

Marchiano Wins Unanimous 'Vote of Confidence'

After three weeks of public discussion, and postponed meetings, the city council Monday night put on a display of unity and publicly gave its vote of confidence to city attorney John Marchiano.

The dispute began on August 3 when Marchiano was slated to give his legal opinion on a charge from Mayor LeRoy Zike that Councilman Lorna Kesterson was in conflict when she voted on the granting of a franchise to Community Cable TV.

Instead of calling for Marchiano's opinion during the public meeting, Zike said he wanted an opinion from Attorney General Richard Bryan. Bryan said later he would not give an opinion unless it was requested through the city attorney.

Feeling that his professional ability and integrity had been questioned, Marchiano asked for an executive session which was slated for the following Monday.

But Zike cancelled the meeting, saying it was called illegally because a special session must be requested by council members.

A second meeting was set for last Friday, but was also cancelled by the Mayor's office.

Kesterson, meanwhile, requested that a vote of confidence for Marchiano be placed on the agenda for Monday night and the vote in favor was unanimous for Marchiano.

Marchiano was appointed city attorney in September 1979 after serving as acting city attorney following the resignation of Kent Dawson.

Marchiano was originally employed by the city in May of 1978. He is a graduate of Syracuse Law School and clerked for the City Attorney at Mount Kisco, N.Y.

Water Rate Hike Discussion Monday

By Lorna Kesterson

A proposed water rate hike, which would increase the average home-owner's bill from $1.70 in the winter to $3.60 monthly in the summer, will be discussed by the city council Monday night in committee meeting at 7 p.m. at city hall.

The new water rates would go into effect Oct. 1 if they are approved and would provide for increased costs of operating the water system anticipated to incur during the fiscal year of 1982.

The base rate for water would go down from $6 to $5.70, however the cost of water would go from 37 cents per thousand gallons to 47 cents per thousand.

According to Fred Artus, director of finance, the cost of water with the new rate would be the same as the Las Vegas Valley Water District. It is considerably lower than the Boulder City cost of water which is $5.50 for a base charge and 60 cents per thousand gallons.

Artus said the water income is already falling behind the city's cost and the first billing for the Southern Nevada Water Project will come on line in July of 1982.

Artus said he felt smaller increases in the water service are easier for the residents than a large increase all at once.

In a related issue, the city council approved a delinquent "shut-off procedure" for water users.

The first notice will appear on the utility bill. This will include a "past due notice," and you must respond within ten days or service will be discontinued. An $11 reconnect charge will be made.

The second notice would be a 3 by 5 inch preprinted card with the following message.

"This is a final notice on your city utility bill. You must respond within 48 hours or service will be discontinued. An $11 reconnect will be charged." If there is no proper response by the customer after the eighth day of the first notice, the water service will be discontinued.

One Man's VIEW

By MIKE O'CALLAGHAN

The 1981 state meeting of the AFL-CIO was a show of strength for the working men and women. Several friends from Henderson attended the evening banquet which concluded the two day confab.

State executive secretary - treasurer Blackie Evans led a large group of people from Henderson. Assemblyman Jack Jeffrey, Richard Romero, Jake Madill, Nykki Kinsley, Dana Wiggins, and Bette Jean Boone were some of the residents and former industrial city residents at the banquet.

Betty Jeffrey and Caroline Evans accompanied their husbands. Bette Jean Davis, one of my students when I taught at Basic High School, accompanied her husband Billy Boone. Nykki was in the company of several legislators in attendance at the evening affair.

This writer had the pleasure of dining with Lucy Kerr of the Nevada Industrial Commission. Miss Lucy, a former Henderson resident, spent several years working for the United Steel Workers before Blackie and I asked her to come to Carson City ten years ago. Her service to injured workers has been outstanding and when she retires later this year she will be missed by the injured men and women seeking help.

The state workers at the Department of Motor Vehicles on East Sahara deserve the thanks of thousands of drivers. They are efficient in handling hundreds of drivers seeking licenses every day.

My birthday comes in early September and I received a postcard in late July reminding me that it was necessary to renew my driver's license. The card suggested I call for an appointment.

I followed instructions and went through the entire process in less than thirty minutes. In fact, it was exactly 28 minutes from the time I entered the building until I received my hot new plastic license from the photo and sealing machine.

The great thing about the employees was their pleasant attitudes and willingness to help every applicant.

Sunday is "Betty Scott Day" and is an ideal time for Henderson to honor a lady who has done so much for the community. So seldom do our educators get the recognition they deserve after years of dedicated ser-

Receiver Awaiting Official Opinion From Henderson On 'Partition'

When the six hundred shareholders of one thirty second interest in 40-acre parcels of land in Henderson were called to a meeting in Honolulu by Joseph M. McKellar, they were eager for the opportunity to talk with the representative from Henderson, Ken Knight, community development director.

In a recent telephone interview, McKellar said he set up the meeting because "until now they listened only to what the promotor had to say. Many of these people are very unsophisticated investors."

McKellar is the receiver appointed by the judge in the United States District Court in Hawaii in the culmination of a law suit against nine defendants including Richard and his wife Frances R. MacDonald, their son, Richard C. MacDonald and partnerships and

'Betty Scott Day' Planned For Sunday At St. Peter's

The community will honor Betty Scott, former director of the Henderson Community College, with a "Betty Scott" Day August 23, Sunday, from 6-8 p.m. at St. Peter's Center, according to Bill Horan.

Everyone in the community is invited to participate in honoring Scott for her work with the college here. She will be teaching at the Cheyenne campus of the College this year.

Scott came to Nevada in 1972 when she was coordinator and instructor for Growth Opportunities. Classes she instructed for adults included Spanish, English as a second language, and sociology. It was from these humble beginnings that the Community College in Henderson began.

She was appointed the Henderson Coordinator for the Clark County Community College satellite when the program expanded to include math, history and psychology in addition to the original classes.

Scott's responsibilities and duties expanded along with the growth of the college. They grew to include curriculum planning and research, personnel, public relations, record, finance and budget, and procedures and policies. One of her primary responsibilities was to serve as a liaison between the Cheyenne campus and the Henderson campus.

Initial planning for the Henderson campus began in the mid-seventies and Scott said at the time that it was an exciting year for her. College classes were being held at the civic center, Basic High School and St. Peter's Center.

Ground was broken on the new college in June of 1980 and classes will start there in September.

She was named Employee of the Year by the Henderson Rotary Club in 1980; she was included in the Outstanding Young Woman of the Year in 1976-77 and was given the Henderson Woman of the Year award in education in 1975.

Council To Consider Convention Center Staffing

Gary Johnson, director of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the city council Monday night and suggested the city pay immediate attention to the staffing of the convention center.

Bids will be opened for the convention center in September and construction is expected to be well under way within the next few months.

Public Works Director Jeff Billingsley agreed with Johnson, stating that the person who is going to be in charge of the facility should be on board to direct the building, and select and purchase furnishings.

City Manager Bob Anselmo suggested the item be set for city council action at the August 24 meeting.

"I don't know if you (the council) want to sit as a board or whether you want to continue with the blue ribbon committee," Anselmo said, "but a decision should be made." He said an account will have to be set up also.

Johnson said he felt that the blue ribbon committee selected to pursue the convention center could be used for a convention authority. Father Caesar Caviglia was chairman of that committee.

Murdered Security Guard Was Henderson Resident

Dennis McKeon, of Pagan Street, a security guard at the Dunes Hotel, was shot to death in the hotel parking lot Monday night as he was attempting to help a woman start her car.

Police say McKeon's killer had just abandoned a stolen taxi and was apparently looking for a get-away vehicle in the Dunes parking lot when he encountered McKeon. The guard was shot several times after he was apparently slow to obey the gunman's orders to get out of the woman's car.

McKeon, 55, had been a security guard at the Dunes for only three months. He and his wife, Sally, arrived her from Belle Harbor, N.Y. last October after McKeon retired vice. Bill Horan and his committee are making certain that Betty receives a warm thanks from Henderson.

Betty, along with dozens of local citizens, set the stage for acquiring a community college campus. She set an example by teaching and showed the need for the new campus. It is very possible that without her contributions the local campus would still be a few years away.

Betty Scott deserves a hearty Henderson thanks.

From the Wall Street Journal:

"TOURIST TRAPS: Since July 1, 1980, 19 states and the District of Columbia have raised their gasoline taxes, five states have increased cigarette taxes, and three states and D.C. have boosted sales taxes. Commerce Clearing House tells vacationers. But sales-tax rates have been reduced in Ohio, New Mexico and South Dakota."

Guess what state raised the sales, gas and other taxes this year?

Tourist traps? How about resident traps? I am yet to see a tourist waltz up and pay the sales tax for me when I am shopping.

George Zohovetz of Henderson is the kind of guy who understands what it means to be a Nevadan. He is an avid outdoorsman who believes in his right to cross any land that surrounds a public fishing stream or lake.

Some large corporate type ranchers in northern Nevada have found George is ready to fight for his right to gain access to public land and waterways. He is well aware of the actions by some ranchers to charge a fee to cross their land to hunt on public land. In fact, some of the ranchers have been charging hunters fees for crossing grazing land owned by the federal government.

The sagebrush rebellion cry to turn the federally controlled land over to the states is being given a cool reception by thinking outdoorsmen like Zohovetz. He has no intention of seeing his birthrights sold out from under him to land speculators, mining and oil companies or corporate ranchers.

In Winnemucca a few weeks ago I discussed George's concerns with some of my hunting buddies. To a man, they agreed the goal of the so-called sagebrush rebels is not in the best interest of hunters, fishermen, hikers, rock hounds and other outdoor types. So the concern about the sagebrush rebellion is on the minds of people all over Nevada and not just in Clark County.

Keep up the good fight, George.

Howard Hill, former NEWS staff writer, has left Washington after more than two years and has found his way back west to Idaho. Howard was the state director of the department of motor vehicles in Carson City for eight years before going to the nation's capitol for a stint.

Word has arrived that he moved to Boise where he has become a bureau chief in the Idaho motor vehicle department. Hill's experience in traffic safety and motor vehicles started 20 years ago when he left the NEWS and set up the first juvenile traffic court for Nevada in the county of Clark.

The City Council Monday night opened the door for additional industrial development in the city by approving the proposal to issue City of Henderson, Nevada Economic Development Bonds for the August Development Project.

According to Kent Dawson of the Henderson Public Improvement Trust, talks have been going on for more than a year with the August Development Company, a California based firm, which intends to build a warehousing, research and development as well as industrial and manufacturing facility at Hillcrest and Lake Mead Blvd. The complex will take in both sides of Hillcrest and the present buildings will be removed.

Once the council approved the bond issue which is not to exceed $7.5 million and Dawson said the developer will now be in a position to obtain a financing commitment. Once August Development obtains the commitment, the Nevada State Board of Finance must approve the purchaser of the bonds.

Construction is scheduled to begin by spring, 1982. Dawson said the August Development firm has submitted financial information to the committee which indicates the company is more than capable of meeting its financial obligation.

In another matter involving the Public Improvement Trust, the council set September 8, at 7 p.m. for a public hearing on the request from American Business Supply for Nevada Economic Development Revenue Bonds not to exceed $1.5 million for construction of their facility.

New Teachers Expand English and Math Departments at Basic

Classes geared to help students prepare for new state competency examinations were required the expansion of both the English and math departments at Basic High School, according to school officials.

According to assistant vice principal Stephan Augsburger, the new courses are designed specifically for competency testing. Schools are required to provide for specific classes for seniors who failed the competency exam as juniors in order to upgrade their skills before the final competency exam is administered before graduation.

Although the new courses are specifically designed to remedy deficiencies found by the test, Augsburger said that the courses "are attacking those skills on the test," and not merely coaching students to pass one certain test.

Six teachers have been added to the English department.

They are Dana Balderston, Nathan Bassing, Karen Harrison, Nancy Mercer and Alice Spencer. Balderston also will teach part-time in the Spanish department.

Jancene Berk and Phil Bombino were added to the math department at Basic High School.

corporations established by the MacDonalds to sell the shares of the corporations controlling the land parcels in Henderson.

According to McKellar, many of the investors had been given deeds to their shares of land and "the validity of these deeds is in question."

The deeds were issued following recording of a map with the Clark County Recorder's Office though Henderson's officials maintain the map and deeds are illegal.

Joan Swift, County Recorder, told the HOME NEWS, "The mere act of recording does not make it a legal document."

McKellar has requested in writing from the City of Henderson, its official position on the recorded map and the deeds issued to the investors and he said he expects the city's answer within two weeks.

The receiver said if the city says the deeds are invalid, he will ask for an opinion from the state of Nevada. All indications from city officials are that Henderson will call the deeds invalid.

In discussing the MacDonald route of "partitioning" the 40 acre parcels instead of "subdividing", McKellar said he had heard of partitioning in the case of probate when a parcel of land was divided among family members, but he questioned partition on a scale involving a total of 900 investors in 1184 individual parcels of land.

"If an investor has a deed to a divided interest in 1/4 acres of land, he would have a right to build on the land and seek utilities from the city," McKellar said.

The land in question, sections 28, 29, 31 and 32, is volcanic, barren desert accessible only by a trail negotiable in four wheel drive vehicles. There is no water, electric, telephone or sewer improvements in the sections and the closest improved areas are at least four miles away.

The HOME NEWS has been discussing this series with the MacDonalds and is awaiting additional information from them on the stories. Once the information is in our hands we will publish their comments.

FLOOD CONTROL CHANNEL--The C-1 flood control project in the area of Pueblo Boulevard and Athens looks impressive. The total contract called for expenditure of $275,000 with $250,000 coming from Clark County and the balance coming from flood control bonds sold several years ago. According to Geoffrey

Billingsley, Director of Public Works, the project is on schedule despite being shut down briefly by a court order recently. "We're nervous about this kind of work during the monsoon season," Billingsley said recently, "but so far the work has been going well."

Little Tina Salazar Coming Out Of Coma

Little Tina Salazar, who went into a coma on May 18 is reported responding nicely to treatment since she started emerging from that coma two weeks ago.

The nine-year-old student at C.T. Sewell Elementary, is the daughter of Ernie and Cathy Salazar.

On that day in May, she had left for school with her brother Mike and friends. At 12:30 she began to feel sick and she called her mother to pick her up. By the time her mother arrived, Tina was having a seizure.

She was rushed by ambulance to Sunrise Hospital and as she was admitted, she was struck with another seizure which turned the situation for the worse. Her heart stopped. It took more than five minutes to start her heart beating again and from that time until just two weeks ago, she was in Pediatric Intensive Care in a comatose condition.

Doctors at Sunrise diagnosed a malformed blood vessel in the back of Tina's brain that ruptured causing her to have seizures, become unconscious and remain in that condition for so long.

Tina's hospital bills, which are substantial, continue to mount and this crisis has been a devastating experience for her family, emotionally and financially.

A trust fund has been established in Tina's behalf at the First Interstate Bank in Henderson. Contributions may be sent to the bank. The trustees are Tina's aunt, Olivia Purdie of Henderson and her aunt and uncle Lanny and Gloria Littlefield of 130 Dogwood, Henderson.

Benzene Leak Monitored by Stauffer

Test wells to monitor thousands of gallons of benzene leaking into the groundwater near the plant, have been started by Stauffer Chemical Co. near Henderson.

The drilling was started after lengthy delays in obtaining government permits.

The chemical company needed permission to drill wells to map the underground spill of 30,000 gallons of the chemical along city right-of-way where a major highway improvement project has been scheduled. Henderson Planning Director Ken Knight said.

Company officials and Henderson officials agreed last week to allow the firm to dig the wells, on condition the drilling doesn't interfere with widening Sunset Road at Boulder Highway, a Regional Transportation Commission Project budgeted at more than $1.1 million.

Seven wells are proposed to find out how far the benzene has traveled in the groundwater. The wells would be dug on the north side of Sunset Road near Foster Avenue.

However, the company needed well permits from the state Division of Environmental Protection and a permit from the county's Air Pollution Control Division for benzene evaporation into the air, Knight said.

"There will be no definite test results until January," Knight said.

The company discovered the solvent leak two years ago and notified the state that the cancer-causing chemical had been found in a monitoring well on the property, about 15 miles south of Las Vegas.

Subsequently, the U.S.

Environmental Protection Agency spent $100,000 to study areawell water and groundwater in the last year, declaring "no imminent health hazard" from the benzene or 25 other organic compounds found in Stauffer's wells.

Many of the toxic chemicals are by-products of pesticides manufactured at Stauffer since 1947. Since that time, many natural soil bacteria have been breaking down the dangerous compounds, state officials said.

Rainbow Club Hosts First Video Poker Tournament

The Rainbow Club in downtown Henderson has announced they will host the first annual World Championship Video Poker Tournament starting with preliminary rounds September 6th and each consecutive Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday thereafter for 9 days.

Finals for all preliminary winners will be on Sunday night, September 27th, with all rounds starting at 8 p.m. at the Rainbow Club. $10,000 in prize money will be awarded to the winners with all preliminary winners receiving $500 in addition to all monies won during the tournament with the eventual champion getting the prize of $5,000 and the runner-up an additional $500. The Rainbow hosts one of the largest amounts of video machines in the State of Nevada, with close to 100 units available. The Rainbow recently purchased close to $2,000,000 of new poker machines from International Game Technology, the undisputed leader in the video field. World Championship Tournament will be played on the 25 cent machines only and any interested contestant can reserve the machine of their choice at the Rainbow Club Cashiers Cage now for any of the preliminary round dates. There will be no entry fee with all players in the preliminary round buying in for $100. with all finalists on September 27th buying in for $500. High hands will be the winners of each round with any ties resulting in a sudden death play off. Any contestant may continue to play after his original buy in is diminished and has until the start of the next round of play or 24 hours from the start of play to match or better any other high hand. All preliminary players as well as finalists will retain all monies won in addition to cash prizes awarded.

Any contestant may play in as many preliminary rounds as he chooses with 60 machines available to be reserved for each round. The dates of the preliminary rounds are on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday or September 6, 7 and 8, September 13, 14, 15, September 20, 21 and 22 with the finals being September 27. The Rainbow Club is at this time negotiating for coverage of the finals to be recorded for the future showing on a national television network.

Only One Citizen Attends Gas Rate Hike Hearing

An unidentified elderly woman was the only member of the general public to attend the Public Service Commission's fact-finding public meeting at City Hall Wednesday morning.

CP National assistant rate engineer Ronald F. Buck presented the gas company's application and gave prepared testimony to explain its contents.

After the meeting was adjourned, the unidentified woman told John Holman, Henderson district manager, that senior citizens were given an impossible task to keep up with all energy increases with only small increases in social security benefits.

At this time CP National will support its application to collect from its Henderson gas customers $55,565 or $.02256 per therm which pertains to its ninth deferred energy adjustment period and to increase its base tariff rates by $.04354 per therm. The application requests that both of these rate changes begin September 1, 1981, with the deferred energy adjustment rate effective up to and including February 28, 1982. The rate changes are required to cover energy costs incurred by CP National on behalf of its Henderson gas customers. These proposed changes will increase the average residential bill of 51 therms from $23.64 at present rates to $26.74 or $3.10 per month. The proposed change represents a 13.1% increase to the average residential customer.

