

City Manager Explains Bond Issue

Part V: Water Improvements and City Maintenance Shops and Yard

By Bob Anselmo

I. WATER IMPROVEMENTS:

Growth and development in any community is directly related to its ability to provide water improvements. In order for us to meet our anticipated water needs for both domestic use and fire protection as the City continues to develop it will be necessary to construct additional water lines and storage tanks, and this new construction is a part of improvements encompassed in the $3.6 million question on the bond issue dealing with water improvements.

Another factor which must be considered in providing an uninterrupted flow of water to all our citizens arises from a recent change in the contract between the Nevada Power Company and the Colorado River Commission which provides the power company with a much more liberal curtailment policy for their services. This affects our water system by reducing the pumping time for receiving our water supply during peak demand periods. It is imperative that we ensure an adequate reserve during these curtailments, and to do this we propose to add two additional three million gallon water storage tanks - one to be located in the area of Vista Mobile Home Park and the second in the area of the Mesa Reservoir.

Another part of this bond issue question will provide funds to reinforce the system serving the Lewis Foothills Industrial area southwest in the area of Section 27 by the installation of a 24" water line. The last portion of this bond issue question deals with the installation of a monitor and control system and chlorine residual analyzers at strategic locations in the City's water system. This equipment will ultimately put us on a supervisory computer control system which we feel is vital for cost effective maintenance of our expanding water system.

We live in a time when our City is constantly in a process of change and expansion. Such growth is not

Council orders police-city talks back to table

One Man's VIEW

By MIKE O'CALLAGHAN

Rich Whitehead's Wolves celebrated their first victory in several years. It will not be their last victory during the fall of 1982.

Every ball player had to be supercharged for the game. Remember last year when the Clark Chargers came out to Henderson to play against Whitehead, the man who coached them in 1980? The Chargers were lucky to leave Henderson with a victory.

Last Friday night even Charger luck couldn't keep the Wolves from tasting a victory they have thirsted for since last year.

Rich Whitehead is everything the young people of Henderson desired. He is a quiet family man dedicated to youngsters and the sports they play.

When the U.S. House of Representatives failed to pass a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced budget, President Reagan made some strange statements. The strangest remark was blaming the Democrats for choking off "the chances for a balanced budget this year."

The balanced budget for this year went out the window with President Reagan's budget, which is well over $100 billion unbalanced to the negative side of the falcrum. The president himself has come up with the most unbalanced budget in the history of our country.

Any constitutional amendment passed by Congress in October has little or no chance of becoming law to affect anything during the coming year. Remember it has to be approved by three-fourths of the state legislatures. That takes more than a few days, weeks or months.

Even the balanced budget amendment has a loophole allowing Congress to override the restraints. Just like they now have the power to increase the nation's debt. They exercised this power early this year so the budget of President Reagan could be legally passed.

Really, what the president is saying is, "give me a constitutional amendment which will prevent me from doing what I am now doing."

The Henderson Police Officers Association Monday night took their stalled negotiation talks directly to the city council and publicly aired their complaints.

Before a council chamber that was jammed with mostly police officers and their families, Tom Burns, speaking for the police association explained why the city and the association have been unable to reach a contract settlement though talks have been going on since February. The contract expired on June 30.

The council had agreed to listen to the police association and the matter was placed on the agenda despite objections from City Attorney John Marchiano. Marchiano is on the negotiating committee and indicated to council members they would be circumventing the negotiating process by listening to the union.

Prior to the beginning of negotiations in February the police union had asked for closed talks and negotiations have been going on behind closed doors ever since.

Following Burns' presentation, the council members ordered both sides back to the bargaining table to renew efforts at an agreement.

In his presentation to the council, Burns said the police officers were not pleased with the city's offer of an additional $50 per year for uniform cleaning. The city presently pays $450 per year.

Robert Anselmo, city manager, said the city offered $500 per year and the police officers could keep the same uniforms which are cleaned. The union is asking for an additional $150 per year and wants a different uniform which would be wash and wear material.

Police officers are also asking the city to pay a greater share of their insurance premium and Anselmo said the city now pays $69.92 of the insurance and is offering $125 while the union is asking for $150.

Anselmo disputed a statement by the union's financial advisor, Milton Wise, who maintained after studying the city's budget that there would be funds available to meet union demands, but the money had been transferred. Anselmo said the funds transferred to the Convention Center from race track money were done so at the direction of the council.

"The General Fund has to stand on its own," Anselmo said as he discussed the projected $400,000 shortfall for this fiscal year. "I don't want to go through having to lay more people off this year."

Anselmo also said that because of the general economic situation anticipated income from sales and property tax as well as from building permits is falling below estimates.

Burns said Monday night that the City of Henderson now ranks sixth in the state in police salaries and he added that figures, based on the consumer price index show a 20 percent erosion of buying power since 1975.

The starting salary for a Henderson Police officer is now $17,506. Plus his $200 leather allowance and uniform allowance. Through a series of merit and longevity raises the scale now tops out at $21,557 plus overtime and allowances.

New program brings discipline back into classroom

By Lois J. Cherry

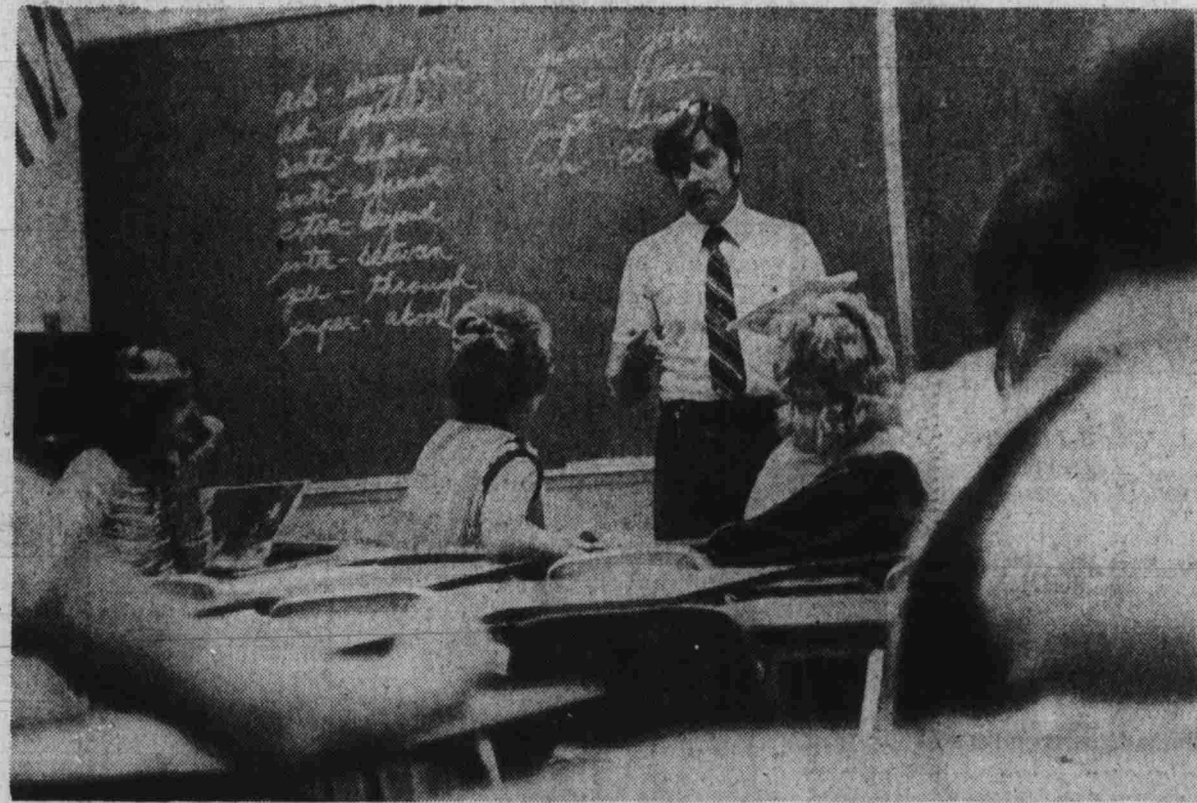

It's called "Assertive Discipline" and it is modern day education's answer to the classroom chaos brought on by too much permissiveness that came about when educators began relaxing the iron discipline which had been the trademark in so many public schools.

In educational terms, it's called "classroom management" and the basis of the program centers around the fact that no matter how knowledgeable the teacher is, if the student can not be sat down to listen, it is all a waste of time.

The program was developed in California by Lee Canter when he discovered his wife, a teacher, was "burned out" and prepared to get out of the profession - mostly because of an inability to enforce discipline in her classroom.

He began a study program and developed "Assertive Discipline". Following an in-service workshop, teachers at Burkholder have initiated Assertive Discipline and it has dramatically changed the atmosphere on in classroom and on campus.

Assertive Discipline is based on three ideas - first, no child will stop the teacher from teaching; second, no child will stop another child from learning and third, no child will engage in behaviour that is not in his/her best interest or the best interest of others for any reason.

Teachers assert themselves to students with the initial statement "I expect you to behave in my classroom. I want you to learn. I am here to teach. I respect you as an individual but there are certain rules that you must follow."

"These rules are in your best interest, the other students' best interest and the best interest of the entire classroom."

Before the opening day of school, the teacher selects approximately five rules that are to be observed by students in the class. The number is kept to a minimum and adheres to basic guidelines.

The youngsters are made to understand that if they follow the rules, there will be "positive reinforcement" - for example, one teacher's method of positive reinforcement is to allow the entire class a visit to the school's game room if there has been no case of detention for two weeks. Other classes are permitted free time in the library as a positive reaction to their behavior.

Individual students are also rewarded for good behavior. If, for example, the class as a whole has not been good, but an individual student has demonstrated excellent behavior, that student will be rewarded with possibly a free time pass or time in the game room.

The consequences for those students who do not follow the rules are easy for school children to understand. The first offense usually results in the student being identified by his or her name being written on the blackboard. A second offense results in a mark indicating detention. It can build until the child's parents are contacted for a conference. The parents have been advised of the program and of the teacher's rules - everyone is cooperating.

Teachers all agree with the thought that basically children are good and want to do the right thing. In this program, they know from the first day in school what is expected of them and shortly, their own classmates begin expecting the same behavior.

The teacher too, must go through a program of self evaluation. A "non-assertive" teacher may be one who does not communicate firmly to the students or does not back up words with action. By allowing one or more students to disrupt the classroom, they lose the attention and interests of the students and in the end, do not get their needs met in the classroom.

The "hostile" teacher frequently reacts with sarcasm or hostile words which would enable them to get their needs met, but violates

Expo theme 'we've come a long way'

Henderson's Country Fair, called "Expo '82," will open next Thursday and continue through Sunday, according to the Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event.

Theme of the celebration will be "We've come a long way," with Insurance man

Dan Taylor as chairman. The annual carnival will open on Thursday but the actual Expo will begin on Friday, Oct. 15, at 6 p.m. in the city's new convention center on Water Street.

There are 48 exhibit booths plus the Seniors for Seniors bazaar. The Friday night events begin at 6 p.m. and continue through 10 p.m. There will be western bands playing beginning at 8 p.m. with dance lessons from then until 11 p.m.

On Saturday the Expo hours will be from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. at the Convention Center. The western bands with the dance instructions will take place from 8-11 again. On Sunday the hours will be from noon until 6 p.m. The carnival will be placed on the Civic Center grounds near the tennis courts.

The theme this year is to point out that the city has come a long way in moving from the Civic Center to the new Convention Center.

There will be many businesses represented, former ones that have grown, and new ones who are coming to Expo for the first time.

He also knows that this amendment will allow Congress to spend even more money if he wants it for the Pentagon.

Damn all this nonsense! Now is the time for President Reagan and the Congress to get down to business. Knock off your political game playing and treating us all like a bunch of dummies who can't see through your Potomac charade.

Samuel Howard, the man suspected of killing Dr. George Monahan, is still playing games to keep from facing a Nevada jury. He has gained another 15 day delay in his extradition hearing which will determine if he will be sent back here to be prosecuted.

Judge Dan Ahlstrom keeps me informed of the attempts to return Howard to the killing of Monahan two and one-half years ago. Dan knows that George was one of my favorite students when teaching at Basic High School from 1956 until 1961.

Delays, delays, delays have dragged out the return of the man who approached Monahan as a prospective buyer of the dentist's van. Nevertheless, District Attorney Bob Miller and his staff are determined to bring Monahan's killer to justice.

The sooner, the better.

without its frustrations, but it is also an exciting time. We, as your representatives, are doing all in our power to see that our municipal services keep pace with this growth. Your support on this portion of the bond issue will ensure adequate water flows for all citizens in the years ahead.

II. CITY MAINTENANCE SHOPS AND YARD

Any city that operates Fire, Police and Public Works Departments must have the ability to maintain a variety of equipment and, in particular, to provide emergency mechanical repairs to public safety vehicles. Our existing city shop maintenance area is antiquated and badly in need of replacement. The facilities provide very little work space for the mechanics to keep our equipment in serviceable condition and the welding shop is barely adequate to perform the necessary maintenance functions of this operation.

We propose to build a new city shop facility on a city-owned site adjacent to the present Wastewater Treatment Plant No. 2 with the $400,000 being requested in this bond issue question. Some funds may be recovered on this project by the sale of the existing city yard site located on Van Wagenen Street.

This "behind the scenes" operation is as vital to the welfare and safety of your community as any of the more visible public services and I urge your support of this much-needed project.

Wolandi writes:

"It's hard to imagine that the same system that put us on the moon can also put millions of people on unemployment. Maybe that's the reason the kids are taking over, they want to be heard, half the country is now under the age of 25. We don't need Medicare as much as a cure for acne.

"The trouble is we're living too fast. One fellow from New York was bragging that his city was the fastest in the world. -- I was on my way to work this morning and they were laying the foundation of a 10-story building. When I came back at four that afternoon the building was finished. -- The other fellow said, that's not fast. I'm from Chicago where it's really fast. I was on my way to work at 8 o'clock in the morning and they were laying the foundation of a 40-story building. -- And the other fellow says, don't tell me that building was finished. -- And the other fellow says: wrong again, they were putting the tenants out for not paying the rent."

"And so ends another piece of literacy trying to compete with world leaders' stupidity, which at this stage of evolution we can no longer afford, and to rub it in a little deeper, with today's prices one cannot afford to be poor -- with today's taxes one cannot afford to be rich."

Green Valley Doctor Turns Science Studies Into Medical Career

By Darla Pierce

Although the medical director of the Green Valley Immediate Care Center graduated from medical school over six years ago and has worked in emergency and family practice medicine ever since, when he first began medical school he had no specific field of medicine in mind.

In fact, Dr. Robert Wallace said he was "surprised" he even got accepted to medical school. While in his junior year of college, Wallace said he enjoyed the various topics of science, but had never really contemplated a medical career. Then "I got to thinking about what profession would combine all the sciences," said Wallace.

He decided medicine seemed the most likely occupation to involve science, and it would be a "rewarding profession" as well. "Plus the girl I was going with at the time was in pre-med," Wallace joked.

Discipline

Wallace, who was raised in Colby, Kan., attended Kansas State University before enrolling in the Meharry Medical School in Nashville, Tenn.

Wallace then traveled to Denver, Colo. for his residency in family practice at St. Joseph's Hospital. After his residency, Wallace moved to Colorado Springs, Colo. to practice in the emergency room of the city hospital.

Las Vegas hospitals enticed Wallace to move to the gambling mecca in 1980, where he was employed in the emergency room departments of Valley Hospital and Desert Springs Hospital.

Describing family practice medicine as a "combination of all medicine," Wallace said that was one of the reasons he chose the field. Instead of being a super specialist, Wallace decided on more of a general field where a little of everything occurs.

the best interest of the student -- Those teachers, after self-evaluation, must change their methods in the Assertive Discipline program.

The term "social reinforcers" is used frequently in the program and means using words of praise, expressions of encouragement, nearness and physical contact to convey interest and confidence in the young scholar -- it actually involves getting away from criticism and rewarding the student for efforts shown.

Each day, the student starts with a clean slate no matter what happened the day before. Nothing piles up to become a seemingly insurmountable list of

is also excellent training for the emergency room, Wallace added. "Only about ten to fifteen percent of emergency room work is really emergencies," Wallace explained. "Most are cases that could be seen in a doctor's office, but the office is closed or no appointment could be made."

Wallace said he enjoys his work at the Green Valley Immediate Care Center, of which he has been the medical director since its opening in July, because it is both emergency medicine and family practice.

"Even though we're sort of a neighborhood emergency clinic, we do see some patients on a followup," Wallace pointed out. "That's rewarding, which is something I kind of missed in the emergency room."

Wallace said he and staff member Dr. Neil Klemek do followup work on patients with minor injuries such as cuts, stitches, etc., but "if they need a long-term followup, we refer them to another physician."

The general concept of the Green Valley Immediate Care Center is to treat non-life threatening illnesses and injuries, something that suits Wallace fine.

According to Wallace, who works four days on and four days off (16 hours a day), one doctor is always at the center as well as at least one nurse and a full-time x-ray and laboratory technician in the country.

Large Crowd Attends VFW Hall Grand Opening

Over one hundred fifty members and friends attended the Grand Opening of Basic Post 3848, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Henderson, on October 2nd.

The formal dedication ceremonies were conducted by the State Adjutant, Jack McMinds, assisted by the State Chaplain Tom Schmidt. day having been prepared by auxiliary members and all enjoyed a happy social get-together. During the evening, country - western music was enjoyed by all for dancing and listening. Dale Dunson, leader, donated his group's talents for the festivities. The Double Eagle Band deserves a big "thanks" from the Post and Auxiliary.

Many guests from other posts in the state and from California, visited during the day, particularly Post Commander Watts from Ramona, California came with his family and friends, presenting a lovely bouquet of flowers. State Commander Frank Risewick attended after being unavoidably detained in Las Vegas earlier; Past State Commanders, Al Alleman, of Las Vegas; Past State Commanders Joel Zander Charles Elkie and Floyd Byrd (members of Basic 3848); State Senior Vice President, Dell Hummer; and District Commander Bill Devine were among the many guests. Also, Past National Commander - in - Chief Les Fry of Reno stopped in to see the new Post Home the next morning as he had been attending special ceremonies in Las Vegas the previous day.

Eldon R. Poulsen Named Product Manager - Chemical Products

TIMET has appointed Eldon Poulsen to the position of Product Manager where he will have both sales and marketing responsibilities for Henderson-generated chemical products.

Poulsen's main duty will be sales and marketing of TIMET's new product Magnesium Chloride Solution for use as a dust suppressant. Magnesium Chloride Solution, when applied to dusty areas such as dirt roads and parking, effectively controls dust emission at a significantly lower cost than other methods.

Over the past five years Poulsen, in conjunction with state and county scientists, has conducted tests to determine the effectiveness of Magnesium Chloride Solution as a dust control agent. When questioned, Poulsen stated that "all parties seem to be very impressed with its control characteristics". Magnesium Chloride Solution has been tested on Pabco Road in Henderson, on the Mint 400 race track and parking lots, and on special event parking lots with very effective results.

Poulsen believes that this new dust control solution will offer effective control at less than one-third the cost of similar products now on the market. This savings should allow counties and cities with tight budgets to control dust from more unpaved roads than in the past.

Junior High Advisory Group Meets

The Burkholder Junior High Parent Advisory Committee held its first meeting of this school year at the library on September 30. Twenty-six concerned parents met with Frank Lamping, Principal, and Kent Anderson, Assistant Principal, to discuss scholarship information, guidelines for Parent Advisory Committee, opening of school, school discipline, and parent concerns.

JoAnn Dyck from Basic High School was guest speaker. She gave useful information on scholarships available to the student headed for college, university or vocational school. This information is important because of the cutbacks in federal funds and the number of students who want scholarships. Dyck handed out leaflets to the parents which gave ideas to budget for college planning, the various tests needed, and scholarships available and how to apply for them. The junior high level is the time to start planning for a college education. The study skills and habits developed at this age will continue throughout a child's education years. Now is the time to learn how to take notes, how to take a test, how to study for a test, etc.

Burkholder Junior High School, welcomes the opportunity for greater constructive parent involvement, communication and support. Both administrators and parents will find it far more satisfying to participate in successful schools in which all share in the responsibility for insuring success than in unsuccessful schools in which the only satisfaction the participants have is to blame each other for the failure.

