

There's A New Look For The City's Water Treatment Plant

By Lorna Kesterson

A few years ago when the water system was drained in the center of town, children had great fun catching fish that were flushed down Center Street.

Many were still alive and wiggling as the water poured down the street.

The city of Henderson contracted to take over the water treatment plant for $1 a year from BMI and city officials are proud of what has happened in the plant since June 1.

"I had reservations about having the city take over the plant," Geoffrey Billingsley, public works director, said, "but now I'm glad we did. I'm proud of the work and the people who have been working there, they've done an outstanding job of putting it together."

The mainstay at the plant is John McCormack, who also supervises the city's wastewater treatment plants. McCormack, who is enthusiastic about his new responsibility, feels that besides improved service by the plant there will be water conservation in the future operations there.

The city council, prior to June 1, voted to take over the operations of the plant at the request of BMI (Basic Management, Inc.), in order to better satisfy new federal regulations on safe water restrictions which are the responsibility of the city.

Built In 1942

One of the reservations the city had about taking over the water treatment plant, which is located on Water Street, was the age of the installation. Since it was built in 1942, its life was questionable. However, officials have found that their fears were unfounded.

"It's basically a fine plant and with continual renovation and maintenance work we can operate within government standards," McCormack said.

The main problem when the city took over was to get it clean and rid the plant of the algae that had built up over the years. So far they have put about 60 gallons of paint on the plant to make it clean and presentable.

Then the workers there donned rubber wading boots which came to the chest and they scraped the filters so the plant would not have to be shut down. They built a vacuum cleaner which took up the algae which was floating around the believe that they can use the cleaner in other uses. They plan this type of cleaning annually.

The plant has a capacity of 12 million gallons a day, however, the city uses about seven million gallons a day to make the cost more economical when shared with water from the Southern Nevada water project. Using any more water than that jumps the price up because of the pumping Billingsley said.

For treating the water the city uses approximately a half-ton of chlorine a week.

New VA Chief of Staff Named Here

Morry Story

Tales of Two Cities

We said he had a '39 Mercedes when it was a '39 Ford, and we were very sorry for the error until we found out from an antique guy the market is higher for the Ford. Yet we must continue to tell you Henderson City Manager Bob Campbell drove the family heirloom back from Excelsior Springs, Missouri last weekend -- almost back. He got to Flagstaff and its old age started to show. Cold, tired and forlorn, our erstwhile expert of city stuff called it quits rented a U-haul and hauled it home. Well -- it's here and represents one of the town's best relics -- authentic as heck, too, as Bob's grandfather bought it new -- used it until it came time for a youngster in the family to take over.

Bet you a buck the Rebels will win the traditional game against Reno this week. Reason is not only mine -- many from among you tell me the same -- the Rebs have power, can pass, have big beefy guys with know-how on defense. Against North Dakota, UNLV really had class -- and it showed some of

City To Install Wheelchair Ramps In Downtown

Authorization to call for bids to install wheel chair ramps in the downtown areas was approved by the city council Monday night.

The estimated cost is $8,500 for the 26 cuts in the pavement.

City Manager Bob Campbell said the money will be taken from a $14,000 payment the city received from the Cyclical Revenue Sharing fund. He said it is part of the Public Works Act. The money was not included in the revised working budget because he was not sure the WELCOMES GOVERNOR--Lorri Smith, student body president at Basic high school, is shown welcoming Governor Mike O'Callaghan as he came to speak before the student council class Tuesday morning at 7.

Council Approves A-HIT Funds

"If they succeed in attracting one thing to Henderson like Levi Strauss than it is worth $2,000," Mayor Lorin Williams stated during a recessed City Council meeting Monday night.

"They" refer to the Association of Henderson Industrial Trades (A-HIT) represented by president Kirby Trumbo, who appeared before the council requesting $1,280, the balance of the $2,000 previously approved by the council for the printing of a brochure.

In the interim, the state paid all but $720 of the brochure costs but HIT indicated they could use the remainder of the funds in other ways, such as postage, telephone, entertaining prospective industrialists, salary, etc.

Former city manager Don Dawson, coordinator of A-HIT, pointed out that just a three line ad in an industrial trades magazine in which hundreds of cities advertise, costs $400.

"It is incumbent upon the council if they want to see anything materialize, to support it," Williams reiterated.

Dr. James Carlin, who was recently named Chief of Staff of the VA Outpatient Clinic in Henderson, assumed his duties this past week.

He indicated he is most pleased about coming to Southern Nevada and is looking forward to the future construction of the new clinic in Las Vegas and to our marvelous climate as he is an avid sailor and fully intends to take advantage of Lake Mead in the pursuit of his hobby.

Carline, who is the first Chief of Staff for the clinic, estimated it will probably take one to two years before the new facility will be ready for occupancy.

A native of Indianapolis, Indiana, he attended Western Reserve University Medical School in Cleveland, Ohio and took his internship at St. Luke's Hospital, also in Cleveland, graduating in 1952.

For the past year Dr. Carlin was a ward physician in Tacoma, Washington and prior to that he was in administrative work at the Albuquerque, New Mexico VA hospital for nine years. He is a "psychiatrist by trade," he explained.

Cat Burglar Strikes Five Homes

Henderson's "cat burglar", which plagued local residences for a time last summer, has struck again, it is believed by the police department here.

Police Chief Floyd Osborn said the burglar, which seems to have the same method of operation, struck five homes in the Townsite area Tuesday night in the graveyard shift. The previous burglaries were caused by twisting off the door knobs. Complete details will be printed next week since they were not available at press time.

Police warned against people leaving their doors unlocked. At least one of those homes struck had a door left unlocked.

O'Callaghan Will Think About Third Term 'Next Year'

By Lorna Kesterson

The nature and quality of leadership was the topic discussed by Governor Mike O'Callaghan at the Basic high school student council class Tuesday morning.

Governor O'Callaghan, who once taught history and government at Basic high, told the young people that he would give some thought to his political future "next year." Right now, he said, he is interested in getting some very important people re-lected to their jobs in the interest of the state.

O'Callaghan specifically mentioned State Senator James I. Gibson, whom he said commands respect of his colleagues because of his knowledge.

"While everyone else is going out after the legislature adjourns at night, to relax, Gibson goes to his room and studies to get ready for the next day."

In speaking of his own political career, O'Callaghan said, "I'm not worried about myself, I've always had a job to go to every day so that I can take care of my family."

The Nevada Governor said there never has been a three-term Governor and very few two-term governors.

Speaking of leadership, O'Callaghan said a leader must understand his own shortcomings and also his own strength.

"Knowledge is vital," O'Callaghan said, "knowledge gives self-confidence." He said we must come to terms with our shortcomings. He said that one of the things a poor leader thinks about first is "What are my powers? He said rather, a good leader would think, "What are my limitations?"

A word of caution to the students from the Governor was "Watch out for the politician who has a simple solution to a complex problem." He said that most of our problems now are complex problems.

O'Callaghan expressed appreciation to his staff and said that sex makes no difference in leadership. Three of his top six positions are filled by women, he said.

Encouraging the young people to get interested in Government, the Governor said there is greater opportunity in government today than ever before.

"Hard work makes the difference in a good leader and a bad leader," O'Callaghan said.

In encouraging the young people to ask questions, he said there is no such thing as a stupid question. "I might give a stupid answer," he said, "but no question is stupid."

He was asked how many times he meets with President Carter; why he had vetoed the helmet bill; how he felt on the Panama Canal and about capital punishment.

He was also asked if he believed the capitol of the state would ever be moved to southern Nevada, and he said he did not.

O'Callaghan was introduced by Student Body President Lorri Smith.

Samples Taken

Samples of the water are taken throughout the city at various points both monthly and daily, and the samples are taken to the health district for analysis.

"We take samples from various points in the system in order to assess the quality," Billingsley said.

The personnel at the water treatment plant and the wastewater plant are all involved in schooling with the state or federal government or by correspondence courses.

"We're more knowledgeable now with our schooling and are more aware of the problems," MacCormack said. He said that many of the men found it difficult to go back to school but have found that they enjoy it and plan to continue to improve their knowledge.

McCormack has been with the city for seven years with the wastewater treatment plant but he finds the water treatment plant a challenge. There is some equipment not being used by the city at the present time, which was used in the early history of the city. The water used at the BMI industrial complex does not go through the city's treatment plant and this was one reason BMI wanted to have the city take over the operation.

Even City Manager Bob Campbell is pleased with the plant. The city took over the facility shortly after he came to the city and he says he is proud at what has been accomplished.

The plant officials are willing to conduct a tour through the plant for anyone who makes arrangements through city hall. The plant provides water for the Townsite, Pittman and the Horizon water reservoir.

Asked if there are any fish left in the system to go churning down Center Street, Billingsley said he was pretty sure not. In fact, he said, we'd like to use the water that usually dumps down Center Street to provide plantings around the plant so that the dust factor will not be so bad.

Sorry kids, no fish today.

In other actions the council appointed Jerry Webster as the city's representative to the legislative committee for the Nevada League of Cities.

When the vote was called for following discussion, the council unanimously approved the funds.

Over The News Desk

The scientists are making us all paranoid.

If you don't believe it, just think back.

First of all they come up with an artificial sweetener so that us fatties can be slimmer and more beautiful.

Now they find it has cancer causing agents.

You shouldn't drink milk because after eons of drinking it, of having it safe for babies, all at once there are reasons it is not good for you.

You can't eat meat because there are cancer causing agents and other reasons. Some vegetables and fruits are not permissible because of the fertilizer and sprays used.

There are many materials that shouldn't be used for babies or adults. You have to choose your toys carefully. Our drinking water is against us.

If you drink that's bad and if you smoke, forget it, you've had it.

So, just think about it, you can't eat, you can't drink ... and here's the clincher, you can't breathe either because the air has all kinds of things buzzing around in it.

Now, on that note, let's go on to something a little more pleasant.

Some local people are enthusiastic about the male nurse who works in the emergency room at St. Rose de Lima Hospital.

They describe him as considerate and having a calming effect when you are facing an emergency.

The nurse, Ray Kelly, works the emergency room on the night shift.

Mrs. Kitty Murphy and her mother, Betty Starker, tell how he has helped them on several occasions. Mrs. Murphy said last weekend her 8½ month old daughter contracted a strept throat and the mucous had stopped her breathing. They took her to the emergency room and he not only calmed the mother but also the child.

So hats off to Nurse Kelly.

When the Boulder City News ran a story submitted by Lucille Burt, about Bob Lewis getting mugged in Las Vegas and being in the hospital, it made the rounds.

