Woman searches for her hero

David Hare
News Staff Writer

July 2, Sunday morning. April Griffin decided she'd do some shopping by herself at the Wal-Mart near Boulder Highway and Lake Mead Drive. She recalls passing by a pink house coat that was on sale, making a mental note to come back later and possibly buy the item.

"That's the last thing I remember," she said. "Next thing, I woke up in the hospital where the doctors had performed emergency surgery."

Griffin, 59, suffered a sudden massive heart attack. Doctors at St. Rose Hospital on Lake Mead Drive described her condition as serious, the kind of heart attack one rarely survives unless help arrives within 17 seconds.

Paramedics would arrive at Wal-Mart to rush her to the hospital, but someone else got to April Griffin before then, someone who kept her alive long enough to see another day.

But who?
"I feel like I've been given another chance, like I was on the other side and came back," she said. "There's nothing I could ever do to repay them, but whoever it was who saved my life, I'd like to tell them thank you."

Griffin hasn't been able to track down any witnesses who saw anything the few crucial seconds after the heart attack. Wal-Mart managers told her they saw a person kneeling beside her, not performing any kind of CPR.

"The doctor told me the only reason I was alive was because someone got to me within seconds after the heart attack," she said. "He called it a miracle."

POTTER MANIA — Samantha Straub, 10, delves into "Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire," the newest book in the popular series by J.K. Rowling, Saturday at Borders Books and Music, 1445 W. Sunset Road. The store stayed open until after midnight on Friday to sell the 700-plus-page book to around 150 anxious readers.

HARRY HOOPLA — "Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire," the fourth book in the popular series by J.K. Rowling, has sold more than 600,000 copies, 400,000 of which were bought over the Internet. Widely read by children and adults, the series chronicles the adventures of young wizard Harry Potter and his friends.

Garcia takes over as CCSD superintendent

He will lead sixth-largest school district in the nation

David Hare
News Staff Writer

When Carlos Garcia was hired in April to replace retiring Superintendent Brian Cram, the Clark County School District ranked the eighth-largest district in the nation.

Since then, the district has grown and is now considered the sixth-largest school district in the nation — home to more than 217,000 students.

At a news conference last week, Garcia didn't seem phased by these daunting statistics, not to mention news about CCSD's poor student test scores, high drop-out rates and teacher shortages.

In fact, he appeared more like a man on a mission, ready to roll up his sleeves and go to work. But Garcia's also a realist, and he knows it'll take more than just one man to fix the bad plumbing, so to speak.

"I can't solve all the problems," he said. "But together we can resolve a lot of the issues out there."

His plan is to stay on at least 10 years. That's the amount of time he figures it will take build a better school district, plus he plans on retiring in Southern Nevada.

Describing himself as a "fiscal conservative," Garcia said he promises to be accountable, expecting the same from his staff.

"Our number-one priority in Clark County is to make sure each student knows how to read by the end of the third grade. That determines the course for the rest of their education," he said.

Only a few days into the new position, the former leader of the Fresno Unified School District in California also plans to establish "town hall" meetings with parents and teachers.

Regarding the issue of deconsolidation, which calls for breaking up the CCSD into smaller, more accountable entities, Garcia said he doesn't support the initiative.

"A house divided does not stand," he said. "We work better together as one."

Garcia, 47, accepted the position after a national search firm presented him as a candidate before the Board of Trustees. He received a compensation package worth $268,000, according to CCSD reports.

Brian Cram will finish out his contract on July 31.

While change won't be automatic under Garcia's new leadership, he said Clark County residents can expect some surprises beginning in the early part of next year.

"We need to develop a strong relationship with the legislature and let them know we need more money for our students and teachers," he said. "It's not going to be business as usual around here."

Council to hold hearing on water rates tonight

Lisa Stiller
News Staff Writer

The Henderson City Council will hold a public hearing on a resolution to increase water and sewer rates during a committee meeting at 6:45 p.m. tonight in Council Chambers at City Hall, 240 Water Street.

The additional funds are needed to cover the increased cost of providing water and sewer service. Single-family residential water rates are scheduled to go up 3%, about $1.10, per month, and single-family residential sewer service will rise $3.5%, or about 63 cents a month.

Commercial rates for water and sewer will increase by approximately the same amount.

Water rates for multi-family homes will increase, but not sewer rates. Apartment owners may pass the increase on to tenants in the form of an increase in rent.

Residents can study the rate increase proposal at the City Clerk's Office in City Hall. After the public hearing, at which residents can comment on the proposed changes, the City Council will vote on the resolution.

In other business, the City Council will also conduct a public hearing on the annexation of 5,473 acres of property, located in the Enterprise Township south and southwest of the city. An interlocal agreement with the Clark County Commission gave Henderson the lead role in developing a comprehensive Land Use and Transportation Plan for the area, with a stipulation that the commission would not stand in the way of future annexation by the city.

On June 6, after receiving petitions for annexation from property owners, the City Dena Webster has always been interested in hair styling and in opening her own salon. Her dream may soon come true. This Sunday, after attending Rollers School of Technology, Webster takes her final exams.

"I'm very creative and want more freedom to move, and I have always wanted to learn to cut hair," said Webster, who has spent the last 25 years as a casino cocktail waitress.
A native of Albuquerque, she moved to the Las Vegas area 38 years ago. Four years ago, Webster moved to Henderson. Her 13-year-old daughter Taylor will attend the new Bob Miller Middle School this year. Her son Casey, 27, a West Point graduate, is an army captain stationed in Germany.
Although Webster likes to cook and work out, she also enjoys just being at home. "I like to talk on the phone with my friends and hang out around the house," she said.

Oheron sentenced in DUI conviction

LAS VEGAS (AP) — A woman who killed a married couple while driving drunk has been sentenced to between five and 24 years in prison.

Nancy Oheron pleaded guilty in April to two counts of felony driving while under the influence in connection with a November 1998 accident that killed Shane and Amber Bates of Las Vegas.

Survivors of the victims told Oheron on Friday that she killed two hardworking people who just two months earlier marked the birth of their first child, Samantha.

District Judge Donald Mosley ordered Oheron, 33, to serve a maximum of 24 years in prison. She could become eligible for parole in five years and four months.

Prosecutors said Oheron had a blood-alcohol content of 0.22 when she entered the opposite lane to pass a vehicle. Her vehicle crashed into an oncoming motorcycle driven by Bates. He and his wife were dead at the scene.

Amber Bates also left a son, Cody, from a previous marriage.

He is now 5 years old.

Pregnant waitresses receive settlements

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Five women who became pregnant while employed as cocktail waitresses at the Imperial Palace have reached settlements in the federal lawsuit that went to trial Wednesday.

The agreements struck Thursday and Friday leaves just one plaintiff in the trial that is expected to reach closing arguments Monday morning.

At the heart of the case was the Imperial Palace policy, which since has been changed, to move pregnant cocktail servers off the casino floor — and into lower-paying jobs — once their condition began to show.

The resort's attorneys claimed the policy did not discriminate against pregnant cocktail waitresses, because everyone in that position was required to have a sexy and glamorous appearance.

Terms of the settlements were not disclosed.

Wind hampers Reno firefighters

RENO (AP) — High winds and inaccessible terrain were hampering firefighters Sunday in their battle against a 150-acre wildland fire on Peavine Mountain just northwest of here.

No homes were immediately threatened, but three firefighters suffered smoke inhalation, said fire information officer Steve Frady.