"We plan to provide programs and workshops on parenting. In an era where there have been phenomenal changes in lifestyles, childrearing practices, and technology, there is an urgent need for effective programs to help the single parent, the two-working-parents family, and all other parents to be more competent in this much-neglected area of responsibility." School officials said.

The next Parent Advisory meeting will be Thursday, October 28, at 9 a.m. in the school library. The agenda will include the Physical Education Program highlights, showering, rules and regulations, and problems. A question and answer period is part of each meeting. Plan to attend and bring a friend.

Coach Whitehead Brought Hope And Pride To Basic

Rich Whitehead is an odd sort of fellow. Not odd in the sense of peculiar but in the sense of different and unique.

What one of us would leave a successful position at a very good company we had been employed at for ten years for the same job in a company that had one of the worst reputations for performance in the industry?

No increase in salary, no better job title and most certainly a definite loss of prestige from one's former employment.

What one of us would forsake such a soft job and potential for a great future for a "challenge?"

Rich Whitehead, Basic's second-year head football coach, did just that.

When we first interviewed the coach more than two years ago the question of why he would leave such a good job at Clark was paramount on our list of queries.

After all, Whitehead had become one of the deans of Southern Nevada prep football at Clark. In his ten-year stint at Clark he led the Chargers to two state championships, not to mention numerous winning seasons.

He told us then he came for the "challenge."

Now, we could have chuckled under our breath if that statement had come from some eager beaver just out of college but this guy was 44 years old and knew all about the reputation Basic had around the county.

We learned very quickly that Whitehead means what he says and is never one to overstate the situation.

It's that straight forward honest attitude that has given the high school new hope and a brighter future in the whole athletic program, especially in football.

When Whitehead decided to come to Henderson it triggered a reaction throughout the school, especially among other Basic coaches and the administrators.

Basic principal Lanny Lund and athletic director Don Taylor seemed to know from the very moment Whitehead came that he would turn the program around. They showed for every booster meeting, all the football functions and opened up the resources they had available for the program.

Basketball coach Ron Montoya has been one of the more vocal prophets as far as the attitude change is concerned. During last season's basketball he already had noticed the change in attitude, the seriousness and dedication the kids put forth in order to win. He then credited Whitehead and still lauds him.

If Montoya was the prophet, then baseball coach Gary Chaires was the general of Basic's baseball army that first showed the school and the community that Henderson high school athletes could be the best in the state.

One Of The Best

The reason that much of the change of attitude can be credited to Whitehead is simple. He was definitely one of the best and he knew Basic could be one of the best.

When a man whom those involved in Southern Nevada high school athletics respect and admire tells an administration, an athletic staff and a student body that he thinks they have the ability to win and wants to be a part of re-establishing the winning tradition, you realize this man believes in your potential is speaking the truth.

And the truth, brother, sets you free. Free to do those things you know you're capable of but have yet to overcome.

Rich Whitehead and the varsity football program, with their first win last week against Clark 18-6, have finally set all those wonderful kids at the high school free; set free to know they can do those things they are willing to sacrifice and work for, free to know they can accomplish the goals set before them.

For that freedom, we thank and congratulate Rich Whitehead.

WASHINGTON -- In some ways, the Middle East situation is like a bad cowboys and Indians movie. Not only is there a thrill a minute, action galore and a cast of characters Hollywood itself could not invent, but there seems to be a need on the part of everyone to believe in good guys and bad guys. For the moment, the Israelis are everyone's bad guys.

That's understandable. Any Israeli government under Menachem Begin and Ariel Sharon is not about to win a charming child contest. Begin, through his actions and by the force of a personality that should be outlawed by a Geneva convention, has all but isolated Israel. The repeated and almost casual bombings of Beirut and, of course, the massacre of Palestinians for which Israel, in some measure, must share the blame, are not the sort of actions calculated to endear the Begin government to the world.

But Israel is just one half of the Middle East equation. The Arabs are the other half -- a fact that seems to have been forgotten recently. It was, after all, Christian Arabs who killed Palestinian Arabs in the Sabra and Shatila refugee camps and it was probably Arabs again -- either Christian or Moslem -- who killed Bashir Gemayel, the president-elect of Lebanon.

Yet, in an article in the Washington Post, Amin Gemayel, the brother of the slain Bashir and the new president of Lebanon, took no responsibility for the killings in the camps. This was quite a feat given the reports that it was the soldiers of his private militia who, along with the troops of Maj. Saad Hadad, were responsible for the deed.

Similarly, King Hussein of Jordan waxed eloquently and at great length about the refugee camp massacres. He blamed it all on the Israelis, and never acknowledged for a moment that one reason some of those people were in those camps in the

Defense Report

Defense Spending In The Next Fiscal Year - Will Congress Pay For The Things It Says Are Needed?

Both the Senate and the House of Representatives have taken a very hard look at the number and kinds of military equipment and supplies they would permit the armed forces to buy during the upcoming fiscal year. The consolidated bill produced and passed by the two houses will become the Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 1983. It reflects the public desire to strengthen our defense posture.

As is always true, the law will not authorize every service to design or buy every item it thinks is necessary for the accomplishment of its mission. In a broad sense, however, the services will be authorized to procure those weapons and other equipment most badly needed in this period of international insecurity. For example, the Army, which is fighting to modernize its equipment inventory after more than 20 years of stagnation, is authorized to move ahead with its plans to speed production of a new tank and a new infantry fighting vehicle. It is also authorized to continue production of a badly needed advanced attack helicopter.

So, within reasonable bounds, the battle for authorization has been won, but the Defense Department faces still another fight to first place is that he, in a bloody battle, had kicked them out of Jordan. It is not for nothing that the Palestinians remember the date of that exile as Black September.

Indeed, it seems almost everyone has forgotten that the Palestinian refugee problem itself is not solely an Israeli creation. Israel had plenty of help from the Arab world. The leaders of the Arab countries have time and time again used the Palestinian problem for their own purposes, financing the most radical components of the PLO and encouraging the Palestinian dream of driving Israel into the sea. Even the Palestinian diaspora is partly the result of Arab leaders encouraging Palestinians to flee Israel.

And indeed, it seems to have been forgotten that while Israel is doing all it can to sabotage President Reagan's Middle East peace plan, it has not been acting alone. The Arabs, for their part, have contributed to the stalemate by treating Israel as a Middle East version of a leper. At the Fez, Morocco meeting of the Arab League, for instance, all the Arab leaders managed to do was repeat stale formulas for a Middle East solution that Israel has already rejected.

As Vice President Bush pointed out in a recent speech, not a single Arab country other than Egypt has had the courage to recognize Israel's right to exist. All we get instead are vague declarations, references to this or that United Nations resolution and language that is, even by diplomatic standards, so ephemeral as to be worthless. The private assurances Arab spokesmen give journalists are no substitute for publicly recognizing the right of Israel to exist.

This is not an easy thing for the Arabs to do. Unlike Israel, which is a single entity, the Arab world is split into many nations. Some of them are moderate but some are led by men who either for internal political reasons or for reasons better left to psychiatry are downright nuts on the subject of Israel.

But whatever the reason, the Arabs have played their part in continuing to make the Middle East the world's Wild West. Now it is Israel's turn to be the bad guy, but this is no movie. Assigning blame just to Israel accomplishes nothing. It still takes two to make a fight, two to end it and a solution is impossible as long as one side recognizes the other only on the battlefield, but never at the peace table.

convince the Congress to "put its money where its mouth is," by appropriating the funds to make the authorizations reality. But it is possible -- in fact quite likely -- that, having enacted the authorization law, Congress will emasculate it by refusing to pay the price.

This may seem to be a strange way to run a government, but that is the way our system is set up to operate. In fact, the chairman of the House Appropriations Defense Subcommittee, Rep. Joseph Addabbo (D-NY), has already expressed his intentions to pare about $11 billion from the amount of money needed to fund the authorization. Any action taken to diminish significantly the progress reflected in the Authorization Act would violate the clearly-stated majority support in both Congress and the electorate for immediate strengthening of our forces, both strategic and conventional. A reduction of the magnitude suggested by Rep. Addabbo would impair the readiness and modernization of our forces at a critical time and run the risk of triggering intramural competition for funds to preserve vital programs.

Surely the Congress will not turn its back on the public mandate.

Politicking With Crime

others in his party outside the Washington Hilton Hotel on March 30, 1981.

Because of the Hinckley case, public demand for change in definition and application of the insanity defense is strong, even among those who consider insanity as a legitimate defense against criminal charges.

The exclusionary rule is a different matter. While so-called "law and order" advocates and judicial scholars of conservative bent have sought legislation to circumvent the rule, liberals and an equally impressive number of legal experts defend the rule and will fight, as well they should, for its retention.

Mr. Reagan said he was addressing crime in society at this time because it was "a subject that has been very much on my mind, even as we have been very busy with budgets, interest rates and legislation." The subject was also very much on the minds of Mr. Reagan's predecessors dating back at least to Lyndon B. Johnson. And for the same reason -- fighting crime, or appearing to do so, is a safe political tactic so long as the public doesn't look too closely at the way the fight is to be waged. And it seldom does.

In the case of Mr. Reagan's late in the game initiative against evil-doers there is but a slight chance his proposals will even be considered by a Congress which goes out of business in a few more weeks. This time around, the Reagan anti-crime bill is mostly political window dressing.

Don't Lock Up Pets And Kids

Dear Sir,

On September 10, 1982 at 10:10 a.m. per City of Henderson misdemeanor citation, my son and daughter-in-law's dog, an all black male Labrador, approximately 4 months old, jumped the fence of their yard and went out into the street. There, he was picked up by Animal Control Officer, Cameron, "P" No-148, and placed in one of the enclosed holding boxes in the Animal Control truck.

My daughter-in-law (Jackie Sheahan) called me and asked me to go with her to bail the dog out of the pound. I did. We arrived at the pound at 11:45 a.m., got out of the car, and searched the kennels in the rear looking for the dog. He was not there. Approximately 5 minutes later, Officer Cameron's assistant came out the back door where we were, and we asked her if we could pick up the dog. She said, "No" "we do not open until 12 noon. Come back between 12 noon and 3:00 p.m. to get the dog." I asked her where the dog was; I did not see him in the kennel. She said, "We have him." I asked, "where?" She repeated again, "We have him." Being concerned for the dog's well being, I asked her if the dog was dead. She replied "we are not cruel to animals down here." With that I reminded her that they had been known to over tranquilize in the past. Therefore, if our dog was not dead -- was he over-tranquilized? -- AND IF NOT? -- where was he?

With that, Officer Cameron came out of the building. She stated that they have a refrigeration unit on that truck. They do, -- but it was not running. Neither my daughter-in-law nor I heard that unit running -- no motors anywhere on that vehicle were running. The temperature on 9-10-82 at 11:30 a.m. was 85 degrees with a relative humidity of approximately 52% which in itself makes for a hot day. Approximately 2 hours and 35 minutes after the dog was apprehended, he was removed from the enclosed holding on the back of the Animal Control truck by Officer Cameron. He was conscious but lim-

Jackie will be in court on Tuesday to answer for the "Dog at Large" charge. But -- what about you Officer Cameron? Isn't there a law that states that you cannot lock up kids or pets in a parked vehicle? That truck was not even parked in the shade. Doesn't leaving an animal locked in the enclosed holding tank on that truck for 2 hours and 35 minutes constitute a violation of that law whether you are the Animal Control Officer or not?

Keep Children Out of Street

Are you aware that if you hit a child with your car while they are playing in the street, their parents are not considered negligent?

Even if the driver is not at fault, the injured party can sue the insurance company. In a case such as this, it is the duty of the insurance company to protect their client. Most companies pay to avoid going to court. If you request the company to not pay the claim, the suing party can take you to court and sue for all of your assets.

When your insurance company pays a claim, it automatically goes on your insurance driving record for three years regardless of your innocence.

You could become a victim. The negligence of another or another persons act would be on your conscience for the rest of your life. It is not right to make an innocent person suffer.

Parents, please keep your children out of the street and accept the responsibility of their safety. Think of how tragic it would be if your child was hit, injured or killed.

This is not to encourage suing but to make you, the public, aware of the consequences on an innocent person.

Appeal For Pets

To the Editor:

This appeal is being written for our best friends at the animal shelters who are shaking with fright, cold and lonely.

"Please have room in your heart and home for us and let us have love, security and kindness for the remainder of our lives.

If our best friends would come and adopt just one of us, we all would be saved.

Please help us because we cannot come to you. We would love a loyal master who would not desert us.

Come and see our pleading faces and don't leave without us. It's our last chance. Hurry please, our time is very short. Tomorrow we may not be here!"

God rewards and blesses those who save his precious special creatures.

Open Letter About Police

As a concerned citizen, I attended the City Council meeting last night, Monday October 4th. I was very interested in the discussion of the status of negotiations between the City and the Police. We are indeed lucky that both sides seem interested enough that the work goes on at a high level of efficiency, without a contract. However this is manifestly unfair to both sides. I was delighted to see Council send them back to the drawing board.

The meeting was "standing room only", I couldn't hear very well, and did not "speak up", as not enough information was available to me. The Council drew a round of applause with the comment that we have the best police department in the State.

There is always the question of budgetary resources to support the cost of Public Safety, which includes both our Number One Police Force and a Number One Fire Department. Where do we perceive that the Citizenry want the priority placed? I believe that we want to maintain our Number One status, and that to do so, we must keep a high priority on fairness to our Police officers and Firemen and their families, and provide them the incentives to continue to hold up their heads and be proud of their identity as Henderson Public Safety Force. Let's not be "niggardly" and begin crowding them toward joining the faceless Clark County Consolidations.

Now, about the source of the resources. The Home News, this morning, reported that the City coffers will again be enriched with an undiminished share of the Room Tax Revenue, to continue for the next four years. That seems to be a rather good long term resource, a part of which should answer the priority call to keep up our Public Safety to a Number One level.

City Manager Bob Anselmo must have that interest at heart. We hope that the fact that he came into his present position from within our Public Safety area does not cause him to be reluctant to put his full support in that area because

FIRE-WISE

Signs of Life

By Henderson Firefighters
Local No. 1883

They're so pervasive a part of our environment that we hardly notice them. Yet in a strange building, knowing where they are can be the difference between life and death.

No, we're not talking about ancient Chinese riddles. We're talking about EXIT signs, those illuminated guardians that can lead us to safety if fire strikes in a hotel, office building or store.

Fire-wise travelers keep an eye out for EXIT signs wherever they go. In a hotel room or office, they know whether the nearest exit lies to their right or left as they leave the door of their room.

You can do the same. Just train yourself to note the EXIT sign and its location as you already note the location of drinking fountains, vending machines and elevators. When staying in a hotel, check out the exit more closely. If you can do this without setting off an alarm, open the exit door and follow the stairs to see where they emerge. They should let you off outside. In some municipalities it's legal for a marked exit to terminate indoors at a lobby or service corridor. If you're not satisfied with the quality of the exits near your room, you're within your rights to request another room.

In most areas the law requires that EXIT signs be lighted by a power source independent of the building's fuses or circuit breakers, in other words, that the exit signs never go out unless all power has been lost. Some municipalities even require battery equipped exit signs which will continue to glow even after power is cut off.

So if you can see an exit sign that isn't lighted, something fishy is going on. Whatever town you're in, call the building or fire inspector's office and report it.

A related bit of the safety environment of which many people are unaware, are emergency lights. They're those devices which look like automobile headlights mounted atop a big box. They're designed to store power in built-in batteries and shed light in the event of a power failure. Different codes set different minimum lifetimes for these units, from half an hour's emergency light to several hour's worth.

Other clues to a fire-safe building are built-in fire extinguishers, fire hose reels and, in taller buildings, standpipes -- pipings systems to which fire hoses can be attached on various floors. All these features, along with built-in sprinklers, smoke detectors and heat detectors, help to make commercial structures more or less fire safe.

The fire wise individual considers building features like these when renting a hotel room, when seeking space for a business or when evaluating various offices as desirable places to work. Building inspectors can't be everywhere: the biggest impetus to fire-safetying buildings is the knowledge that people demand it.

of a desire to be overly fair to the other Departments. I believe they can look out pretty well for themselves.

I noted, from the organization chart posted in the hallway, to be sure dated quite early in the year, that The City Manager supervises four Departments, Public Works and Parks, each with an incumbent Director, plus Administration and Safety, each without an incumbent Director. Mr. Anselmo, therefore, must either spend much of his time on these two Departments, or someone from the Department staff must be doing a great job. In either case, we are getting each of those jobs done at the savings of the Directors salary. Now, there's a pretty good resource to take care of some of the possible increased budgetary need to fund some of the "fringes", which are really "necessities" for a good police force.

As a good City Manager, close to the problems and the management thereof, and knowledgeable of Henderson's financial resources, I'll bet Mr. Anselmo can find the resources needed to put behind his negotiators to meet the Police fairly, and keep us in the position as continuing to be Number One.

As one concerned citizen, I urge that we place a high priority on public safety, close out the negotiations, and let's give our dedicated people a contract that is fair to them, which will therefore be good for us.

Sincerely
William H. Mason

The Levi Picnic

This letter is in regards to a company picnic that is being held by Levi Strauss & Co.

Their company picnic is nothing but a big joke. It's really sad to say but for a company that has so many plants and so much money coming in with the pants they sell they're really acting very CHEAP.

One week they're asking you to fill out your GUEST list and the next week they're calling you in the office and telling you that three out of your four guests you invited can't go. They say you can bring one adult guest and minor children, but if you've never been pregnant then you can not bring any children. There are a lot of single people that work there that have brothers, sisters, nieces, and nephews. If they live out of town and are visiting during that week you have to leave them behind or not go yourself because according to Levi Strauss & Co. they are not your immediate family.

One girl who lives with her parents can only take one parent and none of her brothers or sisters. Another person's parents will be down on vacation during that week and can't go because her husband is her one adult guest. Another girl who is not married and was planning to take her nephews since they will be here to visit during that week. One of her nephews who is five years old has no parents since they were both killed in a plane crash when he was just 14 months old. She is his only aunt and cannot take him to the picnic because he is not considered her immediate family. Another lady who is sole supporter of her family which consists of a daughter, son, and three grandchildren cannot take her grandchildren. She can take her daughter as her adult guest and her son, since he is a minor, but she would have to get a baby sitter for her grandchildren since they are not her immediate family, which means she did not bear them.

Last year I was at the picnic with one of the people I spoke of and we used our gas, vehicle, and time to run back and forth getting ice for them to cool off their beer. Neither one of us ate or drank anything there and now this year we can't go because of their rule changes.

That's already four people that Levi Strauss has given an ultimatum, either go without someone or don't go at all. Some choice huh? There are more people but I can't put them all down, there would be too many. All four of the above people are in the same department.

Levi Strauss has done a lot of good for the community but they should start doing a little good for the people who work for them every day. The people that work there work their butts off and then when they turn around they get kicked from behind. Help those who help you.

The reason for a company picnic is for the employees for the good work they have done and for the inventory coming up. Then they are stuck with an ultimatum about going. They are really gettin thanked for doing a good job aren't they?

