join race for mayor

The second rookie ready for his first campaign is Michael Essig, a 10-year Henderson resident who currently works at the front desk of the Carriage House Hotel in Las Vegas.

"It seems our city is being run by developers," said Essig, who criticized the City Council for constantly changing Green Valley's master development plan.

He said he is also concerned about the city's traffic control system and road maintenance priorities.

"I want to get the people back in control of Henderson, because we're not," Essig said. "I was at the Planning Commission last week. They just kind of sat there like wax figures."

Essig said that Henderson's different neighborhoods should seek to better understand each other. "We have so many different areas and a lot of different opinions in each area. We've got to at least get them combined so that each area understands other areas," said Essig, a hotel administration student who is on leave from UNLV.

Both Otto and Essig said campaign money will come from their own pockets.

The Henderson City Council tonight is expected to appropriate $105,500 from park improvement bonds for the second phase of design plans for the new Silver Springs gymnasium in Green Valley.

Architects Ed Kittrell and George Garlock presented their preliminary conceptual design for the gym to the Henderson Parks and Recreation Board last week.

Plans for the new 15,000square foot facility include three classrooms, a weight room, storage areas, restrooms and reception areas in addition to the basketball court. A second phase would include at least three raquetball courts.

The gymnasium would be connected to the existing pool and picnic area. Glare in clubhouse structure via a walkway.

HPRD board member Robert Ott insisted that showers be provided in the initial construction, but HPRD Director Dundee Jones pointed out that showers are not used frequently in similar facilities. Building and maintaining the showers would be costly, he added.

The board decided that Kittrell-Garlock should draw in showers and a small changing area as alternatives to be further discussed in the next design phase of the project.

Jones requested that the architects also consider a glassed wall on the west side of the building to allow spectators in the gym to look out into the the players' eyes, light damage to the floor and extra maintenance were some of the problems cited in response to Jones' proposal.

Approximately $1.1 million of the funds from the parks bond $4 million approved by voters last year has been allocated for the Silver Springs gymnasium.

The city has already spent $10,000 for Kittrell-Garlock's initial work, and the board voted to recommend that the City Council spend $105,500 for the next phase. A more detailed construction drawing would be ready in about three weeks, Kittrell said.

The regular City Council meeting begins at 7 p.m.

Let's hear it for national sacrifices. Thanks to all the people who have given up something to make this country a better place to live. Thanks to everybody who has made sacrifices. It's time to draw a line.

Now, Uncle Sam wants Nevadans to make a sacrifice for the betterment of the nation it says. The government wants us to sacrifice Yucca Mountain.

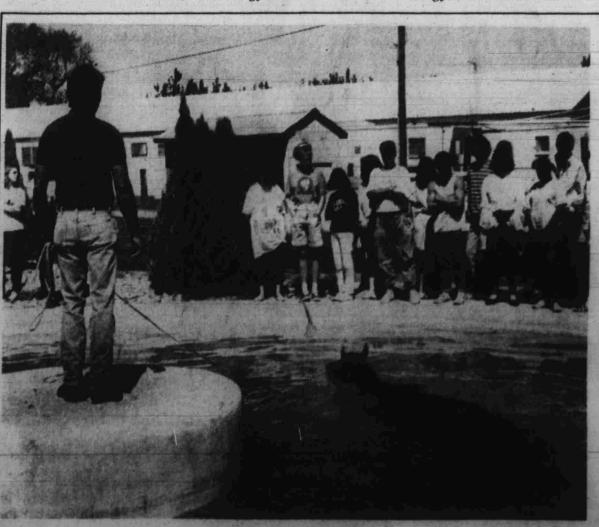

To quote a popular phrase used by South Georgians (like me), "Ain't no way."

Looking at the fed's record on toxic waste, I am positive I don't want any garbage from other states to be dumped in my adopted home state, Nevada.

The feds want to bury tons of nuclear waste at Yucca Mountain. The mountain will become what Newsweek magazine called "a national sacrifice area," fenced off from generations to come because the government thought that by closing its eyes and wishing, the problem would magically vanish. Now, the government is rubbing an Aladdins' lamp and wishing Nevada will shut up and take the nuclear waste. The plan is to make the other states happy to get rid of the toxic waste.

