Here's an artist's sketch of how the enlarged stadium will look

The two million dollar expansion program will soon be started and as this artist's rendition shows, the horseshoe shape will be completed by add-ons to the present structure. 15,000 more seats will be added plus a new entrance and ticket office along with additional snack bars, storage areas and ramps from top deck to concourse. A total of 31,000 seats will accommodate fans when the job is done.

Teamsters-City Agree On Two-Year Contract

Morry Story By Morry Zenoff

How often have you been in the position of saying "I told you so", after a situation has come up where you made an analysis and from it gave your advice? And then seeing it all work out as you predicted it would.

Made you feel good didn't it? And you won some points with people, or, at least with yourself?

Well -- we're in that ball park this day as we go over with you the sensational visit of President Sadat in Israel over the past weekend.

There, if you watched the excellent tv coverage on all three networks, one could ascertain over and over again how much both sides want peace -- the Arabs and the Israelis.

Well -- friend -- in June of 1974 we had the good fortune of traveling thru the Arab cities of Cairo, Damascus, Amman, Beirut that's in the countries of Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Libya. Then finishing in Jerusalem, Israel.

We were with 100 journalists and all of us were allowed to walk the streets wherever we were and ask questions, thru interpreters (our own), and ask anything we wanted. We did, and we compared notes at the end of every day, we journalists.

What did we discover from it all? -- The man on the street wanted peace, no more wars. The man in the office, the man in the field, in the store, in uniform, wherever. Peace was on everyone's lips, and they told you with a prayer in their voice and a tear in their eye in most cases -- as all seemed to recall the horrors of the recent '73 war where lives were taken from among thousands of families on both sides of the Suez.

Peace is what featured the Sadat-Begin meeting on the weekend. It was the most dramatic effort to sell that point to the world since the '73 war was being fought between Egypt and Israel.

Finally, leaders of both nations who are picky over points and over tradition and over custom -finally they are learning that

Vilate Homer Completes 25 Years Of Service

Vilate Homer was honored Sunday evening by Continental Telephone for 25 years of service with a party and a beautiful gold watch.

Mrs. Homer started with the telephone company in 1952, when Herschel Trumbo was owner, as a night operator.

"My baby was three months old," she explained "and I thought it would be better to work nights, then I could be home during the daytime with the children."

Twenty - five years later she is still employed as night operator.

"As the children grew older I could have asked to have my shift changed ... just never got around to it."

Working the night shift can be interesting at times - other times on the dull side.

"You have to be johnny on the spot," Mrs. Homer said.

"You get calls for long distance, repair service, dialing assistance and dictionary!"

Yes, dictionary.

It seems occasionally people call in the wee hours of the morning and ask how to spell a word or what year President Kennedy died, things of this nature.

"People get together and make bets, then call the telephone company for information. They think we know all the answers," she laughed.

Mrs. Homer has five children and nine grandchildren, many of whom were guests at her party.

Also attending were Richard Denton, Nevada State Manager for Continental Telephone and Jim Concannon, plant manager, who traveled from Gardnerville for the special occasion.

Jack Miller, Dick Stewart, Sr. and Walt Zawrotny were elected to the board of directors of the Black Mountain Country Club Saturday night at the club's annual meeting of stockholders.

More than 150 people turned out for the exciting event and they heard President Bill Phillips explain that for the second straight year the club had operated in the black. Phillips explained it as a miracle and he gave the reason for the success as being the fine member participation in club affairs.

Outside tournaments proved helpful financially, he reported, and the figures also show that about 75 per cent of the receipts are from nonresident play, most being from the Vegas area.

Phillips predicted 300 members would be on the rolls within a few years. There are more than 450 members now. Phillips also told of a new minor improvement to be built on the front nine - a men and women's toilet facility. He finished the evening report with a request that as many as possible play in the Bob Taylor Scholarship Tournament.

The net profit for the year was more than $21,000.

Regina Hall, a halfway house for girls, is celebrating its sixth anniversary in Henderson this week and Sister Riccarda Mosley said an open house so people of Henderson can visit the new facility will be announced after Thanksgiving.

