Paints on Wood

Blind Local Artist Loves Work

Being declared legally blind hasn't discouraged or stopped a young Henderson mother of three who loves art and helps support the family by drawing on wood.

Debra Excell Oviatt grew up in Henderson and graduated from Basic high school in 1969. Although she went to many eye specialists as she was growing up, her eyes started to deteriorate when she was 14. She was lucky enough to get a driver's license for four years but then had to give it up because she could not pass the eye test.

Shortly after she married Floyd Oviatt they moved to Utah where he worked in a saw mill near Kanab. He started bringing home extra pieces of wood, some of them knots that were not used in the lumber, and she began to draw on them. She uses brown, white and black ink, sometimes even doing landscapes on plywood. Her drawings became so popular that some of the other people started trying it and now they have to pay for the wood they use.

They moved back to Nevada three years ago and Oviatt got a job for the Clark County School District. She stays at home with her three sons, Christian 9, Kevin 7, and Craig 4. Her eyes will not allow her to find employment even while her husband was unemployed. The only way she can paint or draw is to get her face very near her work.

"I see the picture in the wood first and then I draw it on," she said. "I use the wood grain as the picture." She studied art in high school and then took a correspondence course and also private lessons from Milford Zorens. "I want to eventually go back to school and learn more if my eyes will let me," she said.

Debra is not sorry for herself and she is filled with enthusiasm for life.

"Being an artist helps me see things other people don't see," she said. "I enjoy everything that I can see."

Her husband does the cutting of the wood and have also made napkin holders.

She hopes to have a one-man show in the near future. She plans to enter the art festival in Boulder City in October and hopes to have a show at the library in Henderson.

It takes a number of hours to make one of the wood paintings and sometimes she has to stop and rest her eyes, but Debra likes what she does and is willing to share it with others.

ARTIST'S WORK — These attractive wood plaques are drawn on wood with pen and ink. Debra Oviatt is legally blind but she loves to do art work and helps support the family that way.

City's Proposed Budget $8 Million

By Lorna Kesterson

A $7,976,499 general fund budget for 1981-82 has been proposed for Henderson, a 27 percent increase over last year's budget of $6,294,886.

The total budget, including debt services and others comes to $21,961,815 as compared to $18,259,030 for the previous year.

The City Council will discuss the budget at a meeting Friday at 4 p.m. at City Hall.

City Manager Bob Campbell said the intent of the new budget is to place a high priority on public safety needs.

"During the past three years our efforts have been directed at the fire division where a 50 percent increase in fire fighting personnel has been realized," Campbell said. "While our efforts this year must necessarily shift to the police division for 'catch up,' a full-time fire inspector position has been included in the proposed budget." Campbell also said the city may have to look toward three additional firefighters. In the proposed budget, an additional five police officers have been funded, along with two additional dispatchers and a corrections officer. An animal control officer has been budgeted for Jan. 1982.

Three field positions are proposed for funding at mid-year for the public works department, two maintenance personnel and a meter serviceman all in the utility section.

A clerk-typist has been proposed for municipal court and a second data processing manager for the finance department.

Major projects under consideration for the coming year includes a new city shop allocation of $50,000; waste water plant, $1,480,000 and other special projects at $50,000.

Campbell concluded that there are many "unknowns" in the budget.

"The action of the state legislature; the effects of an unhealthy national economy; the lack of settlement with our labor unions, and others may cause problems," Campbell said. This would result in changes in the budget. He said hopefully the projections are reasonable.

The budget contains two appropriation funds requiring a combined tax rate of $1.3327 on an assessed valuation of property in Henderson of $127,458,489.

A big hassle has developed over the funds collected for the unemployed people as a result of the MGM fire. This is not uncommon because among all of the good people involved in fund raising activities, some scoundrels often times work their way into the system.

You can bet there will be no legitimate questions raised about the funds collected by the Aladdin Employees Association. They may argue about where the money should be spent, but there will never be a question about any loss of funds handled by attorney James Ordowski.

Ordowski, a former FBI special agent, has a reputation of integrity which is unquestionable. He will have the money distributed and the account closed by mid-March.

Father Caesar Caviglia was beaming at the dedication of the Stella E. Fleming Towers for the elderly. The new facility for senior housing is the result of hard work and cooperation between the Nevada Catholic Welfare Bureau and the Las Vegas Housing Authority. Caesar Caviglia is president of the bureau and Lou LaPorta is a trustee.

The towers were named in honor of a lady who has helped thousands of local people and strangers during her several decades of work. Stella Fleming always had the ability to get food and shelter for the needy or a bus ticket home for a wandering child.

Naming this beautiful complex after Stella is refreshing. It shows that we

Awards to be Given

Automobile License Collectors To Meet Here

The Civic Center auditorium will be the site of the first annual Western License Plate Collectors Round-up to be held on Saturday and Sunday, March 7 and 8.

Henderson is the most western convention site selected in the 27 years that the Automobile License Plate Collectors Association (ALPCA) has been organized. Co-hosting the unique event are Ken King and Roy A. Carson, both of Henderson, and Don Holler of Las Vegas.

While collectors and dealers will pay a $2 registration fee, the public is cordially invited to attend the weekend activities at no charge.

The three co-hosts are all members of ALPCA which was founded in 1954 for the purpose of organizing regional hobby meetings, distribution of their bi-monthly newsletter, and encouraging the exchange of information and old license plates among the membership. There are approximately 1600 active ALPCA members representing all 50 states, the District of Columbia, most provinces of Canada plus Australia, Belgium, Denmark, England, France, Germany, Jamaica, the Netherlands, New Zealand, South America, Senegal, Sweden and Switzerland.

Fifty-three confirmed reservations from 15 states have been received so far for the round-up, according to Carson, including most of the western states and as far east as Louisiana, Nebraska, New York and Illinois.

There will be eight awards given to exhibitors who have created the most attractive displays from expired auto plates in their collections.

Exhibits usually range from Governor's plates (usually No. 1's), to year-by-year sequence series showing at least one plate for each year of issue since a state began vehicle registration. In Nevada, for example, the first license plates were home-made, after the owner had obtained a silver dollar-sized disc from the Secretary of State. This was in 1913 and many motorists merely painted their numbers on the rear of their vehicles. Discs were issued for 1914 and 1915, but undated yellow-on-green plates were furnished by the state in 1916.

Nevada license plates were manufactured by an out-of-state firm from 1916 through 1927, with the state prison at Carson City assuming that operation in 1928.

Over the years, silver and blue have dominated the state's license plate colors but some more exotic schemes did appear in the earlier years. According to King, red and white were used in 1919, 1928 and 1944. The 1953 plates were gold-on-green, honoring the state's mineral and agricultural industries.

Black and orange were popular colors from 1929 through 1932 and the 1925 plate was white on deep purple. It is expected that a year-display of Nevada plates will carry off one of the awards this weekend but which collector will be honored depends upon his exhibit efforts.

Among the other exhibits visitors may expect to see will be an early 1910 to 1920 Oklahoma panel shipped from San Antonio, Texas, by a collector who cannot be present. There will also be motorcycle plates, dealer plates, personalized, amateur radio plates and many varieties of expired plates representing most of the world.

Some collectors favorites include polar bear shaped plates from Canada's Northwest Territories, a German motorcycle plate with a Nazi validation disc still attached, a solid copper 1934 Arizona car plate and a Louisiana dealer plate are all more impressed by those who help others than we are by complainers or speech makers.

Why was the St. Rose de Lima fund raising Mardi Gras bigger and better than ever?

It couldn't fail when two of Nevada's most respected citizens served as co-chairmen. Put the names of Sam Boyd and Harry Reid side by side and you have a double winner.

Sure nice that Henderson can claim both men as citizens.

Health and Human Services Secretary Richard Schweiker is correct when he calls it a "scandal" that taxpayers must support children whose parents refuse to make court-ordered payments.

Secretary Schweiker has identified a problem which, if corrected, could save the taxpayers $156 million next year. He wants the states to identify the divorced parents failing to pay court-ordered costs and also those people who owe alimony.

Sounds like a great idea, but then he loses me when he wants the Internal Revenue Service to become the collection agency. Schweiker wants the IRS to withhold the money owed from the offending parents' income tax refunds.

The Office of Management and Budget is talking about cutting 6,000 employees from the IRS field forces. Now comes Schweiker recommending they be used as a collection agency for the states. The job of the IRS is to collect taxes -- not get involved in state and family problems. They are already too deeply involved in matters unrelated to taxes.

Justice of the Peace John McGroarty has been taking some heat for not binding Larry Lamb over for trial in district court. That would have been the easy way out for John, then the district court judge could take the heat. McGroarty is too much man to take the easy way out of anything.

Judge McGroarty ruled according to law because three prosecution witnesses failed to show up. Even District Attorney Bob Miller tells us that the judge ruled correctly.

The matter is not over yet as Miller will present the case to a grand jury.

About the time you are reading this I should be on my way to Carson City where I will introduce a good friend to the Kiwanis Club. It is the day the Kiwanis Club of Carson City holds their legislative luncheon.

My pal Jim Otto, a member of Professional Football Hall of Fame, has agreed to be the luncheon speaker. Jim, who wore the numerals 00 on his football jersey, started 210 consecutive league games for the Oakland Raiders and was the only All-League center the American Football League ever had.

• Otto won All-AFL acclaim ten straight years and then nailed down the All-AFC spot for three additional years.

No Raider player, regardless of position, can boast greater credentials than the 42-year-old Otto. Not surprisingly, during his 15-year career he participated in each of the nine AFL All-Star games and played in the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl the first three seasons that post-season classic was held.

Prior to his retirement at the start of the 1975 season, Otto had started 210 straight contests in regular season but had played in 308 games as a Raider. His pro football longevity included 73 pre-season contests, 210 regular, 13 post-season and 12 all-star contests. Over this period, the Raiders rose to prominence as pro football's winningest team.

This is one luncheon I am really going to enjoy because Jim will tell it all when he speaks to Nevada's legislators and Kiwanians.

Judge Huffaker To Speak

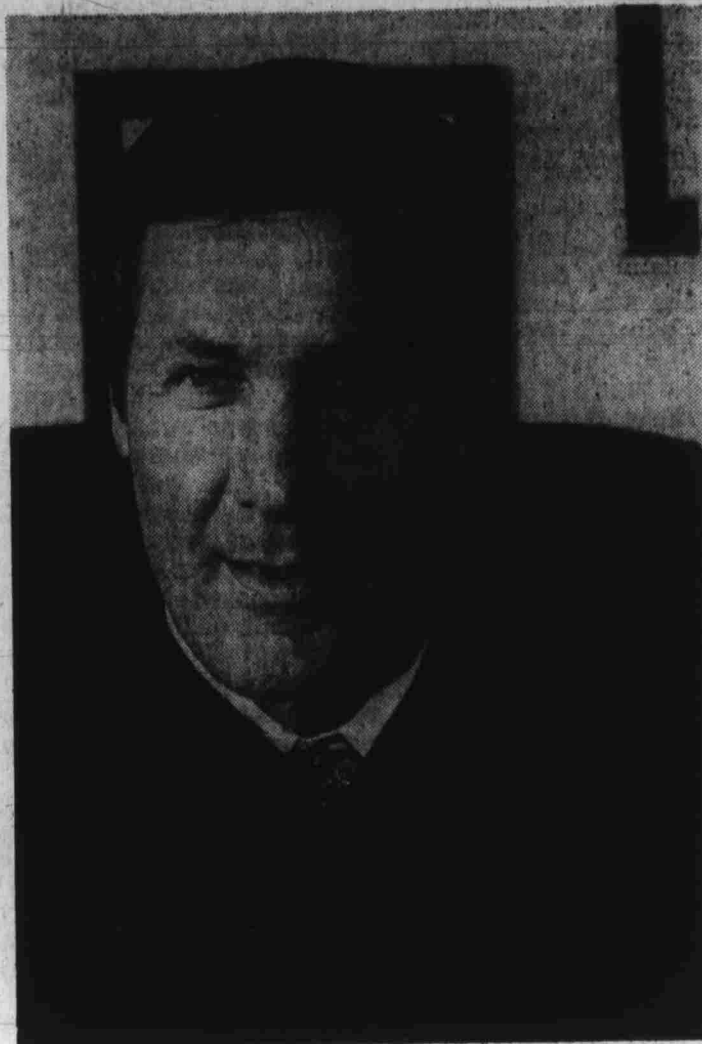

District Court Judge Stephen Huffaker will be the guest speaker at the Henderson Boys' Club's annual awards dinner and installation of officers to be held Friday evening at the Elk's Lodge.

No host cocktails will be from 7 p.m. until dinner is served at 8 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling 565-6568.

Mayor Lorin Williams will install the new officers for the coming year and entertainment will be provided by LeAnna Grant and "The Littlest Impressionist" Andrew Morris.

New officers to be installed are Ron Hubel, president; Lee Zike, first vice-president; Earl Floyd, second vice-president; Bill Cottrell, treasurer; and Betty Daley, secretary.

Members of the active board of directors include Billy Dedmon, Mark Goldstein, Don Griffie, Phil Hubel, Ron Langford, Gerald Ludwig, Lanny Lund, Howard Palmer, Roy Phillips, Toni Pitaro, Frank Price, Mary Stafford, Rod Stinnett, out-going president Larry Tabony, Kirby Trumbo, Paul Weiss and Jean Wright.

A complete search of the building inside and outside failed to uncover a bomb and patrons were allowed to return shortly afterward.

City Grants Curb Waiver For Arrowhead Estates

The City Council granted a request for a waiver from L curbs to H curbs in the Arrowhead Estates development at the request of Jim Jensen.

Jensen explained there was a misunderstanding between his construction superintendent and the building department and the H curbing has been installed on approximately one-third of the tract at this time. Jensen noted they had put cement valley gutters in the streets as requested.

In other actions the council: - Appointed Stanford Mc-

Neal of the Henderson Police Department to serve as the Henderson representative on the Economic Opportunity Board.

