Henderson, Nevada

ONE MAN'S VIEW

MIKE O'CALLAGHAN

Elected officials are often bombarded with opinions, ideas and "solutions" from every angle. Oftentimes they get tired of hearing suggestions that they misinterpret as being criticism. This can eventually result in public officials who become deaf to public opinion and a public that gives up on trying to be heard.

The recent actions of the Henderson City Council in achieving a reasonable and safe route for a power line through local neighborhoods reflects well upon both local public officials and citizen action groups. The Council members were listening and became effective voices when making the case before the Nevada Power Co. It also showed that the city and American Nevada Corp. are willing to spend the time, effort and dollars needed to assure the safety of residents. Of course, Nevada Power must be given a pat on the back for listening and participating in the mediation process.

Little, if anything would have been accomplished without the pressure from private citizens, Henderson Citizens Powerline Coalition and Citizen Alert. They spoke up and the leaders of city government and their staff listened.

This is exactly the way good government should function in the United States. The government closest to the people still is the most effective government when meeting the needs and challenges of citizens.

Henderson can be proud of this latest demonstration of good government meeting the needs of residents.

Boulder City has produced several outstanding swimmers and scholars who have gone on to make their marks in NCAA competition.

Henderson has also produced some exceptional swimmers from children all the way up to young adults.

NorthShore begins at Lake Las Vegas

D.B. Marciniak
News Staff Writer

Development of the NorthShore Resort area at the Lake Las Vegas master-planned community has begun while the SouthShore community welcomed its first residents.

The newest and most exclusive Henderson development is beginning to take shape along the community's 10-mile shoreline.

"This resort will be the first upscale resort destination in Las Vegas," said Sherri O'Boyle, marketing director for the project.

O'Boyle said sales for the development have reached the $50 million mark. There currently are four families living in the private SouthShore community and by the holidays it is expected many more will move into the new homes.

Lake Las Vegas, a $3.8 billion, 2,245-acre residential and resort community, surrounds a privately owned 320-acre man-made lake. Homes are beginning to sprout at the Phase I SouthShore portion of the project. Work on a golf course for the second phase, NorthShore, is progressing.

"Sometimes better quality takes time," she said.

Couple arrested on securities fraud charge

Thomas Lacy
News Staff Writer

A Henderson couple was arrested Tuesday for allegedly bilking a man out of $10,000 he invested in what state investigators believe was a fraudulent entertainment scam.

In a criminal complaint filed by the Securities Division of the Secretary of State's Office, John and Carol Ann Rizzo were charged with the fraudulent sale of securities for a musical show they had supposedly developed for Las Vegas area hotels.

The two were taken into custody at their Henderson home and were being held at the Clark County Detention Center in lieu of $15,000 bail each.

According to the complaint, the Rizzo's contacted the "investor" on or about Jan. 31, 1994, and told him of their intentions to produce a show for the Ramada Express Hotel and Casino in Laughlin, and the Tropicana

Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas.

The Rizzo's maintained to the would-be investor that they had written contracts with the two casinos to develop a show that would feature celebrity impersonators.

For an investment of $10,000, of which $5,000 was asked for in January 1994, the investor was told he would receive his original investment back in addition to 40% of the monthly profits from the two shows.

State investigators maintain that on Feb. 9, 1994, the Rizzo's produced a copy of what the couple represented to be a duly executed and authorized entertainment contract with the Tropicana. They then requested and received another $5,000 from the victim.

City gears up for National Night Out

Thomas Lacy
News Staff Writer

Plans are under way for the 13th annual National Night Out in Henderson.

With the goal of prompting residents to get to know each other, National Night Out organizers hope the event will foster a sense of community in the localities where the event will be observed Aug. 6.

Taking the event one step further, the city of Henderson, in cooperation with the Henderson Police Department and the Parks and Recreation Department, is sponsoring the first Let's Take Back the Night Together.

In recognition of the local program, a block party will be held in the Civic Center between City Hall and the Police Department from 8 to 11 p.m.

Plans include a live band, beverages, crime and fire prevention booths and other community events, according to Henderson Police Crime Prevention Officer David Burns, organizer of the event.

"This isn't going to be something where they (businesses) come out and start selling things," Burns explained. "What it will be hopefully, is a party where we will have businesses, for example, giving demonstrations of security lighting systems. Or another business might demonstrate various locks available. It's all designed to help people reduce crime in their neighborhoods."

Organizers are encouraging local businesses and residents to participate by sponsoring booths or donating food or beverages and coming out to take part in the event.

Burns said a sampling of ideas which local casinos or other business may want to undertake to help sponsor include:

- Host a Take Back the Night bingo game at a local neighborhood block party.
- Offer late-night food specials in honor of the event.
- Offer night-time shuttle service to and from participating neighborhoods.

- Encourage employees to participate in the program in their neighborhoods.
- Publicize the evening on reader boards and other exterior signs.

In addition, Burns said volunteers are needed for the Civic Center block party, as well as are the following: ice, loaned

Now the combined Boulder City-Henderson swim team is providing tough competition for teams all over the West. Just bet that some young champions will come from this team and become high school and college stars during the late 1990s through the early years of the next century.

The growth of Southern Nevada has provided more and better competition in every sport. Competition combined with warm weather has resulted in some outstanding college and professional golf, tennis, baseball, track and football stars claiming this area as home. Swimming can't be far behind.

An article in the July issue of PC World magazine titled "RAM Scam" starts off, "When Howard Lower bought an 8MB SIMM from Nevada Computer in April 1995, he thought he was getting a deal. But the $318 SIMM was defective, and when he called to get his money back, he was told the Boulder City, Nev., mail-order firm had been sold. Lower, a photographer in Rochester, Minn., returned the SIMM to the firm's new owners and waited for his refund. It never came."

It's an interesting article that the city attorney, district attorney and attorney general should all read. Maybe they would find it easier to discuss the entire matter with Boulder City Detective Robert Baughman who is on top of the situation.

Every now and then Boulder City finds that problems from the big city of Las Vegas and/or the state of California come to roost within its confines. Boulder City residents must count on people like Baughman to protect them and the reputation of the clean and green environment.

It's an interesting article that left much to the imagination of readers. I have to believe we will hear more about it during coming weeks and months.

Attorney Bill Prezant, writing in the Reno Gazette-Journal, objects to making Reno look like Las Vegas. Bill zeroed in on Las Vegas Bob Stupak's proposal to save the venerable Riverside Hotel in downtown Reno by installing a thrill ride and other exciting additions. He sees this is an insult to the historical development of that city.

Prezant writes, "Each community has its own character. That's not to say one is better than another, but like people, communities must realize their strengths and weaknesses. Reno's strength is naturalness, probably an outgrowth of its ranching roots. No matter how hard we might try, we will never have the glitter or sizzle of Las Vegas. For Reno to buy the Stupak proposal would be like a wholesome teen-age girl trying to look like Cher. It can be done, but not for long and at a price."

The Reno attorney also takes a close look at the beauty of his city when writing, "Now this is not to say that this ride and mega-TV screen is not a good idea for another city, like Las Vegas. But let's face it, no surprise here, Reno cannot compete with Las Vegas for the tourist/gambling dollar. We must do the best with what we have, and, by the way, that isn't too shabby. Nature has been kind to this region. We have a couple of spectacular lakes, a splendid river at our doorstep, alpine mountains, high desert habitat, one of the largest wetlands wildlife areas in the country, Virginia City and good, solid, friendly folks."

A reader may read a bit of snobbishness in Prezant's column but overall, his evaluation of the situation is pretty much on target. It's difficult to criticize a resident who doesn't want a carnival-like atmosphere on the banks of the Truckee River where trout can be caught in downtown Reno.

I'm not about to get into Prezant's comparison of Reno, a wholesome teen-age girl, with a Cher-like Las Vegas.

Landfill closure delays Lake Las Vegas access

D.B. Marciniak
News Staff Writer

The official closing of the old Henderson landfill has hampered efforts for the Lake Las Vegas community to gain access to a second road.

Steve Ainsworth, vice president/chief project engineer for Lake Las Vegas, said slow progress by many agencies involved in the land issue has forced the $3.8 billion residential/resort master-planned community to design its main entrance at Lake Mead Drive rather than the Sunset Road corridor as originally planned.

"We haven't expected it to be blazing along as much," he said. "We would have liked it to move a lot faster."

Ainsworth said the shift of the main entrance will not affect accessibility to the community. He said, "Traffic analysis shows both roads to be compatible."

A 140-acre landfill is in the process of being closed. The Bureau of Land Management, the State Division of Environmental Protection and city officials are collaborating to close the land and begin clean-up. Efforts are also being hurried to allow Lake Las Vegas to develop another entrance to its community.

The Beltway and access by U.S. Highway 95 make the Lake Mead entrance just as accessible as at Sunset Road, Ainsworth said.

To help increase traffic flow along Lake Mead to the community, the city will widen the portion of Lake Mead Drive going to Lake Las Vegas. Ainsworth said the widening project will cost approximately $6 million and will be funded completely by Lake Las Vegas. Widening to a four-lane highway will begin by next year, he said.

Both Sunset and Lake Mead were planned to be four-lane roads leading to the community. Due to the landfill closure slowdown at Sunset Road, the Lake Mead portion will begin first, Ainsworth said.

The Sunset Road extension is expected to cost Lake Las Vegas $9 million.

"We have an obligation as a municipality to close the landfill," said John Rinaldi, city surveyor/property manager.

He said while the area has been physically closed since the 1970s, the area needs to be acquired by the city from federal agencies for clean-up to begin.

"We are confident we can embark on our closure plan and accommodate their (Lake Las Vegas) needs," Rinaldi said.

As well as the Sunset entrance being slowed, the burying of the community's septic line is also a concern.

To assure the safety of the surrounding community and future workers for the landfill clean-up effort, the line should be buried as soon as possible, said Allen Biaggi, chief of the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources Division of Environmental Protection Bureau of Corrective Actions.

"There is a big concern about that line and this is why we're trying to push things along," he said.

Although city officials said the landfill may not be officially closed possibly for up to eight years, they said the possibility of closing it in two phases is being considered. To assure safety, city officials are vying for a portion of the landfill area to be closed earlier for a right of way for the sewer line and road. The possibility of an easement closure in about three years is being investigated.

Biaggi said the State Division of Environmental Protection has not been notified of such a closure procedure, but said it may be a feasible idea to solve both the sewer and road problem and allow plans for further clean-up to develop.

"We're willing to listen to their proposal. If it's in the best interest of all parties, it would be something we strongly consider," he said.

LAKE LAS VEGAS: Development continues

Developers feel strongly about that sentiment, O'Boyle said. To assure the best quality of lifestyle for residents, developers are not rushing plans to complete the project.

Construction on the site, located off of Lake Mead Drive between Lake Mead and downtown Henderson, began in 1991.

Lake Las Vegas officials announced June 10 that plans for the Jack Nicklaus-designed championship golf course located at the NorthShore had begun. The 18-hole, 7,100-yard par 72 course will be the second project Nicklaus has worked on for the community.

A private, resident-only, SouthShore course opened in December for play. In November the SouthShore course will host the Wendy's 3-Tour Challenge.

The NorthShore course under development is expected to open the same time as the Hyatt resort in late 1998. O'Boyle said NorthShore homes would also likely begin development at that time.

A total of four golf courses will be developed throughout the planned community, with most homes having golf course views.

The NorthShore phase will consist of an exclusive resort with as many as six hotels and casinos. Residential villas, restaurants, commercial resort villages, world-class spa and tennis facilities are also planned.

The SouthShore phase, located on the south side of the lake, features 450 terraced hillside estate and custom home sites. Many golf villas, town-homes and condominiums are also planned in the private gated community.

"Look what they (residents) are going to look at," O'Boyle said pointing to the surrounding mountains during a recent tour of the project. "They're not going to see neon lights and high rises." ... "We're surrounded by the mountains, and what better protection can you have," she said.

During the tour she pointed out the elegance and relaxed atmosphere the development portrays. All homes are developed with the view of the lake and surrounding mountains in mind, she said.

Homes, which range from $245,000 to $1.95 million, are all designed along a Mediterranean theme. Development is strictly monitored to assure residents and homeowners a quality lifestyle, O'Boyle said.

Council evaluates appointees

The Henderson City Council on Monday conducted personnel evaluations for the city's three appointed positions: city manager, city attorney and city clerk. The session was closed to the public.

Phil Speight, City Manager since 1988, is at the top of the salary range for his position and therefore ineligible for a performance increase. His annual salary is $124,343.72.

Shauna Hughes, City Attorney since 1983, is also at the top of the salary range for her position and therefore ineligible for a performance increase. Her annual salary is $110,194.83.

Susan Robison, City Clerk since 1995, received a 5% performance increase, effective July 1. Her salary will increase from the existing $66,405.28 to $69,725.54.

Along with all other city employees, the City Manager, City Attorney and City Clerk will receive a 4% salary adjustment effective July 1, which City Council approved in June 1995.

Mayor Bob Groesbeck indicated in a news release that Speight, Hughes and Robison received rave reviews from the City Council.

"The city of Henderson is fortunate to have this caliber of talent," he said. "Each of these people are the top in their respective fields, which not only benefits the City Council and myself as Mayor, but every resident in our city," Groesbeck said.

$5,000 from the victim, the Rizzo's said their company, Kady Productions, was scheduled to open the show at the Tropicana on April 15, 1994.

Securities Division officials did not say when they began their investigation, but they found several inconsistencies which led to the Rizzo's arrest:

•Neither the Tropicana nor the Ramada Express casinos had ever entered into a contract with the Rizzo's or Kady Productions.

•Checks from the investor were deposited to a daughter of the Rizzo's with the money used by the couple for personal expenses.

•Two checks for $5,000 written by the investor were deposited to the account used by the Rizzo's

In all, the Rizzo's face three criminal complaints, including omission of material facts and untrue statements of material facts in connection with the offer and sale of securities, obtaining money by false pretenses and money laundering.

Swimmer fatally injured in cliff diving mishap

Shane Engstrom, 31, died Friday of injuries he suffered in a cliff diving accident at Gypsum Wash near Las Vegas Bay.

The emergency was reported to the National Park Service Communication Center via cellular phone at 2:41 p.m. National Park Service rangers immediately responded.

According to witnesses, the Casino opponents to meet tonight

Citizens Opposed to Hotel/Casinos in Green Valley will meet at 7 p.m. tonight at Norwest Bank, Green Valley Parkway and Warm Springs Road.

Petition drives, volunteer enlistment and goal-setting will be among the items discussed. The public is invited.

Henderson resident had been diving into the water from rocks about 20 feet above the water. Friends with the victim estimate that 15 to 20 minutes elapsed between his last observed dive and the time they realized he was missing.

One person from the victim's group swam out to search for him and found Engstrom about 20 feet out in 8- to 10-foot of water.

After he was pulled from the water, several companies began cardio-pulmonary resuscitation until NPS rescue personnel and the "Flight for Life" helicopter arrived.

Engstrom was taken to University Medical Center's trauma unit in Las Vegas, where he was pronounced dead a short time after arrival.

Mayor to appoint new Planning Commissioner

D.B. Marciniak
News Staff Writer

A search for a new Henderson Planning Commissioner to fill out the vacant Ward 4 spot may not come until the first week of July, said Mayor Bob Groesbeck this week.

Groesbeck said while the position needs to be filled he is in no rush to recommend a new commissioner. If necessary, he said the Planning Commission could operate for several weeks with six rather than seven planners.

A position is empty due to the expiration of Commissioner Ron Frame's term. Frame, a planning member for the past six years, was not granted an extension of his term because he moved to a different ward during the past few years.

"The goal is to put someone from Ward 4 in the vacant position," Groesbeck said.

The Ward 4 position was left vacant after City Council shuffled ward assignments to gain more of a balance of representation among the wards. Councilman Andy Hafen, Ward 2, noted that four current commissioners live in Ward 3.

To achieve a better balance, the mayor was asked to assign a Ward 4 seat to a community member in that area. Joanne Huffaker was then named as Hafen's Ward 2 planner.

On Monday, the term of Chat Chatterton was extended until June 1997 for Ward 3.

Ward assignments and term expiration dates are as follows:

- George Bochanis — Ward 3 representative. Term expires in September 1999.
- Danny Sanders — Ward 1 representative. Term expires in August 1999.
- Eric Dobberstein — Ward 4

Prepared By: Information Services, Planning Department

representative. Term expires in August 1998. Dobberstein, however, geographically lives in Ward 3.

• Bob Unger — Ward 3 representative. Term expires in September 1997.

Huffaker's term expires in July 1999. Frame, who represented Ward 3, was not renewed because too many planners were from that ward. If he had not moved from his Ward 2 residence, his term may have been renewed, Hafen said.

"We have no policy about moving from one ward to another," he said. To help balance ward representatives, Hafen said, the city attorney is drafting a letter of understanding for new planners to sign.