Injunction against Department of Energy puts Yucca Mountain project on hold

By Nicholas F. Benton

WASHINGTON (CNS)-Evidence of a serious breach of conflict-of-interest laws at the Department of Energy "which could reflect directly on the integrity of the procurement process" has caused Federal Claims Court judge there to put the Yucca Mountain nuclear waste repository project on hold.

The Department of Energy's ambitious schedule to begin construction at the Yucca Mountain site was abruptly interrupted March 8 when Judge Reginald Gibson granted a surprise preliminary injunction against the DOE based on evidence that a conflict of interest was involved in awarding the $1 billion contract to Bechtel Systems Management Inc., a subsidiary of the giant Bechtel National Inc., San Franciscobased construction firm.

The injunction, sought by TRW Environmental Safety Systems, which had competed with Bechtel for the contract last year, was issued by Judge Gibson one day prior to the DOE's planned award of the Systems Engineering, Development and Management contract for the Yucca Mountain facility. Judge Gibson set March 30 for the beginning of a trial to determine if a permanent injunction will be granted.

If issued, a permanent injunction could significantly delay construction on the Yucca Mountain project while the procurement process is re-started from scratch.

Indeed, Judge Gibson, in his written opinion explaining his reasons for granting the preliminary injunction, indicated that evidence of serious wrong-doing

He asserted that he was "greatly troubled" by the implications of evidence "which raises a strong suggestion of possible 'impropriety and influence" which "undoubtedly could reflect directly on the integrity of the procurement process" which occurred last year. His concern centered on evidence presented that Sam Rousso, the chairman of the DOE's Source Evaluation Board, assigned the task of selecting the contractor for the Yucca Mountain construction, had been an employee of the Science Applications International Corp., a subcontractor on the Bechtel team assembled for the Yucca Mountain job, only a year earlier.

Insofar as the evidence suggests that Rousso assumed the leading role on a DOE board which assigned the Yucca Mountain contract to Bechtel less than a year after working, himself, for a Bechtel subcontractor, he violated federal statutes designed to prevent potential conflicts of interest, Judge Gibson opined.

Judge Gibson wrote that, "Irrespective of the ultimate proof on this issue, it is clear beyond cavil that it is in the public's interest to know the truth in this extremely important procurement."

Judge Gibson also indicated that there is evidence that TRW Environmental Systems was not given a fair shake by the DOE when the contract was awarded to Bechtel last Dec. 9. He said that the question of the conflictof-interest violation "substantially prejudiced TESS's bid by causing it to be treated unfairly, irrationally, arbitrarily, capriciously and not in accordance with the law" was raised by the evidence.

For example, Judge Gibson noted evidence that the Bechtel subsidiary was not even eligible for the DOE contract award "because it had not yet been incorporated when its proposal was selected" last Dec. 9.

Judge Gibson further justified his action by citing the "criticality of the procurement" for the Yucca Mountain repository project, given that "the repository must be capable of protecting the earth from exposure to the deposited radioactive waste for a period of 10,000 years."

Heaven on Earth' price tag: $300 trillion

By Ben Baker Home News Staff Writer

Tired of oppressive crowds, smog, traffic jams and the whole darn rat race in particular? Hang in there, help could be on the way.

At 10:30 a.m. Saturday, at the Alexis Park Hotel, plans will be discussed to create a "Heaven on Earth." Maharishi Mahesh Yogi is planning 50 villages across North America that will incorporate the inner peace he feels into the external world, said spokespersons.

The villages will be built according to plans designed in Maharishi Sthapatya-Veda, a division of the Vedic Science, they said. The homes in the community will "promote perfect health, longevity, happiness, success and fulfillment," said spokespersons.

What's the price tag for one of the homes? It was reported in a January edition of USA

Today that the homes would go from $60,000 to $1 million.