- Approved an ordinance regulating escort and dating bureau businesses.

- Approved an ordinance that sets a limitation to the number of pawnbroker licences permitted in the city according to population.

Approved a resolution setting Monday, March 16 at 7 p.m. as the date for a public hearing on proposed City of Henderson Economic Development Revenue Bonds for the Continental Minerals Corporation project, with a maximum of $3 million.

Boulder Hotel Announces Staff Additions

In a move to strengthen its newly restored hotel - restaurant and bar operations, the Boulder Dam Hotel announced the addition of two top management consultants to its staff.

The announcement was made Wed. by principal owner State Senator Cliff McCorkle.

The two men are Hassi Sadri, a hotel manager from Reno, and John Fisher, a restaurant specialist from San Francisco. Sadri, with over 25 years of hotel management experience, will assume the duties of general manager, and Fisher, who formerly was the executive chef at Trader Vic's and the Pacific Union Club in San Francisco will be responsible for the restaurant and bar operations.

"We are very pleased to have two people with the credentials of Sadri and Fisher in our operations," McCorkle said. "Between them they bring over 55 years of hotel and restaurant management experience to us. We are expecting great things from them."

McCorkle indicated their first assignment will be to improve the main dining room's quality and service. "Not unlike most new restaurants we've had some problems," McCorkle admitted. "One of our biggest problems has been the ability to attract and hold experienced personnel in the restaurant operation. We are confident John Fisher can help solve this situation."

"Frankly, the response to our restaurant caught us a little off guard," McCorkle said. "At times we have been overwhelmed beyond expectations causing shortages of certain food items and inadequate service. We intend to correct that immediately and give the residents of Boulder City the finest restaurant operation possible."

McCorkle indicated Sadri's prime responsibility will be to set up and implement a management system for the entire operation. Once the system is in place and functioning smoothly, which could take several months according to McCorkle, a permanent general manager will be brought in to operate the hotel.

Visiting hours on Saturday are from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Coffee, donuts and soft drinks will be on sale for collectors and visitors while they roam from table to table, checking the hundreds of boxes for an item to fill a space in a collection.

The hosts promise that everyone attending will find something of interest at this unique license plate round-up.

Winner's Circle To Reopen

A grand reopening of the Winner's Circle on Water Street will take place next Tuesday, March 10 beginning at 2 p.m.

cash drawings every 20 minutes from 3 to 11 p.m.

The Winner's Circle will again feature its outstanding Chinese dinners between 5 p.m. and 2 a.m. and there will be free bingo daily. There will be a sports book, video poker and everyone is welcome.

Phone System

The city council voted Monday night to obtain a new telephone system for the city through renting from Centel under the Public Service Commission Tariff and Jurisdiction. This would be awarded as a sole source contract as it is the only method to acquire a telephone system under PSC regulations.

Finance director Fred Artus said in March of 1982 by Federal Communication Commission order, Centel may no longer be able to offer terminal equipment and at that time, the city may have the option to buy the system as used equipment.

The new system will cost the city approximately $4,600 a month or $55,000 a year. The old system, presently in use by the city, is antiquated, has insufficient line capacity, and does not work properly.

Gunman Robs Jet Station

An armed robber walked away with $43 in cash from the Jet Service Station on Boulder Highway last week.

According to police, the station attendant, Marcella Gajus, was approached by a polite man who asked for a pack of cigarettes and when she turned back to face him, with the cigarettes, he was pointing a large caliber revolver at her.

He politely said, "Stay cool-open the register and give me the money."

When she complied, he left walking toward Barrett Street.

He is described as approximately 5-7, medium build, black slightly curly hair, clean shaven, black, trimmed mustache, dark blue jacket,

New EOB Clinic Opens Here

The Economic Opportunity Board's new health services facility at 750 Major Street was opened recently according to J. David Hogard, executive director of the EOB of Clark County.

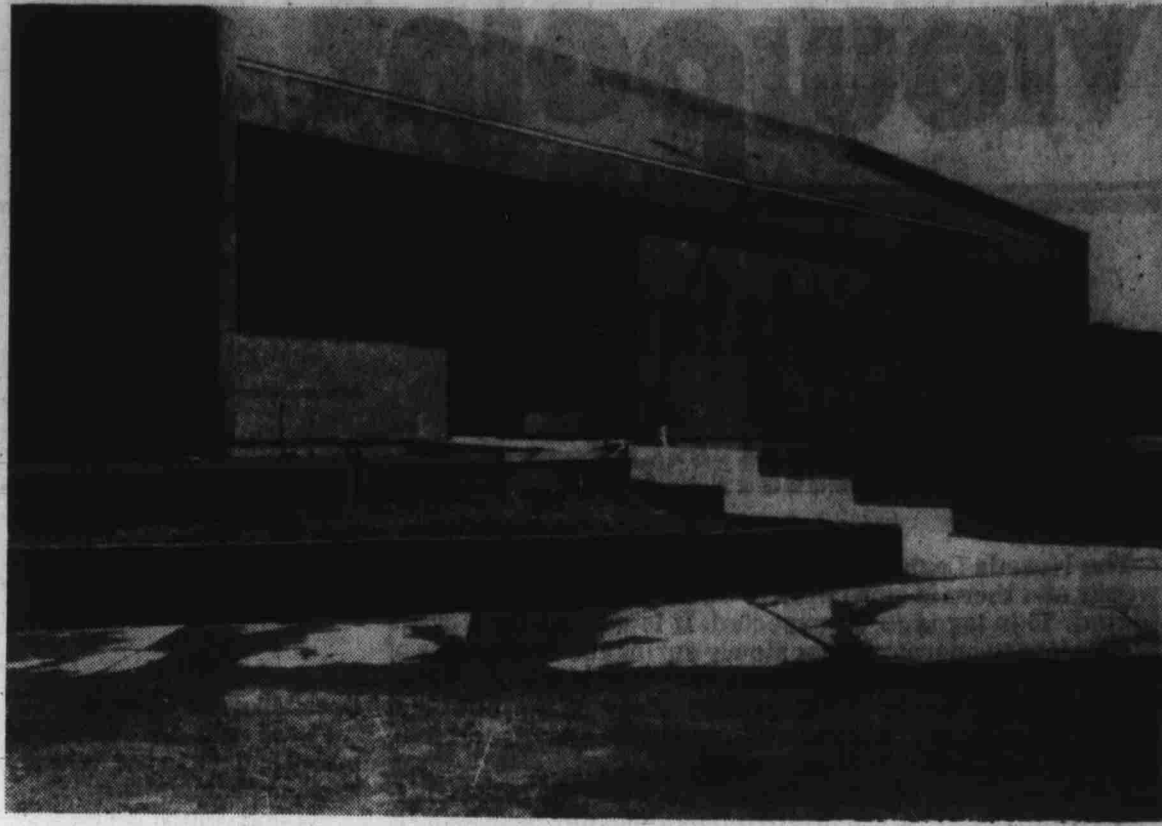

The clinic had been operating from a trailer and the new facility will give added space for the services offered which include family planning, children and youth program, WIC (Women, infant and children), EPSDT (early periodic screening, diagnosis and treatment), services for senior citizens, and cervical cancer screening.

The Clark County Housing Authority provided the building, according to William Cottrell, executive director of the Authority, and the EOB runs the program. He said the new building is an impressive addition, "much more functional and useful with three times the space they had before."

The new facility was funded by a HUD modernization grant in the amount of $150,000, and is equipped with four examining rooms, a spacious reception and waiting area, conference room, laboratory, doctor's office, and nurses station.

The clinic hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and staffed with adequate medical support. The doctor is available from 1 to 5 p.m. every Tuesday.

The new EOB Clinic located at Al Landsman Gardens on Major Avenue.

New Dental Office Planned in City

Monday night the City Council approved a zone change from R-2 (two family residence district) to C-1 (limited or neighborhood commercial district) to allow for the construction of a CPA - medical building on the corner of Ocean Avenue and Haynes Drive adjacent to Boulder Highway in the Townsite area.

The request came from local dentist Dr. Donald S. Coplin who had explained earlier at a planning commission meeting that he had been practicing here for over five years and the building complex which houses the five dentists on Lake Mead Drive is running into parking problems, hence the desire to build a new office.

He said there would be additional office space in the new building and a Certified Public Accountant was interested in renting the space.

The new office building will be 2000 sq. ft. on a site that is presently undeveloped.

Approved a variance request from James J. Allen of 15 Church Street to allow an addition to the main structure closer by 6 1/2 feet to an existing accessory building than the required 10 feet allowed in a one family residential district.

Approved a use permit request from Robert W.

McMackin, representing John A. Toth, to operate a pawn shop at 745 Sunset Road, Unit No. 4, in an industrial district.

Approved a request from the city to remove Van Wagenen Street between Hillcrest Drive and Boulder Highway, and Hillcrest Drive between Lake Mead Drive and Van Wagenen from the Master Streets and Highways plan.

The plan will be changed to reduce the required right of way for Hillcrest and Van Wagenen from 80' to 60'. This will change these secondary arterials from four travel lanes, two parking lanes, to a neighborhood street with two travel lanes and two parking lanes.

Funeral Services Today For Paul E. Zink

Funeral services for Paul E. Zink, former fire chief of Basic Management, Inc., will be held today at Palm Chapel at 11 a.m. with the Rev. John Osko officiating. He passed away early Monday.

Mr. Zink was born Sept. 11, 1895. In 1918 he entered the Los Angeles fire department where he remained for the next 24 years working in the ranks of fireman, auto fireman, engineer and captain. He retired in 1942, just prior to his coming to Henderson.

He was influenced to come to Nevada by a friend, Julius R. Hatfield, a former member of the Los Angeles fire department, who was working as assistant director of plant protection at BMI. Zink came here July 5, 1942 and the following day started to work as BMI fire chief. He remained in this job for 19 years, retiring the second time in July, 1961.

Zink figured in prominently in the early history of the city and was on hand on several fires in the early days. One of the problems he faced was getting enough equipment for fire fighting.

He was on hand when Victory Village and Carver Park were built and constantly inspected them. He complained that they were built with only one entrance which gave no one a fire escape. He told of one tragedy in Carver Park where a child died in a fire which was a sad experience in his life and could have been prevented if the apartments had had two doors.

Mr. Zink is survived by his wife, Leota, but they raised a niece and nephew of Mrs. Zink's. Interment will be at Palm cemetery in Henderson.

Radar Detectors Among Stolen Items

Seven radar detectors were reported stolen from the Com-General Plant at 401 E. Sunset last week.

Value was set at $1,084 on the equipment which was complete with accessories.

According to a spokesman at the plant, there was no sign of forced entry. The equipment was stolen from a cabinet in the main office.

A woman playing poker at one of the machines in the Eldorado told police a purse containing $206 in currency was stolen. She said the purse was on her lap while she sat at the machine.

More than $1325 in jewelry and money was reported stolen from two men residing on Papaya.

Kord Allen McLemore and Jay Bruce Bondurant reported the theft, saying their home had been entered on several occasions, but this was the first time anything was missing.

Entrance was gained by removing screen on a window and breaking the glass.

Police say there are suspects in the case.

A driver was cited for failure to pay full time and attention following a two car collision on SR 146 near U.S. 93.

Police say Douglas Curtis Lefler, 21, of 660 Federal, struck a car driven by Nancy L. Harvey of 634 Apollo Ave. Harvey was stopped at the yield sign and Lefler was eastbound on the access road when the accident took place. Lefler was cited.

In another accident, a motorcycle rider suffered minor injuries after his vehicle fell on its side on Lake Mead Drive near the divided section.

Edwin Doyle King, 30, of 126 Grove Street veered to avoid another vehicle and was almost struck by an auto driven by Gerald Lynn Tasse, 21, of Oregon.

Another driver was cited for failure to pay full time and attention following a three car accident on U.S. 93 near Corn.

James Leo Egon, 30, of Las Vegas was northbound on the highway when he applied his brakes to avoid a small dog.

His vehicle was struck by one driven by Bonita Ann Tullock, 32, also of Las Vegas.

The Tullock vehicle then veered into another lane and struck another vehicle, this one driven by Ronald Roger Berthum, 34, of 144 Judy Lane.

A driver was cited for failure to yield to an oncoming vehicle following a two car accident at Mountain Vista and Sunset.

Robert Alan Van Meetren, 25, of Las Vegas, was cited after his car struck one driven by Edward Gray, 40, of Las Vegas.

Thelma Cook Weidemer, 70, of Las Vegas, was cited for an unsafe lane change after her car was involved in an accident with one driven by Teri Thomson, 19, of Las Vegas at Coogan and North Boulder Highway.

Free Immunization Clinics Offered

Nevada law requires all school children to be immunized against such childhood diseases as measles, polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, mumps and rubella. To help parents comply with the law, the Clark County Health District offers free immunization clinics weekly.

Main Health Center, 625 Shadow Lane, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

North Las Vegas Public Health Center, 3262 Civic Center Drive, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Henderson Public Health Center, 201 Lead St., 10 a.m. to noon; Monday, 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., Tuesday, 8 a.m. to noon and 1

Three Car Accident on 93 and Major

A driver was cited for driving while under the influence and no proof of insurance following a three car accident Sunday at U.S. 93 and Major.

According to police, Phillip S. Miller, 32, of 209 Foster Street was driving a car which struck the rear of one driven by Claud Herbert Elkins, 68, 1307 Palmwood, Boulder City and his car in turn struck one driven by Douglas D. Freeman, 73, of Salt Lake City. There were no reported injuries.

In a one car accident on U.S. 93 near Westworld, a driver was cited after he lost control of his vehicle.

Wayne Arlyn Rasmussen, 32, of 701 California, Boulder City, was cited for failure to pay full time and attention to driving and not having a valid driver's license.

A Legislative Reminder

The Nevada Legislature has been in session for almost six weeks and there is more work to be done than has been completed. This lag is to be expected. It is normal for Nevada legislators to operate rather slowly during the first couple of months of every session and then rush into law hundreds of bills the final weeks of the session. Many of the bills that become law should have been allowed to die and several good bills are lost in the final rush of business.