The letter will state that in order to preserve a balance of representation, once a planner moves from his assigned ward it is suggested they resign from the planning commission. Under Nevada law, however, a planner is not required to resign.

Also of concern for city officials is the understanding of a new state statute applying to planners and appointed officials. Rather than having a term last for four years, now it is concurrent with the representative who appointed them.

"I would have been happy to continue, but I understand the position Andy (Hafen) was in," Frame said.

Over his tenure as a planner, he said he pushed for an improvement in residents' lifestyle.

"I think the quality of life should be at the forefront. Rapid growth has a great tax revenue, but we have to think of the people first," he said.

Prior to his appointment to the panel, Frame was president of the Green Valley South Homeowners Association. Though he said he never wanted to become involved with the city, he enjoyed his time contributing to the planning process.

"I was never into politics, but once I got started, I was unleashed," Frame said.

7-Eleven robber arrested

Thomas Lacy
News Staff Writer

A Henderson man has been arrested for allegedly robbing an area 7-Eleven store.

Henderson Police reported that the store at 870 E. Lake Mead Dr. was the site of a robbery at approximately 5:15 a.m. June 19.

A worker reported to police that a man entered the store and waited in the check-out line and at some point reached over the counter and took money out of the cash register.

The clerk then attempted to remove the money from the suspect's hand, and in doing so, pulled a wrist watch from the man's wrist.

The suspect then fled the store with an undisclosed amount of cash.

Police were able to obtain a surveillance photo of the man and began a door-to-door canvassing effort of the area.

Soon, officers were provided with information that led them to believe that the suspect, Dwight Darrell Fuller, 30, was located at an apartment at 1030 Center St.

A stakeout was set up by police at the Center Street apartment and Henderson Police soon observed Fuller leave the residence and enter a vehicle. Police followed the vehicle to the same 7-Eleven store that had been robbed earlier and took Fuller into custody at that location without incident.

Fuller was charged with robbery and booked in the Henderson City Jail.

Hiding monopoles a unique solution

With a booming population and the burgeoning growth of cellular phone use, finding ways to meet some residents' concerns are frequently difficult for city officials.

They are taking a step in the right direction by approving innovative ways to deal with the wireless communication antenna problem.

To meet the increasing demand by customers for more efficient service and increased cellular phone use, many companies such as AT&T and Sprint have been vaulting to the Henderson Planning Commission with plans for monolithic poles.

Soon, however, they realized how difficult it was to gain approval of the poles by planners and City Council. They were forced to begin looking at unique ways to pass their project while also meeting residents' concerns about aesthetics.

The Planning Commission recently approved plans for a wireless communications antenna housed in a church bell tower. The application is pending City Council approval Tuesday. To a layman, that proposal does not seem unique. To city officials and those in the cellular industry, however, it is.

Planners and councilmen are in a peculiar position. They strive to meet the needs of businesses asking for approval of projects while also striking a balance with community concerns.

Residents often oppose a monopole housed on a nearby street corner. Cellular officials want poles placed in positions to improve their systems.

With planners and councilmen looking at unique ideas and challenging the parties to discuss differences, the best solution may be found.

Other unique ideas such as incorporating cellular antenna into existing signage have also been achieved. Innovation can help accommodate all parties' concerns and produce more pleasant lifestyles for residents. It is hoped they will continue on the right path.

Tobacco: Who should regulate?

The tobacco industry is anxiously waiting for the Food and Drug Administration to finish writing its final regulations on the sale of tobacco to minors.

The rules, due sometime in the summer or fall, would put teeth into prohibitions for which the tobacco companies themselves have eagerly professed support: Minors should be blocked from easy access to cigarettes via vending machines or too-lax convenience/store staff; advertising should not target children directly. (Though government regulations of such advertising brings up complicated issues of its own, no one, even the tobacco companies, publicly disputes the proposition that to aim smoking ads at children by whatever means is morally disgusting.)

So eager, if not frantic, is Philip Morris Inc. to express its agreement with these goals that its executives announced a proposal of their own: Legislation banning vending machines and a few other egregious leakage points in the sale of cigarettes to minors, in return for—surprise!—the canceling of the FDA's authority to enforce by regulation the laws already on the books.

Instead, the executives suggest, enforcement authority for these strict new laws would migrate to the Federal Trade Commission, the Justice Department and some unspecified office of Health and Human Services. By sheer coincidence these are all agencies that have declined to crack the whip on such overtly kid-oriented advertising as Joe Camel ads in the past.

A lot has happened in the past year to narrow the bargaining space for companies: new evidence on the science of addiction and on the possible manipulation of nicotine levels to hook smokers, former executives testifying to their own past misdeeds, and the defection to a liability settlement by the smallest of the tobacco companies. That may explain the distance Philip Morris has traveled since last June, when it sought to stave off White House-inspired regulation by pledging a tremendous crackdown and public education effort to cut off supplies to anyone convicted of selling cigarettes to a minor. That might have flown if not for the attorney general of Minnesota, who collected five successful prosecutions of convenience stores for that very offense and wrote to Philip Morris asking whether it would do as it said. The company's subsequent follow-up was not, let's say, particularly convincing.

There's not much to attract in the idea of bargaining away real regulation—the first ever—for yet another promise of compliance by companies whose financial fortunes depend on the absence of such compliance. Underage smoking is, FDA Commissioner David Kessler likes to say, a "pediatric disease." It should be not only illegal but impossible.

RICHARD COHEN

Congressional ghettos

WASHINGTON—My friend Nick does not vote. He insists that no matter whom you vote for, a politician wins. Such logic is unassailable and pretty much explains why I think the Supreme Court did the right thing in ruling that four predominantly black congressional districts are unconstitutional. Nick would explain matters this way: If these districts were so good for blacks, how come whites created them?

In fact and indeed, it turns out that the very notion of creating safe congressional districts for blacks is—brace yourself—a GOP innovation. It was devised by the Republican National Committee and course, was to create a sort of political ghetto—put most of the blacks in one district and, in the process, get them out of nearby ones. This is because blacks have the good sense to be Democrats.

But this accommodation between one group of politicians (white Republicans) and another (black Democrats) has more and more come under question by the Supreme Court. Since 1993, eight predominantly black or Hispanic districts in five states have been struck down by the court and it will, it appears, continue to do so wherever it finds that race as the dominant factor in creating the district. North Carolina's 12th, for instance, looks as if it was drawn by the hand that once created routes for segregated school buses. The court rightly struck it down.

Black political leaders feel strongly about such districts and their voice must be heeded. The number of blacks in Congress is now 41 and only two, both Republican conservatives, were elected in majority-white districts. As a result, the African American community now has additional, if not considerable, clout in Congress but one wonders, really, what this has meant to the average black person. To hear the Black Caucus tell it, the answer is "nothing" or, if you happen to be on the right list, an invite to the best party in town.

Whatever the case, a real price has been paid. Race was allowed to become the dominant element in creating a congressional district. An aspect of a person that is immutable has—for well-intentioned reasons—become controlling. The court said it ought not to be. The court is right.

But the court speaks only to the Constitution. Other matters, though, can be addressed. The first is whether it's such a good thing for blacks to be concentrated in one district. Yes, they get a representative who will, more or less, mirror their concerns. But they also get others from nearby districts who not only do not mirror their concerns, but don't have to spend five minutes finding out what those concerns are. This would not happen if there were numbers of blacks in those districts.

President Clinton is instructive in this regard. He went last week to visit the Mt. Zion AME Church in Greeleyville, S.C., one of the many black churches set on fire recently. He did so, of course, because he is the president of the United States and this wave of arsons demanded a presidential response. But he did so also because blacks are a crucial Democratic constituency. It may not have been true, as alleged, that Republicans virtually ignored the death of Ron Brown, but it is true that their constituency was not upset by the charge. You get the idea.

In politics as in love, it is always better not to be taken for granted. It would be better for African Americans if their votes were in play, rather than consigned to one party within one congressional district. It would be better for them, and healthier for the entire nation, if more members of Congress had to take the African American community into account when casting a particular vote or making a particular speech. And it would be just as wonderful if the African American community acknowledged what is clearly true: sometimes it is just as well off with white representation and sometimes it doesn't make any difference at all.

The unavoidable truth is that whites for the most part remain reluctant to vote for blacks (although maybe not for moderate or conservative blacks) and that being a black politician often means remaining at the local level. (This glass ceiling is tinted.) But it has always seemed to me that the ultimate goal is a colorblind society or, at least, one in which the importance of race is vastly diminished. Racially gerrymandered congressional districts hardly move us in the right direction and, instead, segregate us in novel but nevertheless pernicious ways. They create congressional ghettos—one district for blacks, the rest for whites and very few for congressmen who would have to appeal to both.

New tests this year

The 1996-97 school year will bring with it a new series of tests that some are calling more demanding than those of previous years.

The fourth and eighth grade tests have been designated by statute to be used in school accountability. That is, those tests must be reported so parents and the community at-large know how individual schools perform in reading, writing and mathematics.

The new tests, to be used for the first time next year, are said to be longer and more rigorous. Those two facts alone would suggest to knowledgeable people that a dip in scores is likely. For those not wanting to understand this, they might look at dropping scores as further evidence that schools are not doing their jobs. But, just the use of a new instrument (test), even if it was not longer or more difficult, would have a lowering effect.

I personally support testing, I believe tests should measure what we expect of our students. I also believe testing should be used to compare ourselves to others taking the test, whether it is district to district, or state to state. In that way, we will have an overall picture of student's achievement, based on what they know and how they compare nationally.

Parents want to know how their children perform in school. That is, they want to know if their children learned what teachers taught them. A test measuring that is a criterion-referenced test. It is a test like those your teacher made up after covering a chapter or concept. They tested you to find out what you had learned.

Do you remember complaining to a teacher or about a teacher concerning a test question whose subject matter wasn't covered? Remember how unfair you thought that was?

Let's put that into perspective. Your belief that you should have tested on what was presented was exactly correct if the teacher wanted to measure how well you learned the material. That test, a criterion-referenced test, measures what you learned based upon what was taught. In simpler terms, it measures student performance (achievement), in school. Using the information, parents can quickly determine how children are performing. In the true meaning, they have accountability.

Now, just as important, if I want to compare student performance of local students to other geographic areas, I would design a test covering a broader spectrum.

Questions or concepts on the test would include those students had yet to be taught. This type of test is called a norm-referenced test. It is not designed to determine students' progress, but to see how the curriculum (what we teach kids) in one community stacks up to that of other communities. That's important for communities to know. You might be a very big fish in a little pond, but in a lake, you might not look so good.

In testing, we need to know how well students are performing based upon what they have been taught using a criterion-referenced test and we also should know how our curriculum matches other states through a norm-referenced test.

The two tests were designed to measure different things: Criterion measures what schools taught; norm compares curriculum to other geographic areas and is also greatly impacted by the socio-economic status of the parents.

Nevada uses the norm referenced test in the accountability statute. That's wrong.

Can you imagine someone suggesting not promoting a student based on a test that contains questions that have nothing to do with what he or she has been taught? Would the words "not fair" or "lawsuit" come to mind under those circumstances?

If we want to hold schools accountable for what they teach, then a criterion-referenced test must be used in the reporting of a school's performance. Otherwise it has very little meaning. The statute must be amended.

Does that mean we should not administer the norm-referenced test? Absolutely not. Those tests give us valuable information and should still be given. But rather than have individual schools report those results as is required by law now, they should be reported by district. After all, the test was designed to measure the district's curriculum.

Tests should be used for the purpose they were designed.

Pemberton achieves Personal Best

Kathy Streater
News Staff Writer

Tiffany Pemberton overcame the odds.

Despite a nontraditional childhood, and a home away from her mother, father and brothers, she excelled in school, graduated from high school and is going to college.

Every year, students like her in Clark County overcome the limitations of physical handicaps, learning disabilities, serious illnesses or unusual home lives, and receive their high school diplomas.

A scholarship, sponsored by Smith's Food and Drug Centers and the Clark County Public Education Foundation, helps make it possible for many of these high school graduates to attend college.

Personal Best Scholarships were started by Smith's to recognize students who have met and overcome a personal challenge at some point in their lives. Sixteen 1996 graduates received $1,000 Personal Best Scholarships this Spring.

A graduate of Basic High School, Pemberton, is among them.

Although she met the scholarship's only criteria — "shows promise in non-traditional ways, needs non-traditional incentives for graduation and won't have the opportunity for post high school education without financial help" — she says her life has been filled with fortunate circumstances.

"There are other kids out there with no family to help them," Pemberton said. "Living without my mom and dad] made me determined to make the best of my life so I can do better for my kids."

Since age 8, Pemberton has lived with relatives. Her mother lives in the South, and Pemberton has never known her father. Although she says at times she wondered what life would be like with "traditional" parents, she enjoyed living with her great aunt and uncle.

"My Aunt Judy really inspired me," Pemberton said. "She is always there for me. ... My aunt and uncle let me do everything on my own. They taught me right from wrong, and left it up to me to make my own choice."

One choice Pemberton has made is to attend UNLV with the goal of teaching high school English one day. She said she wanted to be a social worker for many years, but changed her mind her last year of high school. Pemberton said she wants a career in a field where she can help other children.

"I want to be able to relate to my students on the same level, to talk to them one-on-one," Pemberton said.

During high school, she was active in peer mediation — a group of teens trained to listen to and counsel their peers. She also worked several part-time jobs and was named Junior prom court attendant.

She said she "grew up" at the Henderson Boys and Girls Club. She volunteered to help children after school with their homework and was involved with many other programs. Her great uncle, Clyde Caldwell, is director of the club.

An excellent student,

Tiffany Pemberton

Pemberton was determined to win as many scholarships as possible. Judy Caldwell, her great aunt, said she was very determined and organized.

"We didn't even know half the scholarships she was applying for," Judy Caldwell said. "She would fill out the applications and then come out and read them to us."

Her determination paid off.

Pemberton will attend UNLV this fall with the help of four scholarships, including the Personal Best, totaling $4,300 all together.

For more information about the Personal Best Scholarship, contact the Clark County Public Education Foundation, 2832 E. Flamingo Road, Box 7, Las Vegas, NV 89121.

Basic '66 reunion planned

Basic High School has announced plans for the 30-year reunion for the class of 1966.

The reunion will begin with the Homecoming game on Friday, Oct. 18 and continue Oct. 19.

Participants will be bused from the high school parking lot to Lake Mead Marina to board the Desert Princess for a lake tour including Hoover Dam.

The cost is $50, including transportation, food and entertainment.

The entertainment committee is planning to put together a video presentation for reunion night. Each class member is requested to provide 10 photos recapping the last 10 years. Super 8 mm or similar footage will also be accepted.

Include details of the pictures and send to John Winlow, 1601 E. Flamingo Road, Suite 18, Las Vegas NV 89119.

For more information, call Josie Olson, 454-8400, or fax 795-4500.

Edwards wins scholarships

Manus A. Edwards of Henderson has been chosen to receive two scholarships at Miami University (Oxford, Ohio) for the upcoming academic year.

Edwards was selected to receive the Black Scholars Program Scholarship and the Miami Achievement Scholarship.

He is one of nearly 3,000 students to receive a scholarship based on superior academics and personal merit.

Scholarship funds are provided by gifts from the alumni and friends of the university, as well as corporations, foundations and community organizations.

Children's World names new center director

Children's World Learning Centers recently announced the appointment of Michelle Natali as director of the Children's World Center at 1901 N. Green Valley Parkway in Henderson.

She will oversee daily management and operations of the center.

Natali has more than 10 years' experience in the child development field. She was director of a Las Vegas-area child care center for six years previously.

"Michelle brings a great understanding of child care and early childhood education to this position," said Beverly O'Connell, Children's World district manager. "Her expertise will be an invaluable asset to the overall operations of the center."

For more information on programs offered at the North Green Valley Parkway location, call 263-9326.

Children's World Learning Centers operates four community-based learning centers in the Las Vegas area, as well as before and after school programs on the premises of elementary schools.

Recognized for its developmentally appropriate curriculum, the centers encourage social, cognitive and physical development, while allowing children to learn at their own pace.

Children's World has been providing early childhood and elementary educational programs since 1969.

Fireworks sale to help Basic football

The Basic High School Football Booster Club will be selling Red Devil Fireworks starting Friday to help the football program. The booth will be located at the corner of Basic Road and Boulder Highway next to Chief Auto Parts.

Junior varsity and varsity football players will staff the booth and all profits will go towards the purchase and installation of a new floor in the weight room at Basic High School.

Shakespeare in the Park seeks volunteers, donors

Nevada Shakespeare in the Park will celebrate its 10th anniversary as it returns to Foxridge Park in the Green Valley area of Henderson Sept. 27-29.

A Los Angeles-based professional acting troupe, Jester Productions, will perform three free performances of "Macbeth" as part of the week-long celebration organized by the Arts Council of Henderson-Green Valley.

"The community has truly embraced the festival," said Judi Steele, Arts Council president. "This 10th anniversary celebration is tribute to the many fans and supporters of Shakespeare in the Park."