During the six years in Henderson Regina Hall has had 112 girls in residence with an 82 per cent success record of returning the girls to their families. Sister Riccarda and her co-founders, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harrington, were successful in Nov. of 1975 in moving to new and expanded facilities at 140 W. Horizon

Drive. Sister and the Harringtons are starting their tenth year as a team in the work they

The goal of the Hall is to treat the 12 girls in residence there as a "large happy family," and to point out its success, four of the girls have come back "home" to be married.

The sponsoring agency of the home is the Nevada Catholic Welfare Bureau, but a lot of people have been given credit by Sister for their help.

A two-year contract between the City of Henderson and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters Local 14 was approved by the two groups and was expected to be ratified by the City Council Monday night.

The agreement covers working conditions, salaries and other benefits for three separate bargaining groups represented by the Teamsters, involving blue collar workers, supervisory workers and clerical and technical personnel.

The employee groups ratified the proposal on November 1 and action by the City Council has been pending.

The two-year agreement calls for two five percent salary increases, one on July 1, 1977 and January 1, 1978 as awarded by the factfinder, and two and one-half percent salary increases for the second year of the contract on July 1, 1978 and January 1, 1979.

Helath and welfare benefits for the groups represented will go from the previous $49 per month amount to $54 per month as of July 1, 1977 and to $70 per month on July 1, 1978.

Also considered a major portion of the agreement the city and union will cooperate through a joint committee in a review of work schedules, considering such possibilities as a four day work week with ten hours a day and better shift definitions.

Jim Wilkerson, coordinator and vice president for the Teamsters, and Bob Campbell, City Manager, have both termed the agreement as one that is fair to the employees as well as within the financial capabilities of the City.

By Flo Raymond

Today's Question: What will your main Thanksgiving dinner dish consist of, such as turkey? What does Thanksgiving Day mean to you?

VALDEZ SARA Homemaker - Turkey! What is Thanksgiving Day without a turkey? I feel this is a time to count our blessings; to be grateful we can live in America; thankful for our families. and if we're lucky enough to have them around, to be thankful for that. We should be happy for our health, our life and our blessings, small and big.

Librarian-Homemaker -Turkey! Thanksgiving is a family tradition. I'm afraid it's something the country has gotten far away from, but we are keeping it alive. We are happy to have our childrn and grandchildren joining us for this day of Grace. The grandchildren will give the 'grace." Members of the family will bring in side dishes and we will roast the turkey. We are expecting seventeen for dinner and it should be a lovely day!

will be with my family and sister-in-laws. I look at Thanksgiving Day as a peaceful time which brings families together. It is a pity that the Holiday spirit prevails only during this season. I wish the affection, love and spirit of giving of oneself, friendship and kindness could continue all the · 'round. SUMMARY: Everyone talked "Turkey!" Where were you, goose, ham, chicken and roast beef? All interviewed had the "Spirit" and looked at Thanksgiving as a day of "thanks," family, friends, and peace. Many wished the love could keep on all the year around. Wouldn't it be a wonderful world if the spirit of the Thanksgiving and Holiday Season could continue through the year? Not the tinsel, turkey and constant "goodies," but the friendship, good will and understanding!

peace is wanted at the price of even giving in on points by compromise or by outright forfeiture.

We would again state as we did when we returned in '74 -both sides should give as much as possible, but if an impasse comes, then one side should give in completely. The best of men's minds should be used in negotiating .. the big names who rule on both sides should be booted aside and substitutes brought in -- if unsolved arguments would end the negotiations.

You know the why of this radical thinking?

Because we talked to the man on the street in the Arab countries and in Israel -- and the man on the street wants peace -- at any honorable price. There is no room for failure now. The nations of the world can guarantee the securities of borders that are settled upon. Soon -- intermingling will bring the fruits.

THE PANAMA CANAL IS AN AMERICAN AFFAIR

By Maryellen Vallier Sadovich

Part 20 of a Series

In the wake of all the obstructions that inhibited their work, the Frenchmen interested in a Panama Canal could be stopped. Napoleon - Bonaparte Wyse stepped forward once again, and secured a 10-year extension of his old franchise from Colombia. An added indulgence later allowed the ten years to begin on October 31, 1894, on condition that a new company be organized by that date.