Following every legislative session, our elected representatives return from Carson City to tell us about our favorite bills not becoming law or our resolutions not being passed for us to vote on the next general election. The common excuses usually put the blame on a faceless legislative committee or the shortage of time when the legislators try to accomplish three months work in three weeks.

A FEW REMINDERS

Well, many weeks remain in the present session in Carson City but some reminders for our legislators are necessary at this early date. Just a few problems will be contained in this reminder as we have many more to write about in later editorial comments.

• The nuclear waste and toxic fluids are still pouring through our neighborhoods on the way to the Beatty dumpsite. Close it to deadly waste from other states. The latest dumping of thousands of gallons of PCB should be a fresh reminder to those who think the problem may just go away. It will go away if you make it go away. If you don't, it will continue to get worse.

• Pass Assembly Joint Resolution No. 2 out of the Senate so we can amend the Nevada Constitution requiring all legislative meetings be open to the public. Don't let it die in your committee, Sen. Gibson.

• Better take a close look at the governor's budget which has healthy increases for his office and many state employees because their cost of living has increased. The same budget has allowed nothing more for needy children who must be fed, clothed and kept warm in the same inflated economy.

• Look at the budget and go to page 778 and see where the Director of Conservation and National Resources wanted an $11,000 raise for himself and $8,000 raise for an assistant. This was even too much for the governor who cut them back to raises of $5,000 and $4,000. Where did they get the extra money? They just cut out the job of Freddie Little without being gracious enough to discuss it with him.

Suggest you take some action on this and some other inequities so obvious in the executive budget.

A B 119 HELPS RETARDED

• Assembly Bill No. 119 makes assistance available for families caring for profoundly retarded relatives. In the long run, this will save state dollars and is a humane approach to keeping retarded persons with the family and not institutionalized.

• Still waiting for a bill which will prevent regulators from leaving state employment and going directly into the business they were regulating. The gaming industry has had two recent additions from the gaming control board and the gaming commission which has raised questions of propriety. How long can this continue before we have a real mess? Gaming Commission Chairman Harry Reid has set a good example. Now it's up to you for legislative action.

We won't discuss the large per diem increases the legislators voted for themselves and made the increases retroactive to the first day of the session. This bill slipped right through without any controversy. It's time for the legislators to do something for the people now that they have taken care of their personal needs.

Welcome To Henderson

Dear Mike and Carolyn,
Please add the voices of Mabel and me to the welcome home to Henderson.

Through Morry's courtesy, we follow the progress of Henderson and often share our copies of the Home News with Wally Newcomb (who you will remember as Henderson's first Fire Chief and then director of Public Safety under Mayor Jim French) also a resident of Sedona.

I was interested in the last issue that we received of the effort to combine Boys' Clubs. And I presume your article warning against it. About the time I was president and the year before or after, we made an effort to combine the two organizations and then withdrew from the effort. I found that there were no Mike O'Callaghans, George Campbells or Phil Hubels in the Las Vegas area and about all that was accomplished was the relinquishment of the acreage donated to the Boys' Club by Homer Englestad. If my distant voice means anything, let me add it to those of you in Henderson who see nothing to be gained by combining forces - much as I believe in simplification of administration.

I am working, as a volunteer, in Sedona and our Yavapai County to simplify government while trying to get our county (Sedona is unincorporated) a step or two above the invention of the wheel.

Good luck,

Bob Woodruff

What About Their Priorities?

To the Editor:

Just recently charges surfaced concerning two of the Assemblymen from Clark County, John Vergiels and Nick Horn. The charges concerned the alleged abuse of power for personal gain. The Assemblymen are Ph.D.s, Vergiels a teacher at UNLV and Horn is special assistant to the President of Clark County Community College.

The question arises, are both on leave of absence from their jobs while serving as Assemblymen??? If they are, are they on full salary??? If not, and the salary of Assemblyman being what it is, how can they support their families???? With so many Senior Citizens, handicapped, and other indigent people struggling to make ends meet, perhaps they can tell their secret on how to beat inflation. In fact, that information can help everyone and break the back of inflation and help President Reagan get us out of the mess we are in.

On the other hand, if they are on full pay while on leave of absence, then something is drastically wrong with our school system priorities. With some of our high school graduates not even being able to read or write, the money wasted on full pay for Assemblymen on leave of absence could be used to educate kids. If the charges made against Vergiels and Horn are true, I can not see how they can remain molders of young minds. Their conduct precludes that.

'All For Ourselves'

To The Editor

When Nevada became a state in 1864, the founding fathers were proud of the role they played in the Civil War. The flow of gold and silver from Nevada's mines had helped turn the tide, keeping the Union financially strong.

Distance prevented Nevada from sending a fighting unit to the front, but Nevada men did serve in uniform. They protected the frontier, establishing Fort Churchill on the Carson River and Fort Ruby in eastern Nevada. Meanwhile, mines in Virginia City, Unionville, Aurora, Austin and other towns prouder riches into the national treasury.

In 1868, during the second session of the State Legislature, the design for an official state seal was adopted. The law, which still remains, says the seal shall bear the motto "All For Our Country," commemorating allegiance to the Union and the nation.

Now that the Nevada Legislature is in session it should remember that phrase. If legislators plan to persist in the "greasewood grab" they call a "sagebrush rebellion," that phrase on the seal should be reconsidered.

The so-called rebellion is a thinly veiled attempt to take from our nation a major part of its heritage, the public lands which our nation purchased from Mexico in 1849. Having spent the dowry of land the nation gave our young state, one portion of the population now wants to commandeer the balance.

The situation is not unlike the person who says "Great Grandpa didn't make a good enough deal when he sold his farm a hundred years ago, so I want today's owner of that farm to pay me for it today."

If the legislators are convinced that a fight with the federal government over land ownership is the right way to go, they should appropriate funding to supply the state with a new state seal. This one should read "All For Ourselves."

After Iran: America Unguarded, Unprotected

By Edwin Feulner

The recent euphoria over the return of the hostages from Tehran and the ringing declarations of war against terrorism from the administration have precariously shifted public attention away from the grim reality that the U.S. is unguarded and unprotected against attack from international gangsters and outlaws.

The nation is as impotent to counter a terrorist threat today as it was when the hostages were taken 16 months ago, when the Hanafi Muslims seized buildings here in Washington four years ago, or when our diplomats were gunned down abroad.

Supposedly the mechanisms to fight terrorism both at home and abroad are to be found in a special section of the Department of State and in the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). In the case of the former, efforts to date have been marked by low priority status, a small budget, and understaffing. As for FEMA, the nation's fight against terrorism is suffering from neglect and indifference.

The Reagan Administration has the unique opportunity to immediately take effective action against terrorism, by emphasizing the role of FEMA. The Agency itself is only two years old, having been established as a merger of the duties formerly assigned the Office of Emergency Preparedness in the White House, the civil defense program in the Department of Defense, the national fire administration in the Department of Commerce, and the federal insurance administration in the old Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

However, FEMA's existence as an independent agency has hampered its efforts to deal with emergency situations. In lacking a natural constituency, except in times of crisis, FEMA - the custodian of the Emergency Broadcast System, the national stockpile of strategic material, and continuity of government in the event of an attack on Washington - is treated as an orphan of the federal government.

Emergencies are like a time-bomb, always ticking and ready to go off. Even now, the four states in the Delaware River basin are facing a disastrous drought, the spring floods are approaching, California is long overdue for a serious earthquake, and the U.S. seems bent on baiting terrorists to act. And all of this can involve thousands of people with an agency that few know exists, and even worse, enjoys little support in Congress.

The history of emergency management in the United States is one of response, not anticipation. A recognized expert in emergency medicine has said, "They always wait until they smell burning flesh and by then, it is often too late."

It is not a popular practice to play Paul Revere. But the handwriting on the wall is so apparent, that only gross irresponsibility would allow the status quo to continue with regard to FEMA. The Agency is one of the few in the entire government to which the public should be able to look with hopeful anticipation when contending with Mt. St. Helens, Love Canal, paralyzing blizzards, fires, storms, or political terrorism.

A new direction for FEMA can be set by the Reagan Administration. The Agency should be upgraded from its independent status to once again become an integral part of the White House.

The U.S. is operating on "borrowed time" with respect to another disaster or major crisis. Emergencies cannot be scheduled at the most convenient time. Despite the President's and the Secretary of State's pronouncements about the willingness of the U.S. to combat terrorism, we are no better equipped to deal with that problem than we are with many other potential crises. The nation is not ready and FEMA is not ready.

AUSA Defense Report

Incentive For Volunteer Forces: Education Tops List

One survey after another has shown that the availability of government-subsidized education heads the list of potential incentives toward service in the ranks of our volunteer armed forces. Yet, Congress and the Department of Defense have been playing games with each other, apparently seeking some sort of absolute guarantee before putting up the money to implement an effective educational incentive program.

The tendency on the part of the legislators and the political appointees who head the defense establishment has been to lure recruits by increasing entry-level pay. By doing so, they have avoided a long-term commitment, while a workable educational incentive carries with it a long-term responsibility for funding and administration. The last vestige of the World War II GI Bill of Rights was wiped out for anyone entering military service after 31 December, 1976, to be replaced by a contributory Veterans Educational Assistance Program that has been a notable failure. Some individual members of Congress have seen the need for a better educational incentive and have written bills to recreate a GI Bill of Rights. But the best they could accomplish in the face of less-than-wholehearted Department of Defense support, was to establish a couple of sketchy test programs.

But now we have a new administration and a new Congress and the Army has put its foot in the legislative door by announcing that a well-designed educational incentive program is its top priority for Congressional action this year. The Army has drafted a bill of its own that will hopefully find support on Capitol Hill. The Army proposes a noncontributory plan (like the original GI Bill), funded and administered by the Veterans Administration, which has long experience in this kind of program. The service member would accrue benefits at the rate of 1 1/2 months for each month of service up to maximum of 36 months or four nine-month school years. The basic benefit would consist of a $400 per month stipend, but the service secretaries could supplement that in order to recruit for and retain hard-to-get specialists. Under the Army's proposal, service members would be permitted to transfer their entitlements to their dependents. Soldiers enlisting in the Army Reserve and Army National Guard would receive half the benefits of active service, but would not be able to transfer their entitlements to their dependents.

There is substantial assurance that Congress will pass some form of educational incentive legislation in its new session. The Army proposal will, hopefully, receive full Congressional scrutiny along with the proposals originating with individual members of Congress. It seems logical that whatever law finally emerges will be an amalgamation of several proposals. The features blended into the amalgam will inevitably play a large part in the ultimate success or failure of the volunteer method of filling our military ranks. Congress must act swiftly, but must also take great care to create a satisfactory incentive.

SAD, BUT TRUE

"Nothing is easier than self-deceit. For what each man wishes, that he also believes to be true." (Demosthenes, the ancient Greek philosopher)

IT IS PINEWOOD DERBY TIME

Cub Pack 44 has scheduled its Pinewood Derby for tonight. There will be a Pack Meeting Thursday (tonight) March 5th at 6 p.m. at the Robert Taylor School. This will be a special meeting for the young Cub Scouts in their blue and gold uniforms will be in exciting competition with their mighty pinewood machines. Every boy entering will be a winner, we know. So best luck to all of them.

CHANGE OF MEETING TIME

The Henderson NV Stake of the L.D.S. Church is holding their quarterly conference this weekend, March 7th and 8th. The meeting time for Sunday, March 8th has been changed and will now be at 12:30 p.m. The Youth Fireside scheduled has been cancelled.

MARINE ASSIGNED OVERSEAS

Dale Ward, son of Jackie Ward, has been home on a leave from Camp Pendleton where he was stationed with the United States Marine Corps. Dale will fly straight to Los Angeles where he will board a plane for eighteen months duty in far off and exciting Japan. Best luck to the tall Marine.

SOUTHERN CAL TRAVELERS

Nelson and Ruth Soehlike boarded their trusty auto to travel to Southern California for a short vacation. If you want to know what is going on in Henderson's bowling world be sure to read Ruth's column in this paper about the lane activity. Nelson and Ruth are great, and are long-time citizens of this town.

MATURITY

In 1962 Dear Abby was asked: "What is your definition of maturity?" by a student and she answered, "Dear Student: This is maturity: To be able to stick with a job until it's finished; to be able to bear an injustice without wanting to get even; to be able to carry money without spending it; and to do one's duty without being supervised." (A lot of us need some maturing.)

SPAGHETTI DINNER

The young L.D.S. people of the Fourth Ward are serving a Spaghetti Dinner on March 6th starting at 6 p.m. They are trying to earn funds to go to summer camp. Donations are $2.50 a plate or $10.00 per family.

TALENTED LADIES

There are a lot of talented people who are our neighbors and I guess we don't tell them often enough how much they are appreciated. I suppose that we too often just take them and their efforts for granted because it is such an integral part of them. I have in mind a few ladies who are my neighbors who fall into this category and I think I'll just go ahead and mention them. They have some unique and exceptional homemaking skills such as sewing, cooking, handicrafts, etc. There is Patti Barber, Kathy Hafen, Earlene Helm, Marceil Walker, Arcola Willden, Beverly Littlefield and Dawn Sneed. And best of all - they share their talents with others.

CONGRATULATION

A special recognition and congratulation to Korin Brubaker who made the Dean's list at Rick's College in Rexburg, Idaho. Korin is the daughter of Gene and Romona Brubaker. Korin has an older sister, Wendy who is a teacher and now in Hong Kong who will be happy to share the news.

OUR LOSS

We will all miss Peg Hubel around Henderson. She only saw me a couple times a year, I guess, but always remembered my name (and my TV or record player.) In the sands of time that make Henderson, Nevada, Peg made her foot prints and my life was better for having known her.

RV TRAVELERS

Talk about travelers and traveling - the Bob Parrotts are destined to be doing a lot of that (I predict this!!) Well, that is if the nice new RV setting in their driveway means anything. Congratulations.