A Los Angeles Times listed the houses at $500,000 to $800,000. But, prospective buyers should not worry if the houses are out of the normal price ranges. Montague Guild, chairman of the Guild Group on the Maharishi's 20 avenues of Companies, told the Times to better health. From stress that profits on the houses would be used to subsidize homes for people with lower incomes.

No less an authority than the New York Times, the "Great Grey Lady," estimated the total worldwide cost of the Maharishi's plan to be $100 trillion or "three times the estimated worth of the entire planet," wrote Times reporter Douglas Martin.

The homes should add zest and pep to residents. Guild said each room in the houses will be angled toward a different position of the sun. The sun's energy, he said, will lend itself to the room and help support the activity for which the rooms are designed.

The houses are not for the benefit of the planned communities. The Maharishi, famous for instructing the Beatles in transcendental meditation in the '60s, has incorporated schools, health centers and convention halls into the layout of the towns.

The schools will be designed to educate students to lead a life of fulfillment and outstanding achievement, said spokespersons.

The health centers will focus management to restoring biological rhythms, the centers will concentrate on prevention of illness, preserving health and promoting longevity.

An ideal social and entertainment hall is the idea behind the festival halls. Along with the halls, open spaces, such as parks, will be available for outdoor recreation.

As of this report, developers in Toronto, Los Angeles, Connecticut and Austin have expressed interest in the towns. One town, Radiance, is already in existence outside Austin.

According to the Maharishi, the problems of pollution and crime are the result of overcrowding. The communities are designed to support one person per acre of land.

The meeting is open to the public, said Michael Williams, spokesman. Williams added he expects people who practice transcendental meditation wil find the seminar appealing.

Then, they won't mind that Nevada, 'way out in the boondocks," is getting shafted.

Other states complain they don't have anywhere to dump the waste. Those states are heavily populated, compared to Nevada.

I have just moved here from the South, where a similar controversy was taking place. Other states were using Alabama as a dumping ground for toxic waste. The people in Alabama became fed up with having garbage in their backyard. The legislature listened and non-Alabama produced-waste-dumping was eliminated.

Georgia, where I was born and raised, and South Carolina are beginning to realize the problems of having nuclear power plants. Radioactive materials just don't go away. They can't be eliminated or ignored; they have to be dealt with

Georgia and South Carolina don't want to deal with the problem. Neither does Nevada, much to the dismay of the other

Before moving to Nevada, I was worried about the waste. I figured Georgia and South Carolina would have to deal with the problem. I had no solutions then and I'm still wondering now.

President Bush claimed in his election speeches that he would clean up toxic-waste dumps. The Newsweek article estimated the cleanup at $130 billion. Bush is not likely to pay much heed to the cleanup problem when faced with the massive debt and cost overruns he already has budgeted.

Now that he's been elected, he plans to dump in Nevada, creating a national sacrifice zone. Instead of cleaning up dump sites, he's planning to create more.

Yucca Mountain, if chosen as a dump site, will be fenced off to future generations and become a monument to stupidity. To some, Nevada is a logical choice. The state has thousands of acres of uninhabited land. Parts of Nevada are already cordoned off because of nuclear testing. Also, it's a long way from the Eastern Seaboard, where much of the nuclear waste is generated.

"Out of sight, out of mind," the dumpers think.

"Ain't no way," Nevadans should scream.

Fortunately, some people have taken notice of the screaming. Dumping on Yucca Mountain has been postponed until ecological and scientific studies can be completed to determine the feasability of the dump site.

Nevadans need to keep screaming until the survey is over. If enough noise is made, the project will be scrapped and the feds will look for another solution.

In closing, I remember I was taught "don't criticize unless you have a better idea." When dealing with nuclear waste, I confess I don't know enough about radiation to present a logical idea. I do know it's dangerous and I don't want radioactive waste in my backyard.

Here's my suggestion, outlandish as it is. Shoot the waste into the Sun. The Sun is a giant nuclear generator anyway. A few tons of nuclear waste thrown at something as massive as the Sun would be like hitting the Earth with a golf club.

I don't know if the plan is cost effective. But, if waste keeps piling up and nuclear fuels continue to be used, it might be the only alternative.