He was happy when he received a letter from Congressman James Santini who had read about it in our newspaper.

Governor Mike O'Callaghan, who spoke to the students at Basic High, has not lost his charm.

I always have liked Mike's speeches because they're short and to the point.

I liked his statement to the kids when he said there are not stupid questions so they shouldn't be afraid to ask one. He said he might make stupid answers but no questions are stupid.

One of the students asked him about the Panama Canal.

"I don't have to vote on it," he said.

Chief of Police Floyd Osborn is in rough luck if he wants to use his trigger finger.

The Chief, after all these years of doing carpentry and other building, finally struck his mark with the saw and fixed his right index finger.

Because of the seriousness of the cut, he had skin grafted from his arm to his finger.

Another injury at city hall was Jim Sallee, chief of party in the engineering department.

Jim was riding his motorcycle about 10 p.m. Tuesday night on Sunset Drive. Nobody knows yet how the accident occurred but Jim was thrown from his cycle and broke both legs and has possible back injuries.

Because he was not found until around 6 a.m. Wed., and lay exposed all night, he now has pneumonia. He is in the hospital.

Coach Tony Knap's expertise in coaching.

The game in Reno is sold out but could be you've got seats ... so don't fail to go -- as it figures to be a game of games.

Sad journey it was indeed going over to the Boulder airport to study the remains of the little experimental airplane whose owner Mike Severt lost his life flying over that airfield last weekend. Experts there told me the flier seemed to lose gas on the quick up-pull of the stick and it lost power. When he turned it, it stalled and that was it. You look at the tiny pile of junk and wonder how anyone would even venture up in it. A VW motor with put together parts and skin from sheeting not much thicker than beer cans. Saddest was seeing the helmet hanging on the pilot's stick -- the blood still caked along the rims -- and pieces of bone and muscle hanging in tatters. All agree it was pilot error.

Scene at the crackerjack tennis matches this week at Caesar's Palace were Boulders the Dr. Otto Ravenholts, he being our chief of health for the county and a nut on tennis, as is his lovely wife; and Henderson was there in the form of its former city auditor Al Hyman. The Hymans enjoyed, as we did, watching the great Connors belt them like no man can on this earth. He figures to win the week long tourney altho we were impressed watching Nastase in his opener. The long haired Gerulaitis should be considered a dark-horse, for his youth and his agility, though Nastase beat him in extra sets. Roscoe Tanner will show you the fastest service in all tennis ... which with Connors' two handed backhand makes it worth the price of admission.

A little piece of Henderson's heart was buried last week with the passing of the town's pioneer Earl Turner. At the funeral one could see a cross section of old town from Dotty McBeath to Hersh Trumbo to Lil and Ray Collins to Doc Coleman. Earl was too young to die, really, just a bit over 60, and his friends remarked all the time at the services how he had such a mild manner, an easy smile, a soft way about him that made him about the nicest fellow around. Just isn't fair, losing Earl, but there must be someone who has need for those qualities that only he had in large quantities -- a goodness. His wife Bea always knew that as did all who knew him ... Earl Turner.

Bob Hunsaker who in days gone by was an avid boatman out of Boulder City and in years recent has been a builder extra special -- well, he and his beard are busy building Duane Laubach a grand new office building right next to the News office on Henderson's Water Street.

It's got to be a joke -- this talk of Kenny Guinn as a possibility for governor. He is such a huge mistake as an administrator of schools ... why wish his ability onto the good state of Nevada ...? Twice in our newspaper life here he has openly fibbed on news stories ... so we learned early his measure of a leader. We have never openly called a man a fibber in our 50 years of journalism -- only Guinn has won that spot in our parade of characters we've had to deal with on news and interviews. If he runs, we'll oppose him, which in these days when so many strange things are happening may mean he'll win.

Our dish yesterday was talking to the Henderson Kiwanis about newspaper life and newspapers in our life -- yours, theirs, mine. It is an interesting subject -- for newspapers today play a much different role since the advent of tv ... and readers want to be served with different material than in days of yore.

There are many things we as publishers do now to cure situations, help people alert officials to problems that never reach the printed word ... and it seems it is because people depend upon their local paper to stand guard and also to stand ready to serve.

That's been our creed since day one -- 50 years ago come 1978. Can't say we've done very good .. but we haven't done very bad, either, in our opinion. ---

Want to see a mansion under construction ... look at the hillside home -- Roman in taste -- Dr. Joe Gordon is building in Boulder ... then look at the heavy equipment clearing ground for many more view lots overlooking Lake Mead by that handsome son in law of ex-Boulder mayor Al Franklin ... Bud Cox.

... and speaking of doctors -- a Vegas doctor bought B hill from Boulder and plans to scrap off the B as he prepares the ground for his home. He has promised the high school he'll put up an artificial one for games, if it is wanted. I like the old B where the kids limed it each year and kept it homemade with their care and hard work.

Zody's is no big thing--and we find our own stores can supply the same ... so why fight the crime in the parking lots-- and all the big talk -- when we actually can give everyone about the same right at home.

Tip to builders and do-it-yourselfers -- there is a big shortage on cement and small jobs are being put aside to take care of the biggies ... Salt Lake is down to three days a week on jobs requiring cement.

The Levi Strauss plant, whose walls went up in one week because of its pre-stressed and cast way of building, will have an automatic, computer controlled lifting and delivering and sorting system for its merchandise.

Running on tracks, these self doing arms and lifts will go to some corner of the joint, lift out 1000 size large jeans, bring them to the loading dock and pick up some size smalls and go back and fill that vacant area -- all with the punch of a button. We learn the system costs more than a half million.

There's a plan afoot to tap into the water district's main line about where Sunset Road hits Boulder Hiway -- and then run a line all the way out to the Paradise Country Club area ... allowing all the land around it to tie in for home development ... to suffice until the second phase of the water project is in -- in say five years.

HENDERSON part 30 of a series

By Maryellen Vallier Sadovich

Early in 1958 attention was directed toward obtaining a Henderson representative on the County Commission, and Mayor Byrne explained the matter to a local newsmen in January: "Under the present setup, Henderson, the 3rd largest city in the state has no representation on the County Commission, all of the present three commissioners being from the one city, Las Vegas. Because the County has grown so tremendously, economically it is no longer practical to have all the affairs of the County administered by a small board with only three men."

Local business men began to gather signatures on a petition asking for expansion of the Clark County Commission, and on January 14, one of the men explained: "Fourth and fifth members can be added as soon as a petition is completed, indicating that 30 per cent of the total voter count of the last election approved the action. This means about 13,000 names are needed on a petition, and 5000 are already gathered."

ing for expansion of the Clark County Commission, and on January 14, one of the men explained: "Fourth and fifth members can be added as soon as a petition is completed, indicating that 30 per cent of the total voter count of the last election approved the action. This means about 13,000 names are needed on a petition, and 5000 are already gathered."

Addition of new members to the County Commission would take some months, but meanwhile, a new Chief Administrative officer, who had formerly been the assistant Clark County Engineer, was appointed in March, 1958.

One of the first problems confronting the new Administrative Officer, was implementation of the first budget that had been approved under Mayor Byrne and the new council. This budget, that was submitted to the local newspaper was a legal notice and printed that way with no explanation from the city officials, required a total expenditure of $773,806 for the 1958-59 fiscal year, with $100,332 for general government. These figures represented a total expenditure of more than double the $381,000 figure and a total general government of almost double the $59,000 figure of the last year's budget.

Early in May, Mayor Byrne took great pleasure in announcing the purchase by a Colorado firm, of the first block of sewer bonds for $230,000 at an interest rate of 3.49. "This interest rate is of vital importance to the city as it firmly establishes the fact that our economy is on a sound basis," the Mayor said. "What might not be immediately apparent to the casual observer is the very important fact that it establishes the fact that our economy is on a sound basis."

"It is the most significant thing that has happened since I came here in 1955," added Clay Lynch, the City Administrator, "in fact that private capital has enough confidence in Henderson's future to enter a bid at this rate. This is the lowest interest rate being paid on bonds from any private bonding firm, on any bond issue in Clark County. The sale of this block of bonds added to the Federal grant of $108,000 leaves a total of $441,700 in bonds which will be sold to the Housing and Home Finance Agency. Of this amount the city has requested an advance of $178,465.73 in order to expedite construction of the sewer."

But in spite of this statement of economic stability, it was only one month later that councilmen were discussing a deficit in the city treasury.

"The city treasury right now lacks about $71,000 of operating on an even keel," the local editor reported. "Some reasons given for the $71,000 deficit are: The council acquired a $41,000 deficit from the previous council; it acquired a $13,000 interest and part principle payment on the previous council's bond issue projects, which are now built or building and serving the community; and it acquired a $12,000 per year salary set up from the council and mayor."

Many residents failed to understand these statements and no formal explanation from any city official followed. Then on June 17, in spite of the report of debt, the council voted to hire an assistant recreation director. On June 18, a Las Vegas editor suggested a Grand Jury investigation of the Henderson City Council might be appropriate.

Want To Visit Mexico? Local Men Offer Chance

Have you ever wanted to go to Mexico but haven't had the courage because of the language barrier?

Two local men, who have conducted tours in Mexico for the past several years, are planning a trip to Mexico to view the "old and new," from July 10 through July 19 of next year.

Dr. Marlan Walker, who teaches Spanish at Basic high school, and has studied and lived in Mexico for a number of years, and Dee Workman, also a teacher of Spanish at Basic, will conduct the tour.

For the past few years a number of colleagues and friends of Walker have encouraged him to prepare an adult trip to Mexico. He has taken hundreds of student trips into different parts of the country and resided in both the northern and central part of Mexico. The planned trip does not get into the most southern regions of the country, (the Yucatan Peninsula,) but the tour will include a number of important ruins.

One of the major points of the excursion will be on archeology. They will visit five important archeological zones - two in the valley of Mexico, one in Cholula, one in Xochicalco, and a very important one which few tourists get to, in Tajin. They will also cover the important colonial and modern areas in Mexico.

Walker said the cost of the tour is $410 which includes round trip air travel, lodging, all tours, entrance fees to archeological areas, museums, selected lunches while on bus tours, the bullfight, ballet, folklorico, and everything except souvenirs and meals.

The trip will begin by air to Los Angeles and then non-stop to Mexico City. The trip from there will be by bus until the flight home.

Walker advises that the traveling in Mexico in this tour will be as safe as traveling in the United States. Shots are not required for the trip. The visas and other documents needed for the trip will be taken care of later.

Anyone interested in making arrangements for the tour are advised to contact Dr. Walker at his home, 565-6312. A small deposit will be required of anyone interested in participating in the trip.