Lyons Hardware is Burglary Victim

Transportation Needed

The Regional Transportation Commission foresees that there will be no local bus service in Henderson - and from Henderson to the Las Vegas area until late 1983. That is two years away, at a minimum.

It is no secret to anyone who lives in Henderson and has no car, that transportation is needed now. The answer to the whole problem is money.

Federal fund cutbacks have meant a reduction in the Economic Opportunity Board's mini-bus service to Henderson.

However, the Las Vegas, Tonopah-Reno stage lines services Henderson with buses seven times a day from the Greyhound depot in Las Vegas to the Townhouse Motel in downtown Henderson. The price is 95 cents one way.

Gail Gilpin, coordinator of the Clark County Transportation Study Policy Committee, said the Henderson bus line will be one of the first routes to be implemented IF a one-quarter-cent sales tax is approved by a vote of the people in November of 1982. It will be one of 17 new routes to be implemented in late 1983 after new buses have been obtained.

Henderson Cooperative

Gilpin admitted that the City of Henderson has been cooperative in providing financial assistance for planning, however, she said they need a provisional trial of service along Boulder Highway. It is expected that the operation will not make money, but it should break even in order to provide service.

Five-year plans call for two buses to serve the Henderson area for 24-hour service. The routes would be adjusted after the service begins and the needs are discerned. Gilpin said most of the calls she has received from the Henderson area are from people on Boulder Highway who need a way to get to work in Las Vegas.

Back To The Legislature

If the referendum in 1982 does not pass and the funds are not available for public transportation then it will be "back to the legislature" in 1983. In the meantime the legislature appointed an interim committee to study and report back to the state's governing body.

Community Development Director Ken Knight says bus service has to be practical, convenient, inexpensive and flexible and implemented soon.

As far as funding is concerned, Knight says it has to be decided whether bus service serves a public good such as sewer, water and roads. If it does, then it must be supported by public funds. There are a few public services which do not pay their own way, and the commitment has to be for everyone, he said.

Knight believes the city has received its fair share in the planning stages of transportation. However, the city has not expended any funds for actual transportation so it has received none.

Knight believes Henderson must have a bus route to connect downtown Henderson with downtown Las Vegas, "but it will take money."

Several years ago Henderson had on the drawing board a "mini-bus" system which would reach every section of Henderson hourly. It was a service which would take people from inside Henderson to other destination points within the city. It would have been ideal for senior citizens who cannot drive to get to the doctor or grocery store, or for youngsters needing to get from one point to another.

Money stopped this project.

It looks like the only solution to Henderson's woes in public transportation is approval of the November 1982 increase in sales tax and the 1983 legislature. Certainly any additional increase in an already high sales tax is distasteful and questionable. In the meantime, city and county officials should be looking for something better than they have now - which is nothing.

America the Draft Evader

Once, not long ago, the government had to face the problem of dealing with draft evaders. Now it seems more concerned with evading a return to the draft.

Confronted with manpower shortages that are likely to grow more severe under plans to expand the armed forces, the Reagan Administration has proposed or is considering a number of economic incentives aimed at attracting and retaining qualified military personnel. One of these, for a 14.3% pay raise, makes sense because it would help the services hold on to the skilled people they are now losing to the civilian sector. A second proposal, likely to go to Congress next year, does not make sense - an idea to grant special college education benefits to those who enlist in the ground combat arms of the Army or the Marine Corps.

The justification for this precedent-setting favoritism in GI education benefits is that volunteers for the Navy or the Air Force often obtain marketable skills during time in the service, while those who enlist in the infantry, artillery or armor corps do not, and so should be specially rewarded.

Considerations of equity are, however, of secondary importance to the Administration's military-manpower planners. Their primary concern is the need to attract to the combat arms young men of higher intellectual qualifications than they have been getting. There is nothing wrong with that goal; the combat arms clearly could use smarter recruits. What is at fault is the discriminatory means proposed to achieve that end, and the attitude behind it that with money and benefits the country can buy all the qualified military personnel it needs.

That attitude is wrong. The shortcomings in personnel quality that the services face will be remedied only when the services are once again able to recruit from a cross section of our society, instead of being forced to rely on the most economically and intellectually disadvantaged segments of that society. That remedy will come only when the nation returns to a system of selective service.

L.A. TIMES

Sunday Is Her Day

Views Of A Minority

Richard Cohen

WASHINGTON--The kid is five, maybe six. When you talk to him, he either looks down or he looks away. He drops his head and stares into the ground and his mother will tell you that he is nothing like his sister. His mother understands right off why they are different. The boy has red hair. It is an affliction.

The boy's hair is orangeish-red. People come up to him just to say something about it. They mention the color and they run their fingers through his hair without asking permission and they call him "carrot-top" and "Red" and they ask him where he got his red hair. The boy shakes his head and looks into the ground, but after a while he will make up a stock answer and hope that it's funny enough to end the conversation - something like "At the store."

The world is full of minorities clamoring for their rights. Even left-handed people are demanding their rights and now I am telling you about redheads. You don't need this, I know, but the fact of the matter is that redheads suffer, red-headed boys anyway. They are the butts of jokes. Boys don't like them often and girls don't like them, either. This is the truth and all redheads know it.

In the movies, for instance, there are no redheaded leading men. There are blond leading men like Robert Redford and there are leading men who are gray, like Jeff Chandler, and, of course, there are plenty who have either black or brown hair - even some who are bald, like Yul Brynner. There are none who are redheaded and only one even comes close - Van Johnson. Arthur Godfrey, Red Skelton, Red Buttons and Lassie, for instance, do not, for obvious reasons, count. It would be better to look like Cary Grant.

The only leading man in all of history who had red hair is the comic book character, Archie. He not only had red hair, he wore bow ties. Nevertheless, he got the girl, the dark-haired and beautiful Veronica. He could have had another girl as well, the blond Betty, but he already had enough on his hands with Veronica. He won her from Reggie who had dark hair. In comic books, where men can fly and animals can talk, this can happen. This does not happen in real life.

In real life, redheaded guys do not get the girl. I know this is true because redheaded guys tell me it's true and the reason I started asking them is that once, in my youth, I was a redhead myself. What is not known is why this is true - what there is about red hair that is smashing on women, less terrific on men. It has to do, I think, with how red hair on men connotes boyishness, but whatever the reason, you will never see a man approach a redheaded kid, run his fingers through his hair and say, "Gee, I wish I had your hair."

Redheaded kids notice this and sometimes they think less of themselves as a result. They already have a problem just because they look different. Being different when you are a kid is never any good. It is not good to be tall or short or skinny or fat or even very smart. It is best to be somewhere in the middle of everything, but that is some place a redhead cannot be. He stands out and he stands out in a way that is no advantage to him. It is not like being tall or strong or smart - differences that can be an advantage. This is like having two heads. It is just short of being a freak and it is that first thing people notice. When they want you they call, "Hey, Red." After a while, a redhead will never acknowledge that kind of greeting.

The little kid with the orangeish-red hair is still very young, but already he knows that being a redhead is something special. I want to kneel, and tell him that it's going to be rough for a while, that people will touse his hair and call him Red and carrot-top and then laugh as if they have said something funny. I want to tell him that he will see the world differently than other people and that, I want to tell him, is good.

Soon it will pass and soon he will even forget that once he was a redheaded boy. It's something you outgrow, and at the moment it's no consolation to the little boy, but at last me and Cary Grant have the same color hair.

We're both gray.

Defense Report AUSA

The children of military families living on government-owned bases find themselves caught in the middle of an annual game of power politics between efforts on the part of several successive administrations to cut financial aid to impacted school districts and the desire of Congress to continue at least part of the support.

For 1982 the Reagan Administration had proposed to eliminate educational aid to school districts in which less than 20 percent of the students resided on military bases. This would have had the effect of cutting off impact aid for most of the schools surrounding military bases. One group in Congress, fighting back at the President for cutting other social programs, would have cut out all impact aid. Another group would have continued impact aid regardless of the size of the military presence. Military families living in base quarters had several anxious months in which to wonder whether their children could expect a free public education next year or whether the involved school districts would be forced to charge tuition because of the loss of impact aid. This anxiety seems to have been relieved by the final budget resolution which would provide adequate federal support.

There are at least three inescapable truths here. First, all children of this nation have a right to public education. Second, the communities adjacent to military bases have the right to expect financial assistance in providing public education for the children

Teachers Concerned Over School Showdown

Citizens of Clark County:

Upon returning from our summer homes on the French Riviera, where we found it virtually impossible to spend all of the money we make as CCSD teachers, we were shocked to learn of the salary dispute brewing in the happy land of CCSD. It was with even greater consternation that we learned of the possible showdown between Trustee Semmons and Superintendent Perkins.

After days of soul searching and brainstorming, we have a proposal we think will solve the financial problems of all district employees for years to come and at the same time put an end to the unfortunate feud between Mr. Semmons and Dr. Perkins. We propose, THE GREAT PARKING LOT DUKE OUT: Our proposal and a few ideas we would like to see incorporated in the final plan follows.

A fifteen round main event fight between Mr. Thomas Semmons and Dr. Claude Perkins sanctioned by the Nevada State Athletic Commission to be held in cooperation with Caesar's Palace at their parking lot stadium on Sept. 15, 1981, at 7 p.m.

In order to assure "Fairness for all," all contracts for the event should be negotiated by CCSD negotiator Charles Silvestri.

KLVX Channel 10 should have exclusive world wide closed circuit television rights for THE DUKE OUT.

Those air traffic controllers not presently on active duty will direct traffic throughout the Las Vegas Valley and handle the parking at Caesar's Palace. President Reagan and PATCO President Poli, after signing no-strike pledges, will be in joint command of this operation.

All CCSD teachers will work at Caesar's Palace the night of the fight as dealers, cocktail waitresses, and Keno runners. We hope this experience will help them understand what, "Being of service to the community," really means.

Appropriate CCSD departments will be responsible for security, food and beverages, transportation, and public relations.

The following individuals will have official responsibilities at the fight itself.

Dr. James H. Lyman - ring physician; Robert Forbuss - ambulance and emergency services; Bob Bovard-referee; Governor Robert List - time keeper; Sue Strand - card girl; Shirley Holst, Virginia Brooks Brewster, Donald R. Faiss, and Lucille Lusk - judges.

There will be a benefit concert, hopefully starring illustrious UNLV alumnus Dr. Frank Sinatra, immediately following the bout.

All net proceeds emanating from Caesar's Palace on the night of Sept. 15, 1981, will be donated to CCSD to be used to insure adequate salaries for all employees.

This fight, between the Superintendent and a Trustee, should become a bi-annual event mandated by state law. All proceeds should be used to pay employees salaries so that tax money could be utilized for more important CCSD "priorities."

We feel that with the cooperation always in evidence between CCSD and its employees, THE GREAT PARKING LOT DUKE OUT will be a resounding success, a real morale booster, and a boon to community unity.

Concern Over Watt

Dear Jim:

As you know, the Humane Society of Southern Nevada represents many of your constituents in the Southern Nevada area. I'm writing to you to express my concern over the policies being expressed by Secretary of the Interior, James Watt.

Since his appointment he has consistently denounced the expressed wishes of the American People about the use of the Public Lands and the environmental protections we all enjoy. His stand on critical issues threatens to stamp out everything that the people have achieved over the past 20 years.

I strongly urge you to oppose Secretary Watt's outrageous proposals that favor private economic interests. Please oppose:

The resumption of the importation of millions of threatened kangaroo skins from Australia.

The opening of marine sanctuaries, wildlife refuges and other areas set aside as public wildlife areas from being exploited for oil and mineral production.

The resumed use of the deadly and indiscriminate chemical poison 1080 for predator control.

The wholesale destruction of Nevada's Wild Horse population.

Please, in the interest of all of us, don't allow Mr. Watt's actions to destroy what we have worked so hard to achieve. Jim, James Watt is bad for Nevada and bad for the country.

Sincerely,
Dart Anthony

Mission Hills People Say Thanks

An open letter to the City Council of Henderson, NV.

On behalf of the property owners and residents of Mission Hills subdivision we wish to thank you very much for the positive action you have taken in regard to the needs and concerns of our area.

It is most reassuring in today's world of unpersonalized government to know that an individual's opinions and needs can be voiced and heard. We have all selected Mission Hills for the lifestyle it permits us in a rapid growing valley. Your concern and the demonstration of your vote will permit us to maintain a way of life we have chosen, for this we are grateful.

An extra thank you must go to our council representative - Kent Anderson - for the time he spent to hear our concerns, seek opinions and answers and represent us to the city.

The residents of Henderson should feel good to know that the individuals they have voted to represent them do listen and care. Again thank you.

Sincerely,
Jack M. Foreman

Seniors Can Work

Senior Citizens Employment Service invites you to take advantage of its many benefits.

The 55 and over have much to offer you:

Dedication
Reliability
Punctuality
Expertise
Loyalty

Free to both employer and employee, SCES has provided Clark County with full and part-time workers for more than 10 years.

Job-sharing is gaining in popularity throughout the United States. It splits an 8-hour shift into two 4-hour shifts, thus providing a fresh employee every four hours. It is a proven fact that the first four hours of labor are more productive than the last four.

Won't you join the growing number of employers who recognize the senior as a valuable resource? We will be happy to provide you with a senior employment program tailored specifically to your needs.

Sincerely,
Ken Hehr

Defending LeRoy Zike

Dear Editor,

On the issue of LeRoy Zike and Lorna Kesterson, I as one citizen of Henderson feel that Mayor Zike is being given an unfair deal.

Some people feel that Major Zike's diplomacy isn't quite up to par but do they feel that the spouse of a councilwoman taking physical abuse against the mayor is diplomatic?

for many years and have never met a man that was more honest or more concerned about Henderson than he.

Mayor Zike must have some good qualities or he wouldn't have won the election. Anyone that is brand new in a job can have a few ups and downs. Please give this man a chance.

Sincerely,
A Friend of Major Zike

Timet Fined $4000 for Pollution Violation

Titanium Metals Corp. of America was fined $4,000 by the Air Pollution Control Board at its Aug. 12 meeting for violating the air standards in Henderson.

Timet will be required to increase the quantity of soda ash placed in settling ponds near Pittman from 60 tons to 90 tons to eliminate possible air contamination.

If for any reason this cannot be done within the two week period there will be a special meeting called by the air pollution board to assess the efforts being made by Timet and decide on further action that may be required to abate the odor problem.

The board indicated extreme measures may be imposed if the meeting is necessary.

Judith Eaton Accountable

For some strange reason Mr. O'Callaghan believes that citizens of Henderson who express their views on a bad decision are simply being "petty" or "political." Further, his attacks on Bucky Buchanan for representing the people who elected him are neither accurate or fair.

By what divine right has Mr. O'Callaghan decided that every decision made by Judith Eaton is totally correct, not subject to any form of public accountability, and that any disagreement concerning these decisions is a "petty grievance" and "nitpicking"?

He would ask us to put any disagreement aside and get on with the future. May I respectfully ask who is continually putting this in the forefront by using editorial space in the Home News.

Sincerely,
Michael F. Stern

Proclamation

WHEREAS, BETTY SCOTT began teaching Community College Classes in Henderson in 1972 and by 1973 had brought Community College accreditation to the Henderson Classes, and

WHEREAS, in 1973 the Community College in Henderson served 85 students using temporary and borrowed facilities and even though the classes were spread throughout the City of Henderson by Academic Year 1980-81 the Henderson Campus was serving over 3,100 students, and

WHEREAS, during the initial period of formation, Betty Scott served as sole director, teacher, publicist, speaker, counselor, personnel recruiter and sometimes janitor, for a period of 9 years from 1972-1981, and during this period, Betty Scott achieved two Masters Degrees in order to maintain the academic and administrative status of the Henderson College, and

WHEREAS, in 1973 Betty Scott recruited ten part-time faculty, by Academic year 1980-81 she had increased the faculty to 140, and spearheaded the community toward the goal of building the new campus, prepared the educational specifications under the directive of the Board of Regents and the Governor of the State of Nevada and also assisted in site selection which resulted in the acquisition of 79 acres of land from the City of Henderson for the proposed Henderson Campus in 1979, and

WHEREAS, Betty Scott designed the curriculum objectives and outline of classes to be taught, keeping in mind at all times the vocational and academic needs of the students who would be attending the Henderson Campus up to 1985, and assisting in the architectural design in order to meet those vocational and academic needs, and

WHEREAS, Betty Scott served on the Clark County Community College accreditation team from 1979-80, the Administrative Council of the Clark County Community College, Outstanding Woman of the Year in America in 1977, Outstanding Member of the Henderson Chamber of Commerce in 1980 and served as president of the Soroptimist International Club in Henderson.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that Betty Scott has proved herself a very dedicated and qualified educator and administrator; demonstrating her ability to perform and accomplish the goal of bringing a Community College to Henderson even though faced with almost impossible conditions, and THEREFORE, I LeRoy Zike, Mayor of the City of Henderson, on behalf of the Council and Citizens, do hereby declare Sunday, August 23, 1981, "BETTY SCOTT DAY", and do encourage all the Citizens of Henderson to acknowledge their appreciation to Betty Scott for her dedication, hard work and unconquerable spirit, by attending the reception to be held at the St. Peter's Complex.

of families living in tax-exempt government housing. Military families living within civilian communities, after all, pay taxes for public services, either directly through home ownership or indirectly through rent payments. Finally, each time impact aid is imperiled and the threat of tuition payments faces military families there is understandable damage to morale. In most instances, the tuition planned by the various school districts has been far in excess of the military families' ability to pay.

If we are to retain the fully-trained career service members we need so badly we must eliminate these recurring uncertainties. Once and for all, there should be public recognition that the children of military families living on government bases will be supported by the federal government they serve.

Can you name the woman who played for the New York Rangers, New York Knicks and Brooklyn Dodgers in one season? She was Gladys Gooding. She played the organ.

Trumbos Sell Hairitage to Ballards

Walt and Lana Ballard have purchased the Hairitage Styling Parlor from Kirby and Sandy Trumbo and a grand opening is being planned for the future.

The Hairitage beauty shop was started six years ago on Water Street, then moved to Atlantic Street where it is now located.

Mrs. Trumbo will continue to work at the shop. Other operators who will continue working there besides Lana, include Diane Covington, Joann Kersey, Sammy Jo Welch, Anna Brezette, Wendy Supanik.

The shop will continue the regular hours of 9-6 Tuesday through Saturday. A new floor will replace the former floor and the shop will continue to feature the antique furniture as it has previously.

Lana has lived in Henderson for 25 years. She has been a beauty operator for the past ten years. She graduated from Basic High School and Vocational-Technical School. She has two daughters.

They will feature permanents, cuts, shampoo and set, colors and other beauty shop features. They will have an opening family rate and an opening special of hair cuts for $3.50 off and permanents $5 off.

Married—Kaylene Anderson was wed recently to Ronald Artenian.

Kaylene Anderson Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson are pleased to announce the marriage of their daughter Kaylene to Ronald Artenian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aram Artenian.