That solution runs into the problem of a launch-pad or atmospheric disaster. A rocket or shuttle could explode—as have Challenger and other NASA ventures-while carrying nuclear

It's not a very sound plan. Ignoring the waste is just as bad. Burying the waste at Yucca Mountain is the government's way of ignoring the problem.

A free informational pamphlet about earthquakes in Nevada is available from UNLV's department of geoscience, the Nevada State Museum and local libraries.

The pamphlet is being distributed in conjunction with National Earthquake Hazard Awareness Week, which continues through Friday.

California and Alaska are the only two states that have recorded more earthquakes in the past 150 years than Nevada. But many people remain unaware of the seismic hazards created in such an event, according to the helpful eightpage publication.

The pamphlet discusses Nevada's earthquake hazards and offers suggestions on what to do before, during, and after an earthquake.

You can set virtually any price you want for your property, but its actual value is what someone is willing to pay. Your net-the bottom line—is the selling price less whatever it costs you to sell the property.

Let's look at all the variables. The asking price should be realistic: low enough to attract likely prospects, high enough to keep up with current prices. The cost of selling may range from a sign on your front lawn and a small ad to a broker's commission, but neither figure is meaningful without looking at the sale price. The bottom line is: what's your net? History shows that an experienced real estate agent can usually get a higher price for a piece of property than the owner can. And even if the cost of professional services is higher than do-it-yourself advertising, the end figure-the bottom line—is usually better on a broker sale.

Galloway students help Heart Fund

Students at Fay Galloway Elementary School recently finished participating in an annual Jump Rope for Heart event, sponsored by the American Heart Association and the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance.

The JRFH event is a fundraiser for the AHA. This year, each school that took part earned valuable physical education equipment and a hearthealthy education package.

The 1989 event was held in February, which annually is designated National Heart Month. Students formed sixmember teams and accepted pledges from friends and family for each minute that their team jumped. The jumping sessions lasted up to 180 minutes:

This year, 183 Galloway students participated and presented the AHA with a check for $4,248.14.

The students, staff and administration at Fay Galloway have, for the last five years, been very supportive of the JR H event. During that period, the students have raised an incredible $27,711, spokespersons said.

The students in return have received a variety of prizes, ranging from jump ropes to bicycles. They have also received the knowledge of healthy heart living through various educational packages, as well as the improved selfesteem that children feel when they realize that they can and do help others through their efforts, said spokespersons.

This year's theme was "Helping Hands Help Others Through the Jump Rope for Heart Event." Students traced their hands, interlocked their fingers and connected hands throughout the entire Galloway multipurpose room. In an effort to involve parents, Nevada's oldest, most stable savings and loan is now American Federal Savings Bank.

With 100 years of service in Nevada, we're proud of our history and the role we've played in building this state. But as times have changed, so have we because we're no longer just a savings and loan.

As American Federal Savings Bank we offer more services and a wider array of accounts than ever before.

Accounts like our interest bearing, no service charge 55-Plus Checking Account. Our No-Risk Money Fund that combines the best of checking and savings into one account. And our All-American 2 Year Plus renewable CD.

Of course we still offer the most competitive rates and finest service on Home Mortgages, historically the cornerstone of our involvement within the community.

So with all the mergers and big bank hype, if you feel like it's time to find someone who really cares about individuals, someone who wants to give you their full attention and service, stop by the bank that's been doing it right for a long, long time.

Because one thing has never changed throughout our 100 year history. Putting the needs of our customers first.

And no matter how much banking changes through the next century, we'll never forget the ideals that brought us here and served us so well in the past.

UNLV will dedicate the Thomas T. Beam Engineering Complex in a public ceremony at 1:30 p.m. Saturday on the patio in front of the building's main entrance.

The dedication will begin with formal cornerstone-laying ritual led by the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons. The university's dedication will follow.

After the ceremony, invited guests and members of the public will attend a reception where they will tour the building and view a video presentation about the new complex and the Howard R. Hughes College of Engineering.

