noted that the film includes "interesting sidelights of the experiences of the cast and crew during the filming of THE HIDING PLACE." The Reverend John Osko, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Henderson, stresses that the showing of "CORRIE" is open to the public free of charge. "We encourage families to plan to attend together, for what we believe will be a memorable experience," he concluded.

In fact, it may surprise you to learn just how much the value of your home has increased.

Depending on your ability to repay, you may be able to obtain an FNB Home Equity Loan for up to 80 percent of the bank's appraised value of your home, less whatever you still owe.

Lake Mead Water Level Declines Less Than 2 Feet In 7 Out Of 10 Years

Lake Mead's water level during April through June has declined less than 2 feet in 7 of the last 10 years (1967-1976), according to Bureau of Reclamation records.

"A reasonably stable or rising water level during the months of April, May, and June is one of the factors important for bass spawning and survival of bass fry and the young fingerlings," stated Lower Colorado Regional Director, Manuel Lopez, Jr.

The Reclamation official cited the records in response to a recent petition circulated in southern Nevada which asked the Bureau of Reclamation not to lower Lake Mead's level this spring. The petition, Lopez said, erroneously stated that lowering of the reservoir in 9 of the past 10 years had destroyed almost all of the bass spawn.

During this 10-year period bass productivity was rated by the Nevada Department of Fish and Game as excellent in 1973, good in 1968, 1969, and 1972, fair for 1970, 1971, 1975, and 1976 and poor in 1967 and 1974.

"Drought conditions in both the Colorado River watershed and in northern California, plus legislative and other legal restraints, make it impossible to hold Lake Mead at the desired level for the bass spawn this spring. The current projected Lake Mead decline during the April-June bass spawning season is now nearly 12 feet with the lake level due to stabilize by the end of June," Lopez explained.

He pointed out that while this condition is undesirable for the bass spawn this particular year, conditions do compare favorably with reservoirs in neighboring states where many are nearly empty with a complete loss of recreational activity.

Lopez said that because of this year's drought the Bureau of Reclamation does not have the latitude as in most years to make adjustments in its water releases to the advantage of the spawn.

"Reclamation most certainly will continue to schedule water releases to accommodate the black bass spawn whenever the weather and legal commitments permit," he said.

Since 1971 the Bureau of Reclamation, the Nevada Department of Fish and Game and the Arizona Game and Fish Department have been investigating reasons why the black bass populations in Lake Mead are declining.

The studies indicate many factors like water temperature in nesting areas, wind, predation, food for the fry and fingerlings, bankline sloughing and lake levels associated with vegetative cover, affect the spawn. Although rising water levels in the spring are an important factor for successful reproduction and survival of the bass, this is certainly not the only important factor, Lopez added.

The studies also will investigate potential methods of enhancing the Lake Mead bass fishery such as placing artificial cover underwater for bass fry and fingerlings, artificial fertilization to increase plant growth in bass spawning areas, introduction of other varieties of black bass that may be adaptable to the water level fluctuations and stocking of fry, fingerlings, and catchable-size bass.

Lake Mead Drops Six Feet In April

Runoff of the Colorado River and its tributaries above Lake Powell during April was only 245,000 acre-feet and during April through July will total only 2.2 million acre-feet, or 28 percent of normal, the Bureau of Reclamation announced today.

The forecast is based on the May 1 water content of 41 snow courses within the watershed area of the upper Colorado River Basin and presumes that precipitation during the remainder of the runoff season will be normal. If subsequent precipitation is significantly less than normal, this year could be the driest in the last 71 years of record.

Lake Powell behind Glen Canyon Dam has declined more than 11 feet since the end of the water year last September.

Lake Powell should rise from its present elevation, 3,653 feet, about 5 feet to elevation 3,658 feet above mean sea level by the end of June. By the end of September 1977, the Lake should drop 10 feet or a total decline of about 16 feet during the year. Releases from Glen Canyon Dam from May to September will be 3.6 million acre-feet with a water year total for 1977 of 8.2 million acre-feet.

Prior to the 1978 spring runoff, the Lake should be about elevation 3,641 feet with an active content of 16.6 million acre-feet.

On the San Juan River, Navajo Lake should receive a runoff of 22 percent of normal. Releases from the lake through the spring and summer months are estimated at 530 cubic feet per second. With the 140,000 acre-foot mean forecast, the lake level should reach elevation 6,039 feet above mean sea level during May.

Although precipitation during April on the Colorado River watershed above Lake Mead was 81 percent of average, seasonal precipitation since September 30, 1976 totals only 40 percent of average of the past 25 years.

Lake Mead dropped 6 feet in April, 2 feet more than anticipated due to statutory limitations on water releases from Glen Canyon Dam. The current projected Lake Mead decline during the April - June bass spawn season is now nearly 12 feet. The lake should reach elevation 1,178 feet above mean sea level by the end of June 1977. The lake's present elevation is 1,182 feet above mean sea level, or about 2 feet higher than a year ago.

'Cactus Nappers' Beware It's Illegal

The peak of the wildflower season is here. Along with the peak of the season come many "cactus-nappers," people who take cactus and wildflowers from out of their natural environment, for their use.

Both the Bureau of Land Management, which is in charge of government owned land in the area, and the National Park Service, which is in charge of the Lake Mead and Lake Mojave areas of the state, have laws against "cactus-napping."

Many people are unaware that they are taking cactus from a national park area, others do not know that the practice is against the law, according to the Bob Huggins, information specialist for the National Park Service in Boulder City.