The wedding and reception were held recently in Las Vegas. Attending the bride as Maid of Honor was Kathy LaBlanc. Serving as Best Man to the groom was Augustine Bustos.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Hawaii, and are now making their home in Arlington, Texas, where Ron will be managing a restaurant.

Stacey Blake Married To Christopher Angle

Stacey Ann Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blake of Henderson was married in Las Vegas, to Christopher David Angle, son of Polly Bustamonte of Henderson and Herb Angle of Denver, Colorado. A reception in Henderson was held at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Greg Genes. A beautiful buffet was served around a pool setting. Out of town guests were Sybil Jensen of Winslow, Ariz., grandmother of the groom, and George McGuire of Flagstaff, Arizona.

Karen Giles Joins Pre-School Staff

Henderson Pre-School, Inc. is pleased to announce that Karen Giles has accepted an offer to join their teaching staff. She will be replacing Natalie Wilke who is leaving to accept a full time teaching position with the Clark County School District. Karen is a native of Henderson and attended local schools.

She is married to Howard Giles and they have one son, Howard Jr. who is eight years old. Karen attended Oklahoma Baptist University and UNLV and has a certificate from St. Nicholas Training Centre for the Montessori Method of Education. She has been working with the staff for one year as a substitute. She also taught pre-school for Griffith Methodist Church for two years.

Sillitoe, Ruth Named to Planning Commission

One commissioner was returned to the planning commission Monday night and two new appointees were made to fill a vacancy and an expired term.

Mary Roberts, whose term expired at the end of July was returned to her seat on the planning commission.

Russell Sillitoe and Paul

Ruth were appointed to the commission, but no decision was made as to which of the two will fill the seat vacated by the defection of Hoss Melton and the seat vacated by the expiration of Gilbert Valdez's term.

Melton resigned from the planning commission.

The nomination of Sillitoe was made by Councilman

Lorna Kesterson and the nomination of Roberts and Ruth was made by Councilman Cloyd Lovitt. The council's appointment of the nominees was unanimous.

The council also unanimously approved the appointment of Carole DePue to the vacant seat on the Public Improvement Trust.

Guest Minister at First Baptist

First Baptist Church again welcomes the Reverend John Dan as guest speaker this Sunday, August 23, at the 11 a.m. Worship Service.

Rev. Dan is a Navy Veteran, a former Pastor of Homesite Baptist Church in Las Vegas, and, after special training in counseling, is now serving on the staff of the Las Vegas Mental Health Clinic.

The First Baptist Church congregation always appreciates and enjoys the ministry of Rev. Dan, and they invite you to worship with them this Sunday. The church is located at 47 East Atlantic Avenue, Henderson.

Sunday School classes begin at 9:30 a.m. Beginners Church time is held during the 11 a.m. Worship Hour. Beginners Church time is for children 3 years of age through Kindergarten, with Judy Watson and Amy Watson as leaders for the month of August.

Jean Stapleton (All in the Family) said, "The truly liberated woman is a female who gets great satisfaction from the love of her husband, her children and her fellowman. Any woman who doesn't have to compete against a man and beat him to feel she is his equal has already been liberated."

LAST WEEK'S STORM

We got excited when the window awning was blown off our neighbor's home. Others had more serious worries during and after that storm last week. Bill and Vernell Walker and Bette Stearman (among many) worried about family who now live in the Overton, Logandale area. Von and Susie Evans turned off the power to prevent fire and retreated to higher ground to watch the flood waters cross their place. It filled their basement and left a muddy mess. Earl Evans and family were lucky that it sort of missed their place but Earl was busy along with neighbors trying to help others not so fortunate and Sandy (Stearman) Fredrichs who now lives on the Taylor ranch out by Moapa and had no phone worried her folks and husband for awhile until they could hear from her.

Later during the week many of Henderson's men volunteered and spent some long hours moving mud and debris at Logandale. There were some sore muscles but satisfied men who came home.

VACATION

Jeanne and Steve Christensen and their family, Dan, Todd, Jill and Julie had a super vacation to the San Francisco area. They attended a family reunion (Hall) with headquarters at a beautiful camp area above Santa Cruz, California. There were activities planned so that they were busy every minute. One day was devoted to touring San Francisco in buses and another day was spent at the beaches enjoying the ocean. They really had a special time (had to come home to catch up on the rest).

DOUBLE CELEBRATION

There will be a double celebration in the Lamb household on Sunday, August 23rd. On that day they will celebrate Louise Lamb's birthday and also she and Burnell will commemorate their wedding anniversary. Congratulations to the Lamb's.

HOME FROM UTAH VACATION

Kelly Eves traveled to Hunter, Utah (near the state's capitol) to pick up the "Missus." She's been there in the north of Utah for a couple of weeks visiting with her folks.

WEEK-END VISITOR

Gloria (Slack) Gifford and children was a recent visitor to her "Home town." They are now living in Salt Lake City, Utah. Her mom and dad, Francis and Edgar Slack still live here and a couple of sisters Wendy Frehner and Kathy Danise, too. Somehow, when you don't see folks for awhile you expect them to look just the same ... not so!!! Gloria's family is really growing and it was a surprise to see little Angela now a quite grown-up young lady.

Henderson - graduates of Basic High School and all that. Heard from Ronald Pugh who graduated way back in 1964 (way back?) He is now an optometrist and living with wife and family in Spanish Fork, Utah.

FROM FAR AWAY

Australia is an awfully long way from Henderson but was brought closer with word from Nancy (Jones) Benys who is now living on the big continent "down under." Nancy and husband Gin live in Canberra, a beautiful, well planned city. Since it is the capitol there are impressive parliament building and foreign embassies with all of that government activity. Gin is working on the financial level at the Australian National University and really enjoys his work. Nancy took a little while to acclimatize and work out her homesickness but is now a busy housewife and doing a lot of community and social work. Her latest work involved helping to raise funds for the area handicapped children. It is great to hear from one-time Henderson folks. Know that Nancy's parents, Nellie Rae and Dr. Stan Jones are happy she is adjusting and happy in her new home (even if they miss her a lot.)

SCOUT CAMP

Last Saturday morning a large group of young men (and what age is young?) left Henderson for a wilderness Boy Scout camp high in the mountains above Mayfield, Utah. Trucks and autos loaded with sleeping bags, food, clothing, utensils and more food and most important men and boys nosed across the Vegas Valley and the atmosphere was almost alive with human excitement and anticipation.

All of this was the end result of months of planning and careful consideration (many there were veterans of two previous years.) Moms and wives at home sighed with relief, then discovered that extra pair of socks, a canteen or bottle of insect repellent tucked under the edge of a bed ("what will he do without that?")

A special, illustrated book could be written on the great experiences, the sorrows, the adventures, etc. at this week-long camp. Who will forget the terror of the sound of an angry rattlesnake on an ebony night trail; the joy of riding a great horse across a mountain meadow; the thrill of brothers winning a canoe race; the contentment tired men and boys, well fed, around a large camp fire; the discomfort of dripping clothes and wet beds after an early morning down pour - yet, who will forget? Not many.

The boys, who were instructed in camping and many phases of scouting, achieved many merit badges, etc. and will receive them at a special Court of Honor. (It is a real accomplishment to pass a swimming merit badge in freezing water!) The twelve and twenty-five boys who were at camp could well say amen to a wonderful time being had by all. It was Ashley Montagu who said, "When men abandon the upbringing of their children to their wives, a loss is suffered by everyone, but perhaps most of all by themselves. For what they lose is the possibility of growth in themselves for being human which the stimulation of bring up one's children gives." And it is for sure, those 12 men (some fathers, some not) were stimulated and achieved a lot of growth, spiritual and otherwise, with those 25 young men.

A list of the campers are:

Boys - Rick Bennett, Scott Bennett, Robbie Taylor, Ronald Taylor, Rodrick Taylor, Loren Wolfe, Bruce Klienman, Bryan Klienman, Steven Hall, David Hall, Chad Dickinson, David Danise, Lee Huffington, Roy Huffington, Jimmy Hafen, Jeff Swartzlander, Daren Swartzlander, David Munford, DiLynn Munford, Dwight Littlefield, Kenny Whitehead, Shannon Anderson, Scott Atkinson, Rich Walker, David Tharp.

GRANDCHILDREN

Mary and Rick Knappenberger have been enjoying the company of some of their grandchildren who have been visiting them from Texas. They are the children of their son Neil Knappenberger.

GUARD

The recent floods and fires over the state were the reasons for calling out some of the National Guardsmen last week. Ron Phillips had to don that uniform (work ones) to report to duty. Family is glad to have him home again.

ANSWER

It is our own PALMA BLACK (and she's serious about it, too). Palma had her grandchildren from the Sacramento, Calif. area for a short vacation. Her house is quiet this week for some reason.

LIBERTY

"Liberty is to the collective body, what health is to every individual body. Without health no pleasure can be tasted by man; without liberty, no happiness can be enjoyed by society." (Bolingbroke)

Guys and Dolls Win

Coed Softball League Begins New Season

The Henderson Parks and Recreation Department's 1981 coed softball league began the season Tuesday night with Guys and Dolls edging out the tough Meyers Street Gang 3-1 while Todd's and Shiloh battled to a 9-9 tie in the early game.

Guys and Dolls scored three runs in the top of the third after Meyer's team scored one in the bottom of the second. That was all the scoring in the game as Guys and Dolls shutdown the Meyer's offense.

In the earlier game Shiloh jumped out to an early lead with three runs in the bottom of the first and one more in both the third and fourth innings.

But Todd's came back by scoring in three straight innings with two runs in the third, one in the fourth and two more in the fifth to take a 6-5 lead.

Todd's scored three runs in the top of the seventh to seal the game or so they thought. Shiloh rallied for four runs in the bottom of the inning before Todd's could retire the side. As time ran out the game ended in a tie.

In Thursday's games the P.M. Spoilers meet the Guys and Gals and Forever Waiting on First hosts the vaunted Life, Be in It.

All games will be played at Wells Park in Pittman. Starting times are 7 p.m. for the early game and 8:15 p.m. for the nightcap.

For those interested in joining one of the nine teams in the league, new players may be added for the first two weeks of the season. No new players may be added after August 27.

Recreation department officials were pleased at the turnout for this season's coed league. They said the league almost had doubled since last year.

Football Squads Complete 'Run Week'

RUN WEEK UNDERWAY—Run Week began Monday with football hopefuls participating in agility drills and stretching exercises to prepare for the upcoming football season. In the photo on the left the junior varsity warms up in morning practices under the supervision of head coach Rich Whitehead and coach Frank Hester. In the photo on the right new line coach John Wise runs junior varsity linemen through the four-point drill. Two-a-days begin Monday and the Wolves play their first game at Bonanza on September 11.

FROM CURTIS'S CORNER

BY JOEY CURTIS

A big -- no make that BIG -- boxing weekend coming up. On Friday the 21st it's Don King's "Battle of the Little Giants" at Caesars Palace -- undefeated WBC super bantamweight champion Wilfredo Gomez challenging the WBC featherweight king Salvador Sanchez.

Then on Saturday the 22nd it's Rocky Lockridge against Juan LaPorte for the United States Boxing Association featherweight title at the Showboat.

A big week for the little fellas. But also on that Saturday card at the 'Boat is a big guy -- undefeated heavyweight Marvis Frazier, son of former world heavyweight champ "Smokin" Joe Frazier.

As for the undercard of Gomez-Sanchez, King's Director of Boxing Bobby Goodman has put together some real action bouts. They include former Top Contender Monroe Brooks against double tough German Cuello in a 10 round junior welterweight battle, undefeated middleweight Mark Holmes (Larry's brother) against Fred Reed in another 10 round war, James "The Heat" Kinchen in a 10 round middleweight clash, and world-ranked Juan "Kid" Mesa in a 10-round super bantamweight scuffle.

There's no real favorite in the Gomez-Sanchez fight, although Gomez is the slight betting pick. There's a couple "school of thoughts" about the 15-rounder. One is that Gomez is too good a puncher and will put too much pressure on Sanchez. Another is that Sanchez is such a fine counter-puncher and has the height and reach advantage that he'll be able to hold off Gomez. Then a third is the "moving up" theory. Four pounds (122 to 126) means a lot when you're that light. Almost everyone figured Carlos Zarate would beat Gomez when he moved to from the 118-pound class for their fight, but Gomez won by KO. Now the "shoe is on the other foot" and it's Gomez moving up to meet Sanchez. Will the theory hold true?

Gomez-Sanchez is a closed circuit fight. The doors to Caesars Palace Sports Pavilion open around 5 p.m. with the first fight at about 5:30. The big main event goes off near 7.

Down at the 'Boat it's a battle between two guys who have tried for the top but just missed. Lockridge dropped a controversial decision to WBA featherweight champ Eusebio Pedroza last October while LaPorte dropped a decision to Sanchez in December. Both Lockridge and LaPorte gave good accounts of themselves in those fights. Their rankings indicate that. Lockridge is number 2 in the WBA and Number 3 in the WBC. LaPorte is Number 5 in the WBC. As for records Lockridge is 20-1 and LaPorte is 17-2. It should be a real good fight between two evenly matched contenders. Bob Arum will be able to be proud of this one.

The Lockridge-LaPorte card starts at 12:30 p.m. in the Showboat Pavilion and the doors open at 12 noon. Tickets are more than reasonably priced at $20 and $10 -- a real bargain. The 12-round Lockridge-LaPorte main will be televised by CBS but blacked out in Las Vegas.

Congratulations to Marvin Camel and condolences to Willie "The Cannon" Shannon. Marvin KOed Willie last week on Tony Trudnich's farewell card at the Showboat. The fight looked good on paper going in and was even better in the ring. Camel, the WBC's former cruiserweight champion, landed a wild left and cooled "The Cannon", an up-and-coming prospect. The funny thing is that Shannon was ready to take charge of the fight until that one shot hit him. Marvin's now in line for another world title shot, but don't count Willie out. He's good and I'm sure he'll come back stronger than ever.

I'm sure because Willie was a perfect gentleman after the loss. He didn't make excuses. He praised Marvin and said the better man that night won. Willie showed real class in losing, something I don't think he'll have to do too often in the future!

As for it being Trudnich's last card at the Showboat -- and in Las Vegas for a while -- the town needs his always exciting and top-notch fight cards and they'll be missed. Tony's had some trouble finding a "home" here for his monthly cards and he'll be at Caesars Tahoe for the next three months. Here's hoping somebody's in a position of authority at one of the big Strip hotels is shrewd enough to see what a fine promoter Tony is and sign him up! His shows have been too good for too many years not to have around any longer!

Finally, the local VBA Ring 711 will have another "Night of Stars", with the old timers returning to boxing. Such ring stars as "The Raging Bull", Jake Lamada, Sugar Ray Lenard, old time foe. Other greats like Gene Fullmer, Charlie Faser, the Everington Meek Man, the former great lightweight champion of the world, Joey Maxim, the "KOKO Kid" himself from the Bean town Tony De Marco and such others like Art Aragon, Al Siciliano, the fighting De Johns, Mike and Joey, who will be knocking someone's brains out that night. They are two well loving beltlers. Rocky Branowski and Joey Pace will also be there.

It will be a gala event September 17th in the Frontier Hotel's Americana Room. More details on this gala, always exciting and fun evening next week.

NEW BOOK: 'Super-The Raiders in their Finest Hour'

For three memorable decades the Oakland Raiders have totally dominated professional football in terms of consistent victory. The Raiders - pro football's winningest team - now again stand at the very top as World Champions.

During these decades of destiny the Raiders have had some of the greatest players and greatest coaches and been involved in some of the greatest plays and greatest games in sports history.

Much has been accomplished since 1963 when Al Davis first pledged to build the Raiders into the finest organization in sports. In these memorable 18 years the Raiders have won the Division Championships, been in the Playoffs 11 times and won an American Football League Championship, American Football Conference Championships, and two World Championships of Professional Football. The Raiders winning percentage during this challenging period stands at an incredible .725 with 179 wins, 11 ties and only 68 losses.

Now the magnificent 1980 season of the Oakland Raiders, culminated by the victory in Super Bowl XV, comes into sharp focus again with the publication in August of SUPER!, a step-by-step review of the march to the World Championship.

The handsome book, in hard cover, encompasses 90,000 words of pulsating action, including vignettes of the starting players. It features 24 pages of color photographs, 125 photographs in black and white, and 10 illustrations. The pictures, emphasizing high points on the field, were taken by an outstanding corps of sports photographers working directly with the Raiders.

The volume opens with a foreword by Al Davis, Raider Managing General Partner, stressing that the "1980 season was truly our finest hour."

"This team and its players," wrote Davis, "were amazing when you stop to analyze what they accomplished. Their performance in the playoffs and the Super Bowl was, under the conditions, the greatest in National Football League history."

Seven of the leading football writers in the Bay Area contributed to the text, edited by syndicated columnist Murray Olderman. These writers were C.W. Nevius (San Francisco Chronicle), Terry

Moore and Frank Cooney (San Francisco Examiner), Ron Borges (Oakland Tribune), Dave Payne (San Jose Mercury), Win Currier (Alameda Times-Star) and Dave Beronio (Vallejo Independent Press). In addition to the 1980 season, the book covers the history of the Raiders, the building of their winning philosophy and the organization behind them.

But SUPER! is not a prosaic recital of facts. It brings alive the vital and interesting cast, starting with Coach Tom Flores and his staff, which contributed to the success of the Raiders, "Professional Football's Winningest Team."

"SUPER - The Raiders in their Finest Hour" will be available in leading bookstores and through the Oakland Raiders.

Henderson Parks & Recreation Department's Civic Center will have an expanded schedule of Creative Art classes for adults this fall. All classes are taught by qualified instructors. We will offer classes in cake decorating, macrame, crochet, Christmas stitchery, and flower arranging. There will also be a wide variety of painting and drawing classes.

In the area of tole and decorative painting, there will be two tole art classes, and beginning, advanced beginning, and advanced tole classes. Classes will also be offered in oil painting, acrylic painting and water colors. If more of these catch your eye, we will also have several drawing classes, a multi-media class, photography, and an art appreciation class. So as you can see there will be something for everyone. Classes are inexpensive and well worth your time at the Henderson Parks & Recreation Department's Civic Center. Registration starts Saturday, September 12, at the Civic Center Gym. For further information call the Civic Center at 565-2121. See you there.

H - Aug. 20, 27, 1981

(Form of Notice)

NOTICE OF HEARING ON A PROPOSED STREET PROJECT, AND ASSESSMENTS WITHIN THE PROPOSED HENDERSON, NEVADA LOCAL IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. 512 (SUNSET ROAD)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the property owners within the proposed City of Henderson, Nevada, Local Improvement District No. 512 (Sunset Road) (herein "District") and to all interested persons that:

The City Council (herein "Council") of the City of Henderson (herein "City") in the County of Clark and the State of Nevada, has provisionally ordered the acquisition of a Street Project (herein the "Project") more particularly described below. The boundaries of the proposed District, which include the location of the Street Project and the tracts to be assessed, shall be the exterior boundaries of those parcels abutting that portion of the following streets in and along which the improvements, together with street intersections, are to be made and acquired:

(1) Sunset Road (both sides) from the intersection of U.S. Highway 93-95 (Boulder Highway) east along Sunset Road to the center right-of-way line of Haren Drive (67 feet of pavement).