United Methodists Recognize Lay Ministeries

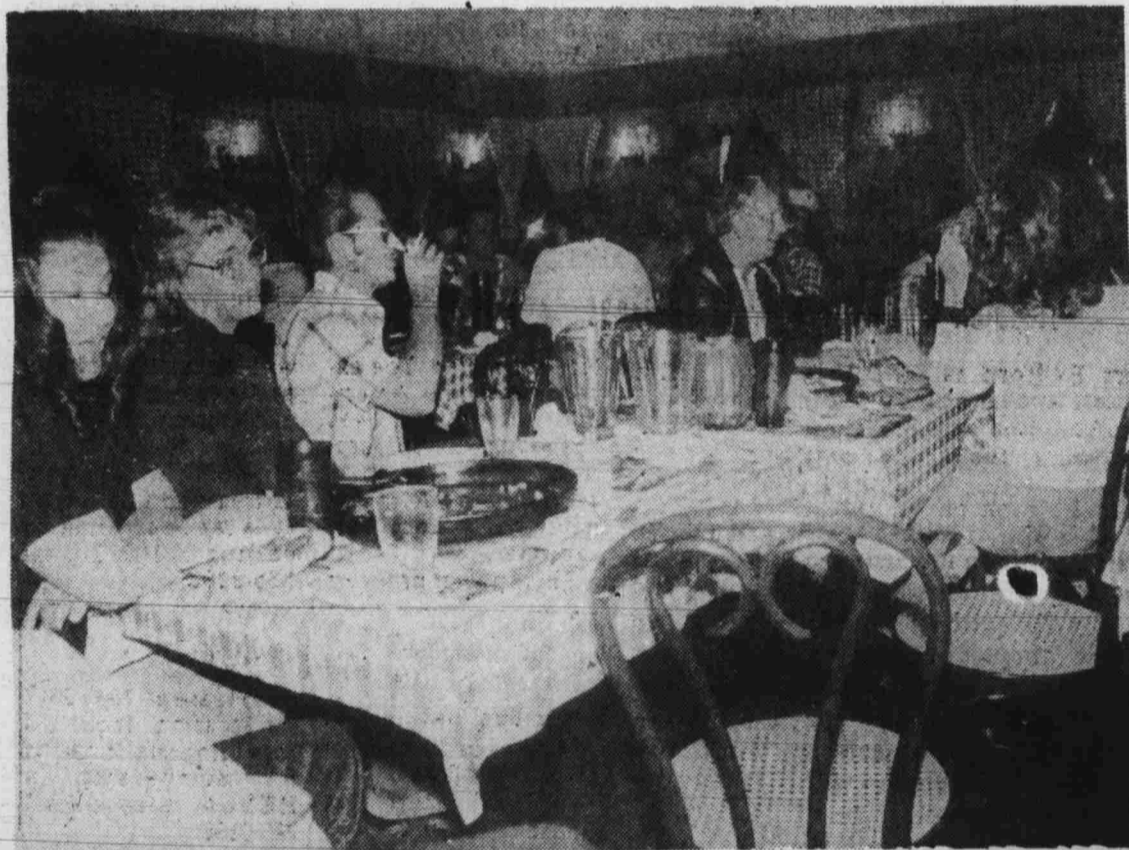

Sunday, October 10 is "Lay Witness Day" in United Methodist Churches throughout the world. Methodists will recall with a sense of pride that American Methodism owes its planting and rapid growth mainly to freely operating lay preachers. Although given birth in the Evangelical Revival of 18th century Europe, the movement was embraced and spread by the first founders who were Strawbridge, Heck, and Webb, all lay preachers. Later came the better known, such as Boardman, Pilmore, and Asbury.

Wesley's Reformation doctrines of the word of God and the priesthood of all believers found fertile soil in the frontiers of America. Circuit Riders as frontier preachers multiplied and Methodism kept pace with the American westward expansion. Also, since lay preachers were part of the growth of the frontiers of America they became associated with the social issues and reform movements which became part of the free American spirit which is still very much a part of our church today. Henderson United Methodists will also recognize the fact that its own beginnings are largely due to the efforts of lay speakers serving until assigned a minister. Accordingly, this Sunday's sermon will be given by Mrs. Silveretta Greening, lay member, who will preach on the topic, "The Lord In My Life." # Miscellaneous News Missiles

By Jessie L. Bennett

By L. Jessie Bennett
HE SAID ...

Alexander Pope who was an English poet during the long ago years 1688-1744 (and is still an oft quoted poet) said, "A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying, in other words, that he is wiser today than he was yesterday."

HOME AGAIN

Saw a couple familiar faces the other day and it is always great to see those who have moved to other locals. David and Geri Munford were "home-towning" it last week. They moved north to Sandy, Utah in late summer. Sandy is a little to the south of Utah's Capitol.

CONSOLATION

Kip Botkin took to the airwaves to go to Nebraska last week on a sad journey for the funeral of his father. We wish to add our condolences for his and his family's loss.

EARLY STORM

Bob and Amy Dickinson did a little traveling last week. They first went to Reno then "home" to McGill. They were greeted there by five (yes, 5) inches of snow that covered that mining town and during the night two more inches had fallen. Sure brought memories of fun in the snow during childhood. Amy came home to some minor surgery and is recovering at home. Many friends and neighbors send get-well wishes, Amy, as well as belated Birthday wishes.

OLD WEATHER

The floods in Salt Lake City were of prime interest in our family - husband Dick has four sisters there who luckily live on high ground and didn't have to abandon home hearth. It's started out to be a "different" kind of winter season. Think there's some weather headlines in the near future.

NEWSPAPERS

George Horne said a long time ago - "A newspaper is the history for one day of the world in which we live, and with which we are consequently more concerned than with those which have passed away, and exit only in remembrance."

COUPLE HONORED

An open house honoring Michael and Elizabeth (White) Lefler who were married on September 18, 1982 in Jordan, Utah was held on Saturday, October 2 at home of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Anderson. Michael is the son of Therol and Marilyn Lefler of Henderson and Elizabeth is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. Hartley White of Salt Lake City, Utah. Michael is a Basic alumni and a graduate of Brigham Young University. He and Elizabeth will make their home in Salt Lake City. Congratulations to the young couple.

TO COAST

Ted and Wanda Mann have lived in Henderson for many years. I think they fondly look back (way back) to the years when all of us (you know - the old old-timers) lived either in Victory Village or Carver Park - those are a couple of suburbs of Henderson a lot of our new citizens have never heard of! Anyway the Mann's have been on a leisure vacation. They didn't hurry one bit but visited the beaches along the Southern Calif. coast. Saw son Eddie Mann and his family in San Diego and visited with daughter Connie, too.

TO NORTH

Lynn Kleinman is back home with wife Evelyn and family after taking a few days off to take his father to a hospital in Salt Lake City for tests and treatment.

COLUMBUS DAY

October 11th is the day we celebrate Columbus Day ... Columbus Day ... a day to ponder and commemorate the discovery of a new land by the Italian Christopher Columbus. A day that eventually became a disappointment to Columbus, the man; the fortune seeker, the dreamer. But a day that should be celebrated by all Americans both North, Central and South. For with this man's discovery of this continent came proof the world was indeed round as many scientists and voyagers knew. Thus dispelling much of the fear of sailing so rampant in the late 15th century. And it paved the way for the colonization of a new world. Yes - it was 1492 that Columbus sailed ... 490 years ago. We are pretty young as nations go - just kids! It is an important day to remember. Fly your flag on Monday, October 11 for Columbus Day.

AWAY FROM HOME

There are quite a few of our people living away from home for one reason or another who will soon be on their way back to Henderson to sort of pick up lives in this town. One I know of is Kathy Hall (dau. of LeGrande and Donna) who, after going to college a few years, has been in Buenos Aires, Argentina on a religious mission for the LDS Church for about a year. She will surely have much to tell about that big city and its many peoples and especially the war with Great Britain.

Also Wilma Reno who lived here for many years and raised a fine family has been in Colorado since last February. She has recently moved to Aurora, Colorado and says winter has already visited those high mountains.

WELL DONE

I guess that there can't be too many congratulations and shouts of "Well done!" to Basic High Schools Football Team and their coaches. So I'll sure add mine to the whole town's...Great, aw-

some, WELL DONE!!

FORMER PRES. SAYS ...

"It is time for the American people to look government straight in the eye and say, "No more! We will make the decisions about our lives. You protect us from foreign aggressors and domestic criminals, give us a stable currency and court of law, and we'll do the rest." (Pres. Gerald R. Ford).

SIGN OF ZODIAC

Between September 22 and October 22nd the Zodiac sign is Libra. Some famous Libras are Debbie Boone, Mickey Rooney, Star Wars Mark Hamill, Olivia Newton-John, George C. Scott, Amy Carter, Mickey Mantle and Annette Funicello. Better still, local Libras are Rick Bennett, Tony Hafen, Verlene Sullivan, Annette Burr and also Chrystine Scott, Laura Jean and Dr. Harold Miller, Malee Brubaker, Attorney Greg Janson and Susy Cole. They have for their flower the Cosmos and their birthstone is fire blue spinel. And they can celebrate these holidays: Columbus Day on October 11th, Halloween and Nevada Admittance Day on Oct. 31st. Have a happy September and October birthdays - all of you.

OCTOBER SCENE

In our desert setting we don't often see many of the classic fall scenes that are in the memories of many of us...but I read a couple, three descriptive quotes that are sure to make some memories come alive. "Gusts of children scattering neatly piled leaves" (Sherman S. Stephens). "Squirrels making much ado about nutting. (Jan Hunt Clark). "Pumpkins squatting around cornstalk wigwams." (Leo J. Sweeny) October can be a special, fun month.

HE SAID...

Lord Leslie Hore-Belisha said, "To make a speech immortal you don't have to make it everlasting." And I guess that goes for news columns, too.

What's A Bread Spread?

Making bread and the art of quilting are not old fashioned or difficult at all. All you need is someone to teach you. On Saturday, October 16th, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the LDS Church on Arrowhead Drive (off from Highland) these almost lost arts will be taught. Bring a neighbor or friend because everyone is invited.

OLEANDERS
(A Farewell to Nevada)

In midsummer time we went away
When oleanders danced in the wind all day
So, on midsummer days we will ever recall
The sun on the mountains - the glory of it all.

And you we left in a far West fold
With echoes of music that stirred the soul
Our roots went deep ... and we have to say
Our hearts were heavy as we went away.

But on a far shore we'll remember you
When the dark days come and songbirds are few We'll remember your love; O, we'll never forget
Like the tones of an organ it will soothe all regret.

Till we remember only beauty that was ours
The choir, the handclasp, the worship, the flowers
While between me and the oleanders impart
Abiding memories deep in the heart.

Mayme Miller
July 31, 1966

Once again, Community Church bade a fond farewell to a beautiful couple. They are still living in Texas and there is still some contact with them.

In the meantime, a Structure Committee was formed at the Annual Meeting in June, 1966 to tackle the job of researching denominations. The committee represented the following denominations of various members of the church:
Methodist, Henderson Community, Disciples of Christ, Reformed, Presbyterian, Christian Science, and Episcopal.

Boulder City Baby Arrives Early ... And Quickly

Yes, he's a newborn ... and his mother, Deborah, was expecting him. His predicted arrival date had been guessed at later this week.

It wasn't to be. About 8 a.m. Tuesday, Mrs. Anderson received strong and unmistakable signals that her baby's arrival was imminent. A neighbor called the B.C. Rescue unit which arrived to find the mother in the final stages of labor.

B.C. Firefighters Larry Bounty and Dean Bacon handled the delivery chores in the home. Both had previous experience in assisting with births ... but this was the first time they had been called on to serve as the first team.

Deputy Fire Chief Olien Haskett, using a recently purchased portable communication handset that allows the user to dial into the telephone system, called the emergency room at the Boulder City Hospital to alert them to the situation. A second call was made to report mother and baby doing fine and on their way for a double admittance.

Mrs. Anderson had words of praise for the capable service rendered by Bounty, Bacon and the others who responded to her predicament. She says their professionalism gave her confidence and allayed her fears during the birthing of John David.

Wolves Shoot for Season's Second Victory

Whitehead: Don't Underestimate Eldorado

By John Dailey

Both teams have identical 1-4 records but one squad has everything to lose while another only has something to prove.

If Basic is as good as their 18-6 victory over Clark they might be the only club in the Sunrise Division good enough to give 4-1 Western a run for the title. A loss to lowly Eldorado in the Wolves' league opener would quickly stifle any talk about championships and also put a very serious dent in the rest of the season.

Meanwhile, Eldorado's only close game this season was their win against Clark Sept. 11, 14-7. Clark turnovers in that game gave Eldorado the win, a fumble and a last-second interception directly led to Sun Devil scores.

In four other contests the 'Devils have been soundly trounced by three Sunset squads and Rancho last week.

Eldorado must have hit the pinnacle of offensive ineptitude last week against Rancho in a 14-0 shutout loss. Against the eighth placed defensive club in the conference Eldorado gained only a measley 89 yards total offense while the Rams, the last place club in total offense before the game, chalked up 284 yards total offense against an equally hapless defense.

In three other losses to Sunset Division clubs the picture doesn't become any brighter for the Sun Devils, losing to Valley 28-0, Bishop Gorman 46-9 and Bonanza 24-0.

However, statistics and comparing wins can be deceiving, Clark, Eldorado's only win, beat Rancho 10-7 the week before last. Also, Basic ranked only eighth in offense before the Clark game and dead last in team defense, but we all know how good they are.

With nothing to lose but a bad reputation Eldorado will try to turn up the heat on Basic for, perhaps, their last and best shot for a victory this season.

Eldorado hopes to accomplish that feat on the strength of 5-10, 165-pound running back Richard Cannon who through five games has 280 yards running to his credit, including a 150-yard performance against Clark. Basic head football coach Rich Whitehead said Tuesday evening that Cannon is the kid the Wolves have to stop in order to win but Whitehead said he was worried more by the 'Devils big front line than any one individual.

Topping the Eldorado cattle call are seniors Jeff Shark (6-4, 200) at tackle and Billy Parks (6-0, 200) at center along with a beefy corps of juniors that includes 6-3, 220-pound Elliott Gibson at tackle and 6-2, 200-pound Kevin Folk and 6-0, 190-pound Jack Omohundro at guards.

Eldorado coach Mike Gutowski also has the meat on his five-man defensive line, with three down linemen averaging 210 pounds across. Senior Russ Meiries (5-10, 195) leads the stoppers at one tackle position while juniors John Hollingsworth (5-10, 180) at noseguard and Steve Johnson (6-1, 235) at tackle tip the scales, at least, in favor of the 'Devils.

Whitehead said Eldorado would be no patsy, basically because the southeast Las Vegas school is celebrating their homecoming and hungry to upset what has become a favored Basic team by the in-town press. The Basic mentor noted at about the same time last year Eldorado dealt the eventual zone champion Western one of their four losses 13-7 at Sun Devil Stadium.

The Wolves meanwhile, are not changing a successful formula and most positions will be manned by the players that have held those spots throughout the season. Scheduled to return to full-time action is senior 6-1, 170-pound wide receiver Henry Rolling who suffered a pulled muscle in the Chaparral game and saw very limited duty in the Clark win. Juniors Michon Johnson and Jesse Gordon continue to heal while playing full time.

Junior varsity action begins at 5 p.m. in Sun Devil Stadium with the varsity game beginning at 7:30 p.m. Friday night. Located near Bonanza and Nellis, feel free to call the HOME NEWS for directions to the stadium.

opponent. Bingamon was honored for his play on specialty teams, especially for his downing of a Clark on-side kickoff to assure Basic the win. Marquez was chosen as outstanding defensive performer. The junior intercepted a Clark pass at the end of the game that locked up the contest for the Wolves.

October 1 will live in the annals of Basic High School athletic history.

The monkey is finally off the back of the varsity football team and coach Rich Whitehead. Everyone, from principal Lanny Lund on down, is breathing a little easier this week because of Basic's 18-6 win over Clark last Friday.

Basic now has a legitimate shot at the league title if they can win their next three games. I am confident that if the Wolves play as they have in four out of their five games this season they will beat Eldorado, Las Vegas and Rancho. If they accomplish that very real goal they go into the last game of the season undefeated in league play against Western. The final game of the season may determine the division champion.

Basic's only chance for post-season play seems to be winning the league. Because of the new post-season seeding system it seems unlikely that a team with five losses could make the playoffs. In the four-team format league champions from the Sunrise and Sunset plus the two teams with the best records from the entire zone are seeded. With four Sunset teams having three or more wins thus far and only one Sunrise team with more than three wins it looks like three Sunset teams plus the Sunrise Division champion.

With four losses already, Basic probably won't qualify for one of those wild card spots so they must win their division if they want post-season play. That means winning the last four games which would also mean the Wolves would have their first winning season since 1972, and the school's first successful season while playing a full AAA schedule.

Whatever happens we can all be proud of the accomplishments thus far of the team and of coach Whitehead.

I know sports readers usually never read the editorial pages but HOME NEWS readers and sports fans of Basic may enjoy reading what Whitehead and the recent successes have really meant to the students of Basic High School and the community.

Graduating seniors from Basic's state championship baseball team are making it on the college level.

Bob Scucci's dad dropped by the other day and told me Bobby had made the final baseball cut at the University of Southern California and now was waiting for tryouts to see whether he would make the varsity or junior varsity squads.

Brent Cline is also in Southern California at San Jacinto Junior College, pitching and out fielding for one of the top junior college programs in the golden state.

Anson Jones was recently in town playing with his junior college team from Southern California, Taft College. The Cougars had four practice games with the UNLV Rebels varsity and second teams. Anson hit two doubles in the two games he played and has adapted well to first base. Jones was an all-conference shortstop before his Taft coaches determined the six-foot-three youngster might serve them better at first.

Scott Haney is "three-quarters" on the Brigham Young University baseball program but has told dad Bill not to spread the word about his chances of making the team, perhaps in fear of being jinxed.

If you know of any other successes drop me a line or catch me when you see me because I found this is one of the things our readers most like to hear, how our city's athletes are doing in bigger and greener pastures.

Congratulations to Basic junior tailback Randy Venerable for winning the Las Vegas' SUN's Prep Athlete of the Week award for his performance against Clark, Randy finally put it all together and hopefully he will continue to do so.

FROM CURTIS'S CORNER BY JOEY CURTIS

This week's column deals with "The 4 B's."

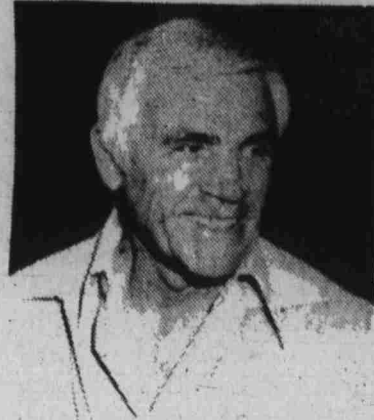

That's Boza & Blaine equals Banging at the 'Boat!

There will be plenty of punches thrown Saturday the 9th when former WBC junior lightweight champion Cornelius Boza-Edwards of Las Vegas meets former NABF junior lightweight champion Blaine Dickson.

Boxing's an uncertain sport (both when dealing with fighters and promoters it seems), but one thing's for sure Saturday night. That's that "Corny" and Dickson will put on one heckuva brawl (that's 5 "B's").

Both fighters come out swinging from the opening bell, both are willing to take a punch or two (or in Blaine's case, three) in order to land a good one, and neither back up a step. All that spells is non-stop action and excitement.

Thank Showboat general manager and executive vice president Frank Modica and promoter Don Chargin for bringing this battle (that's 6 "B's") to Las Vegas!

And there's plenty riding on this fight too. For Dickson it's a chance to regain his national recognition and maybe a world ranking. For Boza-Edwards it's a lot more.

If he wins he'll get a crack at current WBC junior lightweight king Rafael "Bazooka" Limon in either November, December, or January. Boza-Edwards' manager Mickey Duff tells me he wants to fight as soon as possible but that Limon's manager wants to fight Bobby Chacon first and then fight Boza-Edwards in January.

I don't blame Limon and his crew for wanting to put off "Corny" as long as possible. Boza-Edwards won the WBC junior lightweight title a year and a-half ago by decisioning Limon. Limon is champ now because (1) Boza-Edwards was upset by Rolando Navarrete and (2) Limon beat Navarrete here when Navarrete ran out of gas.

But whenever the title fight is, Boza-Edwards has to beat Dickson first, and it won't be easy. Dickson may not be the biggest talent at 130 pounds, but no one has a bigger heart.

The card starts at 5:30 p.m. in the Showboat's Sports Pavilion and tickets are only $15 and $10 -- cheap to see a former world champion!

The word now is that undefeated junior lightweight lightweight hot-shot Edwin Rosario is out for the rest of the year after having a bone graft on his broken wrist. That's the wrist he broke here in Las Vegas training for a July fight with Cubanito Perez.

It's a real shame because Rosario is a fine, fine young fighter. At 130 pounds I can think of only two fighters who MIGHT beat him and that's Boza-Edwards and another undefeated prospect Hector "Macho" Camacho. Limon and Navarrete wouldn't do it.

Now when Rosario comes back he'll be a full-fledged lightweight and ready to move into the slot left in that bigger money division by Alexis Arguello moving up to junior welterweight.

Extra-Extra-Extra. Right from the horse's mouth. Who do I meet walking into the lobby of Caesars Palace, shining as big as his biggest diamond -- Mr. Don King.