Sometimes commercial operations go into park areas and take the cactus for reselling. Although some of these groups have been found operating within the boundaries of Lake Mead National Recreation Area they generally stay outside of the area because they know that the Park Service patrols the area more frequently than the BLM patrols theirs, Huggins said.

Fines and jail sentences can be levied against people found "cactus-napping." Legal action varies from case to case depending on the severity of what was done and the intent of the "cactus-napper." Commercial operations can be cited in Federal court and receive fines of up to $500 and six months in jail.

The original law prohibiting the picking, damaging, or removal of any plant or animal from a national park area came with the Yellowstone as the first National Park in the world. Since that time all national park areas have been totally protected.

Local residents, and visitors, interested in wildflowers and the other flora of the area can see them at the Alan Bible Visitors Center along Nevada Highway.

The visitors center is the best place in the Lake Mead area to see the different desert plants, Huggins said. The park naturalist and landscape architect worked together in planning the botanical garden around the center.

The garden contains a unit for each of the ecological areas in the park, so a wide range of plants is on display.

Since the garden is watered year round there are blooms on the plants all year long.

Wildflowers and cactus are right at the peak of their bloom season now and visitors will have a better chance of seeing the flowers because of the regular watering of the garden, Huggins said.

There are informational signs throughout the garden and a park naturalist is on duty in the visitors center from 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. to answer any questions.

LOIS SORENSEN DISPLAYS THE WIDE VARIETY OF YARNS available at the new location of Sorensen's Sewing Center 507 Ave. C.

Sorensen's Sewing Shop At New Location

A Boulder City sewing shop is celebrating its opening in a new location.

Sorensen's Sewing Center "Sew On And Sew Forth" is now located at 509 Ave C. The business was previously located in Kay's Korner.

Sorensen's Sewing Center is an authorized center for Singer Sewing Machines and Kirby Vacuums. They also do repair work on all brands of sewing machines and vacuums.

In addition to selling and repairing sewing machines and vacuums the store also carries a wide variety of fabrics, linens, yarns and sewing notions. These items were added to the store after the move from Kay's Korner.

Sorensen's also carry a complete line of custom-made and do-it-yourself draperies. They carry everything anyone would need in drapery, according to Lois Sorensen, who works at the shop. Custom-made bedspreads, made to match the draperies, are also available.

The shop stocks a wide variety of fabrics, including cottons, polyesters, and flat folds. "We carry everything but wedding fabric," Mrs. Sorensen said.

Unger, Brunswick and Rochelle yarns are also available at the shop. These knitting and crocheting yarns are popular items, according to Mrs. Sorensen.

A new line of latch hook rugs has also been added to the store's stock. Painted canvas, rug yarn and latch rug hooks are available there.

Mrs. Sorensen said she thought the rug making equipment would sell well. "It's a fairly new, but popular, hobby. A lot of people are doing it," she said.

Sewing is becoming more and more popular, according to Mrs. Sorensen. "Hobbies are in right now. Besides the accomplishment of making something yourself, you can save a lot by making your own clothes."

The store stocks Simplicity patterns and hopes to be able to add McCall's patterns soon. Needlepoint and cross-hatch kits can also be special ordered through the store.

Ed and Lois Sorensen, Boulder City residents for eight and one-half years, and owners of the store, run a family operation. Two sons, a daughter and Mrs. Sorensen's mother work at the shop.

The Sorensen's have outlets in Henderson, Kingman and Bullhead City where repair work is accepted.

Rainbow Club Listed In Mobil Travel Guide

The Rainbow Club & Casino in Downtown Henderson has been listed in the 1977 edition of the Mobil Travel Guide, one of the finest travel guidebooks available, for the 8th consecutive year. This announcement was made today by owner Art Liebert. The Rainbow Club also again received a special award from this prestigious publication as one of the few restaurants in the entire country to be rated "An unusually good value". The Rainbow Club is the only Henderson restaurant to be awarded with a listing in the Mobil Travel Guide.

Over 20,000 restaurants, hotels, motels and resorts are listed and rated on a one- to five-star basis in the seven volume Mobil Travel Guide, which has been compared by travel experts to the famed Guide-Michelin.

To be listed in the Mobil Travel Guide, the establishment must be personally inspected by an impartial, trained inspector, who is employed by a completely independent organization. The inspector's findings are reported to an editorial board of the organization, which has instituted a set of standards for listings and ratings.

Each of the seven regional editions provides valuable information on local history, sightseeing, amusements, sports, and recreation facilities, in addition to the star-rated food and lodging listings. Also included are regional road atlases and detailed maps of major cities, special auto-tour routes, and helpful advice to travelers.

The 1977 Mobil Travel Guide books are available at Mobil service stations, bookstores, magazine outlets, and other places where books and magazines are sold.

Safety Tips For Push Mowers

Mowing the lawn with efficiency and safety is in your power—if you use your power mower right. Here are some basic safety tips on using a push mower from experts at the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute.

1. It's essential to read the owner's manual carefully before using the mower.
  2. Keep children and pets away from the mower area.
  3. Wear sturdy shoes and close-fitting slacks. Never operate the mower in bare feet or sandals.
  4. Never adjust or leave the machine without stopping the mower and disconnecting the spark plug.
  5. Don't mow wet grass. It can cause you to slip and lose control and blades and discharge chute to clog.
  6. Steer the push mower across slopes, never up and down. Always watch your footing, especially on slopes.
  7. Follow proper mowing patterns to avoid cutting the cord with an electric mower.
  8. Make sure to keep the mower flat on the ground to protect legs and feet. Never lift, tilt or pull it toward you.
- Follow these tips and you'll be mowing yourself to safety.