(2) Burns Road (both sides) from the center right-of-way line of Sunset Road north along Burns Road to a point 799.10 feet north (67 feet of pavement).

Such street project is to be acquired and improved in connection with the construction of the City of Henderson with funds from the Clark County Regional Transportation Commission for the improvements to Sunset Road and Burns Road. Such construction work to be accomplished under the cooperative construction provisions of NRS 271.345.

Except as shown on the preliminary plans now on file in the office of the City Clerk, the office of the County Engineering Department, and the office of the City of Henderson Public Works Department, the character of such improvements shall be described more particularly as follows:

(A) The construction of travel lanes and parking lanes along Sunset Road and Burns Road (between the terminal specified above), including all necessary street center median islands (traffic separators), and center left turn lanes, to consist of the excavation, embankment and compaction of street subgrade, the spreading and compaction of a Type II gravel base, and the construction on such base of a five inch asphalt concrete pavement, together with all necessary excavation, filling, grading, regrading, shaping, draining, and installation of concrete valley gutters, and all appurtenances necessary and incidental to the improvements.

(B) The construction and installation of 24 inch concrete "L" type curb and gutter, if not already existing, along the streets specified above, (between the terminal specified above), to conform to the City standards.

(C) The construction and installation of concrete sidewalks 6 feet in width, if not already existing, along the streets specified above (between the terminal specified above), to conform to City Standards.

(D) The construction and installation of driveway approaches (both commercial and residential) along the streets specified above, where required.

(E) The construction, acquisition and installation of artificial street lights and lighting equipment along the streets specified above (between the terminal specified above), by the installation of lighting standards located in the street center medians, at appropriate intervals. The street lighting portion of the street project shall include all necessary lighting equipment, wiring, conduits, service points, and all necessary appurtenances. All wiring shall be underground.

The preliminary estimated total cost of the Project and the amount to be assessed shall be as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Total Cost, Estimated Amount of Special Assessments, Amount Available From Other Sources. Values: $1,120,320, $416,999.56, $703,322.44

The Street Project described above is to be constructed and acquired by the City at an estimated cost of $1,120,320 over fifty percent (50%) of such costs ($416,999.56) will be paid with City funds derived from the Clark County Regional Transportation Commission (as well as other City funds), and special assessments in the amount of $416,999.56 will be levied to defray the remainder of such costs.

The amounts to be assessed for the Street Project will be levied upon all tracts in the District, i.e., upon all abutting tracts in proportion to the special benefits derived and on a front foot (a frontage) basis; provided that an equitable adjustment will be made for assessments levied against wedge or V or other irregularly shaped lots or lands, or against any tract or parcel not specially benefited for other reasons in direct proportion to its frontage so that the assessments according to benefits are equal and uniform. The portion of the costs to be assessed against, and the maximum amount of benefits estimated to be conferred upon, each piece or parcel of property in the District is stated in the assessment plat. In cases of wedge or V or other irregularly shaped tracts, the amount apportioned thereto shall be in proportion to the special benefits thereby derived.

The boundaries of the District shall be the exterior boundary of each parcel of property abutting and adjacent to the streets described above, i.e., the streets to be improved by the street improvements and the Street Project (except that parcels abutting Sunset Road on the south side between Ward Drive and Moser Drive are not included).

All persons interested are hereby advised that the preliminary plans and specifications (showing typical section of the contemplated improvements) and the assessment plat including the preliminary assessment roll; a preliminary estimate of the total cost of the Street Project; a description of the property and tracts to be assessed; and the amount of maximum benefits estimated to be conferred on each piece or parcel of property, the Engineer's report as to the method of determining benefits, the preliminary plans and specifications and a map of the District, and all proceedings in the premises, are on file in the office of the City Public Works Department, and at the Office of the City Clerk, and can be seen and examined by any property owner, or other interested persons, during regular business hours.

There will be substantial grade or elevation changes in connection with the acquisition of the Street Project, such grade changes are as shown on the preliminary plans and specifications which relate to the details of the Street Project to which all persons are hereby referred. In addition, all persons interested are hereby referred to the preliminary plans and specifications which relate to the details of the Street Project.

On Tuesday, September 8, 1981, at 7:00 p.m., at the Council Chambers, in the City Hall in Henderson, 243 Water Street, Henderson, Nevada, the City Council will consider the ordering of the proposed Street Project and will hear all complaints, protests and objections that may be made in writing and filed as hereafter provided or verbally at the hearing, concerning the same, by the owner of any tract to be assessed or any person interested. The owners of the property to be assessed, or any other person interested therein, may appear before the Council and be heard as to the propriety and advisability of acquiring and improving such Street Project, as to the estimated cost thereof, as to the manner of payment thereof, and as to the amount thereof to be assessed against each tract in the District.

The City Council requests that any property owner or interested person wishing to make protest or objection, make such protest or objection in writing at the office of the City Clerk at least three (3) days before the time set for such hearing, i.e., on or before September 4, 1981. On the date and the place fixed for such hearing, any and all property owners interested in the Project may, by written complaint, protest or objection, present their views to the Council, or present them orally, and the Council may adjourn the hearing from time to time. Any person filing a written protest or objection as hereinabove provided shall have the right within thirty (30) days after the Council has finally passed on such protest or objection to commence an action or suit in any court of competent jurisdiction to correct or set aside such determination, but thereafter all actions or suits attacking the validity of the proceedings and the amount of benefits shall be perpetually barred.

The City Council has determined that the City shall pay one-half or more of the total cost of the Street Project with funds derived from other than the levy of special assessments and accordingly intends to take advantage of the exception stated in subparagraph 1 of paragraph b of subsection 7 of NRS 271.345.

After such hearing, said Council shall determine the advisability of undertaking the Street Project, and, if it determines to proceed, shall determine the kind and character of such improvements to be made, and shall authorize the Public Works Department of the City to advertise for bids for the doing of such work and the furnishing of all necessary materials with the lowest responsible bidder or bidders.

After the determination of the actual cost of the Street Project, assessments shall be levied in accordance with the laws of the State of Nevada. In no event shall the assessments exceed the

LEGAL NOTICE VACATION OF RIGHT-OF-WAY

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a petition has been filed with the Clerk of the Council of the City of Henderson, Nevada, requesting the vacation of:
A drainage easement eighty feet in width, lying parallel and adjacent to Major Avenue.

THE PETITIONER, Lewis Manor Apartments, A Nevada Limited Partnership, has requested this vacation to prevent encroachment of Lewis Manor Apartments, Buildings 1, 2, & 3 on an existing storm drain easement. The owners intend to dedicate an easement twenty feet in width along the southerly property line and has installed a storm drain pipe in this area as part of the development.

A PUBLIC HEARING on the said vacation will be held on Tuesday, September 8, 1981, at the hour of 7:00 P.M. or as soon thereafter as practicable, in the Council Chamber at City Hall, 243 Water Street, in the City of Henderson, County of Clark, Nevada.

IF, UPON SUCH HEARING, the City Council of said City of Henderson be satisfied that the public will not be materially injured by such proposed vacation, the above-described right-of-way will be vacated.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to an order made by the City Council of the City of Henderson, Nevada, at an Adjourned Meeting, held August 18, 1981.

DATED this 18th day of August, 1981 and PUBLISHED IN THE HENDERSON HOME NEWS, August 20 and 27th, 1981.
POSTED: RIGHT-OF-WAY AT EACH END OF EASEMENT TO BE VACATED August 17, 1981.

LEGAL NOTICE

(Form of Notice)
NOTICE OF INTENTION TO ISSUE CITY OF HENDERSON, NEVADA ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT REVENUE BONDS AMERICAN BUSINESS SUPPLY, INC.

The City Council of the City of Henderson, Nevada, will meet on September 8, 1981, at the City Hall in Henderson, Nevada, at 7:00 P.M., for the purpose of conducting a public hearing on the proposal to issue the City of Henderson, Nevada Economic Development Revenue Bonds (American Business Supply, Inc. Project) in one or more series in an aggregate principal amount presently estimated not to exceed $1,500,000 for the purpose of defraying the cost, to that amount, of acquiring land, buildings and equipment to be used by American Business Supply, Inc. (or a wholly owned subsidiary thereof) to be used in connection with the company's warehousing, marketing and distribution of business supply products.

The bonds, when issued, will be special, limited obligations of the City. The principal of and interest on the bonds shall be payable solely out of the revenues derived from a lease agreement, agreement of sale or financing agreement between the City and American Business Supply, Inc. or a wholly owned subsidiary thereof (or under notes, debentures, bonds or other secured or unsecured debt obligations of American Business Supply, Inc. or a wholly owned subsidiary thereof). The bonds and interest coupons, if any, appurtenant thereto shall never constitute the debt or indebtedness of the City within the meaning of any provision or limitation of the statutes or Constitution of the State of Nevada, and shall not constitute or give rise to a pecuniary liability of the City or a charge against its general credit or taxing powers.

At the time and place fixed for said public hearing all local residents who appear will be given an opportunity to express their views for or against the proposal to issue bonds.
By order of the City Council,
August 17, 1981.

With Automatic Washers

Saving energy means saving money... and with today's rising fuel costs, the savings can be considerable. According to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, a good place to start saving is in the laundry room. Since the most expensive operating cost is washing a laundry load is heating the water, smart energy-conserving home makers are using warm or cold water washing for lightly soiled clothes. Also, cold water rinses have proven just as efficient as warm or hot, and help save even more energy.

The home economists advise that, for best cleaning results in cold or warm water washing, it is very important to pre-treat stains and then use enough detergent. Since many powdered detergents do not dissolve as well in cooler water temperatures, they suggest that you mix it with a little hot water first, before adding to the wash load... or, use a liquid detergent.

Still waiting for your eyes to cry "ouch"?

Eyes often suffer in silence. But that doesn't necessarily mean they aren't in need of professional care.

Changes—from normal growth or aging or even serious diseases such as glaucoma—usually occur gradually and painlessly. To prevent poor vision or serious eye problems from sneaking up on you, it's important to see your personal eye doctor regularly.

Think back. How long has it been? Two? Three or more years? Wait no longer. Better see your doctor soon.

Marvis Frazier Also Featured on Showboat Title Bout Card

Following in the footsteps of a famous father has never been easy, but it's an especially difficult task for one Marvis Frazier, son of Joe Frazier, one of the greatest world heavyweight champions of all time.

But 20-year-old Marvis has been doing an admirable job so far, handling both the pressure and opponents with relative ease.

"I don't feel any real great pressure on me," says Marvis. "I figure I just happened to pick the same field as my father did. That's all. A lot of kids do what their fathers do."

Las Vegas boxing fans will be able to see what Marvis does Saturday, Aug. 22, when he fights at the Showboat Hotel, Casino and Bowling Center.

The undefeated 200-pounder will battle in a six-round bout underneath the Rocky Lockridge-Juan LaPorte 12-round main event. This is the first time Marvis has fought in Las Vegas as a pro.

The card starts at 12:30 p.m., and doors to the Showboat Sports Pavilion open at noon.

Tickets are priced at $20 for ringside reserved and $10 for general admission.

The Lockridge-LaPorte main event for the United States Boxing Association featherweight championship will be shown on CBS' "Sports Saturday," but blacked out in Southern

MARVIS FRAZIER

Nevada.

The card is promoted by Bob Arum's Top Rank, Inc., in conjunction with the Showboat Hotel.

Marvis enters this fight with a perfect 4-0 record. He stopped Roger Troupe in the third round in his pro debut on Sept. 12, 1980, and then did the same to Dennis Rivers on Oct. 10. On April 11 of this year he took a six-round decision over Melvin Epps and on May 11, on the undercard of the Gerry Cooney-Ken Norton clash at Madison Square Garden, he halted Steve Zouski in the sixth. Marvis' first three fights were in the Felt Forum in New York.

Marvis had a 53-2 record as an amateur and won the 1980 National AAU heavyweight championship, besting Chris McDonald in the finals in Las Vegas.

Marvis got involved with boxing when he was in the 10th grade. The private school he attended in Wyncotte, Pa., a small town near his home in Philadelphia, offered no sports so to keep active he began working out in a gym.

A natural athlete, and one talented in wrestling, football, baseball and basketball, he quickly developed in boxing to the extent that father Joe saw it as something more than a passing fancy and took a special interest.

"He just thought I was playing around at first," says Marvis.

Joe made Marvis prove he was serious by refusing to let his son spar the first seven months. Instead, it was drill on fundamentals.

Now Joe says about his 6-foot-2-inch son, "He's a more complete fighter than I was. He can do more things. He can box better."

Joe trains Marvis and is assisted by George Benton and Val Colbert.

Pipeline Seminar Tonight

Roger C. Bos, Chairman of the Public Service Commission of Nevada, announced today that the Public Service Commission of Nevada and all Nevada Transmission Pipeline Operators will host two one day "Pipeline Emergency Response Safety Seminars". The first will be held at 8:30 a.m., August 18, 1981 at the Reno Centennial Colosseum; the second will be held at 8:30 a.m., August 20, 1981 at the Las Vegas Convention

Center. All federal, state and local government agencies have been invited to attend one or both of the seminars which are designed to illustrate how agencies interact in appropriately responding to a pipeline accident or emergency situation threatening a pipeline. The seminars will provide guidelines for handling various emergency situations and promote understanding of comprehensive and coordinated emergency action plans. Walter J. Hernandez, Pipeline Safety Engineer for the Public Service Commission, indicated that this is the first time a program of this nature has been sponsored in the United States. Featured speakers will be Dr. Robert L. Paullin, Associate Director, Operations and Enforcement, Materials Transportation Bureau, United States Department of Transportation. Dr. Paullin will address pipeline safety. Shirley Smith, Assistant United States Attorney, will address federal-state cooperation and prosecution for violations of federal regulations. Additionally, pipeline operators will describe their systems, equipment, products they transport, and what action-response is required in the event a pipeline ruptures.

FAA Proposes Rules to Deal with Drinking Pilots

The Federal Aviation Administration has proposed a rule that would make pilots subject to the same basic procedures for determining intoxication that most states apply to motor vehicle operators.

The FAA proposal would prohibit anyone from flying an airplane when his or her blood level contains 40 milligrams percent or more by weight of alcohol in the blood. This is much stricter than the 0.1 percent standard used by most states to determine when a motorist is under the influence of alcohol. The tougher standard reflects the fact that even small amounts of alcohol can affect pilot performance, especially at high altitudes.

In addition, the proposed rule would include an "implied consent" provision similar to that used by most states to enforce their drunk driving laws. Implied consent means that a person holding an FAA pilot's certificate automatically agrees to take a breath test for determining alcohol level when requested to do so by an FAA inspector. Refusal to take a test would be grounds for suspension or revocation of the pilot's certificate.

Present regulations prohibit anyone from piloting an airplane when under the influence of alcohol or within eight hours of consuming an alcoholic beverage. However, there is no standard for defining intoxication and no requirement that pilots suspected of drinking take any kind of test.

The proposed rule will strengthen FAA's ability to deal with the problem of drinking pilots, who account for a disproportionate number of fatal accidents. In 1978, for example, the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) cited alcohol as a cause or factor in 50 general aviation accidents, 46 of which involved fatalities. Alcohol also is thought to be a factor in many other non-fatal accidents, but there is no way to establish this fact since the surviving pilots are not required to take a test for alcohol levels.

Adoption of the proposed rule would give FAA a scientific standard that it could use to take disciplinary action against drinking pilots. For example, FAA inspectors could request pilots who obviously have been drinking to take the breath test and, thus, possibly deter them from flying. At present, they must wait until an intoxicated pilot actually has operated an airplane before they can legally take action.

The proposal also would require a pilot who is injured in an accident and cannot take the breath test to provide FAA with the results of any medical tests for blood alcohol that are made at the hospital. The same would apply to any hospital tests for drugs.

The proposed regulation appeared in the Federal Register on July 27. Comments are due by November 25 and should be sent to FAA's Office of the Chief Counsel, Rules Docket No. 21956, 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591.

Environmental Statement Begun on Mead-Phoenix Transmission Line

The Western Area Power Administration (Western), has begun preparation of an environmental impact statement (EIS) to assess the environmental considerations of a proposed action to construct a new transmission facility from Boulder City, Nevada, to Phoenix, Arizona. Participating in the construction will be the Salt River Project and the Southern California Public Power Authority. The proposed line would run through Maricopa, Yuma, Yavapai, and Mohave Counties in Arizona and Clark County in Nevada. The line will enhance the transmission capabilities of the area to meet the growing demand for electrical energy.

The EIS will address the possibilities of locating structures within floodplains or wetlands, the potential impact on endangered species or critical habitats, the aesthetic impacts, the effects of crossing irrigated or irrigable agricultural land, and the Lake Mead National Recreation Area. The study will also cover any adverse effects on historic or cultural properties that are included in or eligible for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places.

Western, an agency of the Department of Energy, is responsible for marketing electric power and energy generated at 46 hydroelectric powerplants and the United States' entitlement from the Navajo coal-fired plant near Page, Arizona.

Notice of Western's intent to prepare an EIS on this line was published in the Federal Register July 23, 1981.

Haines Featured at B.C. Festival

Las Vegas artist Lorraine Haines, whose designs in stained glass can be seen locally at the Sun Circle Crafts Gallery, has been selected as a featured artist at the 19th annual Boulder City Hospital Auxiliary Art Festival, to be held on October 3rd and 4th in Government and Bicentennial Parks. Lorraine developed an interest in stained glass about four years ago after experimenting with other media—decoupage, macrame and pottery. Since working in stained glass, she has designed several custom windows.

Lorraine's work has been seen and admired in several art shows in the Las Vegas area. Her ultimate goal is a stained glass shop of her own, but, until that dream comes true, she hopes to travel around the USA, exhibiting in arts and crafts shows along the way. Her bright, glowing stained glass designs will have a featured spot in the Boulder City Art Festival.

Several alternatives will be assessed in the EIS including no action, system planning, location, and design alternatives.

Public scoping meetings will be held to gather information and obtain assistance in defining the range of issues and concerns for the preparation of the EIS.

Meetings are scheduled as follows: August 24, 1981, 7:30 p.m., Goodyear Community Center, 410 East Loma Linda Boulevard, Goodyear, Arizona; August 25, 1981, 7:30 p.m., City Council Chambers, Lake Havasu City Civic Center, 1795 Civic Center Boulevard, Lake Havasu City, Arizona; August 26, 1981, 7:30 p.m., City Council Chambers, Kingman City Complex, 310 North Fourth, Kingman, Arizona; August 27, 1981, 7:30 p.m., First Western Savings Association Conference Room, 1000 Nevada Highway, Boulder City, Nevada.

The draft EIS is tentatively scheduled to be released to the public for review and comment in the fall of 1982 and the final EIS during 1983.

All interested agencies, organizations, and persons are invited to attend the public scoping meetings and submit questions, comments, and suggestions.