TO UTAH

Local business people Gordon and Jan Cottrell (owners of the Pac-Out and Tree House) recently visited Provo, Utah and had a great time while there. It was kind of like old home week for they had lived there when just married and Gordon graduated from Brigham Young University located there.

FROM COLORADO

Saw Gaye Stevens (Mrs. Paul) who used to live here before moving to Colorado. She and family are visiting with her parents who live in Las Vegas. It is really something how much kids grow up when you don't see them every day. Somehow you get to feeling kids ought to stay the way you saw them last (especially if you are a grandmother). Good to see Gaye again.

FAMILY VISITORS

Last weekend was special in the life of Daniel Munford and his Munford grandmother and grandfather came down from Cedar City to visit and to share with him. Families and their memories and traditions are what count in life.

'Books For Homebound' Project Needs Volunteers

An ongoing project of the Friends of the Library is the Books for the Homebound. Volunteers regularly drop off and pick up books at the residences of the homebound. Large print books for the poor sighted are available on request.

LONG TIME RESIDENT Ida Littlefield, right, has been receiving books for the homebound, a project of the Friends of the Library, for the past six months. Pat Porter is one of the volunteers who takes books to residents who are unable to go to the library. Mrs. Littlefield is especially fond of the large print books which the Friends bring to her.

This project brings entertainment and pleasure to our homebound citizens. To keep this project going, more volunteers are needed - only a few hours a month are required. Should you be interested in volunteering or know of someone in need of the program, please call Julie Wesson at 565-7457.

Seniors Surprise Edna Deardorff with Party

By Edna Deardorff

Clara Hanson, Clara Raduenz, Vira Vasser, Leona Sloan, Edna Deardorff, Onafre Chavez, Lillian Lash, Agatha Nelson, Peggy Vliet, George Hanson and Penny Love. Frank Thompson was the bingo caller. He always does this job so willingly and injects just the right amount of humor and everyone has a lot of fun. Thank you Frank. Bingo was followed by cards. There were 5 tables of canasta and one of rummy. A very enjoyable day!

Everyone knows that a Senior Center could not survive without Volunteers. I would like to recognize too of the many who help us today. Emma Jessup and Judy Brennan. Emma sits at the sign-in table and greets the Seniors and sees that they sign the book if they are going to have lunch with us and while she is sitting there, her knitting needles are ever clicking making boots that she gives to any Senior who has to go to the hospital. She is a great person and the Seniors all love and thank her. She does many other volunteer jobs such as helping at the Podiatry Clinic. Judy has been keeping track of all of the Seniors birthdays and sees to it that each Senior receives a birthday card signed by the other Seniors. She has been doing this for the last five years. She also pours the juice every day and passes out the milk. She also does many volunteer jobs such as going to Glen Halla with her twin sister Ethel once a week to call Bingo for the patients there. Everyone loves this Peppery little lady. Our Thanks to these, and all of the others who help us so willingly.

'Something Beautiful' This Sunday At First Baptist Church

Special Music this Sunday at First Baptist Church will include a vocal solo by Mrs. Bettye Hansen, entitled "Something Beautiful." "All I had to offer Him," says the song writer, "was brokenness and strife. But He made Something Beautiful of my life."

How better could anyone portray the transformation that Jesus Christ can make in a person's life! Gloria Gaither has put it all together in the words of this very positive song, "Something Beautiful," and her husband, Bill, as usual gave it exactly the right melody. You will be inspired as Mrs. Hansen ministers to you through her vocal interpretation of this song at the 11 a.m. Worship Service this Sunday.

Rev. John Osko, Pastor, announces his sermon for this Sunday as "A Higher Righteousness". In preparation for this message you may read Matthew, Chapter 5, verses 17 through 48, with particular emphasis on verse 20, which reads, "For I tell you that unless your righteousness surpasses that of the Pharisees and the teachers of the law, you will certainly not enter the kingdom of heaven."

A project in banner making will begin this Sunday Evening. Yvonne Osko, wife of the Pastor, expressed her desire to have banners made, depicting various aspects of the Christian faith, which could be used as inspirational wall hangings, and also for window coverings when the sanctuary needs to be darkened for film showings, etc. The project was quickly adopted by the High School and College and Career Singles group, who invited others of various ages to join in this means of expressing our Christian faith. This activity will be a part of the Baptist Evening Fellowship Meeting at 6 p.m. this Sunday. Those desiring to be a part of this group are asked to bring a good pair of scissors to this week's meeting.

The Women's Missionary Society, under the leadership of Mrs. Alice Henderson, President, will meet Tuesday night, March 10th at the home of Mrs. Leona Sloan. Leona will provide refreshments and the devotion for the meeting, and the project for the evening is rolling bandages for Medical Missions. The women are reminded to bring money for coffee for the Las Vegas Rescue Mission project.

Home Bible Study Groups meet at various times throughout the week. Times and places may be learned by calling the Pastor's home.

First Baptist Church is located at 47 East Atlantic Ave., Henderson. The Pastor and congregation extend a very warm invitation to you to worship with them this Sunday. For further information or counsel, call 565-9511.

Wolves Swept Out Of Southern AAA Tourney

by Lois J. Cherry

The 85-56 drubbing at the hands of Clark's fast moving Chargers ended the Wolves' hopes in the Southern AAA Conference Tournament Monday.

The man-to-man defense, which bottled usually high scoring Scott Elliott, held the scoring down on the blue side of the court and Basic's problems containing the Chargers saw Clark stack up 57 points in the third quarter compared to the Wolves' ten.

In reflecting on the performance of his Wolves Monday, coach Ron Montoya said, "We didn't score when we had the chance. Early in the game we had three shots at a basket and couldn't sink it—that just broke us down."

Montoya, who coached five of the Charger players during his stint at Hyde Park Junior High School, probably had mixed feelings watching his Wolves manhandled by the youngsters he taught to play.

"Through most of the year, we ran a game of motion offense," said Montoya of his game strategy. "It's a passing game with rules."

The Wolves are the only basketball team in southern Nevada to be using the motion offense and Montoya noted it is a game style that requires players to think and remember. He eliminated much of the dribbling and went to a direct passing game.

In defense, Montoya frequently shifted strategy, often using the zone coverage, then suddenly switching to man to man defense.

He expects most of the squad to return intact next season, with the exception of this year's star performer, Elliott, who was the highest scorer in the league.

Elliott has been named to the Senior All Star Team which will be playing in tournaments early in April, first in Provo, Utah and later in the month in Los Angeles.

Montoya will be the assistant coach to the all star team under Valley's Bill Bobie.

Joe O'Neal, the 6-5 center and the second highest point maker for the Wolves this season, will be returning as a senior and Montoya also said O'Neal will be playing in a number of summer tournaments.

Montoya is a resident director to Jerry Tarkanian's Running Rebel Basketball Camp in Dixie College, St. George, Utah.

The camp is held in two sessions, slated for July 6-11 and 13-18 this year.

BRYCE CARR moves the ball back to the Basic side of the court during Monday's AAA Tournament game against the Clark Chargers. Chargers took command early and won 85-56.

Ace On BMCC 15

William Rohnkohl, principal of Burkholder Junior High School, shot a hole in one on Black Mountain Golf Course hole 15 earlier this week.

Rohnkohl used a five iron on the 145 yard, par three hole and was accompanied by Martin Nielsen and Harold Boyce.

Rohnkohl has been golfing approximately two years.

Golfers Drop Opener

"It was a good score, considering we started with three freshman players," said coach Dennis Smuskiewicz, after his golf team was edged by Chaparral 200-204 in the season opener at Black Mountain Country Club.

Dan Coleran, with a 37, was the medalist for the Cowboys.

Adame Wilke and Casey

Potter, both juniors, each came in with a score of 39 for the nine holes, while Mark Yelenich, a freshman, scored 41, Greg Smith 42, and Chris Baker 43.

The Wolves are scheduled to play Clark at the Dunes Country Club in Las Vegas this afternoon. Tee off at 3 p.m.

Hunter Safety Training Available

By Charles Crunden

"The 1981 deadline for bighorn sheep, elk, antelope and mountain lion hunting season tag applications will be during May, and Nevada youngsters are reminded that hunter safety training requirements must be met before their requests for tags can be submitted," according to John King, hunter safety coordinator.

"The State Board of Wildlife Commissioners will establish the trophy big game seasons at their March 13 and 14 meeting in Las Vegas and hunters can expect printed regulations and application forms to be available in April," King advised. Youngsters may make application for big game tags as long as they have reached the age of 12 on or before the opening day of the hunt that is applied for, and have completed an approved hunter safety course before making application. "Before this policy was adopted by the Department, under-aged youngsters were not permitted to make application for tags because of the law which prohibits persons under 12 years from hunting big game," King said.

Nevada law requires all persons 12 through 16 years of age to successfully complete an approved hunter safety education and training course before they can purchase their first hunting license.

Game and Fisheries Questionnaires Mailed

By Charles Crunden

A number of fishermen and hunters who purchased licenses last year have been mailed Nevada Department of Wildlife questionnaires asking for the number of upland game animals and fish taken and the number of days spent afield.

Persons receiving the fish or game inquiries were selected by computer and represent a stratified sample of license buyers from throughout the state.

"A completely random sample", according to Bob Sumner, warmwater fisheries specialist, "is not adequate for our purposes because it often results in too few people contacted in the lesser populated areas of the state. The stratified sample, on the other hand, questions a higher ratio of hunters and anglers in the rural areas and results in much more accurate estimates of the total number of fish and game animals harvested."

"Each of the two questionnaires is sent separately to its own list of fishermen or hunters and although those who purchase both licenses could receive both questionnaires, in actual practice this rarely happens."

Sumner said, "The angler questionnaire asks the fishermen to list each stream, lake, reservoir or pond in Nevada that he fished during 1980, the county where it is located, and the total number of days or portions thereof spent fishing. This information, when compiled and statistically expanded, is compared to the previous year and provides a picture of trends, angler success and interest that is used to manage our many and varied fisheries."

George Tsukamoto, chief of game, explained that the annual small game questionnaire is similar in intent to the one sent by the fishery division.

Brown
Brown is spicy cinnamon and nutmeg sweet and devine.
Brown is the earth which is yours and mine.
Brown is my puppy, cute as can be,
Brown is a color for you and for me.

What is Caring?
Caring is realizing that your not the only person in the world with problems.
Caring is being there when your friend is facing problems to comfort her when she has lost.
Caring is love.

Once a Little Cloud
I looked up in the sky and gave a great big sigh,
For once a little dainty cloud was not within a crowd.
A pleasure for my eyes to see, that the crowd was not alone to be.

Pink
Pink is the color of a rose. They come in a lot of colors. Just like everyone knows.
Pink is like a new baby.
Pink is a wedding veil.
Pink is a tulip on a hat. That bounces and jumps this way and that.
Pink is a starfish.
Pink is your nose.
Pink is the color on the tip of your toes.

Christmas
What is Christmas?
A snowy, joyous day.
Unwrapping gifts from loved ones.
Untying stockings hung the night before.
Excited kids and tired parents.
What about the evening?
Playing with toys and running about.
And then the aroma of a scrumptious cooked ham with all the trimmings.
Silence, allthrough the house, silence.
What about the next day?
A big clean up!

What is?
What is a sunny morning? Children riding bikes. A bacon and egg breakfast. A nice hot shower. The sun shining brightly.
What is a sunny afternoon? A peanut and butter sandwich Children taking afternoon naps. Watching television shows.
What is a dark evening? A nice hot dinner. A big poker game. People going to bed.

Pond
This poetry comes from Mrs. Hague's class at C.T. Sewell. All of the poets are 6th grade students.

Mountains
The mountains are tall,
Colorful and very rough.
They help me to think.

A Radio
A radio can play soft music.
A radio can play loud.
Usually loud music
Brings up a crowd.
Lots of people like it;
Maybe me and you.
It plays some of your favorite songs
And some you don't like, too.

Blue is the color of the skies.
Blue is the color of many eyes.
Blue is the big waves, rolling on sand.
Blue is water in my hands.
Blue is a baby boy's bonnet
Blue are the sailboats on it.
Blue reminds me of three good friends,
And this is where my poemends.

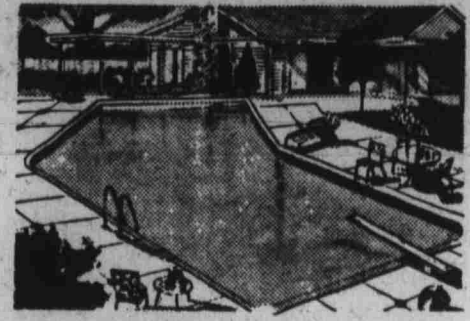

A pond, still as glass;
Only to be broken with
A single pebble.

Oh Firey God
Oh, firey God
Stop the fires of satin.
Oh, mountain of fire.

Rock
Hard, rough,
Rolling, sifting, tumbling,
Granat, lead, gravel, pebbles
Sliding, sifting, falling,
Soft, loose

All women of the community are extended an invitation to join in this ecumenical celebration which will be followed by the breaking of bread and a time of fellowship in the church dining room.

Meet Al Denning at A-J Auto Repair

There's a new auto repair shop in Boulder City owned by Al Denning. Located at 1506 Nevada Highway, Al's shop is known as "A-J's"; the "A" for Al, the "J" for his wife, Janet.

A-J's offers general automotive repair work at fair, competitive prices. Al specializes in air conditioning, electrical and brake service work.

The shop is the culmination of a dream for Al. A native of Boulder City, he was born and raised here and is the son of Robert (now deceased) and Theresa Denning.

Following graduation, Al left Boulder City and went to Rexford, Idaho. He attended B.Y.U. for two years. He went to work for Grand Central in Salt Lake City, Utah, and was sent to Las Vegas to help in opening a new store here.

He amassed auto mechanic experience along the way and chose it as a full time profession while in Las Vegas. After four years, he transferred his talents back to Boulder City.

After two years here, he purchased the garage on Nevada Highway and launched his own operation.

