Whatever the reason, Henderson voters, although few in number, passed the park bond issue. Was it because the city was able to demonstrate the $18 million issue wouldn't raise taxes or because the residents want a better quality of life and have pride in their city? Whatever the reasons, the results were a plus for Henderson.

You can bet the Jensen-Groesbeck general election race for Mayor will be exciting and so will the Proctor-Davis race for Municipal Judge.

The Harris-Clark race, to represent Ward 3 on the City Council, can also be closer than the final primary election figures show. Mike Harris, the incumbent, certainly has a comfortable lead with 42.94% of the vote over Clark's 26.87%.

The general will be determined by the turnout and whether or not the votes losing candidates received were anti-incumbent votes or because they favored a specific candidate.

Tuesday's primary election was important but so is next Sunday. Let's hope that Nevadans pay more attention to their mothers than they did to their voting duty.

Everyday should belong to the mothers who carried us in their wombs, fed us, taught us how to survive and took time to hug us when we were hurt physically or emotionally.

I always looked at my mother as being a special person who was the best

Only 589 votes came between the first and third place finishers in Tuesday's Mayoral primary, with Jim Jensen and Robert Groesbeck edging Dorothy Vondenbrink out of the race for first and second finishes respectively.

With 2,866 votes, retired Municipal Judge Jensen came out on top with 27.2% of the 10,503 votes cast. Groesbeck placed second with 2,561 votes at 24.3%.

With 2,277, retired City Clerk Vondenbrink fell only 305 votes under Groesbeck, gripping 21.6% of the total.

"I think I did very well, I'm pleased with the way it came out," Jensen said Wednesday morning. "It was good campaign."

"I felt that the people would put who they wanted in there," he continued. "I'm looking forward to running in the general election. And the people will let us know who they want."

Groesbeck, Jensen's challenger, was hesitant about using the term "surprised" when speaking of his standings. "I feel fortunate that I was in the top two. I give a great deal of credit to Dorothy — she ran a great campaign," he said.

"I believed that we were going to do well," he added. "We've got a very good group — they're very serious about a change, a new direction, leadership. ..."

"Let's put it this way, I am somewhat surprised. I really thought that the support was there,

Eight-year incumbent Michael Harris will face newcomer Jack Clark in the June 8 general election, after the two topped the list of four candidates running for the City Council Ward 3 seat in Tuesday's primary.

With 4,284 votes, Harris gathered 42.9% of the 9,976 total votes cast for the Council seat. Clark came in second with 2,681, or 26.8% of the vote.

Only 367 votes separated Clark from Pittman resident Jeanne Liner, who finished in third place with 2,314 votes, or 23.2%. With 697 votes, Pittman resident Glen Cochrane took 6.9%.

Harris, who lives in the Valley View neighborhood, said Tuesday night held no surprises for him. "With as many people in the race as we had, I think we did very well," he said.

"I don't think anything was surprising to me," he added. "I felt that Jack and Jeanne would pull an equal amount and they did — relatively equal."

"It's about what we expected," Clark said Wednesday morning. "What it indicates is about 58% of the people in Henderson want a change." Clark, a six-year officer of the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department, is a Camarillo Park resident.

"What we need to do now is come together and do what's right for the city," he continued, adding he will not pursue the "old vs. new Henderson" angle which has pitched candidates from each side of the community in all three races.

"Henderson is Henderson and one of the goals we set at the beginning of this campaign is to work toward that goal," he said.

Clark added he would continue running a clean campaign. "We're just going to continue what we're

Proctor, Davis head race

Up against six other candidates in Tuesday's primary, Ken Proctor and Terry Davis pulled a combined 57% of the vote for Municipal Judge and will face each other in June's general election.

Proctor, a former alternate judge who was appointed to acting judge when Jim Jensen retired from the bench to vie for the Mayor's seat, received 3,465 votes for 34.7% of the 9,979 total votes cast for the position.

Alternate Judge Davis pulled second place with 2,241 votes or 22.4%.

Proctor, a Section 19 resident, said Wednesday morning the final tallies exceeded his expectations. "Actually, we were hoping for 33%," he said. "We've still got a long way to go, so we're happy with last night's race."

"We're very pleased. A lot of people did a lot of hard work," he said, adding the concentration of votes for he and Davis were surprising for a race with eight contenders. "I think the main thing that surprised me was that the votes weren't more spread out," he said.

With a disappointing 28.7% of the city's registered voters actually going to the polls Tuesday, Proctor called the results a "shame."

"Our people need to get out and vote — it's the only way people have of expressing their opinion," he said. "You don't really have a right to complain unless you get out and vote."

Davis, a Green Valley neighborhood resident, said he finished as expected. "Quite frankly, I was within 150 votes of where I expected to be. I'm very pleased and I'm very gratified," he said. "It's taken a lot of hard work and a lot of my friends working hard."

"I feel very gratified for the votes I had because there were a lot of good men running. I really have to tip my hat off to the kind of campaign that's been run," Davis added.

mother in the whole world. She has been gone for 42 years and there's still no reason for me to change my opinion.

My mom was the person who had a pair of dry socks for me after a day of hunting in the woods of Wisconsin.

My mom was the person who could take the trout and squirrels I brought home and turn them into a meal that the world's finest restaurants have failed to match.

My mom was the person who stood over a hot wood-burning stove in the summer months canning meats, vegetables and fruits for the cold winter that was sure to come.

My mom took care of us when we had measles, mumps, bronchial pneumonia, chicken pox and broken bones. She was also the lady who walked for several miles through the woods to help a neighbor give birth to a child.

My mom hiked to school with all of us because she was the teacher in our one-room school house where all eight grades held 32 youngsters. She also cooked a hot lunch for us from government-supplied surplus commodities during the Great Depression.

Yeah, my mom, raised with 11 other children on a farm, worked her way through the University of Wisconsin by waiting tables in the dining hall. She never received a grade lower than the A's that earned her a Phi Beta Kappa key.

My mom didn't have an easy life but, like my father, I never heard her whine or complain. She was very religious but didn't push her religion or any other personal view on to others. She taught by example and always had time to hear about the pains and complaints of other people.

I was most fortunate to have a mother who couldn't be matched but so do millions of other people. Mothers are special people and I can name hundreds of them like Henderson's Mamie Vincent who have made the difference and provided the needed love for their children, neighbor's kids and dozens of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Watching mothers in Honduras, northern Iraq, China and other far-off places starving, as they gave their last bits of food to their babies, has convinced me that there are wonderful mothers all over the world. We, in the United States, are especially fortunate because we have set aside a day to honor our mothers. With this opportunity is an obligation to do something extra special for our mothers.

Take mom out for dinner, buy her a corsage, send her a card, give her a phone call or, if possible, just drop in for a special visit and bring some ice cream and cake or a box of candy. Don't let the day pass without doing something special for her.

The world is full of wonderful moms and my children and grandchildren are among the fortunate people blessed with loving mothers.

Why is our school board in a big panic over the "Cities In Schools" proposal? At first it sounded like it might be some wild scheme for another fringe group trying to influence our children. Not so, not when people like Dr. Don Christensen, Judge Jack Lehman, Dr. Brian Cram, Kathleen Harney and Jay Bingham endorse the program.

Nevertheless, I thought it would be worthwhile to check out. What I found is a voluntary program that requires parental permission. Even more impressive is that it's geared to meet several of the deepest social and educational problems facing our county, state and nation.

CIS is a public/private partnership that can have a positive effect on young people facing drugs, literacy, truancy, social violence and even suicide. It will only be a pilot program which, if it succeeds, can help our young people.

Don't say we don't need such a program. Our state has the highest percentage of teens in juvenile custody, living outside their families and dropping out of high school. Only one state has more violent deaths among its teens and 11 have more child deaths.

We need something! I'd suggest our school board approves CIS or quickly gives us something else to change these trends. To do nothing can be a more costly sin than to try a program and fail.

Knapp competent to stand trial for October shooting at Skyline

By Katherine E. Scott
News Staff Writer

A Henderson man who used to wander the streets with a holstered revolver until he killed a man at random last year returned to Henderson Justice Court this week after he was found competent to stand trial.

Stephen Knapp, 37 years old at the time of the shooting in October, had a Sept. 1 preliminary hearing set Wednesday during his appearance before Justice of the Peace Rodney Burr.

"The defense is requesting further [psychiatric] evaluation," a court spokeswoman said Wednesday, adding Burr determined that Knapp's release from a psychiatric hospital indicated he was capable of participating in the legal process.

She said Burr allowed the preliminary hearing to be delayed after defense attorney Steve Dahl asked for more time for investigation purposes.

Knapp had appeared before Burr in November, when a psychiatric evaluation determined he was not competent to stand trial. After an appearance in Clark County District Court, Knapp was transferred to Lake's Crossing mental health facility, a court spokeswoman said.

She said that after he was released from Lake's Crossing, the case was remanded to Justice Court.

Knapp was arrested Oct. 5 at the Skyline Casino on Boulder Highway after witnesses said he shot a man who was playing a video slot machine near the back door of the casino.

Joseph Ronald Ciaffone, 47, died two days later at University Medical Center in Las Vegas. The Michigan man, who was visiting family members in Henderson, never gained consciousness after the shooting.

The attack "was a random, unprovoked shooting as the victim and suspect did not know each other, nor did the investigation reveal that they had ever had any previous contact," stated an HPD news release.

Henderson police said officers had some previous contact with Knapp, who was known to roam town with the gun holstered at his side. No crime was committed because it is legal to carry a lawful weapon as long as it is not concealed, according to HPD.

Witnesses told investigators that Knapp entered the back door of the Skyline, looked around for a moment, then took a revolver from its holster and shot the nearest gambler at close range. He then returned the gun to its place and left out the same door.

He was taken into custody by Skyline security guards after a struggle with Ciaffone's brother-in-law, William Hornbrook, who chased after him. Hornbrook wrested a Taurus .38 caliber revolver from Knapp when the gunman began to draw it again, police said.

Shooting suspects arrested

By Katherine E. Scott
News Staff Writer

Trying to prevent someone from driving drunk landed a 51-year-old homeless man in the hospital Monday night, according to the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department.

Scott Linville, admitted to University Medical Center in critical condition Monday, was side Sgt. Parker McManus said.

He was no longer listed as a patient Wednesday morning, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

Ray A. Biue, 64 and Lorna Seeley, 46, are both being held in Clark County Jail on one count of battery with a deadly weapon. Bail is set at $3,000 each.

The two couples live in a desert area near Henderson's eastern border off of Lake Mead Drive, police said. "All the subjects had been drinking heavily" before the shooting occurred about 8:15 p.m. Monday, McManus said.

"The male suspect was wanting to leave but was intoxicated, so the victim took his keys to keep him from driving," McManus said.

He said Biue then "went to the cab of his truck and Seeley ... handed [him] a revolver."

McManus said Linville was shot one time. "It was a chest wound, but I don't believe it struck anything vital," he said, adding he was told Tuesday that the injury was not life-threatening.

He said Linville's wife drove him to the Rod & Reel shop three-tenths of a mile away and called for help. Henderson police and fire units responded, and he was taken to UMC by HFD paramedics.

doing," he said. "There's no reason for us to attack. I think there's enough issues in the campaign to stick with the issues."

Clark also said he was disappointed in the low voter turnout, which brought only 28.7% of the city's 37,766 voters to the polls. "We truly want this community to participate in our government. And the first process in that is to vote," he said. "That is the overriding reason that we ran."

Harris, who appointed Liner to the Citizen's Traffic Advisory Board, said he hopes Liner will remain active in the community. "We need people to be active. I'm not disappointed she ran," he said.

"I'm glad to see people want to be that active. I hope that she doesn't become discouraged."

Harris also said the low turnout was discouraging. "I'm grateful to all those who voted, but disappointed that the turnout was so low," he said, adding he too intends to continue a campaign of issues.

"I am going to make every effort to run a clean, positive campaign," he said. "I believe in that."

For the first time in two terms, Harris will face an opponent in a general election, and he said the campaign experience has proved valuable. "It's definitely a learning process, no question," he said.

"I feel that people try and portray the electorate as being uninformed," he said. "The people that voted were informed." This is Davis' second run for the judge seat.

Davis, a member of the American Bar Association, said he will continue to run an issues-oriented campaign. He said he hopes for help from former opponents who shared similar platforms. "I started last night three minutes after the results were announced," he said.

"We've been out every night, we're going to stay out every night, and we're not going to slow down," he continued. "I have told the people in Henderson that they would have a hard-working judge and I'm going to keep campaigning as a hard-working judge."

As for the remainder of the campaign, Proctor said it's business as usual. "We're going to try to knock on every door in Henderson and encourage people to vote, and vote for us," he said. "We're just going to continue to talk about quality and endorsements and run a positive campaign."

"I'll be back in court today and be out walking again tomorrow," he added. "I've learned a lot about politics and a lot about people. I've met a lot of nice people in the past five weeks."

Henderson police officer Les Zike pulled third place with 1,118 votes for 11.2% and Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department veteran Don Denison placed fourth with 1,052 votes or 10.5%.

The final four contenders received the following votes and percentages: George Brucato, 733 at 7.3%; Sam Kitterman, 711 at 7.1%; David Smith, 389 at 3.9% and Lloyd Bair with 270 at 2.7%.

Groesbeck said getting people to the polls will be an issue for him during the next few weeks. "I'm discouraged when the people don't show up to vote. But I think we're going to have a big turnout in the general," he said.

"Obviously my push is it's very important to participate in city government and you do that by voting," Groesbeck added.

"I'm going to try to go out and meet every one I can and talk about the issues," he said. "Let the voters realize ... we have very divergent views on a lot of things and it's very important for them to make a decision."

With more than 73% of the vote going to the top three out of the five candidates, Jensen said the numbers surprised him. "There were so many good candidates. I felt that it really was going to spread the vote out," he said. "It gave the people in the city a good choice. We'll be looking forward to the support we'll get in the general."

Like other candidates, Jensen agreed voter turnout was dismal. "I was a little disappointed in the turnout, but the people that turned out did show that they were concerned," he said. "And this is what we need."

A total of 10,859, or 28.7% of the city's 37,766 eligible voters participated in the primary—with 356 voters not punching a candidate in the Mayoral race.

"We have a lot of growing up to do and we need to do it fast," Jensen added. "I think we can just do the best we can. You can't force people to get out but we've got to be sure we continue to combine our city."

Between now and June 8, Jensen said he promises to put a grassroots campaign before the people. "We'll just get out and discuss the issues and make it a good clean campaign," he said. "It (mud slinging) won't be on our side, I've never run one, and I just don't believe in that."

Jensen, a judge in Henderson for 22 years, lauded his campaign workers and insisted that the issue of the old versus the new sides of the community should not be an issue in the campaign. "I don't think that it should be an issue," he said. "That's all Henderson. It's all Henderson and we should be proud of Henderson."

"I'm very proud to be part of Henderson. I don't think we have to take a back seat to anybody."

Groesbeck also agreed that the prevailing sense of Henderson vs. Green Valley should not tear through the campaign. "We need to come together as a city. Unfortunately we need to recognize there is a problem," he said.

"I'm going to do everything thing I can to bridge that gap."

"I think that I've certainly learned that the people in the community can pull together and will pull together if they are presented with the issues and given an opportunity to participate in government," Groesbeck added.

Councilman Lorin Williams finished third with 1,669 votes or 15.8%, and John Flaherty finished last with 1,130 votes or 10.7%.

Voters approve $18 million park improvement bonds

An $18 million no tax increase parks bond was approved by almost 60% of the voters in Tuesday's election. Out of 10,859 votes cast, the bond won the go-ahead with 6,301 votes.

Forty-one percent of the voters, or 4,390, went against the bond, and 168 voters left the question blank.

The bond will:

- Expand the Silver Springs Recreation Center: Including the addition of multipurpose meeting/class rooms; construction of three racquetball courts; additional parking.
- Construction of a Whitney Ranch Recreation Center: Including a gymnasium; racquetball courts; a fitness/exercise room; aerobic/dance room; meeting/class rooms; game room; vending area; patio swimming pool; diving tank; wading pool; bathhouse; parking lot and related facilities.
- Construction of a Black Mountain Recreation Center: Including a gymnasium; racquetball courts; a fitness/exercise room; aerobic/dance room; meeting/class rooms; game room; vending area; patio swimming pool; diving tank; wading pool; bathhouse; parking lot and related facilities.

- Completion of the Arroyo Grande Sports Complex: Including construction of six lighted softball/baseball fields; rest rooms and concession facilities; maintenance shop; parking lot; irrigation and landscape installation and bike/hike fitness trail.
- Bike/Hike Trail Development: (Seven miles) Partial expansion of trail system by seven miles.
- Wells Park: Installation of sidewalks, lighted basketball courts, playground equipment, swimming pool and related facilities.
- Foothills Park Development: Design and partial development of a 10-acre neighborhood park.
- Fox Ridge Park Improvements: Improvement of paths, playground and arbor installation.
- Burkholder Park: Installation of a tot lot, sand volleyball court, additional parking and initial development grade.
- Morrell Park: Construction of rest room and storage building, patio and installation of sidewalks and playground equipment.

Pughsley among district retirees

Advertise in the News

By Roy Theiss
News Staff Writer

Hundreds of Clark County School District employees will retire this year and Henderson has 49 people moving on. Among that number, the retirees range from elementary school teachers to principals to administration personnel at the school district.

After four years at the helm at Basic High School, principal Joanne Pughsley is retiring. She has spent almost 30 years with the district and has been a principal for 11 years.

Pughsley said one her favorite memories of Basic High School will be the student population. "We have an outstanding student population and have had an outstanding relationship."

Pughsley wants to be remembered for some of the programs she has implemented. "We instituted the Wall of Fame for recognition of graduates. Hopefully other students will work towards that." Every department recognizes outstanding academic performance and citizenship and submits at least one student for the Wall. She also created the Principal Award which recognizes students who have made major contributions to the school. Commitment to the school, leadership skills and involvement in extracurricular activities are some of the criteria for the award.

Students who excelled were not the only ones who Pughsley targeted with programs. She started the BEST program, a community-based program which attempts to keep at-risk students in school through employment. "I'm thrilled 12 students are graduating that may not have made it to this point," she said.

Pughsley said she was glad to be able to work in Henderson. "One thing I want people to know, I appreciated the support of the community. I've seen more than any other school."

The future for Pughsley may still be in education. "I thought I was going to just sit down and enjoy the weather but I'm looking at some job possibilities in the southeast." She said she would be happy as an assistant principal.

She added that she wants to get more involved in community work.

Political signs should vanish

The local primary election is history and we know all but six candidates for three posts have been eliminated from contention.

Again, we thank all of the candidates for offering the voting public the opportunity to have a good choice.

Voters will make their final choices in the June 8 general election.