Ten Commandments For The Small Investor

It has been estimated that 40 million Americans—most of them small investors—currently own stocks or bonds. James Barnes, Senior Executive Vice President of Thomson McKinnon Securities Inc., one of the nation's largest brokerage firms, has been counseling small investors on how to make money—and keep it—for over three decades. Here are his basic do's and don'ts—what he calls the "Ten Commandments" of smart investing for the small investor:

1. Thou Shalt Not Invest Thy Rent Money! That means any money required for necessities. Set aside a cash reserve to make sure your life style doesn't get cramped in case your investments do.
2. Thou Shalt Investigate Before Investing! Look carefully before you leap no matter how inviting the investments. Collect all details and data before you deal.

3. Thou Shalt Strive For A Balanced Investment Program! Learn the difference between "safe" and "risk" investments and then
4. Thou Shalt Have An Overall Investment Strategy! Even a poor strategy is better than no strategy. Always be prepared with a plan to meet critical changes in the marketplace.
5. Thou Shalt Honor Diversification But Not Over-Diversify! A small portfolio ($50,000 and under) should rarely exceed six or eight issues. Bigger ones ($50,000 and up) should stay under 20 issues.
6. Thou Shalt Not Bear Thy Profits Away From The Market! Unless needed, reinvest them, thus compounding your gains.

7. Thou Shalt Select Thy Broker With Utmost Care! Find 'him' as you would your physician or any other important person you deal with regularly. Choose someone you trust and respect.
8. Thou Shalt Honor Regularity! Investing on a regular basis is wise for the market has a way of averaging out. Do not become obsessively pre-occupied with day-to-day changing conditions.
9. Thou Shalt Not Commit The Sin Of Falling In Love With Thy Stocks!

Woman Attorney to Speak to Accountants

Kathryn Kirkland, Attorney at Law, will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Las Vegas Chapter of the American Society of Women Accountants on September 2nd at Maxim's Hotel at 6 p.m.

Her topic will be "Financial and Estate Planning for Women" and topics to be covered include: Ownership and vesting of title; wills; trusts; probate; guardianship; and community property. All interested persons are welcome. For reservations call Verla Ebarb at 384-7633.

Leadership Seminar Offered

A seminar, qualifying for continuing education, on the subject of leadership is being offered by the Las Vegas Chapter of the American Society of Women Accountants in conjunction with the local office of the Small Business Administration on September 12th at the Imperial Palace from 8:30 to 1:30. "Assertiveness" will be discussed by Arlene Jorgenson, counseling coordinator at Clark County Community College.

"Net Working" is the topic chosen by Dr. Janice Reed, Counselor and English instructor at the Henderson Community College.

Barbara Agonia, English Coordinator of the Re-Entry Center at Clark County Community College and instructor of English and Speech will team with Arlene in her presentation and administration of the DISC test.

This presentation of the personal profile system helps the individual understand himself and others in the working field. The test helps evaluate one's behavior and attitudes. Once the evaluation is made, the program can help enhance the strong factors and hide the worst factors, thereby improving a person's work behavior style.

Call Jean Evans at 385-4646 or Marie Papile 385-6611, for reservations or further information. Fee for the seminar is $30.

Streets Will be Under Construction Until January

In order to keep the public continually informed as to which streets are being improved and as a public service to make County residents aware of which areas to avoid while work is being completed on these streets, the County has work beginning on August 17 on Special Improvement District Project No. 21.

The following streets will be under construction until January 30:

- Flamingo Road from Flamingo Wash to Valley View.
- Valley View from Flamingo Road to Spring Mountain.
- Procyon from Twain to Desert Inn.
- Aldebaran Avenue from Spring Mountain to Desert Inn.
- Twain from 700' west of Valley View to Polaris.
- Desert Inn from Valley View to Interstate 15.
- Highland from 317' S.W. Twain to Spring Mountain.
- Pinks Place from Polaris to Aldebaran.
- Pollux Avenue from Polaris to Aldebaran.

This project is for reconstruction of obsolete roads, which will provide parking, curb and gutters, sidewalks, street lights, and for the improvement of the drainage system within the area that has recently developed for commercial and industrial uses.

These notices are published so that the public can avoid these streets and avoid inconvenience.

MEMORIES

When a friend leaves this earth, it is wonderful to have fond memories. We weren't privileged to become as closely acquainted with Blanche Coe as we were with Catherine Manning, but all of our recollections are good ones. The Coes raised bees, and made delicious honey. They were interested in Scouts. The Coes worked on the L.D.S. farm in Las Vegas. They were so proud when their son was chosen for Annapolis Military Academy, and also proud when some of their children were called as missionaries. Blanche continued to be active after her husband died, and still took an interest in life when confined to a wheelchair.

I met Catherine Manning in Mothers' Club, in 1941. She was the life of every party, and we never got tired of her "rendition" of the hilarious reading "The Anthem" written by an uncle! When I started writing this column, Catherine would tell me of her visits to Twilla, Utah. When I finally saw the name of Tooele written down, and asked her why she didn't correct me, she thought it funny! Our Apricot tree was always full, and it was Catherine who came over and taught me how to make jam, leaving some of the pits for flavor. When our young daughters became interested in a Mormon classmate, and I decided to learn something about that religion, Catherine was one of the teachers of my first cottage course. She liked to keep her hair colored red, and never wanted even her children to know her true age.

Yes, our family feels fortunate to have found so many friends in Boulder City.

THE SLACKS

Irene Slack wrote that, although their mailing address is Central, Utah, she and Amber are building their new home in Pine Valley.

LORINE McDougall

Lorine McDougall has returned from attending the National Church Conference of The Blind, in Omaha, Nebraska. The inspirational speakers included Harold Barry, of the radio program "Back to the Bible." The five day sessions were held at the Grace Bible College, and Lori says that ropes were strung from one building to another for guides. Braille hymnbooks and material in large print were provided. Lori sang for the group, on Talent Night. She has made friends all over the country. Many of these people send tapes to each other, instead of letters, and she plans to make tapes of music and talking. They visited the Christian radio station, which is near the college. The director of music at the college sang several songs at the banquet. Lorine says there are blind ministers of various denominations in this Conference. If anyone is interested in starting a chapter in Southern Nevada, please call her at 293-1374. Sighted people are also needed, to help provide transportation, etc.

IRENE FIGUEROA

Irene Figueroa of National City, California, is back in town, staying at the home of daughter Norma Tougas. Norma is recuperating from major surgery, at Boulder City Hospital, and somebody had to take care of husband Dave and the-hungry sons!

OUR VACATION

Our language needs another word like "serendipity", for unexpected pleasures! John and I thoroughly enjoyed our travels in Arizona, Colorado and Utah—even the rain storms. For the first time, our son Johnny and his wife Doris went along with us, sleeping in our little Roadrunner trailer. The grove their Honda station wagon, which was used for sightseeing when the camper and trailer were parked. The train ride was canceled, as reservations were already filled until September (when I wrote in June).

Canyon de Chelly was a pleasant surprise. The campground is actually in a woods, with continuous patrol by rangers. There is a visitor center, a lodge with a store, and a few ancient Indian dwellings. The Indian farms on the valley floor are remarkably beautiful. We started our south rim tour at exactly the right hour! The rain storm had just ended, and sudden waterfalls came streaming down the rugged rocks, snaking their way to the cultivated fields below. Am sorry to say that the roll of film taken that day was lost at the store. We took the north rim route next morning, and continued on to Four Corners.

Mesa Verde is being allowed to return to the wild, with tall grass growing at the camp sites. Consequently, the deer come closer all hours of the day. Since this was my third visit, I stayed at camp while the others toured the unbelievable cliff houses, etc. The museum is a fine one. There is a village with all facilities, too. There are nightly programs by park personnel. By the way, one of the girl guides was just wonderful -- wish we had her name. We never tire of Mesa

Verde.

Another surprise was all the farm land in Colorado and Utah going north to Green River. The Arches National Monument was the only place we found a high temperature. It is amazing how many arches there are in that one location. This also has a visitor's center at the entrance, and a campground miles to the back of the park.

The forest camps at Beaver stay full, and we were lucky to get the last site in Little Cottonwood. Visited friends at the commercial campgrounds near the golf course, and they took John fishing higher up on the mountain. We bought Cache Valley cheese at the factory.

Minersville Lake Recreational Area has one of the best campgrounds we used. The trees aren't old enough to be tall, but shade is provided by a solid roof over each table on a raised cement platform. Also two walls, one of which contains a storage cabinet. Each site contains a grill, water and electric hook-ups, and an electric light. The camp is paved, the sites are level, and many are pull-through. A boat ramp, sanitary station, fish cleaning tables, modern rest rooms with hot water (and no smoking), trash cans, and ice are available. This is far enough from the highway to be quiet, and close enough to the lake to walk.

Overton Water Available

A request has been made by the Town of Overton, Nevada, in the wake of the damage caused by the severe storm of August 10, 1981, to obtain fresh drinking water from Lake Mead National Recreation Area. Contaminated water after the floods has forced Overton to seek a clean fresh water source.

Superintendent Jerry Wagers has made the offer to allow the Town of Overton to begin hauling water from the Echo Bay water treatment plant. This can take place as soon as the National Park Service is able to construct a detour around the flood damaged section of North-shore Road.

Small Game Hunting Season Recommendations Finalized

By David K. Rice

Season length and bag limit recommendations for the state's 1981 small game hunting and trapping seasons have been compiled and finalized by the Nevada Department of Wildlife.

"Although hunters can expect good hunting for most bird species during the 1981-82 season, bird production was very low this spring and the state is suffering a downward trend in game bird populations due to the drought this past winter," explained George Tsukamoto, NDOW chief of game.

"Poor production and declining populations were documented by our field biologists for Gambel's quail, chukar, sage grouse, pheasant, and cottontail rabbit. Valley quail, Hungarian partridge, and blue grouse populations have increased this year and hunting prospects appear to be good."

A record number of chukar were harvested in Nevada last year and Tsukamoto forecasts fairly good hunting this year. "Although the extremely dry winter had a great effect on the production of young throughout most of the state, the mild winter reduced the over-winter mortality of adult birds leaving many more for this season than would be expected during a more severe winter."

He said that the predominance of adult birds in the flocks this year will probably make hunting more difficult since the older birds are more wary than the young of the year.

Overall, Tsukamoto rates chukar hunting as fair to poor for northwestern and central Nevada, and fair for northeastern parts of the state where production was better.

"Statewide, the drought did not affect sage grouse production to the extent experienced with chukar; however, production in the northwestern part of the state was very low. In the northeast, production was fair in Elko and Lander Counties, and good in Eureka and White Pine. Populations are down in the southern portion of the state with Nye Co. the best in this region," he said.

Blue and ruffed grouse numbers will be similar to 1980 levels with hunting expected to be best in the eastern and northeastern portions of the state.

"Valley quail populations continue to increase in the rangelands and on the agricultural valley areas, with the exception of Lovelock Valley where population levels are low," Tsukamoto advises. "The southern Gambel's quail experienced only fair production in 1980 and very poor production in 1981, so hunting prospects can be considered poor this fall and winter."

The pheasant population is down in Humboldt and Pershing Counties where the majority of hunting occurs, although Tsukamoto advises hunting should be good for those who are able to secure permission to hunt the private lands where the majority of these birds are found.

The outlook for rabbits is good, but according to Department figures, cottontail populations peaked in 1978 and 1979 and numbers are definitely down and are expected to continue to decrease.

"Nevada's wetlands have been affected by the drought and are decreasing in size at an alarming rate. Although the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service predicts only a slight decrease in the fall duck flight this year, the ducks probably will not hang around as long due to the reduced habitat," he said.

The Himalayan snowcock (partridge) and special falconry upland game hunting seasons, first held last year, will be recommended again for 1981. The snowcock was raised by NDOW and released into the Ruby Mts. of eastern Nevada where a small but stable population exists.

The special falconry season allows hunters to use birds of prey as a means of taking the various upland game species during a statewide season that would extend Sept. 1 - Jan. 31, 1982.

"The state's first band-tailed pigeon hunting season, recently approved by the Board of Wildlife Commissioners, will extend Sept. 26 - Oct. 25. Hunting of the federally controlled migratory species will be allowed only in Carson City, Douglas and Lyon Cos. with a bag and possession limit of five birds."

"Furbearer populations generally appeared to be in good condition in 1980; however, declining prey bases and aquatic habitat will probably reduce productivity and populations for most species. Tighter controls for the harvest of bobcats are warranted this season, and we are recommending a shorter season for this species," Tsukamoto concluded.

Department of Wildlife season recommendations will be presented to the public through individual County Game Management Board meetings. The recommendations, along with those made by the public and each county board will be presented to the Board of Wildlife Commissioners for discussion and final decision at a public meeting on Sat. August 22, in Reno. The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Nevada Department of Wildlife office at 1100 Valley Road.

LIGHTS ALONG THE WAY Stop Deceiving Yourself

By Rev. Jim Serada

Have you ever been deceived by another person? Of course you have.

Why are we all so gullible? Why do we fail to see through people before we get into trouble?

Is it because we are not educated properly?

Perhaps as a child in Sunday School you were taught that 'God is Good,' that if we see only the good in other people, they will respond in kind.

God is good. True. But, 'Seeing the good in others will produce results in kind,' not true. (See Luke 18:19). You don't have to look very far to see that. In fact, now, when your own son or daughter leaves home for the first day of school, you say, "Come right straight home..." "Don't talk to strangers" ... "Don't accept candy from strangers" ... etc.

What happened to 'seeing good in others'?? Your own wisdom prevailed, that's what.

Yet, we go on with our foolish, contradictory standards. 'See good and only good will come to you' is constantly proven wrong, yet we are so gullible we keep falling for it. And we give our children the same incorrect viewpoint.

Vernon Howard's booklet, "Be Safe in a Dangerous World."

should be read by parents to every child.

Reclamation Awards $8.2 Million Contract for Construction of Central Arizona Project Power

Commissioner of Reclamation Robert N. Broadbent today announced award of an $8,195,550 contract for construction of two substations and two transmission lines on the Bureau's Central Arizona Project.

Broadbent said the contract was awarded to Yick Electric Company, Inc., under Section 8(a) of the Small Business Administration's Minority Small Business and Capital Ownership Development Program. This program is designed to allow socially and economically disadvantaged individuals to participate in the nation's business sector.

Under terms of the contract, the San Francisco firm will prepare the substation sites, construct service buildings, erect transmission and substation steel structures, install all electrical equipment and associated materials at the substations, and furnish, erect and install all materials required for the transmission lines.

The substations will tap the existing 230-kilovolt Liberty-Parker transmission line to provide power to CAP pumping plants now being constructed.

Harcurvar Substation, which will be located about 10 miles north of Wenden, Arizona, will transform the 230-kV power to 115 kV for service to the Bouse Hills and Little Harquahala Pumping Plants.

Hassayampa Tap

Substation will be situated about 17 miles northwest of Buckeye, Arizona. It will provide 230-kV service to the Hassayampa Pumping Plant.

Nearly 51 miles of 115-kV, single-circuit wood-pole transmission line will be constructed to carry power from Harcurvar Substation to the two pumping plants. The line to Bouse Hills Pumping Plant will be about 23 1/2 miles long, and the line to Little Harquahala Pumping Plant will be approximately 27 1/2 miles in length.

A 230-kV transmission line from the Hassayampa Tap Substation to Hassayampa Pumping Plant will be constructed under a separate contract at a later date.

Yick will have 540 days to construct the substations and transmission lines.

The Central Arizona Project is a system to deliver supplemental municipal, industrial and irrigation water to central Arizona urban and agricultural areas. The water will be diverted from the Colorado River at Lake Havasu, behind Parker Dam. Initial water delivery is scheduled for 1985.

Bryan to Appeal Nevada Power Rate Hike

Attorney General Richard Bryan Tuesday said his office will appeal yesterday's decision by the Public Service Commission to award Nevada Power Company a $14.5 million dollar rate hike.

Bryan said he discussed the case with Consumer Advocate Jon Wellingshoff this morning and has decided to take the PSC to court to challenge the decision.

"Although we are pleased the Commission did follow the Consumer Advocate's recommendation to drop the $6.9 million attrition allowance resulting in a 34 percent reduction from the company's request, in our opinion the PSC failed to consider the Consumer Advocate's strong arguments regarding the company's authorized profit level and questionable operating expense adjustments," said Bryan.

Bryan said the Consumer Advocate's office presented testimony at the July 14 hearing establishing a "fair" authorized rate of profit at "14.25 percent." The Commission, however, has authorized a 15 percent profit level which, according to Bryan, "amounts to an additional $2.7 million to be added to utility customer bills."

Bryan said he also disagreed with the Commission's decision to allow the company to charge utility customers for such operating expenses as employee softball teams; political and lobbying expenses and one-time consulting and maintenance expenditures.

"Although the amounts in these categories are not substantial, we are deeply concerned that a precedent may have been set by the Commission which will mean that similar expenses will be charged in the future to utility customers. In our opinion, such expenses should come out of the stockholders pockets, not the utility customers. These expenses have absolutely no direct benefit to utility customers," said Bryan.

He noted the Public Service Commission in the past has ruled that such expenses should not be charged to utility customers.

Bryan said he hopes to file a petition for review in District Court within the next 30 days.

Bryan praised State Consumer Advocate Jon Wellingshoff and Staff Counsel Kelly Jackson for "their excellent efforts on behalf of Nevada utility consumers" noting that it was the first time in the state's history that Nevada consumers had been represented by a state utility consumer advocate.

In 1975, as a state senator, Bryan introduced the first legislation in Nevada creating an office of utility consumer advocate.

The Attorney General noted the Consumer Advocate's office is awaiting a second decision from the PSC expected to be released Monday, Aug. 17, regarding a $16.3 million rate hike request by Sierra Pacific Power Company. The Consumer Advocate Office has recommended that no increase be granted and that the Public Service Commission reduce the present company rate by $2.2 million.

Date Set For Comment On Proposed Criteria For Conservation Program

The Western Area Power Administration (Western) announced today that a public comment forum will be held on the proposed guidelines and acceptance criteria applicable to conservation and renewable energy programs implemented by Western's customers. The forum will be held August 27, 1981, at 9 a.m., in Room 269, Main Post Office Building, 1823 Stout Street, Denver, Colorado. The proposed guidelines were published in the Federal Register on August 10, 1981.

Western is the Federal agency responsible for marketing and transmitting electric power from 46 hydropower generating plants to 464 wholesale power customers consisting of cooperatives, municipalities, public utility districts, private utilities, Federal and State agencies, and irrigation districts, who in turn provide service to millions of retail consumers. During fiscal year 1980, Western marketed 1,541,216,000 kilowatt-hours to six customers in the State of Nevada.

Western's major objectives in developing a conservation and renewable energy program are increased energy production from renewable resources, reduced dependence on foreign oil, improved efficiency in energy utilization, and reduced energy consumption.

The guidelines provided by Western set forth the approach, responsibilities, program content, and review and acceptance process for customer development and implementation of conservation and renewable energy programs.