Graduation Around The World

What's the best way to reward a new graduate, now ready for bigger and better things?

At one time, among the Parintin Indians of South America, it was with a new bride, awarded to the brand new warrior after his coming-of-age ceremony. The Tacuna Indians, also of South America, gave the initiated a sniff of tobacco and a formal introduction to the tribe's sacred trumpets. Their neighbors, the Carari, felt that what a man needed on such an important day was a drink—a heady blend of charred fish, game bones and ashes.

Our own graduation ceremonies are probably descended from those of the Middle Ages. The mortar board is said to symbolize the quadrivium, the four-subject curriculum of ancient universities. Another theory is that the shape protected wearers from the rain. The gowns worn at commencements were originally devised to keep English dons warm during lectures in dank halls.

A Day With The Fish At Lake Mead

As told by Mary Stafford

It was a beautiful warm, sunny day, with hardly a breeze in the air—the kind of day when you have momentary thoughts of ditching work and doing something out of the ordinary.

As I walked into the HOME NEWS office I was greeted with "today's the day."

Several weeks ago I had called Dave Buck, Superintendent of the Lake Mead Fish Hatchery, and asked if I might do a story on the procedures used to stock the lake with trout. He answered affirmatively and promised to call when the lake temperatures were right and now, this was the day.

When I arrived at the hatchery, I discovered a group of fourth, fifth and sixth graders from Robert Taylor School were expected for a tour so asked if I could tag along.

The hatchery, located on Route 41, is the most modern and largest of its kind in Nevada and the state has five others in various counties.

Groundbreaking for the Lake Mead Hatchery, a function of the State Fish and Game Department, was held in the fall of 1972 and the first fish were released in April of 1974. The trout produced are 8" to 10" in length, weighing four to five pounds.

Inside the hatchery building there is a nursery room with an incubator and nursery ponds. One tray in the incubator can hold 8,000 to 10,000 eggs.

Buck, who guided our group, explained that a female can produce 1,800 eggs in a one year cycle. The average life span of a trout is nine years. Cutthroat trout are native to Nevada and both the Cutthroat and Rainbow are raised at the hatchery.

There is also a laboratory used for testing diseased fish which can then be treated and cured. Our superintendent - guide is also the "doctor" of the complex as well as a 24 hour resident on the premises.

The state requires that there be someone on call seven days a week, 24 hours a day, so both the superintendent and the assistant superintendent, LaMont Turner, live on the grounds with their families in homes built by the State overlooking Lake Mead.

Outside, but well protected from the elements, are more nursery and rearing ponds, around 56 in all, with trout of varying sizes. Here they continue to be well tended and nurtured on a high protein diet until ready to be released into lake waters.

Approximately 200,000 pounds of trout are reared annually and the hatchery also supplies other areas, such as Spring Creek and Eagle Valley, with fish.

Water, from the BMI pumping system, circulates constantly through the ponds and the hatchery also has its own tertiary water treatment plant. After the water has been thoroughly purified, it is emptied into Lake Mead. Should there be a malfunction in the water treatment plant, the hatchery has an auxiliary system enabling the waters to be recirculated.

Planting of the fish in the lake waters takes place during April and May when the trout have reached their prescribed size and the water has reached the desirable temperatures.

The fish are removed from their rearing ponds in a sieved bucket, each load weighed and recorded, so the department knows the exact poundage being released.

A conveyer belt carries the fish onto a truck, equipped with a large tank with a recirculating pump containing specially treated water to which oxygen is added.

The fish are then transported to a cove at the lake where they are transferred quickly downhill through a pipe, similar to a stove pipe, onto the Nevada State Fish and Game Department's year old four pontoon barge. This too is equipped with large tanks into which the fish are drained.

The fish are finally released, through pipes, in waters of around a 200 foot depth, close to the channel which is 400 feet deep.

Buck said that through this process the temperature of the waters in which the fish are carried will only rise about one degree.

In addition to Buck and Turner, the staff at the hatchery includes Jack Clifton, Lee Sitton and Norm Wood plus Dan Jewett who works during their busy season.

On the day I visited, 2,100 pounds of trout were released into the lake. Perhaps one day some of these will provide a good fish story (the one that got away) or a delicious trout dinner for the sportsman - all thanks to the efforts and care of the Nevada State Fish and Game.

DAVE BUCK, SUPERINTENDENT OF THE LAKE MEAD FISH HATCHERY, guides school tours through the installation. In the background are the incubator trays.

PART OF THE 56 Rearing Ponds at the Lake Mead Fish Hatchery.

TROUT ARE BEING CARRIED BY CONVEYER BELT from the rearing ponds into the specially designed tank, the first step in the process of stocking the lake.

THE NEVADA STATE FISH AND GAME'S barge, on the left, awaits the transfer of the trout from the truck's tank.

TROUT ARE FINALLY RELEASED into the waters of Lake Mead following a well supervised and safe journey from the hatchery.

Comprehensive Medical Program Available To Henderson Children

The Economic Opportunity Board has made available to Henderson children a complete medical program.

All children six, seven, eight and nine years old who reside in Henderson are eligible for a preliminary physical screening by qualified personnel. Follow-up comprehensive medical, dental, and social care, however, is given only to children who qualify according to CSA income guidelines or special extenuating circumstances. While direct medical care is limited to children of the above age group and restrictions, the program itself is much wider in scope.

Through contact with families in lower income levels, the program is designed to familiarize these with community resources available to all members of a family, ascertain what services are needed in the community that are not now available, and assess the nutritional immunizational status of the area.