But that's not the point we would like to make at the moment. Rather, the point is that most of the candidates made use of political signs to catch the public's eye and hopefully their vote. All but six are out of the running and we would hope that they and their supporters will now promptly remove their signs from the local landscape.

While this election has been apparently free of sign vandalism, some candidates mentioned losing signs during the primary campaign. Whether they were taken away or blown away we don't really know.

If they were stolen, however, such actions interfere with the traditional campaign process.

Meanwhile, vanquished candidates should use the weekend to remove their signs and clear the desert landscape.

Ban auto tinting

A state ban on darkly tinted automobile windshields is long overdue. Legislation to do that should have been passed two years ago, or the session before that. The idea has lingered for some time before Nevada lawmakers, but it keeps getting waylaid.

There is no good reason not to have such a law. And there is a compelling reason to support one.

The principal reason why Assembly Bill 379—sponsored by Vonne Chowning, D-Las Vegas—merits approval is that it significantly reduces the threat posed by motorists or occupants in a car with heavily tinted windows. Law enforcement has vigilantly lobbied for this legislation. It is obvious that if individuals inside a car cannot be seen, they can do many things to imperil police officers. They can easily wield weapons without an officer's knowledge.

Also, drive-by shootings are made easier if criminals have tinted windows in their cars. And these windshields also increase the chances of other illegal activities.

Still, some people continue to harp on the fear that such a ban could affect the state's tourism business if visitors are cited for having dark car windows. That is a consideration, but law enforcement also has the ability to use common sense—to not ticket visitors who are stopped for having such windows if they clearly do not pose a threat.

About 25 states have laws that prohibit excessive tinting. And California doesn't allow any tinting at all. These bans reflect common sense and enhance public safety. Nevada needs to join the trend.

Lifting gay ban not merely administrative matter

As if the Army didn't have enough problems—ambiguous security threats, inadequate modernization funding, draconian budget cuts, massive strength reductions, personnel turbulence, base closures—it now faces myriad complex and disturbing issues emanating from the president's announced intent to lift the ban on homosexuals serving in the armed forces.

On the one hand, the practitioners of homosexuality characterize the issues as one of pure "equity," thus playing on the sympathies of all Americans who have a basic belief in fairness. The language of the discussion is equally misleading. If you have any questions about the issue you are labeled a "homophobe" and the exclusion policy is called "discrimination," evoking all the negative aspects of that word in relation to our racial history.

This issue is far more than a question of equity, and those who question the wisdom of admitting avowed homosexuals to military service do not necessarily "fear or hate homosexuals."

In the first place, the Army's purpose is to fight the nation's wars. It designs its personnel policies to provide the most effective force to achieve that end. This means there is differentiation from the start in selecting those who are best adapted to leadership and skill requirements as well as to the military environment. It is not a determination of individual worth but rather a selection to best fit Army needs.

Rather than an issue of simple equity, we are dealing with serious matters of privacy, superior/subordinate relations, standards of conduct, unit cohesion, public health, and interactions in small homogeneous communities. It is a matter of dealing with a very fundamental human trait—sexuality—in the context of a very unique segment of society—the armed forces.

These are certainly not issues that should be decided by mere administrative directive, nor should they be imposed on the American public through the unique force of military law and discipline. The point being that changes, if they are to come, must have a basis in the greater society, must consider the unique characteristics of military service and must come through the full working of the democratic process.

The women's movement

WASHINGTON — It's a dead certainty that during the Renaissance, the Victorian era or some other historical epoch, few people at the time realized they were living through a period of cultural change. So let us examine the newspapers of just the last week to state the obvious: The feminist movement, much derided and often dismissed, has wrought a revolution in attitudes. The rules, gentlemen, have changed.

Three events are worth noting.

In Glen Ridge, N.J., three suburban youths, all high school athletes out of central casting, were sentenced to prison (although freed, pending appeal) for sexually assaulting a 17-year-old girl with diminished mental capacity, an I.Q. of 64. The relatively mild sentences meted out to the youths (they got less than the maximum) were criticized by women's organizations among others, but the fact remains that a conviction was reached and sentences imposed for what, really, was once widely considered hardly a crime. After all, force was not used—and boys will be boys.

Something similar happened with the U.S. Navy. The Tailhook scandal was, and remains, a sordid episode whose details should probably be withheld from the eyes of young children, presuming any of them still read. Suffice it to say, though, that this Bacchanalia featured the molestation and groping of women, public sex acts, and various stages of male nudity that seems to prove that it is only in the showers that military men have a fear of other men. Given a good deal to drink and a swell hotel suite, at least some flyboys will slurp booze from the bellybuttons of their colleagues. This gives the term naval aviation a whole new meaning—and a new spelling as well.

Last, but hardly least, the Pentagon is dropping its restrictions on women in aerial and naval combat and from serving on certain warships. To call the edict from defense Secretary Les Aspin "revolutionary" is to traffic in understatement. It seems only yesterday that Phyllis Schlafly was warning us all that this day (and the day of unisex bathrooms) might come and likening it to the collapse of Western civilization.

But here it is—at least as a proposal—and most of America is not about to conclude that our republic has thrown in the towel to degeneracy or done anything else, actually, but face reality. The distinction between combat and non-combat roles is one often not honored by the enemy. Three women were taken prisoner in the Gulf

RICHARD COHEN

War—all of them officially non-combatants.

On talk radio and in some other precincts, the women's movement provides nothing but comedic material. And, sure, some of what is said or done is a bit off the wall. But while the chucklers are chuckling and the Rushes are rambling, a revolution has been in progress. What's significant about both the Tailhook scandal and the verdict in Glen Ridge is that men were condemned for, really, treating women like dirt.

They must have been surprised at the outcry.

For instance, it was not too long ago that the supposed consent of the 17-year-old in Glen Ridge would have been enough for an exoneration. There is hardly a man out there who cannot recount—either from experience or by rumor—a similar incident from his own high school or college days. The very notion that the sexual exploitation of women is somehow wrong was as foreign and inconceivable as, well, the prospect that they would some day fly fighter planes. But the next Red Baron may well be a baroness.

Similarly, the women who complained about harassment at the Tailhook convention would themselves have been blamed for being there in the first place. But even aside from that, a spotlight was turned on the attitudes of the male participants—the ones, for instance, who wore T-shirts saying "Women Are Property." The message was supposedly directed at women, but it really spoke volumes about the men themselves and their inability to accept women as colleagues. Psychological theories and Freudian terms come to mind, but they would merely gild the lily. These guys acted like jerks.

It would be preposterous to assert that for the women's movement the job is over. Cultural changes occur glacially and not without considerable opposition—nor, for that matter, without all sorts of false starts and idiotic ideas. But the supposedly laughable brabblers of yesteryear and the harridan figure of the "radical feminist" have—with some help from just plain folks—pulled off a revolution the likes of which few of us would have predicted just a decade ago. Pot-shooters on the right can continue to poke fun at the women's movement, but if they would shut up for a minute and look around, they'd realize that, typically, they have things backwards: The joke's on them.

Budget keys length of session

Since most of you are more interested in when the legislative session will end than in what it accomplishes, July 1 is now the date to keep in mind. It's the start of the new fiscal year, which means the state budget has to be in place by then.

Well, it doesn't really have to be. The lawmakers can always pass a continuing resolution to give them a grace period. But the Nevada Legislature doesn't do that, and it is not likely to break precedent in 1993. It would disrupt government schedules already in motion to start on that day, and the lawmakers are unpopular enough. More than enough. So only in extreme emergency would they risk inviting a new barrage of brickbats by deliberately extending the session.

In any case, will they be able to wind up before July 1?

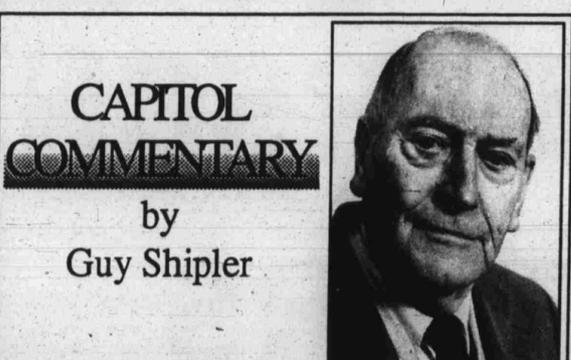

Sure, say the more confident observers, explaining that the major obstacles will be overcome by then. The budget lies at the heart of the legislative machinery and is the most accurate measure of the ETA at sine die. Already the money committees have it well in hand, and started closing some of it some time ago.

But final budget closure is still distant—some say that won't be accomplished until mid-June. Those confident types assure us that doesn't matter; there will still be time enough to take care of any glitches and meet the July 1 deadline.

The second obstacle is that bulky reorganization plan of Gov. Bob Miller's. Even though a bill on the massive project had not even been introduced by last week, work on the original plan published at the start of the session has brought some results.

The Assembly leadership has indicated that these efforts have already resulted in some basic changes, with more in the works. Since reorganization is the governor's baby, he's not happy with all those changes. Nevertheless, negotiations have brought enough agreement to allow the bill drafters to get started—at long last—on the huge job of fleshing out the skeleton bill. This document, except for tinkering by the Administration, has been virtually ready for introduction for some time.

Does any of this really matter? It's hard to argue against any effort to streamline government any time, but it's political suicide in this day and age, when politicians are the world's premium bad guys. But even they know that government needs to be reformed, although what that means in practice is a matter of opinion. So you can be sure at least some of Miller's reorganization project will become law before that

by Guy Shieler

July 1 deadline arrives.

However, the answer to the question of whether it works lies some time in the future. But at least the politicians will have moved to cool some of the heat they would get if they didn't act at all. They hope the voters will recognize that they have done the proper thing—even though, say some, what they do pass will cost more money than it will save.

If that seems like a contradiction, it is. This is not unusual. We live in a world where contradictions are a staple in the national attitude of the public toward politics. Last month in Governing magazine Alan Ehrenhalt explained this phenomenon as "the inside-out populism of the 1990s."

Theoretically, he pointed out, the political atmosphere has been filled for several years with the huge clamor to tax the rich. The idea has been to level out the 12-year decline in income tax rates for the wealthy and the skyrocketing payroll taxes of the working class.

But it stops at theory. For instance: "President Clinton spoke conspicuously during this first few weeks in office about 'asking the economic elite...to pay their fair share.' But it seems legitimate to point out, amid all the rhetoric...that the rich are not getting soaked. They are barely even moist..."

"Not only do the voters refuse to tax the rich, but they do everything they can to make it hard for their elected representatives to tax anything at all...If that's a populist rebellion, it isn't one that William Jennings Bryan would recognize.

Surely Bryan would have been more than a little puzzled by...Ross Perot. There is no denying the populist mystique of this movement, or of its folksy standard-bearer. The fact remains, however, that this is a movement organized by a billionaire who makes no apology for his life, career or wealth.

"Only in the 1990s could a presidential campaign by a man whose personal fortune exceeds several state budgets, and who seems perfectly content to keep it all, qualify as an instrument of populist rebellion.

"Still, it is a rebellion. Middle-class Americans are angry...But they aren't blaming rich people; they are blaming the politicians...It isn't necessarily that they want these people to keep their fortunes. It may be that they just don't trust government to do anything sensible with the extra money."

Missed band

Editor:

My family enjoyed this year's Henderson Industrial Days celebration from the beauty pageant through the carnival and to the parade. Congratulations to the Chamber on a job well done.

There was one major disappointment in the parade, however. The parade seemed especially quiet, lacking in bands. I had hoped, before attending the parade, that I would have this opportunity to see the band that went to President Clinton's inauguration.

Our community was behind Green Valley High School's effort to send this talented group to Washington, D.C. Why weren't they there to perform for their neighbors in their hometown parade?

Green Valley's junior high schools looked great in the parade, and we welcomed them. Will Green Valley High School continue to shun their hometown and miss the parade next year? I certainly hope not.

Bad landscaping design

Editor:

Clark County recently informed several of my clients that they are denying further land divisions because of lack of water. However, this precious resource, water, doesn't appear to be a problem in the city of Henderson. While I like a beautiful street as well as anyone else, I couldn't believe it when I drove down Boulder Highway recently and saw all the grass that has been planted. Right when everyone is being encouraged to conserve, contemporaneously with property owners being denied valuable rights, the city of Henderson landscapes its streets with grass. This will not only require watering every day, but the city will have to spend tax dollars week after week to have it mowed.

And one final gripe: Even in sections where the city has desert landscaping, instead of having bubblers by each plant, big sprinklers stick up a foot in the air. Thus, it is necessary to water all of the rocks in order to reach the few plants, and when the wind is blowing, the water blows completely across the road, soaking the street (which certainly needs it) and drenching passing cars. One driver (who had probably just washed his car as I had) almost caused an accident by attempting to swerve out of the sprinklers' path. As an attorney, I know that a municipality is liable for faulty road design only if it is put on notice that a dangerous condition exists. Sooner or later, these sprinklers will cause an accident. I hereby put the city of Henderson on notice.

I have been trying to think of a worse landscaping design, but I just can't imagine one. Who's responsible for this? Whoever it is, there is a large group of us whose cars are all spotted from the sprinklers, and we would like to take our cars to the landscaper's house so he can wash our cars.

ALBERT G. MARQUIS, ESQ.

Biased against mining

Editor:

Last week the paper carried an editorial from Charles S. Watson Jr. of the Nevada Outdoor Recreation Association that needs to be answered because it is so inaccurate and biased against the mining industry.

• FIRST LIE: Watson says if you found a boulder of gold veins in your yard, you would lose it to a mining company. If you did find such a deposit and did not take possession of it by staking mining claim yourself, then you would be a fool. In any case, mining companies have no vested interest, and obtain possession by staking or buying claims the same as any citizen can do.

• SECOND LIE: Watson claims Chevron is a trillion dollar company. In fact, their net value is $13.7 billion, less than 1 1/2% of his statement. Most of their production comes from other countries and NOT from public lands. Oil is not a hard rock mineral. After discovery, oil comes out of the ground at relatively low cost. After discovery, hard rock mineral comes out of the ground at high cost.

• THIRD LIE: "We are the only nation idiotic enough to allow all comers to take all metals... off our federal lands without paying the taxpayers for nary a red cent."

None of the other principal mining countries of the world charge a royalty on gross production of mines. All mining companies are subject to corporate, federal, state and local taxes. Many studies have been made on the subject of royalties on mines. These studies show that mineral royalties are a cost which increases the marginal grade for mining, reduces production and mine life causing waste of natural resources. Also, the royalty obtained would be less than the loss in tax revenue. In other words, it is a lose-lose proposition. It has been tried and failed.

• FOURTH LIE: "The family of Judge Roger Foley has filed grandfathered placer claims on 960 acres...etc....the idea is to force the BLM to issue a patent inside this popular recreation area at $2.50 or $5 an acre."

The claims were in violation of the 1872 Mining Law and were invalid. I don't know what Watson means by staking "grandfathered" claims, there is no such thing. There is no "lucrative loophole" in the law. Even if the claims had been found to be valid, they still would have been held to performance and costs in excess of $3,000 to $5,000 per acre, not $2.50 to $5.

On Watson's last statement that "right now" is the time to stop this lunacy, Watson is right, but it is time to stop the lunacy of anti-mining groups and people such as Watson who keep spreading this misinformation to the public.

Candidates, a weak stomach and a fond farewell

After weeks of candidate nights, announcements and having to help write enough copy to fill a paper full of political ads, it didn't hit me until late Tuesday night — when I was finally left alone with a computer at City Hall.

Through April, I hypothesized the primary's outcome with fellow staff members, friends and anyone willing to argue. After seven candidate nights, I could recite speeches and list qualifications faster than you could say "park bond."

As Tuesday loomed, my nerves about had it and my stomach sizzled. I couldn't sleep and lost three pounds.

The Big Day arrived with more guesswork, a last minute tune-up on my calculations and a plea with my stomach to hang on a few more hours. I was obsessed with the polls and the atmosphere around town. Despite a busy day in the newsroom, the election dominated my mind.

I threw a temper tantrum at 11 a.m., after noticing my husband's signature was not above mine in the voting roster at our polling place — despite the fact that the guy still had eight hours left to punch a ballot.

At noon, I just happened to be in a friend's neighborhood, and stopped in to make sure that he too, paid his own visit to the polls.

At 12:30 p.m., not even my lunch date escaped my obsession. Over a plate of egg foo young, I oh-so-tenderly chastised him for not voting and thought I eked out a promise from him to do so later in the afternoon.

By 4 p.m., I had asked fellow reporter Katherine three times if she had voted, each time forgetting the previous occasion.

With all that anxiety, it's no wonder the realization didn't arrive until after I waved goodbye to the final candidate that had hovered over the county computer set up in the city lunch room. As he rounded the corner, it smacked me: I had taken quite a liking to these people.

Granted, my job is going to be a lot more exciting the next few weeks with three enticing face-offs in the general. The trio of elections each pose an old Henderson hopeful with someone from the "other" side — with promises of a competitive battle for Mayor,

Council and Judge.

But I'm going to miss a candidate or two.

These are people I've seen grow, both personally and in the eyes of the community. From the first stumbled words in the first candidates night to the orchestrated soliloquies of the last. From wallflower to professional palm presser. Idiosyncrasies developed into personalities and habits evolved into character.

Bob Groesbeck and Jim Jensen will indeed make the quest for Mayor both dandy and tantalizing. But I will miss Dorothy Vondenbrink's cheerful exuberance and vitality — as well as a strong voice which always penetrated the weak microphone on my tape recorder.

An eager Jack Clark vs. a seasoned Mike Harris will bring many issues to the forefront, but Jeanne Liner's absence will take getting used to. She came on quiet at first, but poised between those two proved her a strong, viable candidate and a woman with heart.

The cheerful, guy-next-door of Terry Davis is a good match for the straight-forward and toughened Ken Proctor, but Don Denison's determination and matter-of-factness will also be sorely missed.

Henderson budded a tasty bumper crop of candidates. Bales of new ideas were introduced, problems pin-pointed and serious questions raised. I hope that each of the contenders who lost Tuesday remain in the community's eye. They entered their races with promises of change, but one need not hold public office in order to initiate it.

Now that the primary is over, I'm going to start all over again: analyzing speeches, catching stumbles and asking questions. Hopefully my stomach can last a few more weeks until June 8, and my husband will continue to believe that I am, indeed, attending yet another candidate night, and not some candlelight conversation with another man.

After a successful candidate forum hosted by the Soroptimists and conducted by my editor, Paul and I, our News team has been booked for an encore performance on May 26. Hope to see you all at the Gibson Library....

Stable tax base = stable education

Last Friday, moms banded together outside the Education Center on Flamingo Road to express their displeasure with Gov. Bob Miller's proposed education budget. Many were holding placards saying, "Gov. Miller, your actions stunk!"

The governor maintains his budget does not represent cuts in education, the moms know better. Any mother knows when costs go up and their budget remains constant, they cannot afford the things they bought previously. That, in effect, is a budget increase.