The overall program approach recognizes individual customer needs and capabilities and will acknowledge present and past accomplishments in the areas of conservation and renewable energy. Customers are given primary responsibility for developing and implementing programs to meet energy production and energy conservation goals. Once the criteria for customer conservation and renewable energy programs are finalized, the requirement for a conservation program will be implemented through contract articles and other formal agreements between Western and its customers.

The customer's program submission must supply a description of the specific program content, which is a listing of proposed activities. Western will provide a list of suggested activities for customer consideration.

The public comment forum will offer interested persons an opportunity to make oral or written comments regarding the proposed Guidelines and Acceptance Criteria.

Written comments must be received by September 9, 1981, to be assured of consideration. To obtain a copy of the criteria, or to submit written comments and for further information concerning the proposed Guidelines and Acceptance Criteria or the public comment forum, individuals should contact: Mr. Joe D. Hall, Conservation Officer, Western Area Power Administration, Department of Energy, P.O. Box 3402, Golden, CO 80401, (303) 231-7440.

Ranges Dry Throughout Nevada

By Charles Crunden

Nevada Department of Wildlife field agents are reporting extremely dry range conditions throughout much of the state and are expressing concern for the welfare of both wildlife and livestock.

John Donaldson, NDOW Region III supervisor, said, "Biologists conducting small game surveys in the field are reporting many streams running at a trickle or completely dry at the lower elevations. Seasonal livestock ponds and smaller springs have also been affected by the drought with animals in those areas dependent on the remaining scattered waters."

"Food for the young of wildlife produced this year is also of great concern because the drought conditions have resulted in a scarcity of the green vegetation and insects they need for survival through the summer and early fall. Many central and northern Nevada meadows are in poor condition and may well be the reason for the lowered sage grouse production noted to date. In Clark County, quail have fared badly, and 1981 may be one of the poorest years on record," Donaldson said.

"The current situation really points to the need to protect our waters from disturbance," Donaldson emphasized, "and our Department is reminding all outdoorsmen of the state law that prohibits camping within 100 yards of a waterhole in such a manner that wildlife or livestock will be denied access to that water. Our Department and the livestock industry cooperated in developing this law, passed by the legislature several years ago, and if the need was not too apparent before, it certainly is now."

This Was Nevada'

Great Nevada Meteor of 1894

By Phillip I. Earl

February 1, 1894, might well have passed as a most forgettable date had the state of Nevada not been struck by one of the largest meteors in American History on that day. Professor Barnard of California's Lick Observatory first noticed the fireball at 10:07 p.m. that evening. He calculated it as being from thirty-five to forty degrees above the horizon in the Constellation Leo. In Virginia City, miners coming off shift saw it pass overhead moving in a southeasterly direction. It lit up the town in such a fiery glare that the electric arc lights on the streets appeared to be no more than weak candles.

Residents of Carson City and Genoa reported the same phenomena, but it was the people of the Candelaria-Belleville area in west central Nevada who got the biggest thrill. As the meteor began to descend into the atmosphere, it took on an even more intense glow and came over Candelaria with a roar which roused early sleepers from their beds. A few of them ran into the streets in their night clothing, but they saw only the tail and heard an explosion some distance to the east. Several local Chinese who had seen the meteor coming had gotten out their fireworks to ward off the evil spirit and they were convinced that they had saved the town.

Others awakened by the explosion of the impact thought that the local powder house had blown up and there were subsequent reports of an earthquake. At a lonely station on the Carson & Colorado Railroad, an agent working on his books was jarred backwards off his high stool, but there were neither injuries nor property damage reported later on.

There was much interest in the location of the landing spot, every observer judging it differently. The miners at Virginia City thought it had hit near the Occidental Hoisting Works east of town, while Carson City observers believed that it went down on the lower Carson River. Men from Belleville and Candelaria went out to investigate the next morning, but they found only branches broken from trees by fragments of the meteor, sagebrush torn up by the roots and an extensive scattering of fragments.

Several of those out searching had a scientific interest, but others hoped to sell whatever they found for the metal value. Nevada officials were anxious to secure the meteor to send off to San Francisco as a part of the state's exhibit at the upcoming Mid-Winter Fair, but the heavenly visitor was soon forgotten as the world moved on.

Some fourteen years later, in August of 1908, a prospector working in the Quinn Canyon Range some ninety miles east of Tonopah came across the meteor lying exposed on the surface. He cut off a piece with a hammer and a chisel and carried it back to Tonopah. Showing off the chunk in a saloon, he struck up a conversation with Fred Corkhill. As it happened, Corkhill had been in Candelaria at the time of the passing of the meteor in 1894 and was able to recognize the metal fragments from those he had found at that time.

Corkhill persuaded the desert wanderer to direct him to the location of his find, and he had it hauled into Tonopah where it was put on exhibit in the windows of the Tonopah Bank Corporation on November 17. The meteor was reported to weigh some two tons. A geologist applied the Widmanstadtin Test to determine the composition, which turned out to be nickel and iron. Samples were later sent to astronomers in the United States and Europe and several museums were contacted. The Smithsonian Institution of Washington, D.C. made an offer to purchase the meteor, but Corkhill preferred that it remain in Nevada. Jeanne Wier of the Nevada Historical Society was also interested and tried to raise funds to secure it, but other state officials showed no interest. Corkhill finally gave up and sold his treasure to the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago where it reposes on exhibit to this very day.

DEATH NOTICE

TO AMERICA

MR. PRESIDENT:

We want you to succeed but your sincere efforts will fail because: They do NOT directly attack our most serious problem:

UNEMPLOYMENT

Our Government's tax laws and oppressive regulations are blotting out jobs and opportunities.

If we don't change those laws — UNEMPLOYMENT will destroy America. UNEMPLOYMENT adds to inflation by reducing production.

UNEMPLOYMENT wastes human resources.

UNEMPLOYMENT forces families to rely on government welfare or CRIME.

UNEMPLOYMENT makes people weak and dependent.

UNEMPLOYMENT drains the desire to work.

UNEMPLOYMENT destroys the ability to work.

UNEMPLOYMENT breeds apathy and despair — CRIME, VANDALISM,

VIOLENCE and REVOLUTION.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS CAUSED BY GOVERNMENT:

1. Government sponsored hoarding of capital — unused and untaxed.
2. Payroll taxes that cut workers' take home pay, make it expensive to hire more employees, and encourage business to invest in machines instead of people.
3. Government interference with the efforts of small business to create more jobs: Minimum Wage laws, sales taxes, so-called "Equal Opportunity Laws" and monopoly encouraging "Anti-Trust Laws."

UNEMPLOYMENT is Mankind's most serious problem.

ALL economic programs will fail — if they do not address and solve the issue of too few job opportunities.

This is our problem — yours and mine, but at present, only you, Mr. President, have the power to lead us away from disaster.

If you fail, we all suffer the consequences. We shall not forgive.

If you seize the chance and embrace free market solutions to UNEMPLOYMENT, America will rise again and lead the World to a better life.

Six New District Judges to be Named

CARSON CITY. Attorney General Richard Bryan today (Thurs.) said the Nevada Supreme Court has paved the way for the immediate appointment of two newly-created district judgeships in Washoe County and four new district judgeships to be filled in Clark County at the next general election.

Bryan said the Court has upheld the position of the Washoe County and State Bar Associations and his office that the two new judgeships created by the recent Legislative Session could legally be declared vacant by the Governor and filled immediately.

The Governor signed the new law creating the positions, but refused to formally declare the positions vacant as required by law, according to Bryan.

Bryan said his office had "disagreed with the Governor's legal position that appointing the two judges now would be unconstitutional."

"It was our legal opinion that the Governor had the duty to declare the vacancies so that the process could begin to fill them," said Bryan.

Bryan said his office filed a "friend of the court" brief in support of the new judgeships on June 24.

"Both legal precedent and practice concerning the filling of judicial vacancies argue strongly for the position that the legislative enactment creating the positions, which was to take effect immediately upon passage and approval, immediately created the vacancies for the positions of district judge in the Second Judicial District Court," said Bryan.

Bryan said the positions in Washoe County may now be filled by appointment by the Commission on Judicial Selection prior to the next election in 1984.

Zubin Mehta Conducts New York Philharmonic at UNLV's Ham Hall

For the first time ever, Zubin Mehta leads his New York Philharmonic into Las Vegas and on to the stage at UNLV's Ham Hall, Thursday (August 27th) at 8 p.m.

Involved in this opening concert of the Sixth Master Series are 120 musical artists plus a team from management and public relations who have set up this unusual summer series for Western audiences. Two commercial airliners are needed to fly the orchestra, the instruments, the concert wardrobe and personal belongings. This is the largest musical contingent to ever fly into Las Vegas.

The Orchestra will be opening the concert program with Brahms Symphony No. 3, F major, Opus 90, running the entire first half of the concert. After the intermission, the audience will hear Vieuxtemps' Concerto No. 4 for Violin and Orchestra, D minor, Opus 31 featuring Concertmaster Glenn Dietterow, who made his New York Philharmonic debut in 1967.

Concluding the concert, Mehta will offer the three movements of Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe," Suite No. 2. Zubin Mehta is now in his third season as Music Director of the New York Philharmonic and has already conducted the Orchestra in concerts heard by an estimated twenty-five million people.

Last season's report showed attendance at Philharmonic concerts passed the one million mark. However, the high earnings failed to match the high costs! A record nine million was earned, but that vast amount only covered two thirds of its cost of operation and, as always, they were compelled to go to the public and the corporations for additional funds. And that is the exasperating financial cycle all symphonies face.

"The Sixth Season has grown beyond our wildest planning - and so has our budget," moaned Charles Vanda, originator and Director of the UNLV Master Series.

"We started out cajoling, pleading and begging concert artists to come to Las Vegas. It took constant contact and persuasion to convince them to come here - to what they called a 'cultural wasteland'."

"We couldn't really fault them for that denigrating term, because the wasteland belittling was louder within our own community than around the country. But, once we started building our roster of stars, the community participated - and with vigor, enthusiasm, friendship and money."

"We haven't had one losing season, great stars consider the UNLV Concert Hall among the best in the world and many stars feel the same way about our work and our audiences. But, with rising costs in transportation, housing, food, etc. our budget requirements have tripled."

"I don't think any city surpasses Las Vegas in loyal support of classical music, and I'm the luckiest man in the world to be an important part of the cultural development of our town...the job is always made easier by the cooperation of every area of the media. Beethoven never had it so good!"

Seats are sold out but for information concerning future concerts contact Charles Vanda at 739-3535 or 739-3849.

"Raiders Of The Lost Ark" Now Showing at the Rainbow and Boulder Theatres

During May of 1977, long-time friends Steven Spielberg and George Lucas were soaking up the sun in Hawaii. It was the week before Lucas' "Star Wars" premiered in New York, and Lucas was in Hawaii because "he thought it would be a monumental disaster," recalls Spielberg.

After the picture opened, and Lucas had learned that the space fantasy was a hit the first week, "he was suddenly laughing again. Then he told me the story of these movies he wanted to make, a series of archeology films," Spielberg says.

"I said, 'That's really an exciting idea. I've always wanted to bring a serial to life.'" Six months later, Lucas signed Spielberg to direct "Raiders of the Lost Ark" his 1930's-style cliffhanger about an American archeologist - adventurer seeking the lost Ark of the Covenant. This elusive artifact is believed to be the chest in which Moses deposited the broken tablets of the Ten Commandments.

Though both men are well under 40, Lucas and Spielberg are responsible for four of the top ten-grossing films in the history of motion pictures. "Raiders" represents the first time the two filmmakers have worked together.

In an industry in which friendships rarely withstand the pressures of getting a picture on the screen, Lucas and Spielberg insist their friendship has not been affected.

"It has to do mainly with ego, more than anything else," says Lucas. "If you don't let your ego get in the way, you don't have a problem."

"George and I have been friends for 11 years - a lot longer than we've worked together," says Spielberg. "It's very important - whether this film is a hit or not - that nothing get in the way of that friendship."

Anyone who might have anticipated "creative differences" on the set was surprised. As the executive producer whose money and reputation were on the line, Lucas was completely relaxed in letting "Steven do what he wanted to do. I'm very sensitive to the director and what his problems are because I've been a director."

"I offered lots of suggestions, and Steven took some of them, and didn't take some of them."

In fact, one of the most memorable moments in the production was the day that Lucas and Spielberg directed side by side. They were on location in Tunisia, filming the scene in which the film's hero tries to sabotage the Nazis' frantic escape by air with the Ark.

Lucas took charge of one camera crew and placed himself on the top of one hill. Spielberg positioned himself at the top of an opposing hill with another crew. Their friendly chat could be heard by anyone with a remote radio:

"What's the stop, Steven?"

"How's that for you, George?"

"Shall we go again, or are you happy?"

"Raiders of the Lost Ark" stars Harrison Ford, Karen Allen, Paul Freeman, John Rhys-Daves, Ronald

Lacey and Denholm Elliott. The Lucasfilm Ltd. Production of a Steven Spielberg Film presented by Paramount Pictures was written by Lawrence Kasdan, based on a story by Lucas and Philip Kaufman, with music composed by John Williams. Lucas and Howard Kazanjian are executive producers, and Frank Marshall is producer.

Equality Day Luncheon

Dr. Judith S. Eaton, President of Clark County Community College, will be the guest speaker at an Equality Day Luncheon on August 26 at the Skywatch Room of Hughes Executive Terminal.

Women's Equality Day celebrates the 150 year struggle of women to gain the right to vote. The struggle ended with the passage of the 19th amendment to the United States Constitution in 1920.

At the luncheon, sponsored by the Southern Nevada Federal Women's Program Interagency Council, Dr. Eaton will address the issue of educational opportunities.

Dr. Eaton received her Bachelor and Master degrees from the University of Michigan. In 1975, she received her Doctor of Philosophy from Wayne State University. Dr. Eaton was recognized in 1976 as one of the Outstanding Women in America.

Springmeyer Tries for Congress

Don Springmeyer, a Nevada rancher and attorney, announced his candidacy for the U.S. Congress Monday. Springmeyer, a Democrat, said our state's new District 2 seat in the House of Representatives calls for a new voice for Nevada. "We're being offered the chance to elect a strong new leader to Congress. As the nation's fastest growing state, Nevada can't afford to wait while both its population and its problems increase. I'm not waiting to see which way the political winds blow to announce my candidacy. I'm acting now because our state needs a new voice now," Springmeyer said. Nevada's new congressional District Number Two encompasses most of the state, with the exception of most of Clark County. The northernmost areas of Clark County, along with the Moapa Valley region are included within District Two. A fourth-generation Nevadan, Springmeyer said, "I'm not a professional politician. I run our family ranch. I know the burdens being placed on Nevada's rural interests - and the old-fashioned fortitude it takes to face them. But I also practice law in Reno. And I treasure the quality of life which urban residents are trying so hard to preserve." The 27-year-old Springmeyer emphasized that the newly created congressional district is an entirely new political arena. "Take a good look at our district," he said. "The Clark County portion is a microcosm of the whole district. Ranchers and farmers struggle with sparse water supplies and mounting production costs. City residents everywhere suffer from the same shortage of having too little in their pockets to buy goods that cost too much. And retired people across the state worry about the bankruptcy of the Social Security system. "These problems can't and won't be ignored in my campaign for Congress because they are the problems of every Nevadan." Springmeyer said he recognizes he'll have to work long and hard to reach the voters in the sprawling new district. "I'm not kidding myself. I realize it will take months of travel to visit all parts of the district and hear from Nevadan about what they'd like to see done in Congress. But I'll be backing up those trips with my own research and ideas on our growing state's needs - and make sure Nevada's new voice is heard in the halls of Congress," Springmeyer said.

Trim' Says No Increase In National Debt

The local chapter of the National TRIM Committee, Tax Reform Immediately, is sponsoring this public service announcement to make the local voters aware that Congress has plans in the month of September to vote for an increase in our National Debt. This would push our debt over the trillion dollar mark. TRIM urges all voters to contact their congressman and senators to vote NO on Trillion Dollar National Debt ceiling. Petitions are also being circulated by the committee against any such increase. Anyone wishing to help circulate or sign these petitions please call 798-0298.

PROCLAMATION CALLING FOR NO TRILLION DOLLAR NATIONAL DEBT

Whereas, the United States Congress has voted more than twenty times to approve a "temporary" increase in the National Debt since the last "permanent" Debt ceiling was enacted in 1971; and

Whereas, Congress voted to raise the Debt ceiling an additional $50 billion early this year to an horrendous $985 billion; and

Whereas, the National Debt is now approaching the one trillion dollar plateau, thereby increasing the pressures of inflation; and

Whereas, over $116 billion of the Debt is owed to foreign investors, which lays bare the fallacy that "we owe it to ourselves;" and

Whereas, a trillion dollar Debt would mean, on the average, a cool $4,444 in indebtedness for each of 225 million Americans; and

Whereas, the interest alone for a trillion dollar Debt would be over $100 billion a year and would amount to nearly $450 yearly per American citizen; and

Whereas, the "official" National Debt is only a part of the Federal government's total unfunded obligations, which include loan guarantees, Social Security benefits and various international commitments; and

Whereas, the best estimates available show that the Federal government's total unfunded obligations stand at ten trillion dollars, which amounts to $44,444 for every living American; and

Whereas, Government Debt depletes the availability of capital for new or expanding enterprises in business and industry; and

Whereas, we must not mortgage America's future to finance today's political promises; and

Whereas, "No Trillion Dollar National Debt!" is a major step toward lower taxes, less government harassment, lower prices, more money in your savings account, and more job and investment opportunities;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the United States Congress should insist upon "No Trillion Dollar National Debt!" by voting against all future proposals to raise the National Debt ceiling, and by voting for true reductions in the size and cost of the Federal government.

Skunks, it is said, often eat bees.

WICHE Seeking Exchange Student Applicants

Applications are being accepted by the State of Nevada Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE) Student Exchange Program.

The WICHE Student Exchange Program was established to aid Nevada residents in obtaining education in graduate - professional fields not available within the State. Funding for the program is appropriated by the Nevada Legislature. Currently the supported fields are: Dentistry, Law, Library Science, Optometry, Physical Therapy, Veterinary Medicine.

Requirements for certification vary according to the field of study, however, all persons applying must be residents of Nevada. Legislation enacted by the 1981 Nevada Legislature requires that applicants be residents of the State for five (5) years prior to applying for WICHE certification.

The deadline for applications and other pertinent documentation is October 30 of the year preceding the academic year in which the applicant plans to enter professional school. Persons planning to enroll during academic year 1982-83 should request an application by writing or calling the Nevada WICHE office, 405 March Avenue, Reno, Nevada 89509; telephone (702) 784-4900. All queries should be directed to this office.

Hospital to Have New Intensive Care and Coronary Units

Under construction soon at St. Rose de Lima Hospital as part of an extensive remodeling program, will be an intensive care unit and two coronary care units, according to Barbara Christiansen, director of nursing. The new intensive care unit, which will be located where the solarium is now located on the first floor, will contain two beds and the coronary care units will have two private sections.

There will be a central nurse's station with a monitoring screen. The equipment will be Hewlett-Packard brand. With the new unit the hospital will be expanding the types of procedures that can be done. There will be windows and waiting areas for families and the patients can be kept under close observation.