PLAN MEXICAN TRIP--Dr. J. Marlan Walker and Spanish Teacher Dee Workman are shown mapping out plans for an adult trip to Mexico this summer. Walker has lived in Mexico many years and studied at the University there. He also teaches Spanish at Basic high school.

HOBO DINNER

A large group of young L.D.S. people from Henderson, Boulder City and Kingman Arizona enjoyed a "Hobo Dinner" last week. They ate their dinner out-of-doors and from a tin can (Mulligan stew, of course) Then they enjoyed games and a dance afterwards.

EASTERN VISITORS

The household of W.W.

Wilson and his wife Voncill has been like a beehive for the past few weeks getting ready for a visit from their daughter Trudy and her husband Rickey. The young couple are both members of the armed forces stationed near Washington, D.C. It is a first visit to Henderson for Rickey. Voncill and W.W. met them in Phoenix to return to Henderson after visiting relatives in Payson, Ariz. and touring the South rim of the Grand Canyon. It is indeed our families that make us realize the full meaning of love and Thanksgiving Day.

FROM OREGON

Earl Green who was a Dental Lab Technician here in Henderson but who recently relocated in Oregon was a visitor this past week - visiting his parents and many friends. He and his family are enjoying the vast beauty of the northwestern state. We noticed that Earl still sports his fancy beard.

HOSPITALIZED

Clinton Hall who used to live in Henderson and worked in Henderson at Rose de Linn Hospital is now at Sunrise Hospital. His wife is here from Hurricane, Utah, to be near him. Their children all make Henderson home. They are LaGrande Hall, MacKay Hall, Barbara Blazzard, Carma Call and Mona Rae Blau. The many friends of Mr. Hall wish him well very soon.

FAMILY FROM WISCONSIN

Marge Bernstein has special visitors this past week. Her sister Kathy and her children are here visiting from the state of Wisconsin. Hope she likes our community, and beautiful weather.

GRAND CANYON TOUR

James and Charles Sullivan took advantage of the three-day week-end to tour Utah's Zions Canyon and Arizona's Grand Canyon. Know they all enjoyed the beauty of these natural wonders.

TO CALIFORNIA

Dr. Jan T. Bennett and wife Janet with Scott, Jeff, Matt and Brett spent a few days in California to enjoy friends, the ocean and to do some swapp-meet browsing.

SIGN OF SCORPIO

If you are a Scorpio, then you are sharing birthdays with such famous people as Prince Charles of Great Britain, Mamie Eisenhower(81), King Hussein, Burgess Merideth, and Poll taker, George Gallup, our moon waler, Alan B. Shepard and baseball great, Roy Campenella. Some of Henderson Scorpio's are, Ruth Soehlike, Sherry Fry, Jewel Nobles, Carol Millar, Bonnie Smith, Dennis Hafen, Mike Stearman (who is in the Air Force in Greece), Sandra Bayard and Brian Laugason.

Some nice people, Sherry Fry, son Jan Bennett, son Brett Bennett, daughter Janet Bennett and my four grandsons, Scott, Jeff, Matt and Brett had a little surprise on my birthday. Had a "butterfly" made in honor of a butterfly who likes scorpions made by Clara Downer and nephew, it was a very nice little party.

Did you know that the average family car will cost you about one-fifth of your income this year?

HOME FROM SCHOOL

Saw Wade Westover and Rolland Phillips home last week. Both boys attend the Junior College at Mt. Pleasant, Utah.

TO JAPAN MISSION

Richard Huntsman will be honored prior to leaving on a two-year mission for the LDS Church in Japan. Ceremonies will be at the Henderson Third Ward at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 20.

Paul Martin Helps Provide Meals For Seniors

Henderson newcomer Paul David Martin, formerly of Carroll, Ohio, and now residing in Trailer Estates, is a jack of all trades when it comes to working in a kitchen. The kitchen where he is employed is located in the Mental Health Center on W. Charleston Blvd. and it is here that Meals on Wheels, a part of the Senior Nutrition Program, are prepared daily for approximately 650 seniors.

are just some of the locations where the meals are delivered Monday through Friday.

Martin has enjoyed cooking since he he was a youngster even though his father commented to his mother, "You're going to make a sissy out of him."

However, for 27 years he worked as a machine operator for Anchor Hocking Glass Company which was followed by five years employment with Big Boy Restaurants in Ohio.

THE PANAMA CANAL IS AN AMERICAN AFFAIR

By Maryellen Vallier Sadovich

part 19 of a series

Still more trouble came to the French in Panama in 1885, when a former president of Panama staged a coup. For two weeks intrigue and bloodshed interrupted work on the canal. Then the current president resigned his office and took refuge on a British warship in the bay while the insurgent proclaimed himself chief of state. If anyone wondered why a British warship just happened to be cruising the area, there was no time to complain about the matter.

For another insurgent took advantage of the situation to seize control of the city of Colon. When he jailed the Pacific Mail agent and the U.S. Consul, and threatened to shoot "every other American in the city," U.S. ships steamed to the bay and three hundred Marines landed to quell U.S. interests on the isthmus. But the inurgents burned Colon in spite of the guards, and it was three weeks before the Marines left, ending the second armed intervention of the U.S. in Panama.

Soon afterwards mis-management of company funds brought accusations against de Lesseps and prison to his son, as numerous plans were used to gain new funds for the French company. But on 4 February 1889, the courts dissolved le Compagnie Universelle, and appointed a liquidator.

On May 15, 1889, all work was stopped on the French project. But already the U.S. was acting to extend diplomatic relations throughout Latin America, as President McKinley called the First International Conference of American States. Delegates from all the Americas met in Washington, D.C. from October 2, 1889 to April 12, 1890, creating a permanent organization now known as the Pan American Union. At these meetings reciprocal commercial agreements were endorsed, but no mention of a canal was made in the formal report of the conference.

In April 1890, the delegates returned to their homes, and in June, the Maritime Canal Company began construction of a canal through Nicaragua in flagrant violation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, undermining the attempts of the Frenchmen to reorganize a Panama Canal company.

Today's Question: Who would you like to see as presidential candidate come next election, and why?

BETTY NIELSON - Homemaker (pictured with grandson, Joseph King). Ronald Reagan! Simply because I like his platform and what he stands for. I am previously from California, and I thought he did a fine job as Governor and feel that he would come through just as well, if not better as President. He is strong, popular and youthful, no matter what his years may be. I feel the West could stand a good welfare reform and change. He's the man that could do it!

LEONA HINTON - Homemaker - Ronald Reagan and Senator Howard Baker! I like what Mr. Reagan stands for and his firm stand on Panama. He is a strong candidate, stands behind his word and I feel it is time for the American citizens to feel the security of a strong president. We need that and have needed it for a long time. I also like what Senator Howard Baker has to say and what I've heard about him. I wish we could hear more of him, and presidential hopefuls and potential. We need strength!

LOU PAPPAS - Retired Wyoming Chief-Of-Police - Gerald Ford! Mr. Ford was directing the country on the right course. I am very sorry that he wasn't elected on his own merit, although he almost was. Ford could have done the country an extreme amount of good had he been given the chance. There is a sense of stagnation with President Carter. Ford would have proceeded ahead and carried out his plans for improvement!

G.R. GARZA - Part-time Chef-retired - President Carter! I believe he is trying very hard to get things done. I remember the depression. I strongly feel that there should be something like the CCC for the young, unemployed of today. It would help the young, disadvantaged and people in need, giving them jobs and a means of existence.

SADIE NEILSON - Homemaker - Jimmy Carter! I like him and my husband thinks well of him. We believe he is doing his best. Serving as the President of the USA is a "hard old job," and one that I wouldn't want. I do feel he is trying to please the public. I did like Reagan, also! Felt that he was firm and stood "pat" on many important issues. I would enjoy watching President Carter run again, though.

CATHY HEERS - Real Estate - Ronald Reagan! He has good ideas; he is strong; his speeches have punch, strength, and he is forthright and honest. He is unafraid to talk and knows what he is talking about! He is well-versed, intelligent and is knowledgeable on economic and world situations. He appeals to young and old, is likeable and appears younger than he is. I should like to see a younger person with strong principles on the ticket with him on account of his years even though he seems in good shape.

SUMMARY: People interviewed favored Ronald Reagan. It was obvious that all were looking for a sense of strength and security. Some worried about his age although all considered him younger physically and mentally than his years. President Carter was liked but not considered "strong" enough. More people stated that they would like to keep posted on presidential potential and didn't like the idea of just finding out about the candidates at election time.

Holiday Gifts To Make

Here's a bright idea for making the eyes of family and friends light up this holiday season. Make a gift that they'll appreciate-by turning a tumbler into a glowing candleholder.

The trick is to cover the outside of the tumbler with glazed tissue. Make it this way: Cut colored tissue into small pieces. Glue layer on layer of different colors. Finish with a glaze of Elmer's glue. Insert votive candles, set on small rounds of cardboard.

Want more inflation-fighting holiday ideas? For a free booklet, "39 Beautiful Ways to Say Merry Christmas," send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Elmer's Information Center, Box 157, Hilliard, Ohio.

Pet Peekin'

Featuring: The Lotty, Lovable Labrador Retriever

By Flo Raymond

"If you are lucky enough to own a Labrador Retriever, you are the one who is going to retrieve! You'll retrieve, love, loyalty, joy, comradeship, a hunting assistant, a pet and guard dog, all rolled into one," Jerry Griffith said with an assuredness of a completely "sold" man. Jerry can speak with authority for he has been four years with the famous breed. He has "high hopes" for his year-old male, "Samantha's Yello Zebariah," a beautiful, fine-lined Lab with all of the attributes of a coming champion. Zebariah was sired by one of Patty Parr's (dog-breeder and trainer) late champions, "CH. Zodiac Sundowner, C.D.," a famous Labrador known throughout the area. His mother was Griffith's Black Samantha who gave birth to thirteen pups with no runts in the litter. "Each pup was sold," Jerry stated, "but when I saw the first born at about 4 p.m. one year ago Halloween, I said - That one is mine to keep!" Jerry believes, as some dog fanciers do, that the first born is the finest dog. In any event both Jerry and his wife, Rhonda, along with Patty Parr are routing for Zebariah. "He is much like his father in lines and general appearance," Jerry added, "except the father was a black Lab."

land and water retriever there is. They can stand icy waters with a special endurance to be marvelled at. After training, they are highly intelligent, obeying on the first command generally. Their glistening short hair is not only beautiful to look at but bur-free unlike his competitor, the Golden Retriever, and the rest of the long-haired pointers and retrievers.