Miller's budget allocates $3,312 per student for the next biennium, same as the last one. Out of that money comes teacher salaries, books, equipment, paper, pencils, chalk, the cost of running the district. The local districts must also pay for unfunded or underfunded mandated programs out of that allotment. Last year, mandated special education programs accounted for approximately $20 million. When you look at additional burdens the districts must support school police, school nurses, speech and physical therapists, psychiatrists, increased graduation requirements, mailings to parents, electricity, water, breakfast and lunch programs, and the additional cost of the most up-to-date computers and equipment, it's easy to see why these parents are uneasy. They know these costs have not come down.

Add to that an increased student population in the neighborhood of 20,000 students, there is cause for alarm. The local school districts simply cannot afford nor can they be expected to maintain the same level of services with these types of increases. It used to be a math teacher needed her book and chalk, now she needs the book, computers and graphing calculators. The cost of educating our kids in a technically advanced society has gone up.

If I am reading these parents correctly, there will be some legislators not going back to Carson City after the next election. These moms are angry that promises have not been kept by their elected officials. These moms are concerned that many a legislator seems to be in the pocket of special interest lobbyists.

They are threatening to run mothers for legislative seats next session — targeting those they see as holding powerful positions today who have not worked for their children.

Dr. Brian Cram has indicated that he wants a sit down with Miller concerning the education budget. Cram knows full well of the services already cut this year, he also knows it already takes six months or longer to have kids tested for special needs under the last budget. It's my guess Cram wants to make sure the governor realizes in no uncertain terms, that his proposed educational budget will mean even deeper cuts. Those cuts will include course eliminations and much larger class sizes. Miller's budget will hit your child's classroom.

The only solution, the governor and members of the legislator must be willing to pay for the educational programs they said we needed. That can only come with a stable tax base. If these legislators are too timid, these moms intend to replace them the next time around.

Hanlon, a Las Vegas resident who writes a column about education, sits on the State Board of Education, is the administrator for the Clark County School District's Math/Science Institute and is a part-time instructor at UNLV.

All parents want their children to do well in school but only a few are willing to go back to school and re-learn math. Since the beginning of the school year, seven parents have attended an algebra class on Tuesday nights at Basic High School in order to better understand math and help their children.

Sophomore Jimmy Derrick said the program has helped him immensely. "I probably would have flunked the course if it wasn't for taking the class."

Debra Smith, a parent participating in the math class, said her son failed math the last quarter of last year. Math teacher Marilyn Treanor expressed surprise about Smith's son. "He's one of my top students."

Parents spend one hour with Treanor learning what their children learn in class. The parents also do the same homework and take the tests the students take. The premise for the program is to have the children go home and explain to their parents what they have learned.

Treanor believes the students learn more if they can explain the subject. "The first time I really learned math was when I had to teach it." She added that even math teachers learn when they talk out problems with one another.

Jackie Reed, a parent, said she was nervous joining the program. "I was afraid I couldn't keep up. I thought I would do it until I couldn't do it any longer."

Treanor told the parents that when they drop the math course at night, their children's math falls. Homework is not done and test scores suffer, she said.

Algebra is a requirement for students who wish to attend college and is critical for classes at the college level, Treanor said. "It's the language for all mathematics and sciences." Statistics show that 50% of the students in college drop out of calculus, she added.

Senior Center Highlights

Biddle selected as Volunteer of Month

By Chuck Colletta

Marie Biddle, a charming, quiet-spoken, friendly lady has been selected as Volunteer of the Month for May 1993. Biddle volunteers as a receptionist at the Henderson Senior Center. She is also an active and a charter member of Single Seniors. This social group meets weekly for dinner, trips, and other fun activities.

She is a native of West Union, Ohio, where she attended school. She worked for the Air Force Exchange Service while her husband served with the Air Force. Biddle retired in 1975. She is now a widow. She has one daughter who lives in Henderson, two grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Biddle has lived in many of the United States and in North Africa. Her hobbies include traveling, crocheting and reading. Marie, we deeply appreciate all you do for the seniors. Your quiet, efficient approach brings serenity and harmony to the center. Keep up the good work, and we will promise not to tell everyone that your real first name is Ethel!

Reminder

The center will celebrate Mother's Day starting at 11 a.m. Friday. The Black Mountain Nutrition Program will feature a special lunch including roast pork with dressing, green beans, and rosy applesauce. The Young at Heart Senior Band will entertain at 11 a.m. and again play at 12 p.m. Favors will be available. Mothers with special accomplishments will be recognized.

Art Show

The center will host a special art show on Tuesday, May 11. The show will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and feature a display of outstanding paintings. The art class, under the tutelage of LaRue Vining, has been accumulating their best works to show off on that day. If you are a connoisseur of "Objects d'Art," this show is a must. More than 100 paintings will be on display by the senior artists.

La Porta's art wins honorable mention

Local Biblical artist Elayne La Porta recently won honorable mention at an art exhibit at Wheaton College in Illinois.

She was selected among 50 artists nationwide displaying their paintings.

The original oil painting, "Red Sea," continues on display through this month at the Billy Graham Center Museum.

Whitford honored

Walter G. Whitford of Henderson will be honored by the University of Rhode Island Alumni Association for excellence in scientific research next month.

The Alumni Association Excellence Awards winners will be honored at a ceremony during Alumni Weekend Saturday, June 5.

Established during URI's Centennial Year, the Alumni Excellence Awards recognize the achievements of the University's most outstanding alumni while helping current students, a spokesman said. A $1,000 scholarship is awarded to a student of merit in the name of each award recipient.

Marie Biddle, Volunteer of the Month

Health Services

The center will feature a series of health services and seminars during the week.

Dr. Leo J. Spaccavento, an M.D. board-certified in cardiology with Nevada Heart Care, will conduct a seminar on heart disease at the center at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 15. The free seminar is open to everyone. Dr. Spaccavento will also be available to answer questions.

A free hearing screening service will be available at the Center from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Friday, May 14. Hearing Specialists of Nevada will have a representative available to provide these tests.

Health insurance is a subject that is receiving much attention these days. A question of great importance to seniors is the coverage provided by Health Maintenance Organizations. Shannon Thompson, a representative of Health Plan of Nevada, will be at the center at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 12. She will provide current information on programs available through HPN.

At 10:30 a.m. Friday, May 14, Frank Benick from FHP will conduct a seminar on the latest developments in the service and coverage they provide.

The semi-monthly blood pressure testing will be available at the center at 10 a.m. Tuesday, May 11.

Special Events

The Alley Kat (Joe Hallis) will entertain starting at 11 a.m. on Monday, May 10. The Alley Kat has promised to bring a few "kittens" to take part in the show one of these days.

The Project CARE Steering Committee will hold their monthly meeting at the center at noon Monday, May 10. This group joins for lunch and a business meeting follows.

The Senior Employment Service representative will be at the Center from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Tuesday, May 11. This is a free service for seniors looking for employment and for organizations seeking to hire seniors.

Bernadine James, an AARP trained W.P.S. volunteer, will be available at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 11. She is the coordinator for the Center's Widowed Persons Support Group. This newly formed service is dedicated to help those persons who recently lost a loved one.

The U.S. Veterans Affairs representative will be at the center from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. on Wednesday, May 12. Dan Splan, the benefits coordinator, will be available to assist with any questions or problems.

Driver's License Expiring?

Does your Nevada Driver's License expire in the next few months? Have you recently moved to the state and need a Nevada Driver's License? If so, come to the center on Thursday, May 13. Carol Burnside and her assistant will be available from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to issue a current driver's license. The center is proud of this convenient minimum-wait service and the courteous assistance provided.

Obituaries

Rachel A. Stevens

Rachel A. Stevens, 84, died Friday, April 30 at a local hospital.

Born April 15, 1909 in Johnson, Vt., she had been a homeowner in Henderson for 10 years.

She is survived by four daughters, Kathleen Prime of St. Augustine, Fla.; Barbara Grosse of Fultonville, N.Y.; Judith Korona of Fort Johnson, N.Y.; and Marcia Kraynak of Richfield Springs, N.Y.; two sons, Larry Stevens of Henderson; and William Stevens of Dallas, Texas; 16 grandchildren and 22 great grandchildren.

Services were private. Arrangements were handled by Palm Mortuary of Henderson.

John George Casper

John George Casper, 72, died Saturday at a local hospital.

born Nov. 14, 1920 in Carbondale, Pa., he had been a resident of Henderson for 20 years.

He was a retired worker for the government as a mail carrier, and was a Veteran of the United States Army, having served in World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Casper of Henderson; one daughter, Maryann Wilson of Los Angeles, Calif.; one son, Mason Hamlin who resides in England; seven brothers and one sister; four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at 211 Navajo Drive, Henderson.

Arrangements were handled by Palm Mortuary of Henderson.

Tia Green

Tia Bennett Green, 41, died May 1 in the Davis Hospital in Sacramento following surgery.

Green, wife of the late Robert Green, was born in Provo, Utah, in March 1952, the daughter of William R. and Jessie (Taylor) Bennett. She moved with her parents to Henderson in 1954.

She graduated from Basic High School in 1970 with honors. She attended the Nevada Girls State in Reno, was a cheerleader and very active in school politics.

She attended Henegar's Business College in Salt Lake City, Rick's College in Rexburg, Idaho, and graduated from Brigham Young University in Provo.

She married Green, Aug. 16, 1974, in Manti, Utah. After Robert graduated from the University of Utah Medical School, the family moved to California.

She was a runner, a certified aerobics instructor and active in the LDS Church.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died in an airplane crash in March 1991.

Survivors include daughter Aubree L. Green and sons Aaron Robert and Jason Richard Green, all of Red Bluff, Calif.; parents Dick and Jessie Bennett of Henderson; grandparents Buck and Molly Holman of Las Vegas; brothers Dr. Jan T. Bennett of Henderson and Richard J. Bennett of Las Vegas; in-laws Charles and LaRayne Green, David and Wes Green, all of Sacramento; Sharon McCallister and Norma Meyz of Utah.

Funeral services were held in the LDS Antelope Chapel in Red Bluff Wednesday. Services were under the direction of the Bishop of the LDS Antelope Ward.

David 'Butch' Hickey

David "Butch" Hickey, 53, died Sunday at a local hospital.

Born May 10, 1939 in Ada, Okla., he had been a long time resident of Henderson. Living in the area for 47 years.

He was a retired maintenance supervisor, having worked for a mortuary/cemetery.

He was a member of the High Desert Off Road Association, and an honorary member of the Las Vegas Jeep Club.

He is survived by his wife, Barbara Hickey; one daughter, Tina Gilbert; and one son David Hickey, all of Las Vegas. Also his mother, Genendal Hickey of Blue Diamond; two sisters, Linda Thompson and Shirley Ebarb; and one brother Glen Hickey all of Las Vegas.

Services were held Wednesday. Arrangements were handled by Palm Redrock Mortuary of Las Vegas.

Duck Creek bridges under construction

In an effort to improve roadway safety during periods of heavy rainfall, five bridge structures over the duck Creek Wash will be constructed by Clark County at various locations including:

- Warm Springs Road: Work on this $605,000 six-lane bridge began last winter and was completed in April.
- Green Valley Parkway: Currently under construction is a $3.3 million project to connect Green Valley Parkway with Patrick Lane. As part of this project, a four-lane bridge over Duck Creek will also be built.

• La Casita Avenue and Tomiyasu Lane: This $700,000 project is scheduled to begin in mid to late May with construction of concrete flat slab bridges over Duck Creek at these two street crossings. The bridges will provide motorists with one travel lane in each direction.

• Eastern Avenue: As part of a $4 million project to improve Eastern Avenue between Warm Springs Road and Wigwam Avenue, a new four-lane bridge will be constructed over Duck Creek Wash. Work on this project is scheduled to begin in the summer.

Artist reception Friday

Java Centrale will hold a special reception for acclaimed cyber-artist Anthony Bondi at 7 p.m. Friday. The restaurant is located at 2295 N. Green Valley Pkwy. (at Warm Springs Road).

Bondi will be on hand to open the newest showing of his digital collage artwork.

Bondi, designer of the 1991 poster for the city of Las Vegas, uses computer and laser copier technology to create collage pieces that are social as well as aesthetic commentary.

Through the placement and juxtaposition of extreme, often conflicting, images, Bondi is able to make powerful statements, a spokesman said. In one widely reproduced piece, titled "An Exaggeration," Bondi places an exploding mushroom cloud behind a picture of the old La Vegas Convention Center.

The contradictory images of business-tourist mecca and massive destructive force personified by the bomb represents the contradictory aspects of life in Las Vegas that area residents have learned to live with and reconcile over the years, said Bondi, a native of Las Vegas. "The essence of the city is our willingness to feel at home with this bizarre combination of imagery," he said.

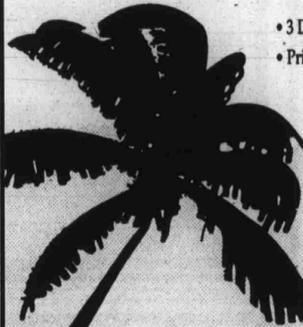

Another piece, "1941," depicts a 15th century sailing vessel headed for oblivion off the edge of the Earth. "Everyone knows what Columbus saw," Bondi said. "I wanted to show what Columbus might have been dreaming. Columbus, more than anybody, confronted the notion of the horizon, the edge."

Hausknecht honored for 30 years service

The congregation of Christ the Servant Lutheran Church held a surprise celebration honoring Rev. Dr. Philip A. Hausknecht and his 30 years in ministry Sunday.

Over the past 30 years Dr. Hausknecht has ministered in Japan, starting mission churches on Hokkodo Island and Kurosaki City and was association pastor of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Tucson and eventually in Henderson to begin the mission church of Christ the Servant Lutheran.

In addition to being full-time pastor for Christ the Servant, Hausknecht has also been involved with campus ministry at UNLV, volunteers for pastoral care at a local hospital, works with AIDS victims and imprisoned teens and adults. Knowing his desire for outreach, members of Christ the Servant and friends of Rev. Hausknecht, were asked to make a donation of either time or monies to a charity or organization of personal interest to them in honor of his 30 years of ministry. During the celebration

Rev. Philip A. Hausknecht

Hausknecht was presented with a basket filled with acknowledgments from this request.

Retire from Page 3

Gehring has been either an assistant principal or principal for the past 20 years. A team of teachers from William Ferron Elementary School left with Gehring in 1979 to open the new school in the Green Valley neighborhood.

He established several traditions when the school opened and he wishes the programs will continue after he leaves. "We tried to build the idea for the kids that they are at the greatest school and before long, they believe it."

One technique Gehring has implemented for school pride is the patriotic program during the morning flag raising by the student council. Students recite the Nate Mack-is-number-one song, along with the Pledge of Allegiance and they also have a 30-second silent meditation.

"We're the only elementary school that has a student council," Gehring said. The school also produces a monthly newsletter which is sent to the parents.

Gehring classifies the school's PTA as the best in the county. "They've donated lots of money." He added that the computer lab at school was attained through parents' donations.

To keep parents involved with the activities at the school, buses are not used on field trips. "We never take buses on field trips. I want parents to see how hard the teachers work. This also gives them a better insight in the programs."

Retirement will not mean Gehring will be idle. He has sent out "feelers" to the private industry. "I hope to put my talents working with people to use in the private sector."

Lady Wolves whip windy weather

OUTTA HERE — Basic shortstop Kelley Haney prepares to slap a tag on a Rancho runner Tuesday at second base during the Lady Wolves' 10-6 win. Basic plays at home Friday against Eldorado at 3 p.m. in its regular season finale.

Basic earns second victory in 'horrible, windy, gross' weather

By Terry Carter
News Sports Editor

The term "mudder" refers to a racehorse that runs exceptionally well in poor weather.

While that term may not sound appropriate for the Basic softball team (2-14 overall, 1-8 in Sunrise), the Lady Wolves have proven to be almost a sure thing in foul weather.

Tuesday Basic ignored 30-40 mile-per-hour gusts and chilly temperatures to post its first Sunrise win of the year over Rancho, 10-6. Playing at home in blowing dust — some called it shrapnel — Basic's game was suspended for five minutes between pitches at one point, Basic head coach Barbara Gillaspay said Tuesday night.

"We had to stop the game for five minutes, I bet. It was a horrible gust, and I told our girls to step out of the box," Gillaspay explained. "They couldn't see the pitch. Then everything would calm down for a minute."

Almost a gale-force blast, the wind blew against the batter, and Gillaspay said few hits made it out of the infield. Still the Lady Wolves found a way to overcome adversity while Rancho struggled.

"We used the wind in our favor. The wind was blowing in hard, and their catcher didn't have that strong of an arm. So we stole second base at will," the Basic coach added.

Struggling most of the year from the mound, Andrea Wise (1-7) picked up her first victory, despite some drama. In seven innings, Wise permitted five singles, walked five and struck out four.

Rancho never mounted a dramatic rally like previous Basic foes, although the Lady Rams (3-10, 2-5) did score three times in the sixth. Wise allowed three hits and three walks in that episode.

Wise came back to post a shutout in the seventh to complete the game and wrap-up the win on the wind-blown afternoon.

Offensively, the Lady Wolves scored in each of six at-bats with major rallies in the third and sixth innings. Kristy Whisman and Natalie Eves each finished 2-for-4, despite wind-aided fast-pitch deliveries.

Whisman had two RBI, and Eves registered one while scoring twice. Kristi Thompson notched the only extra-base hit in the game with a double.

Basic hosts Eldorado Friday at 3 p.m., and Gillaspay is almost hoping for more "horrible, windy, gross" weather. The Lady Wolves first win of the 1993 season came on a soggy field at Cimarron-Memorial. The weather that day was windy, cold and almost flooded.

"Our other win was during an ugly, freezing day. Maybe we need snow or something Friday. We're outstanding in that kind of weather!" Gillaspay concluded.

Standings miss deadline

Two sets of standings regularly filling the News' Sports Briefs column are missing today.

Various standings from the Henderson Parks and Recreation Department (HPRD) and the Henderson Little League (HLL) are absent from today's publication because of computer problems in the sports offices at HPRD.

The cause of the missing HLL standings was unknown at presstime, but both sets of standings are expected to return in next week's issue.

Golfers win easily despite wind storm

Basic posts 230-271 regular-season finale victory over Eldorado

By Terry Carter
News Sports Editor

The scores were high. Penalty shots were plentiful, and Basic still won Tuesday.

Playing at Black Mountain Golf and Country Club in their season finale, Basic (7-5 overall, 7-3 in Sunrise) and Eldorado golfers battled unusually high winds and a drops of rain to post a 230-271 Basic win. Storm conditions never produced heavy rainfall, but winds gusted to 30-40 miles per hour, kicking up dust and debris.