Mrs. Christiansen said the possibilities of the new units are "exciting." The $250,000 addition is largely funded from the Fleishman foundation. The new units will be staffed with especially trained people.

Changes in the remodeling have brought about better access and care for the patients by the hospital workers. The nursery has been moved on the second floor from where they have been located for several years and some of the space has been converted back to more hospital rooms.

NEW NURSERY EQUIPMENT--This new equipment in St. Rose de Lima's new nursery addition will help new babies with problems.

TOPICS FOR TAXPAYERS

Some Local Officials Need High School Civics

By ERNEST L. NEWTON
Executive Vice President
Nevada Taxpayers Association

Last month some Nevada city and county officials had bitter complaints against the state legislature. The genesis of the complaints was the action of the legislature in setting revenue limits for local governments and in requiring that specific fiscal decisions be made, or the matter be submitted to the voters. It was argued that the state's efforts to impose controls on local governments come with little grace in view of the state's complaint about federal mandates and controls. The argument displays a crying need for review of high school civics; or, in the alternative, the study of civics for those who have never been exposed to it.

The Federal-State relationships are much different from State-Local relationships. The two have almost nothing in common.

The federal government was formed by the original 13 states (and the subsequent admission of 37 others) by agreement to support and defend the Constitution of the United States. The original 13 devised the Constitution "in order to form a more perfect union," and created the United States of America. Every power of the federal government is the result of a grant from the states and their representatives. By the

Annual Report Issued

A wealth of information on crop values, irrigated acreages, recreation areas, and more is at hand with the release of the Bureau of Reclamation's 1979 Annual Report.

Since 1902 the Bureau's mission has evolved from a single-purpose irrigation function to a multi-purpose resources development program. This 74th edition provides a complete overview of the Bureau's natural resources programs, complete with photographs, maps and statistics.

"This continuing series of reports has proven valuable to analysts preparing economic and financial studies of Bureau of Reclamation projects," said Commissioner Robert N. Broadbent. "The history of irrigation development, crop production and other project activities provides basic data for investigations of proposed new projects and extension of existing ones."

The report, previously called "Water and Land Resource Accomplishments," is published in four volumes: a summary volume and three statistical appendices. The summary volume contains data on acreage, yield, production, irrigation, gross crop value, municipal and industrial water service, recreation, electrical power, generation and flood control. Appendix I contains crop statistics, Appendix II contains statistics on finances and physical features, and Appendix III details project data information.

tenth amendment to the constitution, every power not specifically granted to the federal government is "reserved to the states, or to the people."

Conversely, counties, school districts, towns and cities exist because they were created by the state. They owe their very existence to actions of the state, acting through its legislature. Anyone who would question that fact has only to remember the situation a dozen years ago when a southern Nevada city proposed to embark on a course of conduct in defiance of legislative directions. A bill was prepared and made available to just abolish that city. It took about ten minutes for the city officials to read the proposed bill and change their tune. For those Nevadans who are parents, particularly those who have raised bratty kids) the wails of some local government officials are familiar. To their credit, few elected officials have been the complainers. Most of the complaints come from the hired help.

The elected officials usually know better and are the ones that have to answer to the taxpayers for the profligacy of government operations at the local level. Most of the elected officials are "part-time" officers and have an understanding of the burden that local governments can become when they seek to expand their operations by trying to dictate decisions bearing on the fiscal health of private enterprises. The door is wide open if any local government wants financing for a new or expanded activity of government. All the local government has to do is to define the activity, put a price tag on it and submit it to the voters. If it is approved by 51% of the voters, the tax rate is imposed and the project is off and running.

Hahn Wins Speech Competition

Bridget Hahn, Miss Nevada National Teen-ager was awarded a $1,000 scholarship to be used at the college of her choice. She received this award for winning the speech competition at the 10th Annual Miss Nevada National Teen-ager Pageant, being held this week in Lehigh, Florida. Each of the state queens were required to present a 100 word speech on the topic of "What's Right About America."

Miss Hahn, a resident of Las Vegas, is representing Nevada in this national competition where the winner will be crowned on Thursday, August 13. The new Miss National Teen-ager will receive a $5,000 scholarship to the college of her choice and over $25,000 in prizes, including a new car. The Master of Ceremonies at this 10th National Pageant is Pat Boone who also emceed the pageant in 1979. Bridget will be a freshman at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas in the fall. If you would like to participate in the 1982

Striped Bass Tournney at Lake Powell

Striper Magazine has announced the dates for its first - annual striped - bass tournament at Lake Powell as Saturday, Sept. fifth and Sunday, Sept. sixth. Tournament headquarters will be Wahweap Marina in Page, Arizona.

First prize for the largest fish caught in the two - day, one - night event will be $1,000. First prize is based on 120 entrants.

Five trophies and at least 20 valuable merchandise awards will be made to the runners up. Fishing hours for the tournament will be from daylight on Saturday, through 3 p.m. on Sunday, when awards presentation will be made.

The week - end event will be preceded on Friday evening, Sept. fourth by a free seminar which is open to the public as well as entrants to the tournament. Set for the Holiday Inn in Page, the famous fishing clinic will feature Stu Tinney, known world - wide as the number One authority on the striper. Exciting action films will cap off the evening of fun which begins with a get acquainted hour at 6:30 p.m., the actual seminar begins at 7:30 p.m.

Aimed at fun - family fishing, the derby allows men, women and children to compete on an equal basis. Fish can be caught by any legal means, in a boat or off the bank. The events are being held to better educate fishermen about this great game fish as well as giving the average guy a chance to compete and join in the fun.

In a recent interview, Stu Tinney said "we're anxious to be in Arizona, we have experienced wonderful success with our past three events at Lake Havasu and we're glad our Page members talked us into still another Arizona event." He continued "we've made lots of nice friends in this and other surrounding states and we are really anxious for a chance to bring them all together again to join in our zany brand of fun fishing ... we are certain to attract lots of new interest as well."

For more tournament information, call Tom Pettengill at (602) 645-9360. For information on lodging, call Mary O'Farrell at (602) 645-8851. Registration forms will be available from Tom Pettengill or at the Friday night seminar.

Crisis Communication Management Conference

The International Association of Business Communicators of Las Vegas will sponsor a one day Crisis Communications Management Conference on Friday, September 18, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., in Las Vegas.

The conference will feature national experts in the field of public information. Panel members, including Phil Cogan, Regional Public Affairs Officer, Federal Emergency Mangement

Agency; Lt. Col. Richard Kline, Media Relations Chief, Strategic Air Command; and David F. Miller, Director of Public Affairs, Department of Energy, will discuss "National Crisis Communications Management."

"Southern Nevada Emergency Mangement Plans and Public Information" will be discussed by panel members Robert Andrews, Nevada State Civil Defense and Disaster Assistance Director; Kenneth Ryckman, Clark County Emergency Management Co - ordinator; Jack Pappageorge, Deputy Fire Chief, Clark County Fire Department; and Jim Hulsey of the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department.

Prominate members of the Las Vegas media will staff a panel discussing "What the Las Vegas media needs from us during disasters." Roundtable discussions will follow panel discussions, allowing for additional interaction with the panel speakers.

Steve Leon, Public Information Officer, Reynolds Electrical and Engineering Company, will conduct an "Introduction to Crisis Communications Management."

The purpose of this Crisis Management Conference is to provide information about national and local crisis communications management so that communicators will gain new skills and learn how to best respond to crises within our own organization.

Conference participants will leave the conference knowing who is in charge of a local emergency, how to identify the on - scene commander, how to co-ordinate information and disseminate it to the media, and much more.

New LDS Mission President Called

Gary N. Jardine, an attorney from East Wenatchee, Wash., has been called to serve as the new president of the Nevada Las Vegas Mission of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

President Jardine, 41, replaces President S. Reed Dayton who completed his three-year assignment last month and returned to his home in Cokeville, Wyo.

As president, Jardine is responsible for directing the activities of the 136 "Mormon" missionaries serving in the mission, which includes the state of Nevada and small portions of California and Arizona. Among these missionaries are 111 young men, ages 19 to 25; 17 young women over the age of 21; and four retired couples.

The young men serve for two years and the young women and couples generally serve for 18 months. The missionaries give of their time voluntarily and pay their own expenses, often with the help of family and friends.

Born in Butte, Mont., Jardine spent most of his early years in Washington where he was graduated from high school in 1958. He completed his undergraduate work at the University of Utah and in 1968 received his law degree from the university's College of Law. Upon graduating from law school, Jardine accepted a position with one of the oldest firms in Pittsburgh, Pa., and later moved his family to East Wenatchee, Wash., where he set up his own practice, that now includes six lawyers.

Jardine and his wife, Carol, are the parents of seven children, ages 1 1/2 to 20. Their oldest son is serving a mission for the church in Arizona. The other six children moved with them to Las Vegas.

Commenting on why he would give up a successful law practice to serve as a mission president for three years, Jardine said: "I believe in what the Savior said: that 'whosoever shall save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall find it.' Long ago, a friend of mine, who was wise beyond his years, made the following comment, which has always been significant in my life: 'Too many of us are too often involved in the thick of thin things.'"

"I have a conviction that the most significant things we will do in this life relate not to temporal successes, but relate rather to the spiritual impacts we may have on the lives of others," he explained.

"I have always been impressed with the words of a poem:

'Success when you sum it all up isn't gold,
Nor is it in doing some deed that is told.
For the money we make and the houses we build

Mean nothing the moment our voices are stilled.
But he has succeeded who when he is gone
In the life of another is still living on.'

Jardine said the main purpose of the Mormon church's missionary program is to "encourage compliance by all men with the teachings of the Savior, Jesus Christ."

He stated that his primary objective as a mission president is "to take the message of the gospel to every person in this mission, because that message is the primary need of all mankind. If we would harmonize our lives with the teachings of Jesus Christ, every problem between husband and wife, between neighbors, and between nations would be solved."

About 30,000 Mormon missionaries are serving in missions throughout the world. According to Jardine, all of these missionaries are called by God to this service because of their conviction and testimony of the truthfulness and importance of the message they bring.

Financial Advisor to Speak

On Sunday, August 23, at 11 o'clock in the morning at the community room of First Western Savings, 1000 Nevada Highway, the Baha'i Faith of Boulder City will present Alvin L. Harvey of E.F. Hutton & Company who will speak on the topic of "Money Management." An assistant vice president of E.F. Hutton's Las Vegas office, Harvey has had many years of experience in the securities business, having headed his own firm - Harvey Associates, Inc., in California for seven years with a seat on the Pacific Stock Exchange and other major exchanges.

A native of Steelton, Pennsylvania, Harvey has sixteen years of experience including several years with Blyth, Eastman, Dillon & Co.

Harvey is married and has two sons, 23 and 20. His recreational interests include skiing. He is a graduate of Glendale College, Glendale, California.

Following his talk, Harvey will answer questions from the audience. There is no obligation by attending the talk, and no donations will be accepted. For more information call 293-0104.

Water Systems Completes First Phase of Yuma Desalting Plant

Hydranautics Water Systems of Santa Barbara, California has been given notice to proceed with furnishing basic desalting equipment for the Yuma Desalting Plant, now under construction at Yuma, Arizona, the Department of Interior's Bureau of Reclamation announced today.

Robert N. Broadbent, Commissioner of Reclamation, said that approval to proceed was given to Hydranautics following their completion of proof test requirements under the first phase of their contract and following their agreement to modify equipment operations to meet the original contract requirements. The membrane desalination equipment being manufactured will have the capability of desalting 23.5 million gallons per day of irrigation return flows he added.

Equipment proof testing was conducted to permit early identification and correction of any unforeseen problems. The contractor was required to furnish a test unit representative of the actual equipment to be furnished, which was operationally tested by the Government at its Yuma Desalting Test Facility near Yuma, Arizona. Proof test results indicated that the equipment offered has the necessary mechanical integrity, but required additional capacity to assure design productivity during sustained operation on the Wellton-Mohawk drain water.

An agreement was reached between the contractor and the Government which enables manufacture of the desalting plant equipment to proceed. Under terms of the agreement, Hydranautics Water Systems will modify chemical cleaning solutions and provide increased membrane area, without additional plant construction or operating costs to the Government. Proof test results indicate that these modifications can provide required effective productivity, and the Government issued notice to proceed to Hydranautics Water Systems for furnishing the 22.35 Mgal-d of desalting equipment.

Commissioner Broadbent said completion of the first phase of the contract confirms the technical viability of the project.

The Yuma Desalting Plant is the central feature of the Colorado River Basin Salinity Control Project, a Federally sponsored project being constructed to meet treaty salinity limits on Colorado River water delivered to Mexico.

It's Fun To Be A Clown

By Darla Pierce
Softly slipping into the room, a clown dressed in a billowing green suit, topped off with multi-colored hair and bright red nose, smiles at the patient and presents a balloon.

The little girl breaks into a smile then laughs at the hair and squeezes the nose.

Not only is the little girl happy but so is the clown.

Cheering up patients is only part of Linda Kirk's duty at St. Rose de Lima Hospital. Most of the time she works as Coordinator of Personnel.

Kirk first started clowning for her husband, helping out at grand openings of 7-11 store franchises. Then she and co-worker Craig Urashima, Director of Materiel Management, dressed up for Easter as clown and rabbit and visited patients during the holiday.

"We like to do it," Kirk explained, adding that working at the hospital and helping patients makes them feel good inside.

According to Chloe Coles, an R.N. at St. Rose de Lima, the visits "make them (the patients) feel special."

She said a hospital stay can be boring and scary, and seeing a

Kirk said she likes to make visits to patients whenever she dresses up for special events at

So on your next visit to St. Rose de Lima, don't be startled to find a brightly lit clown around the corner.

Northshore Road Closure

Northshore Road, between Stewarts Point turn-off and Overton Beach Landing junction in the Lake Mead National Recreation Area, is closed due to a flash flood that removed a section of roadway on August 10. This occurred during a severe storm over the recreation area.

Superintendent Jerry Wagers has announced that the Northshore Road at milepost 42.5 is closed at this time. A two hundred foot length of highway has been washed away to a depth of about 25 feet. "We are attempting to construct a detour through this area and hope to have the road open by the afternoon of August 14," Wagers said.

Wagers emphasized that access is still open to Echo Bay, Stewarts Point Cabinsites, and Overton Beach Landing. Echo Bay and Stewarts Point can be reached via Northshore Road from the south. Overton Beach Landing can be reached from I-15, Valley of Fire Road, and from Overton.

Eyewitnesses said that water coming down

Valley of Fire Wash was extremely high and that it crested the roadway by about 3-4 feet. With that much water the roadway did not last long.

Horsemanship Classes Offered at CCCC

Two exciting new classes in riding and horsemanship are being offered this Fall at Clark County Community College with both "in the classroom" and "on the horse" instruction.

Beginning Riding and Horsemanship is a course covering western riding, horse care, riding skills, techniques and safety.

The Light Horse Management course offers classroom instruction on horse selection and care for personal use, form and function, feed and feeding, and facilities and equipment.

Both courses will run for 10 weeks beginning August 31.

The instructor, Ms. Carol Cocks of Las Vegas, is a highly qualified wrangler and horse trainer with credentials from Colorado State University where she received a degree in Animal Science.

Her experiences range through most of the eleven western states, including trips to the Quarter Horse World Championships, driving horse drawn wagons in Yellowstone Park, Wyoming, leading pack trips through the Rocky Mountains, and working as top hand at a well known training center in Colorado.

Classes will be conducted at both the Community College in North Las Vegas and at the popular horse show arena Los Rancheros, just north of Tonopah Highway.

Early registration is recommended: CCCC registration is held daily now through August 26 at the Cheyenne Campus.

For further information on this Community Service class call 643-6060 ext. 268.

Kitchen Can Be Friend In Dieting

As barbecuing and cold collations begin to pall with end-of-summer storms (a forecast of the colder weather to come), the kitchen life looms heavy for the dieter. Thoughts like "I can't lose weight because I cook for a large family," or "I live alone and have to cook for myself," or "I entertain a lot," are the kitchen cries of countless people trying to shed a few pounds.

"But the kitchen doesn't have to be a fearful or time-consuming place," says Reva Schwartz, Area Director for Weight Watchers of Las Vegas, Inc. Cooking can be fast and uncomplicated as well as interesting, on a nutritionally balanced plan like ours that offers wine, stir-frying, peanut butter, popcorn and the like. And self-management techniques, like the ones that are in integral part of the Weight Watchers Total Program, can help with the majority of psychological obstacles to successful weight loss that crop up everywhere, not only in the kitchen. In our class, for instance, techniques are taught for getting help from loved ones, dealing with negative moods, and developing stronger motivation. Dealing with the kitchen is not difficult at all once you know how."

Here are a few suggestions the Weight Watchers organization passes along to you:

- Try not to go into the kitchen hungry. Plan a snack for right before you start cooking, so that more food doesn't wind up in your mouth than on another's plate.
- Look at the kitchen as a workroom and not an opportunity to snack. If you consider it as simply the room in which you do a job, you can discourage the urge to take breaks with food.
- Cut the waiting time in food preparation. A wait in the kitchen can mean weight on the scale. So start the dish that needs the longest preparation first. Then while that is cooking, keep mind and eye occupied with the rest of the meal, or with a diversion like a favorite television or radio show.
- You don't have to taste to tell how good a dish is. Use eyes and nose to judge for texture and aroma, and keep salt and pepper on the table for people to add to their meals individually.
- Don't spend the whole day in the kitchen. Even if you're hosting a gourmet meal, don't plan for more than one or two time-consuming dishes. Simplify the rest.

Rainbow Club (Aug. 7)

The lights went out in the Rainbow, and the colors faded away. When I got up this morning, I knew this was going to be a hell of a day. The slot machines were still mesmerizing the patrons. The crap tables were still going strong. The music was flowing, like a good burgandy wine. My wife and I got up, when the lights were out, and dancing to the polka and doing fine. The Keno board went dead, the Keno girls kept their position, to keep things in an orderly way. Even though the lights went out, I told my wife, I still had a lot of fun this day.

Bush Visits Daughter at Annapolis

Several relatives of Rani Bush, who is attending the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., returned home from visiting during parents weekend.

Rani's father, John, of Henderson, her aunt, Mary Christine Greene and cousin Timothy Greene-Pope, spent the weekend getting acquainted with the naval academy.

Bush reported that the fall semester starts August 24 for the Basic High School graduate. She has tried out for the flag line for the plebes in the drum and bugle corps. Her sponsors are Dr. and Mrs. Earl Phillips of Crofton, Md.

They visited the dormitories, classrooms, and they reported that everyone they met was "fantastic." The weather was great, and they were particularly impressed with the campus chapel.

Miss Bush plans to enter the field of aerospace engineering.

Bush said he feels all high school graduates should visit the naval academy

It is not unusual for a product to enter the market as a prescription medicine and then be shifted by government regulation to the nonprescription category when it becomes clear that consumers do understand how to use it safely and properly on their own, noted

Nathan J. Stark, Under Secretary of Health and Human Services.