Janet serves as secretary - bookkeeper ... and keeps busy with the couple's two children, Tiffany, 3, and April, 1.

A-J Auto Repair invites you to drop by and discuss your automotive problems with them. You'll discover Al to be knowledgeable, friendly and fair.

Wagner, Peterson, Named Mothers of the Year

Darlene Wagner of Las Vegas, formerly of Henderson, was named as Nevada's Mother of the Year, and Judy Peterson, also of Las Vegas, who is married to a former Henderson man, was named Nevada's Young Mother of the Year.

Diane Marie Keating, of Las Vegas, wife of Dr. Thomas Keating, was named young Merrit Mother of the Year. The announcement was made by Genevieve Smith of Henderson, state president of the American Mothers Committee

Inc. She said both women will represent Nevada and compete for national titles at the national convention of the American Mother Committee in New York City in May. Mrs. Smith complimented Mrs. Peterson for accomplishing so much in so short a time. She is active in the LDS Church in many responsible leadership positions, served on the PTA for nine years; was district chairman of the Republican party in 1980 and chairman of the Bicentennial dance festival events and is a dance teacher and choreographer for children and youths last year performing at Disneyland. She is involved in creating the Nevada National Ballet Co., Inc., which caters to the needs of children. She is president of the board of directors.

Steven, Shelly and Victoria Wagner. Mrs. Wagner is well known in the community for her service in civic, educational and religious groups. The committee honored her as an outstanding mother as evidenced by the character and achievements of her individual children. The American Mothers Committee, Inc., is devoted to the strengthening of the moral and spiritual foundations of the family and home. It is a non-profit, non-denominational, non-political organization. There are about 5000 members in the United States, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. National headquarters are in New York City.

Warner Brothers 'Boulder Dam' to be Shown March 14

Hoover Dam was the subject of many fine newsreels and documentaries, and folks around the country were able to see the great structure rising from the Colorado River Basin. But newsreels were not the only place people were treated to the awesome sight of the Dam. In 1936 Warner Brothers released a feature film called "BOULDER DAM." The 70 minute movie is both an adventure story and a romance starring Ross Alexander and Patricia Ellis.

The classic movie will be shown by the Boulder First Nighters on Saturday, March 14th in the Water & Power Building Auditorium, directly across from the Park Service building. You will be able to see this fine movie at 11:30 a.m., and 2:30, 7:00 and 8:45 p.m. Admission is absolutely FREE! You can enter through the front door of the building, where ushers will be on hand to seat you in the Auditorium.

Ross Alexander, the star of "BOULDER DAM," gained his greatest fame as Errol Flynn's co-star in "Captain Blood." Other familiar films are "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "We're In The Money," and "Ready, Willing, and Able."

Please don't miss this chance to see Boulder City and Hoover Dam as it was immortalized on film. "BOULDER DAM" will be a wonderful addition to your celebration of our own town's 50th birthday! If you have any questions regarding "BOULDER DAM" call Anne Bennett, Boulder First Nighters, at 293-2860 evenings.

Lights Along The Way

By Rev. Jim Serada

Stop Being A Victim

Isn't it strange how we are so often victimized by our ideas toward other people? Notice the operative phrase 'victimized by our ideas' in the previous sentence. It really isn't the people themselves, but only our faulty ideas toward them.

often have you read the newspaper or seen a story on television about someone who, for no apparent reason, goes berserk. Family and acquaintances say, "He was such a nice, quiet person," or "I can't understand it, what went wrong?"

On a more personal basis, we meet someone we think is kind and gentle and loving, but later on the person becomes hostile, uncaring and even violent. We are puzzled and shocked by the sudden change from Dr. Jekyll to Mr. Hyde in a friendship, marriage, business association, etc.

Suppose, as I suggested earlier, the real error originated in our own thinking, rather than in the other person's sudden change in behavior.

Vernon Howard makes this more understandable in a section entitled, 'How to Understand Human Nature,' from his fascinating book, PATHWAYS TO PERFECT LIVING: "We must learn to think clearly toward people, including ourselves. Human relations are tragic because people do not really understand each other. There are endless benefits in seeing people, not as they appear to be, but as they actually are."

"To do this, imagine a tube containing dozens of marbles of various colors. There is a small window in the tube which permits you to see only one marble at a time. Whenever the tube is shaken, you see a different marble; a red one, a blue one, and so on.

"Now, since you understand the inner contents of the tube, it cannot deceive you. If a purple marble appears, you realize it is only one of many, and only temporarily in the window. You do not mistakenly assume that the total nature of the tube is purple. It may be purple one minute, but after the next shake, it may be orange or gray. This is the exact nature of a man or a woman. He is not a single, consistent, unified person. He appears that way, but the appearance is caused by faulty thinking."

If we truly understood Mr. Howard's explanation, we would never again be deceived or victimized by another human being. Vernon Howard's classes at the Boulder City Women's Club will help you to become free of painful misunderstandings of others. You'll learn how to STOP BEING A VICTIM once and for all. For information on Vernon Howard classes and books call 293-3989.

If You're Caught In A Skyscraper Fire, Stay Low, Seal Doors If You Can't Flee

If you're caught in a high-rise building during a fire, the National Fire Protection Association offers this advice:

--First and most important, get down on the floor and keep your head low, no more than a foot-and-a-half off the floor. As smoke enters a room it tends to rise, pushing available oxygen toward the floor. If you're in a hotel room and are awakened by the smell of smoke, roll out of bed onto the floor. Don't sit up or you'll lose time recovering from the smoke you'll inhale.

--If possible, call the hotel operator for instructions. If instructions aren't available, crawl toward the door and put your hand against it. If it feels cool, make your way outside, still on your hands and knees, to the nearest evacuation stairwell. Don't use the elevators. When you reach a stairwell, let the door close behind you and proceed downward unless you have been told to head for the roof.

--If the door to your room or office is warm, it isn't safe to leave. In such a situation, first turn off the heating or air conditioning if possible. Then soak towels and clothing in cold water and stuff them against ventilation ducts and around cracks in the door.

--Open a window just a crack near the top and bottom and hang a sheet outside as a signal to firemen. If the building has sealed windows, don't try to break the glass. A gaping hole will only let more smoke into the room.

--If necessary move to a closet or bathroom and again stuff wet towels or clothing around the cracks in the door. Every door you can put between yourself and the fire can be a barrier against smoke. Firemen will check all hiding places, so don't worry about being overlooked if you retreat to a smaller room.

--Breathing through a wet towel won't protect you from the toxic elements of smoke. Do it anyway if it will help calm your nerves, but don't let it prompt you to do anything you wouldn't do otherwise.

--Take some precautions before a fire that will improve your chances of survival. Locate fire exits in your office or hotel and make sure they work. Acquaint yourself with evacuation procedures, learn what alarm to expect and find out how to get any special evacuation instructions.

"Smoke can knock you senseless in one little breath," says a spokesman for the NFPA, a Boston-based safety organization. The less you have to think about what to do, the more time you'll have to protect yourself.

Northern Wire & Cable Opens Las Vegas Facility

Northern Wire & Cable, a distributor of industrial, commercial and residential wire for construction purposes, has opened its new western division in the Las Vegas area, according to the Nevada Development Authority.

"The company has leased 10,000 square feet of space at 5380 South Valley View Boulevard and employs 15 persons responsible for distributing its $1 million inventory to the eleven western states," NDA Executive Director Tim Carlson said.

Northern Wire & Cable selected Las Vegas instead of Phoenix because Southern Nevada provides better transportation services and corporate officers find Las Vegas a nice place to live and work and a good place to conduct business with customers outside Nevada.

When asked if the MX Missile System had any bearing on the decision, President Gene Sanes said, "we discussed it, but it was not of any major significance. Of course we hope contractors would buy supplies from local businesses should MX become a reality."

According to Sanes, Northern Wire & Cable can cut, color, twist and stripe various sized wire used for telephone systems, power line transmission / distribution, mines, signal systems and other applications to a customer's specifications.

The five-year-old company, which grosses $20 million annually, has its headquarters in Troy, Michigan with an additional distributorship in Atlanta, Georgia.

Displaced Homemaker Center

The Displaced Homemaker Center at Clark County Community College will be sponsoring two workshops this semester.

An "Assertiveness Training Workshop" will be held from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on March 9, 16, 23 and 30 at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, Education Building, Room 252.

The workshop topics will include defining aggressive, assertive, and nonassertive behavior; developing a personal bill of rights; handling aggression; giving and receiving compliments and criticisms; practicing assertive behaviors.

The second workshop will take place on April 9, 16, 23, 30 and May 7 and 14. The place for the workshop has not yet been determined and it is called "New Beginnings Workshop for Women."

Women who are "starting over" are advised to attend this

Furniture maker distributes from Las Vegas

S&S International, a West German manufacturer of high-quality garden furniture, has begun distribution of its products from A to Z Storage Company in Las Vegas to its market in the eleven western states, according to the Nevada Development Authority.

Parts for the garden furniture, marketed under the name of Darolet, will be manufactured overseas and shipped in sea-going containers to the Port of Long Beach where they will be transferred to A to Z Storage for assembly and shipped via truck to retail outlets.

"We'll be receiving anywhere from 2,000 to 4,000 units monthly which will require us to set aside some 10,000 square feet of space and hire up to five new employees for the assembly operation," A to Z Manager Dick Morony said.

"Darolet is a new line of leisure furniture here in the West that has seen a very good response for orders.

VALLEY OF FIRE

The weather is quite comfortable in the Valley of Fire, this time of year. BUT, the unimproved road past Rainbow Vista to Overton is in very poor condition. The rains have damaged it severely. There is one very deep gully near the highway, where John had to back up our car and drive around. It is not advisable to drive RV's over this road.

COUNTRY STORE

The Country Store collection garage on Park Street is now open every Monday morning from 9 to 11 a.m. The Women's Association of Grace Community Church welcomes all types of articles that you can no longer use—they may be just what somebody else needs, next October!

NOTES RECEIVED

We received many notes from out-of-town folks who could not attend our Golden Wedding Anniversary. Here are a few:

Dr. Winston Trever wrote from Pebble Beach, Calif. "Congratulations on your forthcoming 50th anniversary, Feb. 21. Here's wishing you a glorious celebration. We will be unable to attend in person because of my preaching schedule here, but we will be with you in spirit. Thanks for the invitation. Last Sunday I preached the 50th anniversary sermon at the Wilshire Methodist Church in Los Angeles, where I was pastor in the 1950's. My topic was 'Celebrating a Golden Anniversary in a Time of Plastics'. They got the point. Lois is making fine recovery from eye surgery and sends greetings. Trever will be here to dedicate the Frank Crowe Park, and preach at Grace Community Church the following morning, according to Elton Garrett.

Bernice "Zephyr" Warner wrote from Venice, Calif. that she would "be in Mexico for a couple of weeks watching some boat races. Give my regards to everyone."

Virginia Mosely of Dallas, Texas, said "I think of Boulder City often and the four years I spent there were among the most colorful of my life. The little poem I wrote for you has my Logo. It's only an identification for the poems I will leave my children. The pictures here are not sent to detract from your great day. Just keep them for awhile and let any of my friends know, as there are some who will remember us. The same with the booklet. The pictures are captioned on the back." (Come over, if you want to see them.)

Grant Sawyer of Las Vegas wrote, "Regretfully, Bette and I will be out of the State on Feb. 21, but you have our best and most sincere wish for a happy 50th anniversary and many years to follow. It was nice seeing you the other day in Boulder City. It brought back many fond memories."

PERLE GARRETT

Perle Garrett was very pleased to have house guests four days, last week. Frank Garrett, brother of Perle's late husband, Ted, brought his wife Mae over from Mesa, Arizona, where they spend the winter in a Fifth Wheeler Trailer. The three went sight-seeing, and Perle was happy to introduce them to the Rev. Mel Pritts at lunch. Betty is ill. When the weather gets hot, Frank and Mae will return to their home in Lindon, Kansas.

M.A.S.H.

The Boulder City High School is to be congratulated on presenting nearly two hours of comedy, with the dramatization of M.A.S.H. The cast was well chosen, and some of them even looked and/or sounded like the characters on the screen!

SICK LIST

Hospitalized at the time of this writing were Grace Sharp, Ethel Mackie, Maurice Richmond, and Winnie Moller. Fern Griffith and Lorine McDougall have been ill, at home.

OFFICIAL VISIT

Marjorie Mecham, District Deputy President of District 7, will make her official visit to Cactus Rebekah Lodge No. 40, I.O.O.F., at 8 p.m., Wednesday, March 11, in the Legion hall. All Rebekahs are welcome.

The Tough and the Tender come together in outstanding 'Bogart' Documentary

As time goes by, the magic associated with the name intensifies. A cult has grown around his screen image, and controversy still swirls around his off-screen personality. Just say "Bogart" and you evoke the image of an honest, direct, simple person who some called classy and others called overly brassy.

Saturday, March 7 at 8:05 p.m., Channel 10 says "Bogart" with an exciting collection of images and words comprising a remarkably thorough and fascinating bio-documentary. This hour long examination of one of Hollywood's biggest idols will be seen as part of public television's "Festival Nights."

Inflation Fighting Ideas

A Shining Hit — Lamp That Lasts Longer

More and more households are taking a shine to an energy-saving, long-lasting fluorescent lamp unit that produces the same illumination as a 75-watt bulb but uses two-thirds less energy and lasts at least ten times longer than an incandescent lamp. And it can be used in any standard household lamp socket.

The 22-watt, circular Sylvania lamp made by GTE has a rated life of 12,000 hours as compared with 750 to 1,000 hours for the standard household incandescent lamp. Experts point out that the real measure of lamp efficiency is lumens per watt. The new lamp unit has a lumens per watt of about 45 versus ten for a 75-watt incandescent lamp.

The Sylvania unit consists of two parts: a replaceable eight-inch circular fluorescent lamp and a ballast. The circular lamp has been on the market for many years and is sold by most department, hardware and home improvement stores. The ballast, which makes possible its use in a standard household socket, controls the current flowing into the lamp.