"We didn't play very well with the wind, but a 230 is not a bad score in the wind," Basic golf coach Dennis Smuskiewicz said Tuesday. "Eldorado didn't have any alternates on the course. So I took mine off when the wind picked up."

Basic exchange student Jakob Jensen emerged as the tournament medalist with a penalty-free 43. Anthony Liscio and Ben Browning each shot 45, and Browning had eight penalty strokes on four wind-aided, out-of-bounds shots. Without them, Browning shoots 37 on the par-36 layout.

Johnny Williams, who Smuskiewicz said opened his round in strong form, fired a 48, and Jay Ensworth rounded out Basic's attack of consistency with a 49, the coach added.

WINDY WAYWARD — Basic senior Ben Browning struggled against a 30-40 mile-per-hour wind Tuesday. He suffered four out-of-bounds penalties in his round of 45, but the Wolves still beat Eldorado 230-271.

One more win needed

By Terry Carter
News Sports Editor

Despite pitching difficulties, Basic handed Rancho a 10-4 defeat Tuesday at home. Now the Wolves are one win from clinching their first playoff berth in several seasons.

Combined with Green Valley's 13-5 victory over Chaparral, Basic (20-9 overall, 6-3 in Sunrise) controls its own destiny when the Wolves host Eldorado Friday.

A win by Basic or loss by Chaparral, which hosts Valley, will give Basic the runner-up position in the league. In the past three seasons, Basic has been a contender, only to lose its final game of the season and a playoff berth with the defeat.

Tuesday the Wolves hammered out eight hits, including a home run by junior Ryan Gifford and doubles from Mario Oipari, starting pitcher Mike Marshall and Willie Walker. Even with a strong, gusty wind aiding the batters Tuesday, Rancho (5-13, 1-8) was almost defenseless.

Marshall struggled on the mound for 4 1/3 innings as he walked nine batters while throwing against the 30-40 mile-per-hour gale.

Basic relief

Basic head coach Gary Chaires brought in left-hander Bert Richardson in the fifth after Marshall had given up two walks and hit a batter. He then fanned one before allowing a 2-run double, Basic assistant coach Tom Crine said.

"Mike struggled. He threw 109 pitches in 4 1/3 innings — that's a lot of pitches. Bert came in in the fifth and did a good job. He didn't allow any hits and struck out five," Crine said.

At the plate, Marshall was more productive, finishing 1-for-2 with a 2-run double in the first inning. He also scored once. Willie Walker was 2-for-3 with a double. Gifford launched a solo homer in the fifth to start the final of Basic's three 3-run bursts.

Oipari finished 1-for-4, but his 3-run double propelled the Wolves from a 4-3 lead to a 7-3 advantage. It gave Basic the momentum to avoid a possible upset. Trying to stretch that momentum, Oipari was thrown out at third, however.

The Wolves were helped along by eight walks from Rancho pitching and two hit batsmen.

Basic hosts Eldorado (9-18, 1-8) Friday at 3 p.m.

SPORTCO PREP ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Jakob Jensen

While his Basic golfing teammates have been a bit erratic with some brilliant rounds mixed in,

Jensen, a Basic exchange student, has providing consistency and leadership for his playoff team.

Kerry Sagars

The Green Valley outside hitter has been the Gators' prime-time hitting machine all season. In a key match against Valley Monday, Sagars mashed 18 kills to propel GV to a 3-game win, including a 15-0 finale.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF NEVADA

NOTICE OF HEARING

On March 1, 1993, Southwest Gas Corporation ("Southwest") filed with the Public Service Commission of Nevada ("Commission") an application, identified as Docket No. 93-3004, for approval of a general increase in its rates and charges for services on its southern Nevada system (Southern Nevada Division) and an application for approval of revised depreciation rates, identified as Docket No. 93-3025. Southwest estimates that its proposed rates would increase its overall Southern Nevada Division annual revenues by $9,368,920, or approximately 8.4 percent. The effect of the proposed request for increased revenues on each class of customer or class of service is as follows:

Class	Proposed Increase/(Decrease) Dollars	Percent
Residential	$9,221,845	14.69%
Master Metered Mobile Homes	62,980	7.15
General:
Small	1,247,380	16.19
Medium	1,247,508	6.69
Large	589,515	6.76
Air Conditioning	50	0.05
Water Pumping	(53,540)	(11.60)
Cogeneration	(4,216)	(10.90)
Gas Service for Compression	(8,936)	(13.92)
Street & Outdoor Lighting	(1,754)	(14.72)
Transportation	(2,952,697)	(30.89)
Other	21,385	0.88

The requested additional revenues will cover increases in operating, maintenance and financing costs, as well as increases in taxes. Southwest also proposes to change its rate structure to more accurately reflect the federal regulations that have restructured the interstate natural gas market.

Consumer sessions concerning these filings will be held on June 2, 1993 at 1:30 p.m. in Henderson at the Henderson Convention Center, Meeting Room No. 1, 200 Water Street, and on June 3, 1993 at 7:00 p.m. in Las Vegas at the Las Vegas City Council Chambers, 400 East Stewart Avenue. Details including the location, time and place of the consumer sessions will be published in newspapers of general circulation and provided to broadcast media prior to the consumer sessions.

A public hearing has been scheduled by the Commission to commence on Monday, June 28, 1993, at 9:30 a.m. at the Commission's offices at 4045 South Spencer Street, Suite A44, in Las Vegas, Nevada. Hearings are scheduled to continue the weeks of July 6 and July 12, 1993 at 9:30 a.m. at the Commission's offices at 727 Fairview Drive, Carson City, Nevada and July 19, 1993 at 9:30 a.m. at the Commission's Las Vegas offices at which time all interested persons may appear and be heard. Additional information regarding Southwest's filings may be obtained upon request during normal business hours at any of Southwest's business offices or from the Commission. Southwest's principal place of business is 5241 Spring Mountain Road, Las Vegas, Nevada 89193-8510. Written comments may be sent to the Commission at 727 Fairview Drive, Carson City, Nevada 89710 or at the Dawson Building, 4045 South Spencer Street, Suite A44, Las Vegas, Nevada 89158 and should reference these docket numbers.

Let the games begin...

By Roy Theiss
News Staff Writer

From the agile to the awkward, the Area 4 Special Olympics were host to all types of athletes' abilities last weekend.

From technical acrobatic dives to pyramid standing jumps, from smooth dolphin-like swimming, to doggie-paddle in a life vest, from surgical maneuvering on the soccer field, to coach-assisted running on the track, the games in Henderson showcased athletes' determination, drive and joy.

Clark County Commissioner Bruce Woodbury was the keynote speaker during the opening ceremonies at the Green Valley High School track. The athletes recite the Special Olympics oath, "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt."

Andy Giroux, an athlete from Boulder City, said he likes the competition and the friendship in the Special Olympics. "I like being with new friends and having fun winning lots of trophies."

Giroux is a serious competitor and has been participating in numerous activities in the Special Olympics since he was 8 years old. Winning is constantly on Giroux's mind which helps him excel. He's attended the state games held in Northern Nevada as a skier.

The area games, held at both high schools in Henderson, saw athletes helping athletes. For the third year in a row, approximately 40 football players from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, volunteered to help and coach the special athletes.

Sidney Holmes grew up in Henderson and attended Basic High School before becoming a fullback for the Rebel football team. His interest with the handicapped started long before he became involved with Special Olympics. Holmes' best friend, Chris Reimer, is brother of Brian, a Special Olympian.

Holmes gave Brian pointers before his 50-meter race. After the race, Brian was so excited, he asked what his next event was and immediately started practicing for the long jump. Realizing the toll over-exertion can take, Holmes had to settle the anxious athlete down. "Brian, you have to wait for a while to give your legs a rest," he advised.

The UNLV athletes were not the only celebrities on hand for the Olympics. Actor Mayf Nutter was co-master of ceremonies along with Green Valley High teacher John Barlow. Nutter is famous for his voice as different animals speaking in the Walt Disney movies of the 1960s. He's also starred in Knot's Landing and sung in the folk group, "The New Christy Minstrels," with Kim Carnes.

Nutter became involved in the Special Olympics last year after Teresa Giroux approached him in Orlando. Both were on a business venture and quickly became friends.

Nutter said he became involved "because of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man is what we all have that is common."

In addition to admiring the athletes' courage, Nutter also appreciates the unsung heroes, the workers and volunteers behind the scenes who organize the Special Olympics. "I think it is more important to the community than as individuals may be conscious of. These people are working year round."

The state Special Olympic Games will be June 4-5 at UNLV.

HERE'S TO LIFE

By Marilee Joyce

Springtime Allergies: Nothing to sneeze at!

Even though we Southern Nevadans are blessed with mild winters, most of us get as excited about the coming of Spring as those who live in colder climes. There's just something about Spring that causes us to lace up our sneakers, grab the frisbee and head outdoors for some sun and fun.

But for the estimated 30% of Southern Nevadans who suffer from Springtime allergies, a picnic with family and friends is no picnic. The great outdoors can seem like one great big allergen. Your nose runs, your eyes itch, your lungs fill with fluid and you wheeze. You feel miserable.

What's going on here? Where does this onslaught of nasty symptoms come from? And why don't you feel sick like this during the winter?

Let's take a look at what's going on inside your body. To do that, we'll have to define what an allergic reaction is and why it strikes.

According to Dr. William Wilson of Allergy and Immunology Associates in Las Vegas, some people's bodies perceive some substances as toxic, while other people can handle the same substances with no problem. Allergens include pollen, dust, animals, food and various other substances.

An allergic reaction comes from an overabundance of antibody histamine in the body. Wilson said the body produces and releases histamine to fight what it perceives as a foreign invader. Unless this high amount of histamine is quickly removed from the body, it produces the symptoms we associate with allergies: sneezing, wheezing and other problems that can range from mild to life-threatening.

"I see people with everything from runny noses to skin rashes to severe bronchial asthma," Wilson said, adding some people are so ill when they come to his office that they must be hospitalized.

In Southern Nevada, the major culprits causing your discomfort are mulberry and olive trees. And if you're one of the unlucky ones who's allergic to tree pollens, Spring in Southern Nevada can be a miserable time. Wilson said the mulberry allergy season is roughly mid-March through mid-April, and the olive allergy season follows right on its heels, hitting in mid-April and running through mid-May.

"And if it has been a particularly wet year, the Bermuda grass will pollenate heavily and that'll get you, too," Dr. Wilson said. "Residents here can get a triple whammy."

The doctor says a tree pollen allergic recreation generally follows a predictable pattern: Someone goes outdoors, comes into contact with an allergen and is symptomatic either immediately or within hours.

Reaction time to allergens are as individual as those who suffer, but Dr. Willson said you'll generally be showing signs no later than three days after initial exposure. And without treatment, "you could be in trouble, since pollen counts can stay high with one tree allergy season leading right into the next one."

How much trouble? Wilson warned that while death from tree pollen allergies is rare, it is not unheard of.

"If you have a severe allergic reaction (to mulberry or olive tree pollen) and there is no treatment available to you, it can be very dangerous."

Of course, the hope of allergists such as Wilson is that patients don't reach that life-threatening point. People with known allergies can ward off problems by desensitizing their bodies to allergens. Treatments can be given year-round or approximately six weeks prior to allergy season. Doctors administer a series of shots made from an extract of the pollen.

To treat allergy sufferers who have not undergone desensitization, doctors use antihistamines and inhalers if symptoms are mild, or steroids if symptoms are more serious. Antibiotics are given if a secondary infection sets in.

Springtime allergies are no picnic, but they don't have to be debilitating. If you think you might be allergic to some substance, Dr. Wilson advises you to see an allergist for testing. Then you can begin a personally designed treatment program that will have you looking forward to lacing up your sneakers and breathing in the Southern Nevada Spring air without fear of an allergy attack.

Scouting for Handicapped at Lorenzi Saturday

The third annual Scouting for the Handicapped Activity Day is scheduled from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at Lorenzi Park.

This event is the primary activity for the Boulder Dam Area Council's Scouting for the Handicapped program. There will be Scouts and leaders from various packs, troops and posts helping to demonstrate the motto, "Scouting has a challenge for every boy."

Various activities for Scouts with handicaps will be provided.

Premarital counseling critical to success

Counseling before we get married? Why? When all you maybe thinking about is how much in love you both are. How can there be problems in a marriage so obviously perfect?

Love is beautiful and there is no denying how wonderful it is when two people are so wildly in love that it seems nothing could interfere with the wonder of it. The truth is that those powerful emotions that each of us has had at one time or another, and perhaps still have, are spectacular and should not be ignored.

On the other hand, it is 1993 and we have to take an honest look at two important factors which we all face. During the past decade more than 50% of new marriages end in separation or divorce, and with these staggering statistics we need to explore the reasons for failure and the possibility that everything may not be as it seems.

Many people rush into marriage unprepared. After the passion cools, certain questions arise. We suggest knowing the questions and their answers before taking those important vows.

On the average many spend more than $16,000 between gowns, cakes, invitations and food. Most spend no more time in counseling or in seeking premarital counseling to measure interesting things like compatibility and commonality. Most never explore techniques to improve communications, few prepare by taking parenting classes

COUNSELING CORNER

By Jim Santor and Kathleen Grace Santor

and the majority can't imagine the need to sit and investigate who the other person really is — how the other person thinks, acts and reacts to certain situations.

Much too often, couples in the early stages of a loving relationship are more interested in the heat of passion rather than in how the mixture of the two will blend in the recipe of marriage.

Marriage and premarital counseling are perhaps the most important commitment that two people can make. We suggest that premarital counseling should be the launching pad for successful marriages. In good premarital counseling the couple should explore with the counselor the ingredients to the successful marriage. The counselor should provide guidance on the course to be taken and the avenues to greater growth and unity in the marriage.

It is important to assess both strengths and weaknesses, how to reinforce and improve those areas that may need work to make the relationship everything you both want and desire.

We suggest that every couple preparing for marriage find a reputable, licensed marriage and family therapist that may help you in your quest for the perfect marriage.

New birth control option approved

Last fall, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved Depo-Provera, an injectable contraceptive that protects against pregnancy for three months. This contraceptive, which has been available for 20 years in some parts of the world, is currently being used by nearly 10 million women in 90 countries, including Britain, France, Germany, Sweden, and The Netherlands.

Although the FDA was concerned for many years about animal studies that raised questions about increased breast cancer risk, recent large studies in humans have shown that the drug does not lead to cancer. In fact, some studies have indicated that the drug may help protect against endometrial cancer.

Depo-Provera contains a synthetic version of the female hormone progesterone, which works by blocking ovulation. It is about 99% effective in preventing pregnancy. For continued protection, a woman must have four shots a year—once every three months. The drugs must be administered by a health professional.

The best candidates for Depo-Provera are women who cannot take estrogen-based oral contraceptives and who want an effective, reversible form of contraception. Obese women over age 35 and patients with certain blood disorders are among the groups that may be well-suited for Depo-Provera use. Injectable contraceptives may not be a good choice for women who want to bear children in the future because resumption of ovulation can be delayed for up to a year. It also is not recommended for women who have unexplained vaginal bleeding; acute liver disease; breast cancer; or blood clots in the lungs, legs, or eyes.

Irregular bleeding is the most common side effect of Depo-Provera. Some women also experience weight gain, headaches, mood changes, dizziness, and decreased libido with use of this contraceptive. Many of these side effects are similar to those associated with oral contraceptives and Norplant.

Although Depo-Provera offers women in the United States a new birth-control option, it is not for everyone. If you want to know more about the benefits and risks of this contraceptive, you should talk to your doctor or another health professional.

Hollis is president of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

Drug-free celebration planned

An estimated 1,000 students, parents and teachers involved in substance abuse prevention clubs throughout Clark County schools will converge for a drug-free celebration on Saturday at Freedom Park in Las Vegas.

Festivities for the "Spring Drug-Free Celebration" will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the park, Mojave and Washington. The event will culminate drug awareness week. Activities include games, a rec-mobile, singing and dancing presentations, a display of race cars and street rods, a visit by crime fighting canine McGruff and a live broadcast by radio station KLUC.

Attending will be students, parents and teachers affiliated with various substance abuse prevention organizations in local schools. Those include "Just Say No," DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education), S.A.D.D. and other classroom groups.

More information is available by calling the Substance Abuse Education Office of the Clark County School District, 799-8413.

I'd Rather Be Boating

By Don Holladay

One of the most famous marine remarks in these United States is, "a boater's two happiest days is the day he buys it, and the day he sells it." This has been true for countless Americans over the past 20 or so years. I have a feeling that we in Clark County are at the start of experiencing that land "lubbbers" remark.

In my case, I am looking forward to my next boat. I know exactly what I am going to have. It is only held up by economics. Being of this frame of mind, I am always looking in the "For Sale" sections of national boating magazine, on the bulletin boards of our various marinas, and especially looking over the local classified sections. The number of used boats within these lists is somewhat staggering.

It is impossible to know whether the advertiser is selling the boat in order to buy a new one, has decided to get out of boating or can no longer afford the hobby. Regardless of the reason, the Clark County market place is quietly becoming loaded with used boats. These are not the "fat cat" big boats of Florida and Southern California, but the smaller ski, fishing and cruising boats. They are mostly power boats, very few sailboats. Most are boats dealers have sold locally over the past few years.

Unless you are looking for a boat, or like to stay abreast of the market, you would have no reason to watch these lists grow.

Like any other boater who has been on Lake Mead or Mohave more than 25 years, I have dreaded the time when these beautiful waters would become congested with an over-populated number of boats. But then as people move into Southern Nevada and dealers sell more boats, the time may be coming faster than any of us figured.

While the boat population appears to be growing, it is interesting to see the number of local major dealers close their doors. For economics, or just wanting to get out? There is a time when you could find a boat dealer with his store on the lake. This was in addition to all the dealers on Boulder Highway. But the last couple of years has been tough on the boat as well as the RV dealer.

I guess one could call today a buyer's market when it comes to boats. Even more so than cars, though the competition in boats is a little more gentle. But then a car is a necessity.

If you are in the market for a new or used boat, start with a local dealer, but go to the local classified before any final deal. This mainly applies to boats ranging from 16 to 28 feet. For the best selection of larger boats, you either order new or head for California. There never has been a decent selection of larger pre-owned boats in Southern Nevada.

To many of us, our two happiest moments is the moment we buy our first boat, and the moment find our second boat.

This space has never been designed as a "fishing column," but I would like to pass on some professional bits of information that might make your amateur bass fishing standings more productive during this spring.

During their pre-spawning in early spring, bass become very aggressive eaters. Fish in shallow water. Bass move into shallow preparing to spawn. They are looking for food and water of 52 degrees or warmer. Buy an inexpensive fishing thermometer. Right now, the north and west shores are the warmest.