Among a number of formerly prescription-only medicines now available without a prescription are shampoos to control dandruff and hydrocortisone ointments for skin irritations, observed E. William Rosenberg at a symposium sponsored by The Proprietary Association, the trade association representing manufacturers of nonprescription medicines.

An FDA panel on nonprescription medicines recommended adoption of a system developed by industry to help consumers use sunscreen products safely and effectively. Many sunscreens now carry the rating--ranging from two to 15. A rating of six, for example, indicates that using the product, a person may stay in the sun six times as long as he could without the sunscreen.

Hoover Dam Workers to be Honored at Celebration August 27 at R.R. Pass

By press time there had been 50 reservations made to the Leroy Burt residence by old-timers who worked at Hoover Dam from 1931 up to Sept. 30, 1935. This rare opportunity to have a special buffet by invitation of Bob Verchota's R.R. Pass casino cannot be underestimated for as all who have lived in Boulder City for 50 years know, the count of actual survivors of the dam building days grow preciously few. It is important to meet whenever we can and for the really lucky ones this year marks 50 years of happy married life.

Our host at this happy get-together is Luke Lukowski, who along with Bob Verchota, are giving their all to this complimentary buffet for as all historians realize, it was the greatest Hoover Dam that helped give birth to what has become the oldest casino in Clark County.

We are counting on pioneers who have lived in Boulder City for the first five years of its existence to call president Leroy Burt or secretary - treasurer Lucille Burt at 293-1515 to make reservations.

Hurry! By press time there were 60 happy to be alive pioneers stating their delight and gratefulness to Bob Verchota's Railroad Pass.

Our prayers go out this week to Blanche Coe and to Katherine Manning for their sad passing last week is contained in the NEWS today.

Our thanks go to the Burt family et - al for the work they are still doing for the 31'er's. 100 seats are reserved for the Aug. 27 event.

Welcome Aboard Community Club's First Venture into the New Season

All members and guests of Boulder City's Community Club are cordially invited to participate in the opening Buffet Supper to be held on Friday night, August 28th at 6:30 p.m. in the Multi-Use Building. This occasion will mark the beginning of the 1981-82 activity season for the Club with quite a number of new and different programs being planned.

For the Buffet, the Club will provide the entree and beverages, while each member is requested to bring a favorite food to serve. Those who attend should furnish their individual place settings including silverware.

WINNERS & LOSERS

The first animal star to appear regularly in films was the dog Rover, hero of the 1905 movie "Rescue by Rover."

For a long time, the people of the U.S. were winners when it came to being the leaders in nuclear technology. In spite of the early U.S. lead in breeder development, however, France, the U.K. and the U.S.S.R. have been operating Liquid Metal Fast Breeder Reactor (LMFBR) demonstration plants since the early 1970s—and we have not.

Experts predict that timely construction of our fast breeder reactor plant can open the door to increased U.S. influence over the proliferation and non-proliferation of nuclear power.

Aggressive LMFBR development and demonstration programs taking place in most foreign industrialized countries have confirmed the breeder's technical merits and constitute a strong argument for accelerating the U.S. LMFBR program. This could make us more like winners when it comes to winning our energy independence.

The U.S. LMFBR program can benefit from advances made in foreign breeder development activities through technology exchange agreements. We can win information from others, say the experts at the Consumer Science Center, an industry-sponsored group of editors and writers who explain how research and technology affect the public interest.

B.C. Art Guild Featured Artists - Ruth and Jim Deutsch

The Deutschs moved to Boulder City from Kayspell, Montana in December 1978. Tom is a semi-retired dentist since leaving Montana and now helps his son a few months out of each year with his dental practice in Hancock, Minn. He has been a hobby painter for several years and enjoys being associated and working with the Art Guild. Ruth started painting about fifteen years ago, with encouragement from her aunt, June Isaacs, who is a Montana artist and teacher. She has attended classes locally from Donna Friedman, Judy Carlin and Lorraine Young. She also has taken a sketching class from Ted Goodwin.

Cutting Firewood?—Heed These Chain Saw Safety Tips

Last year, more than 50,000 Americans required hospital treatment for chain-saw injuries, many of which could have been avoided, the safety manager of a major forest-products company says.

"With more people using wood in their fireplaces and with wood stoves increasing at about a million each year, we're seeing a lot more inexperienced chain-saw users in the woods," Stovall Farmer of Georgia-Pacific Corp. observes, noting that chain saws in use have tripled to about 15 million over the past decade.

Most chain-saw injuries involve kickbacks and falling on the saw, Farmer explains.

"Keep a tight grip," he says. "Don't let the tip of the saw come in contact with other objects. Keep your left arm straight. And make sure your chain is adjusted."

"Never, never cut above shoulder height," Farmer emphasizes, pointing out that a kickback and loss of control can have disastrous consequences in such a case.

Other safety rules are largely common sense, but bear repeating, Farmer notes, because so many people seem to forget them when it comes time to fire up their saws. These include:

- Think ahead; don't work too fast; quit before you're tired.

- Keep others away from cutting area.
- Dress to protect head, feet, legs and hands; and preserve your hearing with ear protection.
- Be careful with fuel.
- Do your cutting with the engine running wide open.

According to Farmer, a "safety attitude" is the most important factor of all. He says he has seen this to be the rule in all lines of work.

Renowned Educators and Friends at Bert Hansen's Bottling Plant

Let's go to Boulder City to celebrate Marlin's birthday was a suggestion from several of Marlin and Nadine Nilsen's friends.

Boulder City is proud to say that Marlin Nilsen and his friends slept at the Boulder Dam Hotel last Sunday night.

They had dinner there. They enjoyed every minute and they proclaimed the food as being outstanding. They exalted the renovation of the elegant Boulder Dam Hotel. When the NEWS first caught up with them they were dancing at the Bottling Plant with the old fashioned juke box playing music from the 50's.

Introductions in Order ... Please meet Our Visitors ... our readers will recognize these names. Thermon White and his Betty, Bill and Marsha Rohnkohl, Joe and Pat Purcell, and Dick and Penny Gregg, in addition to Marlin and Nadine Nilsen.

Our hearts were young and gay as we heard our visitors compliment the Boulder Dam Hotel and the Bottling Plant.

Next time they come they are bringing us some more admirers! THE BOULDER CITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LOVES YOU. COME BACK SOON.

FACTS & FIGURES

Some news for wives whose husbands smoke.

In a just-published, 20-year study of one million Americans, the American Cancer Society (ACS) could not find any significant increase in lung cancer death rates among nonsmoking women married to smokers as compared with nonsmoking women married to non smokers.

The study, prepared by ACS's chief statistician, Lawrence Garfinkel, and published in the June issue of the Journal of the National Cancer Institute, contradicts a Japanese study published last January that alarmed wives of smoking husbands with the suggestion that they were being exposed to significantly higher risks of lung cancer.

Following its publication, the Japanese study was criticized by other scientists for inadequacies and inconsistencies. And, just recently, it was reported that the Japanese study contains a serious mathematical error which, according to one expert, invalidates the claim in the study of a highly statistically significant relation between the mortality of nonsmoking wives and the amount of their husband's smoking.

In the new study, the ACS analyzed mortality information for women whose husbands smoked fewer than 20 cigarettes a day and for those whose husbands smoke and those who don't.

Most people walk under pine trees, and pay no attention to the pine needles on the ground. Not so, with Ella and Ken Bell, they travel to Flagstaff, Arizona a few times each year just to pick up the pine needles.

Ella has perfected the art of making pine needle baskets and they are really something to see.

The talent for art runs in the family. Daughter Maxine Mansor is into weaving, and even makes her own felt for her art work. Now when most of us think of weaving they think in the terms of clothing, but Maxine has used her talent as an artist to make wall hangings, she also makes clothes, in fact she will exhibit her clothes later this year.

This weekend you can see what mother and daughter are doing with the rare art forms when they are joined by friend Roxanne Maki in a three woman Fiber Arts Show at Burk Gal'ry.

Ella is getting so good at making those baskets that she has been accepted into all the juried shows she has entered, and in the recent competition sponsored by the Fiber Arts Guild of Las Vegas her basket entry won the 'judges choice' award.

Maxine is making a name for herself in the weaving arts, too. She is the Nevada State Representative of the Handweavers Guild of America.

Ken has his own thing going working with wood, and if you miss the show this time be sure and see all their work at the Doodlebug Fair in December.

It's interesting to note that both Ella and Maxine have had to build on extra rooms to house their art work, so you see they really like what they do, and it shows in their work. Catch the show this weekend. It starts at 6 p.m. Friday.

How's this for a Friday night's entertainment. Catch the art show at Burk, have dinner at any of the downtown restaurants and catch the Fantasies at Herb's Tavern.

James and Bernice Cronk of Teakwood have had wall to wall company lately.

The first visitor was granddaughter Amy Somerville from Casper, Wyoming, who spent three weeks with her grandparents.

Amy flew home and in came Jim's brother, Darrell and wife Vivian, and niece Alice from Milton, Wisconsin. Younger Cronks joined the party too.

Darrell's son Rich, and wife Karen, of Janesville, Wisconsin flew in to join their parents and were treated to sightseeing jaunts around Boulder City and Las Vegas.

They were all first time visitors and Bernice says, "It's such fun just to watch their faces the first time they see all the Las Vegas lights."

As Jim works at the dam of course one of the high spots of the vacation was a tour to see where good ole Unc spends his time.

That Irene Calmy is getting to be a real gadabout. She no sooner returned from spending some time with her mom in the east when her sister Doris Phillips of Rhode Island flew in for a couple of weeks. The two women then took off for California to visit Irene's daughter and son-in-law Rich and Pat Crandall.

Doris took off for home yesterday, and now Irene is looking forward to the next group - whoever they may be! I think she likes company.

Irene's trip back east accomplished something. While she was away hubby Stan installed a new sprinkler system. I think he got tired of pulling out the hose to water all those beautiful rose bushes.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By Dr. Stuart M. Cocks

HYPERACTIVE CHILDREN

Your child's teacher may complain that the youngster is hyperactive. Or, could this merely be "inruly behavior"?

There are physiological reasons for true hyperactivity, including:

Interference with the normal development of the nervous system so nerve messages are confused and misinterpreted by the brain.

An extreme reaction to additives in food. The body's inability to maintain proper blood sugar level.

If a child is suspected of being hyperactive parents should consult a professional who understands hyperkinesia as early as possible. Usual symptoms include: excessive movement; regularly aggressive and disruptive actions; impulsive behavior; impatience; and poor coordination.

Treatment by a doctor of chiropractic is usually effective and the earlier it begins, the more promising the outlook.

Westmans Return From Cruise

Patricia C. Westman of Boulder City, and well known Las Vegas Travel Consultant, shown in photo studying some of the navigation equipment on the spacious bridge overlooking the forward deck of the Norwegian-American cruise ship Sagafjord recently somewhere off the coast of Mexico. Pat and her husband, Burton, were guests of Capt. Magnar Berntzen on the tour of his bridge to see the array of sophisticated electronic wizardry he used to steer his huge cruise ship on its maiden Trans-Canal voyage destined for San Francisco. Much to their surprise there was no pilot wheel anywhere. Instead there were a bewildering number of panels, dials, switches and knobs used to control the ship's every movement for incredibly quiet, smooth sailing. Of particular interest was the heart of the guidance system. It was a computer locked in, as it were, on a satellite high in the sky which determines the exact position in longitude and latitude continuously in any kind of weather. These continuous digital readouts also could be seen near the Main Lobby where interested passengers could follow the ship's progress on a large chart of the Pacific Coast.

The Sagafjord is an ultra-modern cruise ship of 25,000 tons renowned for its spacious all first class luxurious accommodations for only 400 passengers most of whom were from the Eastern United States and Europe and many were long time friends who sailed on this same ship every year for weeks sometimes for months at a time. One elderly gentleman in his 80's and his wife said this was their 86th cruise! He was always sketching something for paintings which were said to command considerable sums at auctions, the proceeds from which he donates to his favorite charity. Even the ship's officers and service personnel had some interesting personalities.

All of them were from Scandinavia and, much to Pat Westman's surprise, one of them was Elizabeth Petersen from Goteborg who turned out to be a close relative by marriage to Pat's Dutch cousin in Angered, Sweden!

For all the passengers and crew this voyage had a finale eagerly awaited: sailing into San Francisco Bay for the first time as passenger ships used to do years ago. At the crack of dawn, after the harbor pilot was taken aboard, they lined the rails to marvel at the fabulous scenery as the ship sailed beneath the famous Golden Gate Bridge towering overhead as the morning sun seemed to rise up out of the distant night-darkened bay as if on cue. The seas were calm and the weather turned out unusually warm and clear for San Francisco. Out of nowhere appeared small sailboats, brightly attired in gaudy sails to flit about the ship and from everywhere whistles and horns echoed welcome from other ships large and small as fireboats turned out to shepherd the Sagafjord into port with curtains of sun-lit streams of water spraying high into the air while TV helicopters hovered overhead recording the event.

After docking, the Westmans were invited to attend a special luncheon put on for some 250 city and state dignitaries and other guests from all over the Bay Region. This was followed by a cocktail party in the huge lavish ballroom where a local Norwegian folkdance team performed. Speeches were then made as ornate plaques were presented to the ship's Captain welcoming the Sagafjord to its 'home port' away from home from which it will cruise the Alaskan waters and elsewhere in the Pacific. And to add to this memorable event was the startling fast, courteous efficiency of the U.S. Custom Officials! That is itself was a pleasant surprise compared to the hassel in San Juan on another Caribbean cruise several weeks ago and, particularly, the five hour delay previously experienced upon disembarking from a similar transcanal cruise at the Port of Los Angeles, contrary to the impression that some TV viewers may get from watching the 'Love Boat' program. But, then, San Francisco always was a gracious host to visitors and they are again successfully bidding to attract other cruise lines to rebuild their old time supremacy as The Port City for Pacific cruises once again.

The painter, Rembrandt, created 62 self-portraits.

SENIOR CITIZEN ACTIVITIES

ROOMS 6 & 7 CIVIC CENTER
 By Edna Deardoff
 It really rained hard here in the vicinity of the Senior Center at the time of this writing. I just opened the door and the air feels cool, and trees and grass look happy to have had such a nice wetting. I am happy to report that Clara Raduenz is looking well and her Doctor allowed her to fly to Minnesota to visit her children there. She says that she will be gone a couple of months. We all hope she has a great time and will come back to us rested and well. Selza Heffelfinger is back in her home again after a stay in the hospital. We hope she will soon be well enough to join us for lunch. I am a great aunt again! We welcome a darling little girl in the

Richard Hietbrink family. She is Renee Joann and is the pride and joy of her brother Ryan. Our Fun Day last week was well attended and we did have a good time. Ten games of bingo were played and the lucky winners were Peggy Vliet, Lela Buescher, Ann Fletcher, Janet Blatnick, Alta Lee Chambers, Pauline Munce, Dorothy Diebold, Anne Ahrens and Agatha Nelson. Lela Buescher won the cover-all. Dancing and cards followed and refreshments of ice-cream and cake were served. On Friday some of us got on a bus provided by Parks and Recreation and went to the MGM to a movie. The movie was Ivanhoe and we enjoyed it very much as well as big ice cream cones from Swensons afterwards. The Senior Center is open 5 days of the week, Monday through Friday from 9 till 5 to all Senior Citizens of Henderson to come and enjoy. We have a large screen Video color tv, pool table, cards, games and a puzzle table which is always busy with Seniors putting together those little pieces to form a beautiful picture. We serve lunches from 11:30 till 12:30 5 days of a week. Any Senior 60 years of age or older or married to someone 60 or older is eligible to enjoy. DATES TO REMEMBER Tuesdays and Fridays - Physical Fitness classes. Wed. and Thursdays A representative from Social Security will be here in Room 7 from 9 till 4. The Senior Law Project is here twice each month on the 2nd and 4th Thursday of the month. Call 565-6990 for an appointment. Next date is August 27th. Hairdressing at Vo-Tech will resume in September. Free Blood Pressures the 1st Monday of every month. Next date is Sept. 7th. Every Thursday is Fun Day. Bingo after lunch, followed by cards and dancing. There will be refreshments and a door prize. Next week's menu is as follows: Monday -- barbecue beef on a bun. Tuesday -- Chicken rice casserole. Wednesday -- Liver and onions. Thursday -- Turkey salad. Friday -- Baked pork patties. Hope to see all of you at the Center soon.

WATER STREET RIGHTLY NAMED - This was the scene Tuesday as the rain came down and gathered on Water Street. It came off the curb and onto the sidewalk in front of the Henderson Home News building. No major damage was reported from the storm.

USE ACTION-PACKED WANTADS

By Mrs. Douglas

Chinese Walnut Chicken
Here's a real taste of the Orient. To serve 6 you'll need:
3 large chicken breasts
2 eggs
1 1/2 tbs. water
1 1/2 tsp. cornstarch
6 tbs. soy sauce
1/2 tsp. sugar
6 tbs. oil
3 med. onions, thinly sliced
2 slices fresh ginger root, minced
1 garlic clove, minced
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
Rinse chicken and pat dry. Remove skin and bones. Cut chicken into 1-inch cubes and set aside. Mix together eggs, water and cornstarch. Add chicken and toss until thoroughly coated. In small bowl combine soy sauce and sugar. Heat skillet or wok and add 3 tablespoons of the oil. When oil sizzles, stir-fry chicken for 5 minutes. (Test a piece by piercing with a fork. Chicken is done when juices run clear.) Remove from pan. Add remaining oil to pan and stir-fry onions, ginger and garlic for one minute. Return chicken to pan and continue cooking one minute. Add soy sauce-sugar mixture and cook quickly until sauce has thickened. Stir in walnuts. Spoon over rice and serve immediately. Crisply cooked snow peas make a perfect accompaniment.

"She should be good — she harped every day of the 46 years I was married to her!"

THE HOME GAME BY VIRGINIA TRUAX

COLD SWEATS — If your toilet tank suffers from cold sweats, apply a coat of floor wax to the tank every few months. Really cuts down on the condensation.
MUDDY WATERS — Mud stains on a child's washable clothes respond well to a soaking in one quart warm water, 1/2 teaspoon liquid detergent and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Rinse well. If stain remains stubborn, rub well with detergent containing enzyme.
STICKY SITUATION — To unstick envelopes, stick 'em in the freezer for a spell. When they're removed, slip a letter opener or knife under the flap and they'll be ready to use.

FOR MASHERS ONLY — If you add one teaspoon of vinegar or lemon juice to the water of boiling potatoes, they will be more mealy for mashing.

WATERED DOWN — There's often a lot of waste in using liquid detergents and shampoos. Try cutting them down by a fourth with water and see if you don't like the results just as well.

SPIRITED LEFTOVER — Cooking with leftover wine gives your dishes a real flavor kick. But don't add the wine at the last minute. It must be simmered with the food.

CREATIVE CHEF — When the mood strikes you to bake a cake from scratch, remember how to make your all-purpose flour into cake flour. Add one tablespoon cornstarch to every pound of flour and sift the flour three times. Now you have cake flour.

HOOK, LINE AND SINKER — Why not save all those odd nuts and bolts to use as sinkers on the next fishing trip. Large washers also make fine sinkers.