The complex opened its doors to faculty and students in January, after the Howard R. Hughes College of Engineering had moved from the old Engineering Building and the William D. Carlson Education Building into its new home, a structure that has been described as "beyond state-of-theart."

The 101,000-square-foot, $14.7 million building, named for university benefactor and aeronautical engineer Thomas T. Beam is actually two buildings linked by an enclosed bridge.

The seminar, at 7 p.m. today in Artemis Hall, UNLV, will cover the Medicare surtax and other personal financial issues, according to spokespersons.

Guest speakers will be Jay Goldinger a syndicated columnist at the Review-Journal and Suze Orman, a consumer advocate and tax-advantage specialist.

The seminar is free, spokespersons said. Contact Consumers for Retirement Independence, 781 N. Nellis, Suite 196 or call 1-800-444-7634 for reservations and tickets.

Gallery features local artist

Markus Galleries has announced a special showing of the work of local artist Susan Bryan during the month of April. Fifteen of her most recent works will be featured, spokespersons said, and will represent Bryan's work in various media: pastel, acrylic and mixed-media constructions.

Bryan's work has been included in many prestigious local collections, including the Clark County Library District, Paine Webber, First Interstate Bank, the California Hotel, Valley Bank and the Stardust Hotel. Adding to her list of accomplishments Bryan was one of a select group of artists to show in the 1988 Nevada Biennial.

Bryan feels the desert and neon environment has greatly influenced her choice of media, colors and subject matter. "Las Vegas claims an unusual combination of incongruities-paradise and indulgence, mass commercialism, harsh physical setting, and a wide cultural mix to name a few. Basic handles Eldorado and Clark, but Pineview breaks winning streak

By Pat McDonnell Home News Sports Editor

The Basic Wolves experienced the full roller coaster ride which shakes up baseball last week in a trio of home games.

Tony Frehner pitched a onehitter Thursday to help Basic win a Sunrise Division battle with Eldorado. Home runs from Kevin Clark and Vic McCraney Friday gave Basic an easy win over Clark. But the Pineview Panthers ended the Wolves' six-game winning streak Saturday, as the Utah team copied the Wolves' winning formula—taking full advantage of walks and clutch hits to earn victories.

Basic's two wins in three games upped its overall record to 7-5 and the opening triumph over Eldorado pushed the Wolves' conference mark to 2-0.

Pineview makes walks count in win

Relief pitcher John Emmett earned the victory in a 14-6 win for Pineview, allowing just two hits and driving in the gamewinning run with a sacrifice fly in the top of the sixth.

The Panthers scored four times in both the sixth and seventh innings after Basic sophomore Eddie Bustamante had tied the game 6-6 with a single in the bottom of the fifth.

Pineview accumulated 10 hits and asmany walks against Basicstarter Ray Fredericksen and relievers Chuck Segura and Randy Carter in chalking up its sixth victory in six games.

"No good team can afford to give that many walks," Basic Manager Gary Chaires said after the loss. "Our pitching caught up with us."

Six of the free passes came in the first three innings as the Panthers built a seemingly comfortable 6-0 lead. The Wolves aided the Pineview cause with three errors.

Basic took advantage of two Panther misplays in the bottom of the third for two unearned runs and moved to within a run in the fourth on Segura's sacrifice fly and Mike Hubel's two-run double to deep center.

The Wolves then tied the game in the fifth. Brian Estep and Ron Venerable drew one-out walks and Joe Lombardo, running for Estep, came home when Bustamante punched a single into right field. McCraney was called out on strikes and Segura forced Bustamante as Basic left the go-ahead run on base, one of 10 Wolves runners stranded in the game.

"It wasn't like we didn't have any opportunities," Chaires said. "We let them off the hook too many times."

Segura suffered the loss for Basic in his first decision of the year.

Pineview catcher Travis Milke went 2-for-4, scored three runs and drove in three runs.

Chargers get dose of early Basic power

Clark, a sophomore third baseman, hammered his second home run of the season over the left field fence Friday for three first inning runs as the Wolves got on the board quickly in a 12-3 non-league win over the Clark Chargers.