Their look is intelligent with the baggy over-brow, wide forehead. Aside from "duck-like" paws for the water, their tails are heavy and thick serving as a rudder in their beaver-like lunge through the water.

Two pups from the Griffith litter were sold to a prominent Marine Biologist from California who trains the Labs for retrieving live ducks companies Jerry for the hunt, as Samantha does, and guards his little son, Link. Zeb is not getting off easy, he is still working on his training, discipline, and general schooling that a good-looking coming champion should have.

Duck and bird hunters, sportsmen, families and just about anyone could find the Labrador Retriever a sure bet to answer all their expectations in a good, sturdy, workable and lovable pet. Labs are lofty, but they should be. Their alertness, loyalty and intelligence gives them good right to be proud. Labs could well remind us of the popular character out of the Sherlock Holmes novels, "Dr. Watson," with his "Eh, what's that you say, 'olmes?"

This is Jerry Griffith and his dog Zeb with the Judge at Zeb's first show.

The Lab is staunchly built with a wide chest and powerful legs. His paws are designed by nature for paddling with a wide spread due to a large amount of flesh between the toes.

which he in turn bands for future studies and sets free. Owing eighteen of the breed the biologist finds the Lab as the most dependable for this type of work.

Jerry has put Zebariah through obedience training with Patty Parr and is very proud of the fact that the one-year-old has achieved to his name: three trophies, wall plaques and five ribbons out of five fun matches. Fun matches in Dogdom is comparable to our pre-season football games. Zeb also ac-

Highly intelligent and adaptable. Labradors have been compared to the Bloodhound for scenting out man. They are in the process of training for lead-dogs for the blind, oftentimes out-doing the popular German Shepherd.

Labrador Retrievers are considered by dog experts to be the best

OBEEDIENCE GRADUATION - Zeb took first place with a score of 198. Irish Setter Club fun match - Zeb won first place in obedience with a score of 194. He won first place in high scoring sporting dog and took high scoring dog in the whole show. Akita Club of Las Vegas fun match - Zeb took second place with a score of 194. Siberian Husky Club fun match - Zeb took fourth place with score of 193½. Silver State Kennel Club of Las Vegas - Zeb took first place for Breed (male) and then took best of breed over all. Zeb took second place for obedience with a score of 189. NOVICE - A GRADUATION - Zeb took first place with a score of 193½

PET TIP: Jerry Griffith advises Labrador Retriever owners to groom their pets at least once a week with a good shampoo and general grooming once a month. Before shows, always a full grooming. Brush teeth occasionally. After grooming, watch coat glisten and sparkle!

Library Offers Interests Other Than Books

A colony of bees, housed in the Robert Taylor Elementary School Library, is busy being watched by children as well as being busy following their customary pursuits.

They supply a subject for films and books in the classrooms each year and their activities are monitored by students almost every hour in the school day.

The bees were recently inspected by a state inspector who pronounced them to be exceptionally healthy and in good condition, with no symptoms of mildew or other defects.

Another "must-check-on" point for the student library visitors, especially the younger ones, is the ant farm with its tunnels and busy occupants. A search to find the queen of the bees and of the ant farm is a daily procedure.

The fish aquariums, just now in the process of renovation, are also objects of interest and questions. They, too, provide incentives for seeking information in books and media.

TAYLOR SCHOOL STUDENTS watch the ant farm faithfully to see what activity the little critters are creating. On the far right is the ant's burial grounds where the dead ants are laboriously carried, sometimes a long and tiring trip.

BEE COLONY - An every day "must" for Taylor Elementary School students is a trip to the library to look for the queen bee and watch the activities of her servants.

DAVS Meet

The first meeting of the DAVS volunteers was held in the VA clinic conference room where members met with Veronica Herrera to discuss ways in which the group could be of help to the VA out patient clinic.

More volunteers from the American War Mothers, American Legion and VFW are needed. We also make coffee for the patients.

Those attending the meeting were Rilda Dotage, Olive Melton, Naomi Charlton and Evelyn Mazrimas.

Letter to the Editor

Mr. Editor:

I want to talk about one, if not the most important, problem Henderson has - City Parking What a Mess!!

I come here Aug. 1942 and worked in 1st dept. store owned by Alram and Myers. There are still a few people around who worked with me.

When we locked that store, and others at 6 p.m. you couldn't find a car in townsite square until 9 a.m. when employees come to work.

Now, 1977 we have a young and enterprising city with great potential. Nice places to eat - nice places to spend day time and evening leisure hours - entertain friends without going to Las Vegas. Banquet rooms in Eldorado for clubs - weddings or birthdays - but where do we park our cars??

Before the dinner hour and on thru p.m. cars are parked completely around clubs. The parking lots the cars are positively interlocked - no wonder our occasional smashed and dented car.

Try to find a parking place in LaPorta Block - around Bank lots - none available.

Try Water Street either side and around City Hall -

Once you drive round and round and when some one drives out - if you are lucky take his spot -

That Mr. Editor is not my idea of fun. There are many of us not physically able to walk the distance from above mentioned parking spots to the casinos.

Neither do we want to stay at home and not enjoy ourselves with friends.

So not being a city planner - engineer or politician, I lay this problem on your desk, knowing - with your "expertise" you will see that something must be done now and not tomorrow. Sincerely - a long time and concerned resident (s) Johnnie Graham

Boss Night Event

Mr. Glen C. Taylor, Manager, Basic Management Incorporated has been named the Boss of the Year by the Desert Dawn Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA). The award was presented by Ruth Uhls, Boss Night Chairman, on November 8 at the annual Boss Night Meeting.

Mrs. Delsa Thorne, secretary for BMI, nominated her employer for this award.

A Barbership theme was used for the evening's activities, with entertainment provided by the Oasis Chapter of the Las Vegas Gambelairens.

Boss Night is an annual event established to honor employers of ABWA members and to familiarize employers with the educational association. ABWA is dedicated to promoting the professional, educational, cultural and social advancement of business woman. Now in its 28th year, the association has more than 83,000 members in all fifty states and in Puerto Rico.

One of the association's most noteworthy projects is its scholarship program for women. The combined chapters of ABWA, totaling over 1300, awarded more than $700,000 in scholarships on local levels the past year. An additional $150,000 was awarded from the association's national scholarship fund, the Stephen Buf-ton Memorial Educational Fund.

By Virgil McKinney
 Friends are precious. Losing one of these leaves a void in our lives that fills slowly. Many of us here in Henderson have experienced such a loss in the death of Ray Brown.
 During his lifetime, Ray had a number of occupations. Among others, these varied from pressman on a newspaper, to farmer, to a job with Timet. His many Henderson friends, though, will remember him most for his unselfish service to others.
 When Mildred, his wife of more than half a century, became the first director of the Henderson branch of the Retired Seniors Volunteer Program (R.S.V.P.), Ray pitched in to help in any way he could.

 He delivered literally thousands of hot meals to senior citizens, shut-ins, who were unable to go to St. Peter's, where meals-on-wheels were served. If someone required transportation, whether to the doctor, dentist, grocery market, drugstore, or to a social gathering at R.S.V.P., Ray was always available. Whenever a low-income senior needed a stove, a bed, a couch, or a table Ray, somehow, knew where the article could be found. It was always delivered -- no charge.
 There are far too few such people in the world. Ray Brown's passing will be felt with sorrow by all of us, for a long time.

Doll Lady Needs Your Help

"Red" Southern, known by many as the Doll Lady, has been making and repairing dolls as Christmas presents for needy children for over 23 years now.
 It is not a project which she begins just a few weeks before Christmas. It starts right after the first of the year and she works nearly 12 months preparing the numerous dolls for their new homes.
 Although Mrs. Southern moved to Pahrump last year, she has by no means abandoned her dolls and reports that she expects to have about 100 ready for Christmas this year.
 Once again she is asking the help of the community with this worthwhile project.
 If you have any old dolls, toys, material such as scrap flannel, etc., thread, elastic, tiny buttons, bias tape, even eye lashes which you no longer have need of, she would be most appreciative of receiving these items.
 They may be left at Mrs. Southern's daughter's home at 402 Ilmenite or call 565-8579. If you wish to talk with Red, the number in Pahrump is 727-5171 but she warns that it is a long distance phone call.

Willie Davison Leaving City Recreation Dept.

Supervisor of Recreation Willie Davison has submitted his resignation to the city effective Dec. 2 and will accept a similar position in the city of Sparks, it was learned here.
 Davison is second in command to Parks and Recreation Director Dundee Jones in Henderson.
 Davison said he felt the position in Sparks offered more opportunity for him although he is sad about leaving. "I'm glad for the new endeavors," he said.
 Davison has been in Henderson for the past five years. He recently completed his degree at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. He feels the recreation program has progressed during his tenure here.

W. DAVISON

He is especially proud of the Ghoul's at school program instituted at the Chester T. Sewell elementary school to keep children off the streets on Halloween. He said this year over 1,000 children were involved. He presented the program at a national recreation meeting as an example for other areas.
 He said changes have been made at the youth center which used to be a "tough guy hangout." Now he said all kids are welcome. The sports program for youngsters in the third grade through the eighth has increased, the cultural arts program has grown, and there is a full slate of winter programs planned. He said the city's gymnastic program in one of the best.

 A brochure of recreation programs is published every three months telling of the diversified program offered by the city. He said he is also happy that the senior citizens have become involved with the program.
 He concluded that while he is sorry to leave Henderson, he is happy with his new opportunity.

THIS SATURDAY, November 19 marks the day for the Henderson Crafts Festival, which promises to be more exciting this year than ever. Pictured is Carolyn Malcheski with some of the items she, Roberta Krehnovi and friends have made to sell at the festival. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Civic Center Auditorium.

Working People Should Plan for Retirement

Working people who plan to retire between now and early 1978 should start planning now to arrange for their social security benefits.

If people approach their retirement in a thoughtful way they can help ensure their social security retirement benefits begin just as soon as income from work stops.

First, get together information that will be needed to support your claim. This includes your social security card or a record of your number; proof of your date of birth recorded early in your life, preferably before age 5; evidence of last year's earnings (a copy of your W-2 or a copy of your Federal tax return, including Schedule C).

If your husband or wife is also planning to apply on your record, he or she should have this additional information: His or her social security card or a record of the number; proof of age as described above; marriage certificate; if either was married before, information about the beginning and end of those marriages; and information about your husband's or wife's earnings if he or she is working.

It is important for you to apply 2 or 3 months before you plan to retire, even if you don't yet have all of the information you need. The people at the social security office can suggest other sources for the information you don't have.

By applying in plenty of time you can be sure that your retirement checks will start as soon as you stop working and you won't be without an income.