A whirlwind came through and pushed flames toward a fire engine, partially burning the vehicle and temporarily trapping crew members in the cab, he said.

"It burned the brake lines and tires on it," Frady said.

The brush fire sent up a huge smoke plume that could be seen for miles in the Reno area.

Two air tankers and two helicopters were assisting firefighters on the ground.

The fire was burning on the northwest side of Peavine Mountain and moving in a southerly direction.

There was no lightning and the fire was human caused, Frady said. The exact cause is under investigation.

Douglas County senior center director resigns

MINDEN, Nev. (AP) — The director of the Douglas County senior center has resigned for cashing personal checks at the facility in violation of county policy.

No criminal charges have been filed against Kathleen Maidlow, but she's under investigation by the district attorney's office.

Maidlow said she was told to resign or she would be fired after it was discovered she was writing personal checks to the senior center, then taking cash in the same amount out of the center's petty cash.

"I didn't know it was against county policy," she said.

County officials confirmed that Maidlow resigned June 30 but refused further comment.

New jail in Lyon County

YERINGTON (AP) — Lyon County will need to build a new jail within the next five years because of the county's rapid growth, Sheriff Sid Smith said.

The county jail in Yerington, which is shared by the county, Nevada Highway Patrol and Yerington and tribal police, has only 56 beds.

"Daily, we have an average of 70 or 80 for the jail," Smith said.

Rather than send criminals to jail, Smith said, many are sentenced to community service or the county's labor-in-lieu-of-jail program.

The sheriff said he thinks the new jail should be centrally located, probably in Siler Springs or Stagecoach.

But he said state law is unclear whether county jails must be located at the county seat. Yerington is the county seat.

"We need to have the district attorney or attorney general research that," he said.

Cross country ski trails to be restored

HOMEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The North Lake Tahoe Resort Association has given $15,000 toward restoration of cross-country ski trails used during the 1960 Winter Olympics.

David Antonucci, who's heading the effort to restore the nearly 40 miles of trails here on Lake Tahoe's west shore, said the $15,000 will be used for trail signs as well as maps.

"It's mainly to fund the hard cost we might incur. It's a very simple project," he said, adding many of the trails only need to be cleared and maintained.

"We want the trails to be open and in use this winter, and we still think we can do that."

Antonucci is aiming for a February 2001 rededication of the trails to coincide with their original use during the 1960 Winter Olympics.

Although nearby Squaw Valley was the host of the Olympics, the cross-country skiing competition was held in the Homewood area.

Getty Center in Los Angeles is tremendous

A little bit about a lot: Getty Center worth the drive: During a recent trip to the Los Angeles area, my family and I visited the Getty Center, an experience to recommend to anybody who even casually loves arts, history or architecture.

The spectacular $1 billion facility, which opened just a couple years ago, is not only a place to display art, but it's also a research center, the home of several outstanding gardens and many restaurants. It is nestled in the hills above the Interstate 405 freeway south of Interstate 210. From the plaza, you can see all of the downtown area and rumor has it on a clear day you can see out to Santa Catalina Island off the coast.

Drawings, photographs, manuscripts, paintings, sculptures, tapestries — you name it and The Getty has it.

The Center features four multi-story pavilions, some connected, which divides the collection into more manageable areas. Security guards lurk around every corner. Some displays are permanent, others rotate and still others are visiting.

A family room allows children to draw, try on mock-up examples of clothing from four centuries ago (complete with Velcro) and pose either in front of a mirror or in front of an artistic background for more realistic photographs.

Parking is $5 and reservations are recommended (310-440-7305). Admission is free. A clean, high-speed tram lifts guests from the parking garage to the top of the hill on which the museum was constructed.

Depending on your level of interest, at least a half of a day is required to get a sense of the facility. A full day would be much better.

I can't wait to go back on a leisurely, cloudy day, sip some coffee in the garden and enjoy art on the inside. While it may sound pretentious to some, the Getty Center is an family-friendly, easily accessible museum for everyone to enjoy.

Congratulations to Pete: Although local favorite Andre Agassi didn't make it an all-American Final at Wimbledon, Pete Sampras deserves all the credit and many congratulations for winning his record 13th Grand Slam title Sunday. Because some find his style of play boring and his personality dull, Sampras does not seem to get the attention he deserves. His remarkable serve and consistency of effort throughout the '90s make him one of tennis's all-time greats.

St. Rose Parkway: As reported two weeks ago in the News, a portion of Lake Mead Drive in front of the Siena campus of St. Rose Dominican Hospital has been renamed St. Rose Parkway. One reason for the change was to alleviate any confusion of having two hospitals on Lake Mead Drive. Street signs are in place, but many years will likely go by before residents really get used to the idea. Some still confuse Lake Mead Drive, in the southern end of the valley, with Lake Mead Boulevard, in the north. The Siena campus, by the way, is slowly starting to accept patients this month.

Census: 100% of homes contacted

Lisa Stiller
News Staff Writer

Mission accomplished. Census Office Manager Helen Myers says the effort to count Henderson residents was successful.

"One-hundred percent of the households have been contacted. As far as we know, we have contacted every household in our area," she said.

"That doesn't mean we've had a response from everyone," Myers said. But a tremendous effort was made. Field workers from the Henderson area office visited 67,000 homes.

"Every household was visited which did not respond by mail. One was visited 26 times. The 26th time, someone was home," she said.

The Henderson area office had a 65% mail response rate, just reaching their target. According to Myers, response rates from home visits are not tabulated.

Although the official count is completed, Census workers are still doing quality checks, in order to verify their work. Several different quality checks are done. For example, Census workers are making sure that everyone who called the 800 number because they did not receive a Census form actually received a form and mailed it in. They are also going out to double-check homes that were originally found vacant, to make sure they're really vacant.

Myers said the office will close on Sept. 1, but phone operations will continue out of Denver.

What would she do different next time? Myers said more preparation time was needed for field workers to get briefed and organized before going out in the field. She also said that more attention should be given to the field managers' need for flexibility in their individual offices.

"We've had to run as if one size fits all. But what works in New York City does not necessarily work in Henderson," she said.

Myers said technological improvements in the next 10 years could make a big difference.

"Considering the technical advances of the next 10 years, it's hard to conceive of what the next Census will be," she said. "But we'll still be going door to door."

DNA match could link robbery suspects to Ross murders

Lisa Stiller
News Staff Writer

According to Capt. Richard Perkins, robbery suspects Oscar Cisneros and Jose Vigoa may soon be linked to the March 3 double homicide of two Armed Transport guards that occurred during a robbery attempt outside the Ross Dress for Less store on Stephanie street.

"We should have a statement in a couple of weeks," he said late last week.

New DNA evidence could mean this will happen sooner.

According to Chief Michael Mayberry, "We've had some verbal verification from the lab that there may be a match between blood in the getaway vehicle and Cisneros. We have not received a written confirmation yet."

Mayberry said that no news conference would be held until an arrest is actually made.

A preliminary hearing for the suspects, which is expected to last a few days, began yesterday morning in District Court in Las Vegas. Over the past several weeks, Henderson Police, along with Metro and FBI agents, have been working to gather information that could connect Cisneros and Vigoa with the homicide.

They are currently being held at the Clark County Detention Center, charged with the 1999 robbery of the Bellagio Resort and Casino.

Cisneros and Vigoa are also suspects in four other casino robberies, which took place over a period of two years. Evidence gathered at the time of their arrest included weapons, casino chips and a large amount of cash found at their homes. Ac-ording to police reports, Cisneros has admitted to the robberies, while Vigoa is remaining silent.