Mike Abbs had an RBI double and Tony Frehner and Ray Fredericksen drove in runs with singles to pace Basic to a 7-0 lead after two innings.

The Chargers committed eight errors in the game and escaped only the third frame without a gaffe.

McCraney scored twice and lined a two-run homer in the sixth to account for the final Wolves runs.

"They were beaten before they came out," Chaires said, noting the aftereffects of Valley's 13-2 thumping of the Chargers on Thursday.

Carter, who started and picked up the win for Basic, gave up two runs on five hits in just less than four innings. The senior righthander, now 2-1, was relieved by Estep, who allowed one run on two hits in three innings.

Frehner nears no-hitter versus Sundevils

Eldorado's Sam Minyard broke up Frehner's no-hit bid with one out in the sixth, looping a single in front of centerfielder Fredericksen for the only Sundevil hit in a 3-0 Wolves victory.

Eldorado loaded the bases in the inning, but Frehner pitched out of the jam, getting Svante Singleton to ground into an ininng-ending double play.

"I just wanted to find the strike zone," the Basic senior said after his pitching gem was complete. "That was my only concern."

Frehner did allow six walks, but fanned eight Eldorado batters, including Singleton with the game scoreless and a runner on in the top of the fourth.

Hubel, who handled Frehner behind the plate, stroked the game-winning hit, a three-run home run to center in the bottom of the fourth—his fourth homer in four consecutive games.

The senior catcher and pitcher noted Frehner's strikeout of Singleton in the fourth was the biggest pitch of the game.

"It was the best pitching performance of the year," Chaires said. "He is getting better each time out."

The manager also praised the Wolves defense, which did not commit an error.

Eldorado and Clark both used a big inning to defeat
Basic last week and extend the Lady Wolves' losing streak to four games.

The Lady Sundevils scored nine times in the top of the sixth Thursday at Basic on the way to a 16-2 victory. Eldorado led 7-2 before the scoring barrage which ended the game in six innings.

Basic was limited to two hits in the game—a double by Jackie Lawson and Maria Bustamante's single, both of which came in the first two innings.

The Lady Wolves led 2-1 after two, but were stifled at the plate the remainder of the game.

"We didn't swing the bats after that," Basic Manager Barb Gillaspy said. "They came alive."

Lori Terrano went 3-for-3 with two runs batted in for Eldorado and Debbie Kohut doubled twice.

Lady Wolves sophomore pitcher Tammy McMullen allowed 18 hits, but gave up only two walks—an improvement, according to Gillaspy.

"Tammy is doing her job," the manager said. "She is going to get better and better as she works on technique."

Basic enjoyed a better day at the plate Friday against Clark, collecting eight hits, but the Lady Wolves committed six errors in a 14-4 loss.

Jen Canale pounded a threerun home run in an eight-run Photo by Jeff Cowen second for the Lady Chargers, now 8-4 after the non-league victory. Basic fell to 2-5 overall and 0-2 in the Sunrise Division after the loss.

"She iced it," Gillaspy said of Canale's blast.

The Lady Wolves were paced offensively by Bustamante, who went 2-for-3 with a triple, and Jerri Foxx, who blasted a two-run home run in the bottom of the fifth.

Gillaspy said Basic needed offensive help from starters Donna Vargas and Toni Pelletier, both unable to play against the Lady Chargers.

The Lady Wolves host the 10-2 Western Lady Warriors at 3 p.m. today. Basic then heads to Rancho, 5-7, Thursday for another 3 p.m. divisional game.

Basic swimmers glide to wins over Las Vegas

Swimming

The Basic Aqua Wolves upped their dual meet record to 3-0 Wednesday with a 108-35 victory over Las Vegas at Lorin Williams Pool.

Senior Phil Brown won the 200-yard freestyle in 2:03.9 and the 100 backstroke in 1:01.4 for Basic. Brent White also was a double winner for the Aqua Wolves, taking the 200 individual medley in 2:29.7 and 100 butterfly in 1:08.4.

The Lady Wolves increased their dual meet record to 2-1 with a 111-45 decision over the Lady Wildcats.