Las Vegas

Blood Bank

by Nancy Jones

On Wednesday, May 18, the Las Vegas Blood Bank traveled to Boulder City to collect blood from BCHS students. The crew arrived at 8 A.M. and collected till 10 A.M.

The nurse said there were a few requirements to begin. First, students must be 17 years old and they must have the consent of their parents. In order to have parent's permission, the students must take home a minor permit card, which their parents have to sign.

The blood goes in pint plastic bags, making it easier for storage and unbreakability.

The blood service not only serves Las Vegas but a 250-mile radius around Las Vegas.

The blood bank service comes to high schools twice a year, once each semester.

Community College For Henderson?

In a recent interview by our publisher with Bucky Buchanan, chairman of the University Board of Regents, Morry Zenoff reported that he had discussed the possibilities of getting a community college in Henderson and thanked Bucky for his efforts in that direction in the last session of the Legislature.

Of course your efforts are appreciated. But it will be two years before the next legislative session. Should we not start planning now and line up all our ducks in a row? Let's get some real power in this well deserved drive.

To those of us who have some past memory of the development of UNLV, the original idea was to have the University established in Boulder City. It was to be a university town, like Palo Alto is to Stanford, and Westwood is to UCLA.

But the powers then runnings things in the state, land sellers, and other groups picked the present site of UNLV. It could have been in Boulder City if we had acted soon enough and put on all the legislative pressure we know how.

We have more power in the Legislature than we ever had before. Let's use it. A Community College in Henderson - Boulder City area makes good sense. Let's start our actions now.

And he will box no more...

"Promising Freshman Wallace Ward." One of the most promising kids I've ever had," "Potential for taking the nationals" - these all described an 18 year old graduate of Boulder City High School who was attending the University of Nevada - Reno and was a promising young boxer.

After only five fights, three of which he won by knockouts, Wallace, of 620 Avenue H, will have to hang up his gloves. A freak injury which can cause permanent amnesia will prevent him from fighting in the ring again.

"It was hard to take. When I found out that this was the end of a dream that I had of winning the nationals, I just didn't know what to think," he said sitting near the trophies and articles he had collected in one short year at Reno.

Wallace wrestled and played tennis while in high school here and decided that boxing was a natural talent he possessed after working out in a gym in Las Vegas. He started boxing an old tire in his backyard and loved to watch the fights especially as Muhammed Ali gained fame. After spending a lot of time lifting weights (which he later found not be the best for boxers) Wallace received a scholarship to UNR to box. He made the varsity over two Sophomores in his weight class, 132 (lightweight). He won each fight and gained confidence. His coaches decided he was championship material. In a tournament against Navy boxers, Wallace lost a close fight to one of the finest boxers in the country. Everything looked up.

Then it happened. During one fight, Wallace was hit on the side of the face and he didn't feel the same. It was a light jab and shouldn't have bothered him. After the fight his coach took him to the hospital where tests confirmed a blood clot and a condition which could cause amnesia if he didn't stop boxing.

"I want to point out that it wasn't boxing that caused it," he said. "This condition existed for a long time and it only became apparent during a fight. Because of the head gear and gloves, very little can happen to you in the ring," said Wallace.

It was all over. Even though he received a championship trophy from the 1977 Navy Intercollegiate Festival in California for outstanding boxing and the Most Outstanding Freshman Boxer Award, Wallace Ward's days in the ring were ended.

"I don't regret the past at all. I had a lot of fun, and won some things that I wouldn't have if I hadn't tried. Sure I wanted to win the nationals, but I'm just glad that nothing serious happened to me," he said.

Wallace plans to attend the University of Nevada - Las Vegas to continue his major of managerial science. He plans on becoming an insurance salesman in the future and hopes to keep active in sports, especially boxing. "Las Vegas does not have a university team and I think they should. I would like to coach or be an assistant coach where I can put my experience to work helping others," he said.

It all started out in the backyard with an old tire and developed into a promising future - but not being able to box doesn't end anything for Wallace Ward - he's just beginning. One person with so much talent is sure to go places.

WALLACE WARD WITH HIS MEMORIES - An old tire that started his training, his punching bag, and the two hard-earned trophies he won before having to leave the ring.

Levi Strauss Official Explains Site Selection

This was the message news personnel came away with at the May 18th Press Conference at McCarran Field, as key Levi Strauss Corporation executives were introduced to area media: Henderson and environs potentially loom as Nevada's premiere industrial growth center.

Patrick R. McMahon, National Jeans Distribution Manager for the Strauss Corporation, indicated that his firm had thoroughly investigated the state -- including the Reno-Sparks area and North Las Vegas -- in locating its new multi-million dollar warehouse and distribution site. "But the Henderson parcel was 'it', and we knew it the minute we saw it."

This should be particularly encouraging to Henderson - Boulder residents, because the Strauss Corporation has proved itself a forerunner in the area of breaking new ground. McMahon stated that -- "We (Levi Strauss) have almost become 'missionaries' in developing industrial sites. Historically we've gone first into areas not heavily industrialized, and then watched things blossom out as other companies followed us in."

There will be plenty of room for those firms following the Levi Strauss lead. The warehouse and distribution center will occupy 45 acres of the 264 acre industrial park, which is located to the right of the hill leading to Railroad Pass and near the Mission Hills residential development.

Mission Hills, in fact -- as well as the aesthetics of the entire area -- played a prominent role in the site selection by the Strauss firm, which will structure its 250,000 square-foot complex to blend in with the environment.