I cornered him into one part of the lobby and asked point-blank "What's the story on Holmes and what's the story on Dokes?"

Quote as per quote from Don King. "Holmes will definitely fight Cobb here in Las Vegas, and Dokes will fight Weaver, also in Las Vegas."

I guess that's why he's here in Las Vegas -- to arrange for the two fights. I know he doesn't shoot craps. Let's see what happens. See you next week.

Dickson vs. Boza-Edwards at the 'Boat

Las Vegas' Cornelius Boza-Edwards, once the World Boxing Council junior lightweight champion now the WBC's No. 1 contender, faces former North American Boxing Federation king Blaine Dickson on Saturday, Oct. 9, at the Showboat Hotel and Casino in what should be his final fight before challenging WBC 130-pound champ Rafael "Bazooka" Limon.

The 10-round bout, promoted by the Showboat Hotel in association with Don Chargin Productions, will be held in the Showboat Sports Pavilion. Doors open at 5 p.m. and the first fight on the card begins at 5:30 p.m.

Tickets are priced at only $15 for ringside reserved and $10 for general admission and are on sale daily at the Showboat Sports Pavilion Ticket Office. They also can be purchased at the door Saturday.

Not only is this a -- perhaps, the -- crucial fight for Boza-Edwards in his quest to regain the WBC championship it also promises to be a brawl. Both Boza-Edwards and Dickson have well earned reputations for making great, not merely good, fights. Both come out and bang from bell to bell, and this is one instance in which styles will make for tremendous, non-stop action.

The 26-year-old Boza-Edwards, born in Uganda and raised in London, has a 36-3 record with 28 knockouts. The 21-year-old Dickson, now living in El Monte, Calif., has a 17-4-1 record with seven knockouts.

Boza-Edwards' manager, Mickey Duff, and Limon's manager, Ricardo Maldonado, have been negotiating for a 15-round title bout and it may happen as soon as November.

Duff is pushing for the fight to come off in November or December while Maldonado wants Limon to first defend against Bobby Chacon in November then, providing he's successful against the former WBC featherweight champion, against Boza-Edwards in January.

Boza-Edwards holds a win over Limon. He decisioned "Bazooka" for the vacant WBC junior lightweight crown on March 8, 1981, in Stockton. Boza-Edwards successfully defended the title once, stopping Chacon in the 13th on May 30 of that year at the Showboat, before being upset by Rolando Navarrete on Aug. 29 in Via Reggia, Italy. Limon dethroned Navarrete earlier this year.

Since that surprising loss Boza-Edwards has torn through all five of his opponents. He stopped Santiago Alvarez in the third in November in London, halted Art Leon in the fifth in February in London, won the European junior lightweight title by dropping Carlos Hernandez in the fourth in March in London, finished highly regarded John "The Heat" Verderosa in the third in May in Atlantic City and decisioned Roberto Elizondo in June at the Showboat.

Dickson won the NABF crown on Sept. 15, 1981, by besting Santos Moreno at Lake Tahoe. He lost it three months later to undefeated and world-ranked Hector "Macho" Camacho in New York. Dickson has won two fights this year, decisioning Roberto Garcia in March and Darrell Stovall in April.

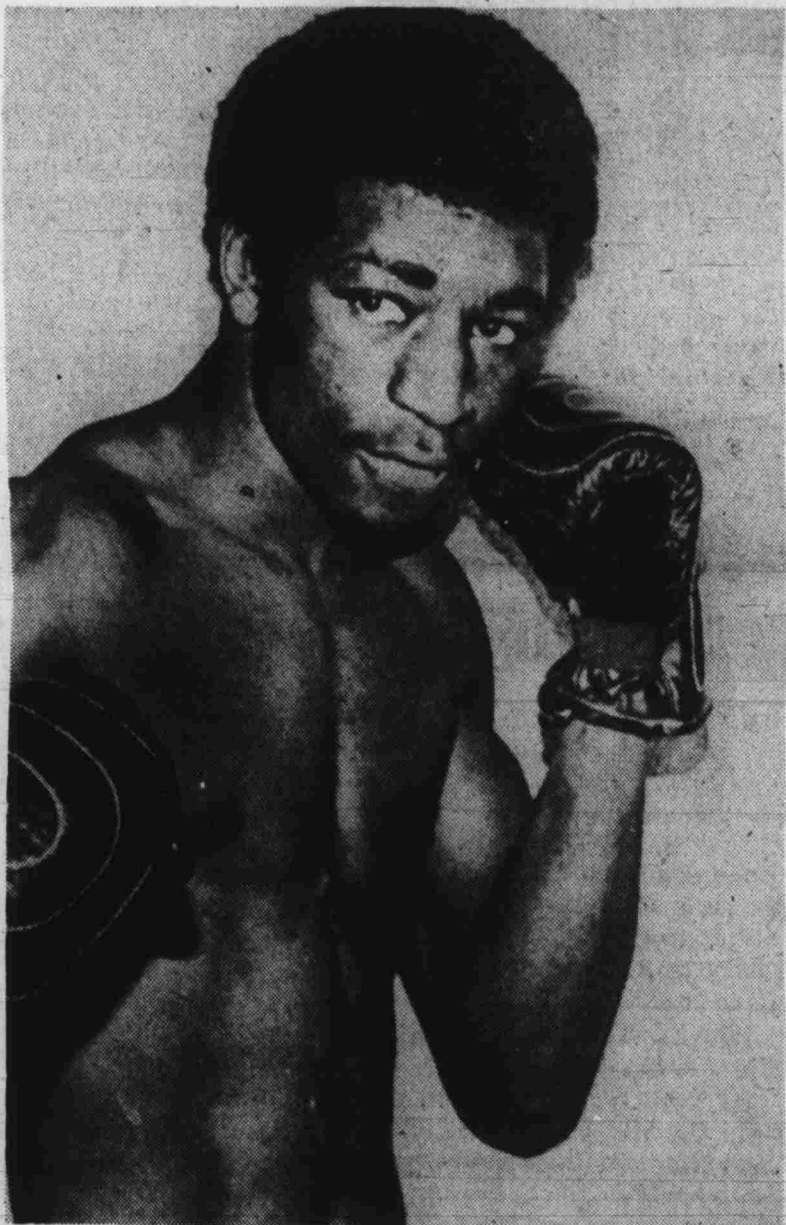

Dickson also has fought Navarrete and he went the distance with him, losing a 10-round decision in June of last year in Honolulu.

The Boza-Edwards-Dickson main event will be nationally televised by ESPN as part of its new Saturday night "Big Fight" series which features only world title bouts, former world champions and world-ranked contenders.

The undercard for Saturday's show will be announced later.

Frontier 500 Route Changes

Because of heavy snow and rains that have damaged mountain roads, the organizers of the Frontier 500, the Las Vegas-to-Reno off-road race scheduled for Oct. 16-17, have altered the final stage of the race.

According to Walt Lott, president of the High Desert Racing Association, which is staging the event, recent rains in the northwest area of the state have washed away sections of the original course. "Many of the roads we selected near Reno are steep, narrow and rough," Lott said. "Ordinarily they are considered ideal for professional off-road racing. But, under present weather conditions, it would not be in the best interest of the drivers to run the race on these roads.

Also, out of respect for the people who live and play on the land the year 'round, we wouldn't want to risk further damage to the washed out sections."

Also influencing his decision to alter the race route, Lott said, were concerns by northern Nevada environmentalists about the event's impact on the mountainous area southeast of Reno. He said the new course is favored by the environmentalists.

Lott said the revised race route would move the final timing point of the race to Weeks, Nev., located south of Reno. After going through all the checkpoints, the race cars will travel to Virginia City and continue on to the Peppermill Inn and Casino in Reno, where they will receive the ceremonial checkered flag. Drivers will be required to adhere to local traffic laws on their journey from Weeks to Reno.

Lott said there are no other major changes along the race course, which begins south of Las Vegas and winds northward through Pahump, Amargosa Valley, Beatty, Goldfield, Tonopah and Gabbs.

The High Desert Racing Association received a BLM permit on Aug. 20 to run the race. More than 500 vehicles are expected to participate.

Lott said he has been working with the BLM for more than a year to determine a proper race course. He added that he also made numerous trips throughout the state to attend to the concerns of environmentalists and other interested citizens.

"This isn't the first time we've had to change the race course for a good reason," Lott said. "But we'll do whatever is necessary to make the Frontier 500 an event Nevadans can be proud of."

The race is sponsored by the Adolph Coors Co., Nissan-Datsun Corp., the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas and the Peppermill in Reno.

Burglary Attempt Foiled

A Henderson resident was charged with burglary last Wednesday after he and two companions were captured fleeing the scene.

Police reports stated that Robert C. Whitfield, 22, and two other Henderson residents were taken into custody after attempting to burglarize the residence of James E. Hughes.

According to police, Whitfield acted as a lookout while the other two subjects entered the residence by breaking open a window. Once inside, however, Hughes' dog began barking, which awakened Hughes, who came out of his bedroom to discover the three men running.

Hughes then summoned police. While searching the neighborhood, patrol units found three men walking who, when approached, began to run. Whitfield, however, did not run and was subsequently charged with burglary.

--In other action, Michelle R. Carson, 16, and a 16-year-old passenger were injured in a one-car accident Saturday at Arrowhead and San Bruno.

Police reports stated that Carson's vehicle was traveling south on Arrowhead approaching the intersection of San Bruno, at which traffic must turn east.

Carson failed to negotiate the turn and applied her brakes, but collided with the south curb on San Bruno and traveled into the dirt. Carson was cited for failure to pay full time and attention.

--Darcy Russell, 26, was charged with driving under the influence with an accident, no insurance and leaving the scene of an accident Monday after he struck a parked vehicle while traveling on Basic.

Police reports indicate that Russell kept driving after colliding with the vehicle, then stopped and left his car at that point. He was located later at his residence.

--Gilbert A. Callens, 64, was also charged with driving under the influence with an accident Saturday following a one-car accident.

According to police, Callens was eastbound on Sunset Rd. near Camarillo Park and failed to notice police had cordoned off the slow lane of traffic due to an accident in that lane.

Once Callens became aware that traffic was restricted to the fast lane, he applied his brakes and went into a skid, causing his vehicle to lose the cement mixer being towed behind it.

Callens was additionally cited for no proof of insurance and an expired registration.

Could This Happen To You?

Crime Prevention Unit Henderson Police Department Officer Robert Lindsey

Wally and Gladys Williams had just bought their first home. They had selected one in a rural area rather than in the city because neighborhood crime always seemed to be increasing in the town where they had lived as renters.

The house was quite old, but the price was right for a "fixer-upper", and Wally started to remodel one room at a time, as the weekly paycheck would allow. His plan was to complete the inside work, leaving exterior painting, roof repair and landscaping to be completed after the inside was comfortably remodeled. Inside, the house began to take shape after a few months, but anyone passing would have thought the place was deserted, from its outside appearance.

Soon, a long holiday weekend came. The Williamses were tired and needed a rest. They went to visit friends in a nearby city and stayed four days. They had locked up well, they thought, but the old hardware was still in use on their outside doors, and only a skeleton key was needed to open them.

On their return, they were aghast to find their home a shambles. Vandals had entered, evidently through the back easy-to-open door. Their gallon paint cans had been opened and paint was everywhere, on furniture, walls, carpeting, etc. New floor tiles had been torn up and stuffed into stools and sink drains. Paneling was ripped from the walls and broken into pieces, sinks and light fixtures were smashed with a sledgehammer. In horrified disbelief, they called the nearest law enforcement agency.

On arrival, the first question they asked the officer was, "What kind of people would do such a thing, and why did they choose our home?" Following are some of the answers to this often asked question.

Most of the mistakes the Williamses made are obvious, but even the obvious is sometimes difficult to remember when the time comes. Consider these precautions in protecting your own home.

1. Never leave for an overnight trip leaving your house looking unoccupied. If remodeling an older home, replace antiquated locks, broken windows, and weatherbeaten door and window framing first, before starting on inside work.

2. Install at least some outside lighting, and wire a few of these yardlights to come on automatically if an outside door is opened, and one or two that may remain on at all times while you are away. Automatically-tripped yard lights will often frighten an intruder sufficiently to make him leave.

3. The Williams couple had been too busy to make friends with their nearest neighbor. When questioned, these neighbors said they had heard unusual noises and seen a strange vehicle parked near the Williams home. But, not knowing they were gone, they took no action. Make friends with your new neighbors as soon as possible. Let them know when you'll be away so they can keep an eye out for you; do the same for them.

4. Avoid leaving your home looking as though everything is neatly tucked away for an extended absence. 5. Put timing devices on two or three lights inside the house and stagger the come on and shut-off schedules. Leave a radio playing on a station with conversation instead of music.

6. Paint, tools, and other remodeling supplies are great temptations to vandals, so don't provide such items for use on your own home. Store and lock them in a hard to find location.

Vandalism costs Americans millions in losses each year, but you can minimize possibilities of being a victim by using these common sense rules. If victimized, do not fail to report it so that others may be spared.

By Al Cleri

Let me start off with a real big sincere thank you to the 400 plus people who turned out for our seminar on Sept. 29th. It was very gratifying to have that many people brave the inclement weather to listen to an old worn out angler.

The tremendous response since that night has indicated a very definite commitment for a repeat. It's a promise folks, we will be back and the next one will be even better. It's also set that we will do one on largemouth bass also. We will give you plenty of notice when we finally get things arranged and believe me we will do our best to give you all the information available.

On a tentative date of Nov. 12, 1982 we will participate in a seminar for the National Lake Mead Stripper Tournament to be conducted by Stripper Magazine. The tournament dates are Nov. 13 & 14 and this will be the 3rd year Las Vegas has hosted the National Tournament. We will tell you more about this as the dates approach. Just keep in mind the dates of Nov. 12, 13, and 14th, set them aside for a weekend of fun and fishing.

Fishing continues to be good on Lake Mead with some phenomenal striper action with topwater lures. Last Thursday we fished as guests of Bob Glassburn and as expected he put us right on a red hot striper boil. At one point all four people on the boat were hooked up with stripers, now talk about mayhem. Don Dennison (old skinhead) actually spotted the lone seagull and really deserves some of the credit for finding the fish. If I don't mention him then I'll be arrested for something, probably for impersonating a fisherman. Dr. Bucky Walters rounded out our foursome and it was really neat to just lay back and fish without any client pressure. Thank you Bob.

As is quite common at this time of year largemouth bass were mixed in with the stripers and Bob Glassburn really hooked up with a nice largemouth around 3 1/2 to 4 pounds. It really is a bonus to catch both species at the same time and especially with topwater lures.

Probably the most interesting aspect of that trip was the fact that all four of us were using different lures. Not only were they different in design but the colors were just as varied. What did we use well we had jumpin minnows, spooks, jigs, spots, redfins, and some strange things that Don Dennison dug out of a coffee can. No matter, they all worked and it is really a matter of good presentation that will get you fish.

This is the time of year when live bait can really be an effective fish getter. Probably the best of live baits would be live shad and yes they are legal to use. If you can net a few and have a live well to keep them alive then you will really have an excellent chance for some good stripers. Hook the shad just under the dorsal fin and if you can avoid using a sinker do so. Let the shad swim as free as possible and the big linesiders will do the rest. It would help if you found the fish first on your graph.

Now if you can't catch shad then stop at the bait shop and buy some golden shiners. Hook them up and use them the same as you would shad. They are a very good bait except when you try to go beyond 40 to 50 feet deep with them. It seems that shiners just won't hold up in deep water.

If you do use live baits then by all means try to keep them as frisky as possible. Ask your bait dealer to help you come up with a good live bait system.

Another excellent bait when you can find them are waterdogs. These not so pretty little guys, are a real tough durable bait. They are a virtual remote control lure. There are a lot of bass fishermen around who can tell you some wild stories about waterdog baits.

As long as we are talking live baits, how about nightcrawlers? We rarely mention them but they are an absolutely deadly bait especially for largemouth bass. You can gather them yourself or purchase them at most bait shops. Nightcrawlers are just about a universal bait so if you haven't used them you should try them because you never know when or where they may be the bait to use.

No I haven't forgotten good old anchovies. Just don't limit yourself to one bait, besides its fun to experiment with different things.

These are the latest general areas that stripers have been taken. You may have to look a little bit but they are there. Try Gypsum Wash, Government Wash, Vegas Wash, Hatchery Cove, Salamander Cove, Swallow Bay, the causeway at Lake Mead Marina and Calville Bay. That will keep you busy in the lower basin.

Echo Bay, Gregg Basin, Iceberg Canyon and Grand Wash will give you some distant points to try.

If you want a change of pace then try Mohave, the trout and the largemouth bass are coming on very well. Lake Mohave is an exceptional body of water that harbors a lot of natural baits for both bass and trout. There are huge schools of shad and a lot of blue gill and green sunfish all of which make the bass fat and sassy.

Once again thanks to

Ben's Tackle Shop, Sunset Marine and Tackle, General Marine & Tackle, The Tradesmen, John Harmon, Karen Jones and to all you people who helped make the seminar a success. We loved doing it for you. We couldn't of done it without you Max.

The largest fish is the whale shark. It weighs up to 15 tons - more than twice as much as an African elephant.

Mt. Charleston Camp and Picnic Grounds Closed For Season

Thursday, September 30, was the last day of operation for most developed recreation sites in the Toiyabe National Forest. All camp and picnic grounds except Kyle Canyon Campground will be closed for the winter after Thursday.

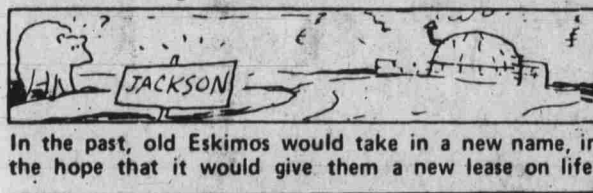

Kyle Campground will remain open without water until deep winter snows force its closing, according to District Ranger Bob Wize. "The autumn season at Mt. Charleston offers a special charm for outdoor recreationists," Wize continued. "Crowds are gone, the aspen trees turn a bright yellow, and the cool air suggests the coming of winter to the mountains."

The Ranger cautioned that night temperatures fall below freezing and sudden snow storms are possible at any time. Visitors are advised to come prepared for cold weather. Tire chains should be carried as a precaution, as invisible black ice can make mountain roads hazardous following a storm.

UNLV Faces UTEP In Second Home Game

Harvey Hyde's UNLV Rebels, 0-4 overall and 0-1 in PCAA, return to nonconference action Saturday (Oct. 9) as the Rebels host Bill Yung's Miners from Texas - El Paso.

UNLV dropped its first conference game last Saturday at Pacific, 29-27. The Rebels nonconference losses have been to Brigham Young, 27-0, New Mexico, 49-21 and San Diego State, 26-23. UTEP is 1-4 overall and 0-2 in the WAC. Last Saturday at home, the Miners were defeated by BYU, 55-3, in a league contest. The Miners other league loss was at Hawaii, 17-10.

UNLV's lone win was an opening triumph at New Mexico St., 20-17. The Miners other losses were to Washington, 55-0 and SMU, 31-10. It was UNLV head coach Tony Knap's last game as a Rebel when UNLV defeated the Miners, 27-20, before 3,274 fans in El Paso on Nov. 27. The win marked an end to Knap's career, who retired and was replaced by Hyde.

It was also UNLV's 100th victory in football and gave UNLV a season ending 6-6 record. Rebel QB Sam King set a record for most yards passing in a game, connecting on 23 of 33 tosses for 476 yards and 1 TD.

The game was tied at half, 14-14 and was still deadlocked until King scored on a 1 yard run with 7:54 left in the game and then hit TE Jeff Spek with a 69-yard scoring pass, with 4:03 left, to give UNLV a 27-14 lead.

UNLV led in the team stats also, 20 first downs to 16 and 574 total yards (479 passing - 95 rushing) to 355 (234 rushing - 121 passing).

For the second week in a row, UNLV let victory slip away as Pacific rallied in the final quarter to defeat UNLV, 29-27, before 9,500 at Stockton's Pacific Memorial Stadium on Oct. 2. It was the conference opener for both teams and both squads were looking for their first win, with UNLV at 0-3 and Pacific at 0-4. The Rebels trailed 19-14 at the half and 26-14 at the end of the third period before mounting their comeback.