Amy Sena scored victories in the 200 IM (2:38.5) and 100 free (1:01.7). Anita Littlefield won the 100 butterfly in 1:11.9 and 100 breastroke in 1:13.3.

Basic Coach Dan Cahill noted sophomore Karen Ruth and freshman Melissa Hagen recorded "huge time drops" in their events.

Both the Aqua Wolves and Lady Wolves, attempting to recover from various injuries and team defections at the start of the season, have been forced to rely on younger swimmers this spring.

"I have never had this happen to me," Cahill lamented. "You always have one or two (swimmers leave), but you never expect this much."

Both teams compete against the Bonanza Bengals at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Lorin Williams.

"It could be a big meet for the girls," Cahill said.

Track

After coming of a Wednesday dual meet defeat to Rancho, both the Basic boys and girls track teams were ready for a strong performance Friday versus Bishop Gorman.

The Basic boys topped the Gaels, 89-55, as Wolves junior Anthony Johnson won three events and senior Billy Jefferies captured two.

Johnson outpaced the field in the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 16:82 and finished first in the 300 hurdles in 42:74. He also captured the high jump, reaching five feet. eight inches.

Jefferies was first in the mile, finishing in 4:50, and the two-mile, in which he ran 10:34.9.

The Wolves swept the 800 run, as Ken Harmon crossed the line first in 2:02, Kevin Lambert took second and Darrin Loff was third.

Basic also recorded the top three places in the triple jump. Travis Behn was first with a distance of 36'10.

The Lady Wolves were not as successful without top runners Dusty Finley, Tiffany Robinson and Myra Wisehaupt and dropped a 86-46 verdict to the Lady Gaels.

Basic seniors Julie Craig, Korrin Weeks and Ann-Marie · Conrado scored the only individual event victories for the Lady Wolves. Craig took the 800 in 2:33.95, Weeks the high jump in 4'2 and Conrado won the shot put with a toss of 28'21/2.

The Lady Wolves also finished first in the 400 and 800 relays.

Basic hosts the Chaparral Cowboys in a 3 p.m. dual meet tomorrow.

Junior varsity baseball

The Wolves sandwiched convincing victories over Eldorado and Pineview around a 4-3 loss Friday at Clark.

Basic beat Eldorado 19-0 Thursday with "mistake-free ball," according to Coach John Eric Oliver pitched a fourhitter for the victory. Matt Martinez and Robert Warren had two hits and Brendan Sage clubbed a two-run home run.

Basic grabbed a 2-0 lead against Clark the next day, but three Charger runs in the fourth and a single tally in the bottom of the sixth decided the game.

The JV Wolves had the tying run on third base and the go-ahead run at second in the seventh, but were unable to Basic pounded Pineview. 19-2, Saturday at Basic.

Now 2-6 overall, Basic travels to Western for a 3 p.m. game today.

JV softball

The Basic junior varsity girls ran their season-opening win streak to six Thursday with a 19-4 blowout of Eldorado, then lost their first game Friday, an 11-10 decision to Clark.

Donna Acuna and Traci Norquist have been pacing the Lady Wolves at the plate so far this season, according to Basic Coach Diane Hernandez. Deana Smith is replacing Tammy McMullen on the mound. McMullen was promoted to the varsity team before the Las-Vegas game March 28.

PGA TOURNAMENT PLAYS LAS VEGAS—The Las Vegas Invitational, one of the PGA Tour's richest golf tournaments, is fast-approaching. Sponsored by the Las Vegas Convention & Visitors Authority, the LVI will be held April 26-30. Appearing during tournament week will be Wayne Newton, Celebrity host; Gary Koch (center), last year's champion; and Don Stuckey (far right), LVCVA representative; who are admiring the LVCVA's "American Way To Play" satin jacket. Koch will defend his title against a stellar field of 156 professional golfers vying for a purse totaling more than $1.3 million. The tournament winner will receive $225,000. The LVI will be played at the Las Vegas, Desert Inn and Spanish Trail Country Clubs. For more information, call 382-6616.