Many consumers are finding that in these times of rising prices a bright idea that uses less energy and lasts longer is not a thing to blink at.

New Production At Clark County Community College

STUDENT PRODUCTION — Television production students at Clark County Community College are getting professional experience by videotaping performers like Michael Allen, a jazz tap dancer billed as "The Fastest Feet in the World." Allen and other performing acts are booked through Student Activities to entertain CCCC students. The practical "hands on" learning experience better prepared TV production students for their future careers.

A Different View Of Las Vegas

by Lina McCulloch

So you live in Las Vegas? Have you ever visited our hotels? Oh, I don't mean the casinos, though they can be fun. I mean the other points of interest within.

Well, let me tell you what forty two members of the Senior Citizens Travel Club of Las Vegas did on a "Surprise Trip", led by Pinky Riggs, our tour conductor.

We boarded the bus at 1 p.m. and proceeded to our first stop, the famed Caesars

Palace. A guided tour of the hotel was followed by a most unusual experience, a journey over our world via Omnimax. Then on to the Tropicana and a tour of the Entertainers Hall of Fame, where some of our popular entertainers are perpetuated in life like figures, a permanent memorial to our "Superstars." A souvenir photo of one's favorite star was received by each as a parting gift.

The tour goes on, and now we are at the Liberace Museum, and who is there who does not know of his tabulous costumes, pianos, cars, and memorabilia. It is there for all to see.

By now, hunger pangs have taken over, and the Alpine Village Inn welcomes us to the Rathskeller and an ala-carte menu. As if the food, deliciously served, was not enough, there were those who joined in singing along with their very talented pianist. We hated to say 'Aufweidersehn', but nothing lasts forever, and we were soon on our way to the Hilton. Here for a wet-your-shistle stop and-to enjoy a million dollar spectacular--the famous animated musical bird show---JAMBIERDEE.

One cannot justly describe the show, one must see it in person. Tired but happy, full of sights, sounds and food we headed for home. Every minute of the trip was made more enjoyable by our considerate and congenial hosts and hostesses.

Now don't you wish you had been with us? You can be in the future, for we'll have many more trips, trips of all kinds. So why not join our club, which by the way, was the very first club for travel in Las Vegas. Come aboard, we'd love to have you.

THIS WAS NEVADA Divorce In Nevada- Part II

The Corey Dvorce Case

BY PHILLIP I. EARL

The second famous case which put Nevada on the map as a mecca for divorce-seekers involved Mrs. Laura B. Corey and her industrialist husband, William Ellis Corey. Like the Russell case, the Corey divorce involved famous people and received a great deal of national press coverage.

The Coreys had been married on December 31, 1883 in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania when Corey was a chemist for the Edgar Thomson Steel Works. Both he and his bride were seventeen years of age at the time. Corey, an energetic young man, moved quickly up the corporate ladder and was superintendent of the plate mill for the Homestead Steel Works at the time of the birth of the couple's first and only child in 1890. In 1897, Corey became General Superintendent of the Homestead Company. He moved up to the Presidency of the Carnegie Steel Company in 1901 and took over the reins of United States Steel two years later.

The Corey marriage seemed stable enough until Corey became enamored with a young California actress and singer, Mabelle Gilman, whom he met at a Pittsburgh theatre in 1903. She was soon seen at parties with Corey and the press picked up hints of a scandal in the making. Laura Corey had also heard rumors, but, like many dutiful wives, she pretended that nothing was going on. Corey grew cold and distant, however, and on May 1, 1905, told her that he was leaving her forever. Corey and Mabelle left for a trip to Europe shortly thereafter and Laura was soon in Reno to seek a divorce.

The Nevada press had been covering the Corey's marital woes, but Laura and Corey's sister, Ada, slipped into Reno unannounced in early November of 1905. Renting the Robert Fulton home on First Street, Laura began her required six-month residency. Reno newsmen discovered her presence in their community on December 5, but she declined all interviews and would not comment on the supposed $1,000,000 settlement offered by her husband. Laura and Ada went to San Francisco in December to try to avoid the press, but had no better luck there. Corey had meanwhile disowned his son and rejected the efforts of Andrew Carnegie himself to effect a reconciliation. Laura herself had gone east to try to patch things up, but returned in February of 1906 to resume her residency.

To confirm her intentions of establishing Nevada residency should there be any question during the divorce proceedings, Laura filed the title to the Adaven Mine in Douglas County which she had purchased in January. She also became less reclusive and began to take an active part in the activities of several Reno women's clubs. The San Francisco earthquake and fire also took place during her time in Reno and she donated $1,000 cash to the Reno relief fund, insisting that she remain anonymous.

When the divorce case came up in District Court on July 30, 1906, Laura appeared in a heavy veil so as to frustrate press photographers. She told the jury of the circumstances of the separation and said that her husband was not a fit parent for their son. The strapping sixteen-year-old also testified, as did those who had had dealings with Mrs. Corey in Reno and could confirm her six-months' residency. William Corey's attorney appeared before Judge Ben Curler and denied all allegations, but to no avail as the jury granted the divorce within two hours and gave the son to the care of his mother.

Much news went out under a Reno dateline: the embittered sister, the virtuous, wronged wife, the manly son, the sugar-daddy relationship with the actress. Nevadans were on Laura's side, as was the general public and the opinion makers of the national media. An editorial in the New York Times assailed Corey as "The worst type of anarchist" for his behaviour towards his wife and a threat to "the permanence of the family."

Less than a year later, May 14, 1907, Corey married Mabelle. In 1911, Corey gave up the Presidency of U.S. Steel and the couple moved to an estate near Paris where they devoted themselves to the life of nouveau riche expatriates. Their marriage did not last, however, and Mabelle divorced William in Paris in November of 1923.

As to Laura, she returned to the East and waited a discreet eight years before marrying New York businessman Glen Duckworth in July of 1914. Her sensational 1906 Reno divorce had been largely forgotten by that time, but she had helped to put the city on the divorce map and many another wealthy celebrity followed in her footsteps. Lawyers established divorce practices, dude ranches catering to divorce-seekers were founded and Reno merchants came to depend upon the "divorce trade" as it was known. Among those who came was actress Mary Pickford in 1920 who added her own particular chapter to the saga of divorce in Nevada. Her story follows next week.

American Business Women's Assoc. Holds Special Enrollment

The Positive Image Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will hold a spring Enrollment Event March 28 at 2 p.m., according to Joy Leverage, Chapter President.

The theme, "Signs of Spring," focuses on meeting personal and professional goals through ABWA membership; the event promises to be a festive highlight of ABWA new member enrollments this spring.

ABWA Enrollment Events are held semi-annually to introduce ABWA and the local chapter to business women in this area. Throughout this period, similar events will be held across the country by more than 1,900 other ABWA chapters.

"The goal of ABWA is to help women in business advance through education, increase competence, and through upgrading of professional skills and business attitudes," Ms. Leverage said.

The Positive Image Chapter was formed over a year ago and is one of the fastest growing chapters in the city drawing POSITIVE thinking women together to share ideas, creativity and imagination.

The Association, founded in Kansas City, Missouri in 1949, now has more than 100,000 members. Last year, ABWA chapters throughout the United States and Puerto Rico awarded more than $1,300,000 in scholarships to women students.

Membership is by invitation only. For further information, interested business women may contact Judy Hampton, Membership Chairman, at 739-5333 or 565-8073.

DMV Closes Rent-A-Car Agency

Barton Jacka, Director, Department of Motor Vehicles, stated today that investigators from the DMV Bureau of Investigations and Enforcement closed Sharma Rent - A - Car Agency located at 4100 S. Paradise Rd., Las Vegas, for illegally leasing vehicles in the Las Vegas area.

According to Jacka, DMV investigators served search warrants and issued criminal complaints to the operators of Sharma Rent - A - Car, at the conclusion of an intensive investigation that revealed the rent - a - car company was operating vehicles with improper registration, no insurance, and without state and county licenses.

Jacka added that DMV investigators continually conduct investigations like the Sharma case in the Department's continuing efforts to protect the interest of our residents as well as the many out of state visitors to our community.

Benny Goodman began his career at the age of 14 as a clarinetist on an excursion boat out of Chicago.

Child Development Lab At CCC

Fathers play an important role in the great success of the Child Development Lab at Clark County Community College. While female family members are most welcome, fathers score highest with the children.

"Men are more likely to enjoy playing," explained Dru Raney, Director of the Center. And who but a father will practice magic, pulling flowers from children's ears, or bang a drum with such skill?

The Child Development Lab is the only facility in the state where the participation of parents is essential. Parents with children in pre-school programs spend one day a month supervising and participating in learning and play activities. This concept of child care has been so successful at CCC that several satellite child centers are planned to open this fall.

"We have a long waiting list, but we cannot take any more children here. But the new satellite centers will bring benefits to hundreds more youngsters," said attractive and vital Mrs. Raney.

How will the new child centers be funded? "We started out in 1974 in an apartment building," said Mrs. Raney, who was a psychologist with the school district before becoming Director of the Center. "I suppose we will do what we did then. Scrounge a little and ask for donations. Parents are good at helping with toys and equipment." A local service club will help with money and the Director explains the centers will quickly become self-supporting.

Parents pay a monthly $36 fee for their parenting training. The center also serves as a child care facility, mainly for faculty and students of the College and fees are 75 cents an hour.

The Child Development Lab is also a training school for students of child behavior, psychology, sociology, education and nursing, so that satellite centers would receive educational fees.

The almost four thousand square feet Lab at the College, sound proofed so that the youngsters can ring bells, bang triangles and beat drums, is a bright scene of happiness.

the staff of Mrs. Raney, three master teachers, one part-time teacher, one teacher's aide, and 12 work-study students help parents supervise in the math and science classes where the youngsters learn with blocks, puzzles, scales and cards. They learn social studies and language development in a delightful way with story tapes, film strips, records and puppets. Although protected by smocks both parents and children are covered with paint, clay and paste as arts and crafts projects progress. Everyone gets involved in cooking green or red scrambled eggs to see if they taste differently that way and in rolling different colored dough. Parents enjoy watching their children develop and learn themselves how to encourage positive behavior and forget the old "don'ts" and "can'ts".

Children who must now wait to get into the fascinating world of the Child Development Lab at CCC will soon be able to enter the satellite centers at Green Valley and Spring Valley. These will be run exactly as at the College with strong parental participation.

The jollity of the Lab as well as the invaluable skills that are taught will soon reach a great number of children throughout Clark County as well as their parents who can learn better parenting.

'A Prospect of Whales' brings rare glimpses of nature

From thousands of miles away, mammals and birds of the sea gather each year at the Argentinian Bay of Valdes for their breeding season.

Filmmakers Krov and Ann Menuhin and Andres Pruna spent eight months at Valdes, lured by the prospect of recording animal behavior never before captured on film. Their absorbing documentary about this unique experience, "A Prospect of Whales," will air Sunday, March 8 at 8:05 p.m. on Channel 10 as part of public television's "Festival Nights" of special programming. (Repeats Monday, March 9 at 11 p.m.)

For a brief time, the isolated rocky coastline teams with thousands of penguins, southern sea lions, and giant elephant seals, all occupied with the rituals of mating, birthing and nurturing their young. Just offshore, the most spectacular species of all, the southern right whale, breaks the surface of the Atlantic in giant leaps or swims contentedly with its young.

Cannon Is Ranking Demo On Panel

His title changes from chairman to "ranking Democratic member," but Nevada Sen. Howard Cannon retains a top position on the Senate Commerce Committee for the 97th Congress.

Cannon also remains one of the senior members of the Senate Armed Services Committee and is ranking Democratic member of its key Tactical Warfare Subcommittee. This panel reviews all tactical jet fighter programs of the Defense Department, including the various squadrons assigned to Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas.

Cannon's third assignment is on the Rules and Administration Committee, which he used to chair before moving to the Commerce Committee chairmanship in 1978.

In addition to being ranking Democratic member of the full Commerce Committee Cannon holds the same position on its Aviation Subcommittee. Thus, he will continue to influence the legislative course of commercial as well as military aviation.

Cannon also enjoys the status of ex-officio member of all other Commerce subcommittees. This allows him to participate in hearings before the Tourism, Consumer, Communications and Surface Transportation Subcommittees, all of which consider legislation important to Nevada.

Another of the senator's assignments is to the Democratic Steering Committee, which makes decisions on committee assignments.

George Rothell Named to Bank Board

George E. Rothell of Los Angeles, president and a director of Western Bancorporation, has been elected to the board of directors of

First National Bank of Nevada. The action occurred Wednesday, according to FNB Board Chairman and Chief Executive Officer A.M.

Smith. Rothell's selection filled a vacancy created by resignation of Joseph J. Pinola, who will concentrate on his duties as board chairman and chief executive officer of Western Bancorporation. First National Bank of Nevada is fourth largest among the 21 commercial banks affiliated with WBC, the nation's tenth largest bank holding company.

The new FNB director holds similar positions on the boards of Western Bancorporation affiliates Pacific National Bank of Washington, Bank of Idaho and Western Bancorp Mortgage Co.

Rothell holds a B.S. in Business Administration from the University of Nebraska in his native state. Earlier, he had served four years as a pilot in the U.S. Marine Corps. He began his banking career in 1960 with Bank of America, where he gained 12 years experience in retail and corporate banking and in agricultural financing. In 1972, he joined Western American Bank, a consortium of international banks with headquarters in London. He became its managing director in 1974.

He accepted a position as executive vice president of United California Bank in February 1977, with general administrative responsibilities, and became UCB's president and chief operating officer in January 1978.

It was that dual assignment he left in August of last year to become number two officer in Western Bancorporation. United California Bank is the holding company's largest commercial banking affiliate.