With 14:56 left in the game, Rebel junior Hiram Mack scored from the 1 yard line and with Paul Gilgens' PAT, UNLV trailed 26-21. Then, with 8:56 left in the contest, Rebel senior Andrew Lazarus scored from 1 yard line again, but the two-point try failed, and UNLV led 27-26.

But on Pacific's next possession, the Tigers drove down to UNLV's 14 yard line, where Scott Kinney booted a 31-yard field goal, to give the Tigers a 29-26 lead, with 3:37 left to play.

UNLV got the ball once more, but was stopped at its own 39-yard line and Pacific ran out the clock to seal the win.

Through it all, the Rebels were led by sophomore quarterback Randall Cunningham and senior receivers, Darral Hambrick and Waymon Alridge. Cunningham became only the fifth quarterback in UNLV history to throw for over 400 yards, as he completed 26 of 46 passes, with only one intercepted, for 413 yards, including a long gain of 43 yards.

Hambrick, the nation's seventh ranked receiver, caught eight passes for 178 yards, including the 43 yarder, while Alridge caught seven passes for 108 yards.

Defensively, four players, each with eight tackles, led the Rebels - junior Damir Dupin (6 unassisted); senior Mike Walker (five unassisted, one pass broken up); senior Wymon Henderson (seven unassisted) and junior Terry Anderson (6 unassisted, 1 pass intercepted and 2 passes broken up). UNLV led in team stats, with 25 first downs to 22 and 499 total yards (413 passing - 86 rushing) to 396 (227 passing - 169 rushing).

Kickoff for the UTEP game is set for 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Silver Bowl in Las Vegas. It will be Band Night.

UNLV's official station for the next two years is KVEG-AM (1410) and KFM-FM (102). Handling the play-by-play is Randy Rosenbloom, color commentary by Mark Edwards and sideline reports by Sam King, former Rebel Honorable Mention All American quarterback. Also, all Rebel football games will be tape-delayed by Community Cable TV, Channel 11, every Sunday at 9 a.m. and Wednesday at 6 p.m.

Harvey Hyde has a school and career mark of 0-4. He's in his first year at UNLV, coming to Las Vegas from Pasadena City College, where he was the head coach from 1979-81.

Bill Yung is also in his first year at UTEP, coming from West Texas St., where he was the head coach for the last five years, with a 26-27-2 record. Last year, Yung's West Texas St. team defeated the Rebels in Las Vegas, 21-17.

Against Pacific, UNLV had the usual bumps and bruises, with junior linebacker Ken Rose the most serious. Rose suffered a right ankle sprain and is questionable for next Saturday's contest against UTEP. Junior running back Keyvan Jenkins suffered a right ankle sprain and should be ready for the UTEP game. Junior tight end Daryl Johnson suffered a concussion and also should be ready for the UTEP game. Senior running back Andrew Lazarus aggravated a right ankle sprain but should be ready for the UTEP game.

UNLV leads the series 3-1. The teams met last season in the final game of the year with UNLV winning 27-20 in El Paso. It was coach Tony Knap's last game at UNLV.

UNLV Quarterback Club Luncheon will be Wednesday, at noon, at the Holiday Casino. The public is invited and the price is only $5. Featured speakers will be Hyde, and area high school football coaches Jim Massey from Clark, John Chura from Chaparral and Rich Whitehead from Basic. UNLV junior varsity Rebels are 0-3 for the season, dropping a 38-9 verdict on Oct. 2 to Scottsdale College as well as a 39-0 loss to Dixie College on Sept. 18 and a 37-7 loss to BYU on Sept. 10. All three contests were held at Valley High School. The JV's next game is Saturday, Oct. 9, against Mesa College. Kickoff is set for 11 a.m. at Valley High School.

Before the Pacific game Darral Hambrick, a 6-4, 210-pound - three year letterman from Los Angeles, was the country's No. 7 receiver and No. 2 in the PCAA. He continued his pass catching wizardry against Pacific, with eight for 178 yards, including a long gain of 43 yards. Only four Rebel receivers in the school's history have caught for more yardage - Jeff Spek (206, UTEP, 1981); Jim Sandusky (189, Hawaii, 1981); Jeff Spek (181, Fresno St., 1981) and Henry Verçen (181, Idaho, 1977).

Defensive leaders are sophomore Marcus Harrison leads the line and all defenders in tackles, with 24 (15, unassisted, four stops behind the line for a total loss of 18 yards and one quarterback sack for a nine-yard loss). Leading the linebackers is junior Kirk Dodge, with 20 stops (14 unassisted, one stop behind the line for two yard loss). Pacing the backs is junior Al Ligon, with 31 tackles (18 unassisted, three stops behind the line for a loss of 29 yards, one quarterback sack for a loss of 18 yards, two passes intercepted and one pass broken up).

Going into the Pacific game, junior RB Keyvan Jenkins was the PCAA leader in kickoff returns. Cunningham was second in total offense; Hambrick second in receiving; Ligon second in pass interceptions and junior Terry Anderson, second in punt returns.

Nevada Deer Hunts Begin

By Charles Crunden

Many of Nevada's hunters will be taking to the field on Saturday, October 9, for the general deer season slated to open in Management Areas 1-7, 10-18, 21-23 and 25 according to regulations established earlier by the State Board of Wildlife Commissioners.

Management Areas 8, 26 and 27 will open to deer hunting on October 16 with the latest opening of October 23 assigned to Areas 19, 20, 24 and 29. Season closing dates vary by area and wildlife officials advise all hunters to consult the current regulations brochure for specific details.

In all, 17,974 resident and 1,908 nonresident hunters will take part in the 1982 general "bucks only" deer hunting season with antici-ated success of 65 and 75 percent respectively. Hunters participating in this year's season were selected by computerized drawing from applications submitted by the July 14 deadline.

"Nevada has enjoyed excellent deer hunting success in recent years," according to George Tsukamoto, Department of Wildlife game chief, "which we attribute to the quality hunting experience made possible through the quota system. Hunting quotas are established annually for each management area, based on intensive field and aerial surveys and analysis of deer hunter return cards."

Those with general hunt "buck only" tags are allowed to take any deer with at least one antler, a change in the legal definition of a "buck" allowed through legislative action in 1981. Before this change, bucks were defined as only those with at least one branched antler. "Therefore," Tsukamoto explained, "spiked bucks will be legal for harvest this year as they were in 1981."

Other Nevada deer hunting seasons include archery and muzzleloading rifle and two special antlerless hunts, all of which have concluded for 1982. A third special antlerless season in Units 101 and 102 of Area 10, for 518 tag holders, will begin October 9 also.

In total, 41,651 persons applied for the 21,950 tags available for the various hunts throughout Nevada this year.

Tsukamoto advises that changes were made this year in many of the management area and unit boundaries. "Although most of these changes are minor, tag holders should check the deer regulations to make sure that their tag is valid in the exact area they are hunting in. Each area is fully described in the regulations as well as displayed on the full-page map."

Other hunting seasons scheduled to begin October 9 include chukar, Hungarian partridge, quail and rabbits, all statewide, and ducks, coots and snipe in all counties except Clark.

The Canada and white-fronted geese season in Elko County and that portion of Ruby Lake Refuge in White Pine and Elko Counties (as posted), and the snow and Ross' geese season in Elko County are also slated to begin Saturday.

Nevada Hunting Seasons Begin Soon

By Charles Crunden

"The majority of Nevada's upland game hunting seasons will get under way October 9," according to Dave Rice, Department of Wildlife information section chief, "and hunters are advised to consult the regulations and become familiar with season dates, limits and other restrictions before going afield."

Bird hunting began on September 1 for mourning dove, a migratory species which may be pursued from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset during a season that extends through October 15. Hunting of dove and waterfowl is permitted by federal regulation, however, the capacity of a shotgun used for these species is limited to a total of three shells. A shotgun capable of holding more than this number must be modified with the addition of a one-piece plug which limits its capacity to a maximum of two shells in the magazine.

"This shell restriction does not apply to resident upland game birds such as sage grouse, chukar partridge, and quail," Rice explained. "however, we do advise hunters to keep the plug in their shotgun if they hunt both resident upland game and migratory bird species during the concurrent seasons. A hunter in the field during the grouse, partridge, quail or rabbit season with an unplugged shotgun would be subject to a citation if he fired at or killed any of the migratory game bird species."

Rice also said that the standard method of stating the number of birds permitted in a daily and possession limit has been in use by Nevada and most other states for many years, but surprisingly many hunters find it confusing. Using the 15 bird daily and 30 in possession limit for this year's dove hunting season as an example, he offered this explanation. "Let's consider the hunter who leaves home on a Saturday morning for a weekend of dove hunting. If he hunts both Saturday and Sunday, and is successful in bagging a full daily limit each day, the maximum number of dove he can return home with is 30."

"However, if he only kills 10 on Saturday, the maximum number he can kill on Sunday is still 15. Therefore, if our hunter wants to return home with a full possession limit, he must go out again on Monday and take only five which will then make his quota of 30 in possession."

"On the other hand, if he consumes or otherwise legally disposes of all or some of his birds, he can continue hunting as long as he does not exceed the daily bag limit in any one day. Stated another way, a hunter is legally entitled to take one daily bag limit in any one day, and may have no more in his possession than the number specified in the possession limit.

"In those cases where the daily bag limit AND possession limit are the same, (as in the case of geese or fish) a hunter or fisherman may have no more in his possession than one daily bag limit."

Upland and migratory game bird, rabbit, and furbearing animal seasons were established by the State Board of Wildlife Commissioners at its August meeting in Reno. Regulation brochures are now available at all hunting and fishing license agents and Department of Wildlife offices throughout the state.

Partridge, Quail And Rabbit Hunting Seasons Open October 9

By Charles Crunden

Statewide hunting seasons for chukar and Hungarian partridge, four species of quail and rabbits are scheduled to open in Nevada on October 9.

The chukar and Hungarian partridge, both exotic game birds, were introduced to Nevada many years ago and have since contributed significantly to annual hunter harvests.

"Good moisture and range conditions last winter and spring resulted in good production for the most part, even though the number of adult breeders was down.

"The Gambel's quail is a different story. Living in the arid regions of southern Nevada, the desert quail has been at low population levels in recent years. Fortunately, fair moisture and range conditions during 1982 have given this bird a boost, and although breeding populations were low, fair production will provide better hunting opportunities this year."

Cottontail, pigmy and white-tailed rabbits are classified as game animals in Nevada with this year's season scheduled to run through February 28. "Cottontail is by far the most important of the rabbit species in Nevada, making up the majority of the annual harvest. Populations are at moderate levels and should provide good hunting as a secondary species for those persons concentrating on the various game birds," Stiver said.

Complete and detailed information about upland game bird, migratory game bird and rabbit hunting seasons and bag limits are contained in the 1982 upland game regulations brochure available at all Nevada Department of Wildlife offices and hunting and fishing license agents throughout the state.

Semi-Formal Homecoming Dance

The Homecoming dance on Oct. 16 will be emphasized as a semi-formal affair -- no long dresses for the girls and no tuxedos for the boys. Acceptable wear includes short dresses or dress pants outfits - girls; suits, sports coats, or dress pants and shirt boys.

According to Mrs. Leavitt the dance is being classified as semi-formal to encourage alumni and students to attend, and not to restrict anyone from attending due to the large cost of formal wear."

However, in order to make the dance more special for the selected Homecoming Queen and court, they will be the ones to be dressed formally. Only one dance this year will be designated as a formal affair -- the Junior-Senior Prom.

Superstar Rally

Basic High School is once again planning for the Superstar Rally. This annual homecoming event will consist of six teams from the various areas of Basic, from the freshman class to the administration-faculty team, competing against each other in the different events. The night of October 14 has been chosen for this event.

Each year the teams race for the first place ribbons. The alumni team has been the victorious one the past two years in a row. All the teams enjoy themselves and play fairly.

The events have not been finalized at this time, but some of the usual events are expected to be back. The Late For Work event and the Tricycle Relay will be among the returnees.

Sign-ups for the event will take place the first two weeks of October. The final dates have not been set at this time. Each member will buy a team shirt and be required to attend the one or two meetings held for the teams. The team captain is the Vice President of the class.

The whole evening will be full of spirit, fun and competition. All students and residents of the community are invited to attend, especially alumni.

BHS Gains Teacher

Studying bugs and teaching biology and general science are of great interest to Mr. David Bennion, a new teacher at Basic this year. He was born and raised in Henderson, graduated from Basic in 1974, and went on to receive a degree from UNLV. Mr. Bennion comes from a long line of educators. His father was a principal and his mother and brothers are teachers.

Previously teaching at Clark and Chapparral, Mr. Bennion enjoys Basic the most. He says, "The students are more down to earth and more interested in education. They also have a lot of school spirit." Friendly and helpful is how he describes Basic high school's faculty.

Mr. Bennion used to wrestle for Basic and now he's the assistant wrestling coach. In closing Mr. Bennion said, "With the talent at Basic, both academically and athletically, there should be no trouble continuing the tradition of producing the finest doctors, lawyers, engineers, and technologists, as well as superior athletes in the years to come. I hope that I can contribute my best to carry on this fine tradition of excellence."

By Chris Maestas

War was in its early stages in Europe. Magnesite, the wonder metal of the day was being mined in Gabbs, Nevada, and the Anglo-British Alliance caused the need for a war-time factory to process this magnesite into magnesium, used in airplanes, incendiary bombs making tracer bullets. Howard P. Wells and a British company, British Electron Incorporated formed Basic Magnesium Incorporated to fulfill this need.

An area 20 miles west of the Colorado River was selected for building one of the largest war-time factories ever erected in the United States. One of the main reasons this place was chosen was because of the critical need for magnesium. This area had accessibility to raw materials, an adequate water supply, good power facilities and good transportation service. The magnesite ores were being mined in Gabbs, Nevada and could be brought to this area easily by truck over U.S. Highway 95. By train, the ores would have to travel 1,100 miles before getting to Las Vegas and then to the BMI plants (Basic Magnesium Inc.). Gabbs was actually 330 miles away, but the trains would have to go to Salt Lake City and then to Los Angeles before getting to the BMI plants. So it was thought best to use U.S. 95, also called the Bonanza Highway, and haul it in by truck.

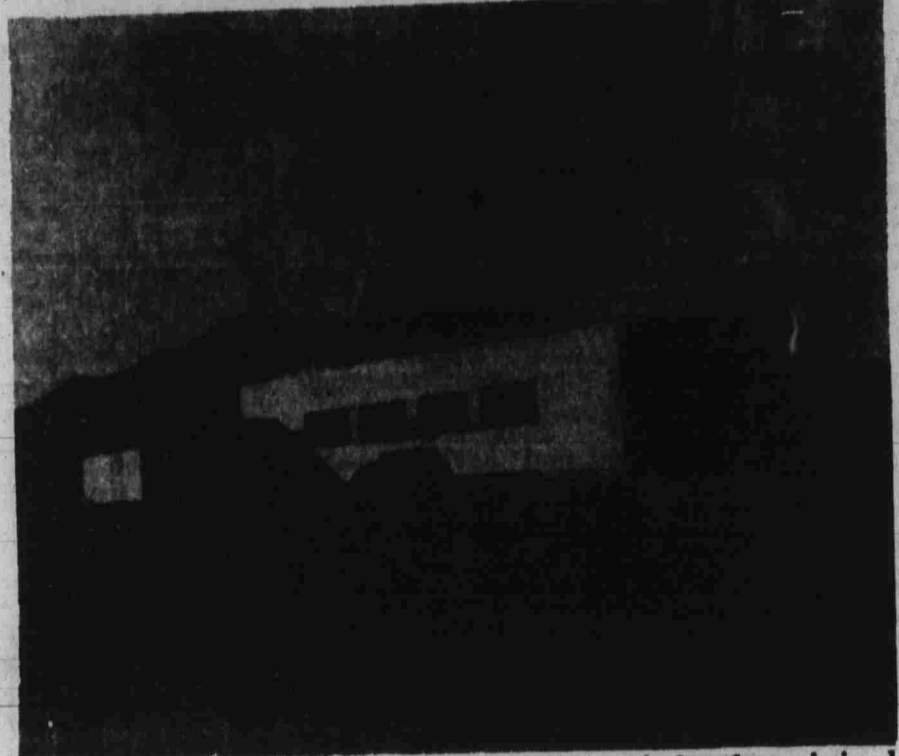

The city was originally nicknamed "Townsite" by the BMI workers, because the area was not named. Before the plants, people just passed through this area on their way to the "Pass", or Boulder City, or Searchlight, but in time the town of 2000 acres was changed into a modern and delightful place to live with some 5000 residents. So with large project to aid the war effort underway, the new town needed a school for the children of the "Townsite" workers.

Mrs. Mildred Bray, State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Nevada appointed Mr. Hellebert W. Smith as the first president of the Railroad Pass District on July 20, 1942. Also appointed was the clerk of the board, Mr. W. Harold Kingsley and another trustee Mr. A. G. Klinger. Together they set out to create the Henderson school system under the title of the Railroad Pass School District.

The first school board had very little going for them. Except for the little shack at the Pass, they had no school. They had no superintendent to run the school district and no staff. They didn't even have a dime. The only thing they had, and thought of it as a valuable asset, was the fact that the BMI management agreed not to interfere with matters of school policy, but would help the board find adequate facilities and obtain money to run the schools from the United States Government.

A representative from Washington decided that the townsite should have a school with 12 grades. The plans for the school were prepared plans for 12 grades, 12 classrooms. The plans were approved by the Government and the money for construction was from the Defense Plant Corporation.

The very next thing was to hire a superintendent. Thirty-five men from throughout the state were interviewed and Mr. Roy G. Petrie was chosen for the position. He was told of the no funds situation and the fact that they were unsure when some could be available. Nevertheless, Mr. Petrie was determined to make this work. So the Railroad Pass school district had a superintendent.

Mr. Petrie took a house-to-house poll and projected this against the production and personnel schedule of the BMI plants to determine how many students he had to place in school. This poll showed that by January 1, 1943 school population would reach 1500. With this number of students and twelve classrooms under construction, Mr. Petrie prepared to hire the first staff. By mid-September, 13 teachers were hired. They were all told of the lack of funds and the long road ahead of them. None the less, they all agreed to go to work.

The school building was being rushed to completion. The work crews were working 24 hours a day. A six room addition was already in the planning.

On October 5, 1942, school officially opened with 1002 students in the twelve grades. Grades 9-12, making up the high school was named Basic High School, after the BMI plants. Historically the name was shown to be used the second year of school.

By January the enrollment reached 1322 and continued with the 13 teachers. In February, more teachers were hired to finish off the year. Classes were held in the school, but this space was not adequate. Additional classes were held in the not yet completed auditorium, janitor's rooms, storerooms, and even the superintendent's office. Double sessions were run and the first grade classes, five in all, had 70 students each.

Basic High School made it through its first year. The staff finally got paid in December of 42. Basic held its first annual commencement exercise in February of 43.

The following school year Basic was going full tilt. The seniors and juniors went to Mt. Charleston, they held their individual class plays and a school play. Basic also played its first football game. It was against Las Vegas High School, Estes McDonal was coaching. World War II gave birth to a new town, a new school, and a new culture in a large desolate area in the southwest.

Today, Basic High School is in its third building, with a staff of 114 teachers, secretaries, custodians and administrators. There are 1991 students enrolled. Basic high participates in all county school extracurricular activities and has won many state championships and titles over these 40 years.

Many successful students have walked through the halls at Basic and the graduates have gone on to be highly respected and successful people all over the United States. One could say that in almost every state, there is someone with the words "Hail Basic High School" from the alma mater, still clinging in their minds as well as their hearts.

Dean Joins BHS Staff

By Eddie Clegg

Basic High School would like to welcome Pam Hicks, our new dean, to our school!

Pam Hicks, former junior and senior English teacher at Western, moved to Las Vegas at the age of three months from Dayton, Ohio. Having graduated from Las Vegas High School, Mrs. Hicks attained her Masters degree at UNLV. In order to become a dean, she had to go through administrative process in an oral and written test. Why Basic? Being a dean at Basic was Mrs. Hicks' choice; she was interviewed here, and got the job.

Pam Hicks' interests include bridge and photography, and her 16 month old daughter takes top spot on that list of interests. Her husband is employed at the Spring Mountain Youth Camp for young criminals. A liberated career woman - definitely!