The Las Vegas social security office is located in the Federal Building at 300 Las Vegas Blvd. South. The telephone number is 385-6371. The Las Vegas office serves everyone who lives in the following zip codes: 89101, 89102, 89103, 89104, 89107, 89109, 89117, 89118, 89119, 89120, 89044, 89015.

The North Las Vegas social security office is located at 2031 McDaniel in North Las Vegas. Their phone number is 385-6581. The North Las Vegas office serves everyone who lives in the following zip codes: 89030, 89106, 89108, 89110, 89112, 89122.

Enter Senior Amateur Golf Tournament Early

SUBJECT: The Nevada State Senior Amateur Golf Championship.

The "Over-the-hill Gang" of Nevada golfers are going to crown a new Champion after their tournament to be played on December 10 and 11, over the Black Mountain and Winterwood Golf Courses.

Only Nevada residents over 50 years of age, who have a Nevada State Golf Association handicap, will be eligible to play in this tournament. Just one of the many fringe benefits of being over 50.

Due to the shortened period of daylight during December, the field must be limited to the first 200 entries, so enter early and go for one of the 50 prizes and trophies to be awarded.

Entry forms are available at most golf course Pro Shops, or write to the Tournament Director Clyde Cobb, Winterwood Golf Course, 5483 E. Clubhouse Drive, Las Vegas, 89122.

Fantastic Animation Festival At Rainbow Theatre Nov. 16 - 19

"Fantastic Animation Festival" opened Wed, Nov 16 and will show through Sat., Nov. 19 at the Rainbow Theatre in the Rainbow Club.

For the first time, prime samplings of the new directions the animated film is taking can be seen at movie theaters. Selected from over one-thousand nominees around the world, sixteen animated short films (most are by artists in their 20's or early 30's) are being presented together in one feature-length program called "Fantastic Animation Festival". Featured are many international award winners including Academy Award winner "Closed Mondays" and Academy Award nominee "Kick Me", and "The Last Cartoon Man", a first prize at the World Festival of Animated Film in Zagreb, Yugoslavia. Also featured are from England, "French Windows" (with music by Pink Floyd) "Moonshadow" (with music by Cat Stevens); and from America, another Academy Award nominee, "Cosmic Cartoon" (with music from Holst's "The Planets"). Animation is fine art on the move and "Fantastic Animation Festival" is its well deserved showcase.

FISH ARE BITING AGAIN

Although fishing pressure has been exceptionally light on the lower basin of Lake Mead this past week, there are indications of a pickup in bass fishing success. Bait, primarily nightcrawlers and waterdogs, have been most productive with action from the surface on down to 30 feet. Catfishing continues good over most of the lake with top action in the Las Vegas Wash area. And striped fishing is getting good with a number of 10 to 20 pounders coming from the Black Island area. Anglers working this location are fishing jugging spoons at 20 feet. Trolling in Las Vegas Wash is also producing fish with the biggest a 27 pound taken by Larry Hansen with a frog colored magnum hellbender. There are no fishing reports from the Overton Arm this Week.

Creel Census Clerk checks at Willow Beach Saturday showed about half of the 72 anglers contacted were successful. Rainbow trout from eight to 13 inches made up most of the catch and were taken that day from the 2-3 and 10-11 mile areas. Willow Beach Resort's records for the past week or so list 12 trophy rainbows ranging in size from four pounds 13 ounces to a whopping 11 pounds seven ounces. For the bigger fish, trolling with flatfish or fishback lures is recommended with stillfishing cheese or night-crawler baits listed as effective for pansized trout from shore. Five of the trophy listed were taken from shore near the resort.

According to Harold Harper of Searchlight Storage and Bait, bass fishing in the Cottonwood Cove area has picked up and is steadily improving. Nightcrawlers and waterdogs are taking one to two pounders from the shallower waters with larger bass, up to four and a half pounds, coming from waters 30 to 40 feet deep. Trolled hellbenders are taking some fish off the rocky points. Stinkbait and nightcrawlers are still accounting for fair to good catches of one to four pound channel cats in the cove areas, but cats are beginning to move around into other locations as well. Cottonwood Cove anglers are finding trout trolling needlefish and flatfish lures at 70 to 80 feet at the lower end of Lake Mohave's big basin and at somewhat shallower depths around the cold front which is now located about six miles uplake from Cottonwood. Harper also reports a few trout are being taken from shore with cheese, night-crawler and/or marsh-mallow baits.

WORKING IT OUT

Dear Sir: Although I am trying, I just don't understand. My daughter Susan, age 22, graduated from college with a B.S. in biology. Since then she has made absolutely no effort to locate employment. I have an income of only $200. per month and I just cannot afford to support her any longer. I had great hopes that she would get a job in research or as a medical technician but as I said, she isn't making any effort at all. Whatever you say, I hope it will influence her. Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S: Since you didn't mention any extenuating reasons why Susan can't look for a job I'll assume there aren't any. That being the case, you should be telling her what you told me. There are almost countless job opportunities in her field and my guess is, she knows it. But what she needs to know is that the free ride is over - and you're the only source for that part of her education.

Dear Mr. Thompson: I have recently been fired from a job, where I had been employed for several years. I was given a half-baked excuse for being let go, which both I and my employer knew to be false. The real reason I was fired was due to another female employee telling lies to our employer and since she was participating in activities other than her duties in the office (if you know what I mean), she was believed. I always did my job to the best of my ability and always tried to be a good employee as well as honest. On the other hand the "young lady" who got me fired was always lounging with a cup of coffee and a cigarette in hand at least six hours out of every eight. I was told I would get a good recommendation from my employer, but as it turned out I applied for another job and was given a bad recommendation. Is there a way to get a good recommendation for my previous employer? Ms. H.A.J.

Dear Ms. J: You shouldn't have permitted your boss to phoney - up an excuse for your dismissal, of course. Still he has a moral, and legal responsibility to tell the truth - and you'll both have to live with it. Go in person to your former boss and get him to agree with you as to the exact reasons you were fired. The fact that you were a "good" employee for several years should play an important role in any comments given to inquiring prospective employers. Once you are both in agreement, ask him to prepare a "To Whom It May Concern" letter - and don't leave without it. From that point on use copies of the letter to support your reasons for changing jobs.

Dear Mr. Thompson: Where do you get off with all this baloney about job satisfaction, personal growth, and making a "contribution" to your job? It's time you faced the facts, my friend. People work because they have to. Have you ever heard of those old standbys, food, clothing, and shelter? Well, that's what it's all about. Maybe YOUR bank account is big enough so you can take an idealistic approach to life, but mine isn't. Why don't you ask your readers why they work and then print their replies? Are you afraid they won't agree with you? Mr. D.B.D.

Dear Mr. D: My readers (as well as my clients) have for years been telling me why they work. And money is usually number three or four on their lists of priorities behind a couple of the things you mention in your letter. Obviously, survival is essential to everyone but if you can't find more than that in your work you're in the wrong job.

Dear Mel: I work for a local advertising agency as a sort of administrative assistant. I was originally hired as a secretary but somehow or other my boss keeps adding to my responsibilities. Now he has decided to add a new account salesman to our staff and he wants me to screen the applicants. Since I have absolutely no experience in hiring people, I would welcome some guidance. Mrs. M.T.

Dear Mrs. T: Hiring is frequently more difficult than being hired. Inexperienced interviewers tend to let emotion chase logic out of the interviewing process and lean too heavily on factors that aren't of primary importance.

The first judgement to make involves personal chemistry. If an applicant's personality, philosophy, habits, demeanor, and attitude don't mesh with your company, don't even waste your time with his qualifications. If he passes the first hurdle, the next decision is whether or not he has what it takes to cut the mustard. Ask for his past accomplishments, the commercially oriented things the applicant has achieved that he thinks qualifies him for the job at hand. His accomplishments aren't nearly so important as the talents he used in accomplishing, so the object is to concentrate on expertise, not experience. If the lights are still green the final step is salary negotiation and as in any bargaining encounter, the first party to come up with a figure generally loses. And never make the mistake of selling the strong points of your firm to convince a job candidate he should take the job. Any selling should be done by the other party.

Mr. Thompson's book WHY SHOULD I HIRE YOU? is now available in paperback at book stores.

Johnny Fry won the Black Mountain Club Championship two-day tournament with the low net of 128. Johnny played particularly well on Sunday to seize first place. Wayne Hurst was second with a net 132. Mike Diehl and Jess Meyers tied for third with net 134's. Randy Chandler was fourth with a net 135, and Bob Taylor was sixth with 136. The number of competitors was not as large this year as usual because of the Senior Citizens Tournament played the same days.

The very popular annual Turkey Shoot Golf Tournament will be held on Sunday the 20th. It is a two-person best ball tournament with full handicap for men, and full handicap plus 20% for the ladies. Turkey insurance is also available for a small additional entry fee. That means that if you get a natural birdie on a hole, you win a turkey whether your team is low enough to win or not. However, only one turkey will be awarded per entry. Sign up in the Pro Shop and make arrangements for a starting time.

In a Ladies Association Four-Woman Two

Best Ball Tournament, the team of Mary Jo Sheehan, Faye Scott, Sunny Gassaway, and Polly Torres won with a two best ball score of 125. 23 strokes under par. It was a hot team that day.

Also in Ladies Association play, Peggy Shaffer won the Golfer-of-the-Month honors and the Medal of Golf Tournament in October. Peggy has been playing a lot of golf lately, and her game is showing it.

The fourth annual Bob Taylor Golf Scholarship Tournament will be played on November 27th. The proceeds of the tournament are used to provide a scholarship to a deserving student who has indicated an interest in golf. Presently there are three students attending college who have been assisted by this scholarship.

The tournament is for students and adults. Adults will play at full handicap in three flights with three gross and three net trophies in each flight. There will be one overall trophy. It will be medalist play for the students, and they will be flighted by age, with a winner in each age group. Everyone enjoys this tournament. Sign up in the Pro Shop and make arrangements for a starting time

Thanksgiving - A Time for Children

Thanksgiving is a time of family reunions and get-togethers can provide them with a good basis for judging time. About a week or two before Thanksgiving, help your child make a calendar with a picture illustrating each day until Thanksgiving. Each night he/she can cross off a day.

Reunions also give the child a sense of his heritage and family background, an issue which can be useful in involving your child at Thanksgiving time, explains Everett Pollard, Family Life Specialist.

So often at holiday time when we are so busy with preparations we neglect to involve the children in the planning. This serves to frustrate young children at a time when they are busily trying to develop their own concepts about family groups.