The event is the culmination of months of fund-raising and planning by many organizations and individuals. Donations and volunteers are sought to help bring the popular community affair to all Southern Nevada residents.

The festival enables the public to enjoy live professional outdoor theater, including a variety of pre-play performances and activities.

Opening entertainment, called a "Green Show," will include madrigal singers, jugglers and mimes, and is designed to acquaint audiences with aspects of the Shakespearean time period.

Educational packets including a synopsis of the play, historical information, a glossary of terms and character sketches will again be available to the public and distributed to schools through the Clark County School District Partnership Office.

Local students will have the chance to meet the Shakespearean company during the week before the performances. Actors from Jester Productions will travel to area schools to perform "Macbeth" excerpts to help students learn some of the play's history and time period. Students will also be invited to attend a special student performance prior to opening night.

The festival holds great significance for Henderson. Last year, more than 20,000 people attended, making it the largest annual cultural event in the Green Valley area.

"The city is proud to be celebrating the 10th anniversary of Shakespeare in the Park with the Arts Council of Henderson-Green Valley," said Henderson Mayor Robert Groesbeck.

"Henderson supports Shakespeare and the development of the arts and will continue to do so by providing more events each year. I urge those residents who have not experienced Shakespeare in the Park to do so," Groesbeck said. "It is truly a magical experience."

American Nevada Corp., the primary developer of Green Valley, became the first major donor for the program, and still constitutes a major contributor and supporter of the annual event.

Shakespeare in the Park has attracted a growing number of volunteers and donors. Last year's contributor list consisted of local home builders, corporations, businesses and individual members of the Southern Nevada community.

Co-sponsors of the event include community-based organizations such as the city of Henderson, the Henderson Parks and Recreation Department, Clark County School District, the Henderson campus of Community College of Southern Nevada and the Nevada Humanities Committee.

Annual performances are made possible by volunteer community efforts. Fundraising is on-going and all donations are tax-deductible.

Although performances are free and open to the public, people can reserve VIP blanket tickets for a donation of $150. Individuals donating $150 or more can set up blankets for themselves and three guests directly in front of the stage.

In 1992, Nevada Shakespeare in the Park won the Dorothy Mullen Arts and Humanities Award, a national award recognizing "creativity in designing a unique program benefiting many sectors of the community."

The festival has also received Congressional praise. Rep. James H. Bilbray gave the festival a certificate of special Congressional recognition in 1994 for its outstanding and invaluable service to the community.

It gained an additional special commendation from Sen. Richard H. Bryan, (D-NV), who cited its exemplary performance, outstanding achievement, dedicated efforts and distinguished service in enhancing the quality of life and prosperity of Southern Nevadans.

With the continued support of area individuals and corporations, the 10th anniversary will see the festival continue its outstanding tradition as a key area cultural event.

For more information on donations or volunteer work, call 226-9101.

Gem, Ameristar to merge on The Reserve

D.B. Marciniak
News Staff Writer

If approved by the State Gaming Control Board, a merger of Gem Gaming Inc. and Ameristar Casinos Inc. will make Henderson's The Reserve Hotel and Casino bigger, faster.

Gregg Schatzman, vice president/general manager of the project, said a letter of intent has been signed by both sides and approval by the Gaming Control Board is expected this summer. He said the merger will allow The Reserve to expand its facility and possibly make it larger than originally proposed.

"Henderson is going to be proud of the property, and even more so now," Schatzman said.

The Reserve is the first major hotel/casino to open in Henderson along Lake Mead Drive. Following an African jungle safari theme, The Reserve will feature several bronze statues of monkeys, hippos, elephants, giraffes and other wildlife amid a canopy of trees towering 24 feet in the air. It is scheduled to open Oct. 1.

With the backing of Ameristar, he said the project gains a boost in insight and design. Although the design of the structure under construction will remain the same, design experts from Ameristar are developing plans for a second tower and improvements on existing plans for the interior.

As far as changes in design, Schatzman said, "It's going to be to make the property more functional as it grows."

The $50 million project could double or triple in size shortly after the opening of the main structure expected in October.

Although it is unknown when the second phase for expansion will begin, Schatzman said expansion will likely begin immediately following the opening of the main structure. If designs for the second tower are finished before the main structure is complete, the additions may start immediately. This may push the opening to December, he said.

Phase I of the project includes approximately 1,000 slot machines, 35 table games, a 225-room hotel, several dining rooms and retail stores. With expansion, the project is expected to have a total of 1,500 rooms, 2,000 slot machines, 75 table games, several restaurants, meeting and convention facilities and other recreational amenities.

Schatzman said immediate expansion plans will make The Reserve competitive with casinos such as Boulder Station, Sam's Town and the Sunset Station, which is also under construction in Henderson.

Lane restrictions planned Monday on Sunset Road

Lane restrictions and maintenance operations will impact traffic flow from 3 to 11 a.m. Monday on Sunset Road between Boulder Highway and Gibson Road.

"We need to get into this area and sweep as well as flush seal the median islands," said Dave Sangster, a maintenance supervisor of the Nevada Department of Transportation District 1. "East and west bound traffic flow as well as some left-hand turn movements will be affected."

Sunset's east and west bound travel lanes (within the work zone) will be closed to traffic. The area's left-hand turn lanes will also be restricted as the maintenance crew works its way through the adjacent area. Center and right-hand travel lanes will remain open for motorists.

Motorists are asked to use caution as they travel adjacent to the work zone. Safety is of utmost importance for everyone associated with this necessary work.

For more information, call Bobby Shelton, 385-6504.

Local students receive Vertical Leap Scholarships

Local students have received the Greg C. Anthony Vertical Leap Scholarship.

Rebecca Bidier of Basic High School, Farnousa Athari of Boulder City High School, Ryan Bayley of Green Valley High School and LaNae Bradley of Silverado High School were among the 1995-96 recipients.

Each student will receive a $100 scholarship toward their college education.

The Greg C. Anthony Foun-

ation works with the Clark County Public Education Foundation to ensure that students in Southern Nevada have the opportunity to pursue higher education. The program is designed to give more students a chance to "leap forward" in achieving their academic goals. Anthony, a graduate of UNLV, plays in the NBA.

Students were honored at a reception June 20 at Caesars Palace.

SNWA starts water pipeline construction

Additional work on the South Valley Lateral, a water pipeline being constructed by the Southern Nevada Water Authority began yesterday and will continue on two locations along the lateral route.

Crews will install approximately one mile of 108-inch pipeline.

"The South Valley Lateral is a key component for meeting the demand for drinking water in Henderson and the southern half of the Las Vegas Valley," said

Douglas A. Selby, SNWA director of engineering.

The work on the lateral involves boring under two roadways, U.S. 93-95 and Boulder Highway. The tunneling project under the freeway has begun and is set for completion in November. This section will also tunnel under the Union Pacific railroad tracks, then head north, cutting across Horizon Ridge Parkway.

Work near Boulder Highway involves laying pipeline next to Racetrack Road and Horizon Drive. After crews bore two tunnels under Boulder Highway and the C-1 Flood Control Channel on Horizon, the pipeline will cut across Racetrack Road.

Construction on Racetrack will take place toward the end of 1996, with crews working on two lanes of the road at a time to allow through traffic. This phase is set for completion in spring 1997.

Ultimately, the project will involve laying 27 miles of pipeline from the River Mountains near Henderson to Jones Boulevard and Warm Springs Road in unincorporated Clark County. The entire pipeline is scheduled to be completed by 1999 to meet the area's projected water demands.

The project contractor is Colich & Sons, and the engineering firm is Black & Veatch. Parsons Infrastructure and Technology is providing program and construction management.

"As a member of the SNWA, the city of Henderson is looking forward to seeing this key addition to our regional water infrastructure," said Henderson Mayor Robert Groesbeck, who sits on the SNWA board of directors. "Providing a safe and reliable water supply to our citizens and businesses is critically important to maintaining the quality of life we enjoy today."

The SNWA is a regional water management entity established in 1991 to address Southern Nevada water issues on a regional basis. Member agencies include Boulder City, Henderson, Las Vegas, North Las Vegas, the Big Bend Water District, the Clark County Sanitation District, and the Las Vegas Valley Water District.

For more information on the South Valley Lateral and other SNWA projects, call 862-3456.

Jones invited to seminar

Dundee Jones, director of Henderson's Parks and Recreation Department, is one of only 40 individuals nationwide invited to participate in "On the Edge of Community Evolution," a national symposium on changing trends in the parks and recreation fields.

It is scheduled for June 23-27 in St. Charles, Mo., and is hosted by the St. Charles Parks and Recreation Department in conjunction with the National Symposium Committee, sanctioned by the National Recreation and Park Association.

Henderson was chosen to participate because of the city's rapid growth and successful management of parks issues. The purpose of the symposium is to form a community model based upon the concept that suburbia is the evolution of urban and rural cultures, with distinct and separate recreation and leisure needs.

Because Henderson has moved so rapidly from a rural into an urban environment, symposium officials wanted to learn how city Parks and Recreation officials managed not only population growth, but the associated cultural changes, successfully.

Jones became director of Henderson Parks and Recreation in 1973, when the population was 17,310. The city's most recent population figures exceed 120,000 residents, a 700% increase over Jones' 23-year career.

He served as president of the Nevada Recreation and Park Society in 1977, and 1987 and received the NRPS' MileStone Award in 1995. He serves as the Pacific Southwest Region representative to the American Park and Recreation Society. He is also one of the first certified leisure professionals in Nevada.

Also participating in the 1996 Symposium are Dr. George Wendel, director and professor at the Center for Urban Programs, and Dr. Mary Domahidy, assistant professor in the Department of Public Policy Studies at St. Louis University. They will assist in the development of a prototype community model, which will

Early retirement requires planning

Many people find themselves retiring sooner than they expect as a result of corporate restructuring. Others are considering retiring early to get more "quality time" with family and friends.

Whatever the reason, the Nevada Society of CPAs said that, before making a final decision about when to retire, you must assess your personal financial situation and determine your lifestyle needs.

How much money will you need?

While circumstances vary, CPAs say that most retirees will need 70-to-80% of pre-retirement salary to maintain their standard of living. The exact amount depends on a number of factors, including where and how you plan to live during your retirement.

To determine whether you can afford to retire early, you'll need to take a long, hard look at your anticipated expenses and income during your post-retirement years.

Retirees typically have fewer expenses than working individuals. For example, once you retire, some expenses will decrease, such as clothing, commuting, lunches, and other work-related needs. If both you and your spouse have cars, you also may decide that you need only one when you retire.

On the other hand, costs for entertainment and vacations may increase. Be prepared to cover more of your own medical costs. Medicare, for instance, generally covers only about half of medical bills. You'll need to provide for some kind of supplemental health coverage to avoid dipping into your savings to pay your bills.

MONEY MANAGEMENT

How much money do you have?

Most people fund their retirement through three primary sources: Social Security retirement benefits, pensions, and personal savings, including individual retirement accounts. To determine if early retirement is financially feasible, you'll need to estimate just how much income will be available to you.

Ask the Social Security Administration to send you a statement of earnings so that you can get an idea of your expected benefit. You can get Form SSA 7004 (Request for Statement of Earnings) from your local Social Security office, or by calling (800)772-1213. No matter what the expected benefits, there's one thing you can count on: Social Security benefits will provide only a small portion of the income you need to retire comfortably.

Pension funds are one way to supplement Social Security benefits. Again, it's wise to find out in advance how much pension money you can count on during your retirement years. Do this by contacting your former employers.

When considering early re-

The center is open for all activities 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, 6 to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday evenings and Saturdays 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Reduced Fare Taxi Coupons

Applications and ID services for reduced fare taxi coupons will be available at the center from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. today. The State of Nevada Division for Aging Services and the Senior Ride Program makes coupons available four times a year. Seniors 60 or older, or those permanently disabled, are eligible for half-price fare books.

First-time applications must be completed in person. Books can afterwards be requested by mail. Some restrictions apply. For more information, call 486-6535.

St. Rose Seminar

The next St. Rose Dominican Hospital seminar is scheduled for noon Friday, July 5. The hospital provides the session the first Friday of every month in order to keep seniors aware of offered services. Seminars also provide information on many free or low-cost programs offered through the hospital, the Senior Center, and other community partnerships.

It enables seniors to get acquainted with services available to them, and also includes time for individual questions. St. Rose has provided health care to Henderson residents for more than 50 years.

Election Demonstration

The Clark County Election Department will display a new voting machine at the center from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday, July 5. This hands-on session enables residents to become acquainted with the machines to avoid confusion on Election Day. Information on registering to vote, early voting and absentee voting will also be available.

Fourth of July celebration

Get ready for a grand Fourth of July celebration at 11 a.m. Thursday, July 4 at the center. Edna Deardoff and her crew will deck the place out in red, white and blue, and Minnie Fulford and the Young at Heart Band will kick off festivities with patriotic singalong tunes.

WHEN EVERYONE RECEIVES A

"FAIR SHARE"

When U.S. Bank recently received the NAACP's prestigious "Fair Share Award" (one of only seven companies nationwide to be so honored), it reminded us that our success is measured not just in terms of interest earned or loans made, but also in terms of how we positively impact the overall economic and social fabric of Nevada.

We understand that the best work gets done when people come together with a common goal, a common purpose. U.S. Bank works with community organizations across the state and assists the NAACP Community Development Resource Center, as well as minority and women-owned businesses. We also strive to make affordable housing and superior education available in Nevada.

We are proud to be associated with you, Nevada, in our efforts to give our Fair Share and ask you to join us in accepting this award.

Without you, there's no us.

'Strip Search' auditions set for July 7

Open auditions for "Strip Search" will take place from 2 to 9 p.m. Sunday, July 7. Roles are available for adults of all ages and ethnicity.

Those interested in auditioning can sign up for an audition time slot at the Department of Theater Arts office, in the lobby of the Judy Bayley Theater at UNLV.

Las Vegas is the focus of the university's Summer Theater Project "Strip Search", a collection of original 10-minute plays which will be the 1996-97 pre-season kickoff for the University Theater.

Subjects of the plays range from homeless Strip people, to a man looking for a mystical experience at the Luxor, to college students in debt to loan sharks, to strips of DNA.

The production will run at 8 p.m. on August 15-17, 22-24 and 2 p.m. on August 18 and 25 in the Harris Theater in the Ham Fine Arts Building.

Purchasing seminar set

"Creative Purchasing—Tools for Achieving Success" has been scheduled by the National Association of Purchasing Management, District I Council, on July 25, at the Riviera Hotel, 2901 S. Las Vegas Blvd.

It is designed to help all attendees develop creative skills to be used on the job.

Elaine Whittington and Carol Hartman (both certified purchasing managers) will jointly present the Seminar. They are recognized leaders in the purchasing industry, having been involved for a combined total for more than 45 years.

The cost for the one-day seminar is $45 NAPM members; $95 non-members. Call (800)834-6753 to reserve a seat.

NAPM, a not-for-profit association, provides national and international leadership in purchasing and materials management education and research.

It provides more than 34,000 members in 172 affiliated associations with opportunities to expand their professional skills and knowledge.

Senior Summer dance June 28

A Senior Summer Dance will take place from 6 to 8 p.m., Saturday, June 28, at the Silver Springs Recreation Center, 1951 Silver Springs Parkway.

Sponsored by the City of Henderson Parks and Recreation Department, enjoy an evening of Big Band favorites played by a live DJ.

Admission to the dance for those aged 50 and older is $3 a person.

Primes celebrate 50th anniversary

The family of Ben and Allene Prime invite their friends and acquaintances to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary from noon to 3:30 p.m. Sunday, June 30, at Henderson Community Church at Greenway Road and Horizon Drive in Henderson. They request no gifts.

Ben was born in Illinois to parents from Nebraska and grew up in Southern California. Allene Littrell was born in the oil fields of Kansas, but the Depression years drove her family to California to find work in the war industry.

Only two months in California, she experienced her first earthquake, which closed her school for a day. Two months after that came the shock of Pearl Harbor followed by mandatory blackout procedures and shortages of everything.

She was invited to Disciples Church (First Christian) by a new schoolmate. Immediately her musical talent was revealed and she was led to a Sunday School department to play for them.

A young man named Ben led songs for this group. She was 15 and he 19 the first time she played for him to sing a solo, and soon they were dating—often on the tennis court.

Their relationship was soon put on hold when Ben joined the Army Air Corps in fall 1942, and he left for pilot training in February 1943. He was to lose his father in a tragic auto accident before he completed pilot training.

She saw his family at church regularly, but because he was a poor correspondent, she felt he had lost interest and did not feel she knew him well enough to help fill the void of his father or invade their personal sadness.

More and more miles pushed them apart as the war continued and he was sent to the China-Burma-India Theater of the war to fly C-47 transports over the hump—mules, supplies and guerrilla troops. He spent a full year there by the time V-J Day came in August 1945.

During those years, she became the church musician and choir accompanist, finished high school and took an office job. She found another young serviceman who was a much better correspondent and they got to know each other rather well through letters and his showering her with gifts.