Enjoying it here at Basic, Mrs. Hicks says, "it's a different world and a process that differs from the big city schools. Henderson is still small enough where people care."

Freshmen Elect Officers

The freshman class began the year by electing officers to represent their class in Basic's Student Council.

The competition was tough between the students running for office, and their campaigns were led by buttons, posters, and speeches.

Those winning office were: Melanie Blankenship, President; Tracey Meeks, Vice-

Melanie Blankenship - President

Dian Smith - Secretary

President; Dian Smith, Secretary; and Ronald Taylor, Treasurer.

These students will lead their class for the year. Organizing float plans, fundraisers, and class spirit. Elected representatives include: Shaney Bowman, Nancy Davis, Tracey Blankenship, Larry Gelbach, Juanita Gonzales, Ron Jeske, Dano Wilke, and Mandy Ulibarri.

Student Council Supports School

By Lizabeth Evans

Student Council plans and directs a wide range of activities for the school. Headed by fifth year advisor, Ms. Pam Watson (Mrs. Salazar), and 3rd year student council member Tina Blankenship as Student Body President, the class consists of over 50 members that have each run for office to earn a position on this outstanding organization.

Few realize the amount of work student council performs in order to accomplish its many responsibilities. Student council sponsors the main events of the school year, such as Homecoming week and Spirit Week. Weeks of planning and preparing must be done in order to have such an event. Details from contacting photographer's, getting decorations, buying any needed materials, informing the public, planning where and when an event is to take place and to get the administrator's approval must be considered.

The tasks are divided among committees, such as the Dance committee, inside publicity committee, etc. and on Friday's at formal meetings - which are open to anyone interested - the plans and details are set forth to be approved.

Mrs. Watson feels this year's council is "... the most spirited bunch ever," and is looking forward to a successful year.

Although student council has many responsibilities Mrs.

Watson has a special goal for the group. "More than anything," she says her goal for student council is to "... actively involve as many students in school activities so that they develop pride within themselves and in the school." Tina Blankenship added that another goal is, "... to improve the apathy of the student body."

The council is currently polishing the de-year to avoid weather conditions and public address problems. All alumni are cordially invited and more than welcome to attend. Spirit competitions will be held at the rally.

Happy Birthday Basic ... The Pack is Back

The week of Tuesday, October 12 - Saturday, October 16 has been designated as Basic's Homecoming Week. Numerous activities will be scheduled for students and alumni to participate. In recent years, the meaning of the word

"Homecoming" has faded, and fewer alumni participate -- or even know -- of the Homecoming activities each year. "Homecoming" is the return of alumni to their alma-mater, and this year a search has begun for alumni of Basic to attend the Homecoming events this year.

If you know of any graduates of Basic High School, please inform them of the many activities, to aid in making this year the most successful Homecoming.

Alumni Search

We are inviting the alumni to get involved and support Basic High School. We hope you will have as much fun this year as you did at your own homecoming. Come on and join in.

First Annual Meatball Festival to Benefit Opportunity Village

The "First Annual Meatball Festival, Fancy Bike Contest and Parade," sponsored by the Vineyard Restaurant to benefit Opportunity Village for Retarded Citizens, will be held Sunday, October 10, from 11 a.m. until dusk, in the front parking lot of the Boulevard Mall.

"The event should be as much fun as the title it bears." Reports Linda Smith, Director of Funding at the Village. "We've pulled all the stops for this event, and I think they are going to get their money's worth," she adds.

The sights and sounds of the festival have been planned to delight the toddlers, teenagers and adults alike; starting with a parade, led by Mayor Briare, as Grant Marshall, who will share the spotlight with Ronald McDonald (R) and the delightful Chuck E. Cheese (TM) characters, among others. The Fancy Bike contestants will close the line-up, riding their beautifully decorated cycles.

The festival sight itself will feature a variety of booths, offering something to tickle everyone's fancy, from games of chance to pony rides, to meatball sandwiches, Caesar Salad and even ice cream cordials...and to wash it all down, a fanciful array of refreshments.

Should you get weary of the hustle and bustle, you can send the kids to the Face-Painting booth, or to watch pie-throwing, at the booth situated near the dunk tank, while you leisurely sip a glass of wine at the "Outdoor French Cafe" and delight in the romantic sounds of an accordion. Then when you've caught your second wind, step out to the dance floor and whirl away to your heart's content to the sound of a western or contemporary band. There will also be some surprises in store -- with guest appearances by local strip personalities.

Smith added that an event not to be missed will be the "Great Pizza-Eating Contest," when favorite local television, radio and newspaper personalities will compete for a trophy. Bring your camera for this one.

The booths situated on the festival site will be attended by local service clubs, who will turn over all of the funds raised to Opportunity Village, as will the Vineyard Restaurant, sponsor of the festival. The entertainers will also donate their time and talent to help out.

Established in 1954, Opportunity Village is a local, non-profit organization, offering work-training programs to the mentally retarded adults of Southern Nevada. Further information is available by calling the agency at 384-8170.

October, Opportunity Village Month

Mayor William Briare, of Las Vegas, and Mayor Leroy Zike, of Henderson have both proclaimed October, 1982 as "Opportunity Village Month."

The purpose of this proclamation is to bring about a new sense of awareness within the Las Vegas community of the vital role Opportunity Village plays on an ongoing basis, in regards to the segment of the population that is retarded, by providing training, education and prevention.

Create a sense of pride within the citizens of Las Vegas, who are so closely associated to Opportunity Village's growth and success, through their support and contributions.

To inform the community that, if Opportunity Village is to continue providing quality services to the retarded and to keep pace with the needs of a growing population, it needs the caring, understanding and contributions of every citizen.

The proclamation will first be unveiled by Mayor Briare and Mayor Zike during a "Politicians Tour" of Opportunity Village Industries on October 7th, between 10 a.m. and 11 a.m.

The object of the tour is to let the people who are the decision-makers, see and touch the people whom they directly affect.

ies are paid and all monies directly benefit families in Southern Nevada.

The Mesquite Clubhouse will open its doors at 6:30 p.m. for an hour of viewing with no-host cocktails and hors d'oeuvres. G. Robert Deiro, well-known local art and antique auctioneer, will conduct the auc-

Octoberfest in Boulder City For Candidates

Democratic and non-partisan candidates appearing on the Boulder City ballot, have been invited by the Democratic Club to attend the Octoberfest on Saturday, Oct. 16 from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m. on the Northwest corner of Denver and Nevada Highway.

There will be a buffet, beer and soft drinks all at no charge and all Boulder City voters are being invited to the gala event. There are no speeches scheduled as this is a "press the flesh" garden party, a chance for everyone to say "howdy" to old friends and make new ones.

Candidates are invited to send bumper stickers prior to the party date for the big yard "Welcome" sign.

cake top of any design a customer may desire.

If a design is wanted to match a birthday card, cartoon character or cards available in the bakery department, Moore simply inserts the original into the machine and it is projected onto the cake top to be duplicated.

With numerous holidays on the horizon, Moore emphasized the fact that the bakery will gladly make up any orders, or special orders, that may need to be filled during those times.

"We do everything," Moore noted. Everything also includes wedding cakes. For custom wedding cake tops, customers may order two weeks in advance for the special orders and can choose from a variety of colors for the bride and groom ornaments.

"We specialize in specialties," concluded Larry Childress, the Bakery and Deli-

Liquor supervisor at Smith's Food King.

The Smith's Super Food King store in Green Valley Plaza has the only bakery in the chain in Las Vegas. Childress said, which is within the most complete store in southern Nevada. "However, we do plan more (bakeries)," said Childress, because "bakeries have always been popular in supermarkets, especially in one-stop shops."

Just recently the bakery department began offering a continental breakfast (although it's available all day) consisting of a donut or danish, coffee and orange juice, all for 99 cents.

For those lovers of desserts and fine bakery goods, look no further than the Smith's Super Food King bakery in the Green Valley Plaza shopping center.

HOT, FRESH AND DELICIOUS -- Smith's Super Food King in Green Valley offers residents and visitors delectable bakery goods made fresh everyday. Removing one of the most popular items from the stackable ovens, above, is Bakery Department Manager Becky Moore, who has been with Smith's Food King in Green Valley Plaza since its opening last November.

Grace Community Church Explains Country Store to Our Community

By Dorothy Smale

Grace Community Church is famous throughout several communities all through Southern Nevada. Its success depends upon donations from our community. The storeroom will remain open on Mondays until the final week of October and then the show will go on as a gigantic display of treasures all around the church.

Dates are Oct. 29-30 beginning at 9 a.m.

From the Church Bulletin here is the Big Show

The Women's Association of Grace Community Church does not have small money-making projects during the year such as dinners, bazaars, bake sales, etc. Instead, we have Country Store which takes place on the last Friday and Saturday of Oct. Country Store began as a small rummage sale organized by the W.A. in 1947. It has steadily grown until it is now an all-church project occupying all areas of the church, plus the adjacent American Legion building.

All year long, workshops are held and a group of ladies keep busy making items for the Fancy Work and Holiday Booths. Also, during the year, we all take our rummage (useable, of course) and clothes (clean) to one of three storage areas where they are priced and boxed up until Oct.

If you have done handiwork on your own, please see that it is turned in as soon as possible. The last workshop will be Oct. 19th. Also, the storeroom will still be open every Monday from 9 to 11 a.m. thru Oct. 18th with workers available to receive your items. These ladies urge (beg) you to get your donations in at once so that they can be sorted and priced ahead of time. Large items will be picked up thru Oct. 28th, by calling Dorothy or the church office (293-2018). Also, don't forget to pot your plant cuttings right away, clean out your jewelry box and prepare your baking--the great event is less than a month away!!!

On the Sunday before the sale, everyone in the church (hopefully) turns out for a giant moving day. Toys and hardware are deposited in the American Legion building while everything else is deposited in various church school rooms, on the lawn, etc. New items (Christmas decorations and bazaar items) are sold in the social rooms and baked goods are sold in the kitchen and adjacent room off the social rooms. During the week, everyone helps hang clothing, sort various items and price those which haven't been marked previously. On Thursday, everyone goes home to bake for the bake sale and luncheon.

Friday morning, bright and early, the crowds from far and near gather to buy our goods, and at noon, we serve a luncheon. This year's menu gather to buy our goods, and at noon, we serve a luncheon. This year's menu consists of spaghetti, salad, sourdough sandwiches, pie, coffee, tea and punch. There will be a refreshment booth open Friday morning serving coffee and donuts. After the luncheon, chili, hot dogs and chili dogs will also be available. Then, Saturday A.M., the refreshment booth will again be open. What is left at 1 p.m. on Saturday is loaded up and donated to Opportunity Village.

If you have not signed up to help somewhere in Country Store, please call Dorothy and have your name added to the work board. This board will also be available after First Service and at Fellowship time on Sunday mornings. People are especially needed to help make advertising signs, for security, and to help clean up and put away equipment at 1 p.m. on Saturday, when exhaustion takes its toll on the workers who have labored all week. The storerooms will be emptied on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 24th at 1:30 p.m., so trucks and people with muscle are urged to be on hand. Departments start setting up immediately and will continue at 9 a.m. on Monday and work until the job is done. Child care will be available for workers Monday thru Wednesday and again on Friday and Saturday as needed. It all sounds like a lot of work, but there is also fun, fellowship, and the satisfaction of accomplishment.

In recent years, the Women's Association has funded, with Country Store money, the following major projects: new cushions on the pews in the sanctuary, renovation of the sprinkler system, air conditioning - heating units for three Sunday School rooms, new tile in the kitchen, cleaning of carpeting and draperies in the social rooms and library, renovation of the church office and basement restrooms, painting and paneling of the social rooms, kitchen and hallway, and new carpeting in the sanctuary. The Country Store money also provides scholarships to our young people and aid to members in need. Also, contributions are made to missions and social concerns too numerous to mention here. Country Store is truly the concern of all of us--It's an experience which our whole community looks forward to all year. If you haven't been here during Country Store time, you have missed a unique event!! Hope to see you there this year!!!

Lorna Beth Elinor Schreiner Born on Sept 21, 1982

A special event happened on Sept. 21, 1982 when baby girl Lorna Beth Elinor Schreiner was delivered by Dr. Potter at the Rose de Lima Hospital in Henderson. The baby weighed 6-10 oz., she was 18 1/2 inches long and she was born at 7:29 a.m. Proud parents are her mother, Susan Lewis and Edwin Myron Schreiner The "Lewis" in Susan's name comes from a pioneer Mormon family of several generations in Southern Nevada.

She was brought home to a big brother,

Jeffrey Howard Lewis who is 6 years old.

Mrs. Schreiner has enrolled in college at U.T.C. in Salt Lake City. She will major as a R.N. graduate. This meant that the proud daddy (Edwin) must remain in Boulder City where he works as a draftsman for the USBR. His present home is at 663 Ave. D. His Christmas wish is that he will be transferred to a job closer to his family. We congratulate the happy family and may all your wishes come true. Why not? You wished for a baby girl and there she is!

Absentee Voting Begins Friday

Absentee voting for the November 2nd General Election will start on Friday, October 8th, at the office of the Clark County Election Department, 400 Las Vegas Boulevard South. This means of in-office absentee voting is made available for those people who will not be in town on Election Day and will not be at any permanent address sufficiently long enough to receive an absentee ballot by mail.

Requests for mail-out absentee ballots are currently being accepted at the Clark County Election Department and will be accepted through October 26th, one week prior to election day.

After October 26th, absentee voting will be restricted, by law, to those people who, due to some emergency, are either confined to their homes or suddenly called out-of-town.

Ballots received after that time, cannot, by law, be counted.

E-Z Ride now at Skyline's Silhouette Lounge

E-Z RIDE APPEARS AT the Silhouette Lounge of the Skyline Casino on Boulder Highway in Henderson

The group will be appearing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. Randy Anderson is performing at the Silhouette Wednesday through Sunday at 4 p.m. Although E-Z Ride is a comparatively new group, their experience as a group started in 1970. While working in different groups at the Sahara Tahoe, James Hunt and Ken McLeod formed a working relationship that has proved successful all over the country. Barry Latislaw the newest member of the group adds a new de-mension to the group. Barry is a natural comedian and he uses his wit remarkably on stage. All seasoned performers, E-Z Ride runs the gambit of musical styles from Top Country sounds to the latest hits on the Top 40 charts. E-Z Ride is also known for their ability to take an audience back to the Golden sounds of the 1950's and 60's. E-Z Ride features all three members as lead singers, but are able to utilize all three voices for harmony. Now residing in Las Vegas, Nevada, E-Z Ride has appeared in such notable hotels as the MGM Grand, Frontier Hotel, Las Vegas Hilton, Flamingo Hilton, Union Plaza and the Maxim.

Public Invitation To A Gymnastic Meet

The Henderson Aerial Gymnastic team will be hosting six-team Class IV qualifying meet in Henderson all day Saturday, October 9, beginning at 9 a.m. There is no admission fee at the door to attend the meet at the gymnasium at the Civic Center, 201 Lead Street, Henderson.

Boy Scout troop No. 37 will present colors in the opening ceremony. Dignitaries have been asked to assist in the opening ceremony and in the presentations of awards at 5:30 p.m.

The other teams coming to Henderson will be the North Las Vegas Shooting Stars, the new team Adairettes, Gymnastic Vegas, Merluzzi Flyers, and the Southern Nevada Sparklers. Each gymnast has paid a participation fee to cover the cost of the eight official judges and the award ribbons.

A concession booth has been arranged by Judy Vance for nourishment during the hours of competition. A raffle of several items will be held with winners announced after competition. The funds will aid the Henderson Aerials in paying the rent for the gym for the meet.

There will be 140-145 girls competing in this qualifying event. The Henderson Aerial gymnasts competing in the open category will be Michelle Matthewson and Mary Risko. In the novice category, coach Dennis Cuffi will send into competition Leslie Cayer, Amy Sena, and Denise Valdez.

The qualifying meet will establish those girls who have shown the right to be in the open category because of their excellence of consistent Class IV competition of 32.00 points or more in meets.

Each girl competes on four gymnastic events: with strengths on the uneven parallel bars, with courage to vault, with poise on the beam, and with graceful moves in floor tumbling.

The judging in gymnastics is on a 1.00 to 10.00 scale. Class IV competition has compulsory routines giving basic moves to be executed. A fall or omission of a basic element deducts the greatest amount of points. The lack of pointed toes, the way of landing, the form and body movement, etc., are some of the other considerations the judges watch in judging. Class IV -- both novice and open -- is the entry level in competing gymnastics. To be on a team takes ability, a competitive spirit, and knowledge of tumbling and - or gymnastics.

The majority of the Henderson Aerials are recruited following recommendations by the City Parks and Recreation instructors of the intermediate gymnastic classes.

New Homes at New Horizons in Henderson

"It's exciting and gratifying to see families move into homes as beautiful as these," said Robert E. Lewis, president of Lewis Homes.

Lewis was explaining that New Horizons, the company's prestigious community in Henderson, has new homes in its current phase of development now ready for immediate occupancy.

Just across the street from picturesque Black Mountain Golf Course, and less than 20 minutes from Lake Mead, Boulder City and the Las Vegas Strip, the view-rich community of three and four-bedroom, single-story homes is priced from the low $70,000s, and offers home seekers a variety of appealing exteriors and well-thought-out interior floor plans.

Especially attractive to buyers is the Plan 420, according to Lewis, who remarked that sales figures reflect the desirability of this four bedroom, two-bath home with a dining area and spacious family room.

A raised entry foyer and wood-burning fireplace are two of the beautifying appointments of this plan, and for family convenience there is a handy breakfast bar, large kitchen pantry, and either two or three-car garage accessible to the home's interior.

A wall-length wardrobe, dressing area and built-in vanity are featured in the master bedroom suite, and as in all New Horizons homes the kitchen has been designed for step-saving convenience and cooking comfort. Range and oven, dishwasher, luminous ceiling, $1.2 Million Contract For CAP Canal Fencing

Award of a $1,197,820 Bureau of Reclamation contract for constructing about 22.7 miles of security fencing along Reach 12 of the Central Arizona Project's (CAP) Granite Reef Aqueduct in Arizona was announced today by Secretary of the Interior James Watt.

The contract was awarded to Maya Construction Company of Tucson, Arizona, as a subcontractor to the Small Business Administration under the provisions of Section 8(a) of the Small Business Act.

Robert N Broadbent, Commissioner of Reclamation, said the firm will build 119,830 linear feet of 6-foot-high chain link fence topped with 1 foot of barbed wire; install 20 double 10-foot-wide and one double 12-foot-wide swing-type gates; install grounding for about 3,860 linear feet for specified sections of the fence; install 4 specially constructed closure panels to fit the fence to the 108th Street Bridge; and install a specially constructed fence across the Arizona Highway 87 Bridge.

Broadbent said the fence is being constructed to provide security for Government property and for the safety of the general public. For the latter reason, he said, the contractor will be required to erect the fence adjacent to residential areas first.

The Granite Reef Aqueduct is the initial leg of the 300-mile-long CAP water delivery system.

water line at refrigerator for ice-maker, and both beautiful cabinetry and generous counter space are attractions of the kitchen that are most often commented on by home shoppers.

Plan 420 and other models in this tranquil hilltop community overlooking the Las Vegas Valley may be seen daily between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. To reach New Horizons, take Boulder Highway to Horizon Drive (just south of Henderson) and turn west (right) to the homes.

The Henderson Campus of Clark County Community College is planning a Fall Mini Session. Registration will be held on October 5 and 6 from 4-8 p.m. at the campus located at 700 S. College Drive in Henderson. Classes begin on Monday, October 11 and will run for 10 weeks.

Eleven classes will be added to the current Fall schedule. They will be offered both mornings and evenings, Monday through Saturday. Many of the classes are held one day a week.

Dr. Mary Burnett and Mary Malley, Director of the Henderson Campus and Evening Coordinator at the campus respectively, will be team teaching a class in Women in Management. This informative class will be held on Friday evenings and Saturdays. This schedule was chosen in response to requests by many of the business women in the community.

Three classes in Preschool Education will be held at the Henderson Head Start Center. Music, Literature and Art will be offered on Saturdays. Each class is worth one credit and meets only once.

For students who were unable to take Survey of Data Processing during the regular semester, there will be a class offered during the mini term. If you are interested, please be sure and register early -- there is a limited enrollment. For additional information, call 564-7484.