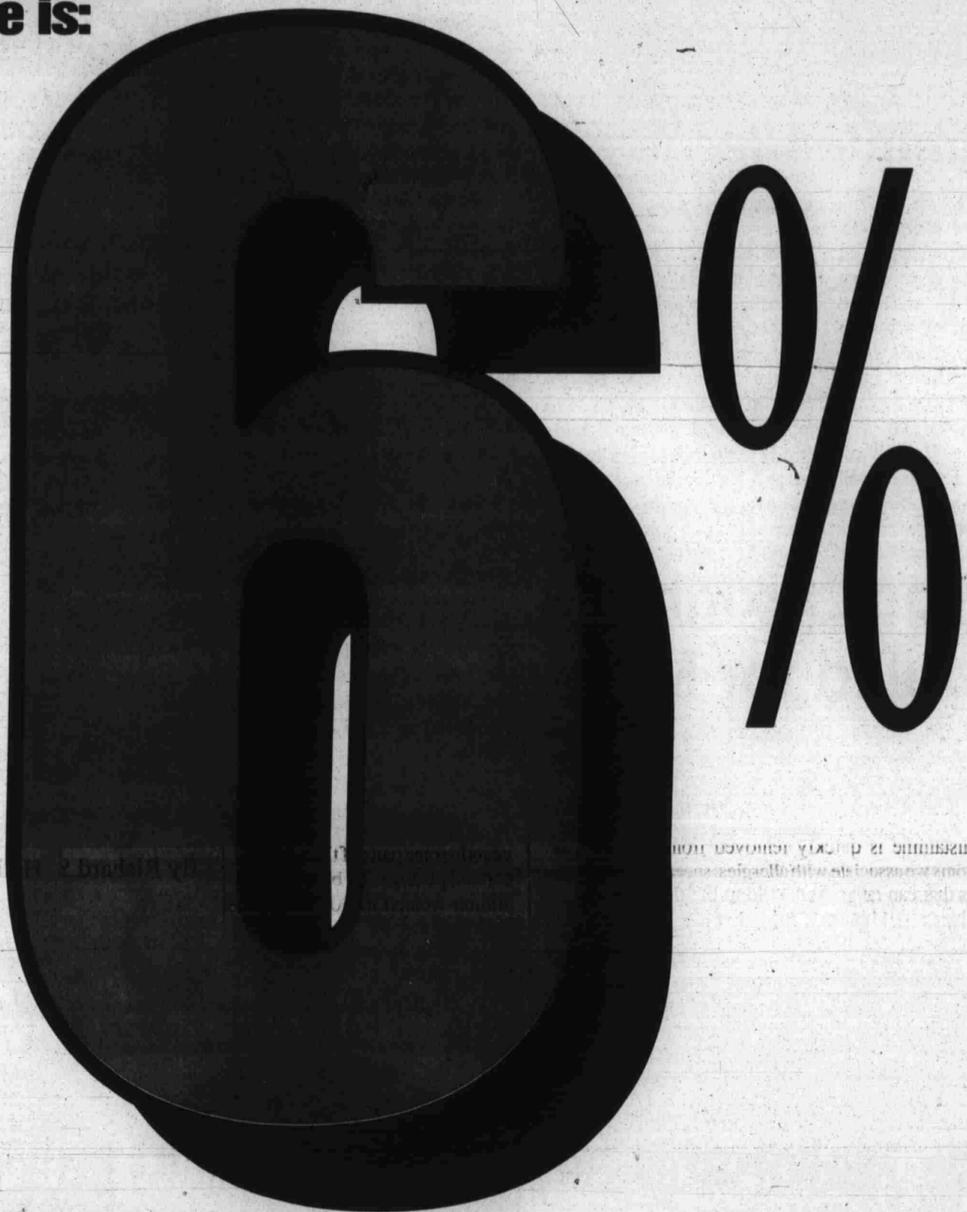

Jigs, crankbaits and spinnerbaits are presently the most effective.

Work your lures slower in the cold water, but faster in the warm water.

Don't be afraid to fish in the weeds. Bass are always looking for cover. Look for drop-offs. There are areas to take cover in the wall of a drop-off. Additionally, rocky shores on uninhabited islands have produced some of the biggest bass in Southern Nevada.

Lines from the Lanes

By Ruth Soehlke
HENDERSON BOWLERS READY TO ROLL: The meeting for women who have anxiously waited these past four years for bowling lanes in Henderson was held at the Senior Center April 28. A few women representing the Las Vegas Women's Bowling Association were among the 37 attending, plus Bud Lang, owner of Sunset Lanes and the (tentatively called) McNamee Mining Lanes. Lang told of the equipment — all automatic, meeting rooms and bar which will serve light foods as well as drinks. More lanes are planned for the Boulder Highway house when the need arises, but for now 16 lanes have been installed. Sunset Lanes will have 40 lane when completed in August.

Phyllis Morris is coordinating bowling schedules in Henderson proper and Lois Brooks at Sunset Lanes.

HWBA BACK IN BUSINESS: Rochelle Neige was elected president of the Henderson Women's Bowling Association, newly rechartered with the Women's International Bowling Congress. Neige comes from Cleveland, having served many years as president of the women bowlers in that area. Pat Mahoney, president of the Henderson Housewives League, was elected vice president of the association. Cindy Oswald, formerly secretary for the junior bowlers, will serve as HWBA secretary, Ruth Soehlke treasurer, and Barbara Jager sergeant-at-arms.

Directors elected for a two-year term are Myr Deputy, Phyllis Morris, and Marsha Roland. One-year term directors elected are Betty Wages, Lori Musa and Marie Corn.

We are ready to roll when the doors open about June 7. Come bowl with us. Bring the family, join a league and enjoy some real wholesome fun. Bowling is for everyone.

SENIOR LEAGUES FORMING: Al Dolfi would like all seniors (55 and over) to join a league. There will be a mixed senior league on Monday and Wednesday at 1 p.m. If you wish to bowl Wednesday, call Al, 565-9643 (8 a.m. to 5 p.m.). Those who wish a Monday afternoon of fun should call Este Byrne, 293-7361, also from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Both are for a short summer league and winter leagues.

WIBC DELEGATION OK'S MEMBERSHIP INCREASE: Rochelle Neige just returned from competing in the Women's International Bowling Congress Annual Championship Tournament in Baton Rouge, La. She reports a lot of rain and high humidity made bowling in centers without our accustomed air conditioning did not make for high scores. However, the delegates to the WIBC annual convention did vote for higher membership dues. The WIBC membership card will cost Henderson bowlers $10.25 for 1993-94 — $6 for WIBC, $1.25 for Nevada WBA and $3 for HWBA.

The 1994 WIBC championship tournament will be held in Salt Lake City for the first time; Tucson, Ariz. follows in 1995, Buffalo, N.Y. in 1996 and then the big open in 1997 will bring all bowling enthusiasts to the new National Bowling Center in Reno.

MAGNUM MIXER LEAGUE RESULTS: The struggle for the top four places became a little tighter. The last league night's position round next week has five teams in contention for Bonus money and the league championship. The Crushers, with a four-point lead is followed by No Ten Pin with a half-a-point lead over Too Light To Quit. The Mixed Nuts have a three-point lead over the Internationals with the Bonus money only going to the top four places — point money to all teams.

A tip of the hat to Carol Gatewood on receiving a WIBC 75 pins over average patch for her great 196 game. Pam Curish gets a 100 pins over average award for her 268 game earlier. Pam also receives a 125 pins over series patch for her 691 bowled at the same time. Marilyn Parker receives a 125 pins over average patch for a 678 scratch and a 75 pins over average for a 255 game bowled on the same night.

This week's highs by John Dorsett 224-220-643, John Parker 207-203-598, Barry Thomas 200-592, John Pollard tied high game with 224-587, Jim Wallace 208-565, Jerry Crews 209-554, Glenn Mercier 538.

Cookie Crews led the ladies with 215-200-607, Pam Curish 524, Marilyn Parker 513 and Ernestine Cooke 506.

BLACK DIAMOND TRIO RECORDS JOHN PARKER'S 300 GAME: Wow! What a year. When there is a 300 bowled, you never expect another 300 a week later, but a great big wow goes to John Parker for his first 300 game. Parker bowled a 169 and 165 then moved his mark six boards, his feet 12 boards, and found the 1-3 pocket on all 12 shots, putting an exciting conclusion to the last league night and the last game of the league for league awards.

Cookie Bears had to win one game to cinch the league championship and that's exactly what they did, on the last game. Congratulations to Champions Tom Holmes, Richard Cogswell and Sparkie Jacobs. Second-place team was Letty Helmstadt, Greg Laughman and Bob Helmstadt.

Ralph Fernandez rolled a big 267-228-205 for an even 700 series. Greg Laughman a 222-224-

Red Rock programs scheduled for May

The Bureau of Land Management has scheduled several programs during May at Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area.

An easy, two-mile Willow Spring/Lost Creek Loop hike is scheduled for Monday, May 10. Willow Spring passes through a variety of plant communities and Indian roasting pits. Lost Creek features a water fall with year-round water flowing.

A program on photographing cultural resources is scheduled for Wednesday, May 12. The program will be led by a local photographer. Short-hikes are included in the program. A three-mile hike through the Calico Hills Wash is scheduled for Friday, May 14.

All activities start at the Red Rock Canyon Visitor Center. Reservations are required and limited. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

For more information and to make reservations, call the Visitor Center, 363-1921. The Visitor Center is open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Service Merchandise sets MDA fund-raiser

The Muscular Dystrophy Association recently announced that Service Merchandise has renewed its commitment to MDA and will implement an exciting fund-raiser, a "Diamond Dig," May 15-16.

Quarter carat diamonds and cubic zirconias will be randomly placed into 500 plastic eggs.

Customers are invited to select a plastic egg for a $1 donation to MDA in hopes of finding a diamond or cubic zirconia inside.

All of the funds raised will go directly to benefit the Southern Nevada Chapter of MDA and the more than 280 registered clients.

Hopscotching across sports world

What appeared to be a stunning upset in the Kentucky Derby wasn't all that shocking to many Las Vegas bettors.

"We got smoked," said Norm Kelley, race book director at Sam's Town. "All the radio guys jumped on Sea Hero and Jay Richards went with a whole column on Sea Hero in Friday's paper. Locals, which is our main business, just followed what they heard and read."

There was no super horse this year and the pre-race favorite, Prairie Bayou, was not a "people's choice" type horse. As a result the once-a-year horse bettors relied heavily on tipsters.

I like a long shot to win but unfortunately it wasn't Sea Hero. Wallenda was my choice with a link to Prairie Bayou for an exacta and quinella. After getting down

Brando's Turn

By Jim Brann

on my choice early Saturday at Sam's Town, I looked a little harder at Sea Hero and bet him to win. I was heavy on Wallenda but should have got into the exotic betting on a small scale with Sea Hero to Prairie Bayou. Didn't though, and that's horse racing.

Wallenda drew an impossible post and just hit a wall of horses. He was beat before he could untrack.

Sea Hero could become a super horse this year and I look for him to win the Triple Crown.

Saturday's World Boxing

Council heavyweight fight between Lennox Lewis and Tony Tucker at the Thomas & Mack has all the potential of being a pier six brawl.

Tickets are a little steep—$50-$80—but a crowd of 10,000 is expected. There are two other title fights on the card with three other fights on the undercard.

Lewis is a 6/1 favorite but I like Tucker at plus 4/1.

The Padres' Tony Gwynn would like to face Meis pitchers all year. In weekend series, he went 11 for 14 including a 5 for 5 night. He should reach 2,000 career hit sometime around All-Star Game.

The Cubs had a tough decision with the return of Ryne Sandberg. Replacement Jose Vizcaino was batting over .330 and fielding flawlessly. Sandberg made the move easy, though, with his timely hitting and defensive work.

It's early, I know, but Barry Bonds is a lead pipe cinch for Most Valuable Player honors. Whew, is this guy hot! And it seems that every night he is featured on the highlight film with a spectacular catch.

The New York Mets are the most pitiful team in baseball. At least new franchises Colorado and Florida have excitement.

Atlanta Braves bats better find some hits before the natives get more restless. Pitching has held to form but offense is putrid. Maybe current road trip will rev them up.

Eastern swing will bring California Angels back to earth. Still they have generated enthusiasm in Anaheim and is a young team on the rise.

Ex-Las Vegas Stars catcher Sandy Alomar is back on the disabled list. This is the fourth time in three years and you have to be concerned about the back problems he's having.

And, that's as far as I go.

Brann, a Henderson resident, writes a column about the sports world.

Cathedral picnic area closed for season

The Cathedral Rock Picnic Area at Mt. Charleston will not be open to the public this season due to a highway construction project, according to Las Vegas District Ranger Jim Tallerico.

"Closure will be in effect until October for both the Picnic Area and the Cathedral Rock Trailhead while the Federal Highway Administration constructs a traffic loop at the end of State Highway 157 in Kyle Canyon," Tallerico announced.

"This closure will not affect the Mt. Charleston Restaurant and Lounge located adjacent to the Cathedral Rock Picnic Area, but recreationists are advised to use alternative trails and picnic areas at Mt. Charleston, such as Foxtail Group Area in Lee Canyon, on State Highway 156," Tallerico said. To make reservations for the Foxtail Group Area, call MISTIX, 1-800-283-2267.

"Hikers can reach Charleston Peak by other routes such as the Mary Jane Trailhead and the nearby Trail Canyon Trailhead which are located in Kyle Canyon. Hikers can also access Charleston Peak from the North Loop Trail from Deer Creek Road (State Highway 157) and Harris Springs Road," Tallerico said.

Traffic controls, including weekday delays up to 15 minutes, should be expected during the summer months over the uppermost segment of highway in the canyon, according to Tallerico. The purpose of the highway project is to improve traffic flow at the top of Kyle Canyon where gridlock has occurred during peak periods of summer and winter recreation use by the public, he added.

Rotary auction Saturday

Many area businesses have made generous donations to the Henderson Rotary Club for their first annual Building Materials Auction Saturday at the Southwest Gas Service Center, 1239 S. Boulder Highway.

The preview will be at 7 a.m. and the auction, under the leadership of Mike Roberts, will begin at 9 a.m.

Paint, doors and windows, electrical and plumbing supplies, ready mix concrete and more will be available.

Basic High School's Interact Club, sponsored by Rotary, will serve refreshments.

BC Hospital sponsors golf tourney

Boulder City Hospital will host its third annual Charitable Hospital Golf Tournament on Saturday, June 12 at the Boulder City Golf Course.

This year's tournament will have a 7 a.m. Shotgun Start, and is open to local residents, as well as businesses who may wish to sponsor one or more teams. Proceeds from the tournament will be donated to the Boulder City Hospital Special Projects Fund.

Ray Bernardi, director of ancillary services at the hospital and tournament coordinator, said he is pleased with the community's response to date, but notes that openings still exist for those who wish to participate. He also noted that the event represents a day of fun and recreation among friends, while helping to improve the hospital.

"As a non-profit hospital, such events are important to us, as they help make possible the purchase of hospital equipment and technology, and the improvement of existing services through the proceeds. It's a very worthwhile event," Bernardi said.

The following specifics are provided:

The entry fee will be $55 per player, which includes greens fee, cart, refreshments on the course, and barbecue.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three teams, and prizes for the longest drive and Closest to Pin #7.

A new 1993 Nissan Maxima will be awarded for a hole-in-one on the Par 3 Hole #17. The car was donated by Gary Hanna Nissan of Las Vegas.

The cutoff date for entry is June 7. The tournament is limited to first 144 players.

Sponsorships are welcomed.

Proceeds to be donated to the Boulder City Hospital Special Projects Fund. For more information on the event, call Ray Bernardi, (702) 293-4111, Ext. 574.

BIG PRIZE — A new Nissan Maxima will be the prize for a hole-in-one on the Par 3 Hole #17 at the Boulder City Hospital Tournament. The Maxima is being donated by Gary Hanna Nissan of Las Vegas. This year's event is the third year of the annual charitable event, whose proceeds go toward the Boulder City Hospital Special Projects Fund.

Big game hunting tag decreases recommended

By David K. Rice

Nevada hunters will see fewer big game hunt tags this year due to an abnormal loss of animals blamed on the combination of six years of drought and a long tough winter, according to Department of Wildlife.

The department is proposing to cut buck deer tags by 35% compared to last year's quota, with antelope tags dropping 20%. The largest reduction recommended by NDOW is for antlerless deer (doe) tags that would be cut 81% if approved by the Wildlife Commission this month.

Biologists base their deer population figures on aerial counts conducted each fall and again the following spring. The loss of deer, mainly fawns, over the winter period is then calculated, according to Mike Hess, big game staff biologist in the Department's Reno office.

"Generally speaking, deer herds north of I-80 were hit very hard this past winter, with the most significant losses found in northwestern and northeastern Nevada, Hess said. "In some areas, aerial surveys indicate that nearly the entire population of young deer was lost.

"Feed conditions have been very poor for the last three years because of the drought, and deer entered the winter in very poor body condition. What little food that was left was soon covered by above-normal snow depths throughout most of the state, and the deer starved," Hess said.

In addition to aerial surveys, the department has conducted a number of recent ground searches known as carcass counts. Hess said that these counts, although limited in scope, have documented that a significant number of adult animals perished this past year in addition to high fawn losses.

He says that there was nothing anyone could do to save the deer. "We knew that when we finally did return to more normal precipitation levels that a heavy price would be paid in the loss of a significant number of animals."

Although feed conditions look very good for deer this year, Hess says that pregnant female deer that did survive are still in very poor shape, and may not carry their young to the June birthing period.

"If reproduction is low this summer, we may not see the herds reach their lowest level until next year, so we may not be out of the woods yet."

The number of archery and muzzleloader deer hunting tags are also proposed to drop this year, as will tags allotted to nonresidents in all deer hunt categories.

The total quota hunting system, initiated by NDOW in 1976, is used annually to allot hunting tags for deer and other big game species within safe allowable harvest levels for each hunting area or unit.

Hess said that desert bighorn sheep have responded favorably to much improved precipitation levels in Southern Nevada, and the department is recommending an increase of 10 tags over last year.

Big game hunting season dates were established by the State Wildlife Commission in February. The commission will meet Saturday at NDOW's Reno office to set tag quotas for all big game species.

Genealogical Society Conference set for June

By Ralph T. Briggs
Genealogist and Historian
The Genealogical Council of Maryland and the National Genealogical Society (NGS) announce "A Chesapeake Homecoming," a conference for genealogists and family historians.

The conference will be held at the Baltimore Convention Center June 2-5. A variety of lectures, workshops and luncheons will be offered. The programs will highlight resources and research centers of the Chesapeake states and their immediate neighbors, major ethnic groups that settled in the region, and migration from Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania to other parts of the country. Genealogists of all skill levels will find topics of use in their research endeavors. It will be particularly helpful to those who are searching ancestors known to have lived or migrated in/through this area.