In addition to his banking activities, Rothell is a director of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, a director and vice president of the Greater Los Angeles Visitors and Convention Bureau, and a founding director of the Hollywood Presbyterian Medical Center Foundation. He also is a member of the Council of the American Bankers Association, the Association of Reserve City Bankers,

Nevada To Celebrate 50 Years Of Legalized Gaming

Fifty years ago the media and the majority of Americans were horrified when Nevada passed the law that brought gambling out of the back rooms and into the open. Humorist Will Rogers was among the relative few to support the Silver State's gamble to boost its economy.

"Nevadans have shaken off the cloak of hypocrisy, and if Wall Street would license its gamblers there would probably be less of it," he said.

Gaming in Nevada is now a $2.2 billion industry, and on March 19, the state will mark its golden anniversary of legalized gambling.

The gambling that attracts 30 million tourists annually began as an attempt to bolster a depression-weary economy. Legalizing social taboos, that were forbidden in other states had become common in Nevada in 1931. It was the first state to see the value of legalizing public prizefighting in 1897. Other measures to boost the economy included no-wait marriage and easy divorces.

combo, thelma License Plate Round-Up Set For This Weekend -48 skinny

License plate collectors from the western states and Canada will hold their first annual Western License Plate Round-up this Saturday and Sunday, March 7 and 8, at the civic center auditorium.

It is hoped this first event will encourage further interest in the hobby, produce more members and plates from some tough states.

The Round-up is being hosted by three ALPCA members, Ken King and Roy Carson of Henderson, and Don Holler of Las Vegas.

All collecting categories are welcome and unique, inexpensive awards will be given for Best-of-Show in first, second and third classes; first and second in junior division under 18 years of age; the People's Choice and the Judge's Trophy.... seven awards in all.

According to the hosts, all collectors and dealers are welcome.

The convention will be held from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday and from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sunday.

In 1920 actress Mary Pickford established residency in Nevada so that she could divorce Owen Moore who was making a movie in Virginia City. Eleven years later Nevada's divorce laws were further liberalized when the now famous six-week divorce law was signed by Governor Fred Balzar in 1931, the same day gambling was legalized.

Critics of gambling pushed aside Nevada's argument that legalized gaming was an economic necessity in a state where sagebrush outnumbered people. Skeptics claimed Nevada legislators had only succeeded in producing a "Sinammon Flavored" society unfit for membership in the United States. Those opponents proved to be poor oddsmakers.

UNLV Professors Co-author Book

Drs. Andrea Fontana and Ron Smith, associate professors of sociology at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, have co-authored a college text book on social problems. Their book, "Social Problems: Role, Institutional, and Societal Perspectives," has been in the works for some three years.

Published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, the text is now being sent to college sociology instructors across the country for their examination.

According to the UNLV sociologists, the book takes a comprehensive look at some of the most pressing social problems facing people today. Some of those topics include changes in the family and educational institutions; examination of white-collar crime, problems associated with death and dying, ageing, sexism, rape, family violence, as well as more standard topics like drug and alcohol abuse, racism and urban decay.

Each of the social problems is discussed in terms of individual roles in society, how those roles affect social institutions and how social problems evolve. Smith and Fontana note that their threefold approach to social problems sets this text apart from others in the field.

The authors credit four other sociologists for their contribution to the text: Kathleen J. Ferraro, for her contributions to the chapters on family violence; Dr. Stuart C. Hadden; Dr. John M. Johnson for his research on crime, deviance and family violence; and Peter M. Wickman for his contributions to chapters on criminal justice in the United States and other countries.

Fontana, who has been teaching at UNLV since 1976, received his Ph.D. in sociology from the University of California, San Diego. He specializes in the study of old age, death and dying.

Smith has taught at UNLV since 1972, serving as chairman of the department of sociology from 1973 through 1975. He received his Ph.D. from Washington State University, and specializes in social psychology, industrial sociology and sociology of occupations.

Both professors have written numerous articles in their areas of expertise

'Nova' Explores 'Beyond The Milky Way'

In 1845, an Irish nobleman looked at the stars through his new "monster" telescope and discovered the spiral-structured Whirlpool Galaxy. Astronomers today are able to look beyond the cloudy, star-studded screen of our own Milky Way to a universe of perhaps 100 billion other galaxies. These clusters in space, several million light years away, are revealed and scrutinized as 'Nova' takes a trip into outer space in "Beyond the Milky Way," Tuesday, March 3 at 8:00 p.m. on Channel 10. (Repeats Sunday, March 8 at 7:00 p.m.)

"Beyond the Milky Way" is an unfolding story, with each pioneering discovery made possible by refinements in astronomical technology. Bigger and better optical telescopes led to radio telescopes which could see strange invisible jets emerging from certain peculiar galaxies, and to electronic collectors which could isolate single photons of light. The latest advance is a big new British infra-red telescope stationed on a volcano slope in Hawaii. Soon a large telescope will go into orbit around the earth, relaying much more detail than astronomers have ever seen before.

Business, Civic Leaders To Honor Senator And Dorothy Cannon

Business and civic leaders of Las Vegas will honor Senator Howard and Dorothy Cannon with the coveted ALA of Nevada Humanitarian Award for their outstanding contributions to civic and philanthropic causes.

Senator and Mrs. Cannon will be honored at a Gala Dinner-Dance, Friday, March 6, at Caesars Palace. Proceeds from the $175 per plate dinner will aid the local 1981 fund raising campaign for the ALA of Nevada.

The American Lung Association of Nevada (formerly Nevada Lung Association) has a proud 76 year tradition of fighting lung diseases such as asthma, emphysema and bronchitis. The fight is carried out through programs of public health, research, professional education and community services. ALA of Nevada activity in Clark County has included Smoking Cessation Clinics, Equipment Loan Bank Services (breathing machines to needy patients), Patient Counseling, and Rehabilitation Programs. A grant was made to Clark County Community College to develop a Respiratory Therapist Technician Program. These community projects are supported by the annual Christmas Seal Program.

Now completing his 22nd year in the United States Senate, Howard W. Cannon has become one of the most influential men on Capitol Hill.

He received his bachelor's degree from Arizona State, and his LLB from the University of Arizona, 1937. During World War II, he served in the Air Force and was decorated for his service in the European Theatre, including 42 days he spent behind enemy lines after being shot down over Holland.

Senator and Mrs. Howard Cannon

Decorations include the Silver Star, Presidential Citation, Legion of Merit, Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with Oak Leaf Clusters, Purple Heart, European Theatre Ribbon with eight battle stars, and Croix de Guerre.

Dorothy is a native Nevadan, born in Alamo, in Lincoln County, where her family had ranched and been in business. The Cannons have two children, Alan and Nancy Lee Bjornsen, and two grandchildren, Justin Brett and Kayli Brook Bjornsen.

A New Philosophy makes Profits a 'SNAP'

By Donald J. Rouse
ADRA Field Services
Director

A new operating philosophy is in place at Southern Nevada Auto Parts (SNAP) in Henderson. The increase in sales and the improvement in profits are just short of astounding.

The company that was to become SNAP Inc. was founded in 1955 by Belvin Ellis and another working partner. It was located in Henderson, and was a traditional auto wrecking and used parts yard. Ellis and his two sons, Bill and Bob, purchased the company and formed SNAP Inc. Belvin Ellis became president of the new corporation; Bill was named vice president; Bob, secretary. Their goal was to turn SNAP into a multi-million dollar business. The trio followed a traditional operating procedure for the next ten years. Cars were purchased and stored in the yard. Sales were made and orders taken in a small office at one corner of the property. Parts were pulled from the cars by a crew of "yardmen" after the sales were completed.

As time passed, new enterprises were added. A towing company — SNAP Tow — was formed. The accumulation of damaged cars led to the establishment of B&E Salvage Pool. An old car scrap yard was started on property adjacent to the late model parts yard. Total gross sales of the company began to climb and soon exceeded the magic million dollar mark.

Sales continued to climb until gross income reached $120,000 a month. Unfortunately, the management's headaches also began to mount. There were 43 employees on the payroll. Office space was small and crowded. No more than six customers could stand at the counter at one time. Customers were forced to wait while parts were removed, and, occasionally, they became anxious or frustrated. It seemed that SNAP had reached the saturation point with regard to the number of sales that could be completed in an average working day.

Something had to be done.

The Ellises got together and reviewed their total business. They knew they were heavily dependent on wholesale trade. (Only 12 percent of their sales were retail.) They learned, by attending Barry Isenberg's seminars, that they could expand their business simply by reaching more retail customers. However, the inability to handle more customers and process more orders prevented expansion in that direction. They decided to visit other yards and explore new methods that might help resolve the dilemma.

After attending more seminars and exchanging ideas with other yard owners, they decided to totally change the operating philosophy of SNAP Inc. Some of the factors that influenced their decision were: a declining demand for parts from wholesale accounts and an increasing number of inquiries from retail customers; a rapid shift from big cars to little cars; and the escalating price of cars and parts. The conclusions they reached called for an emphasis on retail sales, as a means of expanding the total gross business, and more efficient service to customers to eliminate the logjam in processing orders. They would accomplish this by replacing the old, crowded building with a new, larger, more efficient structure, and reversing the traditional procedure of storing parts in the yard on cars and removing them only when a sale was completed. Under the new approach, parts would be removed first, then offered for sale. This would cut down on customer waiting time and relieve the backlog on processing orders.

Putting theory into practice was another matter. First, President Ellis had a basic tenet with regard to expanding and spending money: "Do whatever you want as long as you pay cash." The decision was made to finance the project out of the proceeds of the scrap car operation. Eventually, the operation was able to contribute $25,000 a month to the expansion program — approximately 85 percent of the expansion cost.

Designing the new building took almost a year. Mike Harris, general manager, explains, "We wanted the layout to work on paper first."

The building, as finally constructed has 4,500 square feet, equally divided between customer sales area on one level and administrative offices on the second level. The warehouse measures 125 feet by 70 feet and has enough overhead clearance to permit two mezzanines above the main floor, a space equal to approximately 25,000 square feet of main floor space. Space was also provided for a six bay installation and service shop, and a machine shop. Vehicles are dismantled outside the main building under an open sided roof structure.

Under the new operating procedure, all vehicles are inventoried and dismantled upon arrival. Parts are cleaned and tested, as necessary. Selected parts are placed on shelves in the warehouse, and the remaining parts are stored in outside racks. If the body shell has useable sheet metal, it is stored on wheel stands in the yard. All storage areas are carefully identified as to aisle, rack and bin numbers.

Most mechanical parts are inventoried by interchange number. The size of the yard was reduced from 10 acres to five acres, permitting expensive real estate to be used for other purposes.

What has been the result of these dramatic changes? Employee morale is up. The building is absolutely first class, a showcase. Employees take pride in telling their friends where they work. The number of employees has been reduced from 43 to 18. Retail sales, which are actively pursued, have risen from 12 percent to 46 percent of the total gross. Many customers can be served completely in less than 10 minutes.

Bill Ellis says, "It's so nice to walk somebody back into the warehouse, show them a motor, and five minutes later have the order all written up and on its way." Gross sales have climbed from $120,000 to $200,000 a month (excluding repairables). The installation and service shop has been so successful, another six bays must be added to keep up with the work. Mike Harris reports, "We work hard to run an honest business. We have a big reputation now. People will spend more money with us because they can sleep at night."

SNAP Inc. is now handling 600 late model cars and 2,400 older scrap cars a year. For the first time in their history, they are selling more mechanical parts than they have in stock. This has forced them to buy in bulk from other yards. They also expect to add selected lines of new parts to fill in the gaps. They project their new operating procedure and their new building will permit them to handle an annual gross volume of $5 million without further significant expansion.

It appears the new operating philosophy at SNAP Inc. is right on target for the future.

Golf Dinner Meeting Set

By MARGARET

The next meeting is a dinner meeting on March 10th. Reservations must be in no later than the 6th. Please call as soon as possible or sooner. The dinner will be catered by Two Gals From Cal. Also a very important fact, those who make reservations and don't show up will have to pay for the dinner. Which is $6.00. The time is as usual a no-host cocktail hour at 6 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Any questions call Mel Clark.

On February 17th there was a luncheon meeting and a Criers Tournament. Now this is the kind of tournament to play all the time. Take the three worst holes and give par, then minus handicapp, boy what a score. Ev Greenough was the winner for the 18 holes and Sue Clark won for the 9 holes. Putt awards went to Ev Greenough for the most one putts for 18 holes and to Sue Clark for the nine holes.

Barbara Boston rules chairman answered questions about new rules from the 1981 P.G.A. rules book. Pro Hugh Jefferies attended the meeting to explain the rule which unfortunately came to rest in the lake. Hit the ball where it lies or take a drop at the nearest point where it entered the lake and take a one stroke penalty.

Also on this day of February 17th a long missed person came back to the fold. Welcome back Mel.

On February 24th there was a four Lady Scramble. There will be no putt awards for this kind of tournament. Some of the ladies went out early and missed knowing what the play for the day was. The ladies who came in with a score of 78 were the winners Bobby Stankovic, Helen Ward, Janet Hurst and Sue Clark.

Now that my husband is greatly improved I will be seeing you on the TEE.

Movies, Slides, Draw Enthusiastic Comments

Kids and lizards... and Government Park before the trees grew; the Boulder Theatre sitting all alone on Arizona Street...but wait! There's Bert Smith's Root Beer Stand sitting on the corner where Central Market now stands.

These and other "early days" scenes were shown to an almost full house at the Boulder Theatre on Sunday.

There was a shot of the old desert golf course...and of the Boulder Dam Hotel while under construction. There's the Texaco Station at the corner of Nevada Highway and Arizona Street. Yes, it was here even then... though not with the more modern structure we see today.

The 20 minute silent clip appeared to delight all who viewed it.

And there was more... a special "bonus" showing of the building of Boulder Dam... a film produced by Six Companies Inc... recently discovered tucked away... a classic of its kind that hadn't been seen in many years.

There were all the standard shots and much more... spectacular and dramatic close-ups of high scalars... men riding the notorious monkey slide... and swinging out over the canyon in skps packed to the railings.