B.C. Chamber of Commerce Report

The Chamber of Commerce meetings are always enlightening, and sometimes entertaining. The September 15th meeting at the A & W Drive In proved to be both for the 50 plus members and guests attending. Elton Garrett sang appropriate music threatened to bare all and later to express his displeasure at the failure of Boulder City to host this year's ski races made his point with another of his famous (infamous?) limericks.

Jerry Bradley, Chairman of the Community Development Committee, reported that his committee is working on revision of Chapter 8 Title II of the City Zoning Code concerning travel trailers. He stated that the Board of Directors of the Chamber was in favor of establishing an RV Park in Boulder City and that a position statement on this subject was being drafted to be given to members of the Planning Commission and the City Council.

Darlene Burk presented the highlights of the Board of Directors meeting. She announced that the United States Marine Band will definitely perform in Boulder City. Having had the privilege of seeing and hearing the Marine Corp Band play, I strongly urge all of you to attend. Prices for admission are $1.00 for students, $2.50 for Senior Citizens and $5.00 for General Admission. Tickets and posters are being printed and will be available shortly.

She also stated that the possibility of selling Historical Books at the Art Festival October 2 and 3, was being pursued. In addition, the Board of Directors have received City Council approval to sponsor a bar and soft drink facility at the Burk Gallery Fifth Annual Western Art Show and Sale September 24th, 25th and 26th.

Director Garrett stated that while it may no longer be practical for the Boulder City Chamber of Commerce to be actively involved in the sponsorship of the 50 & 75 Mile Ski Races held after Labor Day because of their size and magnitude, he thought we should be looking down the road so that we "don't miss the boat."

With this he stripped off his shirt to show a race T shirt that might be used in advertising and attracting the smaller races to be held monthly beginning in April of 1983 and culminating in September's Marathon. President Porter will communicate with the Boat and Ski Club to ask for specific ideas and a longer lead time in which to plan activities.

Executive Director Don Rasmussen reported that the Chamber of Commerce Muscular Dystrophy Association Labor Day Telethon was a huge success that pledges for 1982 exceeded 1981's total. He stated that four teenagers and seven adults participated in the Telethon.

Guest speaker Ron Effertz, a member of the "Citizens for a Better Boulder City", addressed the group. He stated that the goals of the organization was to get factual information to citizens and to assure that voters have information so that they can make intelligent choices for issues on the November ballot.

The City has had two professional firms come in and make recommendations to the City as to what would be the most effective in terms of expansion. The R.C. Toups Report evaluated the physical needs for public services of the City; the George Tate Report did a study on capital improvement projects; i.e. the Senior Citizens Center, Police Department and Street Repairs.

Effertz said the Citizens for a Better Boulder City is a cross section of the citizens of Boulder City. He said "there are two ways to generate revenue for future expansion. They would be general obligation bonds which would result in a direct increase in taxes, or the sale of city owned land such as the golf course subdivision." He also stated the committee is not to promote the golf course for itself - but to find the most cost effective way to fund capital improvements.

Executive Director Rasmussen announced there would be two Chamber meetings in October. On Thursday, October 21st, Leslie Sluman, Director of Tourism for the State of Nevada, would speak at the luncheon meeting.

Four Seasons Ready for Business At The Safeway Shopping Center

By Teddy Fenton
Four Seasons is ready for business at the stunning "Los Posadas" shopping Mall. Do not be confused when it is also called the "Safeway Shopping Center" for the owners of the stores explain that it is easier to explain where they are now located when patrons ask directions.

owns the complex. It is good news indeed to see so many outstanding business people fill nearly all the available space. To the NEWS it means our people are "Shopping at Home" and that the friends we have in business are showing faith that we will continue to do so.

Rather than thank just one volunteer from the store, let us say that Jon Porter's truck was loaned. Men power was volunteered.

The lift on the truck enabled Marge to see her shelves and mirrors safely installed on the new store. It was "people helping people" exemplified. No wonder Boulder City is so wonderful! More stories about the new mall will appear weekly.

Weave And Spin Your Yarn

"DISCOVER THE JOY OF WEAVING AND OF SPINNING YOUR OWN YARN." This is the theme of the attractive display at the Boulder City Library, courtesy of Fiber Arts Guild of Las Vegas. The display can be seen during the month of October to celebrate National Spinning and Weaving Week, October 4-10, 1982.

Demonstrating the technique of spinning yarn a handspindle is shown along with cotton from the raw product to the finished yarn ready for weaving. Also weaving tools, looms, yarns, posters and finished products are shown.

Maxine Mansor, a Boulder City fiber artist, helped coordinate the exhibit. Her creations have been exhibited by many art galleries and libraries in Southern Nevada. Her specialty is in felts made from fleece.

Anyone interested in knowing more about the fascinating art of weaving and spinning may call 739-9129 for further information.

Observation

Each evening - for years -
I looked out of my kitchen window,
Gazing in wonder at the sunset

Blazing along mountain peaks,
Pondering its restless, gaudy artistry.
Then one day my mother-in-law
Looked out of the same window,
Seeing immediately
That those dull unalterable mountains
Formed a perfect profile of Abraham Lincoln -
Beard and all.
Now, when I am awed
By temporary splendors of autumn leaves,
I also look at rough, unlovely tree trunks
To see what treasures are waiting.

YOUR EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT PHYSICIAN TALKS ABOUT...

HEAD INJURIES

(This is the 7th of several articles on emergency medical situations and preventive health practices that will appear bi-monthly in the B.C. News. Suggestions and information provided in this column are intended as guidelines, not as specific protocols. Every actual medical situation -- emergency or non-emergency -- is unique and requires the clinical judgment of a qualified physician.)

Every year the hospital's emergency department physicians examine and treat a variety of head injuries. Some of these are non-severe, requiring only observation and minimal treatment. Others are life-threatening or involve the risk of permanent damage.

Head injury, in fact, is a leading cause of death, following only heart disease, cancer, and stroke. Knowing the common signs of serious head injury and the appropriate first-aid procedures could help a person save a life. Indicators of a severe injury are the following: an open wound, swelling of the head, or head pain; dizziness; leaking of fluids from the mouth, nose, or ears; unequal size of the pupils; paralysis; drowsiness; vomiting; visual disturbances; and changing levels of consciousness.

In the event of a serious head injury, the first-aid provider should follow these procedures:

1. Telephone immediately for medical help.
2. Do not move the injured person unnecessarily. Since serious head injuries are often associated with neck injuries, changing the position of the head in relation to the body could result in permanent damage.
3. Check for stopped breathing or a blocked airway and make sure there is a strong heartbeat.
4. If the person is unconscious, turn the head and body to one side to let fluids drain from the mouth.
5. Loosen clothing at the neck.
6. Do not give stimulants or fluids to the person.
7. Do not raise the feet.
8. Any time there is a head injury or a person has been unconscious, he or she should be checked by a physician since there could be delayed damage to the brain.

The outcome of any head injury is determined by the force of the blow and by the amount of time that elapses before the patient receives medical attention. If there is any question at all about the seriousness of what appears to be a minor injury, one's family physician should be contacted. After obtaining a description of the injury and the accident, the family physician may give instructions for the person to be brought to the emergency department.

Quality Care at Your Hospital

Noted British physician and showman Dr. Jonathan Miller is seen above with plaster casts of bodies discovered at Pompeii in the first episode of THE BODY IN QUESTION. Dr. Miller leads viewers on an exciting exploration of the mysteries of the human body on this 13-part series. Airs Friday's at 9:00 p.m. beginning October 15, on Channel 10.

'The Body In Question' To Re-Air On PBS

"Naming of Parts," with the multi-talented medical doctor and comedian Jonathan Miller explaining how the body's organs work and what happens when people fall ill, will air on the 'The Body In Question' a thirteen-week series of hour-long programs on medical knowledge and human health. The programs air Friday's at 9 p.m. beginning October 15 on Channel 10.

In 'The Body In Question,' Dr. Miller re-creates early scientific experiments, performs the first post-mortem to be filmed for television, subjects his own body to a variety of tests, and uses special effects, art, architecture, historical recreations, literature, and experiments to help clarify complex medical knowledge. William Harvey (1578-1657) saw the connection between the heart as pump and the circulation of the blood. Other examples are the impact of World War II artillery and computer technology on the understanding of muscular performance and brain function.

One of the many points that Dr. Miller makes in the series is that advances in medical knowledge frequently are the result of mechanical inventions. It was not until pumps were used in mining and engineering, for example, that

Ballot Question Info

To further its goal of providing access to information, the Clark County Library District plans to set up a ballot question center at all branch libraries to provide the public with facts, both pro and con, about the ballot questions to be voted upon at the general election in November.

According to Beverly Carlino, community relations coordinator, interested groups may bring their materials to the community relations office at the Flamingo Library, 1401 E. Flamingo Road, for systemwide distribution.

Carlino said, "as the dialogue increases and pro and con arguments develop, Clark County libraries plan to be the special information centers on these issues so that the voters can discover for themselves just what the questions are all about."

For further information about the ballot question centers, call the Flamingo Library at 733-7810.

New Directors For KNPR

The fact that KNPR means business is evidenced in the two most recent appointments to KNPR's board of directors commented board chairman Steve Morris when he announced the unanimous appointment of Jack Harvey, Summa Corporation and Greig Fennell, Levi Strauss, to KNPR's board.

Morris also stated "KNPR's product is a non-commercial, public radio programming service. The involvement of business and business experts in providing for this service is important in the development of the community as well as in the development of the station."

In discussing his commitment to KNPR Harvey said, "KNPR provides us with education in the broadest sense. It's very important that our young people have the opportunity to hear fine music as well as the other standard forms of entertainment. KNPR fills an important niche in our cultural and civic lives. The station is well-received and well-supported. I intend to work toward continuous support for station operation." Harvey is senior vice president and treasurer of Summa Corporation. He has a long association with both the broadcast industry and the non-profit sector through his work as head of finance for Times Mirror Corporation, as a founder and director of Time-Life Broadcasting and as a current trustee of the Southwest Museum in Los Angeles.

Levi Strauss plant manager Greig Fennell provided management consultant services in productivity, planning and forecasting for eight years prior to assuming his position with Levi Strauss. In discussing his board appointment Fennell stated "I love the fine programming balance KNPR provides between it's news, it's classical music and jazz and its specialty programming. The program service appeals to a broad audience and I want to work to increase community involvement in fundraising to support the continuation of station operation."

Some Aspects of Nevada Mine Promotions

By Phillip I. Earl

The promotion and public relations end of the mining business is often ignored by historians, although it is one of the most fascinating aspects of Nevada's past. In the glory days of the Comstock Lode, much of the publicity generated by mining companies was directed towards bearing or bullying the market in mining stocks. Stories of the pinching off of certain ore bodies were often circulated to depress stock prices and enable a few insiders to pick up good stocks at a cheap price. Conversely, mine crews were sometimes locked up underground to make the public think that a rich new strike had been made. As stock prices rose, the operators could reap a fortune by selling short before word of the scam got out.

A favorite tactic of mine promoters was the putting out of a story of the washing of the dogs of the camp and the assaying of the dirt - always high in gold. In Ruby Hill in Eureka County, a story circulated in January of 1880 that a local barber had assayed the hair clippings and whiskey leavings of his customers. They were valued at $75 a ton in gold according to a "reliable" report, and the stock of the mine employing the men went sky high. The owners, of course, held on to their stock for a time, selling short and making a fortune off a worthless piece of property.

The residents of Ely went through a near-gold rush at Christmas time in 1906 when John Stemper, a local butcher, found two bean-sized gold nuggets in the gizzard of a chicken he was preparing. A chef at the Famous Restaurant found another in the craw of a young rooster and checked into the source of the birds. Some of them had come from J.H. Simpson on High Street and the others had been furnished by farmers in nearby Steptoe Valley. Simpson refused several cash offers for his property, but was finally forced to break out his shotgun to hold off would-be-mining magnates who tried to stake out claims in his chicken yard. The farmers of Steptoe Valley awoke on Christmas morning to find their fields staked out in placer claims. Few of the locators were able to prove up on or hold these pieces of ground, but several men who opened up cuts in the nearby mountains found enough rich ore to establish paying enterprises.

When Tex Rickard left Goldfield for the new boom at Rawhide in the fall of 1907, he announced the fact by tacking a sign on a local church. "This church is closed," it read, "God has moved to Rawhide." Once in Rawhide, Rickard and George Graham Rice combined their promotional talents to boost their own worthless mines. In February of 1908, they got out the story that a road crew blasting on the main street had blown a 150-pound chunk of gold ore through the front window of the Bank of Rawhide. So the story went, the cashier had the rock assayed, sold it and paid $68.10 into the town treasury after deducting the assay cost, his fee for the trouble he had been put to and the price of a new window.

Rickard and Rice also brought in novelist Elinor Glyn and staged the most fantastic poker game in history for her benefit. When she was ushered into the room where the chips were clicking, she was told that the despised and degraded "whites" were worth $100 each. The other colors ran up to $25,000. Betting was feverish and at last Johnny-Behind-the-Duce bet $100,000 on the turn of a single card. "Gee," someone remarked as he pushed his chips forward, "He hasn't even had breakfast yet." The ensuing laughs all around came near to breaking up the Aladdin-like game, but a "staged" shoot-out and the supposed death of two of the players put a proper "wild-west" closing to the hoax. Miss Glyn reported the whole thing to the outside world and the name of Rawhide was soon on the tip of every tongue.

Promoters of the mines at the camp of National in northern Humboldt County once resorted to the staging of a "high-grade" robbery in June of 1910 in order to get some publicity for their enterprise. At Rhyolite, so the story goes, William Griffith, shortstop for the local baseball team, tripped and fell while running for first base. As he went down, his foot unearthed a large piece of rock. He had it assayed later in the day and learned that his accident had unearthed a ledge of free gold. He filed a claim and the new enterprise was named the First Base Mine.

The camp of Pioneer in southern Nye County was also publicized by a rather novel series of events. In March of 1909, not long after the opening of the mines there, one of the leading-citizens peacefully breathed his last. His friends made funeral preparations, telephoned to Rhyolite for a coffin and had a grave dug on a hillside since there was no cemetery. The last rites were carried out by the deceased's sorrowing comrades, several of whom picked up some of the dirt which had been taken from the ground when the grave was dug. They took it downtown and it showed a string of color which made their hair stand on end when it was panned. A consultation was held and it was decided to move the body to another spot, lay claim to the site and sink a shaft. Men were sent further up the canyon to dig another grave, but a round of dynamite blasts set off to loosen the ground opened up a ledge of quartz liberally seamed with gold. In desperation, the grave diggers shipped the body off to Goldfield, there to rest until Gabriel made the big noise. "Great country where mines are opened up by grave diggers," one editor was moved to comment, and so it was.

Street scene in the camp of Pioneer, Nye County, where the people were more interested in gold than the proper burial of one of their fellow citizens.

Senator Cannon Wins 1982 AOPA "Doc" Hartranft Award

Sen. Howard W. Cannon of Nevada has been selected to receive the first J.B. "Doc" Hartranft, Jr. Award of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association for distinguished public service to aviation.

Cannon, a four-term Senate veteran, will receive the award at Las Vegas during the 27th annual AOPA Convention and Industry Exhibit.

The award will be made annually to public figures-elected officials and civil servants.

Chapelaire To Sing

In Psalm 100 we are told to "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord". The Chapelaire Quartet will be doing just that on Sunday, October 10th at the 10 a.m. service at Vegas Valley Christian Church with their rendition of "It's Gonna Be A Whole Lot Better". Members of the group are Dave Brown, Daryl Koebecke, Susan Lesperance and Carolyn Porter. The morning worship message by Dave Brown, Minister, is entitled "Getting To Know You" from Phil. 3:10-11.

Following the family hour at 6 p.m. Sunday evening, the junior and senior high youth group will go on a car rally. Each youth should bring $2.

Located in southeast Las Vegas, Vegas Valley Christian Church is on the corner of Rawhide and Mountain vants--deemed by the Association to have made significant contributions to general aviation. It consists of a permanent trophy and an honorarium.

Cannon is the ranking minority member of both the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation, and its Subcommittee on Aviation. He also has served as chairman of both while a member of the Senate Democratic majority.

The award Cannon received is named for Vista and serves Henderson, Green Valley and the Las Vegas area.

J.B. "Doc" Hartranft, longtime president of AOPA, and currently chairman of its board of trustees. AOPA has 260,000 members nationwide and thousands more in affiliates in 25 other nations around the world. October 1, 1982.

Cafferata Calls For Consumer Panel

State Treasurer candidate Patty Cafferata today called for creation of a taxpayers' advisory panel for the Treasurer's office.

"The State Treasurer gets plenty of input from government analysts and investment counselors," Cafferata said, "but does not hear enough from the people whose money is being invested."

"The taxpayers' advisory panel, sort of a consumers' group, will help open up the office and improve communication with the public." Cafferata has made better communication a keystone of her candidacy, saying the public is entitled to full knowledge of how the Treasurer is investing tax dollars.

She unveiled the advisory panel idea at a meeting with supporters in Reno.

"As I envision it, the advisory panel will have access to all Treasury records and will meet quarterly with the Treasurer to discuss investments and office policy," Cafferata said. "It might even issue an informal report once a year."

Presently the Treasurer is required to make reports only to the State Board of Finance and legislative bodies. There are no provisions for public reporting, per se, and I think there should be."

Cafferata said the 10 or so members of the panel would be appointed by the Treasurer and would represent business, industry, trade, consumer and taxpayers organizations, as well as individual citizens. Representatives would come from all geographic areas of the state.

Cafferata said the informal advisory panel would be formed on a volunteer basis, thus requiring no law changes to create and no tax dollars to finance.

Earlier in her campaign, Cafferata called for full public access to Treasury records, noting state law, which at one point says only certain government officials should have access, appears to be contradictory about the matter.

She also has promised to hold regular office hours in various communities around the state in an effort to broaden the opportunity for public input.

Karen Black in 'Day of the Locust'

'Day of Locust' To Be Shown at Library

"Day of the Locust" with Karen Black, Burgess Meredith, and Donald Sutherland, will be shown free at 7 p.m., October 7, at Flamingo Library. The film is part of the film-literature series "Southern Gothic-California Grotesque," sponsored by the Clark County Library District and funded by the Nevada Humanities Committee.

The 1975 film, directed by John Schlesinger from the 1933 novel by Nathanael West, is the first in the "California Grotesque" segment of the series.

West's novel is considered by many the finest novel ever written about Hollywood. Written in a grotesque style, it grossly exaggerates the gothic elements of modern life.

The greed and boredom of Hollywood turns increasingly uglier until it explodes into blood-lust and armageddon in a riot at a Hollywood premiere. That horrible scene becomes a metaphor for a much broader vision of the dark side of American culture.

F. Scott Fitzgerald said "Day of the Locust" has scenes of extraordinary power. Especially I was impressed by the pathological crowd at the premiere, the character and handling of the aspirant actress and the uncanny almost medieval feeling of some of his Hollywood background set off by those vividly drawn grotesques."

Dr. Hart Wegner, chairman of Film Studies at UNLV, will lead a discussion of the film and its relationship to the novel. The public is urged to read the novel in advance.

The final film of the series, October 14, will be Joan Didion's "Play it as it Lays" with Anthony Perkins and Tuesday Weld, directed by John Huston.

Of Joan Didion, John Leonard of the New York Times has written, "There hasn't been another American writer of Joan Didion's quality since Nathanael West."

"McKay Chairmen Enthused About Election Results"

Reed Whipple, the Southern Nevada Co-Chairman for the Brian McKay for Attorney General Campaign, and Bud Hicks, the Northern Nevada Chairman have both expressed their strong satisfaction with the results of the September 14th primary. McKay, who declared his candidacy in late June, ended up receiving the highest vote total of any Republican statewide candidate and the highest winning percentage of any partisan statewide candidate.

"Particularly gratifying," according to Whipple, "were the statewide figures showing McKay receiving more votes than his general election opponent and his strong showing in Clark County." Hicks added that "McKay ran consistently strong in every county in the state, showing that he has been successful in capturing the attention and support of a broad cross-section of voters in every part of Nevada."

Both Whipple and Hicks pointed out that "the people of Nevada are looking for strong and decisive leadership in the office of Attorney General."

Based upon his four years of experience as Deputy Attorney General and his proven ability as an attorney, McKay has established himself as the type of experienced and capable leader that the people of Nevada are looking for in their next Attorney General."