Of help will be those lectures and workshops on the use of computers in genealogy and a large exhibit area. Computer topics scheduled include "What Hardware and Software do I Need to do my Genealogy?" "Computers for Genealogists—How to Buy, Set-Up and Using Them" "Desk-Top publishing your Genealogy with Scanned Graphics and "An Holistic Approach—Choosing Computer Software to Support the Research Process."

Workshops specifically on the use of PAF, Roots III, Sesame, Family Roots, and Everyone's Family Tree will also be offered. The exhibit area will showcase the latest in genealogy products (publications, hardware and services).

The downtown Inner Harbor Area of Baltimore is a most comfortable setting for this NGS conference. The Sheraton Inner Harbor Hotel has been designated as the NSG Conference Headquarters. It is connected to the Baltimore Convention Center by a skywalk. The NGS has also secured conference rates at other nearby hotels. This columnist highly recommends this NGS conference, since being a member for some time and having participated in the last one at Fort Wayne, Ind. This will also celebrate the 90th birthday of NGS. For the full program and registration brochure, write to: 1993 NGS Conference in the States, 4527 17th Street, North Arlington, Va. 22270-2399, or call (703) 525-0050.

The Public Library's Family History Department at Lawton, Okla., is collecting genealogy on the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache (KCA) Indian tribes. They believe their collection to date is the only one of its kind in the U.S. and contains information not found in the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA). To date their collection contains Indian census rolls; the land allotment lists, a copy of the BIA for Anadarko, Okla. probate and vital records; and the Indian-Pioneer History Collection compiled by the WPA in the 1930s. The library is seeking family genealogy books, ancestral charts (family group record sheets and pedigree charts), biographies, and any material containing any information about KCA families or tribal history. This collection is open to the public during regular hours: Monday-Thursday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Sunday 1 to 5 p.m. Call Paul Follett, librarian, for further information, (405) 581-3450.

Briggs, a valley resident, writes a column about genealogy.

WE'LL BEAT ANY RATE IN THE STATE.

Right now, but not forever, U.S. Bank will beat any qualified fixed consumer instalment loan rate offered by any commercial or savings bank in the state. And we'll beat it by enough to give you the least expensive loan you can find. All you do is the shopping.

We do ask you to have, or open, a U.S. Bank checking account, and have monthly loan payments automatically deducted. But as requirements go, that one is easy. It also happens to be pretty convenient.

ANY LOAN THEY CAN MAKE, WE CAN MAKE BETTER.

Every week, we'll monitor loan rates at all major commercial and savings banks. We'll then set competitive rates for every consumer loan we offer, from auto loans to home equity.

So you can get a very good deal, even without shopping. But to make sure you're getting the best deal possible, check around. If you find a rate that's better than what we're offering, just let us know about it. Once we verify the specifics of that other loan, we'll cheerfully beat it.

HOW LOW CAN

WE GO?

Basically, we'll beat the published loan rate

you bring us by .10%, and match any other loan fees that are part of that same offer.

Even the restrictions are reasonable. First, the offer is for new loans only. And second, it can't be used in combination with other U.S. Bank coupons or reduced offers currently in effect.

So how do you get started? Just stop by any branch of U.S. Bank. Or call our U.S. LOAN LINE,™ toll-free, at 1-800-654-1400. If you'll do a little shopping, we'll give you an unbeatable rate. It's the least we can do.

And here's a few words from the legal department. This is a limited time offer subject to credit approval. May be withdrawn at any time. Offer excludes our competitors' special promotional rates not offered to the general public. ©1993 U.S. Bank of Nevada. Member FDIC.

LIMITATIONS ON REVENUE OF LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Article X, Section 2, of the Constitution of the State of Nevada limits the total taxes levied by overlapping governmental units within the boundaries of any county (i.e., the county, school district, the state, or any other city, town, or special district) to $5 per $100 of assessed valuation. Furthermore, the 1979 Nevada legislature enacted provisions whereby, commencing July 1, 1979, the combined tax rate was reduced to $3.64 per $100 of assessed valuation.

In addition to the Constitutional and statutory limits placed on tax rates, the Nevada Legislature enacted several statutes designed to limit overall growth in local government revenues. Prior to the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1981 revenues from property taxes were the major source of local government operating resources. However, the 1981 Legislature enacted "tax shift" legislation designed to reduce the dependence of local governments on property taxes in favor of revenues from sales and use taxes. The combined sales and use tax was increased from 3.5 percent to 5.75 percent with the resulting incremental tax receipts distributed to local government to reduce the amount they otherwise would be required to generate from property taxes in order to operate.

NRS 354.59805 sets forth the basic calculation by which sales tax revenues are utilized to reduce the amount collected from taxes ad valorem. The maximum amount a local government, other than a school district, a district formed to provide an emergency telephone number, or a redevelopment agency, is permitted to receive from ad valorem taxes, other than those levied for payment of bonded indebtedness, including interest, or a capital lease entered into before April 30, 1981, is determined by first multiplying the tax rate certified for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1981, by its assessed valuation as equalized for the collection of taxes during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1982. The resulting product is then reduced by the estimated amount of supplemental city-county relief tax expected to be distributed to the local government during the fiscal year for which the taxes ad valorem are to be levied. This Supplemental City, County Relief Tax (SCCRT) estimate is prepared annually by the executive director of the Nevada State Department of Taxation.

The maximum allowable taxes ad valorem may also be further reduced by the provisions of NRS 354.59811 which was enacted to limit increases in ad valorem taxes from the base established at the time of the "tax shift." For each fiscal year beginning on or after July 1, 1983, a local government's revenue from taxes ad valorem, except those levied for debt service, is limited by determining the tax rate which, when applied to the current fiscal year's assessed valuation of all property on the preceding fiscal year's assessment roll, yields 1.06 percent of the revenues received from taxes ad valorem in the preceding fiscal year. This rate is then applied to the total assessed valuation, including new real property, possessory interest and mobile homes, for the current fiscal year.

The maximum revenue a local government may receive from the combination of supplemental city-county, relief tax and taxes ad valorem excluding any tax levied ad valorem for debt service, is also limited by statute NRS 354.59816 provides that the maximum combined SCCRT and taxes ad valorem is determined by adding the assessed valuation for the preceding fiscal year, excluding net proceeds of mines, to the product of that assessed valuation and 100 percent of the proportionate increase in the Consumer Price Index during the previous calendar year. To this sum is added the assessed value of new real property, possessory interests and mobile homes added to the rolls in the past year. The percentage increase that this total represents over the previous year's assessed valuation is the maximum percentage by which the combined SCCRT and taxes ad valorem may increase over the previous year.

By the provisions of NRS 354.5982, a local government can exceed the limits imposed by NRS 354.59805, 354.59811 and 354.59816 only if its governing body proposes to its registered voters an additional levy ad valorem specifying the amount to be derived, the purpose for which it will be expended, and its duration. The levy must then be approved by a majority of the voters voting on the question. Furthermore, any actual revenue received in excess of the maximum combined allowed revenue must not be expended in the year collected but instead be used to reduce the maximum amount which may be derived from taxes ad valorem in the ensuing fiscal year.

The Nevada Legislature has also enacted certain statutes designed to limit increases in other local government revenues, specifically, fees for licenses and permits and service charges.

Per the provisions of NRS 354.5989, the total revenue derived from fees for licenses and permits issued for revenue or regulation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1982 is the base from which the maximum allowable revenue from such fees must be calculated for subsequent years. To the base must be added the sum of the amounts equal to the product of the base multiplied by:

- Eighty percent of the proportionate increase in the Consumer Price Index from January 1, 1982, to January 1 next preceding the fiscal year from which the calculation is made; and
- The quotient of the assessed value of new property added to the rolls since July 1, 1982, divided by the assessed valuation, of all property except that which is added.

In addition to this limit on total fees from licenses and permits, a local government may not increase any fee for a license or permit which is calculated as a percentage of the gross revenues of a business if its total revenues from such fees have increased during the preceding calendar year by 80 percent or more of the increase in the CPI. Furthermore, any ordinance or resolution enacted in violation of the provisions of NRS 354.5989 is void. Local government's ability to set service charges is set forth in NRS 354.5985. Any service charge in effect on July 1, 1981, may be increased to the extent necessary to comply with any covenant relating to securities if revenues from the charge is pledged for repayment. Likewise, service charges can be increased to the extent reasonably necessary to recover the actual costs of providing the service, including the upkeep of any related property. On the other hand, a local government must submit any other proposal to increase a charge, or any proposal to impose a new charge, to the Nevada Tax Commission.

ASSESSMENT OF PROPERTY

The Nevada Revised Statute 361.225 mandates that the assessed value of real and personal property should be based on a ratio of thirty-five (35%) percent of taxable value which is determined through guidelines and procedures established by the Nevada Department of Taxation. These guidelines and procedures must be in accordance with NRS 361.227.

The County Assessor is required to physically inspect and reappraise all property in his jurisdiction at least once in a five (5) year period. All property not reappraised must be factored annually using factors approved by the Nevada Tax Commission. Most assessments will increase annually as a result of this factor.

Vacant land is appraised at full cash value based on its lawful best use taking into consideration any restrictions placed on it by zoning, topography, utilities and others uses of land in the area. Improved land is appraised consistent with the use of the improvement located thereon. Any improvement is appraised at its replacement cost less all applicable depreciation. Normal depreciation is calculated at 1.5 percent of current replacement cost for each year of adjusted actual age to a maximum of 50 years.

Personal property is appraised based on its estimated life as determined by guidelines established by the State Department of Taxation.

Taxable value determined by the Assessor may not exceed full cash value. If the taxpayer believes that his taxable value exceeds the full cash value of his property, he must call this to the attention of the Assessor and follow the appeal procedure outlined in Chapter 361 of the Nevada Revised Statutes.

DETERMINATION OF COMBINED TAX RATES

The combined tax rate that is used to determine the taxes owed on property located in Clark County is a combination of several of the tax rates listed above plus those levied by the State of Nevada. The combined tax rate varies from taxing district to taxing district depending on what political subdivision can tax the property in a particular taxing district. The combined tax rate can be determined by following the steps set forth below:

- BASE TAX RATE — All property in Clark County is subject to the following tax rates per $100 assessed valuation:

COMBINED RATE
State of Nevada	0.1440
County School Maintenance & Operation	0.7500
County School Debt (Bonds)	0.4435
Clark County General Operating	0.4063
Clark County Family Court	0.0192
Clark County Cooperative Extension	0.0100
Clark County Debt (Bonds & Interest)	0.1126
State Indigent Trust	0.0150
Medical Asst to Indigent Persons	0.1000
Clark County Capital	0.0500
Clark County Flood Control	0.0000
Combined State, County & School	2.0506

- CITY-TOWN RATES — If you live in one of the incorporated cities, you would add the tax rates levied by that city to the base tax rate set forth in (1) above. For example, if you live in the City of Las Vegas you would add the city's general fund rate of 0.6751 and its debt service rate of 0.0903 to the base tax rate of 2.0506. If you live in an unincorporated town such as Winchester, Paradise, Sunrise Manor, etc. you would add your town rate to the base rate. For example, if you live in Searchlight you would add the Searchlight General Fund rate of 0.0600 and the Searchlight Debt Service rate of 0.1431 to the base rate of 2.0506. If you do not live in one of the incorporated cities or unincorporated towns you would not add anything to the base tax rate in this step.

- SPECIAL TAXING DISTRICTS — The Boulder City Library District, Henderson District Public Library, Las Vegas/Clark County Library District, LVMPD Manpower Supplement, Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Debt Service District, Emergency 911 District, Clark County Fire Service District, Moapa Valley Water, Big Bend Water District, Kyle Canyon Water District, Mt. Charleston Fire District, and Moapa Valley Fire District, are special taxing districts that have the authority to tax the properties that lie within their district boundaries. The boundaries of the districts do not include all of Clark County and do not adhere to city-town boundaries. Therefore, you must determine which of these special districts can tax your property and add the rate of those districts to the rates determined in Steps 1 and 2.

- The tax rates for the Colorado Ground Water Basin District, Las Vegas Artesian Basin District and Pahrump Artesian Basin District are set based on information supplied by the State of Nevada. To the combined rate determined in Steps 1, 2 and 3 you should add 0.0009 if your property is in the Colorado Ground Water Basin and 0.0026 if your property is in the Las Vegas Artesian Basin District.

Referring to your 1993-1994 tax statement or tax distribution notice will help you in determining the tax rates that apply to your property.

For further information, the following may be consulted:

Southwest Gas Corp. employees BLM to sell desert plants build trail in Lake Mead area

Thanks to employees of the Southwest Gas Corp., a "dream" trail from Boulder City to Hoover Dam through Lake Mead National Recreation Area is one step closer to reality.

With help from Southwest Gas Corp., C & S Co., JM Landscape, K W Pipeline, Hydro Conduit Corp., and Northern Pipeline, a group of Southwest Gas employees constructed a 2.7-mile-long segment of trail along the historic railroad grade once used by trains during the building of Hoover Dam.

The employees contacted the National Park Service about a partnership project they could complete to help Lake Mead National Recreation Area. According to John Holman, the Southwest Gas coordinator, they were particularly interested in a trail project that would benefit park visitors.

More than 25 employees from Southwest Gas Corp. spent three weekends raking and grooming the trail and installing culverts along the railroad grade from the Alan Bible Visitor Center up to the Boulder City limits in Hemenway Valley.

Where the railroad grade had been washed out over the years, the crews worked with donated equipment from the corporation to set 20, 24-inch pipes donated by Hydro Conduit Corp. In another wash, two 60-inch culverts donated by C & S Company, were installed in the wash bottom.

"This was quite an undertaking," said Park Superintendent Alan O'Neill. "Not only in the technical installation, but in terms of equipment and hours of labor."

"It will be a great facility for park visitors. These folks did an outstanding job," he said.

The trail joins a three-mile long segment completed last year that travels through four of the historic tunnels further up the hill. The gradual, gentle grade of the old railroad makes this an ideal trail for walking and biking.

The railroad was built in 1931 as part of a 30-mile railroad to serve the Hoover Dam project. It was last used in 1961 for installation of the final Hoover Dam generator. The tracks were dismantled and sold for scrap, and the tunnels were closed for safety reasons.

The National Park Service reopened the upper grade to Tunnel 5, which is still sealed. With the bureau of Reclamation's assistance, it is hoped that this tunnel may be reopened in the future, and the trail continued along the old grade all the way to Hoover Dam.

Connecting this trail with that constructed as part of the Hemenway flood diversion project would make a complete trail linking Historic Boulder City with Hoover Dam.

All that remains to complete this lower section is a three-quarter-mile segment between the Southwest Gas Corp. segment and the Hemenway Wash. The National Park Service hopes a partner can be found for this project, O'Neill said.

Community Action for Lakes Mead and Mohave (C.A.L.M.) is a non-profit organization that works with Lake Mead National Recreation Area to create private partnerships to benefit the park and park visitors.

The Las Vegas District Stateline Resource Area will hold a desert vegetation sale May 8 and 9 on a 1,200-acre site near Las Vegas. Sale hours will be from 6:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day of the sale.

The general public is invited to harvest on Saturday. Sunday is available to the public and commercial interests. The location and a written statement of directions to the sale site are available at the BLM office located, 4765 Vegas

Dr., from 7:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Monday through Friday.

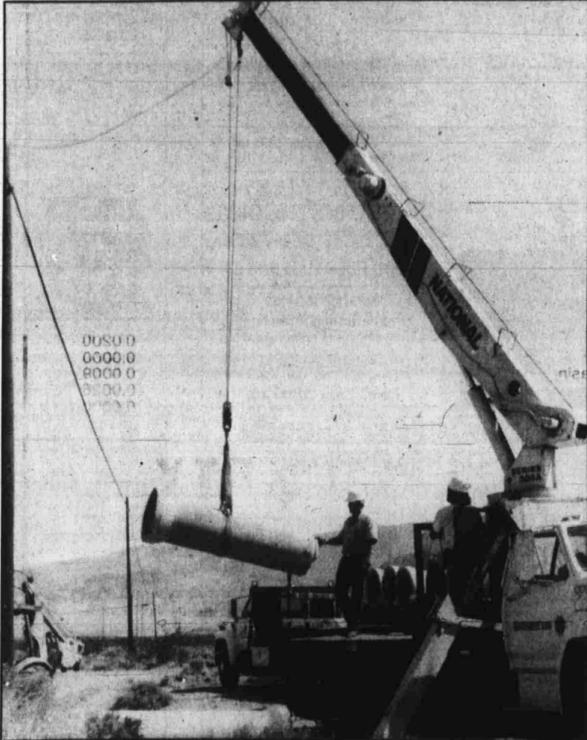

Plants available include a limited number of barrel cactus; numerous Yucca, Hedge Hogs, Prickley Pear, and Cholla; some cotton tops, and various other smaller cacti.

Permits will be issued on site the day of the sale. All permits are awarded on a first-come, first-served basis on any combination of plants. Once plants are purchased and removed from the site, no refunds will be issued. Plants must be removed by the buyer, the public is asked to come equipped with appropriate tools, protective clothing, and transportation.

Permits will be limited to 20 plants per family, per vehicle. Anyone who transports six or more cacti must have a permit from the Nevada Department of Forestry.

IF FINDING A DOCTOR FRUSTRATES YOU, PUNCH THIS.

We've all been through it. Something's wrong and you need to see a doctor quickly. But you have such little luck finding one in the yellow pages, that after a while, the only color you see is red. But even though you may feel like it, you don't have to hit anything, except the phone one last time. Just dial Desert Springs Hospital's Call For Health, where a registered nurse will get you an appointment with a qualified doctor right away. And that alone should make you start to feel better.

Preparing for prayer

By Rabbi Sanford D. Aksehrad
Spiritual Leader of Congregation Ner Tamid

Before every Sabbath service I gather a few people together in my study to so that we might recite a prayer. Every so often I am asked by those gathering as to the purpose of my practice. They say to me, "Rabbi, in a few moments we will be praying for over an hour. Why do we stop now, before services even begin, to recite a prayer?" In response I share with them a special thought from Jewish tradition:

The Rebbe of Tsanz was asked by a Chasid: What does the Rabbi do before praying? I pray, was the reply, that I may be able to pray properly.

At first glance this seems like an odd response, and an unusual statement. After all, what is meant by "proper prayer?" And does this mean that there is such a thing as the "wrong" way to pray? Doesn't God want us merely to reach out and sing our praises?

These questions miss the point. To be sure, God delights in all of our prayer. However, look how many people have forgotten how to pray! Time and again, I meet people who ask me "Rabbi, would you please say a special prayer for my loved one who is sick?" When I agree, but ask them, "tell me why don't you say the prayer yourself?" I am often greeted with the response, "Rabbi, I don't know how. It has been a long time since I said a prayer." And so it is that I say a prayer before I pray, to stretch my spiritual muscles. To test the sensitivity of my soul.