Whether Cisneros' confession can be used in court is yet to be determined.

Almost four weeks ago, a warrant was obtained to get blood samples from both suspects, so that DNA tests could be done as a way to possibly link them with the double homicide.

Richard Sosa, 47, and Gary Prestidge, 23, were killed in the ambush during the Henderson robbery attempt.

Driver charged with felony DUI after wreck

Greg Fridell, 42, was arrested and charged with felony DUI with substantial bodily harm Thursday after a traffic accident at Sunset Road and Stephanie Street.

Police said an early model Chevrolet Suburban driven by Fridell traveling southbound in the center travel lane on Stephanie Street struck three vehicles that were stopped for the traffic signal at Sunset Road.

A passenger in the first vehicle that was struck by the Suburban was air lifted to University Medical Center's Trauma Unit with critical injuries. The drivers of the first vehicle and the second vehicle were transported via ambulance to the UMC Trauma Unit as well.

New airport planned as crowds at McCarran increase

Lisa Stiller
News Staff Writer

For the past 29 years, Douglas Reid has been flying in and out of McCarran International Airport to visit relatives in Henderson and Las Vegas.

"I remember when I lived here in 1971 I had to walk out to the runway to get on the plane," he said. Now he lives in Tennessee, and in his comings and goings has noticed some big changes.

These changes, inspired by both the growth in population and and in the tourist industry, has made McCarran the sixth busiest airport in the country.

On Thursday, Federal Aviation Administrator Jane Garvey joined U.S. Sen. Harry Reid, D-Nev., and Clark County Director of Aviation Randy Walker in a news conference where they discussed some of the newest improvements at the airport.

Over the last 10 years, $1.4 million worth of expansion projects have been completed. Some of these include the addition of terminal D with 26 gates, the tram system that moves passengers to and from terminal D gates, an addition of four new gates at terminal C, the construction of a 6,000-space parking garage and freeway access to Interstate 215.

But, according to Walker, much more is needed.

By the year 2003, a consolidated rental car facility will be constructed, to allow for a larger baggage claim area. Two new wings added to the D terminal will provide more gates. Roadway improvements are planned to make access to and exit from the airport easier. Terminal 3 will be built, to accommodate the increasing number of domestic and international flights to and from McCarran.

This will cost $1.065 billion. But taxpayers don't have to worry. According to Walker, McCarran gets its funds from a variety of sources, and the taxpayer is not one of them.

McCarran's annual budget is $260 million. The airlines foot 40% of the bill. Retail shops and concession stands provide additional revenue, slot machines bring in about $25 million a year, and advertising $25 million.

Grants are also responsible for much of the funding: as of June 30, 1999, McCarran has over $34 million in remaining commitments in federal grants for land acquisition and airport improvements.

"We do not rely on tax payers' money for any of our funding," said Hillarie Grey,

Ron Martinez/News Staff

AIRPORT PLANS — FAA Administrator Jane Garvey answers questions at a news conference while U.S. Sen. Harry Reid, D-Nev., looks on.

media relations manager for McCarran. "We are self-sufficient."

Since June 1, 1992, passengers having been paying part of the bill, by way of a Passenger Facility Charge (PFC) of $3 which is added to the price of their airline tickets. This nets about $42 million annually.

According to Debbie Miller,

Clark County Aviation public information administrator, McCarran is unique in it gets part of its funding from slot machines. The airport also gets a far greater amount of its revenue from advertising than other airports due to the tourist trade.

But at some point, McCarran will not be able to handle the continual increase in passenger traffic. Currently, more than 92,000 people a day go through the airport.

"We are running out of space," Walker said. "At build-out to its full capacity, we can handle 55 million people annually." He said McCarran is expected to reach full capacity by 2012.

Ivanpah International Airport, expected to open in 2010, will be able to accommodate 30 million passengers when fully completed. It will be located south of Las Vegas between Jean and Primm, on 6,500 acres now owned by the Federal Bureau of Land Management.

When Ivanpah Airport opens after Phase 1 of construction, it will contain one runway, ground support services and parking. Phase 1 alone is expected to cost $30 million, paid for with airport revenue bonds, federal funding, investors. According to Grey, as with McCarran, none of the cost will be paid by taxpayers.

Henderson Executive Airport and the North Las Vegas Airport, which are not equipped to handle larger passenger planes, will receive some funds for improvements so they can take on more of the private aircraft traffic.

Meanwhile, passengers continue to flow through the airport. Many note its most unique feature.

"It's the first time I've been to an airport with slot machines," said Brian Klein, a visitor from Michigan. "It's something to do while waiting for flights."

Farrell challenges for CCSD seat

Isaac Farrell, a local area businessman, is running for the School Board Trustee Seat in District A, challenging incumbent Mary Beth Scow.

Farrell, a 14-year Clark County resident, and his wife Myra have a son Joseph, 13. He is the president of Scion Computers in Las Vegas and has spent extensive time and effort in working with the Clark County School District for the past five years.

In addition, he has been teaching postgraduate master degree courses in computer security and computer networking at Webster University.

Civic activities include an assistant coaching position in Little League baseball, soccer coach for the Henderson Neusport Soccer League and has sponsored various children's sports teams.

Farrell is the current president of the Grand Legacy Homeowners Association and was the founding chairman for Solomon Schecter Jewish Day School as well as former board member for Temple Beth Shalom and is the current liaison to the Jewish Federation for Temple Midbar Kodesh.

His platform focuses on accountability, accessibility and audit. He believes there is a need for accountability in that he expects to be accountable for his actions and for his words.

District A is a very strong community that is reliant on relationships and unity of neighborhoods, which have been violated in school placement and zoning issues, he said.

"I will always be accessible to my constituents in all of District A. If you need me, rest assured you just need to pick up the phone. I can't promise to have all the solutions, but I can promise to address the issues," Farrell said.

Isaac Farrell

"On the issue of an audit, I believe the Clark County School District is in dire need of an operational audit. I refuse to believe that the $34.5 million cut needs to be taken from our classrooms next year, especially for enlarging classroom size. The money that is spent on consultants, studies and staff really needs to be reevaluated."

A cornerstone of his platform will include the support of the Community Schools Initiative that is authored by Assemblywoman Sandra Tiffany.

The constituency in District A supports its initiative, he said, and now is a crucial time for strong leadership in this area. This is the time to stand up and move in the right direction, which is community-based schools where parents and businesses can work together with local city government and neighborhood school representatives to create an education system that fills the needs of the children in the community, he said.

CEO — Matt Matson, founder and CEO of Global Communications, stands beside a rendering in his Las Vegas office. He's holding a portable videophone which the company manufactures and distributes. Matson hopes to lure more technology businesses to Southern Nevada by building a 2,000-acre high-tech city in Henderson.

Global Communications sets plans for futuristic center

David Hare
News Staff Writer

Henderson already has established itself as the fastest growing city in America. Global Communications Inc., a high-tech corporation based in Las Vegas, wants to make Henderson the city of the future.

Imagine a futuristic city rising from the desert floor like something out of a science fiction movie, "Star Trek" meets "The Jetsons." At least that's the vision of Matt Matson, founder and CEO of Global Communications.

Matson's plan involves building a 2,000-acre high-tech center on property owned by LandWell, north of Lake Mead Boulevard, near the proposed site for the Nevada State College at Henderson.

The concept behind building the center involved luring more of the best and brightest in the high-tech industry to Henderson, like building a new Silicon Valley in the desert; but Matson also says there's room for the entertainment business, restauranters and some residential areas.