Involve the children in some of the basic preparations and at the same time talk to them about Thanksgiving Day: how it originated and what it means to you. Setting a table for a house full of people is some how different to a young child than setting a table for his own immediate family, so let him/her help do it. The child may want to work out a seating arrangement for all the relatives, too, as he knows who he wants to sit by.

Everett J. Pollard of the Cooperative Extension Service states that the foods you prepare on this day are probably not unusual, but they are different enough to warrant the curiosity of your child. Let him help you shop for the turkey, clean it, and break up the bread for the stuffing. With a little thought and pre-planning, you can make Thanksgiving a time for your whole family to cherish and enjoy.

The programs of the Nevada Cooperative Extension Service are open to all without regards to race, color or national origin.

NEW ORLEANS TRIP FOR CONTEST WINNERS

Young people who like to learn about staying healthy through home economics will probably be pleased to learn that their knowledge can help them win a trip to New Orleans.

GETTING INVOLVED WITH THE COMMUNITY can win a trip for a home economics class.

A one-week, expenses-paid trip for an entire home economics class and its teacher is the grand prize in this year's Fleischmann Yeast's Share the Health Contest. The New Orleans holiday is in conjunction with the American Home Economics Association convention.

Other prizes include scholarships, teacher trips and class pizza parties. As many as 11 classes may win.

All who participate can benefit by getting involved in the community, while learning about good nutrition, menu planning and budget management.

The contest is open to all junior or senior high school home economics classes. Each class must choose among eight community groups and analyze that particular group's nutritional needs, while planning a week's menu to meet those needs. The menus should consist of a variety of dishes, including yeast breads and rolls.

The groups are: senior citizens, children ages 6 to 12, pregnant women, low-income families, an athletic team, the overweight, adults who live alone and persons on special medical diets. Each class is expected to involve itself as much as possible with its chosen group.

For a free booklet about the contest, write: Standards Brands Educational Service, Drawer A-Contest, Madison Square Station, New York, N.Y. 10010.

He's the "Poodle" of the Horsemen's world; the "status" symbol of the society prone, and the "pride" of the very young! He is the Arabian! What can be said about the "Arab" horse? He is different, there is no question about that. His lines, often times resemble the type of wooden horse you remember when you proudly rode the merry-go-round at your local amusement park while imagining you were the "one - and only" true equestrian the country had to offer.

Originating from his "namesake" land, the Arabian may be born, dark gray, brown, or a near black. He will lighten up as the years go by. The dark gray becomes an almost gray-white while the dark brown or near black, may turn into a beautiful chestnut or dark gray. Whatever happens to your Arab, he'll remain beautiful, svelte, your pride and joy and forever a status symbol. He is hot-blooded, high strung, dignified and a little bit "odd". Although basically a smart horse, some can be easily "spooked" and may turn and run in another direction at the sight of a rabbit out of the bush, or possibly realizing his own shadow. Time may teach him the difference, although one must have patience. Traveling on the assumption that "Nobody's perfect," the Arabian is excellent show material. He is an outstanding "mount," a "ham" show-horse with his haughty pride and a beautiful sight to the beholder. Ramona MacDowell, wife of the highly respected trainer, Mike MacDowell, Manager of the Equestrian Club, mentioned that the Arabian buyer should look for the following factors in the breed: refined head, chiseled features, "dish shaped" face, shorter head (and should reach between eye and nostrils), short ears, wide forehead (hand should reach inner part of each eye going across), flaring large nostrils, large dark eyes and a good body and stance.

Arabians are good in show riding, jumping, coming up in dressage and great for saddle-seat riding. Championship bent owners should enter their praise in the Arabian Nationals and show their horse all year, gaining points to qualify for State Championship.

"More mature horses are the best buys for children," Ramona added, "in that they are gentler and easier riding. It is a fallacy that the child must grow with the horse. Life expectancy of a horse is from twenty to twenty-five years and about a ten-year-old would suit a child fine." She mentioned that they had a twenty-year-old champion at one time.

Housing horses from Henderson, Boulder City and the Vegas Valley, the Las Vegas Equestrian Club is located on the outskirts of Henderson. Cathy Heers dropped by to see how her beautiful Arabian "expecting" mare was doing. Quite an eques-

Pet Tip: horse owners in general should have a blanket for the horse to protect him from chill.

He should be brushed, washed and cared for, fed properly and hoofs should not be neglected. All horse owners should be alerted to a number one killer in colic and work closely with their Veterinarian and trainer.

Note: If you have a pet that is purebred, different mixed breed, intelligent, outstanding, phone the writer at 734-2390.

Children Learn Through Friends

The "learning time" a child spends with his friends just as important as the time he puts in at homework, comments Everett J. Pollard, Human Development Agent for the Cooperative Extension Service. The grade school years are for acquiring facts and skills, but they are also years for making friends and developing socially.

A child imitates his parents in social life as in many other things. If parents enjoy the company of friends, friendship will likely be an important value to the child, too.

If parents often invite people into the home, the child will want to do the same. Even though it causes inconvenience at times, a home should be open to the child's classmates and friends--at least some of the time. When they visit the home, a child's friends should be accepted by the parents and made comfortable.

For the family that has recently arrived in a neighborhood, some, "planned" activities may ease the getting acquainted process. A Saturday outing can include a new friend, for example, Or perhaps an informal neighborhood get-together might be arranged.

Mensa Meeting

Mensa, the high I.Q. Las Vegas society, will meet at 7:30 p.m. on November 17 at the home of Larry Brown, 6352 Youngmont Avenue. Call 876-9430 if you require further information or directions.

Boys' Club Hosts Halloween Party

More than 200 youngsters participated in the Henderson Boys' Club Halloween party.

Some of the games played were apple bobbing, apple dunking, sound boxing, the balloon stomp, the candy grab, the bean bag throw and the old shell game. The biggest hit of the day was the haunted house peopled with blood-thirsty demons, witches and other horrors. Some of the younger kids were not brave enough to enter but were enthralled with the descriptions given by those hardy enough to go through.

Prizes were awarded for the best costumes, the most original, the scariest and the "most like home". The next big event planned at the Henderson Boys' Club is the Christmas party on the afternoon of December 23.

Handicapped Seminar Set

Seminars will be held in November to assist Nevada agencies who receive federal money to comply with the federal law that requires that areas generally accessible to the general public must also be accessible to the handicapped.

The federal government has a plan for the accessibility of its program and activities by December 2. Such agencies could include hospitals, school districts, convalescent centers, universities and non-profit private agencies.

A seminar will be held in the Holiday Inn Downtown in Reno November 17 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Another seminar will be on November 18 at the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The seminars, sponsored by the Nevada Rehabilitation Division and the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, will have experts to explain the requirements of the law and answer questions. Representatives of any organization or agency which might be affected are invited to attend the free seminars.

The law requires that agencies receiving money from Congressional appropriations develop and submit to doughnut facts & fancies

Although the doughnut has been around in this country since the Dutch brought it to New Amsterdam, most modern Americans don't know anything like the whole story on this tasty treat.

Fortunately, it's now possible to have great homemade doughnuts, thanks to an inspired idea and an innovative material. The idea occurred to an inventor at a major housewares company, Dazey, working on a doughnut maker that produces real doughnuts, not just doughnut-shaped cupeakes.

Doughnuts were originally called oily cakes or "olykooks" in Dutch. In some parts of the country, they were tossed into the air for children to catch on the day before Lent: "Fat Tuesday," which, in French, is "Mardi Gras."

The basic batter is the same but oil makes all the difference. The inventor drilled a few holes in the cover of the machine for measured application of oil from the top—and that did the trick. The material used was chosen for its high degree of thermal and electric insulation, safety, attractive appearance and low cost. A tough plastic for appliance products, it's called GENAL.

One thing many people don't realize is that an average-sized, plain doughnut has only 135 calories, fewer than in a cup of whole milk. A doughnut also contains 2 grams of protein, 40 units of vitamin A, 23 milligrams of calcium and a number of other nutrients, including iron, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin.

With this easily-cleaned material helping you to make doughnuts easily, you can have not only the satisfaction of creating your own confections, you can have them for about 4 cents apiece!

The Vitascope Hall in New Orleans opened on June 26, 1896, the world's first movie house. Admission was 10 cents.

Henderson's Living "Dolls" Enhance Doll Show

"We're really growing," stated Gertrude Klanderud of Henderson, "in that this is the biggest and best show we've had." Held at the Convention Center on Saturday, Nov. 5th, the show dealt with collections owned by the members of the Las Vegas Doll Club, a growing organization with 450 clubs over the USA. What do the members do? Why they collect dolls which are hard to find, different, not obtainable on the current American market or dolls fifty years old or older. Foreign made or hand-made dolls are acceptable also, but they must be a bit "different."

"Men are joining the club and taking an active interest in this growing collector's hobby. Some are husbands of the members, others are

ary. The Las Vegas chapter became chartered in 1970 thus joining the largest region in the USA. The Western region of Utah, Nevada, Arizona, California and Hawaii holds 95 clubs with about 2300 members. Mrs. Adelle Gioscia from Costa Mesa, California serves as Assistant Regional Director and was most delighted with the Las Vegas Doll Club's annual show. "If you love the doll, buy it," she emphasized, "whether it is inexpensive or highly priced. I love all dolls, and the handmade "rags" are becoming a good collectors item, also." She went on to say the most prized and valuable doll is the original French doll of the late 1800's such as the SFBJ Twerp, the Jumeau, Bru and Steiner, etc. If the doll is in good condition and is original clothes, value may go up to fifteen thousand dollars.

President Jeanne Hill of the Las Vegas Doll

Club introduced other lovely Henderson members: Wanda Crane, with her outstanding "Once Upon a Storytime" collection; Rita Harwood, showing her adorable "Three Bears" theme, and Sharon Briner attending to join the girls in serving as hostesses, hoping to "upgrade" her collection. All Hendersonites, including Gertrude, welcomed visitors in a pioneer type gingham dress. Each club hostess was duplicated by a doll in the exact dress, including color and style. Gertrude's exhibit depicted the well-known fairy tale, "Hazel and Gretel," and included the cookie & candy house. An authority on dolls, the lady has lectured throughout the Vegas Valley area on the subject.

Including the excellent showings of our Henderson girls, the doll exhibit proved quite successful with men and woman visitors of all ages. However, surpris-truly interested in antiques, and some make miniatures. There are many who make their own type doll, some gaining a name," Gertrude added. She went on to say that many Club members will go without a needed item for the home or person in order to obtain a much desired doll. Others sell what they can of their own dolls, just to buy a more valuable one; referred to by the doll fanciers as "upgrading the collection."