Ben returned home, surprisingly, about a week before the other young man did, and she had some tough decisions to make. The Air Corps uniform won out over the Seabee uniform and the relationship began again. Music was the strong mutual interest between them and they were married in that same Disciples church in Torrance, Calif. on June 30, 1946.

Their romance was woven by music, and has continued for all their married life. As their family grew, the children were also taught to have an appreciation of the world of music.

Stauffer Chemical Co. hired Ben and they arrived in Henderson on Oct. 29, 1956 (Ben's birthday) with Mark, a fourth-grader, Barry, a second grader and Curtis, 18 months. The day was most memorable as there was zero visibility due to a terrible sand storm. What an introduction to the desert, but they are confirmed Desert Rats now!

Ben and Allene Prime

Their fourth son, Kevin, arrived in November 1963 to complete their family.

Their four sons have given them lovely daughters-in-law, 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Two of the families live in Henderson, one in the Pahrump area, and one in Sequim, a small town on the Washington State peninsula.

Ben retired in 1983 from Stauffer Chemical after 26 years, but was a substitute teacher for the Clark County School District in math and science for six years, retiring in 1987. Allene retired from the Clark County School District in 1993, all 25 years at the Southern Nevada Vocational-Technical Center and serving as its registrar the last 12 years of her tenure. She played the organ for seven of its high school graduations.

Their lives have been dedicated to their family, their church and music throughout the church and community. Ben contributed many years to choral directing and singing, while Allene played organ and piano for churches, choirs, youth groups and community organizations. They have both sun in the community Messiah productions over the years, particularly while in Southern California. They also helped teach square and round dancing in their early years.

Philanthropy nominations sought

The Las Vegas chapter of the National Society of Fund Raising Executives invites non-profit organizations to submit nominations for its fifth annual philanthropy day awards, to be presented at a luncheon on National Philanthropy Day, November 15.

Nomination information and forms are available by calling Lucy Klinkhammer, 895-3641. The deadline for requesting forms is July 1.

Scouts thank merchants

Girl Scout Troop 512 would like to thank local merchants for their donations at a recent tea party.

Tea for Two, a mother-daughter tea party, was held at the Valley View Recreation center May 11.

Participating Girl Scouts and their mothers were treated to a Victorian-style tea party. Tea pot-shaped cookies, cheese and crackers, fruit, assorted baked goods and scones were among treats enjoyed at the party.

Entertainment was provided by Mari Rene of the Personal Best Training Academy. Models displayed clothes from the 5-7-9 store. Mari's Pom Pom girls also performed.

Tea etiquette and English Victorian history was taught to the girls by Kathy Kesner, otherwise known as "Queen Victoria." Tricia Decosta added to the excitement of the day by performing a baton routine.

Survey reveals interview antics, blunders of new graduates

How would you react if a job candidate's mother called during the interview to request that you hire her recently-graduated son as an entry-level Vice President of Operations? Or an applicant arrived for an interview wearing an impeccable new suit with tags hanging from the sleeve?

Hiring executives have had these and other unfortunate bloopers of recent college grads.

An OfficeTeam survey of company managers nationwide indicates the behavior of some college graduates today can be counterproductive to their primary objective—landing the job.

Developed by OfficeTeam, a leading staffing service specializing in highly skilled temporary office and administrative professionals, the survey includes responses from executives of the nation's 1,000 largest companies. They were asked: What is the funniest thing you have ever heard of happening in a job interview?

Their responses included:

- A young candidate showed up for the interview with his long hair tucked into the collar of his suit. He didn't think anyone would notice.

- An extremely nervous recent graduate arrived at the interview wearing a beautiful new suit with all the tags still on the left sleeve.

- A grad remarked to me that, coincidentally, two separate firms she had talked to that day had 'ink' in their names.

- An applicant brought in a pet lizard to display his creativity.

- We are in Decatur, Ill. The applicant went to Decatur, Ga., and called us to ask where we were.

- An applicant asked his mother to call the company while he was interviewing to see if he could be given an entry-level vice president of operations position.

- I interviewed an individual over dinner. After the meal, I watched her chew her entire fortune cookie, paper and all. Then she pulled the fortune out of her mouth and read it to me.

- An applicant brought his family and babysitter to watch the children in the company's lobby. After the interview, the family came in and asked questions, such as when would he be able to start and when their health care benefits begin.

- A recent graduate was doing well until the end of her interview, when she said that she'd be ideal for the job since she would need a year of this kind of training before starting her own company.

- One entry-level applicant wanted so badly to make a favorable impression with his handshake that it hurt the hiring manager.

- A candidate's cellular phone rang. She said, 'excuse me,' and promptly answered the call—during the interview.

- A job seeker was late for an interview. His excuse was that his dog refused to eat, no matter what he cooked for the thankless canine.

"Reaching the interview stage is a key milestone, and the event itself can be pivotal in a person's career," said Diane Domeyer, executive director of OfficeTeam. "Interviewing, like anything else, requires preparation, practice and experience.

"Fortunately, the examples cited here are the exceptions to normal interview conduct," said Domeyer. "However, college graduates should rehearse with a family member, friend or even a tape recorder prior to attending job interviews. They should also avoid 'clever' gimmicks, err on the side of conservatism and exude a courteous, enthusiastic demeanor," she said.

OfficeTeam has more than 140 offices worldwide.

Foam sculptor featured at Artists Guild

The Vegas Artists' Guild will present visiting artist Sam Chinkes, a sculptor who works with foam plastic, at 7 p.m. July 2, at the Clark County Library, 1401 E. Flamingo Road.

Chinkes will present a variety of his pieces and a video,

"Sculpture and the Creative Process, with Dale Lamphere." He will also answer questions and discuss specific issues related to the video and his work.

The program is part of the Guild's mission, "to bring awareness to the residents and tourists of the Las Vegas and Southern Nevada region, the talent of local visual artists."

The event is free and open to the public. For more information, call Jackie Nourigat, 737-8623.

MONEY: Management

tirement, it's also important to consider when you can tap into a pension. Some plans are designed to begin payment on retirement at age 65; others begin payment when you reach age 62.

Today, it's not uncommon for employers looking to downsize or streamline their operations to offer "sweetened" pension plans to encourage early retirement. In such instances, companies will enhance a future pension by "adding" years to your age and/or crediting you with extra years of employment so you benefit from a larger payout.

However, keep in mind that if you cash out pension plans before you reach age 59 1/2, you may face tax penalties.

Your personal savings will be the biggest factor in determining your ability to retire early. Since it's unlikely that Social Security benefits and pensions combined will replace 70-to-80% of the average individual's pre-retirement income, you'll need to provide for the difference with your personal savings.

Consider your available funds in Individual Retirement Accounts, stocks, bonds, 401(k) and other investment vehicles.

If you don't have enough in the way of personal savings and investments, an early retirement may not be in your future.

If you still have a few years before you want to retire, CPAs recommend that you reduce your expenses as much as possible, boost your savings in short-term growth vehicles, and consider making some lifestyle changes — such as moving to an area of the country where the cost of living is lower. Doing so might help to make your dream of an early retirement a reality.

ultimately be used to assist parks and recreation systems in identifying a community's evolving cultural state, as well as enabling facility and program development designed to enhance the quality of life.

Although the symposium is a formal, intellectual exchange between some of the nation's most successful parks and recreation system managers, similar exchanging of ideas have directly benefited Henderson.

Two years ago, park and recreation officials traveled to Chandler, Ariz., and visited an aquatic park and recreation complex. The visit formed the basis for the eventual construction of the Black Mountain Super Recreation Center and Aquatic Complex, which opened June 6 as the largest recreation center and only public aquatic complex in Nevada.

Jones' attendance is being paid for by symposium sponsors.

LEGAL NOTICE BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF NEVADA NOTICE OF HEARING

Docket No. 96-2036 is a tariff filing submitted to the Public Service Commission of Nevada ("Commission") by Nevada Power Company ("Nevada Power"). The filing is made pursuant to Nevada Revised Statutes ("NRS") and Nevada Administrative Code ("NAC") Chapters 703 and 704, NRS 704.100, and NAC 703.375 to NAC 703.410, inclusive. The filing is Advice Letter No. 181.

Nevada Power proposes to modify its Standby Service rateschedule, Schedule SS. Nevada Power proposes to increase the facilities charges for primary and secondary voltage service under Schedule SS. The facilities charge for primary voltage customers would rise from $1.97 per kilowatt of contract demand per bill, to $6.14 per kilowatt of contract demand per bill. The facilities charge for secondary voltage customers would rise from $2.00 per kilowatt of contract demand per bill to $4.09 per kilowatt of contract demand per bill. The tariff filing includes material in support of the filing. Nevada Power states that for the period ending December 31, 1995, it had no customers under Schedule SS that received service at primary and secondary voltage. Nevada Power states that, during the same period, it had five customers under Schedule SS receiving service at transmission voltages. Nevada Power states that, therefore, its proposals in this tariff filing would result in no change to the five customers that receive service under Schedule SS at transmission voltages and no changes to Nevada Power's annual gross revenues. Nevada Power states that the purpose of the tariff filing is to increase the facilities charges for primary and secondary voltage service under Schedule SS to cost-based levels. Nevada Power states that such an increase would send the appropriate price signals to customers that may be considering service under Schedule SS at primary and secondary voltage and would eliminate subsidy of those customers by other Nevada Power customers.

Pursuant to NRS 704.100 and NRS 704.110, the Commission will hold a hearing for Docket No. 96-2036 as follows:
THURSDAY, JULY 11, 1996
9:30 a.m.
Public Service Commission of Nevada
The Sawyer Building
555 East Washington Street, 4th floor
Las Vegas, Nevada

At the hearing, the Presiding Officer will take evidence on Docket No. 96-2036 from the parties and address the procedural and substantive issues that arise during the hearing. At the hearing, the Commission may vote on the procedural and substantive issues that arise and may vote to approve, in whole or part, or reject the tariff filing in Docket No. 96-2036. At the hearing, the Commission may receive and consider agreements among the parties pertaining to Docket No. 96-2036 and may vote on those agreements. The Commission may adopt rates the same, lower, or higher than those proposed by Nevada Power in Docket No. 96-2036.

The tariff filing is on file and available for viewing by the public at the offices of the Commission, 727 Fairview Drive, Carson City, Nevada 89710 and the Sawyer Building, 555 East Washington Avenue, Las Vegas, Nevada 89101. This notice has been posted at the county courthouses in Carson City, Reno, and Las Vegas, Nevada.

Terra West to sponsor MS 150 Bike Tour

Terra West, Las Vegas-based property management, real estate, development and equity financing company, is the title sponsor for the 1996 MS 150 Bike Tour, set for Oct. 19-20, from Las Vegas to Lake Havasu, Ariz.

president Kerry Keltner said. "We've sponsored different elements of the tour over the past several years, and this year, we really wanted to make a difference for those local patients who benefit from MS's services and for those dedicated cyclists who raise money and participate in the ride. We felt this was the best way to do it."

Riders pay a nominal entry fee and then raise pledges to participate in the event, which raises thousands of dollars for local MS patients. Of funds raised from the benefit ride, 60% supports local services such as information and referral; medical equipment; hydro-therapy classes; recreational activities; educational conferences and a lending library.

RATING KEY

ROBIN WRIGHT
MOLL FLANDERS
Eighteenth-century London is impressively recreated in this costume drama based on Daniel Defoe's novel. But, alas, the flat story slogs along and comes to life only fleetingly. Robin Wright gives a dull performance as the title character, a high-class prostitute who finally finds romance while working as a model for an artist (John Lynch). Stockard Channing does her best as a feisty whorehouse madam. But Morgan Freeman seems out of his element as the story's narrator. (PG-13)

NICOLAS CAGE
THE ROCK
High-voltage action thriller involving a fanatical general (Ed Harris) who takes over the former federal prison on Alcatraz Island in an attempt to extort $100 million from the U.S. government. It's up to a nerdy FBI chemist (Nicolas Cage) and a former Alcatraz inmate (Sean Connery) to stop the mad man and his commando accomplices. Director Michael Bay packs the picture with spectacular stunts, making the most of his highly visible style. Cage projects great humor as the scientist thrust into combat, while Connery gives a commanding performance as a man who knows his way around the Rock's passageways. (R)

JIM CARREY
THE CABLE GUY
Nasty dark comedy, starring Jim Carrey in the title role, doesn't quite coalesce as farce or drama. The plastic-faced comedian is a cable TV installer who invades the life of a customer (Matthew Broderick) in painfully outlandish ways. The film, rife with strained humor and overwrought drama, becomes a kind of "Fatal Attraction" with Carrey in the Glenn Close role. There are far more wincing than laughs. Cameos by George Segal, Diane Baker and Eric Roberts. (PG)

SWITCHBLADE SISTERS

Tough city girls duke it out in the streets with knives, and move on to automatic weapons at the film's conclusion. This trashy exploitation film, initially released in 1975, evolves with ample energy and very little polish. The acting is as crude as the story's subjects, yet the film projects modest fascination. It has been resurrected under the auspices of noted director Quentin Tarantino, who apparently is impressed with its cult image. With Robbie Lee, Joanne Nail and Asher Braunner (R)

COMING ATTRACTIONS

New Line Cinema will produce "Bells of Hell," a biopic about the boisterous Irish revolutionary and playwright Brendan Behan. Sean Penn has the starring role.

Val Kilmer is expected to be in the title role of "The Saint," a Paramount Pictures release about the suave TV figure made famous by Roger Moore.

Jean-Claude Van Damme will appear in "Bloodstone," an action thriller where he portrays a retired French Army sergeant who is pulled into a murder mystery involving the death of his twin brother. Columbia Pictures will release.

Gators hold on for 8-7 win

Kara Kindstrom
News Staff Writer

Green Valley's Gators had some tough competition Tuesday night but managed to pull out an 8-7 win over a hot Bonanza team at Burkholder field.

"I think we underestimated them," coach Sam Thomas said. "They weren't scared."

The Gators managed to hold on to their perfect record despite a determined Bonanza team.

"They came out to play tonight, and they weren't intimidated by us," Thomas said. "We played very lackadaisical."

Green Valley took an early lead, scoring four runs in the first inning. Chris Taylor led off with smash to the fence for a double. Bob Pierce walked and Russ Schmitt singled to load the bases. Matt Stratton then walked to score Taylor. With two outs, Ben Rosenthal singled to bring in Pierce and Schmitt. Stratton reached home when Bonanza's pitcher was called on a balk.

Bonanza got on the board with a run in the second.

The Gators also picked up a run in the second when Pierce singled, Schmitt walked and pitcher Scott Yahraus singled to bring in Pierce. They added a run in the third off a walk and a single. In the fourth, GV used walks, a Bonanza error, and a smash double by Yahraus to open a 7-1 lead going into the fifth.

Bonanza picked up two in the fifth but GV answered with a run when Taylor Smith doubled, got to third on a passed ball, and scored on Jeff Carter's single.

Bonanza tightened the score in the sixth, knocking in four runs to narrow the gap to 8-7. The Gators were unable to score in the bottom of the sixth.

Taylor Smith, pitching in relief of Yahraus, held Bonanza in the top of the seventh to give GV the victory.

"Scott (Yahraus) and Taylor (Smith) did well," Thomas said. "We just didn't hit the ball behind them."

John Judge/News Staff

HIGH FLYING — Green Valley's Sean Billingham (5) forces out a Bonanza runner, above, and leaps over him to avoid being taken out during Tuesday's game. The Gators won 8-7.

Gorman, Valley roll past Merchants

Kara Kindstrom
News Staff Writer

Green Valley's JV Legion baseball team came up short against Bishop Gorman, as the Knights clipped the Merchants 14-4 in 6 innings.

"We're just not hitting right now," coach Jim Slama said. "We're in kind of a slump."

Unfortunately for the Merchants, Bishop Gorman wasn't. The Knights started off quickly and scored in the top of the first with the help of a walk, a passed ball and a single.

The Merchants' Tyler Smith, on the mound, shut down the Knights after the early run. The third batter flew out to center and Smith fanned the next two. He fanned two more in the second inning.

The Knights did erupt as they scored four runs in the third and five in the fourth to give themselves a commanding lead, many off errors by the GV defense.

Seven of the 11 runs scored off Smith were unearned. Cary Kottler came in on relief in the fifth.

"If we could stop the bleeding, we'd be OK," Slama said. "If we made Gorman earn their runs, this would have been a close game."

The Merchants scored their first run in the bottom of the third when Ryan Stone walked and advanced to second on Matt Merryfield's ground out. Chris Frey singled to bring in Stone.

They scored again in the fourth when Josh Serrano led off with a double to the fence. T.J. Candella then singled to score a run.

Ahead 12-2 in the fifth, the Knights were three outs away from a victory via the ten-run rule before the Merchants rallied. GV scored two runs off a single, a walk, and a wild throw by Gorman, taking the game to the sixth inning.