All of this would be connected by a monorail system which would eliminate the need for cars.

It sounds far-fetched, perhaps, but already Matson and his team at Global Communications have renderings of the plan, known only as "Project 01.01.2500," developed by JMA Architecture studios.

"We're struggling to find high-tech people in this area," said Matson, a Henderson resident. "By developing this high-tech center, we'll bring them here. It's like a city of the 21st century."

Should Project 01.01.2500 go beyond the conceptual stage and into planning and development, Matson estimates it would cost anywhere between $2 to $5 billion and take about eight years to build.

"Where else do you have sunshine 360 days a year?" Matson said about building a high-tech center in Henderson. "Why can't Henderson become the leader in technology and commerce?"

Global Communications is a wholly owned subsidiary of Innovative Technologies based out of Britain. The company manufactures and distributes a variety of computer appliances including a portable videophone expected to reach U.S. markets beginning next year.

Whether or not Matson realizes his vision of building a 21st century city in Henderson, he plans on moving Global Communications' corporate office to Henderson.

"By this time next year, Global Communications will be in Henderson, bringing white collar, high-tech and high paying jobs," he said.

Council adopted a Resolution of Intent to annex the site. The annexation report is available for public inspection at the City Clerk's Office.

The City Council will vote on wage increases for the Manager of Council and Commission Services, the Manager of Customer Services and Support, the Manager of Network Services, and the Manager of Housing and Grants.

According to studies done by the Department of Human Resources, recent studies have shown that there has been an increase in responsibilities in the positions held by these employees. Therefore, a change in their class specification will result in a wage raise.

The Manager of Council and Commission Services, the Manager of Customer Service, and the Manager of Network Services will receive the same wages as other division heads in their department, within a salary range of $64,389-$84,627 a year. The Manager of Housing and Grants will, whose job function has now progressed to that of a full division head, will receive an increase in the range of $68,590-$90,196 a year.

The City Council is also expected to hire additional staff, including a planning technician to the Community Development Department at a salary of $39,304 a year.

All city employees will be receiving a 4% cost-of-living increase in their salaries.

Councilmembers will hear the following requests for changes from residential to commercial zoning for the following areas:

- The hearing on the proposed commercial center at Lake Mead Drive and Pecos Road, which was postponed from June 20, will take place tonight. Developers are requesting a change in zoning from single-family residential to community commercial on 21.7 acres.

- City Stop is requesting a zone change from very low density residential to neighborhood commercial at Lake Mead Drive and Athens Avenue.

Although the Planning Commission has recommended denial of both projects, City Council can overrule this recommendation.

Arroyo Grande open from Wigwam to Paseo Verde

Arroyo Grande Boulevard is now open from Wigwam to Paseo Verde, crossing over the Interstate 215 Beltway via a new bridge.

The opening of this road offers travelers an additional route to travel north-south over the Beltway. The road has two travel lanes and a bike lane in each direction.

This project was funded by the Regional Transportation Commission (RTC) and developer contributions at a cost of $225,000. The construction took 10 months and began in October 1999.

Gonzales brothers earn Eagle Scouts

Two local brothers recently earned Eagle Scout honors: Duane Gonzales, son of Max and Lorenda Gonzales, held the positions of librarian, scribe, assistant senior patrol leader and patrol leader for his troop.

Gonzales attends Basic High School where he is active in wrestling, volleyball and diving. He also enjoys fishing and camping.

He is a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church. Gonzales is interested in a career in fire science and forestry.

His brother Christopher, a sophomore at Basic High School, has been the senior patrol leader for three years.

He is a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, plays football and is on the wrestling team at Basic. He has also been a part of "Who's Who in America."

He hopes to have a career in engineering and law.

Griffin hopes the person who saved her life will come forward so she can acknowledge the valiant effort. She works at the Rainbow Club on Water Street and requests to be contacted there, including people who may have witnessed the incident.

She also left her number with Wal-Mart managers.

Since her heart attack, she's quit smoking after more than 30 years and she's eating better foods.

"Most people just walk on by, they don't want to get involved," she said. "This person cared enough to stop and help. For that they should be recognized."

Green Valley Kiwanis helps community

The Green Valley Kiwanis Club was formed in 1989 and has helped the community in many ways over the years.

Kiwanis Key Clubs at Green Valley and Silverado high schools serve the youth and the handicapped in the community through community service and fundraising events.

Green Valley Kiwanis Club members have held garage sales, car washes and wetland clean-ups.

Along with that they provide gifts for the needy during the holiday season and they offer scholarships for high school students as a reward for an exceptional GPA.

Scholarships were recently presented to Brenda Marshall, Elizabeth Yu, Joshua Kern and William Keith Hughes for a total of $1,200.

Key Club meetings are at 7:30 a.m. at the Greens Supper Club located at 2241 N. Green Valley Parkway on Mondays.

BUSINESS

iSwag.com expands Internet logo market

David Hare
News Staff Writer

During World War II, magnesium production made Henderson a boom town. In today's Information Age, the Internet may very well place Henderson on the map once again.

Joshua Grantz is CEO and part owner of iSwag.com, an online service provider for the branded merchandise and promotional products industry. Grantz helped start up the Internet company in Henderson about a year ago, leaving behind the thriving dot com industry in San Francisco.

"Henderson is a growing city for dot com companies," Grantz said. "More and more people are discovering that this is a great place to live and build a high-tech business."

Low cost of living and inexpensive start-up costs are some of Henderson's attractive features for many Internet companies, according to Grantz.

His iSwag.com company announced last month that they've added 11 new clients to their growing roster of local and national distributors and suppliers.

"Our clients are mainly companies that make or sell hats, pens or shirts using company logos," he said.

This "business to business" exchange is the latest trend in Internet commerce, according to Grantz, and the first of its kind in Henderson.

The company's main modes of operation are all done online, including processing orders, tracking and billing.

"Henderson is close enough to Silicon Valley and L.S.," he said. "There's no reason why resources can't be allocated here."

Business has been good for Grantz since setting up shop in Henderson. Since then, the company has hired about 30 employees, most of them coming from top high-tech companies in San Francisco and New York.

"We'll be expanding significantly within the next two to three years," Grantz said. "We expect to have well over 100 of the top employees and thousands of clients."

Ford Credit picks Manpower as staffing supplier

The economic recovery is fueling the nation's job growth, and the Las Vegas valley is no exception, according to Manpower Inc., the world's leading staffing services firm.

"Many area employers are picking up the pace when it comes to hiring," said Andy Katz, Manpower area manager.

In order to keep up with its growing staffing needs, Ford Credit, the world's largest automotive finance company, has selected Manpower Inc. to provide supplemental staffing services for its consolidated service centers, including one under construction in Henderson.

"Manpower's extensive call center services, products and our network of offices enable us to meet the supplemental staffing needs of Ford Credit across North America," said Linda Lauritzen, Manpower's director of Global Call Center Services.

Manpower has 50,000 call center agents working daily worldwide and 1,500 call center customers in the United States. Its call center programs are based on call center research, participation in professional groups, conferences and seminars, enabling Manpower to keep abreast of current and future trends.

The company is filling orders for hundreds of customer service representatives and clerical workers at other Ford Credit locations, including Columbia, Md.; Nashville, Tenn.; Tampa, Fla.; Greenville, S.C.; Irving, Tex.; and Colorado Springs, Colo.