Gertrude Klanderud, formerly a teacher with Robert E. Taylor School, has served the Las Vegas Doll Club as President, Treasurer and Secret-ingly enough, the visitors were comprised of mostly adults. Dolls of all kinds were on display such as: antiques, French reproductions (valued at $7500 and up), foreign-made and dressed, handmades, rag dolls, paper dolls, miniatures, wigs, doll house furniture, Shirley Temples and valuable American made Alexanders and Effan Bees. Part of the proceeds of the raffle tickets it donated toward the Blind Ceramic Department of the Blind Center of Las Vegas.

There's an old song with the first line going like this: "I'm gonna buy a paper doll that I can call my own," and the people are doing just that - "Buying dolls, paper and otherwise!"

NOTE: The Doll Club thanks the charming people of Henderson for their co-operation in making this show a huge success! The raffle doll, a reproduction of the late 1800's French doll, was won by Francine Pulleim of Las Vegas.

Motocross Racing Presentation At Library

Want to learn more about Motocross racing? A motocross film and discussion program will be held at the Henderson Public Library, 55 Water Street, on Thursday, Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. so that you may learn more about this popular sport.

Do you know where the term "motocross" comes from? It is an English term, from many years back, meaning motor across or race across from point A to point B. Over hills, across fields, through creeks and the first one to reach point B is the winner.

Over the years it has come to mean a race around a clearly defined, mostly unimproved course with right and left hand corners, jumps and berms for a given number of laps or time.

Tradition has brought the racing to the point where a Motocross race is usually two-twenty or thirty minute races, called motors, or three five to seven lap races.

The program is being presented Thursday evening by Bob Williams of the Las Vegas Motocross Club, who promises an exciting film and discussion for all who attend.

Santini Accepting Academy Applications

Rep. Jim Santini has announced he is currently accepting applications for nominations to the four service academies for the class which enters in the summer of 1978. Nominations are made for the Air Force Academy, the Naval Academy, the Military Academy and the Merchant Marine Academy.

The congressman will make his nominations on a competitive basis, using the academy method of "whole person" evaluation of applicants. Evidence of character, scholarship, leadership, physical and medical fitness, goals and desires are all weighted in the evaluation.

Applicants must also meet the basic eligibility requirements which are: U.S. citizenship, age of 17 but not over 22, and unmarried status with no legal obligation to support a child or children.

Candidates wishing to apply for service academy nominations should write to Congressman Jim Santini, 1408 Longworth House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 before Dec. 15.

Medical Technology Program Accredited

Dr. Meryl H. Haber, Chairman of the Department of Laboratory Medicine of the School of Medical Sciences, announced today that the Committee on Allied Health Education and Accreditation awarded continuing accreditation to the Medical Technology program at the University of Nevada School of Medical Sciences for a period of five years.

The new five-year accreditation award, which approves the Department's request to increase the student capacity to thirty students annually, was made with the recommendation from the National Accrediting Agency for Clinical Laboratory Sciences, the review committee sponsored by the American Society for Medical Technology and the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

Dr. Haber added that the program, which provides a means of direct entry into a health career, has been popular with today's UNR students who are keenly interested in career preparation. This program is the only one in the state that prepares medical technologists.

Haber said finally that it was gratifying to see the untiring efforts of the Program Director, Barbara Merritt, and the Medical Technology faculty result in such a successful program.

You And Your Credit

Credit is something like fire. It can keep your house warm or burn it down—depending on how it is used. Experts point out that it should not be a scheme to spend more than you earn, it should be used only when you are spending less than you earn.

One source of credit that many Americans may overlook is a credit union, which is a cooperative association for pooling the savings of its members and making loans to them at a low rate of interest.

To find out how you may join, experts at the National Association of Federal Credit Unions point out that you should first find out if there is a credit union where you work. Then check any civic or religious organization you belong to. Chances are you are a member of some group that has a credit union without even knowing it.

PRE-HOLIDAY KITCHEN CLEANUP

A thorough household cleanup is one chore just about everyone does in anticipation of holiday entertaining, and getting the kitchen sparkling-clean is probably the most important part of this routine.

You may have discovered, however, that getting rid of kitchen dirt is a trickier task than washing away dirt in any other part of the house: cooking fumes combine with everyday soil and dust to create a light, greasy film which settles on all kitchen appliances—not just the stove—and on cabinets and floors, too. Some cleaners you may use will wash away the surface soil but leave the greasy film; the result is dull-looking—and often sticky—surfaces.

To thoroughly clean away the grease with the soil, try spraying the dirty surfaces with Grease relief® degreaser and wiping with a damp sponge. The degreaser is specially formulated to cut through grease and make its removal easier. For large jobs, like washing floors, try adding some degreaser to your regular detergent to boost its grease-cutting strength.

A really clean kitchen says something about you, and your guests will find it more pleasant to view, too.

It took astronauts about three days to get to the moon; at that rate, it would take 878,000 years to reach the closest star, Proxima Centauri.

NEWS OF PETS

This ground-breaking ceremony really went to the dogs.

These Jack Russell terriers just naturally took over the show and broke the ground. They're born diggers from England, where they have been used as hunters for many years.

It was an appropriate time to get into the act. The ground-breaking exercises celebrated the start of construction for a new small-animal hospital at the University of Pennsylvania's School of Veterinary Medicine.

Dean Robert R. Marshak (left) and U.S. Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.), chairman of the House Labor/HEW Appropriations Subcommittee, yielded the ground—and the honor of the terriers. After all, the dogs represent the potential patients to be cared for in the $13.7 million facility.

Besides virtually unique capabilities for care of small-animal patients, the hospital will strengthen the veterinary school in its already outstanding educational and research missions.

"Downtown Henderson"

Henderson Home Of The Week

Starring: The Home of Frances Yost

Henderson has an array of homes, all shapes, sizes and styles. Possibly the typical doll's house with a little bit of New Orleans flavor added, could be the home of lovely Frances Yost. The wrought iron fence reminds one of the "old south" only excelling the southland in the beautiful view one has from the door of the Yost home. The expanse of desert, mountains and the town itself can be seen from the front yard. The landscaping surrounding the home could take a prize, also, with plush grass and shrubbery, trees, garden vegetables and statuary.

Once inside the viewer finds the French New Orleans theme carried through with the decor of modern French Provincial furniture, statue type lamps and crystal chandeliers. The patio is beset with multi-colored flag stones off-setting the home with a bit of the Spanish theme. A long dining area adjoins the living room. The kitchen is comfortable, and the library with book-laden shelves from floor to ceiling is warm with a wood-burning fireplace. Three bedrooms beautifully furnished carry out the French-Spanish decor. Frances Yost hails from Greenville, Alabama; met her husband, Donald, in New Orleans. The couple previously lived in Texas, Nebraska and Louisiana before coming to Henderson. Once in Henderson, a little over twenty years ago, they felt that they had found their own "Shangri-la" and settled the area. The couple have travelled extensively by means of a camper, trailer-home, and private airplane. Frances is proud to have obtained her flying permit through successfully soloing after a course of flying lessons. Travels throughout California, Utah, Arizona, Mexico and long boat trips on Lake Mead with their Chris-Craft dotted their life in Henderson. "I never got tired of the desert and mountains," Frances mentioned, "and I knew this would be my home when I first saw it!"

The home of Frances Yost which she and her husband devoted their time and talents, speaks of the romantic architectural theme seen on the Spanish - Southern French border and old New Orleans.

Junior-Senior Play Tonight at Basic

This year's Junior-Senior play will be presented tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in Basic High School's Little Theatre. Admission is $1.

The production is entitled "Trudy's Two Faces" and features cast members Debbis Alliss as Trudy James, Debbie Blankenship as Trudy II, Deanna Workman as Grace James, H. Jeffery Howard as Edward James, Brent Blanchard as Adam Taylor, John Kempas Philbrook Axle, Steve Phillips as Adam II and Keith Marcher, Jerry Salamy, Mark Wardlaw, and Alondra Havens as the TV voices.

This year's comedy production revolves around an identity crises. Trudy James has only been asked out once in the last year, and that was to a funeral. Trudy needs a date to the Sadie Hawkins dance, but no one will go with her. Her mother, Grace, is so involved in her soap opera "Community Trauma," that she won't listen to Trudy's problems.

Trudy's father is no help to her situation either because he just doesn't care.

Trudy realizes something must be done if she's going to start getting dates. She decides to create a new personality which will help her to hook a boyfriend.

Her new personality, however, gets out of hand and a new girl with all the subtle sweetness of a black widow results.

Trudy, who is upset with her new personality, then decides to seek psychiatric help by going to see Doctor Philbrook Axel who runs an acupuncture clinic on the side.

Director David Smalley and the cast are aided this year by one of the largest crews ever.

The make-up crew includes Tracy Burdo, Joni Madsen, and cast member Debbie Alliss.

Ticket sales will be handled by Joy Brigman and Rose Miller.

Greg Gillies will be in charge of the lighting, with Leann Bird and Beth Cogar in charge of props.

Suzy Cole was named the productions Stage Manager, while Carlotta Cellucci acted as the Student Director.

LARRY SCHULZ TO HEAD PROGRAM

The Bureau of Reclamation has appointed Larry David Schulz, a 34 year old native of Plainview, Minnesota, its youth Programs Coordinator for the Lower Colorado Region, Regional Director Manuel Lopez, Jr., announced today.

Schulz moved to Boulder City recently from the Collbran Job Corps Center in Colorado where he was Head Counselor since 1969. He will direct Reclamation's Regional Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) and the National Young Adult Conservation Corps (NYACC) programs.

Growing up on a Minnesota dairy farm with five sisters and brothers, Schulz attended a one-room country school through the 8th grade. He graduated from Elgin Community High School in 1961 before entering St. Cloud State College at St. Cloud, Minnesota. In 1965 he was awarded a bachelor of science degree in secondary education, majoring in English with a minor in mathematics.

In that same year, he married Sharon Mattson, also a Minnesotan. She joined him with their two children, Stephanie and Garth, in Boulder City. They are members of the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod.

Schulz taught 7th grade English in Casper, Wyoming before joining the Bureau of Reclamation's Casper Job Corps Civilian Conservation Center as a math teacher in 1967. He was reassigned as a counselor before transferring in 1969 to the Collbran Job Corps Center. "I feel a strong commitment to youth," Schulz stated, "and the YCC and NYACC programs will provide our nation's youth with meaningful work and educational experiences while also serving the national interest through conservation projects."

"INSURACHAT"

If a guest in your home trips on a broken step, your homeowners insurance will probably pay the medical costs involved.