The Knights scored two in the sixth, but GV was unable to answer, ending the game.

"For a bunch of sophomores playing seniors and college freshmen, I think they might be getting discouraged," Slama said. "They come out and they play hard. They just can't play quite as hard as the older kids can yet."

Jim Slama,
Green Valley Merchants Coach

The Merchants fell to Valley 13-3 on Tuesday night.

GV only gave up six hits, but walked 12 batters in six innings to help the Valley attack. Five of the Valley runs were unearned.

"That's 15 unearned runs in two games we've given up, and we'll never win another game unless we start playing some defense," Slama said.

The Merchants scored all three of their runs in the third inning. Chris Frey and Ryan Stone each had two hits for the Merchants.

Timet finishes sixth in baseball tournament; Silverado winds up at 0-5

By the News Staff

Timet wound up sixth in the 16-team Cherry Creek Classic baseball tournament last week in Denver.

"It's the first time I've taken the team to the Cherry Creek Classic," Timet manager Jaime Velez said. "We had the chance to play teams from three different states."

Timet wound up with a 3-2 record.

The Wolves opened with a 9-8 loss to Boulder, Colo. "We had one bad inning," Velez said.

Chris Duesler had a two-run double while Denny Seybert reached base four times, going 1-for-2, scoring twice and walking twice. Carlos Lueck also had a double and knocked in a run.

The Wolves then got in the win column with an 8-4 victory over Alta, Utah.

The game started Friday and the Wolves jumped out to a 3-0 lead after three innings. Then came the rains and the game was suspended until Saturday, meaning Timet would play 2 1/2 games on the day.

The Wolves closed out Alta 8-4 and then played the Cherry Creek Bruins and won 9-5.

In the Alta game, Lueck went 4-for-4 with two singles, a double and a triple. He knocked in two runs and scored twice. Jeff Novak went 3-for-4 and drove in three runs while scoring twice. Mike Belch pitched four innings—over two days—to pick up the victory.

Against Cherry Creek, Jeff

Rednour picked up the pitching victory, throwing a complete game. Hitting-wise, Anthony Caracciolo went 2-for-3, Josh Crawford went 2-for-5, Jason Bitsko went 2-for-3 and Pete Alder went 2-for-2.

That gave Timet a 2-1 record after the first round and sent the Wolves against Hayes, Kan.

The Wolves led until the fifth when Hayes scored three times to take a 6-5 lead.

That lead held up until the bottom of the seventh. With one

Sports In The Area

Timet tournament under way

The Fifth Annual Timet/City of Henderson Invitational baseball tournament is under way at four area fields.

A field of 32 teams is entered including Timet, Green Valley and Silverado.

Area teams will play their first three games at Burkholder and Arroyo Grande.

Silverado plays today at 11 a.m. at Burkholder and 5 p.m. at Arroyo Grande. Green Valley plays today at 5 p.m. at Burkholder. Timet plays today at 8 p.m. at Arroyo Grande.

Girls all-star softball tournament set

The Little League All-Star Girls' Softball tournament will be held at Arroyo Grande starting July 1.

Opening ceremonies will be July 1 at 5 p.m.

A total of five leagues will be represented with 17 teams taking part in the event. Seven of the teams will be area teams including three Green Valley teams, three Legacy squads and one Henderson team.

Game times will be: July 1-3 at 5:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. and on July 5 and 6 at 7:30 p.m. There will be no games on July 4.

Nygaard qualifies for USGA event

Russell Nygaard, a 1996 graduate of Green Valley High School, has qualified to play in the USGA Public Links Championships. The event, which will be held at the Wailua Golf Club in Hawaii, will take place July 15-20.

Nygaard fired a two-day total of 151 at the Badlands Golf Club. UNLV's Mike Vance had the low total of 148.

Nygaard will be a freshman at UNLV this fall.

Twins' pitcher fires perfect game

Greg Lou of the Twins pitched a perfect game as the team captured Legacy Little League's 1996 title in the Majors Division with a 1-0 victory over the Braves.

Lou struck out 11 in the effort. The Twins picked up their only run in the second as Jered Ferdinand scored on a Chris Brown ground out.

Lou struck out the final two batters to end his perfect game. "This was just a remarkable way to close out the season," Twins manager Mike Royal said.

Legacy 9-10 all-stars win two games

The Legacy Little League 9-and-10-year old All-Stars defeated the Paradise Valley American team 7-6 on June 21.

John Panich led the way hitting at 4-for-4 and was named MVP of the game. He also made a strong play from right field to help the Legacy team defensively.

Legacy pitchers were Joshua Ortiz and Anthony Iaconianni. Legacy also defeated Green Valley 11-1 on June 22.

Joshua Ortiz was 3-for-3 while Ryan Foley was 2-for-2 and Ali Amin was 1-for-1 and drove in three runs to lead Legacy offensively. Joey Garcia also added a grand slam.

Legacy pitchers were Beau Johnson and Matt Popovich.

Legacy Little League announces officers

Elections were held for the new board of directors for Legacy Little League on June 10, 12, and 22.

Elected to the board were: Beverly Amin, Qadir Amin, Debra Croft, Steve Dana, Dan Foley, Robin Foley, Bob Glasgow, Cheryl Harrison, Randy Harrison, Chris Heffinger and Karen Kneezle.

Steve Lasater, Carre Lewis, Rick Roundy, Andrew Sauter, Steve Schoonover, Keith Sexton, Karen Sherwood, Auggie Tain, Dawn Williams, Tiger Williams, Eric Wills and Mike Vita.

Gators, Wolves to play in basketball tourney

Basic High School and Green Valley High School will take part in the 20th Annual Reebok Holiday Prep Classic basketball tournament Dec. 19-23.

The Wolves have a 2-5 mark in two previous tournaments while the Gators have a 4-4 record, also in two previous events. Teams from 17 states, the District of Columbia, Canada and England will take part. A total of 54 teams are entered.

The primary tournament site will be Durango High School with games also being held at Cimarron-Memorial.

Other Las Vegas school entries include: Bishop Gorman, Cim-Memorial, Durango, Las Vegas, Valley and Western.

Mater Dei, from Santa Ana, Calif., won last year's event, beating Redemption Christian of Troy, N.Y., 69-48.

RECALL EFFORTS

Recalls of automobiles over safety concerns signal an effort by consumers, government agencies, and automobile manufacturers to make cars, vans, and trucks safer. A measure of the care and diligence that these various interests bring to this common goal is underscored by the fact that, for the first time, the number of cars recalled exceeded the number of new cars sold. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), over 17.8 million vehicles were recalled in 1995 and, according to the trade publication Automotive News, fewer than 15 million cars and light trucks were sold in the U.S. during the same period. This does not mean that 1995 models were any less safe than those manufactured in previous years. A safety recall campaign can cover up to eight years of a particular model and follows a safety-defect investigation by the NHTSA.

Automobiles are growing safer. Many now have dual airbags and reinforced safety frame bars embedded in the doors. If you have any concerns about your automobile, come to AUTO SPECIALISTS, INC. Our technicians are ASE certified and service most makes and model cars and trucks. We do everything from engine overhauls to RV repair work. baseman Aaron Slama played good or the score would have been worse," Slama said.

The Merchants were shut down over the weekend in a tournament in St. George, Utah. They lost 10-4 in the first game against a combined Bullhead

City, Ariz., and Needles, Calif. team. All but two of the starters for the team were seniors. GV was held to five hits in the game. Tyler Smith and Matt Merryfield each picked up two hits for the Merchants.

The Merchants faced the second-place Class 4A State

Kingman team for a double-header on Saturday. In the first game, GV fell 12-1 to a starting lineup of eight seniors and a college freshman. Ryan Stone had the only two hits for the Merchants.

"We were not ready to play," Slama said. "We came out flat and they ran over us." In the second game, the Merchants came up short in a 7-4 loss. GV had a 4-3 lead in the sixth, but lost it. "We couldn't close the door with our pitching staff," Slama said. "We ran out of gas."

victory. "Sixth out of 16 isn't that bad at Cherry Creek which is one of the toughest tournaments," Velez said. "I'll take that any time."

SILVERADO BLANKED IN TOURNAMENT — The Hawks went 0-5 in the Cherry Creek Classic baseball tournament last week in Denver. "We didn't play too bad," Silverado coach Art Besser said. "We just ran into some really good teams that hit better than we did."

Silverado opened with two losses to Cherry Creek teams, falling to the high school team 7-2 and the Connie Mack team 10-8. The Hawks then fell to Alpine Plumbing of Denver 12-2 and to Hayes, Kan., 9-8. In the final game, Silverado lost to a Phoenix team 12-9 after leading 8-4.

"It was a good tournament," Besser said. "We just didn't do the things we have done up there before. But it was a good learning experience."

Steve Lester, Josh Barnard,

Chad Tomolo and Brandon Splinter all had good hitting tournaments according to Besser.

4TH OF JULY

PREVIEW!

The News today offers a preview of Fourth of July activities throughout the valley. This is not meant to be a comprehensive listing, only a sampling of activities available for the family. Have a safe and Happy Fourth!

Parks host fun on The Fourth

Morrell Park

The Henderson Parks and Recreation Department will host its annual Fourth of July celebration at Morrell Park.

The event will begin at 5 p.m. Picnic areas will be set up and barbecue pits are available. Area bands will perform throughout the evening, and a host of carnival games and other events such as relay races will take place.

Also scheduled is a line-dancing demonstration, which will begin at 7 p.m. Uncle Sam will also pay a visit.

A fireworks display will begin at dusk. Concession stands selling a variety of foods will be open throughout the evening.

The event will last until 11 p.m.

Desert Breeze Park, LV

July 4th also marks the opening day for Desert Breeze Park in Las Vegas.

Festivities will run from 5 to 10 p.m. and include a host of games as well as fireworks at dusk.

Gov. Bob Miller and other politicians are scheduled to attend. Food concession stands will be set up.

Desert Breeze is located at the corner of Durango and Spring Mountain Road.

Hills Park, Summerlin
Hills Park in Summerlin will host the Las Vegas Picnic Pops Concert. The event will begin at 8 p.m. Local bands are scheduled to perform.

Call 792-4337 for information.

LV casinos offer activities

Santa Fe

The Santa Fe Hotel and Casino will offer a variety of activities.

The Santa Fe Fireworks festival will begin at 9:30 p.m. The $20,000 display is free to the public.

Sparklers on Ice, a group of local skaters age 2 1/2 and up, will perform at 3 p.m. at the Santa Fe Ice Arena. Admission is $5 per person 12 years and older, and $4 per person ages 3-11.

The admission fee includes skate time from 4-5 p.m., and free skate rental.

The Santa Fe is located at 4949 N. Rancho.

Fiesta-Texas Station
The Texas Station and Fiesta will stage "Battle of the Alamo II," as teams from the two northwest casinos compete in several food-eating contests, water-balloon fights and tugs-of-war.

The 10-member Flying Elvi skydiving team will drop in from 12,000 feet at 8:30, followed by fireworks at 9 p.m.

Fremont St. Experience

If fireworks displays and picnics do not appeal to July 4 celebrants, try the new Fremont Street Experience. This year, Fremont Street will host "A July 4 Celebration," featuring the Nevada Opera Theatre and Nevada Chamber Symphony Orchestra. The event will be from 7 to 11 p.m. For information call 436-7140.

Damboree schedule announced

A schedule of events for Damboree in Boulder City July 4 has been announced:

Festivities will begin at 7 a.m. with a pancake breakfast in Bicentennial Park.

The parade will begin at 9 a.m. and will start on Colorado, and continue down Nevada Highway to Fifth Street to Avenue B.

Midway booths will be set up in Central Park from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Damboree ceremonies will begin at 11 a.m. in Central Park and include a flag raising, invocation and awards ceremony.

Nate Tannenbaum of Channel 3 will be the master of ceremonies. Other guests include Miss Boulder City, Julie Palmer.

The Sunshine Generation will give a presentation at noon, followed by the Las Vegas Civic Band at 12:30.

Contests and games will run from 2:30 to 4 p.m. in Central Park.

Night festivities, including a fireworks show, will begin at 5 p.m. at the old airport.

Power Rangers, Pocahontas to be at Boyd display

The Las Vegas Firemen's Benefit Association will hold its annual Fourth of July fireworks display at the Sam Boyd Stadium this year.

Now in its 45th year, organizers say this year's event will be among the most memorable of any on record due to a full schedule of pre-display entertainment.

Located at 6000 E. Russell Road off Boulder Highway, gates to the Sam Boyd Stadium will open at 6 p.m. Following more than three hours of entertainment, the fireworks display will begin at 9:30 p.m.

According to Kim Phillips, president of the Las Vegas Firemen's Benefit Association, the display this year will have an Olympic spirit theme, with musical guests, the Earl Turner Band, providing a wide variety of American-themed music.

Phillips said the event is held with the goal of providing families with a place where they can get together to enjoy a safe, yet fun Fourth of July celebration.

"If you want to have a good time with fireworks, come and see our show — there's nothing else like it," Phillips said.

"While fireworks people buy on the street are advertised as safe, they really aren't," Phillips said. "So we hope people will come out here and enjoy our fireworks instead."

Any profits generated by the event will go toward producing the firework's display for the following year. "Then if we have any left over, the rest will go to charity."

"We are calling this year's event, 'A Carload of Fun,' because for $25 they can load up their car, van or truck with as many people as they want, all for one low price," Phillips said. Walk-ups (including those taking a cab or CAT) will be admitted for $10.

The $25 donation includes parking, Phillips said. Food or beverages are prohibited from being brought inside the stadium by guests except plastic containers of water, Phillips said. Concessionaires will sell a wide variety of food and beverages inside.

"We encourage people to come out early and have tailgate parties in the parking lot," Phillips said. "Then once the entertainment starts, come on inside and get a seat to watch all the action."

Among this year's special guests will be Power Rangers, Pocahontas, a group of dancers and an Elvis impersonator, Phillips said.

Tickets for the Fourth of July display at the Sam Boyd Stadium may be purchased at the Thomas & Mack ticket outlet or at the stadium ticket booth gate the day of the event.

In addition, tickets may be purchased at several Las Vegas Fire Department locations through the city.

For more information about the event or where to buy tickets, call 226-4670.

Checking out Fatburger!

Having visited most of the "sit down" restaurants in the area we decided to check out something different, Fatburger, located at the corner of Sunset Road and Sunset Way.

We had heard quite a few good comments about the place and decided to check it out. For a hamburger stand, the menu offered other selections as well.

One thing to say about the hamburgers is that they are really large. The regular hamburger, about a third of a pound, is $2.49 and topped with all the usual items. The equally large cheeseburger is $2.79. Also available are the double Fatburger, bacon burger, chili

LET'S EAT OUT!

burger and even an egg burger.

For the hungrier in the crowd, the half-pound King burger weighs in at a half pound and is wider than the already large Fatburger. For the truly hungry, the double king is also on the menu. The king and double king are $3.69 and $4.99, respectfully.

Chicken sandwiches, hot dogs, chili dogs, bacon and egg as well as bacon-lettuce-tomato sandwiches are also on the menu. Add French fries, spicy curly fries, onion rings and chili and you have most of the menu.

My wife Julie went with the large-enough Fatburger as did son Matthew and daughter Marcie. I ordered the king burger and we shared a couple of French fries and an order of onion rings.

We all enjoyed our well-made hamburgers which tasted like a little more care was given to them than the standard quick-fry fast food hamburgers we usually get. The large French fries and the extra tasty onion rings were also quite a hit.

Goldstein, an attorney who lives in Henderson, writes about his dining experiences with his wife Julie, and young children Marcie and Matthew.

Who's got the best prime rib?

Philip Goldstein

After visiting more than 100 restaurants (if only just for this column), I am frequently asked which is my favorite. The truth is I have many favorites. If we narrow the choice to the best steaks in town, I still have more than one favorite.

Living in what most certainly must be the prime rib capital of the world, I would have to include Billy Bob's at Sam's Town, Railroad Pass, Tom's Sunset, Outback Steakhouse, and Lone Star Steakhouse, to name a few. But how about your favorite?

So here's the story: Write me in care of this newspaper and cast your vote. Once the totals are in and we have identified the people's choice of the best prime rib in town, a random drawing from those picking the winning prime rib will receive dinner for four to that restaurant! No special rules, except that the prime rib must be offered at a restaurant or casino in Clark County. One entry per person please.

Ballots will be accepted until July 31 and the winning restaurant and winning family will be posted in the Aug. 8 Panorama section of the newspaper.

Where Locals Bring Their Friends

An experience to be fishing with JR Hanson

Earlier this week, I had an opportunity to try tube fishing. The technique is unique and the experience was truly wonderful.

This was a first—I'd never been tube fishing before, and I was excited about trying this type of fishing and using a fly rod.

It didn't take long before I discovered this method of fishing would be more complicated than just putting on a life jacket and sitting in a tube.