American Seed Trade Association honors Clark

Fred Clark, president of World Seeds and a resident of Henderson, received the American Seed Trade Association's (ASTA's) Honorary Life Membership Award for his lifetime of achievement in the forage seed industry.

The award was presented at ASTA's Annual Convention in San Francisco on June 19.

Clark began his career in 1951 working in a seed production warehouse, then moved to domestic seed sales, and later to seed production and plant management.

In 1973, he built a forage seed conditioning plant, which was bought by Pioneer Hi-Bred a year later. Clark managed the plant for Pioneer Hi-Bred until 1986, when he founded his own company, Clark Seeds, which produced alfalfa seed.

In 1995, he sold this company to AgriBio Tech, where he worked until 1999 and founded his current international consulting company, World Seeds. Clark's involvement in international forage seed sales and consulting has taken him to more than 50 countries during his career.

In addition, Clark has served in several ASTA leadership positions, including president in 1995. He is currently on ASTA's board of directors.

Governor's Conference to address technology

Business leaders and others interested in the growth and diversification of Nevada's business sector are invited to attend the fourth annual Governor's Conference on Economic Development.

The conference will be held Aug. 17-18 at the Reno Hilton. This year's event will feature prominent technology forecaster, Daniel Burrus, who has appeared on such shows as "CNN Special Reports" and "Larry King Live." Roger Herman, workforce futurist, and Don Reynolds, economist and forecaster, will also present their views on the future of business and the economy.

A reception highlighting products produced by Nevada companies is included in this annual business gathering.

The cost of the conference is $110 if registered before Aug. 9, $160 up to the day of the conference, and $190 for on-site registration.

For more information or to register, call the Nevada Commission on Economic Development, 1(800)336-1600.

Organized Living helps students get set for dorms

Students heading off to college this summer can use the organizing experts at Organized Living to help them solve their dorm room dilemmas.

The solution-oriented stores are offering free advice and product discounts to college-bound students during their month-long College 2000 Days from July 13 to Aug. 15.

"We provide quick and easy solutions for students who have the challenging task of fitting an overflow of clothing and accessories into a small living space," said Cindy Musser, assistant store manager at Organized Living, located at 2180 N. Rainbow Blvd. "Each of our stores has a full-size display of a dorm room that illustrates unique storage methods and arranging techniques that can be done with limited space."

Organized Living offers students dorm room basics and necessities such as bulletin boards, over-the-door hooks, clip-on lights, storage clip boards, storage trunks, hanging files, plastic shower totes, planner books, shelf dividers, shoe organizers and much more.

The store selection also encompasses back-to-school items and solutions for teachers such as dry erase boards, pencil holders, file boxes, large storage containers and chests, clip boards and additional necessities perfect for the head of the class.

"The focus for back to school is on students and teachers and providing them with the best tools necessary to save time and money," Musser said.

Organized Living will offer students and teachers a 15% discount off an entire purchase from July 15 through Aug. 13. Discount coupons are available now at both Organized Living locations in Las Vegas and in Henderson, located at 501 N. Stephanie St., at Warm Springs Road.

First Source distributes phone book

More than 950,000 copies of the July 2000 Sprint First Source phone book are being distributed in Las Vegas, Boulder City, Blue Diamond, Good Springs, Henderson, Jean, Laughlin, Mt. Charleston, Nelson, North Las Vegas and Searchlight.

The new edition includes a guide to local entertainment, answers to frequently asked questions about Las Vegas and the Internet, as well as an Internet index.

Located between the residential and business listings of the White Pages, the index lists a variety of websites and e-mail addresses.

For those who choose to access personal and business information on-line, www.sprintfirstsource.com provides numbers, addresses, maps, directions and links to various Web sites. Consumers also can access local news, movie listings, cultural events, weather, classified ads and horoscopes.

"As the Internet becomes more prevalent in people's work and personal lives, we are providing additional ways to get information," said Jim Hamilton, Sprint marketing director. "Our Web site is an excellent resource and can be used for a variety of needs. It will certainly benefit the local community."

The directory will continue to provide emergency and recreation information, U.S. Government information, street maps and coupons.

If you do not receive a copy of the July 2000 Sprint First Source phone book by the end of July, please call 1(888)256-5647.

Sailor trains with international Navies

Just as some doctors and firefighters are always on call to help their local community, sailors in the U.S. Navy are on call 24 hours a day, every day of the year, ready to protect America's interests throughout the world.

The cornerstone of readiness in any occupation is training, and Henderson's Ryan S. Vincent recently contributed to the Pacific Fleet's readiness by participating in a military exercise known as Rim of the Pacific (RIMPAC) 2000, in and around Hawaii.

RIMPAC is a periodic exercise designed to bring together the military forces of various Pacific rim nations to enhance their readiness, efficiency, and interoperability. By training together, each country gains confidence in the other's abilities and becomes better prepared to operate together and provide stability in the Pacific region.

Navy Airman Vincent, the 20-year-old son of Robert and Connie Vincent of Henderson, contributed to the exercise as an aviation boatswain's mate assigned to the aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln (CVN 72). Vincent understands the importance of exercises like RIMPAC 2000 to the security of this region.

Courtesy photo

Navy Airman Ryan S. Vincent

"I think training is very important. RIMPAC prepares the crew to their full potential and we know we'll be ready for a fight," Vincent said.

Vincent's ship was one of more than 50 ships from seven nations who participated in RIMPAC 2000, which was the 17th such exercise since its inception in 1971. The exercise incorporated the activities of 200 aircraft and 22,000 Sailors, Airmen, Marines, Soldiers and Coast Guardsmen. The participants include military units from Australia, Canada, Chile, Japan, the Republic of Korea, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

Training opportunities included missile and ship gun firings, humanitarian and disaster relief scenarios, special operations training with Navy SEALs, and an amphibious landing with U.S. Marines.

RIMPAC 2000, which began May 30 and concluded July 6, not only provided military units with the chance to improve their tactical skills, it also provided its participating personnel with the chance for professional and personal growth.

"I plan to learn more about my job, so I can be the best at what I do," Vincent said.

Vincent and his fellow shipmates on board the 1,040-foot long Abraham Lincoln are required to train extensively prior to any exercise. The aircraft carrier's role, as the centerpiece of every battle group, is to use its more than 75 aircraft to project its power off shore and hundreds of miles inland anywhere in the world. Training for RIMPAC is not only good for the command as a whole but is also rewarding for the sailor.

"It's a great honor to be a part of a great warship, while serving my country proudly," said Vincent, a two-year Navy veteran.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

Reading matters — all year long

"Summer time and the living is easy," so goes the song. It's the time for lemonade, vacations, campfires, and relaxing.

But the lazy, hazy days of summer also can be the perfect time for you to help your youngsters brush up, fine-tune, accelerate, or jumpstart their reading skills.

National Education Association (NEA) President Bob Chase says, "One of the best summer investments every parent or caregiver can make is to spend 15 minutes a day reading with a child. Those 15 minutes can lead to a lifetime of reading pleasure — for adults as well as children."

School may be out, but reading can be part of every family member's vacation plans. Whatever your summer plans, reading teachers have some practical — and fun — ways you can help make sure that your child's vacation from school isn't a vacation from learning.

Here are just a few:
The Dress Me Game. Entertain small fry — and teach them, too — by telling them when they're dressing or undressing, the name of each item of clothing — shirt, blouse, sweater, sock, sneaker, sandal, shorts, and so on. Then print the words on paper and ask your child to attach the words to the correct clothes in the drawer or closet.