As an extra, extra bonus, patrons were treated to color slides promoting early day Boulder City businesses. Names such as The Sweet Shop, B.C. Motors, The Reservation Grill, flashed onto the screen. One such slide promoted the very latest 1934 carpet designs were now available. Another told of TWA's special round trip fare from Boulder City to Los Angeles for the staggering sum of $20.

The entire, enjoyable afternoon was made possible thanks to Bob and Helga Scaringi and Art and Shirley Schruhl (of the Boulder Theatre)... Elton Garrett (who picked up the tab)... and Teddy Fenton (who dreamed the idea and pushed promotion)... and the B.C. Library who did a superb publicity job.

Many who attended were heard to comment that they wished they could see it all again.

There's good news. They can. The films and slides will be offered on Saturday afternoon, March 14, at 3:30 p.m. as part of Boulder City's Birthday festivities.

Old College Will Open Law School; First In Nevada

Some history dramatically unfolded last week as the Trustees of Old College met to decide on whether or not to open a Law School; the first in Nevada. They decided, Yes. Tentative plans call for an opening class of 40 in September of 1981. The school will begin as a 4 year operation with classes in the late afternoon and evening. It will be applying for its state license shortly, which the Humanities College received October 13, 1980.

First year law courses will run along traditional lines: Torts, Criminal Law, Contracts and Legal Writing. A recent study, finished in May of 1980, for the State University system, shows that approximately 200 students from the state will apply to Law schools around the country this year.

The President of Old College, John Leary, who began the Humanities school last summer, feels there is a need in a state of this size for a Law School. He and the Trustees judge that the chances of the University system starting one are at least 5 years away. "Why not?", Leary asked. "Nevada grew over 60% in the last ten years. No other state of comparable size lacks one. It's about time the private sector stepped in and helped out."

The President of Old College, Father Leary, brings good credentials to the decision. He was president of Gonzaga University in Spokane for almost 9 years. It has a Law School with a good and long reputation in the West. He was also instrumental in starting the highly innovative Law School of New College of California in San Francisco in 1973. Its graduates, the last some years, have been hitting as high as 85% passage in the State Bar. Time Magazine, in a generally critical view of the new law schools sprouting up in California, had this to say in its issue of October 11, 1976: "New College's pioneering School of Law gives a kind of legal education hard to get elsewhere." The Wall Street Journal (late February, 1974) singled out 3 Law Schools in the country doing something to revivify the teaching of law: Harvard, Columbia and New College of California. So experienced leadership will help here.

At first, a top staff, but all part time, save the Dean, would be hired. The Judicial College Library is open to the public. Plans are afoot to ask the State Supreme Court to follow, for example, the Wisconsin plan. The court would exercise ongoing supervision and counsel over the Law School. If satisfied with the calibre of teaching and learning, plus a good fiscal and administrative base, it could permit graduates of Old College Law School to practice the law without taking the State Bar. They would have learned Nevada law in its proper milieu.

Tuition at Old College Law School will be the same as the Humanities school; $1250 per term - a bargain as private colleges go today. Some scholarships and loans will be available.

The equity in a home owned by a senior citizen today may be his or her single most important asset at retirement. In the United States today, there are approximately 23 million senior citizens, or a population about the size of California. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the nation's savings and loan associations are well aware of these facts, and together, they have made a strong commitment to helping America's senior citizens plan for retirement.

One of the ways in which the Bank Board has aided the cause of our elderly has been the development of three mortgage plans that would provide, among other features, a retirement annuity for elderly homeowners. The first mortgage is called the Reverse Annuity Mortgage (RAM), which is designed to allow retired persons to use the equity built up in their homes to generate a retirement income. Basically, the RAM works as follows: A husband and wife, ages 65 and 62, respectively, own a $100,000 home. The home appreciates at 9 percent annually with current mortgage rates set at 12-1/2 percent. Under the RAM, the retired person could borrow $50,000 on his home to purchase a retirement annuity. A life annuity on the retired person would generate a monthly income of $492.96 and a joint life-and-survivor annuity on the husband and wife would generate about $350 a month.

The second mortgage plan is called the Split-Equity Mortgage (SEM), which requires the senior citizen to take out a loan at current mortgage rates, and apply the loan to the purchase of a savings and loan money market certificate. An example of this would be: If a retired person at age 65 secures a 40-year, $50,000 loan on his home at 12-1/2 percent, and then places the loan into a high yield savings and loan money market account earning 11.3 percent annually, the account would earn $5,650 a year. Half of this amount would go to the mortgage holder, or $3,125. The remaining $2,525 a year, or about $210 a month would go to the retired person.

The other mortgage plan is referred to as the Sale-Leaseback Agreement (SLB) and involves the sale of the retired persons home to an investor, possibly a savings and loan association, who then leases the property back to the senior citizen under a 40-year contract. The investor would own the home, but the retired person would have full use of the house until he leaves. The benefits of this agreement are as follows: Assuming that the home is sold to an investor for $100,000, net of taxes and closing costs, the retired person would then take the $100,000 once-in-a-lifetime tax exemption allowed under the 1978 Revenue Act and place the money into a savings and loan money market account earning 11.3 percent annually. From the $11,300 earned annually on the money market account, $5,100 is paid to the investor in lease payments and the remaining $6,200 goes to the retired person as income. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board, through the development of these new mortgage instruments, has taken great strides in its attempt to make retirement a pleasurable experience for America's elderly. By simply using the built up equity in a retired person's home, the Bank Board has opened up a new horizon for senior citizens and retirement planning.

Howard Bowtin Served at Camp Sibert in 1941

Howard and Virginia Bowtin visited the Community Club meeting on Feb. 26. They have a history of their own to share for after listening to a "Looking Back and Forward" by a member (Teddy Fenton) they told her of how they had lived in Boulder City in early 1941 when Camp Williston was still being called Camp Sibert.

For newcomers it is important to relate that the Mormon Church on 5th St. is a part of the acres of land once covered by an army camp named after William Luther Sibert. There is a mention in one article that he played a part in designing Hoover Dam.

At any rate he was recognized as a famous American (he built the Gatun Locks on the Panama Canal) but it was his fame that caused the Army to change the name of Sibert to Williston for another camp had been named after William Sibert.

But it was Sibert while the Bowtins lived here. They hope to get the next reunion of Howard's outfit to meet in Boulder City.

Howard had the foresight to have pictures taken of the camp. We are glad to tell him that Paul Lytle of this city was also a Camp Sibert (or Williston) soldier.

Other soldiers who made Boulder City their home until a dread illness took them from us were Herb Knauss, owner of the Recreation Tavern, and Bob Conners, Community Volunteer and supporter of Boulder City.

Probably the most famous soldier of them all is Scoop Garside, who, though he lives in Las Vegas, calls Boulder City his second home.

Scoop wrote, edited, had published and distributed the Desert Scorpion which served the camp as a news report of not only its social events but Scoop was even then making friends with Boulder City people, he wrote about them as well.

Eileen Conners (Mrs. Bob) gave the NEWS a copy of the last Desert Scorpion ever printed. With it and copies of the pictures from Bowtin's scrapbook we will bring a story of Camp Williston that will stand as a record of the way it was 1941-1945.

Solar Energy Group To Meet

The Nevada Solar Energy Association would like to invite everyone to its next meeting. It will be held at 7 p.m. on March 5 (Thursday) at the Flamingo Branch of the Clark County Library. Dan Smith, a Utilization Engineer for Southwest Gas, will discuss the performance of the solar heating and cooling system in the Boulder City Gas Company Office.

Solar enthusiasts, amateurs, and professionals alike are cordially invited to attend.

Clark County Hospice Program Completes Two Years

The Clark County Health District announced today that the Hospice program has completed two years of service to the community.

Under the direction of area physicians, the Hospice program has provided supportive nursing care and home management to 250 terminally ill cancer patients and their families. A team of specially trained public health nurses coordinate the activities of the Hospice team, with support from the clergy, social workers, trained volunteers and counselors.

With the projected cancer deaths in Clark County expected to be over 800 in 1981, the Health District Hospice anticipates continued need for this service.

The program is provided under the direction of Dr. Otto Ravenholt, Chief Health Officer, and Evelyn McColl, Deputy Health Officer for Nursing Services.

The Health District is a member of the National Hospice Organization.

Understanding Yourself

A Radiant New Look

Being interested in how you look is normal; becoming preoccupied with how you look can be preposterous!

The "new look" on the outside—style, color, cut, fashion—is not nearly as important as a new look on the inside. What is on the inside is not just show; it is spirit; it is life!

A remarkably helpful radio program called "The Lutheran Hour" says that in people who come to know Him, God produces a new look. Believing is like being reborn with new spirit and new life. The new look begins within the first spark of faith. "If anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away and behold, the new has come," says St. Paul.

1981 Falconry Regulations Established

By David K. Rice

Seasons, quotas and regulations governing the taking of raptors for falconry purposed in 1981 were established February 20 by the State Board of Wildlife

Commissioners at their monthly meeting in Reno.

The split raptor capture period will extend May 16 through July 19, and Sept. 5 through Dec. 31, 1981. The raptors may be taken during the open season only, at any time of the day or night on a statewide basis. Maximum harvest quotas for residents are: prairie falcon, 15; goshawk, 5; Cooper's hawk, 14; sharp-shinned hawk, 5; red-tailed hawk, 14; American kestrel (sparrow hawk) 21. Non-resident quotas are: prairie falcon, 10; and one each of the other five species.

The limit is two per person, including not more than one of any species.

Applications for permits to take raptors are only available through Nevada Department of Wildlife offices and will be accepted until 5 p.m., May 1, 1981. A public drawing will be held at NDOW's Reno office at 9:30 a.m., May 7, 1981, to award the permits. Permits remaining after the drawing will be issued on a first-to-apply, first-served basis by application.

Raptor permit applicants must either possess a valid falconry license or apply for one when making application. The resident fee for each raptor permit is $10. The non-resident fee is $50. A non-refundable application fee of $2 is required of all who apply. The falconry license fee for residents and non-residents is $15.

The raptor capture permits are not valid without a current falconry license which is issued on a fiscal year basis (July 1-June 30).

Information on qualifications and requirements that must be met before a person may obtain a falconry license as well as additional information on the falconry permit system is available from all NDOW offices in Reno, Fallon, Elko, Ely and Las Vegas.

Last year, the Wildlife Commission established Nevada's first special season during which those hunting with hawks, falcons or other birds of prey were allowed to take any of the upland game species during a season that ran Sept. 1, 1980 - Feb. 1, 1981, for grouse, partridge and quail and Nov. 5 - Feb. 1, for pheasant. A similar hunt is proposed for the 1981-82 hunting season.

THEN and NOW

From water clocks to diving watches, man's attempts to keep time through the ages have often been linked to water, the earth's natural timekeeper. Historians have discovered that:

THEN: Water clocks were probably the first timekeepers with moving parts. Time was measured by how much water was lost from the clock. The Greeks called them clepsydras (water-stealers) and built what is believed to be the world's largest water clock in Athens to standardize the city's time. Named the Tower of the Winds, it still stands today.

NOW: Today, we have watches available that are of such high calibre they can perform accurately even under water. Diving watches from Heuer Time, for example, are accurate at pressures up to 600 feet deep. These stainless steel, water-resistant watches help divers keep track of their time; are easy to read under water because of their luminous dial face and will even keep a diver up-to-date

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

By SALOME

FOR RELEASE WEEK OF MARCH 9, 1981
If your birthdate occurs this week... Answers to most puzzles appear quite near. Positive attitudes help make everything clear.

Aries Mar. 21 - Apr. 19 Mars
It's not in the nature of the Arian Ram to avoid a situation. But without taking it on the lam, Ram, step back and analyze what's happening around you. Job problems seem overwhelming, but are just a challenge.

Taurus Apr. 20 - May 20 Venus
Getting angry won't help when you're faced with this week's confusing doings. But if the Bull sees red, it's only because he or she is not ready to look beyond the immediate situation. Someone is jealous of you.

Gemini May 21 - June 20 Mercury
Sure there are several confusing situations confronting you this week. But don't let yourself be blown away by all that hot air coming from people who think they know how to solve your problems. You're the expert.

Cancer June 21 - July 22 Moon
Moon Children can ride the tide of the Ides of March better than most. Your romantic nature will attract a Virgoan. Go on and listen to what he or she has to say. Your business sense is sharper this week.

Leo July 23 - Aug. 22 Sun
Leo and Leona Lions won't have a chance to do much livin' around this week. Your stars push you into a hectic period. You'll be attracting the opposite sex because you're bright and cute. Check share holdings.

Virgo Aug. 23 - Sept. 22 Mercury
This isn't the week to be too demure about romance. Virgos who don't go all out find Cupid's out of bounds when they call on him later. It's perk-up time on the job as well. Let someone know about your good work.

Libra Sept. 23 - Oct. 22 Venus
Keep smiling. Your well-balanced outlook on life will see you through a rush-push-pull period. In romance, an Aries Ram is only too happy to butt into your life. Make yourself an available target.

Scorpio Oct. 23 - Nov. 21 Pluto
As usual, your super-sexy self just can't help attracting the attentions of the opposite sex. One problem this week: you're going to have to deal with more than one admirer. Your diplomacy will see you through.

Sagittarius Nov. 22 - Dec. 21 Jupiter
This week will be like a tennis game for you. Folks will lob compliments at you; you'll be returning the same. But unlike tennis, for you a score of "love" will have much value. Net result makes you a winner.

Capricorn Dec. 22 - Jan. 19 Saturn
Because the sometimes restless Sea Goat rules your sign you may feel the urge to go on an ocean voyage now. If you can get away, fine. If not, chart your at-home course through calmer areas and relax.

Aquarius Jan. 20 - Feb. 18 Uranus
The need to get involved in someone's life is part and parcel of the Aquarian nature. But check out your own needs first. Resist adding new situations to your life by dealing with those you already have.

Pisces Feb. 19 - Mar. 20 Neptune
Getting into the swim is easy for socially minded Piscean Fishes this week. The shy Pisces native, however, may find the tides running too high. Don't take the plunge; test the waters first.