The chief engineer. Philippe Bunau-Varilla. quickly went to work writing books and pamphlets extolling the Panama coute, traveling widely, in search of new financing for the canal. He was successful, and the Compagnie Nouvelle du Canal de Panama was incorporated October 20, 1894, and once again work went forward on the

Just two years after the work began under direction of the Compagnie Nouvelle, the Frenchmen knew they were in trouble. If they could sell the entire package, the concession, equipment and work already accomplished to the United States, perhaps they could salvage the profitable Panama Railroad, and a portion of the multi-million dollar investment in the Isthmus.

To prepare the way for such a sale, the French company in January 1896 retained William Nelson Cromwell, a New York lawyer, as their United States attorney. For two years Cromwell directed a pro-Panama and anti-Nicaraguan canal campaign, paying engineers to make public statements extolling the Panama site, and attempting to focus congressional attention of the Chagres route.

Cromwell was soon joined by the French en-

November 27th. Show hours will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. "If you've never attended a dog show, you have a treat in store for you," one member stated, "in that you will see the best of each breed." Admission is free.

Imagine the surprise when Arnold and Peggy Cole visited daughter-in law, Karen, and son, Greg, for what they thought was just another Sunday afternoon visit. Aside from a light in the kitchen, Karen had the lights out throughout the house. This was merely "setting - the - stage" for a big "SURPRISE" greeting the elder Coles were to receive in celebration of their 29th Wedding Anniversary. "Mom was speechless," Karen said, "and both she and dad could not get over the greeting they received when we turned the lights on in the living room and the guests joined in song!"

Attending were: Lance and Wanda Lansford, Bill and Margaret Grahm, Kris and Barry Prime, Darrel and Sue Morrell, Sharon and John Carducci, John and Lorna Kilebrew, sister in - law Suzy Cole, and of course, the Greg Cole's children, Michael, 11 and baby Jessica.

Buffet was served with a roast and ham with side dishes. Karen made a lucious yellow cake

Major sponsors have been the late Bobby Darin, the Wayne Newtons, Tony Orlando, all of whom have made sizeable contributions to the home. The Fleischman foundation was instrumental in providing the money for the new home and the City of Henderson helped provide the land.

"We consider it a great privilege to live in Henderson and be the recipients of the many kindnesses of the inhabitants here," Sister and the Harringtons said.

They also are impressed with the cooperation they have received from the girls themselves.

"If the girls were not cooperative and giving us a great deal of help, we could not make such accomplishments as we have," they said. This year four of the girls will graduate from Basic High School.

Because of their outstanding work, the Harringtons and Sister Riccarda have been offered opportunities to found other homes in other areas but they have chosen to keep Henderson as the home base. Besides the Harringtons there is a full time arts and crafts instructor and another staff member.

Regina Hall is licensed as a "small group home," the only one in Nevada. It also has an active auxiliary, one which is described as "indespensible to the home.".. Sister Riccarda was just appointed to a three - year term on the Governor's Crime Commission. In 1973 Mrs. Harrington was selected as Clark County Foster Mother of the Year and was also on national television on the program, "Girl in My Life."

When Regina Hall was first started it was located in the St. Peter's church complex.

All colors are acceptaare also enchanting resembling the wolf in the almond shaping. Eye colors are clear brown, amber, blue, green and marble (green with brown spots) all acceptable for championship material.

Their hypo - allergenic fur make them a desired pet. They are lovable, devoted and happy, often happiest when accompanied by other huskies. "More than one husky is desirable," Donna stated, "for they crave companionship of their own kind." She went on to say that they are enduring, strong and tireless. Used in sled throughout races California and the Western states, the husky is recognized for his steady gate, fastest speed for sled racing over a period of miles and his endurance. The dog works well with team mates, getting along with one another ... only, and the "only" is emphasized, one of the dogs doesn't weaken. The weakened one will be swarmed on and picked on as in the wolf packs by the others, that is if some thoughtful humon doesn't creak it up. Donna stated that the Siberian Husky does have a strain of "wolf" in him. Although resembling the purest dog there is, the Samoyan, in fur arrangement and height. the husky does not have a true "doggy" bark. He howls like his wolf cousin, and yelps when happy, excited or hungry. "They are the closest dog to the wolf," Donna confided, "with many of them having inter - bred with the wolf from away back when some of the Siberians were separated from the