Blending in with the Community is a key requisite for Strauss, too. McMahon stressed that his firm places heavy emphasis on company involvement with the community, and expressed the hope that the community would take a similar interest in Levi Strauss.

Other prime considerations for selection of the area site were pointed out by Martin L. Foster, Planning Director for the Strauss firm. These included Henderson's location in relation to Strauss manufacturing plants in the Southwest...the potential labor force the Henderson - Boulder area will generate (some 300 to 325 people will be required)...the adequate number of secondary industries necessary to the day-to-day Strauss operation...and of course the value of land costs in the area.

Groundbreaking for the Levi Strauss facility will take place "as soon as possible", according to McMahon, and the complex itself will be completed by the end of the calendar year.

At the conclusion of the press conference, one area reporter wryly asked if the Strauss Company -- in its role as "missionary" -- planned here in this room." McMahon's humor drew appreciative response -- especially from Home News Publisher M.M. Zenoff, who looked appropriately dapper for the occasion in his tan corduroy casual ensemble...by Levi Strauss, of course.

'Breaker! Breaker!' C-B Film To Screen

American International's "Breaker! Breaker!", dealing with the new "citizen band" phenomenon and starring Karate Champion Chuck Norris, Gordon Murdoch and Ms. Terry O'Connor, will open MAY 29TH at the RAINBOW THEATRE.

Produced and directed by Don Hulet, "Breaker! Breaker!" explores the story of millions of Americans communicating while driving their autos and trucks.

The film deals in depth with interstate truckers who become involved with a corrupt and sadistic family who run a ghost town in California by their own savage rules.

CHUCK NORRIS, Karate Champion, as a trucker in "Breaker! Breaker!" uses his C-B radio to call for aid in a battle with corrupt cops. The American International release opens May 29 at the RAINBOW THEATRE.

There's a movie you won't want to miss coming to the RAINBOW THEATRE on MAY 25TH. It stars a cast of young people in a fun-fest involving "The Van" and you'll want to be in on the hilarity.

Starring as the Van's owner is Stuart Getz, whose love life takes a giant step forward once he sits behind the wheel of his proudest possession: Harry Moses is his pal who never had that problem. Deborah White and Marcie Barkin are the girls they pursue, while busy Sally (played by Connie Lisa Marie) makes things hard for her jealous guy, portrayed by Stephen Oliver.

Lots of the action is outdoors, naturally, with exciting scenes on the beach, in the desert, and just driving around. The van's waterbed is a highlight too, in a matter of speaking.

Director Sam Grossman and producer Paul Lewis have brought a sparkling light-hearted zest to the screenplay by Robert Rosenthal and Celia Susan Coleto, and photography by Irvin Goodnoff is bright and appealing.

The "Why" and "What" of Art

By Edna R. Salee

greats as well as the phonies of Modern Art.

whose portrait by him clearly revealed her decadent nature, still paint with honeyed brush portraits of the Duchess of Alba, his dearly beloved?

Why does an artist create the way he does, and what is the meaning of his work?

Why did the Cave artists of pre-historic times paint their pictures in hidden caves far from travelled areas?

What is necessary to unlock the mystery of art? To make of all of us, if not connoisseurs, at least viewers who will understand and enjoy what we are looking at

Why did Degas paint portraits etched in vinegar, psychologically undressing his relatives for all the world to see?

Knowing the artist, when and how he lived, his motivations, his family, his loves, his hates, his politics, in short what we would call "gossip" today, is the means by which we can humanize him, make him real and begin to understand his work.

How was it that Modigliani, gifted and handsome, raised in a bourgeois Jewish banking family in Leghorn, drank and drugged himself to death at the age of 36?

And what of Picasso? Genius or mocker? Why did he go through his Cubist, Blue and Rose Periods? What is the meaning of his "Guernica" with its people and animals screaming their agonies to the heavens?

Is Abstract Art real or phony? What does it mean and why have today's artists exploded their designs on canvas resembling nothing in life?

In the ensuing columns, we'll discuss art and artists from the accidentally discovered Cave Art at Altamira in Spain, when a nobleman's hunting dog fell down a hole, to the

Why did Goya, the Spanish Court Painter and sardonic observer of life, despising the lechery of the Court, avoiding the advances of the vicious and corrupt Queen Maria Luisa

What of Chagall? Was it his love for his Bella and for the little Russian village of his birth which created the lyrical mood in his paintings making of them visual poetry?

What was Van Gogh's relationship with Gauguin, with his brother Theo and with Pere Tanguy?

Why did Toulouse Lautree's crippling accident in his teens which made of him an unsightly dwarf also become the cause of his success as a great artist?

Knowing all of these "behind the scenes" stories relating the lives, loves and scandals, as well as the potential, economical and historical background of the artists, will give us the key to understanding them and their works more clearly.

Program for May 18

A new member was inducted into the club on this date. The new member is Jerry Wagers from the National Park Service.

A very unusual program was presented by Rotarian Paul Fisher, who took the Rotary Club on a guided tour through the Fisher Pen Factory. Here the Rotarians saw how Fisher made his famous pressurized space pen. The Rotarians saw all the various stages of the process such as how the ink cartridges were filled, pressurized, sealed and inspected; and as the tour came to an end each Rotarian was presented with a sample space pen.

Complaints Welcomed by Henderson City Mgr.

A recent story out of Henderson City Hall indicating that City Manager, Robert Campbell, has set up a system whereby local residents can file complaints in a formal manner through a new complaints "form", should receive kudos from all of us. And, we send our congratulations to Bob on this innovative action.