Snack-Plus: Cut bread into rectangles, squares, triangles, circles, making at least two of each shape. Ask your child to choose two pieces of the same shape, then to put jam or peanut butter on one piece, topping it with the other. Presto! Your youngster has learned a shape and made his own snack.

Recycle: Instead of tossing that junk mail, use it as a learning tool. Have your child go through it to find letters, sight words, spelling words, and reading words.

The Writing Game: Have your child pretend to write — with an unsharpened pencil or his own finger — on a family member's back. The adult whispers a letter or word and the child writes or spells it on the other person's back. Then the writer and the "writee" trade answers for accuracy.

Cereal Readers: At breakfast, read the backs and sides of the cereal box. If there's a game on the box, play it.

Navigation: Whether you're traveling by car, bus or subway, your children can help lead the way. Tell them what to look for on exit signs, street signs, and subway stops, then let them be the guide.

Connection, please: If your child has a special interest, movie, or television show, look for books, pictures, articles on related topics.

One tip that reading teachers agree on universally: Making reading a regular part of your child's daily routine is as important as homework, dinner, and a nightly bath. Starting early, reading can become a lifelong habit. Some suggestions about titles that you can pick up for your youngsters might include a selection from NEA teachers' top 10 books for children:

1. "Charlotte's Web" by E. B. White (9-12 years)
2. "The Polar Express" by Chris Van Allsburg (4-8 years)

3. "Green Eggs and Ham" by Dr. Seuss (4-8 years)
4. "The Cat in the Hat" by Dr. Seuss (4-8 years)
5. "Where the Wild Things Are" by Maurice Sendak (4-8 years)
6. "Love You Forever" by Robert N. Munsch (4-8 years)
7. "The Giving Tree" by Shel Silverstein (All ages)
8. "The Very Hungry Caterpillar" by Eric Carle (Baby-Preschool)
9. "Where the Red Fern Grows" by Wilson Rawls (Young Adult)
10. "The Mitten" by Jan Brett (4-8 years)

For other reading tips as well as the full list of Teachers' Top 100 Books for children, and the Kids' Top 100 Book List, visit <http://www.nea.org/readacross/catalist.html>. Other reading information for parents as well as teachers can be found at www.nea.org/readingmatters/. Reading Matters, NEA's literacy initiative, also includes NEA's Read Across America, which is celebrated annually on March 2, Dr. Seuss's birthday.

Free concert by 'The Fab'

The Green Valley Ranch master-planned community in Henderson will host a free outdoor concert featuring "The Fab" from 8 to 10 p.m. Saturday, July 15.

The concert will be held at Discovery Park, 2011 Paseo Verde Parkway. To reach Discovery Park, take the I-215 Southern Beltway to the Green Valley Parkway exit and go south to Paseo Verde Drive, then east to Palomino Village Drive.

The Fab offers a tribute to the world's most celebrated musical group, The Beatles, performing all-live versions of the original Fab Four's extensive catalog of hits.

The band's repertoire ranges from the soft, acoustic sounds of "Yesterday," "And I Love Her," and "Hey Jude" to the high-energy rock 'n' roll of "Twist and Shout," "She Loves You" and "Day Tripper," to the sonic brilliance of "Magical Mystery Tour," "Penny Lane" and "Strawberry Fields Forever."

The concert will be sponsored by Green Valley Ranch builders and the Henderson Parks and Recreation Department. Attendees are invited to bring blankets and picnic baskets, and refreshments will be available for sale.

Don't let higher rates dampen homebuying season

Summer heat usually brings a flurry of summertime home sales.

But as hot as the housing market has been for the last few years, prospective first-time and move-up buyers may be wondering if it's still a good time to buy with interest rates on the rise. And if the time is right, they may be concerned whether they can still get a loan.

According to Greg Sayegh, senior vice president of mortgage lending at Washington Mutual, there are many reasons for prospective buyers to stay in the market.

"Although rates are higher, I believe it's a good time to buy because few rentals are available, lenders are flush with credit, listing inventories are beginning to increase, and the benefits of home ownership still outweigh the costs," Sayegh said.

But, to prepare yourself for the home buying process, consider these steps:

1. Get pre-approved for a mortgage loan before house shopping. Some homebuyers think pre-qualifying for a mortgage, a bank's initial examination of your borrowing ability, is enough. But pre-approval, whereby the buyer goes through the entire loan approval process, actually provides the borrower with a loan commitment subject to finding a home of their choice. Knowing a prospective buyer is pre-approved is often a compelling factor to a seller evaluating an offer.

2. Consider all loan options and terms. Too often, buyers learn of a loan program they think will work without asking the appropriate questions such as, "How long will I live here? Which is more important to me, low payments or low fees? Should I get a fixed or adjustable-rate mortgage?"

For example, a fixed-rate loan guarantees the payment amount for the life of the loan; however, the homeowner cannot benefit if rates fall. Adjustable rate mortgages typically offer lower monthly payments than fixed-rate loans in their early years, and are easier for many homeowners to qualify. Also, the payment amount falls if interest rates go down. The flip side is also true — if rates rise, so do the payments.

"Many people like adjustable rate mortgages because if rates fall they gain the benefit without having to refinance," Sayegh said.

Home buyers planning to move within five years should consider a short-term fixed rate loan that becomes adjustable after a few years. Some lenders are now offering such hybrid loans.

"This way, owners can benefit from lower monthly payments initially, and plan to move or refinance before the loan begins to adjust. This is also a good loan if a buyer thinks rates will fall in coming years," Sayegh said.

Buyers also need to consider the term of the loan.

For some, a 15-year loan would allow an owner to finish paying a mortgage around retirement age when income typically drops. Others are happy with a 30- or even 40-year loan to decrease monthly payments.

3. Review fees and upfront costs. Loans free of origination fees or zero point loans have become more popular in recent years.

This enables buyers to get into their new home with lower upfront costs. But, monthly payments are typically lower if the buyer pays origination fees.

"Buyers will choose the right loan if they evaluate their complete financial picture, and take all of the variables into consideration," Sayegh said.

For more information on the home buying process, Washington Mutual Home Loan Center and mortgage counselors are available toll free by calling (877) 827-1403 or (888) 926-8536.

Guinn honors State Bar leaders Bersi, Swobe

Gov. Kenny Guinn issued proclamations recently to honor prominent Nevada attorneys Ann Bersi and Coe Swobe, two outgoing members of the State Bar of Nevada's Board of Governors.

Guinn issued a proclamation declaring June 23, 2000 to be a day in honor of Bersi, a Clark County deputy district attorney in the civil division who served as president of the State Bar of Nevada from June 1999 until completing her term earlier this month.

The proclamation recognizes Bersi, a former executive director of the State Bar, for "providing exemplary leadership in stewardship and demonstrating a sensitivity to the needs of members of the Bar and the general public."

Guinn also declared June 22, 2000, to be a day honoring long-time Reno attorney and former state lawmaker Swobe, who had served on the Board of Governors from 1991 until last week. Guinn recognized Swobe for serving in the Nevada Legislature from 1963 to 1974 and for being inducted into the Nevada Senate Hall of Fame.

The proclamation noted that Swobe is known as Nevada's father of the original Tahoe Regional Planning Compact and that he "distinguished himself as a founder and leader of Lawyers Concerned for Lawyers," a state bar group that helps lawyers in times of personal need.

The State Bar of Nevada is a public corporation serving the legal community and the general public since 1927. It is the professional association for all attorneys licensed to practice law in Nevada. Its Web site is www.nvbar.org.