My day started with JR Hanson picking me up early one morning to head to one of his favorite Nevada fishing spots. Hanson is not only vice president of the Las Vegas Fly Fishing Club, but is well-known throughout the state as one of the best fly fishermen in the area.

With license, life jacket, water, food, along with float tube and fins borrowed from Vern Baker, president of the club, I was ready.

This was to be a day for me to put aside business, get away from cameras, recording studios and writing and actually enjoy a day off in the great outdoors.

OUTDOORS WITH BARB

After traveling several hours we reached our destination and began rigging our rods—tying on the flies that JR had tied for us the night before.

The rods were ready, so I slipped into my waders, wading boots and life jacket. It was quite difficult walking around in fins with the weight of the waders. We inflated the tubes and were ready to go fishing.

I have to admit I was uncomfortable with this new experience. I asked JR not to fish very far from me until I became more confident with floating around in a tube with nothing but leg power to guide me.

Within an hour, I felt like I had tube fished all my life. Fishing with a fly rod on a tube was quickly winning popularity with me.

It was now time to get serious and catch a fish. JR had already released about seven bass and I had only caught one small bass. I knew it was my turn to catch a larger one.

The wind had picked up and we knew we needed to head in to the dock. We wouldn't want to be in the water in a float tube in a bad wind storm.

Heading back across the water, I was more confident than ever with my newly found method of fly fishing. I hadn't been fly fishing since my Alaskan trip and it was great to enjoy the sport again.

I had just cast out the fly when tap, tap, pow! The fish of the day made its presence known.

Remember I was in a tube, I knew my technique would be somewhat different. All of a sudden, the silver shining trout on the end of my fly came jumping out of the water. I was in for a great time.

Now with JR watching snapping pictures, the last thing I wanted to do was lose this fish. With rod tip high, I kept pressure on the line and reached for the net.

Now, all of this might sound pretty simple, but catching a trout the first time in a float tube made this catch seem as though I was fighting with Moby Dick. Finally, the fish tired and with the dipnet I had not lost the fish.

Looking over at JR, I wore a smile from ear to ear. He reached over and with a firm handshake and a cheerful "way to go!" I had experienced a great moment in the great outdoors.

Now, this trout only measured 14-inches, but add to that the entire experience of fly fishing in a float tube and I had just caught a trophy trout.

Tube fishing is not for everybody and it is not a method that can be used in any water. However, I'm hooked. I have already told my husband what I want to buy.

If you ever decide to try this sport, go out with someone who is experienced in tube fishing and place safety first. Safety was always JR's first priority and because of that important factor, I had a great experience and one I'll always remember.

On the long drive back to Las Vegas, I couldn't say thank you enough. However, I did remind JR that we ended up only getting in a half day of fishing because of the wind, and we'd have to go back.

That's the fantastic thing about fishing—there's always next time.

Until next week, enjoy the great outdoors.

Henderson, an outdoor enthusiast, is a host and producer of local TV and radio shows.

Be aware of problems on the lake

I'm happy to report that the Las Vegas Power Squadron Safe Boating Class scheduled for July is full and they are not accepting any more students. Clint Moore tells me that there are more than 90 students registered. Wow!

That is super. The "word" is being passed, as we would say in the military. Enroll in a safe boating class and become a safe skipper or passenger which in turn makes our lake safe.

Clint stated one family enrolled their two children in the class to make it a family affair. A great idea—as the kids of today are the adult skippers of tomorrow (not my original statement, but appropriate for the topic).

The next Power Squadron Safe Boating Class will start Sept. 4 and will give you the time and place later on this summer. For now, just mark that date on the calendar if you want to attend.

With the Lake Mead National Recreation Area being one of the busiest in the park system, everyone should be looking out for potential problems for boats or personnel in need of assistance.

There were approximately 10 million visitors in 1995 but the staff of rangers has remained unchanged for years—only 44 rangers to patrol 550 miles of shoreline, and that is only the water part of the park.

With the visitor count going up each year and boat sales increasing each year the possibility of more accidents increases as well.

Do your part as a concerned skipper on Lake Mead by being alert for emergencies and protect yourself by being prepared if the emergency involves you, your crew or passengers.

Carry extra water... freeze an empty gallon milk jug in addition to the water you carry for your own consumption.

Always have a good flashlight or hand-held lantern on board. Replace batteries at least every two years.

Pack an extra beach towel and clothing. I have a small canvas bag that contains an old warmup suit, a pair of old tennis shoes and an old sweat shirt. Not too many people have them and they are old stuff, but in an emergency who worries how they look?

Try to avoid drinking alcohol altogether when out on your rig. If you do drink, do so in moderation. Don't spoil the day for someone else or yourself.

The Lake Mead Boat Owners Association announced last year that family memberships at a reduced rate were available and they will hold a membership drive starting July 1. Become a member, recruit additional members and perhaps win a prize.

If you are interested in becoming a member, call Diane Palmer, 457-2797.

Until next time... keep your bilge dry... and your PFD on.

Festival in the Pines seeks exhibitors

The Spring Mountain Association is seeking booth exhibitors for its fifth annual Festival In The Pines from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 7, at Las Vegas Ski and Snowboard Resort in Lee Canyon.

SMA wants to involve people at the Festival in the many activities that can be held in the Spring Mountains. The theme is "Do it on the mountain."

All organizations in Southern Nevada sponsoring, or participating in activities that can be performed and/or are conducted in the Spring Mountains, or organizations providing services or recreational equipment to those who do, are invited to participate.

General admission is $1, which a one raffle ticket. Proceeds will be used for Spring Mountains Association projects with the Spring Mountains NRA.

A limited number of booth spaces, 10-feet by 10-feet, are still available. For commercial and for-profit organizations the

NAACP offers scholarships

The Las Vegas branch of the NAACP is offering scholarships up to $2,000.

High school seniors with a 2.5 GPA are eligible. Three letters of recommendation are required, as well as a photograph and biographical sketch and a transcript. Scholarships are based on financial need.

Applications can be picked up at the NAACP Las Vegas branch office, 600 W. Owens Ave. For information, call 657-0599. The application deadline is June 30.

booth fee is $100; for arts and crafts vendors, the fee is $50; non-profit organizations are offered free booths—for $25, part of the space may be used for sales. For booth information, call 896-7213.

All groups participating are asked to donate a relevant item for raffle. Non-profit groups can raise money for their group by helping to sell raffle tickets.

The SMA, formerly the Mt. Charleston Volunteer Association, is a non-profit organization formed to promote the organization development, and management of volunteer efforts to enhance the recreational, natural, cultural, and historical resources and to maintain the environment of the Spring Mountains National Recreational Area, in cooperation with the U.S. Forest Service.

GVAC offers martial arts classes

A variety of martial arts classes are being offered at the Green Valley Athletic Club for men, women and children ages 4 and up.

Judo, Karate, Jiu-Jitsu and Tae Kwan Do classes are open to members and non-members of the club. Visitors are welcome.

Instructors believe that self-defense could be the difference between being seriously injured or being in control of a bad situation.

The GVAC has male and female students, ranging in age from 4 to 84. It is the only program in Southern Nevada to offer all four types of the arts with nationally and internationally certified instructors.

Bob Salay is the director at the club. He holds a seventh degree black belt in karate and Kiu-Jitsu, and a sixth degree black belt in judo.

The former coach of the U.S. Olympic Training Center and the U.S. Air Force Academy, he serves as an executive board member of the U.S. Karate Association and a member of the National Governing Body of Judo.

Judo is great for all ages, and is good for the cardiovascular system, a spokesman said. It also builds self-esteem and confidence and helps to develop coordination and discipline, the spokesman said.

For information and class times, call 433-1639.

New CCSN courses offered for fall

The Community College of Southern Nevada will offer 23 new courses in 10 academic areas for the fall semester, beginning Sept. 9 and running through Dec. 20, said Marion Littlepage, associate vice president for curriculum and scheduling.

More than 2,600 course sections are available, scheduled seven days from early morning until late night.

Classes are offered at the Cheyenne, Henderson and West Charleston campuses and at 50 extension centers in Clark, Esmeralda, Lincoln and Nye counties.

Also included are special programs for adult basic skills, apprenticeship, continuing education, cooperative education, work experience, developmental studies, distance learning, Honors College, Silver Sage College, Weekend College and Community College High School.

New courses include:

• Anthropology: "Ethnic Groups in Contemporary Society," an exploration of racial and ethnic groups, transferable to UNLV.

• Applied Science & Technology: "Commercial Refrigeration," all aspects of operation, repair and maintenance; "Chemistry for Hazardous Materials," introduction for those working in the industry; "Remote Sensing," an overview of geophysical techniques including seismic, electromagnetic and ground penetrating radar; "Radiation Health Physics," basics of radiation protection, atomic and nuclear structure and the biological effects of radiation; "Landscape Planning and Design" and "Computer Landscape Design," both emphasize residential and commercial landscaping, and require no prerequisite.

• Banking and Finance: "Personal Finance," techniques of managing personal income, savings and expenses as well as investing and controlling financial resources.

• Biology: "Heredity and Human Activities," studies modern genetic techniques such as DNA fingerprints and social issues about the application of genetic knowledge. It satisfies the non-laboratory science requirement (three credits) for any degree program.

• Business Management: "Legal Environment," studies current information and cases in employment law, contracts and international and environmental law. It gives business, management and economics majors a critical-thinking approach to federal and state law concepts.

• Dental Assisting: The program can be completed with a high school diploma or GED, one English course and various dental assisting program courses, including seven offered this fall.

• History: "New World Order Myth or Reality," a series which focuses on forces shaping the modern world.

• Honors College: For students in advanced programs, an English class, "The Environment in Literature," and a political science class, "The Pursuit of Power."

• Math: "Algebra & Trigonometry," a one-semester course (five credits) is an alternative to the two-semester pre-calculus sequence of Math 126 and Math 127.

• Nursing: "Perioperative Nursing and Social Sensitivity in Health Care," lecture and lab will be held at Desert Springs Hospital. Students must be an RN or senior nursing student at CCSN or UNLV to enroll.

Telephone and in-person registration is underway through Sept. 6, with late registration Sept. 9 - 13. Returning students can register by telephone, 643-7026 or toll-free outside the Las Vegas area, (800)440-7026.

Law school included in budget request

A law school at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas moved another step closer to reality recently when the University and Community College System of Nevada Board of Regents unanimously endorsed a detailed implementation plan.

It directed the chancellor to include the law school in the UCCSN 1997-99 budget request.

"We are extremely pleased that our plans for a law school at UNLV have been accepted by the regents and are gaining momentum," UNLV President Carol C. Harter said.

"We have a very good implementation plan supported by a great deal of data. We are confident that UNLV will establish a first-rate law school that will benefit all Nevadans and enhance our ability to provide needed services to students and to the larger community," Harter said.

During the recent regents' meeting in Fallon, Harter presented an extensive report on studies prepared by two consultants: "Plan for a Law School at UNLV" by Anthony Santoro, president of Roger Williams University in Rhode Island and founding dean of that institution's law school, and "A Feasibility Study for a Law School in Nevada: 1996" by R. Keith Schwer, director of UNLV's Business and Economic Research Center.

The proposed law school, which would enroll its first class in 1998 and could eventually have a student body in excess of 400, would seek provisional and full accreditation at the earliest opportunities, assuring all graduates of being able to sit for the Nevada Bar exam, Harter said.

"I am truly excited that UNLV will be moving forward with the development of a law school," Chancellor Richard Jarvis said. "Nevada needs a law school, and I know that with the support of the Las Vegas community, President Harter will be successful in developing a superior quality ABA-accredited school."

"For me, the law school symbolizes the academic maturity of UNLV, and I am proud and pleased the Board of Regents has taken this important step in the process."

Harter told the regents that UNLV already has received pledges of substantial private donations to the law school.

"We are hopeful that, with support from the next Nevada Legislature, we soon will be able to provide Nevadans the opportunity to study law without having to leave the state," Harter said.

Desert Springs names obstetrics chief

Desert Springs Hospital has named Caroline Copeland, R.N., director of its new Obstetrical Center, located in the Desert Medical Plaza on the hospital campus.

According to Catherine Pelley, chief executive officer of the hospital, recruiting Copeland from Sunrise Hospital was an important factor in the introduction of the hospital's new Obstetrical Center.

"Providing obstetric services in a low cost outpatient environment is an essential feature for managed care companies who strive to decrease average length of stay and costs, while achieving high-quality care. And Caroline is widely recognized in the medical community for the fine work she's done in the development and management of obstetrical services," said Pelley.

The center offers seven combined labor, delivery, recovery and postpartum rooms, a C-section room, five hold rooms for new mothers who want to spend the night, and a nursery.

In addition to basic, quality outpatient obstetric services, the Center will have access to the soon-to-be completed neo-natal intensive care and high risk obstetrics services at Valley Hospital Medical Center through Desert Spring Hospital's affiliation with Oasis Health Systems.

According to Copeland, the facility is the only one in Las Vegas designated as a Level 1 Care Facility/Birthing Center. This means the unit will deal exclusively with low risk pregnancies that have a high expectation of early discharge.

"The length of stay following delivery averages two days or less," said Copeland. "What makes us unique is our comprehensive approach to pregnancy, beginning with education; our focus on a healthy pregnancy; our state-of-the-art birthing suites; and post-pardom care that includes home visits."

Copeland, who comes to Desert Springs after 14 years with Sunrise Hospital where she was director of the hospital's tertiary care labor and delivery department, noted home visits are a unique feature that facilitates continuity of care and assurance that mother and baby are doing well.

Copeland is the former president and member of the Association of Operating Room Nurses; a member and 1995 co-chair of the Association of Women's Health Obstetrics, Neonatal Nursing District VIII; a member of the nursing practice advisory committee, State of Nevada; and a member of the Maternal Child Health Coalition of Nevada. She served on the governor's Maternal and Child Health Advisory Board Subcommittee for Obstetric Center Regulation.

Copeland has been twice-nominated for March of Dimes Nurse of the Year. She received certification in midwifery from St. James Hospital in Dublin, Ireland following completion of a 3-year nursing program at Mercer's Hospital in Dublin.

She holds a bachelor's degree in health arts from the College of St. Francis, Joliet, Ill. and is a registered nurse certified in inpatient obstetrical care.

'Sun Smart Cards' help protect skin from sun's harm

The American Cancer Society, Las Vegas Skin and Cancer Clinics, Ltd., and Sylvan Pools encourage Nevadans to be Sun Smart.

Too much sun is the leading cause of skin cancer. A Sun Smart Card will indicate how much sunscreen protection children and adults need. The reusable pocket size UV intensity meter is an excellent way to be safe in the sun.

Dr. Luke Blanchard, dermatologist and specialist in skin cancer, has said that the rate of skin cancer is growing faster each day. "If diagnosed early, skin cancer can be cured in almost all cases. If not diagnosed early, it can be fatal," said Blanchard.

Skin cancer, which is linked to the sun, can be prevented by a few simple steps recommended by the American Cancer Society:

- Avoid the sun between 10 a.m.-3 p.m. highest intensity of sun.
- Use sunscreen with an SPF of 15 or more.
- If your shadow is shorter than you, the sun is more intense.

The American Cancer Society and Sylvan Pools Design Centers, invite all Nevadans to stop by their offices to pick up free Sun Smart Cards. Sylvan Pools locations: 2890 E. Tropicana and 817 S. Rainbow Blvd.

For more information, call 798-6877.

Students cycle cross-country for disabilities awareness

Fifty-five members of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity, representing colleges and universities nationwide, will be cycling across the U.S. this summer. The team is on a national awareness campaign for people with disabilities.

The students are participating in the "Journey of Hope" in an effort to raise funds and awareness for people with disabilities.

Presented for the second year by Saturn, the trip will begin in San Francisco on June 10 and will finish a combined 7,200 miles on Aug. 10, in Washington, D.C.

It is a project of PUSH America, the national outreach project of PKP Fraternity.

Through the work of 145 PKP chapters, PUSH America serves people with disabilities by donating and building adaptive equipment, through educational programs, and by promoting volunteerism on college campuses.

The members of the team will cycle an average of 75 miles per day. After each day's ride, team members will join forces with local allied organizations to provide educational programs or participate in awareness events in the communities they visit.

The Journey of Hope will reach 22 states in 62 days.

Correction

There was a numerical error in Dr. Patricia Contraveos' column in last week's edition. According to Ralph Nader, consumer advocate, each year up to 3 million people are hospitalized and 300,000 of them die from side effects or reactions to prescription drugs and hospital procedures.

WOMEN'S HEALTH

DR. FREDRIC D. FRIGOLETTO, JR.

When the baby blues don't go away

Soon after giving birth, a majority of mothers (about 70%) experience mood swings of some form (crying spells, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, irritability, anger or an inability to make decisions). Known as the "baby blues," they quickly pass within a few days or a week. They are a natural reaction to physical, hormonal and psychological changes.