College Offering Leadership Course

Clark County Community College will be offering a leadership forum to be held on the Cheyenne Campus on Tuesday, October 5, 12, 19, and 26 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Commissioner Dondero has been an active participant in local and state affairs for many years, and she is well known in Las Vegas for her community involvement in many organizations such as, Chairman of the Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees, the Economic Opportunity Board, President of the Junior League, and many others.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Vienna Symphony Orchestra to Perform ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Maestro Christoph Eschenbach

The Seventh Season of the Master Series starts on Thursday, October 14, with the first appearance in UNLV's Artemus W. Ham Concert Hall of the majestic Vienna Symphony Orchestra.

Tickets have been mailed to all Patrons; all subscription seats are sold and the only opportunity to obtain tickets for the opening concert will be if any are returned on the day of performance.

The Vienna is of awesome size and sound. There are 130 talented musicians producing a lush, colorful sound, which, for many years has been known throughout Europe as "the true Viennese sound." The Vienna is high among European Leaders of recorded music and comes to Las Vegas under the direction of Maestro Christoph Eschenbach.

The Vienna returned from the Far East several months ago and received standing ovations from crowds and critics. In Hong Kong, music critic David Gwillt writes: "The Vienna Symphony Orchestra proved completely that it wears the mantle of tradition easily, and profits by its use. Coupled with this, the whole orchestra makes a marvelously-blended, yet individually coloured sound."

"In contrast to recent visitors, the Viennese players have considerable bite to the string tone, allowing them a great range of expressive tone colour, while winds and brass each have a particular character when required - oboes sound always like true oboes, clarinets like clarinets and the horn playing, full-throated and radiant, is of course famous. "Christoph Eschenbach conducted with tremendous enthusiasm, working intelligently with these marvellous materials, always trying to seize the exact moment to underline a point, and yet without exaggeration. "In fact, he brings to his conducting role many of the qualities which have made him so sought after as a pianist -- one can almost hear the pedalling, and see the hands flashing up and down the keyboard."

Following the Vienna comes the much traveled Utah Symphony under the direction of the Maestro Varujan Kojian. On November 10 they perform a program including Dvorak Symphony No. 7 and Brahms Variations of a Theme by Haydn.

For the third successive year Richard Sheldon's "Opera A La Carte" appears on the Master Series. Sheldon will present "HMS Pinafore," the Gilbert and Sullivan musical delight, with full orchestra, costumes, sets and a brilliant cast headed by Sheldon enacting the role of Sir Joseph Porter, "the ruler of the Queen's Navy."

As we enter into 1983 the January celebration brings to Las Vegas one of the world's greatest violinist - violist. For six years, Director Charles Vanda has been trying to bring Pinchas Zukerman to Las Vegas; he has finally succeeded. On the 19th of January Master Series will star the violinist in his new role of conductor - soloist of the fabulous St. Paul Chamber Orchestra which is making its third appearance on the Master Series. Expect now to see the Israeli-born Zukerman as a triple switch-hitter: violinist, violist and conductor.

The February entry stars Jaime Laredo playing with and conducting the Scottish Chamber Orchestra on the 3rd. The huge Helsinki Philharmonic plays on Monday, March 7th. Nina Tichman, the young, distinguished American pianist performs with the Mainz Chamber Orchestra on April 5th and the Master Series closes its Seventh Season on April 26th with the Oakland Ballet presenting "Billy the Kid," choreographed by Eugene Loring to music composed by Aaron Copland.

'The Willmar 8' Chronicles Eight Women's Struggle For Equity At A Small-Town Bank

The first strike ever staged against a bank in Minnesota became a national story in 1977 and changed the lives of eight ordinary women who never set out to be heroes. The quietly powerful story of their three-year struggle is told in "The Willmar 8," a one-hour documentary produced by independent filmmakers Mary Beth Yarrow and Julie Thompson, narrated and directed by actress Lee Grant. "The Willmar 8" airs on Channel 10, Friday, October 8 at 9:00p.m.

"We're not all equal, you know" were the words of the Citizens National Bank president that opened the battle. "The Willmar 8" focuses on the eight women who picketed daily in Willmar, Minnesota, through two brutal winters, protesting their low wages and dead-end jobs.

Most had been receiving from $400 to $500 per month as tellers and bookkeepers, and two of the women with 10 and 11 years' experience were passed over repeatedly for promotions. The final straw came when it was these women who were asked to train newly hired men for jobs that the women could never have.

Organists Club To Meet

The Organists Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 12 at the Southern Nevada Music Store, 953 E. Sahara. Rosemary

NDA To Host Annual Meeting

Nevada Development Authority will hold its annual business luncheon at the Desert Inn Country Club, Thursday, October 7, at 11:45 a.m.

NDA President, W. R. "Bill" McGrew, will present NDA's annual report to its membership and guests. The report highlights fourteen companies in various stages of establishing new operations in southern Nevada.

Guest speaker, Robert P. Reuss, Chairman and CEO of Centel Corporation, will describe the relationship between rapid technological change in industry and the development of new corporate strategies and national and international policies.

Reuss has served as chief executive officer of Central Telephone & Utilities Corporation (CTU) since 1972, when he joined the company after more than 30 years with the Bell System.

In addition to his responsibilities at CTU, Reuss is a director of American National Bank, Amsted Industries, National Can Corporation, M-A-COM, Inc., Walter Heller International and a member of the board of governors of the Midwest Stock Exchange. He is also a member of the Council on the Graduate School of Business at the Univer-

Off the Wall

By Carolyn D. Bishop
 My husband has a remedy for all disasters that could possibly befall me. It surpasses the miracles that modern psychiatry and medicine have to offer. My husband's solution? "Go breathe in a paper bag, Dear." Yes, his solution for everything is to breathe into a paper bag. He got started on that one winter when, no thanks to him, I was saved from imminent death by a grocery sack.

One evening, as I was broiling hamburgers, I found myself gasping for air. I was hyperventilating, but you could have fooled me. I believed I was dying. You must understand that at that point I had been up to my elbows in cough syrups, thermometers, vaporizers, pills, and five feverish, cranky children. Who wouldn't hyperventilate?

 Well, I called my husband. Breathing in tiny little wisps, I begged him to come home. He couldn't. It seems an I.R.S. man had arrived in his office unexpectedly and he couldn't possibly make him suspicious by dashing off to a dying wife.

With what I was sure was my last breath, I called the doctor who lives across the street. He suggested I breathe into a paper bag.

I did. When my husband arrived home I was breathing deeply into one of the children's lunch sacks. In no time at all, I revived and managed to serve the family perfectly broiled hamburgers.

Is it any wonder this is my husband's miracle cure?

AFL-CIO Disagree With Reagan

AFL-CIO Economic Research Director Rudy Oswald made the following comment on President Reagan's Tuesday night press conference:
 President Reagan's news conference distorts reality in at least five misstatements of economic fact.

He claims that his program brought the nation back from the brink of fiscal disaster. The fact is the federal budget deficit has doubled in the past year.

The President said that the "rate of increase in unemployment in the last six months of 1980 was just about as great as it has been at any time since." In fact, unemployment decreased from 7.8 percent to 7.3 percent in the last 6 months of 1980. The big jump in unemployment to today's 9.8 percent has come since July of 1981, when it was 7.2 percent.

The President said that "for four quarters we have seen a growth in the gross national product." In fact, the gross national product has fallen sharply in two of the last four quarters.

The President said there is a higher percentage of the adult population employed today than in the past. In fact, there has been a drop since he took office. Today only 57.1 percent of the adult population is employed, compared to 58.3 percent in January 1981 and 59.2 percent in January 1980.

The President said there was "an increase in real earnings for the people," but the most recent figures on real weekly earnings for the people, but the most recent figures on real weekly earnings for non-supervisory workers show a 1.3 percent decline in the past year.

The AFL-CIO would like to keep the record straight.

Columbus Day A Holiday

Governor Robert List today proclaimed Monday, October 11, as a legal holiday in the State of Nevada. The holiday is being proclaimed in honor of Columbus Day, the governor said.

The holiday will coincide with the observance of Columbus Day on October 11 by federal agencies and will affect all state, city and county offices, courts, banks, savings and loan associations, public schools, and the University of Nevada System, the governor said.

The governor said he chose Columbus Day in order to honor the Italian-American citizens in the State.

"Columbus Day will give each of us a chance to honor the many contributions of Italian-Americans throughout the State and Nation," the governor said.

"Columbus' discovery led to the settlement of the Western Hemisphere, and eventually to the establishment of the United States. Columbus typifies all adventurers who followed, including the pioneer families who opened the western lands which are now the State of Nevada."

The holiday will also give all Nevadans a chance to enjoy a three-day weekend with their families and friends.

Environmental Poster Contest Announced

People of all ages are invited to participate in Smokey Bear and Woody Owl's 1983 Environmental Poster Contest. Entries must be in the mail by January 5, 1983.

The poster contest is sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs in cooperation with the Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and State Foresters.

The poster must have an environmental theme. It should be bold and simple in design, carrying its message in both picture and slogan. Any art material can be used--water color, crayons, poster paint, charcoal, pastels, cut-outs, magic markers, etc.

Maximum size of the poster is 12" x 18". The artist's name, grade (or age) and home address should be printed on the lower righthand corner of the back.

Posters will be judged for originality, design, slogan, artwork, and overall effectiveness.

Local garden clubs will judge entries in their areas. If there is no club in a locale, Nevada entries may be mailed to the State Poster Contest Chairman Mrs. Mike Liveri, 1101 Tumbleweed Ave., Las Vegas, NV 89106. State winners will compete in six regional contests during February with national winners to be announced at the 1983 convention of National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc.

P.D. Tears Down Hispanic Language Barrier

Las Vegas Metro Police, working closely with the Latino Chamber of Commerce, is making major progress toward piercing the language barrier between Metro and the area's fast-growing Hispanic community.

Metro P.D.'s efforts to improve communications between police officers and the more than 60,000 Hispanics who live and work in Clark County began just over a year ago... when Sheriff John McCarthy and other members of Metro saw that the area was becoming truly multi-lingual. With the aid of a $3,000 grant from UNLV, a special class in Intensive Conversational Spanish and Spanish Heritage was established at the Training Bureau. Dozens of volunteers throughout Metro signed up for the crash two-week course. Realizing Hispanics are often the victims of crime, the officers were schooled in pertinent police-related Spanish: a tremendous help in interviewing in connection with accident investigations, missing persons, burglary reports, etc. The class-- a joint and equal endeavor between the Latino Chamber of Commerce and Metro-- earned nationwide acclaim from police departments and other law enforcement agencies, including the Massachusetts Attorney General's office... which wanted to set up a similar statewide program there.

Even though the UNLV funding for the original program expired, Metro has provided considerable mandatory training in conversational Spanish for all officer candidates. Twice per week, candidates are required to attend a class at the academy taught by Dr. Albert Meneses.

Publicizing The Big Event

PAMELA HAM, board member of the Boulder City Chamber of Commerce, is busy putting up one of the many posters you'll be seeing on display around town. The posters announce the coming of The President's Own Marine Band. The Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the event to be held at the Boulder City High School Gym October 26. ## Hoe And Grow News

The first meeting of the Boulder City Hoe and Grow Garden Club for the 1982-1983 year was held in the plush back yard of Judy Bright on September 21st. A welcome back potluck preceded the meeting.

The first order of business was to present the 1982 Miriam Steel and Tempie Dahlgren High School Gardeners Conservation Speech Award to a Boulder City High School senior, Susan Cummings. Miss Cummings placed first in Nevada state in a National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc. speech contest entitled "Challenge of the 80's - Ecological Disaster or Planned Growth?" Miss Cummings had entered her 8-minute taped speech in February and never heard another word about the contest until September. She felt she hadn't placed at all so was very surprised and pleased to learn she had won for Nevada state. Susan Cummings is a 12 year resident of Boulder City.

The next order of business was to learn tin floral sculpture from Hoe and Grow member Louise Madison. Louise used tin snips to cut aluminum cans into desired shapes for her creations. Besides chrysanthemums and sunflowers, Louise also made fish mobiles and showed ways to make various Christmas ornaments.

The 1983 Garden Club Calendar Sale is underway. The lovely appointment calendars are available from Dinaz Rogers at 293-3608 for $2.50.

It was voted to replace two more Indian Hawthorne bushes at the Frank Crowe Memorial that have died.

There will be a plant sale at the Nevada Garden Club Center on October 8th and 9th.

Aggie Roberts sent a kind thank you note for the donation Hoe and Grow made to her fire trustfund. She recently lost all she owned when her home burned to the ground.

Fund Established to Assist Sewer Backup Victims

An account to assist the victims of the Eighth Street sewer backups during the past year has been established at Valley Bank of Nevada on Nevada Highway.

Open with a $100 contribution by a resident who wishes to remain anonymous, the account is called the Eighth Street Property Owners Compensation Fund.

Additional contributions are sought. The fund will be dispersed to Eighth Street residents who suffered financial loss during the three sewer backups. Hopefully, enough will be contributed to offset some of the considerable expenses incurred by these residents.

Loses Camera

A Boulder City man, who came to Cannon's headquarters in Henderson for a short time in the middle of the morning Tuesday, had his Sunburst camera taken from the front seat of his car.

The car was locked and had the window down just slightly to let air in the car. "The person would have had to have a coat hanger or something to open the door," according to E.J. Tolliver.

The Boulder man said he went to the pawn shop and a white woman with brown hair had tried to pawn the camera but the pawn shop owner did not accept the camera and did not know where she went.

VFW Hosts District Commander

One week from tonight, Thursday, October 14, 1982, the Fred A. Michaels

VFW Post #3574 will be honored by having District 5 Commander William A. Devine attending as a part of his annual visit.

Since this is a special occasion each year, every VFW member is urged to be present even if he has to "bowl out" early.

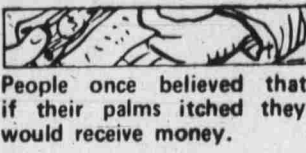

Our Voice of Democracy program is proceeding nicely under the direction of Mrs. Lenning of the BCHS Speech Department. Several students have indicated interest in competing for the scholarship prizes, and there is still opportunity for a few more.

Participants write and then tape-record a three to five minute broadcast script expressing their view on "Youth--America's Strength." Mrs. Lenning has a supply of free brochures giving more details and requirements, and a breakdown of the $32,500 to be distributed among the national winners.

Boulder City contestants have placed well in previous years and can be expected to win some high awards. This program costs the student nothing except effort since it is completely funded by the VFW. Students, if you can use a scholarship--Go For It.

November 11 is just a month away. There is need to consider our annual Poppy Sales which provides benefits for any needy veteran. Veterans Day is also our regular meeting day this year. Come prepared with your ideas as to how we should observe this national holiday.

Find a new or reactivated member and bring him to the Legion Hall next Thursday, October 14, at 7:30 P.M. Phone 293-2876 if you need a ride or have one to offer.

Perle Garrett And the Boulder City Hospital

By Teddy Fenton

Perle has what is called a shower stool with rubber legs. It is just the right height to be used when a patient at the hospital needs a chair while taking a shower. It would be ideal for the hospital.

Perle was once an active volunteer at the old B.C. hospital. She was a familiar figure at most any time of the night or day for she is the kind of a friend who will remain by the side of a friend in the hospital for as long as she is needed. She has witnessed the death of more than one close friend after staying with that friend for months of what was to be a final illness.

Therefore we want to share Perle's concern for patients that could use a professional shower stool during a stay at our beloved hospital.

She felt that this wish on her part should be voiced during the period when the B.C. Hosp. Aux. decide what to spend the money for that is realized from the recent and super successful art festival.

Perle also mentioned new pillows. She is a supporter of the staff above all else. She said that everyone is wonderful to her.

Perle is home now. She asked us to thank Dr. DeBellis for taking care of her. He even sends his office nurse down to check on her every day. He has made it possible for her to be well enough to drive her car, and take a pal to lunch.

We love you Perle, we really do. Your courage in the face of the loss of your dearly beloved husband has been wonderful.

We like your idea of raising funds for school activities by finding a hall where old time movies can be shown. Perle has a family in San Diego and it was there she learned of students at the school renting old time movies. They fill 150 seats each time they show one. A fund raiser that is also fun for everyone.

Ronald Reagan, Our President

If Ronald Reagan had intended for the economy to get better, I would not have had to write this letter.

Dear Ronald, You old son of a gun, I think it's time you get the job done.

If you make promises you want to keep, You're going to get yourself in too deep.

So Ron, why don't you take a bit of advise, Try and do your job; that would be nice.

And Ron, if Congress gives you trouble, It looks like your troubles will be double.

Well Ron, good luck come re-election, I hope I see your name on the voting section.

Ron, I'm real sorry I had to write this letter I hope this will help you do your job better.

And I hope this bit of advice will compel you Otherwise we will expel you.

Sincerely, Jeffrey W. McComb

Mary Homer Praised Phil Vanderwal for Successful Festival

By Teddy Fenton

Mary Homer, administrator of the Boulder City Hospital was lavish in her praise of the fine work done by Phil Vanderwal chairman of the B.C. Hosp. Aux. Art Festival that took place last weekend.

Administrator Mary Homer particularly praised the way Phil coordinated all the events. She said the chairpeople he had appointed carried the joyful "Art in the Park" show to the HIGHEST PINNACLE.

The Artists Shared the Same Compliments for the Show

This was the first year the NEWS strolled thru the park (both days) without doing any actual work for the show since 13 years ago. We asked the artists if they were selling well... They were. One woman said 5 hours had gone by and she had not even been able to stop for coffee.

We asked as many as we could if they would come back. The answer was "yes." One man said he came for the show itself. He said if he didn't sell one thing he would still come for the greatest happening of his entire year.

Steve Zuever pronounced the show as a sensational success. He did say the rest room facilities were not as well placed as in former shows. Steve likes the way the entire show was set up.

Writing for the sun, Stephen Lesnick, as he has always done, said the Boulder City art festival is the best in the state. However, he asked that the committee in charge consider placing the crafts and the fine arts in separate sections.

Sara Denton, who entertains close to 200 guests each year (timed with the festival) said she was fearful that the fine work we have enjoyed among the painters who exhibit might begin to drop off if more care isn't taken to keep them separate from the crafts. These were all suggestions, not criticisms. Who among us isn't bursting with pride that the art festival belongs to Boulder City? All who were involved are to be praised over and over again.

Treasurer Elsie Klann did not have the final figures of the overall amount raised from the show when this is being written.

The programs were stunning, the contracts perfect, the weather superb. God in his kindness to our festival must have smiled. No words can fully say the proper thank you to everyone. It is estimated that 50,000 patrons attended.

Xi Zeta - Beta Sigma Phi

Our first regular meeting was held at the home of Maribeth McLay, on September 13th, with Pat Murphy as co-hostess and the program, a group discussion on our upcoming programs, was led by Maribeth. We welcomed transfer members Lois Hanaki and Diane French, new members Diana Bunney and Billy Jean Sorweide and welcome back to Elaine Bowie.

With much anticipation we discussed many projects and activities planned for the coming year.

Members shared their summer travels and experiences. Wanda and Charlie Ware traveled through many states, visited the Worlds Fair and Elvis' Graceland in Tennessee. Pat Murphy and daughters Jill and Julie visited Pat's parents in Minnesota. Maribeth and Ivan McLay went to the Philippines with "Friendship Force". Marlene and Bob Morwick spent an exciting time camping in, would you believe, Piche!! It actually sounded so good several may join them next year. We all agreed sometimes the most fun can be close to home. It's what you make it that counts.

September 27th found us at the home of Lois Hanaki, with Wanda Ware as co-hostess and Judy Zerkle, conducting an interesting program on communications.

Decisions included our participating in baking for the Art Show in the Park and as our major service project for the year we will be decorating and furnishing another room in Wellspring.

Officers for 1982-83 are as follows: President, Cecilia Powell; Vice - President, Judy Zerkle; Recording Secretary, Cheryl Ford; Treasurer, Maribeth McLay; Corresponding Secretary, Margie Iverson.

Happy birthday to Sharon Mileo and Jim Vogel.

Happy anniversary to Charlotte and Dan Prochnow and Diane and Jay French. Congratulations, also, to Charlotte and Dan on birth of son, Jason Samuel Prochnow.