Exhibit openings highlight Nevada's rich cultural legacy

Several new exhibits in museums around the state reflect Nevada's rich cultural and natural heritage. They cover such diverse subjects as contemporary basket-making, the renaissance of mining in the early 20th century, Nevada's First Ladies and spectacular celestial events as seen through the eye of the photographer.

The Nevada Historical Society in Reno will debut a new exhibit this Saturday, July 15, during its free Ice Cream Social. "A Show of Hands" features work by members of the Great Basin Basketmakers, one of the most active basket guilds in the nation. While the baskets are modern creations, many are strongly influenced by Native American traditions. Opening day will include a book signing by local authors, including Reno basket artist Mary Lee Fulkerson, author of "Weavers of Tradition and Beauty."

On July 19, basketmaker Vickie Johnson will teach a morning hands-on class for children ages 8 and up.

Pre-registration is required. For details, call 775-1190. The Nevada Historical Society is located at 1650 N. Virginia St. in Reno. "A Show of Hands" runs through Sept. 30.

The new exhibit at the Nevada State Museum in Carson

City explores the revival of mining in Nevada in the early 20th century. With the discovery of gold and silver at Tonopah in 1900 and at Goldfield in 1902, the state pulled its way out of a 20-year depression caused by the closing of most Comstock Lode mines in the late 1870s.

Through the photographer's lens and the cartoonist's pen, Beyond Tonopah examines the new strikes in the middle of the state that had prospectors and investors once again on the trail of buried riches. The exhibit runs through next April.

For details, call 775-687-4810. The Nevada State Museum is located at 600 N. Carson St. in Carson City.

In Las Vegas, a tribute to Nevada's First Ladies takes place at the Nevada State Museum and Historical Society. "Silver Ladies Golden Splendor" traces the role of the governors' wives from 1864 to today. The exhibit includes photographs, biographies and 10 inaugural ball gowns, reflecting the fashions of the last 50 years. The display also includes the 1904 wedding gown worn by Julia McCann Scrugham, first lady from 1923 to 1926, before inaugural balls were the norm. The exhibit runs through Sept. 4. When not on display, the clothing is housed at the Marjorie Russell Clothing and Textile Research Center in Carson City, a facility open to the public by appointment.

Also on display at the Las Vegas facility is a new photography exhibit. "Exploring the Night Sky Over Southern Nevada" features work by John H. Mowbray, a photographer and astronomer who has captured on film some of the more spectacular celestial events seen in recent years. He documented such key events as the comet Hale-Bopp, the near conjunction of Venus and Jupiter in 1999, the planet Mercury during a grazing transit of the sun (the first such occurrence since the invention of the telescope), the last solar eclipse of the 20th century in May 1994, and the first lunar eclipse of the year.

According to Mowbray, the arid desert outside of Las Vegas at night is well suited to observing and photographing the wonders of space. The exhibit runs through December.

The Nevada State Museum and Historical Society is located at 700 Twin Lakes Dr. on the west side of Lorenzi Park in Las Vegas. For further information, call 486-5205.

All of the museums listed above are operated by the Nevada Department of Museums, Library, and Arts, which also includes the office of Historical Preservation, State Library and Archives and Nevada Arts Council. State Bar produces legal pamphlets in Spanish

The State Bar of Nevada has produced Spanish versions of its most frequently requested free brochures, which are designed to answer common-legal questions from the public on issues from DUI to real estate.

The popular series of 13 pamphlets now includes seven offered in Spanish. State Bar officials said all the pamphlets will be available in Spanish by the end of 2000. These publications are produced as a public service by the State Bar of Nevada, using research donated by Nevada lawyers with expertise in each area.

Individual brochures are available to anyone who requests them by calling the State Bar of Nevada at (702) 382-2200 or (800) 254-2797, or by visiting its offices in Las Vegas and Reno. They also are available to law firms or organizations in sets of 50 for $12.50 per set.

"These free materials are an example of Nevada lawyers and judges making the law work for everyone," said Las Vegas attorney Dan Polsenberg, newly elected president of the organization's board of governors. "By translating these helpful pamphlets into Spanish, we're also improving our service to Spanish-speaking people throughout Nevada."

The brochures cover the following subjects, with those available in Spanish listed in bold type:

- Bankruptcy
- Lawyer Referral and Information Service
- Divorce
- DUI
- Fee Dispute Arbitration
- Real Estate Escrows and Title Insurance
- How Lawyers Charge Clients' Security Fund

- Lawyer Discipline
- Power of Attorney Forms
- Probate and Administration of Estates
- Providing for Your Pets
- Filing a Homestead Declaration

The State Bar of Nevada is a public corporation serving the legal community and the general public since 1927. It is the professional association for all attorneys licensed to practice law in Nevada. MDA seeks volunteers for Jerry Lewis Telethon

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is seeking volunteers from the greater Las Vegas area to help with one of America's best-known Labor Day traditions, the Jerry Lewis MDA Telethon, set to air Sept. 3-4 on some 200 stations nationwide.

Between now and Labor Day, volunteers are needed in many areas, including helping with the local telethon broadcast on KLAS-TV, Channel 8.

"It's critical that we enlist the support of hundreds of volunteers in Las Vegas and millions more across the country," said Jerry Lewis, MDA national chairman. "Without volunteer help, we simply won't be able to do everything that needs to be done to make this year's telethon a success for 'my kids.'"

Volunteer activities include answering phones, coordinating food and drinks for telethon workers, helping with pre-telethon mailings, distributing posters to local businesses, transporting supplies, greeting guests, escorting sponsors, tallying pledge slips, addressing envelopes, videotaping and logging the show and manning a clean-up committee.

Along with star Jerry Lewis and local station emcees, celebrity volunteers include telethon anchor Ed McMahon, "Entertainment Tonight's" Jann Carl, broadcasting legend Casey Kasem, comedian Norm Crosby and Cynthia Garrett, host of NBC "Later."

In addition, MDA needs volunteers to assist with thousands of telethon-related special events in the area and nationwide.

Volunteers are also needed year-round for myriad activities to bolster public support and help MDA reduce administrative expenses. Possible duties include taking tickets, helping with security, arranging food contributions, staffing MDA booths, delivering refreshments to firefighters during "Fill the Boot" campaigns, visiting people with neuromuscular diseases, becoming a "pen pal" and coordinating educational mailings.

Local businesses can help, too, said Pamela Dimond, MDA district director, by sponsoring portions of the local broadcast of the Jerry Lewis MDA Telethon, enhancing contributions with "matching minute" Telethon segments, or working with MDA staff to create a Telethon-related special event.

Dimond added that those with specialized skills can help as auctioneers, or by taking publicity photos, preparing newsletters, doing accounting, giving presentations, painting signs, or coordinating art for MDA's Art Collection. Most volunteers need to be at least 16 years old.

For more information or to volunteer, call the local MDA office, 822-6920, or MDA national headquarters, (800) 572-1717. Information about MDA programs and research advances is also available on MDA's Web site at www.mdausa.org.

Falcons shock Gators for program's biggest win

Ray Brewer
News Sports Editor

Grant Stanley isn't one to brag.

Even after leading Foothill's baseball squad to its biggest victory in the program's short one-year existence Thursday, Stanley refused to gloat.

Considering the emotional significance for Stanley in the Falcons' 9-1 victory over Green Valley on the Gators' home diamond, it's hard to understand his composure.

Well, maybe not that hard when looking at his performance in this shocking upset.

Plain and simple, Stanley stole the show.