Also stressing the point that non breeders should have their pets neutered, or spayed, Donna firmly believes in development of the purest and highest form of Siberian, opposing breeding just for Artist Judy Ley Adams of Henderson finds a canvas, brushes and an oil painting set just the right tools needed to capture Nevada's mascot, the "Big Horn Sheep." Originating from Chicago, Illinois, Judy finds the western USA, the desert, mountains and Lake Mead at most welcome relief from the "hustle and bustle" of the big city. A graduate and degree in Home Economics from Illinois University where she met Roy Adams who just happened to share her interest in good music, arts and sports, the couple made it a colorful "team." It was "westward ho" when Roy was to fill a job which just happened to be located in Henderson. "I love it here," stated Judy, "the desert, mountains and its animals holds a distinct kind of fascination for me. Roy and I are happy to have been able to give our children the opportunity of being raised in this part of the ing beautiful pictures of the desert animals, and wild animals of Africa Judy finds time to sew knit and crochet, raise Roy, Jr. and Laura (nine and eight year olds respectively), keep a lovely home and attend oil painting classes with the renound artist, Steve Leznick. "I find an artist, or anyone in the artistic fields, never ceases to learn, improve on technique, develop more style and deliver. Once feel you've "learned-all" you stagnate! I reached that period about six months ago. I felt empty and in a period of stagnation. It was then I decided to resume classes and found Mr. Leznik's help and suggestions just the "medicine" I needed to again set my art on the upward journey," Judy confided.

country." Besides paint-

Judy is not a tempermental artist in her styling, she portrays a real love and understanding for the desert animals she transfers onto canvas. "My object," she added, "is to convey through my paintings the feeling I have for the animals. I am deeply concerned about conservation and would like to see them have the chance to live their lives out the way that nature intended it."

Judy is noted for her paintings of "Old Spot," a famous big horn sheep that resided at Corn Creek Station until recently when he took that "last climb to the mountain in the sky!" Another favorite art subject are the burros and Judy captures the wild and curious look of the popular Nevada animal.

Recently completing a successful one-month exhibit at Burk Gallery, Boulder City, a few of the artist's paintings can still be viewed at the mountain galllery. Judy is in the midst of filling an oil commission of a lion and a portrait of her late grandfather whom she loved. Roy is a talented frame maker and many of the beautiful woods such as knotty-pine and wormwood complete his lovely wife's paintings. "For relaxation, there is always the art," Judy interjected, "but for exercise I enjoy a tennis match with Roy, although he out-plays me by far, modern dancing right here at home and target shooting." Roy is currently the president of the Henderson Tennis Club while Judy served as past-president of the Garden Club

Roy had set the stones and prepared the facing of the fireplace. Music, art, crackling fires and good books grace the home-life of the Adams family. Judy is looking forward to the Christmas Season and hopes that people will think of hand-painted art for gift giving in that it is always in good taste and the gift that keeps on giving.

NOTE: For those wishing to view the paintings of Judy Ley Adams, one can arrange a private showing by phoning

"Treasure Island" Treat for School Children

Thanks to the generdonations of McDonald's Restaurant in Henderson, Art Liebert of the Rainbow Club and the Las Vegas Optimists Club, the third through sixth grade students from Sewell, Taylor and McCaw schools will enjoy a legitimate stage production of the play, "Treasure Island."

The performances will be given on Tuesday, November 29 by the Earth Theater Repertory Company of Chicago in the Civic Center Auditorium at 11 a.m. and 1

The company supports a complete professional cast and has been featured in publications such as Newsweek, and said.

Daily News. Their aim is to educated as well as entertain by using a physchological motivation technique involving a tie with speech, art, reading and writing projects. Due to a theater con-

the Chicago and Detroit

vention being held in Las Vegas, the Parks and Recreation Department is fortunate in being able to present the Earth Theater performances. "We are grateful for the communities response to this project and we hope to continue working with the community to bring all forms of art to this area in the future," Dundee Jones, Director of the Parks and Recreation Dept.