At the same time we must remind City Hall that just filing a complaint may not be the entire answer. The complaints must be investigated and acted upon. A complaint received and not answered would defeat the whole program. Certainly City Hall has thought of this. We'll be watching to see how it works.

If the reactions are positive, perhaps Boulder City could start a similar program. At the very least it is a good start to give our residents more voice in city government and its policies.

We again urge that Boulder City take a hard look at this program. It may be good for both our communities.

As we said before, we will watch it closely.

Senior Citizens Eligible For Additional Benefits

Jean E. Dutton, Clark County Assessor, announced today that senior citizens will be eligible to receive additional benefits because of recently passed legislation. Under the Revised Senior Citizens' Property Tax Assistance Act, the maximum household income was increased from $10,000 to $11,000 and the table for percentage of assistance was changed to give additional benefits to those in the lower income brackets.

The new household income percentage levels are as follows:

$0 to $1,999 - 90 percent tax credit or $300, whichever is less; 2,000 to $3,999 - 75 percent; $4,000 to $6,999 - 50 percent; $7,000 to $9,999 - 25 percent; $10,000 to $11,000 - 10 percent.

To be eligible, a claimant must be a resident of Nevada; own and occupy the home on the date he files; have attained the age of 62 by June 30, 1977, and have a total household income of less than $11,000.

Dutton urged all newly eligible senior citizen homeowners whose household income is between $10,000 and $11,000 to contact the Clark County Assessor's office and obtain the proper forms to file for their property tax exemption.

Church Building Site In Searchlight To Be Dedicated Sunday

Ordinarily such a dedication would be common-place, usual and not important or significant. But not in Searchlight. Nothing about Searchlight has ever been common or insignificant. The discovery of gold "in them thar hills" in 1897 by George Frederick (Fred) Colton was significant. In the darkness, where a searchlight was needed to see clearly the discovery, an unusual name was attached to the place.

The boom days that followed were Western and flush, with 26 saloons and un-numbered houses for other amusements of the flesh. No one seemed to think of a house of worship. The boom passed. Life in a typical Nevada fashion went on. In fact eighty-years have passed and there never has been a church house in Searchlight. In the seventieth year of the town of small group determined that there must be a church; not a house, but a body of believers. Community Church was founded. For eleven years the little group of worshippers, numbering from five to sixty five, has met Sunday mornings in Town Hall, and grateful for the privilege.

A young Colton, George Gordon (Gordon), grandson of Frederick, grew up in Searchlight. During high-school days in L.V. he was known for his football prowess, and variously dubbed "The Hard Rock Miner" and "Flash Gordon". Some years were spent away from Searchlight. In 1965 Gordon returned and felt the lack of a Christian testimony in his home town. In 1966 he, his wife and two others formed a church group. They named it Searchlight Community Church. Now, mid-1977, in memory of their lamented loved one (Gordon died in August 1975) his wife and son, Gale and Stanton Colton, have presented to Searchlight Community Church 2 1/4 acres on which it is hoped the first church house in eighty-years of history will be standing in 1977.

The site lies one mile East of the Highways' crossing down town, and slightly South, bordering Searchlight Cemetery on its East side. To get there, follow the markers, locating the Cemetery.

The first public meeting on the grounds will be held next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock. At that time testimonies will be given, a message by the pastor, and the dedication of the ground will mark this significant occasion.

The general public, all church members, former friends and residents who grew up in Searchlight are invited and expected as honored guests for this dedication.

Minor Home Maintenance And Repairs This grant provides services to home owners whose income is not more than $400 a month for a single senior, and $625 for a couple. The Foundation is equipped with crews of workers who have the tools and equipment necessary to handle most minor carpentry, plumbing, and electrical repairs for the cost of parts only.

Small Appliance Repairs The grant also helps seniors with small appliance repairs, such as toasters, broilers, blenders, irons, fans, can openers, mixers, electric frying pans, etc., but does not include T.V.'s, radios, washers/dryers, or refrigerators. It is available to Seniors regardless of whether they rent or own their homes or apartments, but incomes must still fall within the grant guidelines. The only charge, if any, is for the parts used to repair the small appliances.

Appliances may be dropped off at several locations throughout Las Vegas, Overton, Henderson, Searchlight, Boulder City, and the Valley.

For more information about the "drop off" locations near you, or services offered by the Old Timers Foundation, call 876-7820.

How do you get the most for your insured savings? It's like comparing oranges. You have to look into it. Because insured savings doesn't always mean you're getting the highest interest. By comparison, some financial institutions just don't pay the highest rates. It's that simple.

But at First Western Savings, you get the highest legal rates paid on insured savings. From 5.25 percent to 7.75 percent interest compounded daily from date of deposit to date of withdrawal. Higher interest than any bank. And after all, more is better. No matter how you slice it.

The ABC's of economical car care.

Care for Your Car

Neglect of cooling system makes car vulnerable to trouble

The car owner who neglects his cooling system is more vulnerable than ever to car trouble.

This statement from Car Care Council is based on a study by a major manufacturer of car coolants involving about 1,200 cars. The results showed more than a third of the three-year-old models checked had products of corrosion in their coolants.

The percentages were: One year old: 22%; two years old: 32%; three years old: 36%. None of the cars checked was an "old" car.

The same survey showed that, on average, nearly half the cars checked needed some kind of cooling-system service. One year old: 35%; two years old: 49%; three years old: 53%. What has been happening is a fairly simple story: the need for smaller more efficient cars has imposed a need for smaller engines.

To achieve performance comparable with that offered by the "standard" car of the past, designers have had to make today's engines work harder. And when an engine works harder, it generates more heat.