To make my point in a different way, let me suggest these analogies: Would you think of strenuous exercise without warming up first? Would you attend a marathon race without first having built up stamina and toned your body? Of course not. Nor would you attempt to understand calculus without having mastered algebra and basic mathematics. In short, everything in life that is to have lasting value requires a lasting investment of time and emotional energy.

The same is true of Prayer. We must prepare ourselves mentally, spiritually and emotionally for prayer to have an impact upon our lives. For too many of us prayer has become an awkward and unfamiliar task. One has only to compare attendance at the special Holy Day Services (be they Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur or Christmas and Easter) to that of the rest of the year to realize that too many people are becoming "once a year" worshippers.

How can we hope to gain spiritual insight and fulfillment if we are out of touch with our prayerful selves? After all isn't one of the purposes of prayer to not only touch God, but to touch ourselves? When we strive to reach the Divine, we are in essence often seeking to reach the Divine that lies within ourselves. When we ask God for strength, we are in many ways searching for that hidden reserve of energy that only faith can draw upon.

And so it is that each one of us should take a moment daily to pause and reflect, to prepare ourselves for the special task of reaching out to God, and reaching inward to the very depths of our souls.

Synagogue meeting Monday

The Valley Outreach Synagogue will have its first Task Force Meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Green Valley United Methodist Church.

More than 70 people attended an organizational meeting last month.

The first service will be at 8 p.m. Friday, June 25, in the Sanctuary of the Green Valley

United Methodist Church, 2200 Robindale Road. Schachet and Cantor Kenny Ellis will conduct the service. A choir is being formed and outreach programs are starting to organize

Local firm awarded contract for Hoover Dam work

Bureau of Reclamation Regional Director Robert J. Towles recently announced the award of a $249,747 contract to Mutoff & Sons, of Henderson to install a sewer main for the new visitor center and parking structure under construction at Hoover Dam.

"This contract is another step forward in completing these new facilities, which will replace the existing, inadequate facilities, and also increase the public's safety at the dam by reducing the contact between people and vehicles," Towles said.

Construction of the new visitor facilities began in 1986, with the relocation of electric transmission towers on the Nevada wall of Black Canyon downstream of the dam. In 1988 and 1989, US Highway 93, on the Nevada side of the dam was realigned and a new bridge built to carry traffic over a pedestrian walkway between the new parking facility and the visitor center. Most recently, construction was completed on a 20-foot diameter, 530-foot deep shaft that will house two new elevators to carry guided tours from the visitor center down into the dam.

Currently, work is centered on construction of the new, 450-space parking structure and the visitor's center building. The parking structure and visitor center are expected to open in June 1994.

The new facilities will enable Reclamation to better meet the needs of the growing number of visitors to the dam. Guided tours of the dam are now limited to about 700,000 people per year. The new facilities will allow about one million people a year to take the guided tours.

More than 29 million people have taken the guided tour of Hoover Dam, the most heavily visited dam in the United States, since the tours were initiated in 1936. Millions more have visited the dam without taking the tour.

Water issues forum Friday

The very survival of the Las Vegas Valley will depend on the continued availability of water. When will we run out of water and are the people in charge doing something to prevent that from happening? Another important issue is the disposal of the water once we are through with it. How clean does it have to be before we can return it to the Colorado River. Do we get credit for any water we return?

These and other vital issues will be discussed at a public forum at the Henderson campus of the Community College of Southern Nevada on Friday. The forum will be held in Room 207 of the new building and will begin at 6 p.m. The campus is located on College Drive off Horizon in Henderson. For more information, call 564-7484.

The featured speakers for the evening will be Patricia Mulroy, general manager of the Las Vegas Valley Water District, Jim Gans, director of the Clark County Sanitation District and Ed

Eschner, professor of Environmental Restoration and chairman of the Department of Engineering Technologies at the Community College of Southern Nevada.

Mulroy was appointed general manager of the Las Vegas Valley Water District in September 1989. Her previous experience includes deputy manager of the district and assistant to the county manager. Recently she was also appointed as general manager of the Southern Nevada Water Authority of which the district is a member.

Mulroy said she feels that as the West has changed significantly in the past 20 years with the population shifting increasingly from rural areas to urban centers. Its water resource policies should reflect and keep pace with these changing conditions, she said.

Jim Gans, the director of the Clark County Sanitation District, has been employed by the district in various positions for the past 17 years.

Eschner heads the environ-

mental restoration program at the Community College of Southern Nevada. He is chairman of the Department of Industrial Technology, located at the Henderson campus. He received his associate's degree from Fullerton College. He then continued his education at San Diego State where he was awarded a bachelor of science degree in geological science. His master's degree is also in geological science from UNLV.

New health care terms defined

By Jerrilynn Lilyblade
Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Nevada

With health care reform on its way, we'll probably see some changes in our nation's health care system. Along with these changes come the following array of new health care terms.

Managed care means organizing physicians, hospitals and other health care providers into networks which provide high-quality, necessary procedures. Studies show that managed care can eliminate many unnecessary medical procedures, which currently account for nearly 30% of our nation's health costs.

A classic example of a managed care system is the health maintenance organization (HMO). In an HMO, each member's medical care is coordinated by a primary care physician (PCP). When someone joins an HMO, he or she chooses a PCP from the HMO's network. To control costs and oversee treatment, most hospitalization and specialist care requires a referral from the PCP. Members also must use medical services within the HMO's network to receive benefits.

Most HMOs are self-contained systems where members enroll by paying a set annual fee. They receive all their medical services through the HMO's network or affiliated physicians, specialists and hospitals. The HMO provides all medical benefits and takes the financial responsibility for all medical claims within its system.

Preferred provider organizations (PPO) also are made up of networks of physicians and other health care providers. They have agreed to discount their fees. In return, patients are sent to the PPO network.

Unlike an HMO, a member enrolled in a PPO does not have to use the PPO network exclusively to receive benefits. He or she may use medical services outside the PPO, but the benefits will be lower. For instance, the member may have to pay a higher copayment or deductible for medical services outside the PPO network.

A copayment is a form of cost-sharing where a person pays a standard amount for a certain medical service. For example, a member of an HMO might pay $10 for each visit to his or her physician, regardless of the overall visit cost.

Managed competition is a proposal that may form the foundation of the Clinton administration plan. It was developed by experts and members of the health care industry who periodically meet in Jackson Hole, Wyo.

The Jackson Hole Group proposal intends to bring employers together into large buying groups to bid for the highest-quality health care coverage at the lowest price. Under this proposal, the government will require insurance companies, HMOs and other health care plans to offer a standard package of benefits. The proposal promotes competition among health care plans, lowers prices and still maintains quality.

Under the managed competition proposal, employers will have to contribute to the cost of their employees' health plans. The unemployed will be covered by government subsidies.

Health insurance purchasing cooperatives (HIPCs) may be the center of the managed competition system. These groups serve as the purchasing agents for large groups of employers in a region. The HIPCs are designed to give small businesses the same buying-power as larger businesses.

An all-payer system is a proposal that may be used temporarily. This proposes that "all payers" of health care bills — private citizens, the government, private insurers and large companies — pay the same rate for the same medical procedure. The standardized fees will keep providers from shifting costs to those who are more able to pay.

Pay-or-play is a proposal that requires all employers to either provide health insurance for their employees or pay a tax that will finance a government plan to cover them and others who are uninsured.

A single payer system means that one group — most likely the government — pays for all health care services. Canada has this system. It is financed by taxes. People can choose a physician, hospital or other medical service.

The medical providers receive payment from the government based on standard fees.

Dear Debbie

By Deborah White

Dear Debbie: I am married and am seeing a man who is also married. I love my husband, but I'm not in love with him. I really love the other man and he feels the same about me. But he takes me for granted.

Every time he calls, he asks me to meet him somewhere and I do. I have even left my children with their father when they were sick to be with him. I have stayed out all night to be with him.

I had to move away and after a week he called my best friend and went out with her. Now, he stands me up and sometimes doesn't call me back.

I am half crazy with jealousy. I have lost 20 pounds in two months. My husband knows about the other man, but he thinks it's over. How should I handle this problem without getting hurt.

—THE OTHER WOMAN

Dear Other Woman: This man used you for sex. When you weren't available, he went after someone who was.

You fell in love with a jerk. Now you're demeaning yourself by letting him treat you like trash. Pull yourself together, girl!

If you continue to subject yourself to this destructive affair you'll lose everything. For what? You have every right to feel bad, but you must stop seeing him. If you fail, keep trying. Give yourself a new chance ever day.

Look at this like getting a serious illness. Some days you'll be better than others. But one day you'll be yourself again and you'll never let this happen again.

Dear Debbie: Last fall I made a big mistake and left home with a man who took all my money. Luckily my family found me and took me in.

I've changed my life since then. I go to church every Sunday. I'm sorry for what I did.

The problem is this man at work says he loves me. I told him to leave me alone, but he keeps bothering me. He gave me his phone number, but I haven't called him. I want everything off my mind. I want to start over.

—CHERRY

Dear Cherry: I couldn't tell from your letter if the man at work is the same man who hurt you, or someone new.

If he's the same man, don't give him another chance. He already proved he just wants a woman who will give him money. If you take him back, he'll do the same thing.

If he's someone new, give him a chance. But be more careful. You don't have to trust someone right away, like a child. Get to know him before you get involved. Stop feeling so bad about what you did. Everyone makes mistakes. The point is to learn from them.

Send letters to Dear Debbie, P.O. Box 119, Orlando, Fla. 32802-4367.

Once Over Lightly

By Carolyn Drennan Bishop

You've all heard about the fairy tale princess who made a big thing out of finding a pea under her mattress. Listen. Her problems were small (no pun intended), compared to mine.

For days now, I've been nibbling on carrot sticks and lettuce leaves. It's my usual shape-up regimen before my seasonal bathing suit safari. No. I don't think dining on rabbit food is going to endow me with the thighs of a sylph or legs the size of a pipe cleaner. I figure the best I can hope for is that when I finally do go shopping, those sandbags around my hips will have sprung a leak.

I don't know why I try. Every year, it's the same thing. By the time I've finished "shaping up" and finally summon up the courage to hobble off to the shopping mall, I'm still walking a fine line between exposing my dimpled thighs or never going swimming again. What's more, without trying, I always manage to find the one dressing room in town whose lighting was originally designed for the city morgue.

Speaking of dressing rooms, I've finally figured out why they all have health warning signs on their walls. It's because more women hyperventilate and pass out in dressing rooms while trying on swim wear than anywhere else, that's why!

If all that isn't bad enough, sales girls the size of wasps always insist on strutting into my dressing room every five minutes to "see how I'm doing."

I'm standing there staring at my grandmother in the mirror and they wonder how I'm doing?

Last year I was totally unhinged by the time I spotted the perfect solution to my complications. It turned out to be the seat cover off the dressing room chair.

Don't laugh! I wore it poolside the entire summer.

Horoscope

By Linda Black

Weekly Tip: Go shopping or visit family this week. Be sure and return all phone calls.

Aries (March 21-April 19) It should be pretty good for sports activities. Figure out what you need to buy now and shop.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Don't throw money at a problem, even if that looks like the easiest way to solve it. You may come up with another way.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) You may find romance at a meeting. Don't let a friend's conflict with authority get you into trouble.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) It's smart to be nice to really obnoxious person. Go out of your way to learn about money, real estate, or gardening!

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) It would be perfect if you could take a field trip. You may realize you've spent too much on a friend.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Investigate an overseas assignment as a way of paying a debt. You also might find a profitable career possibility.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Flirting could produce beneficial results. Concentrate on a job you've been avoiding pertaining to money.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) Finish a job for a demanding boss. You could form a lifelong partnership. Any commitments you make will stick.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Don't let a date make you late back from lunch. An OK week for romance. Don't allow friends to distract you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A problem at home will clear up naturally. Don't make it worse by arguing. Romance could be in full bloom.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You'll be racing and you could be exhausted. Spend time at home and do something special to recharge your batteries.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) If you buy a present, you may decide you can't afford it! Go shopping then for less frivolous things.

If You Were Born This Week

Try something your sweetheart or best friend is suggesting, but cover your bets! You could become fabulously wealthy. Study money. This could be your year to write a best seller. Focus your brilliance on practical matters. Pay off all your debts and save up a big nest egg.

Missouri artist wins duck stamp art contest

By David K. Rice

Five years of effort finally paid off for artist Steve Hopkins of Portage Des Sioux, Mo. He placed first in the state's 15th annual duck stamp contest sponsored by the Nevada Waterfowl Association (NWA).

Official announcement of the Nevada contest winner fell on the day Hopkins turned 43. "I just can't believe I finally won a state contest — it's just great," he said.

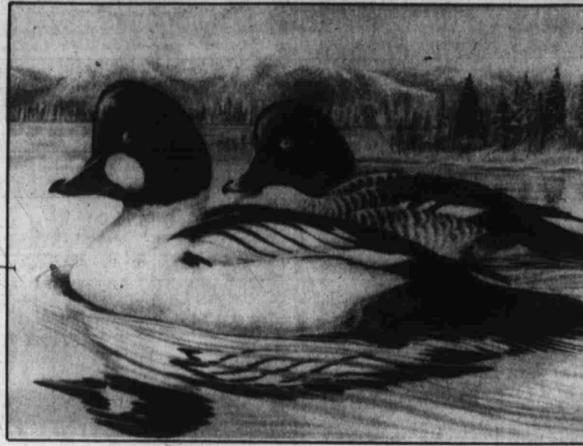

NWA's designated species this year was the goldeneye duck that migrates into Nevada late in the year, spending the winter on the state's larger lakes, including Tahoe and Walker, and rivers such as the Humboldt and Truckee.

Hopkins said that he has been entering a similar waterfowl stamp art contest in Missouri for five years and the "common" goldeneye is one of his favorite ducks to paint.

"The goldeneye is on Missouri's list [of species allowed to be painted for entry] and I have painted it for years for their contest. When I saw that Nevada had my favorite as the designated species, I jumped on it," he said.

His winning entry depicts a male and female goldeneye at rest on Lake Tahoe. The surrounding snow covered trees and shoreline duplicates the conditions found at the lake this year during the past winter.

Hopkin's painting will be depicted in full color on Nevada's

Winning duck stamp

1993-94 duck stamp which is required of all who hunt waterfowl, mainly ducks and geese.

Most states conduct art contests to solicit high quality artwork to be portrayed in full color on their stamps.

By law, proceeds from the sale of the $5 Nevada stamp must be used for the propagation of migratory game birds, and for the acquisition, development, and preservation of wetlands in the state.

Fifty-two entries were received this year in the contest, nine less than last year, with seven submitted by Nevada artists. William Moore of Reno placed third, and Jani Kreuzjans, Washoe Valley, placed fifth.

Hopkins said that he has painted since high school, but didn't get serious until five years ago. "I really enjoy painting waterfowl. My wife gets irritated with me because I won't paint her flowers or anything like that, but my true enjoyment comes from painting waterfowl."

The winning artist does not receive a financial prize but does retain full reproduction rights. Limited edition color reproductions are usually printed and sold for approximately $140.

The stamp, measuring approximately one and three-eighths by two inches will be prepared by the State Printing Office, and will be available in September at all NDOW offices and hunting and fishing license agents throughout the state.

Nevada top-ranked in business poll

Almost one out of two California businesses plan to relocate or open new offices in another state and their number-one choice is Nevada, according to a new poll.

In a recent poll conducted by California Business magazine, 47% of the respondents said they were planning to relocate one or more offices out of California during the next year, with 29% naming Nevada top site attraction. Arizona was second with 17%, while Oregon (11%), Colorado and Washington (8% respectively) followed upon the third and fourth positions.

The poll, which was taken in November 1992, was aimed at the readers of California Business who cited workers' compensation costs and taxes as the two most influential factors affecting their decisions to relocate.

Just last week Lt. Gov. Sue Wagner, chairwoman of the Nevada Commission on Economic Development warned lawmakers of the need to solve Nevada workers' compensation problems, noting their possible effects on the states' efforts to attract new industry. The Lt. Gov. pointed out that Nevada's troubled State Industrial Insurance System (SIIS) is becoming an issue for businesses seeking to relocate in the Silver State.

While workers' compensation costs were named as California's number-one negative in the poll, respondents went on to cite fewer regulations (24%), lower taxes (23%) and better quality of life (16%) as the most important factors in choosing to relocate in states like Nevada.

"These findings help confirm what we already feared to be the case—that workers' compensation is an issue for all employers, those doing business here in Nevada, as well as those seeking to do business in this state," said Wagner. "But they also show that Nevada's overall positive business climate continues to be strong, bringing the prospect of new jobs and new dollars to the Silver State."

Some 97% of the respondents said California's leaders were doing a poor job of preventing California's business exodus, suggesting that a more positive attitude toward business with fewer restrictions is needed to begin to change the tide.

Jazz Picnic Sunday in LV

Paradise Park will swing with the sounds of the annual free Jazz Picnic from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. The event is co-sponsored by Clark County Parks and Recreation, KUNV 91.5 FM Community Radio and the Las Vegas Jazz Society.

The concert features the Herbie Phillips Big Band, the Bill Trujillo Sextet, the Blues Kings and Brass-on-the-Grass. The park is north of Tropicana Avenue, between Eastern Avenue and McLeod Drive.

Trumpeter Herbie Phillips will lead an 18-piece big band. A respected soloist, composer and arranger, Phillips has performed with Louis Bellson, Buddy Rich, Frank Sinatra and others. He has lived in Las Vegas since 1960.

In contrast to Phillips' big band sound, Bill Trujillo and his sextet play mainstream West Coast bebop. Trujillo has lent his distinctive tenor sax sound to Woody Herman and Stan Kenton's bands, among others, and he has backed Sinatra, Joe Williams and Sarah Vaughan.

The Blues Kings are the long-time favorites of local blues audiences, but the group will try something new for the Jazz Picnic. Brass-on-the-Grass is an ensemble that plays jazz and blues in the tradition of a contemporary New Orleans street band. Original tunes, composed by members of the group, are mixed in with jazz standards. Brass-on-the-Grass will provide entertainment between sets.

Partial funding for the Jazz Picnic has been provided by the Recording Companies of America, through the Music Performance Trust Funds, a public-service organization created under agreements with the American Federation of Musicians. The grant for this performance was obtained with the aid of Musicians Union Local 369.

For more information, call 455-8200.

More On Logarithms

By Bill Hanlon

Last time we converted logarithms to exponentials and exponentials to logarithms. Remember, how much you enjoyed that?

Today, we'll solve equations involving logarithms (logs).

To refresh your memory, we said in the exponential  $a = b^n$ , the exponent  $n$  is called the logarithm of  $a$  to the base  $b$ .

To solve equations involving logarithms, it's important that you know the following properties:

1.  $\log ab = \log a + \log b$
2.  $\log a/b = \log a - \log b$
3.  $\log a^n = n \log a$

When there is no base written, it is understood to be 10, called a common logarithm.