About 10% of mothers experience intense anxiety or hopelessness that lingers for longer than two weeks or surfaces a month or two after childbirth. This is a more serious problem known as postpartum depression. Other signals include sleeplessness (even when tired); sleeping too much; changes in appetite; worrying excessively about the baby or family or, conversely, feeling unconcerned; panic attacks; or fears that you might harm the baby or yourself. These feelings may come regardless of your age or whether you have previously given birth.

None of this means that you are a bad mother or a failure. As with other types of depression, the precise cause may be difficult to pin down. Your mood may be hormonally induced, and you also may be overwhelmed by your life circumstances and stressful events.

Researchers have found that after giving birth, levels of a hormone that helps mediate body temperature, appetite and sleep tend to be suppressed. Extended periods of this may contribute to mood disturbances. Also, women who lack a supportive spouse or family have an increased risk of postpartum depression, as do women who have recently gone through a stressful event such as the loss of a loved one, a family illness or a move to another city. If you have a previous history of depression or other emotional difficulties, then you also may be vulnerable.

If you suspect you have postpartum depression, talk to your doctor or ask for a referral to a mental health specialist. There are effective ways to treat your condition. Counseling or drug treatment, or a combination of the two, may be recommended. Some medications are safe to use even if you are breast-feeding, but check with your doctor. Joining a support group may help.

If you do not seek help for depression, it may go on indefinitely—making you less able to cope with your family and work responsibilities. Support will help you feel and function better during this special time in your life.

Single, free copies of the pamphlet, "Postpartum Depression," are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope to: The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, Resource

Historical Society offers summer programs

After a hiatus of some 10 years, the Nevada Historical Society is resuming the popular bus tour program. Led by myself as curator of history, two tours are scheduled for summer and fall as well as other events.

On Sunday, July 14, we will travel from Reno to the ghost town of Bodie, Calif., departing about 8 a.m., stop for lunch at the Mono County Museum in Bridgeport. We will arrive in Bodie about 1 p.m., plan to spend two hours, and will be back in Reno at 6 p.m.

The cost is $20; participants should bring their lunches, wear hiking shoes and comfortable clothing. Commentary, lemonade and water will be provided. For reservations, call the Society in Reno, (702) 688-1191.

Dating from a July 1859 gold strike by William S. Brodey, the camp boomed until 1884, supporting a population of some 12,000 in 1880, sixty-five saloons, two churches, four newspapers and a railroad, the Bodie & Benton. Today, it is a California State Park.

down. Today, some 170 wooden buildings are left from the boom days and the town appears much as it was a century ago.

A second bus trip to Carson Valley is set for Sunday, Sept. 22, at a cost of $15. It will include visits to the Genoa Courthouse museum, the Mormon Station Museum operated by the Nevada State Park Department in Genoa and the new Carson originally settled by the Mormons in 1851 and Genoa is Nevada's oldest community. Call the Society for reservations. Participants should bring their own lunches. The society will provide commentary, lemonade.

A new show will open Friday, July 19, in the Changing Gallery of the Reno Museum, "Nevada Women Emerging Into Public Life, 1860-1920."

Focusing on the rise of women's social clubs and civic organizations and culminating in the Woman Suffrage Campaign, 1910-14, the show is curated by Jean Ford, director of the Womens' Study Program at the University of Nevada, Reno.

The Society will host several public programs in the summer and fall in connection with the show.

The Society's second annual Ice Cream Social will take place from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 24, at the Reno Museum, 1650 N. Virginia St. There will be craft booths on the lawn and the Sparks Theatre Group will present a melodrama, "Innocence Triumphs," at 2 p.m.

For bus tour reservations or other information, call the Society in Reno, (702) 688-1191.

Regents set tuition rates, policies

The UCCSN Board of Regents adopted recommendations of the Chancellor's tuition and fee advisory committee at a June 20-21 meeting, setting resident and non-resident rates at state public universities and community colleges for 1997-99, and adopting future tuition and fee increase policies.

Resident registration fees

The board adopted the principle that resident registration fees should keep pace with inflation and increase by 1% each year as long as it remains below the average for public universities and colleges in Western states and below 25% of the 1996-97 cost of education.

Registration fees will increase 4% for community colleges and university undergraduates, and 3% for university graduate population for each year of 1997-99.

Rate increases will result in fees of $38 and $39.50 per credit for community colleges; $66.50 and $69 per credit for university undergraduates; and $90 and $93 per credit for university graduates, for academic years 1997-98 and 1998-99 respectively.

Full-time, non-resident
 The board adopted the principle that full-time non-resident students should pay the full cost of education.

By 1998-99, non-resident tuition and registration fees will cover the full cost of education as defined in 1995-96. The three-year lag in achieving the cost of education will help soften the economic impact of the new policy.

Full-time non-resident tuition and fees for community colleges will be raised from $3,200 in 1996-97 to $3,519 in 1997-98 to $3,838 in 1998-99.

For the universities, it will be raised from $5,100 to $5,435 in 1997-98 to $5,770 in 1998-90.

Good neighbor tuition
 The Board said that Good Neighbor students, who live in California and Arizona border counties, should pay less than non-resident students, but not less than they would pay to attend an in-state institution in their home state.

Community college good neighbor tuition will continue at approximately 150% of in-state registration fees; university good neighbor tuition will be set so their tuition and fees will equal approximately in-state fees paid by resident students at University of California, Davis in 1995-96 ($4,174 undergraduate, $4,419 graduate).

There will be no increase in the 1996-97 good neighbor rate due to lack of time to notify affected students.

Community college per-credit will increase from $15.50 to $19 in 1997-98 and to $20 in 1998-99; per-credit increases for university undergraduates will be from $42 to $64 in 1997-98 and to $75 in 1998-99; for university graduates, the per-credit increase will be from $42 to $76 in 1997-98 and to $97 in 1998-99.

Good Neighbor students pay per-credit good neighbor tuition in addition to the normal per-credit registration fee paid by all students.

Part-time, non-resident

The Board said part-time non-residents should not pay full non-resident tuition but should pay a per-credit tuition rate at least equal to or greater than that paid by Good Neighbor students.

There will be no increase in 1996-97 part-time non-resident tuition due to lack of notification time.

Cory files for District Court seat

Former Assistant U.S. Attorney and lifelong Nevada resident Kenneth Cory recently filed to seek election to the Clark County District Court, Dept. 11.

Cory, 52, is a sole practitioner in criminal and civil litigation. He has been in private practice since 1980.

"I have prosecuted and defended in every level of trial court in the state of Nevada," he said. "Serving in a judicial capacity is a personal goal I have had for years and I think my experience on both sides of the criminal justice system will be of great benefit to me as a judge."

Cory also pointed to his years in the U.S. Attorney's Office and as a federal public defender for the district of Nevada.

"One of the most fulfilling responsibilities I have had in the legal profession was being involved in public service," he said. "I am confident that I can bring a fair and even-handed manner to the bench, while maintaining a tough stance against repeat violent offenders. I have been privileged to practice in many different fields of law, however, I find that the most rewarding experience has involved public service."

He is a graduate of Las Vegas High School and received his bachelor's degree from Brigham Young University.

Cory graduated from the Washington College of Law at The American University in Washington, D.C. While in Washington he worked on Sen. Alan Bible's staff.

After the death of his wife, Karen Dyal, in 1989, he raised his six children, who range in age from 26 to 13.

In the legal community, he is the past president of the Nevada chapter of the Federal Bar Association and president of the Nevada Attorneys for Criminal Justice.

Flangas files for district judge

Longtime Las Vegas attorney Peter L. Flangas has announced his candidacy for Clark County District Judge, Department 14.

"At this time in my life and career, I truly believe I can serve all the citizens of Clark County well as a District Judge," Flangas said. "With over 40 years of trial practice, I bring with me experience, honesty, and fairness."

Following an honorable discharge from the Army Air Force in 1947, Flangas began his law career in 1955 in Salt Lake City, Utah, having earned his LLB and bachelor's degree in philosophy from the University of Utah.

He became a member of the Nevada Bar in 1958 and opened a law office in Las Vegas. Elected District Attorney of Lyon County in 1962, he maintained a limited law practice as a sole practitioner in Las Vegas and Salt Lake City during his term.

One of the founders of St. John's Greek Orthodox Church in Las Vegas, Flangas has served as president of the Church Council.

He and his wife, Wanda Whipple of St. George, Utah, have three children. His eldest son, Leo Flangas, is currently practicing law in Las Vegas.

Hispanic Museum Day set for Saturday

The Nevada Association of Latin Americans will host the first annual Hispanic Museum Day with the city of Las Vegas, at 5 p.m. Saturday, June 29.

The event will take place at the Rivera Community Center, 2900 E. Stewart Ave., in Las Vegas.

Foods from several Latin American countries will be featured, as well as entertainment, craft workshops, games and an art exhibit.

The purpose of the NALA event is to expose the community to the richness of the Latino culture, as well as to display the work of artists. It also seeks to increase the museum's collection through community donation.

For more information, call 229-4600 or 382-6252.

ESD helps employers find workers

It's not always easy for employers to find qualified applicants for job openings. One way to make that job easier is by utilizing the services of Nevada's Employment Security Division. Its business is finding workers fast and without a fee for all Nevada employers.

ESD can speed a search for workers by listing job openings on state and nationwide electronic job bank. It's a perfect solution for busy employers who don't have time to sift through piles of job applications in search of an employee.

ESD representatives always write job orders to individual employer specifications.

Employers wanting to fill jobs should call the local ESD office and speak to a representative for fast, friendly, no-fee service.

Employment Security is a division of the Department of Employment, Training and Rehabilitation.

Christian Writers Seminar set for June 28-29

Registrations are now being accepted for a two-day Christian Writers Seminar to be held Friday and Saturday, June 28-29, at the Foothills Southern Baptist Church, 6405 W. Cheyenne Ave. in Las Vegas.

Taught by Donna Clark Goodrich of Mesa, Ariz.—author of 17 books and more than 600 short stories and articles—the seminar will cover: selecting your writing field; how to get started; where to get ideas; effective leads; writing the personal experience story; writing poetry and devotionals; editing your manuscript; query letters/book proposals; how to sell what you write; time management; and goal setting.

On or before June 21, the cost is $40 day, or both days, $60. After June 21 and at the door, the cost will be $50 day, or two days, $75.

Bring a sack lunch. Drinks will be provided, along with a selection of writers books for sale and more than 40 sample magazines for each participant.

For more information, and to register, write to Cherry Pedrick, 4404 Fenton Lane, North Las Vegas, NV 89030, or call 656-0603.

Olympic fundraiser set for July 7

The 1996 Centennial Olympics will be celebrated at a special fund-raising event at the Debbie Reynolds Hotel to honor past Olympians and to benefit future Olympians at 6 p.m. Sunday, July 7.

Tickets are available for a contribution of $100 per person. The Jim Hines Foundation will host an evening of star-studded entertainment and an auction, including a classic Clenel Bugatti car, now on display at the Debbie Reynolds Hotel. Sports memorabilia donated by major teams, along with other gifts from local hotel-casinos and merchants, will also be featured.

Guests will include past Olympic medalists and participants: Track: Jim Hines, Bob Hayes, Carl Lewis; Skating: Barbara Ann Roles Williams, Melissa Melitan, Bert Lancon; Swimming: Lillian Fields, John Spago (water polo); Boxing: Kelsey Banks, Kenny Adams ('88 coach); and Skiing: Lane Spina. Trevaia Williams, a 1996 Olympic hopeful from UNLV, will be in attendance if her schedule permits. Join Lt. Gov. Lonnie Hammargren, U.S. Rep. Barbara Vucanovich and other proud Americans to help establish the Olympians Foundation and the Jim Hines Foundation in Nevada.

NEW COUNSELING PROGRAM—A new intervention program for habitual petty larceny offenders was recently implemented by Clark County's Family and Youth Service Division and Charter Behavioral Health System of Nevada meet in the courtroom. From left are Judge Fernando Guzman, Hearing Master, Family Court/Juvenile Division; Cranford Crawford, assistant director of the Dept. of Family and Youth Services; Dave Ferguson, Charter's manager of adolescent outpatient services; and Tanner, account manager, community liaison.

Hoover Dam visitor facilities set record

The Hoover Dam Visitor Facilities have hosted record numbers of visitors since the center's opening June 21, 1995. "Visitation in the 12 months preceding the center's opening was just over 650,000," said Dan Jensen, Hoover Dam visitor services manager. "Since it has been open, over 890,000 people toured the dam and powerplant—an increase of more than 37% in only one year." Prior to the center's opening, the most visitors in a single month totaled 88,297 in July 1973, compared to 109,040 in March 1996. The most visitors in a single day totaled 2,663 on July 6, 1994, compared to 3,261 on March 19, 1996. The average daily number of visitors before the center opening was 1,795, compared to 2,474 after opening of the facilities. Special "hard-hat" tours of the site are offered as an alternative to regular powerplant tours. They give a "behind the scenes" look at the inner workings of the dam and take visitors into galleries, tunnels, and passageways not seen on regular tours.

New interpretive exhibits to be completed by December will enhance the visitor experience. The program will feature static and interactive exhibits, and audiovisual programs. A bronze and copper sculpture commissioned by the Hoover Dam power users was recently installed in the visitor center's enclosed observation deck. The program now features new concessions offering varied experiences to enjoy the area around Hoover Dam. A new dock near Hoover's Nevada spillway for Lake Mead Cruises' Desert

Princess provides access to the dam and visitor center for the its passengers. The 2-R-Riding Stable, which opened in late January, provides trail rides through the Eldorado Mountains near the dam. The new facilities will permit at least 1.5 million visitors to tour Hoover Dam annually; the maximum number that could be previously accommodated was about 790,000 people. More than 31 million people have toured the facility since it opened to the public in 1937.

McCarran passenger traffic up

A total of 2,554,543 passengers passed through McCarran International Airport in May, an 11.3% increase over the same period last year. A daily average of 794 scheduled flights operated during May, accounting for more than 82,000 passengers a day. This year, a total of 12,685,700 passengers have traveled through the airport, up 6.1% from the same period last year. Delta led the major airlines with a 55% increase, followed by Southwest, 18.2%, Northwest, 17.2%, United, 16.9% and American, 16.7%. Regional carriers Alaska, Hawaiian, Frontier and Western Pacific also posted substantial gains over the same period last year. "The growth at McCarran this year has been outstanding despite the fact that four Grand Canyon tour airlines have relocated to the North Las Vegas Airport," said Robert N. Broadbent, director of the Clark County Department of Aviation. "McCarran continues to grow in excess of the national average. All but one Grand Canyon tour airlines are now located at the North Las Vegas Airport or the newly acquired Henderson Executive Airport. The relocation of the tour airlines, who operate smaller and slower aircraft, has allowed McCarran to increase its airspace capacity by accommodating larger, faster commercial jets. In fall 1997, a new upgraded, north-south runway will bring a total of four full-size air carrier runways, capable of accommodating the largest commercial aircraft flying today. McCarran is part of the Clark County Airport System, publicly owned by Clark County and operated under the direction of the Board of County Commissioners, the authority of Donald L. "Pat" Shalmy, county manager, and the management of Robert N. Broadbent, director of aviation. The Department of Aviation is a self-sufficient enterprise and operates without county general fund tax revenue.

Arts Council now on Internet

Gallery receptions, picnic concerts and jazz in the park are just some of the events listed online at the Allied Arts Council's new web site <http://www.astro.com/aac>. "Promoting Las Vegas both locally and worldwide is integral to the mission of Allied Arts Council," says Rick Romito, second vice-president of the Council's Board of Trustees. "Presence on the World Wide Web is an ideal way for us to fulfill that mission." Thanks to a generous donation by Internet Advantage, a local internet provider, Allied Arts Council now has its home on the web. Internet Advantage owner/president, Roger Scimé heard that Allied Arts was interested in developing a website and offered his company's services. The long-time Blue Diamond resident is an avid arts supporter and a former board member of the Las Vegas Art Commission.

"I get so many calls from people in Las Vegas and all over the world wanting to know about arts and cultural events going on here," she says. "Now I can tell them to visit our website." The site also includes information on Allied Arts' services, publications, a listing of local arts facilities, arts related news and links to other sites of interest. E-mail services for Allied Arts are provided through a donation by Intermind, a Las Vegas internet provider. The e-mail address is allied@intermind.net.

Featured on Allied Art's website is the complete monthly "Arts Alive Datebook" calendar with a listing of arts events for the Greater Las Vegas valley. Executive Director Constance DeVereaux sees the website as a real value to the local arts community.

Good Times... Great Oldies

Radically Different.

St. Rose Dominican Hospital's Radiology Department is equipped with the latest diagnostic and treatment technologies available. From Computerized Tomography, Nuclear Medicine and Ultrasound to Interventional Radiology and Angiography to Magnetic Resonance Imaging and Mammography, St. Rose combines 47 years of caring with state-of-the-art equipment to ensure quality service.

While we are proud of our state-of-the-art equipment, we are even prouder of our dedicated staff of physicians, radiologists, technologists and support personnel. Every member of the Radiology Department treats each individual patient with the utmost respect. They truly understand the anxiety associated with uncertainty. But most of all, they understand the healing power of compassion.