About a third of the heat produced by today's internal-combustion engine must be taken away from the engine block and transferred safely to the outer air. This is the function of the cooling system.

Since engines work more efficiently and give more miles per gallon at higher rather than lower temperatures, designers have resorted to pressurized systems in which the radiator cap plays a major role. So, too, does the kind of coolant used to transfer heat from the engine to the radiator where it can be passed to the surrounding air.

A coolant with ethylene glycol as its base not only protects the engine against freezing but against boiling, too. In fact, what for years has been called "anti-freeze" now has to be an anti-surge, anti-foam, anti-steam, anti-corrosion, anti-boll "anti-freeze."

If a 50-50 mixture of water and a reliable brand of coolant is used in a system pressurized to about 15 pounds per square inch, the boiling point is raised to about 265° F (about 129° C) and the freezing is lowered to about -34° F (about -36° C).

Car Care Council points out that the old idea of a "permanent" coolant is obsolete. Certainly a high quality coolant mixed with water in that 50-50 ratio will continue to provide protection against freezing year after year. However, the higher engine temperatures of the modern car will break down the corrosion inhibitors in the coolant much more quickly than in past years.

Consequently, the Council suggests you flush your car's cooling system and change your coolant once a year, preferably before that summer vacation trip.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS IN CITIES

Remember that most traffic light systems in cities are timed to a specific speed as a means of keeping the traffic flowing at efficient speeds and to safeguard crossings.

By observing the proper speed limit as set by the lights, you can avoid sudden stops and thus save gasoline in the bargain.

There is no point in trying to beat them.

Check battery's health after winter ravages

Of all car components, the ravages of winter weather take their heaviest toll on the battery. While the battery is in no position to take a vacation during balmy spring and summer months, it should be given special treatment so that it might live to serve another winter.

Battery manufacturers give the following advice on determining how much life is left in your battery.

1. With the engine off and the ignition switch in the accessory position, press the turn-signal lever. If the click you hear is slower than when the engine is operating, it's a sign your battery is below normal power. Dimming of lights also indicates problems.

2. Corrosion around the case and terminal may indicate possible battery trouble.

3. Water being required too frequently or one cell needing more water than the others may also be warning signals.

Original equipment batteries can be expected to last about 36 months or 30,000 miles of ordinary

One way to check on the health of your car's battery is to have an automotive technician perform a hydrometer check on it. A hard winter's driving may have drained power, making your car susceptible to battery failure on your vacation trip.

driving. Beyond that period, the battery may be living on borrowed time.

The most reliable method of determining a battery's condition is to give it a hydrometer test. The hydrometer reveals the concentration of sulphuric acid which affects the state of charge in each battery cell. A fully charged battery will give a hydrometer reading of 1.260 or higher specific gravity. A reading of 1.210 or lower indicates the battery needs recharging. A reading which indicates a greater variance of more than 50 degrees between cells means a new battery is needed.

Worn belts may mean trouble — best to check 'em

Neglected belts and hose can cause a lot of trouble if they are allowed to deteriorate. A loose V-Belt can cause your engine to overheat, your battery to run down and accessories such as air conditioning and power steering to malfunction.

A burst or leaking coolant hose will cause the loss of expensive coolant or possible destruction of your engine due to overheating.

The Gates Rubber Company offers the following checklist for checking belts and hose:

Most belts look fine on the top even when they are in terrible condition. So when you check your car's V-Belts, make sure you look at the belt sides and bottom. Here's what to look for:

1. Cracks on the underside of the belt can enlarge as the belt flexes. Cracked belts can break without warning.
2. Glazed belt sidewalls may slip and fail to grip the pulley properly. This can cause a discharged battery, engine overheating and premature belt failure.

3. A grease- or oil-soiled belt with slick sidewalls increases wear and slippage.

4. A belt that is frayed or peeling at bottom corners can cause rough running. The belt may break or slip off without warning.

5. Split belt — the top may look good but the under sections of the belt have separated. The belt may soon fail.

While you are checking the condition of your belts, make sure they are correctly tensioned. A loose belt will cause slippage and key components — fan, alternator, water pump, etc. — to slow down thereby affecting their performance. Checking belt tension is relatively easy. As a "rule of thumb," tension is considered sufficient if the belt cannot be pushed down (deflected) more than about 1/4" with your thumb placed on the belt midway between the pulleys.

Pedal action can often tell how brakes are

Unlike a tire that suddenly goes flat without a warning, your car's brake system often gives you ample notice that danger is imminent. Learning how to recognize those warning signals may give you time to correct the situation before a crisis occurs.

The action of your brake pedal is a good barometer of brake condition. A low brake pedal indicates need for fluid in the master cylinder or a brake adjustment.

A spongy action in the pedal could signify air in the lines, deteriorating hose or worn rubber parts in the master cylinder.

Fading brake pedal action could mean badly worn or glazed lining or contaminated brake fluid. If extreme pressure is needed to stop, a sticky piston in the wheel cylinder or master cylinder, pinched brake hoses or lines may be suspected.

Noisy brakes are indications of possible poor brake-shoe-to-drum contact, weak or broken brake springs.

In any case, have your car's brakes checked every 10,000 miles.

New York cars are polluting

State-wide auto emissions tests show that 45% of New York State automobile owners are needlessly polluting the air and wasting gasoline, according to Commissioner Peter A. A. Berle of the Department of Environmental Conservation.

"Some 80-85% of the polluters could meet State standards for auto emissions and save money by simple, inexpensive carburetor adjustments," Commissioner Berle said. "Any garage can test a car at idle to check the carburetor."