With employees in the home, however, the rules change. Many states are now moving household employees—maids, baby sitters, gardeners, etc.—under the umbrella of workmen's compensation, for everyone's benefit.

Workmen's compensation offers two advantages: the employee collects even if the employer is not negligent, as long as the injury is job-related; and there are higher limits to the protection package.

Only the largest corporations can afford to pay workmen's compensation themselves. Everyone else usually buys insurance. Types of policies and their costs depend on the state.

Twenty states so far have set up rules as to who qualifies for workmen's compensation, and more will follow. The criteria are usually hours per week or salary per quarter.

Are you covered if domestic employees are injured in your home? Talk it over with the insurance experts at LaPorta Insurance Agency, 129 Water Street, Henderson, Nevada 89015, 565-6411.

20,000 New Jobs Hinge On New Law

If legislation currently before Congress is passed into law, 20,000 new jobs will be created in shipyards, on board ships and in related industries. Additionally, 200,000 existing maritime-related jobs would be preserved.

This proposed law, H.R. 1037 and S. 61, is cargo equity legislation, which would eventually require 9.5 percent of all oil imported into the U.S. to be delivered on U.S. flag tankers. Right now, note experts at the Transportation Institute, 97 percent of American oil imports are brought in foreign flag ships, eroding the U.S. merchant marine to the point where many jobs are being threatened.

Many Americans concerned about the unemployment rate are writing to their congressmen and senators urging passage of this legislation.

PSYCHOLOGY

DON'T WAIT FOR FRIENDSHIP
TO COME TO YOU GO OUT AND GET IT. FOR EXAMPLE, A NEW FAMILY MOVING INTO THE NEIGHBORHOOD MAY FEEL THIN ABOUT YOU. BE FRIENDLY IN A NEW TOWN. MAKE A POINT OF WELCOMING THEM.

PSYCHOLOGISTS POINT OUT THAT OFFERING A NEIGHBORLY HAND OFTEN FEELS AS GOOD TO THE WELCOMER AS TO THE ONE WELCOMED. IF A NEW FAMILY MOVES NEAR YOU, TRY NOT TO "TUNE THEM OVER FOR A FRIENDLY CUP OF TEA AND A BITE TO EAT." IT COULD MAKE EVERYONE FEEL GOOD.

It took astronauts about three days to get to the moon; at that rate, it would take 878,000 years to reach the closest star, Proxima Centauri.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the family is the basic unit of society and the foundation of civilization, and

WHEREAS, a society composed of strong families is fortified to combat destructive forces which would otherwise undermine individuals and nations, and

WHEREAS, an individual's character and foundation for useful and happy living are determined primarily by influences within the home,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LORIN L. WILLIAMS, Mayor of the City of Henderson, Nevada do hereby proclaim November 19, 1977 as and urge all our citizens to recognize the importance of the family unit and to work to strengthen the ties within their own families on this day and in the years to come.

Lorin L. Williams
LORIN L. WILLIAMS, MAYOR

FAMILY DAY PROCLAMATION---Family Day has been proclaimed by Mayor Heber Tabler of Boulder City and Mayor Lorin Williams of Henderson. Tehy day, Nov. 19, has been set aside nationally for families to do things together. It is being held in conjunction with a Pro-Life rally in Houston, Texas on Nov. 19. Several local people will be attending the pro-life rally in Houston including Rose Stubbs of Boulder City and Letty Ness of Henderson. Also Nerene Ray, formerly of Henderson, and Genevieve Smith of Henderson. Tehy will also attend the International Women's Conference in Houston on the same day. The importance of family life is being encouraged by the proclamations.

Energy cannot be created or destroyed. It can only be changed from one form to another.

Gift-Giving Ideas

You can gain a reputation for giving great gifts if you take the time to pick a present that suits the personality of the person you'll be presenting it to.

If, for instance, you know a man or woman who likes to have all the latest in scientific devices, or has a penchant for promptness, a love of accuracy or an appreciation of finely crafted jewelry, you might find it's time to give a distinctive digital watch.

These solid state quartz crystal watches are as remarkably accurate as modern technology can make them. They're dependable, too, because there are no moving parts to wear out or run down.

What's more, these watches never need winding because they're powered by tiny replaceable batteries.

These watches come in a variety of styles for men and women, and Sears, which has been in the watch business since 1886 is considered the place to buy them. They're so precise that the company which has a reputation for reliability, guarantees them to be accurate to within three minutes a year.

With these kinds of timepieces on hand, you could become the number one gift-giver in your circle.

PRESTIGE MOTOR CARS, LTD. DECATUR at SAHARA

Rawhide's main street was filled with supply wagons during the boom days of 1908. (NEVADA HISTORICAL SOCIETY PHOTOGRAPH).

This is another of the recollections written about Rawhide by L.A. Beckstead, who rushed to the camp as a young man. They were later printed in the Fallon Standard during 1939.

In the early days of Rawhide, after enough suckers had come in and business was rushing, a mining exchange was organized and mining stocks were bought and sold. Here many a wild scene was enacted. Great crowds jammed the doors trying to buy the stock offered. They came nightly and at times broke through the railing that separated us, the brokers, from the crowds outside. The press of buyers became so over-zealous that we had to employ strong-arm men, sometimes known as bouncers, to hold them in check. Among my fellow members on the exchange was a young Irishman, who had only recently emigrated to the country. Like most of the people from the Emerald Isle, he had that winsome smile with a friendly way and was an all-round good fellow. Evil times came upon him, however, as well as upon us. One morning he was found dead in his office. He had shot himself in the head. He had been such a fine and likable chap that all the brokers and many other people attended his funeral. The graveyard at the time was two miles above town - north and in a hollow or, what is known to desert rats, a wash.

As all of the old timers know, every gulch around Rawhide carried gold in small or larger quantities. Those gulches that were located below town, below the rich ledges, carried enough gold that a goodly number of men made what is called rockers to work the gravel. After paying the charges for hauling the water they used to separate the gold from the gravel, they made a fair living to good wages, even though the water they used had to be hauled from the flat six miles to where they were working and it cost them plenty of money.

As I have said before, colors of gold could be found in every gulch around the town, but as every placer miner knows, most of the gold lies on or near the bedrock. Placer miners had to go down to get their gold, this is where the connection between the gold in the graveyard and the crook comes in.

About this time a smooth-looking chap with ingratiating manners, big moustache and slick hair appeared upon the scene at Rawhide. It was while attending the funeral of the Irishman broker that this schemer learned about the gravel coming out of the graves having a certain amount of gold in it. Then it was learned that his modus operandi was to go up to the graveyard and from the residue of the dirt that had been thrown up from the bottom of the graves - near the bedrock where, as I said, the coarsest and best gold is found - he would gather up the gold-carrying gravel and send small amounts to thousands of people living in the East. In letters and circulars he told them to place the gravel in a pan with some water and to move the pan gently from side to side. He represented this gold as coming from a monster ledge. As everybody knows who has panned gravel containing gold, when his dupes used this method the yellow metal would always appear. Nearly every gold panning test would catch a customer, particularly if the prospect were among people living in the East.

It seems that some of his dupes living in the East came out to investigate. They found that our slick-working neighbor of old Rawhide had disappeared. Investors in his "mines" learned that he was an ex-convict not long out of prison, but let his hair grow long and had also cultivated a long, wild, western moustache which pretty well disguised his appearance.

NATIONAL FAMILY WEEK

Public Law 95-100
August 15, 1977
Joint Resolution

To authorize the President to issue a proclamation designating the week beginning on November 20, 1977, as "National Family Week."

Whereas the family is the basic strength of any free and orderly society: AND

Whereas it is appropriate to honor the family as a unit essential to the continued well-being of the United States; and

Whereas it is fitting that official recognition be given to the importance of family loyalties and ties; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the President is hereby authorized and requested to issue a proclamation designating the week beginning on November 20, 1977, as "National Family Week" and inviting the Governors of the several States, the chief officials of local governments, and the people of the United States to observe such days with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

Approved August 15, 1977

Everett J. Pollard, Human Development Agent for the Cooperative Extension Service says that the National Family Week is not a gimmick. Instead it simply sets such a specific time to recognize the importance of the family in American life and the fundamental role it has played in forming the values upon which the Nation is founded. The Resolution selected the Thanksgiving week, a time when families traditionally gather, as an appropriate time to recognize these contributions.

For further information call Everett Pollard at 731-3130.

Holiday Fowl Safeguards

Every holiday season brings family, friends and food together. On these occasions, it is important to observe certain safeguards, especially when preparing turkey or other large fowl. Shoppers should look for the USDA graded mark on the turkey wrapper. Grade A is the top grade and is plentiful supply in the supermarkets. USDA grading insures uniform standards on a national basis.

The age of a turkey is the major factor affecting tenderness. A young turkey will be more tender and milder flavored than an older mature one. Young tender turkeys require long slow cooking and are preferred for simmering or braising.

Frozen turkeys should not be thawed at room temperature, but should be left in the refrigerator until pliable. Leave it in the original wrapper or cover lightly with waxed paper, placing it on a tray for easy handling and to catch drippings. The following guideline can be used when thawing:

1 - 2 days for a 4 - 12 lb. bird. 2 - 3 days for a 12 - 20 lb. bird. 3 - 4 days for a 20 - 24 lb. bird.

Frozen turkeys may also be thawed at a faster rate by submerging the entire turkey in a container of cold running water. Again, it is recommended that the turkey remain in its original wrapper.

Check the instructions and timetables that are printed on the wrapper for the appropriate cooking time of the turkey. It is preferable to prepare and cook stuffing before placing it in the fowl.

Remember to refrigerate all food promptly after serving rather than allowing foods to stand for long periods of time at room temperature. When preparing leftovers, be sure to heat portions completely before reserving.

Holidays can be happier and healthier when attention is given to keeping hot foods 'hot' and cold foods 'cold' as recommended by the Clark County Health District

The Thanksgiving stuffing needn't be, thanks to Weight Watchers International. A special recipe for apple-cornbread stuffing for the traditional roast turkey will go a long way in eliminating the after Thanksgiving traditional stuffed tummy.

To prove that good nutrition, weight control, and a fun celebration for the whole family do go together, Weight Watchers also suggests a savory spinach soup to start with; peas and turnips along side the turkey, and a crisp tossed salad with creamy dill dressing. Let's not forget the steaming gravy that no Thanksgiving turkey can do without. Then a tantalizing Peach Cobbler for the perfect ending.

These recipes developed for members of Weight Watchers can be enjoyed by everyone. You can obtain a copy by writing to Weight Watchers Camelot Shopping Center, Maryland Parkway and Tropicana.