EXAMPLE: Simplify  $\log 5 + \log 4$

Using property 1,  $\log 5 \cdot 4 = \log 20$

EXAMPLE: Simplify  $\log 20 - \log 4$

Using property 2,  $\log 20/4 = \log 5$

EXAMPLE: Simplify  $\log 5^2$

Using property 3,  $2 \log 5$

Now, if we can manipulate logarithms using those three properties, then we should be able to solve equations involving logs. Yes, I can see the smile coming to your face.

Equations involving logarithms are typically solved by one of two methods.

Method 1.  $\log x = \log y$ , if and only if  $x = y$

Method 2.  $\log_b n = x$ , if and only if  $b^x = n$

The first method is used when you have logarithms on both sides of the equation. You simplify both sides by manipulating both sides using the previous three properties, then the logs fall out and you solve the resulting equation.

EXAMPLE:  $\log(x^2 - 1) = \log 8$

Both sides are simplified, using method 1

$$x^2 - 1 = 8$$

Solving  $x^2 - 9 = 0$

$$(x - 3)(x + 3) = 0$$

$$(x - 3)(x + 3) = 0$$

$$x = 3 \text{ or } x = -3$$

EXAMPLE:  $\log n - \log(n - 1) = \log 3$

Simplifying the left side using property 2,

$$\log n/(n - 1) = \log 3$$

Now, using method 1,  $n/(n - 1) = 3$

Solving,

$$n = 3(n - 1)$$

$$n = 3n - 3$$

$$-2n = -3$$

$$n = 3/2$$

Let's try some using method 2 to solve. That is, have logs on one side of the equation and a number on the other side.

EXAMPLE:  $\log_{10} n + \log_{10} 5 = 1$

Simplifying the left side,  $\log_{10} 5n = 1$

Now remember, when a base is NOT written, it is understood to be 10. Therefore  $10^1 = 5n$

Solving  $2 = n$

Don't you just love these. Math is a piece of cake - chocolate, at that!

Another you say.

EXAMPLE:  $\log_3 n - \log_3 4 = 2$

Simplifying  $\log_3 n/4 = 2$

Using method 2,  $3^2 = n/4$

$$9 = n/4$$

$$36 = n$$

EXAMPLE:  $3 \log_5 x - \log_5 x = 2$

Simplifying using property 3,  $\log_5 x^3 - \log_5 x = 2$

Simplifying using property 2,  $\log_5 x^3/x = 2$

Solving using method 2  $5 = x^3/x$

$$25 = x^2$$

$$0 = x^2 - 25$$

$$0 = (x + 5)(x - 5)$$

Therefore,  $x = 5$  or  $x = -5$ . Since logs are not defined for negative numbers,  $x$  only equals 5.

As usual in mathematics, I can't make these problems any more difficult, I can only make them longer. While some confuse length with difficulty, you know that's not the case.

When solving problems involving logarithms, it's important that you can manipulate the logs using the properties listed. There are some other properties I didn't give you because of the space available. After you simplify the logs on both sides, then you use one of two methods.

If you have a log on both sides, drop the logs and solve the resulting equation.

If you have a log on one side and a number on the other side, change the log to an exponential, then solve the resulting equation.

Piece of Cake.

Reclamation delays study on Colorado River bridge

Studies and public involvement on a proposed Colorado River bridge in the vicinity of Hoover Dam are being delayed because of funding problems.

Bureau of Reclamation Regional Director Bob Towles said the decision was based upon a budget review which indicated funding for construction would not be available within the near future.

Publication of a draft environmental statement, scheduled for release this summer, is also being delayed, Towles added. Since some of the work completed would need to be updated or redone at a later time, Reclamation wants to avoid duplicating this effort and the accompanying public involvement process.

The decision to shelve the study was the result of a recent review in our yearly budget process Towles added. In the present climate of deficit reduction, there is no opportunity for funding in 1995 or 1996 without additional cost-sharing.

In 1984 the Hoover Dam Powerplant Act authorized construction of the bridge, but made no provision for funding. Bureau of Reclamation projects traditionally are funded through reimbursable repayment agreements, substantive cost sharing arrangements, or through non-federal funding. The Colorado River bridge proposal, estimated to cost $130 million, does not fall within these categories.

Reclamation wants to build the bridge and to eliminate the heavy traffic crossing Hoover Dam, Towles said.

Grant featured in Comstock Preservation Weekend

By Phillip I. Earl

On Thursday evening, May 13, Virginia City's annual Comstock Preservation Weekend will kick off with a dinner and a lecture, "A New Look at the Comstock," by State Historic Preservation Officer Ronald M. James at the Gold Hill Hotel in Gold Hill. Reservations are recommended. Call the hotel, 847-0111.

Storey County Recorder Maggie Lowther will lead a tour through the Storey County courthouse at 5:30 p.m. on Friday, showing the archives and historical records dating back to 1859 and unveiling for the first time the recently restored 1876 architectural renderings for the building. At 7 p.m., theatre impresario Bill Beason will delight audiences with a new musical by the Virginia City Muckers at the Storey County High School Commons; $3 admission for adults, $2 for children.

Living history tours of the homes of the Bonanza Kings and other period residences are scheduled for Saturday and President Ulysses S. Grant himself will speak from the balcony of the Savage Mansion, just as he did on Oct. 27, 1879, the last time he visited the Comstock. Another celebrity returning for the first time since 1868 is Mark Twain, who will be at the Washoe Club on C Street, lecturing on behalf of the Comstock Arts Council.

Two garden tours are also scheduled for Saturday, and a mysterious widow in her "wider weeds" will conduct a walking tour of Virginia City's Mount Pleasant cemeteries at noon that day. The Gold Hill Hotel and the Virginia & Truckee Railroad Depot will be open for tours on Saturday and Sunday, and the Virginia & Truckee Railroad will run special trains over the weekend. Call the V & T office at 847-0380.

Pleasant cemeteries at noon that day. The Gold Hill Hotel and the Virginia & Truckee Railroad Depot will be open for tours on Saturday and Sunday, and the Virginia & Truckee Railroad will run special trains over the weekend. Call the V & T office at 847-0380.

Sunday will begin with a parade up C Street to the Fourth Ward School at 11 a.m. Both General Grant and Mark Twain will be marching, as will the Nevada Civil War Volunteers, local merchants and the famed Comstock Marching Band.

At the Fourth Ward School, the Sun Mountain Puppet Company will present "Tess's Terrific Trip" at 9 a.m., 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Saturday. The Virginia City Alumni Association will sell Cornish pasties, salads and beverages at lunch. A fashion show, "A Victorian Lady's Dressing Scene," will be staged by Paulette Grune on Sunday during the annual Silver Tea from 1 to 5 p.m.

For further information, call the Virginia City Chamber of Commerce, 847-0311, or the Fourth Ward School Museum, 847-0975.

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions — horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle, then strike it off the list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will leave it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.

Would You Believe...

This year, "Unforgiven" became only the third western to win the Academy Award for best picture. The other two are "Cimarron" (1931) and "Dances With Wolves" (1990).

An elephant seal can stretch to more than 20 feet long and weigh as much as four tons.

According to the 1790 U.S. Census, only 5 percent of the population at that time was urban.

Scientists say they now have an image of a galaxy that is 72 trillion billion miles away from Earth. Because of the huge distance and the time it takes for light to travel, that means the image shows the galaxy as it appeared 12 billion years ago.

The average man or woman loses anywhere from about 25 to 125 hairs a day.

The human body is composed of about 10 trillion living cells.

Words of Wisdom

If you want to know what's really going on, pay less attention to words and more attention to faces.

Pleasure should not be the aim of all activity, but rather a byproduct.

Equality is a principle to which people everywhere will strive.

A word of encouragement is never inappropriate.

Observations are the chief joy of travel.

The bitterest lesson of all is to bear the burden of your wrongdoing alone.

KALEIDOSCOPE OF DREAMS

Views of dream images and meaning have changed remarkably through the years. It wasn't until the 20th Century that researchers theorized that dreams were "internal messages," sent from a person to his or her own self.

WORD WISE

Q: When do I use the word "people" and the word "persons" in my writing? It's not always clear.

A: That's because there's no hard-and-fast rule. It's more a matter of using your ear (rather than your head, in this case). If you would like a general guideline: Use people for large groups; use persons for an exact or small number.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF NEVADA. NOTICE OF HEARING. On March 1, 1993, Southwest Gas Corporation ("Southwest") filed with the Public Service Commission of Nevada ("Commission") an application, identified as Docket No. 93-3004, for approval of a general increase in its rates and charges for services on its southern Nevada system (Southern Nevada Division) and an application for approval of revised depreciation rates, identified as Docket No. 93-3025. Southwest estimates that its proposed rates would increase its overall Southern Nevada Division annual revenues by $9,368,920, or approximately 8.4 percent. The effect of the proposed request for increased revenues on each class of customer or class of service is as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Class, Dollars, Percent. Rows include Residential ($9,221,845, 14.69%), Master Metered Mobile Homes (62,980, 7.15%), General: Small (1,247,380, 16.19%), Medium (1,247,508, 6.76%), Large (589,515, 6.76%), Air Conditioning (50, 0.05%), Water Pumping (53,540, 11.60%), Cogeneration (4,216, 10.90%), Gas Service for Compression (8,936, 13.92%), Street & Outdoor Lighting (1,754, 14.72%), Transportation (2,952,697, 30.89%), Other (21,385, 0.88%).

The requested additional revenues will cover increases in operating, maintenance and financing costs, as well as increases in taxes. Southwest also proposes to change its rate structure to more accurately reflect the federal regulations that have restructured the interstate natural gas market.

Consumer sessions concerning these filings will be held on June 2, 1993 at 1:30 p.m. in Henderson at the Henderson Convention Center, Meeting Room No. 1, 200 Water Street, and on June 3, 1993 at 7:00 p.m. in Las Vegas at the Las Vegas City Council Chambers, 200 East Stewart Avenue. Details including the location, time and place of the consumer sessions will be published in newspapers of general circulation and provided to broadcast media prior to the consumer sessions.

Applicant states that it currently provides charter limousine service and airport transfer limousine service between points and places in Clark County, Nevada pursuant to its Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity PSC 1011. Applicant states that it proposes to expand its existing service as a common carrier by: (1) providing on-call, irregular route transportation of passengers and their baggage in airport transfer service and special service between points and places in Clark County, Nevada, utilizing buses with a capacity of less than twenty (20) persons, including the driver; (2) providing on-call, irregular route transportation of passengers and their baggage in charter service between points and places in Clark County and Nye County Nevada, utilizing buses with a capacity of less than twenty (20) persons, including the driver; and (3) expanding the geographical area of its charter limousine service to provide on-call, irregular route transportation of passengers and their baggage in charter limousine service between points and places in Clark County and Nye County Nevada.

Applicant states that it requests an amended certificate of public convenience and necessity be issued pursuant to Nevada Revised Statutes ("NRS") 706.391, authorizing Lucky 7 to expand its existing services as a "common motor carrier of passengers" as defined in NRS 706.041. The filing was made pursuant to Chapters 703 and 706 of the NRS and the Nevada Administrative Code.

The application is on file and available for viewing by the public at the offices of the Commission, 727 Fairview Drive, Carson City, Nevada 89710 and the Dawson Building, 4045 South Spencer Street, Suite A-44, Las Vegas, Nevada 89158. Interested and affected persons may comment in writing and file appropriate protests and/or petitions for leave to intervene at either of the Commission's offices on or before Wednesday, May 19, 1993.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF NEVADA. In Re Application by NEVADA POWER COMPANY for an order authorizing the disposition of a balance of $17,457,915 for its Twenty-Second Deferred Energy Adjustment period beginning March 1, 1993 and adjustment of its Base Tariff Energy Rates.

NOTICE OF HEARING. An application, designated as Docket No. 93-1041, has been filed with the Public Service Commission of Nevada ("Commission") by the Nevada Power Company ("NPC") requesting authority to establish its Twenty-Second Electric Deferred Energy Accounting Adjustment ("DEAA") and to adjust its Base Tariff Energy Rate ("BTER") for its Electric Service Territory. NPC seeks authority to charge a DEAA rate of $0.00315 per kilowatt hour ("Kwhr") for residential customers, and $0.00066 per Kwhr for all other customers. NPC proposes to charge these rates for the twelve months beginning March 1, 1993. NPC claims an $17,457,915 accumulated balance in its deferred energy account.

NPC proposes to charge a BTER rate of $0.02561 per Kwhr for residential customers, and $0.02292 per Kwhr for all other customers. NPC proposes these rates to recover its energy costs based on NPC's experience as of November 30, 1992. NPC had requested an effective date of March 1, 1993 to minimize the impact of higher experienced energy costs and because March is a low Kwhr usage month for NPC's customers, which conforms with the intent of the Stipulation in Docket No. 89-949 to establish a twelve month amortization schedule in a low usage month.

NPC states that with the same consumption by NPC's customers as in the twelve months from December 1, 1991 through November 30, 1992, the net effect of this Application would be to increase billings for electricity used during the twelve months beginning March 1, 1993, by $46,241,578 from an average system energy rate in effect prior to March 1, 1993 as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Description, Amount. Rows include: 1. Change in base tariff energy rate: Present rate per Kwhr $0.02409, Proposed rate per Kwhr (Statement G-1) 0.02806, Net change $0.00397, Kilowatthour (Statement D-7) 10,052,516,800, Total $39,908,492. 2. Change in deferred energy surcharge rate: Present rate per Kwhr $0.00111, Proposed rate per Kwhr (Statement D-1) 0.00174, Net change $0.00063, Kilowatthour sales (Statement D-7) 10,052,516,800, Total dollar change (12 months) $6,333,086, $46,241,578.

This is a 7.9% increase in total revenues for the twelve months ended November 30, 1992. NPC alleges that a residential customer using the average monthly consumption of 1,100 Kwhr would receive a $7.23, or 11.65%, per month increase (excluding franchise tax). For the purpose of this hearing, the Commission has consolidated Docket No. 93-1041 with Docket No. 92-8066, an application by NPC for approval of its request for recovery of expenses in developing a plan for resources.

In Docket No. 92-8066, NPC seeks to adjust its base tariff general rate to include a base cost rate for the recovery of ongoing costs incurred in developing its plan for resources and to amortize the accumulated costs incurred in developing its plan for resources. NPC estimates that its net resource planning cost unrecovered through the period ending February 28, 1993, as adjusted, is $152,977. NPC seeks to recover the estimated accumulated balance of deferred resource planning costs through a surcharge to customers of $0.00002 per kilowatthour. NPC also seeks recovery of ongoing resource planning costs through a base cost rate of $0.00017 per kilowatthour. Assuming the same consumption by NPC's customers as in the twelve months from July 1, 1991 to June 30, 1992, the net effect of this application in Docket No. 92-8066, without including Docket No. 93-1041, would be to decrease billings for electricity used during the twelve months beginning March 1, 1993 by $2,069,495 under energy rates in effect prior to March 1, 1993.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF NEVADA. NOTICE OF PETITION. CENTRAL TELEPHONE COMPANY-NEVADA ("Petitioner") has filed a petition, designated as Docket No. 93-4034, with the Public Service Commission of Nevada ("Commission"), requesting permission to deviate from certain informational filing requirements contained in Nevada Order 54 ("G.O."), and more particularly to file in General Administrative Code ("GAC") 704.7597 (1) and (2). Petitioner states that, as it has received approval from the Commission under G.O. 54 to deregulate or deaffix Central and Paging services, it is obligated to prepare, under NAC 704.7597, on an annual basis, certain cost information associated with these two services. Petitioner states that the information that it is currently preparing is proprietary and confidential, and that as Centrex and Paging are competitive services, competitors could obtain economic benefits from the disclosure or use of any or all of this information. Petitioner further states that it desires to assert its privilege to protect from public disclosure all proprietary and confidential commercial information associated with these two services, and therefore requests permission to deviate from the annual reporting requirements as those requirements apply to each of the two services. Petitioner states therefore that it is requesting an order from the Commission allowing it to remove all of the proprietary and confidential commercial information concerning these two services from its G.O. 54 annual report; and to provide such information only to the Regulatory Operations Staff of the Commission and the Attorney General's Office of Advocate for Customers of Public Utilities.

Petitioner also states that, as its annual filing is due on or before May 15, 1993, in accordance with Nevada Revised Statutes ("NRS") 703.191, it is requesting that the Commission issue its order granting this Petition as soon as possible before the filing date. The petition was filed pursuant to Chapters 703 and 704 of the NRS and the NAC, and is on file and available for viewing by the public at the offices of the Commission, 727 Fairview Drive, Carson City, Nevada 89710 and the Dawson Building, 4045 South Spencer Street, Suite A-44, Las Vegas, Nevada 89158.

Interested and affected persons may comment in writing at either of the Commission's offices on or before Wednesday, May 19, 1993.

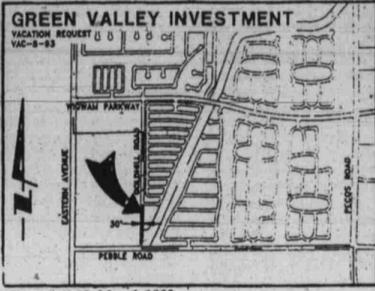

BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF NEVADA. NOTICE OF PETITION. Western Coach Service, Inc. ("Western Coach") has filed a petition, designated as Docket No. 93-4035, with the Public Service Commission of Nevada ("Commission"). Western Coach seeks permission to change its name to Las Vegas Charters and Tours, Inc. for operations conducted pursuant to the authority contained in Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity PSC 2010.

PSC 2010 authorizes Western Coach to operate as a common carrier for (1) regular route transportation of passengers between metropolitan Las Vegas and the Nevada-California state line via Interstate 15, serving intermediate points, except for point to point service within the Las Vegas metropolitan area, (2) on-call irregular route transportation of passengers and their baggage in charter operations between points and places in Clark County, Nevada, (3) on-call, irregular route transportation of passengers and their baggage in special services and scheduled and non-scheduled scenic and sightseeing operations, restricted to tours of nightclubs in northwest Las Vegas, the west side of Las Vegas, and tours of Mount Charleston between the hours of midnight and 2:00 a.m., and expressly restricted against transfers of passengers and their baggage between McCarran International Airport and hotels and motels in Las Vegas, Nevada, and (4) transportation of baggage in separate vehicles moving simultaneously with passengers who are traveling as a group. The petition was filed pursuant to Nevada Administrative Code 706.167 and 706.206 and is on file and available for viewing by the public at the offices of the Commission, 727 Fairview Drive, Carson City, Nevada 89710 and the Dawson Building, 4045 South Spencer Street, Suite A-44, Las Vegas, Nevada 89158. Interested and affected persons may file written comments pertaining to this petition at either of the Commission's offices on or before Wednesday, May 19, 1993.