Periodic lube job essential to car health

"For the want of a nail..." begins an old saying that traces the fall of the kingdom to a missing horseshoe nail. Substitute the word lubricant for nail and your car could be immobilized.

While car makers recommend chassis lubrication at differing periods, the service should not be neglected. Lubrication and periodic alignment are virtually the only services required by your car's steering system, which includes the steering linkage, steering arms and ball joints.

Failure to maintain these components properly can lead to premature tire wear, steering problems such as road wander and loss of stability.

Check your car's owners manual for recommendations of how often to lubricate.

PROTECT your automobile!

Repairs to a car damaged by fire can be costly and sometimes impossible. Your present automobile insurance policy should offer you enough coverage to repair or replace your car if it is damaged by fire, theft or vandalism.

Six ways to stem rising gas use demonstrated by AAA

An economy driving demonstration conducted by Automobile Club of Michigan shows that motorists can stem what could be a record-setting gas consumption year by using conservative driving techniques and practicing good maintenance.

To help combat an alarming rise in gas consumption, Auto Club conducted a test with two identical cars that showed conservative versus jack-rabbit driving can result in a 60 per cent increase in miles per gallon of gas.

The cars, 1977 Chevrolet Caprice Classics equipped with one-gallon test beakers, were driven over a 10-mile long freeway and city street course in the Detroit area.

One car was driven with jackrabbit techniques while the other, which started the course at the same time, was driven conservatively. The test was supervised for Auto Club by Detroit Testing Laboratory.

The poorly driven car finished the course only 25 seconds ahead and obtained 10.04 miles per gallon while the other vehicle obtained 16.3 miles per gallon. Over a 10,000-mile year, Auto Club projects that the good driver would save $222 in fuel costs compared with the bad driver.

Auto Club states that significant fuel savings only can be made by reducing near-home travel.

Two persons car pooling to work daily would save 25 per cent on the fuel used weekly by each person. Car pooling for other near-home travel, such as shopping, would save even more fuel.

While both cars used in these tests were in similar mechanical condition, a number of studies indicates that maintenance is an important factor in fuel economy. For example, a previous AAA study reports a tune-up can result in an immediate nine to 15 per cent increase in gasoline mileage.

"Once you've had your car tuned, don't forget about it," AAA advises. Attention to proper tire pressure, radiator temperature and brake adjustment also helps save gasoline, AAA comments.

High pitched, musical whine that increases in frequency with higher engine speeds and does not stop instantly when the ignition key is shut off. It fast idle has as its source the generator or alternator.

Housewife's tune-up center makes women feel at ease

Fleet owners also come to her for regular service

Two years ago, Catherine "Kay" Butler was just another housewife who dreaded taking her car in for service. Today, she is the owner of a successful tune-up center in Portland, Ore. that caters to female car owners.

"I knew other women felt as uneasy as I did talking to service managers and mechanics about repair work we didn't understand," Mrs. Butler states as the reason she went into business.

"That's why I wanted my service center to be a place where women could relax in pleasant surroundings while they wait, be confident the work was being done properly and feel free to ask questions." Her service center, Tune-Up Experts, is exactly that.

Every part of the facility reflects the woman's touch. In the spotless office, customers can sip coffee on the house, read the latest issue of Cosmopolitan or Ladies Home Journal while relaxing in soft, comfortable chairs, or just chat with Mrs. Butler about her many office plants and flowers.

"This is where I do my thing," Mrs. Butler says as she points to a "Sidewalk Superintendents Welcome" sign on the office wall. "I try to make our customers feel at home, answer their questions as best I can and explain what we're doing to their car."

She admits her mechanical knowledge is limited, but talks with pride about her chief mechanic, David Chun, "who is on a first-name basis with everything under the hood."

"I call David my resident genius," she says. "He does the actual work but is also very helpful in explaining to a customer what's wrong with the car and how it should be fixed." Mrs. Butler's service center specializes in tune-ups and minor repairs but she has developed another business evaluating used cars for women who want to know more about a car before they buy it.

"This is one thing I preach loud and long — have a qualified mechanic give any used car the once over before the deal is signed. Too often, women are more concerned about how a car looks rather than how it runs. Color is secondary. It's the motor that gets you around town."

She is also very specific when it comes to the value of periodic maintenance. "Just being a woman is no excuse for letting a car fall apart from neglect. Change parts at recommended intervals, keep the oil level full, use the proper fuel, check the brake pedal for fade, make sure the lights work properly and the battery cells are full, and check the pattern wear on the inside of the tires. These are all simple checks that anyone can make."

While a significant number of Tune-Up Experts' customers are women, Kay Butler does not discriminate. "Men customers with balky engines are welcome anytime. In fact, we have some fleet accounts and taxi cabs that come in for tune-ups and preventive maintenance on a regular basis."

Evaluating the success of her new business, Mrs. Butler says, "All in all, the first two years have been a lot of fun and an occasional headache. But one thing I know for certain: I don't have to worry where to take my car the next time it needs a tune-up."

Mrs. Catherine "Kay" Butler makes an appointment to have a car brought in to her Tune-Up Experts service center in Portland, Ore. She started the business to cater to female car owners who felt uneasy when talking to mechanics about repair work.

New tires go on rear

If you are buying a new pair of replacement tires, put them on the rear wheels for better traction and handling. A single new tire should be paired on the rear axle with the tire having the most tread depth of the other three, the RMA advises.

When mounting new tires, limit speeds to 55 m.p.h. for the first 50 miles to enable all tires to adjust to one another so that they can function as an integral unit.