Community job fair set

UNLV's Jean Nidetch Women's Center has set its third annual Community Job Fair '96 from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 28, in the UNLV Moyer Student Union. Recruiters are invited to participate in the event. Job Fair '96 is an opportunity for businesses to showcase companies and actively recruit promising new employees. Last year's event was attended by more than 1,500 job seekers. Booth space is limited, and participants are encouraged to register now. Participant sponsorship directly benefits the Women's Center Re-entry Program and makes this event free to thousands of potential employees. A registration form detailing sponsorship levels may be obtained by calling 895-4475. Applications will be accepted through July 15.

Youth Camerata Orchestra begins 10th season

The Las Vegas Youth Camerata Orchestra, under the direction of Oscar Carrescia, will mark the opening of its 10th season at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 6, at the Winchester Community Center. Admission is $1, with tickets available at the door. The program will include Samuel Barber's "Adagio for Strings," Antonio Vivaldi's "Concerto for 4 Violins," and Alberto Ginastera's "Impresiones de la Puna." The orchestra will also perform Jose Carli's "Tangario" and two pieces by Astor Piazzolla. Featured soloists will perform with the orchestra: violinist Genevieve Dube, flautist Christiane Fraser, and pianist Jorge Vernieri. Canadian Dube, who appears with Cirque du Soleil's "Mystere" show at the Treasure Island Hotel, studied at the Music Conservatory of Montreal. She has performed with many symphonic orchestras. Fraser holds a master of music degree from UNLV, and a bachelor's degree from Boston University. The concert is sponsored by the Clark County Department of Parks and Recreation. Winchester Community Center is located at 3130 S. McLeod Drive, just north of Desert Inn Road. For more information, call 455-7340.

Three-artist exhibit at Lost City in July

A three-person show by Shirley Aday, Shirley Robinson and Carolyn Slater will be on exhibit at the Lost City Museum in Overton during the month of July. Aday, a resident of St. George, Utah, was born and raised in northern Utah. Largely self-taught, she specializes in landscapes and still-life paintings. She is a signature member of the Nevada Watercolor Society and a member of the Las Vegas Art Museum. Robinson was born and raised in southeastern Idaho. She studied art with a variety of teachers. Her basic medium is watercolor and she paints florals and landscapes. She has won awards for her work and is a member of the Idaho Watercolor Society, the Nevada Watercolor Society and the Las Vegas Art Museum. Slater was born and raised in Ogden, Utah and studied art at local universities and workshops, and with a number of well-known artists. She works in watercolor and oil, occasionally in pastels, in vivid colors. She has received awards and honors in various competitions and is a member of the Intermountain Society of Artists and a signature member of the Nevada Watercolor society. The museum is open daily, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults aged 18 and over; children and members are admitted free. admission fee for adults age 18 and over. Call (702)3972193 for more information.

INSIGHT TO EYESIGHT

by Joseph Shalev, M.D.

LASER SURGERY FOR EARLY GLAUCOMA

According to a study published in the American Journal of Ophthalmology, laser surgery should be considered as a first-line treatment for early glaucoma. Open-angle glaucoma, the most common form of the eye disease, occurs when fluid that normally drains from the eye becomes blocked. Pressure builds due to the excessive fluid buildup, which can lead to vision loss if left untreated. The traditional treatment for lowering internal eye pressure involves the use of eye drops. Laser surgery has been seen as a secondary treatment when medication produces unsatisfactory results. New research, however, shows that when laser surgery is used first, it produces decreases in internal eye pressure and maintenance of vision comparable to treatment with eye drops. The difference is that the laser surgery causes fewer side effects. Neither approach offers a cure.

In most cases, glaucoma is detected in a routine eye examination before the patient experiences any vision problems. With early detection and treatment, glaucoma can be controlled and vision preserved. At EYE INSTITUTE OF NEVADA, we feel annual testing is the only sure path to early detection. We're located at 999 Adams Blvd., Suite 101, Boulder City, where we're currently accepting new patients. Please call: 293-0551 to schedule an appointment Monday through Friday 9 to 5; emergency service 24 hours. P.S. According to the study mentioned above, the cost of laser surgery is about the same as three years of treatment with eye drops.

Hiatt in concert Saturday

Las Vegas Cultural and Community Affairs will present singer-songwriter John Hiatt in concert at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 29, in the Hills Park at Summerlin. At the gate, tickets are $18 for adults, $15 for students, seniors and disabled. Advance ticket sale discounts are $15 and $12. They are available at the Charleston Heights Arts Center, 800 S. Brush, and Reed Whipple Cultural Center, 821 N. Las Vegas Blvd. or call 229-6383. Hiatt has long occupied a singular place among American singer-songwriters. He twists rock and soul and blues and r&b into rhythmic shapes that echo the deep and surprising way he sees things. As a songwriter, he performs his own materials. His songs are grounded in an articulate way of seeing both comedy and drama. But, ultimately, it's all about music, melody and his technique. His recent album for Capitol Records, "Walk On," featured Hiatt and Bonnie Raitt singing "I Can't Wait." Hills Park gates open at 6 p.m. Picnickers are welcome; however, pets or glass containers are prohibited. For more information, call 229-6704. Tickets are also available through TicketMaster.

'Fable Land' to open

The Agape Center in association with Dream Dust Company, will present an original musical comedy theater piece for kids of all ages. "The Little Theatre of Fable Land", with music, lyrics and book by Robert Queluz Odell, will play July 6 to Sept. 1. Performances will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, at the Agape Center, 1018 E. Sahara, Suite C. Tickets are $5 for adults; $3 for seniors and children 12 or under. Call 731-9429 or 873-1740 for reservations.

The Queen of Hearts, Princess Cinderella, the Big Bad Wolfie, Prince Charming/less, the Eagle Alien, the Gypsy King, The Dragon Lady and the Joker are trapped in an empty theater as strangers, but by the end of the play, they and the audience together create a wonderful, magical place in which they become good friends who look after each other.

HOROSCOPE

LINDA BLACK

Weekly Tip: Delegate responsibilities. Cost-saving innovations center stage. Emotion overrules reason, so using logic is pointless.

Aries (March 21-April 19). You'll have to think and act quickly. Show you can obey an order instantly. Gather with friends and make decisions that affect you all. Fix something at home.

Taurus (April 20-May 20). Something you're learning comes in handy. Pedantic people will be practically impossible. Save all tedious chores for later. You may feel guilty enough to practically enjoy doing them.

Gemini (May 21-June 21). Pay bills on the first, big time. If there's any money left you could shop for computer gadgets. Listen with your heart, not your ears.

Cancer (June 22-July 22). An old friend can help you out of a jam, if you'll say you're sorry. Private negotiations go better. Don't believe everything you hear.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22). Work hard so you can spend more time with your favorite partner. You don't agree on everything, but you sure learn a lot from each other.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Reaffirm your bond with a close friend. Concentrate on a tough technical problem. A friend's crazy idea could be lots of fun. Intervene if things are getting out of hand.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). A friend's tantrum pushes you to take action. Plans made will amount to nothing, so stay flexible. Tackle another project.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Study a higher division subject and you'll learn it quickly. Domestic squabbles mess up your peace of mind. Don't worry, they'll amount to nothing. You're dominant and lucky, so be bold.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Restrain yourself from spending much. Save your private rendezvous for the weekend. You and your sweetheart will be in the mood for a game of one-on-one.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You're strong, which is good. The competition's fierce. Investigate a pending purchase carefully—then wait to buy. A neighbor's good advice is just what you need.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You're under pressure from an older person. Don't argue, just do the work. You'll have more time for your own agenda soon.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20). An old friend's advice can save you a lot of trouble. Study a difficult assignment. Don't worry, your fears will come to naught. Watch out for a tendency to overspend, even for a good reason.

If You're Having a Birthday This Week: A partner plays a prominent role in your life this year. Love could be the end result. Pay off all your bills and stash money away for the future.

DEAR DEBBIE

DEBORAH WHITE

Dear Debbie: I'm ashamed of myself for feeling this way, but I'm horrified by the family my daughter has chosen to marry into. They're lower working class and some are even missing teeth. I don't know what to say to these people.

The wedding was strange, as you can imagine. We had it at our country club and they were totally intimidated. I was embarrassed for them.

Now the kids are settled into married life and I'm dreading family occasions and holidays.

How little can I get away with seeing these people without insulting my son-in-law?

WORRIED

Dear Worried: Play it by ear. Your son-in-law's holiday traditions may not require your presence. Before you invite his parents or siblings to a family occasion, ask if he wants them there. You're not obligated to socialize with them, but you can enjoy a cordial relationship the few times you have to be together.

Looking at it from their view, they may see you as a snob and feel the same way you do about them.

Today we are going to talk about TV commercials. For your information, the people who appear in commercials came here from another planet.

Think about it. Do you know anyone who would calmly discuss mouth wash with a stranger who suddenly appeared inside their medicine cabinet?

Can you imagine waking up some morning and spotting a little man in a boat sloshing about in your toilet? Would you have a happy little conversation with him and then go on about your business?

How many times have you opened your front door to a 12-foot tall bald-headed man who rushed over just to clean your kitchen sink? I forget what his name is, but I'm telling you I sure wouldn't stand around like a do-do while he tidied up my kitchen. I don't care if he uses industrial strength whatever, my sink is my own business.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY

What would you do if a reporter shoved a microphone in your face and shouted, "Show me the laundry you've washed in your old-fashioned detergent containing disgusting ingredients?"

Right here and now, I want to tell you that any politician could make a clean sweep of the next election if he would promise to pass a ban on all commercials except those featuring common ordinary Earth people.

Below is a common ordinary Earth person commercial: (Woman shopping in store when man approaches her carrying a basket of dirty laundry).

MAN: Madam, just smell this laundry and tell me what you think of it.

WOMAN: I beg your pardon. I

Give this a chance. You may find you like each other, once you get past the superficial class difference.

Dear Debbie: There's this guy in one of my classes who keeps bothering me. He passes me notes and keeps asking other kids about me. But he never talks to me.

Some of the other kids know, and they're starting to tease me about him. They call me "his girlfriend." I don't like it. How can I get him to leave me alone and stop the other kids from talking about this?

MAD AT HIM

Dear Mad At Him: This is how guys your age act when they're attracted to a girl. They're afraid of rejection and sometimes they don't know what to say. So they go about finding out if the girl likes them by passing notes and asking her friends.

This is normal guy behavior and you might as well get used to it. If you don't like him, you can do nothing and he'll get the hint. You can tell a friend so it will get back to him. You can tell him yourself you're not ready for this boy-girl stuff. Or you can write him a note saying that.

Be kind. He's not doing anything wrong, and nobody likes to be turned down.

Write to Dear Debbie, P.O. Box 4328, Chicago, Ill. 60680.

Let Grandma do your laundry don't know you and I certainly don't want to know your dirty clothes.

MAN: Well then, tell me this, would your husband rather eat mashed potatoes or would he rather have Grandma Rosie's old-fashioned stove-top stuffing?

WOMAN: Listen, Mister. My advice to you is to bug off, go home, and let Grandma do your laundry.

Tired of fishing around?

Words of Wisdom

It's bad enough to have to deal with the troubles we have without anticipating the troubles that might be.

Originality is simply a way of looking at things with a fresh perspective.

The best manner is an easy one.

The pleasure of living a quiet life, without moments of great drama, tragedy or comedy, is greatly underestimated.

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions—horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle, then strike it off the list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will leave it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.

This action involved Two Hundred Ninety Three Dollars ($293.00) in United States Currency which was seized from Jesus Perez on December 6, 1995. You must serve your answer to the complaint upon plaintiff's attorney within twenty (20) days of the termination of this publication. Your answer must set forth your response to the Complaint or the nature and existence of any right, title, or interest claimed by you in the defendant currency. If you fail to answer within the time provided, Judgment by Default will be entered against you for the relief demanded in the Complaint. Judge Joseph T. Bonaventure SHAUNA HUGHES CITY ATTORNEY by: David Mincavage, Esq. Deputy City Attorney 243 Water Street Henderson, Nevada 89015 R—June 6, 13, 20, 27, 1996.

LEGAL NOTICE Public Notice of Report as required by the State of Nevada Chemical Catastrophe Prevention Act, SB-641 The Administrator, Division of Environmental Protection, Carson City, gives notice under NRS 456.3834 concerning the Chemical Catastrophe Prevention Act (CCPA, S.B. 641), of the receipt of a report of an Assessment of Risks Through the Analysis of Hazards (ARTAH) from the following facility:

Good Humor-Breyers Ice Cream 1001 Olsen Street Henderson, Nevada 89015 This facility is located in Clark County in the city of Henderson, Nevada, and is subject to the requirements of the Nevada Chemical Catastrophe Prevention Act due to its storage, handling and use of highly hazardous substances as listed in the act. This report addresses the anhydrous ammonia operation at the facility. The report is a summary of the facility's assessment efforts and includes the following information: assessment team members; process safety information; process hazard analysis; operating & maintenance procedures; employee training programs; emergency response programs; consideration of alternatives; and a Plan to Abate Hazards which summarizes the specific hazard mitigation measures the facility proposes as a result of their assessment.

Pursuant to NRS 459.3854, NDEP or the facility may propose written modifications to the proposed Plan to Abate Hazards within a 30 day period. If no modifications to the plan are proposed, the Plan is automatically adopted by NDEP as enforceable. NDEP compliance inspections will then be conducted annually to ensure that the adopted mitigation measures are implemented as scheduled in the plan. Good Humor-Breyers ARTAH report is available for public review from June 20 thru July 18 at these locations: Henderson Public Library, 280 Water Street Henderson; or NDEP Carson City-Bur of Waste Mgmt. Rm. 120, 123 W. Nye Ln. Copies may be requested for the cost of reproduction by calling (702) 687-4670 x3041, or by writing to: NDEP/BWMCAPP, Capitol Complex, Carson City, NV 89710. FAX (702) 885-0868. Comments concerning the ARTAH submitted in writing before July 18 will be considered in the formulation of final determinations regarding the adoption of the Plan to Abate Hazards. If the facility or NDEP propose modifications to the Plan, NDEP will schedule a public hearing on the proposed modifications in accord with NRS 459.3858. H—June 20, 27, 1996.

APPLICATION FOR PERMISSION TO CHANGE THE POINT OF DIVERSION AND PLACE OF USE OF THE PUBLIC WATERS OF THE STATE OF NEVADA HERETOFORE APPROPRIATED Application No. 62003 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that on the 5th day of April 1996 K.L.W.I., a Limited Liability Company of Las Vegas, Nevada made application to the State Engineer of Nevada for permission to change the point of diversion and place of use of 0.0037 c.f.s. of water heretofore appropriated under Permit No. 60644. Water will be diverted from an underground source at a new point located within the NW 1/4 NE 1/4 Section 4 T.23S., R.61E., M.D.B.&M., or at a point from which the N 1/4 corner of said Section 4, bears N 60° 19' 47" W, a distance of 976.00 feet (2 miles NE of the I-15 and Lake Mead Drive interchange). Water will be used for quasi-municipal purposes from January 1st to December 31st of each year. The existing point of diversion was from an underground source located within the NW 1/4 NE 1/4 Section 4, T. 23S., R. 61 E., M.D.B.&M., or at a point from which the N1/4 corner of said Section 4 bears N 66° 05' 36" W, a distance of 1,274.00 feet. Water was used for quasi-municipal purposes from January 1st to December 31st of each year. Signed: R. Michael Turnipseed P.E. State Engineer H-June 13, 20, 27, July 4, 11, 1996.

LEGAL NOTICE TO: TRUSTEES OF THE TRUST DATED August 6, 1988 UNDER WHICH THE PROPERTY OF THE TRUST IS HELD IN TRUST FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CHILDREN OF DAVID J. JACKSON AND LINDA M. JACKSON. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN TO ALL PERSONS WHO MAY HAVE AN INTEREST IN THE TRUST TO CONTACT A LAWYER ON 07/03/1996 AT 10:30 AM. Standard Trust Deed Service Company as duly appointed trustee under the Trust of David, Trustee, 06/20/1988 in Book 00029 Invt. # 0402 of Civil Records in the office of the County Recorder of Clark County, Nevada. Executed by: David J. Jackson and Linda M. Jackson, husband and wife WILL SELL the public action, to the highest bidder for cash (all public at the time of sale in local money of the United States) AT THE CLARK COUNTY COURTHOUSE 300 S.O. 3RD ST. Make the Campfire Right Before You Light
Smokey is counting on you to build a safe campfire.
1. Dig a small pit away from overhanging branches.
2. Circle the pit with rocks.
3. Clear a five-foot area around the pit down to the soil.
4. Keep a bucket of water and shovel nearby.
5. Stack extra wood upwind and away from the fire.
6. After lighting, do not discard match until it is cold.
7. Never leave a campfire unattended, even for a minute.