Stanley, a senior-to-be, tossed a complete game while striking out eight batters, giving up eight hits and no earned runs. At the plate, he was 2-for-4 with a double and two runs scored.

The cherry on top for Stanley was the fact that the victory came against his former club.

One short year after transferring, Stanley's efforts led his up-and-coming team past the former six-time state champions — a team that was nationally ranked this past high school season.

"They aren't the same team during Legion as they were during the regular season," a humble Stanley said. "A lot of their top players don't play summer ball, so I knew we had a shot going into the game."

A big reason for the shock can be that Green Valley defeated Foothill 20-10 Wednesday.

The Falcons' win in Thursday's game was counted as the lone conference game between the two teams because it was their final meeting this summer.

"It wasn't like we won the state championship," Foothill coach Rick Stanley, Grant's father, said. "But the kids recognize this as an important achievement."

Brian Holsey went 3-for-4 with three RBI for the Falcons while Spud Lowe and Chance Holland each had two hits.

Stanley did the rest. "I just kept them off balance," Grant Stanley said. "I think only a couple of guys had seen me from the regular season, so I just wanted to get the ball over the plate."

MR. WILDLIFE — Willie Allen, a longtime Henderson resident, stands with some of his catches from hunting outings over the years.

The Great Outdoors

Allen has witnessed the sport of hunting grow over the years

Ray Brewer
News Sports Editor

Willie Allen won't hesitate standing up for his fellow hunters. Firstly, don't buy into the exaggerated stereotypes of outdoorsmen. And secondly, if you are going to hunt, you better follow state regulations.

"A lot of people don't know about hunting because they have never been involved in the sport," said Allen, a lifelong hunter and chairman of the Clark County Advisory Board to Manage Wildlife.

"They think hunters are a bunch of killers. That is not what they are, people hunt for various reasons. I, personally, love the outdoors."

The 56-year-old Allen, a longtime Henderson resident, has combined his passion for the sport and knack for responsibility while hunting into his position with the state.

"I'd like to give more people the opportunity to view hunting in the state of Nevada," Allen said.

Allen, a pipe fitter, has been on the board for 11 years and was appointed chairman by the Clark County Commission four years ago. Allen receives no salary for his work with the board.

Allen originally was president of a hunting fraternity, when several club members suggested he'd be a perfect fit for the political issues of the sport.

One thing led to another and now Allen is in a class of his own.

The advisory board is responsible for taking public input and presenting these concerns to the wildlife board.

"You have to have proper wildlife management," Allen said. "I have seen the sport evolve. There are more people wanting to hunt than there are animals."

"When I started hunting, you went down to the local 5-and-Dime, bought a tag and license, then went hunting. It's not that easy anymore, you have to apply for a game tag for each species."

In this modern era of hunting, there are several procedures one must follow before heading outdoors.

Starting with taking a two-day safety certification class, these proce-

RAY BREWER

Some friendships will never be broken

Jason Hennesey is your average 18-year-old.

He graduated from Green Valley High School this June, works in the clubhouse at a local golf course and plans on attending the community college this fall.

David Krynzel isn't your average 18-year-old.

Krynzel, who graduated from Green Valley with Hennesey, was selected 11th overall last month by the Milwaukee Brewers, received a signing bonus of $1.95 million and is currently tearing it up in rookie ball.

In 20 games, Krynzel is batting .378 with 17 runs scored, four doubles, two triples, a home run and 22 RBI.

But for roughly 30 minutes a week, Krynzel and Hennesey are on the same playing field.

No, Hennesey's tips at the golf course aren't that good.

The duo, who developed a lifelong friendship while playing together on the 1997 Green Valley Little League Senior All-Star team, chat periodically on AOL.

Through this Little League team, Hennesey, Krynzel and a host of other area players realized the true meaning of summer baseball and friendship.

"Brice Sells and I were hanging out with Krynzel before he left," John Grose, a member of the '97 team, said. "We were talking about how that was the most fun we ever had."

"That was when baseball was pure fun. We loved the game and didn't have to play to impress scouts."

Krynzel might go on to have a productive career in baseball as a player, but it was his experience in Little League that was the most productive of his life.

The '97 squad symbolized what the game was all about.

They combined their passion for each other and for the sport into one of the greatest All-Star teams the valley has ever seen.

Despite losing in the regional final — actually two defeats on one day thanks to a slew of injuries and consecutive days of rain — the team was dominant.

They outscored their opponents 73-5 while coasting to the title in the District 2 tournament and crushed White Pine 22-0 to win the state tournament.

18 — Outs in a regulation game in the Little League Majors division.

Turning point of the Week

With little room to spare in a tight race for the American Legion postseason, Foothill's Grant Stanley gave his team a little boost in pitching a complete-game against local rival Green Valley.

The 9-1 Falcon victory was more than just a regular season meeting between the two Henderson teams, it was the lone conference game Foothill and Green Valley will play this summer.

Foothill now has a 5-6 record in their league games.

Besides allowing no earned runs, Stanley teamed up with Spud Low and Chance Holland for two hits each, while Brian Holsey went 3-for-4 with three RBI.

But nothing in Stanley's demeanor would tell you he was overly excited about the win. In fact, one would question the magnitude of the accomplishment from his words.

"I'm not really a pitcher, but I get the ball over the plate where it needs to be," Stanley said. "I can do a decent job against quality teams."

Baseball all-stars showing their stuff to start tourneys

Joshua Primack
News Staff Writer

The beginning of the Little League postseason brings exciting highlights and finishes.

With three of the four divisions' baseball games underway in the District 2 All-Star Tournament, outfielders are playing in top form and the pitching is shutting down opponents.

Basically, all-stars are playing like all-stars.

Take Legacy Little League's Junior baseball team.

In Legacy's two victories over the weekend, center fielder Kevin Jones caught balls like he had never done before.

In fact, Jones and fellow outfielder Steven Rialo put away balls that coach Joe Tigani was even surprised by.

"They made plays on defense in the later innings that saved us," Tigani said about his team's defense in their two victories. "Rialo and Jones have played beyond all-star material."

Legacy defeated Central 2-1 in a nine-inning showdown Friday at Arroyo Grande Sports Complex. The winners were down to their last out in the seventh inning when Central's pitching fell apart.

A few walks, a passed ball and a base hit put Legacy right back in the game to tie the score 1-1.

In the bottom of the ninth, Randin Roundy scored on Matt Plese's RBI single.

Kevin Fetzner finished the final five innings on the mound, giving up no runs.

Improving Legacy's record to 2-0 took an 8-6 victory over Green Valley Saturday.

"The key element throughout has been our mental focus and resilience," Tigani said. "We played some very good teams on paper."

Alan Miller was the winning pitcher with key hits from Jones, Rialo and Peter Schmitt. Dominic Cammarata drove in the go-ahead run with a triple.

Henderson Little League put up some impressive wins of their own.

A 5-3 victory over Marty Barrett Little League Thursday gave Henderson the chance to take Silverado to eight innings for a 4-3 victory.

Shawn Smith allowed two runs in four innings while Chris Montano allowed just one run in the final four innings.

"It was back and forth the whole game," Henderson coach Rudy Madrano said. "Our pitchers put the ball in play and our defense is strong. They kept us in the game."

James Tilton hit a standup double to left field to tie the score in the seventh inning.

After moving to third on an infield grounder by Justin McDaniel, Tilton scored on an overthrow at first base.

Against Marty Barrett, Henderson scored its runs one at a time including RBI from Montano and Daniel Madrano.

Chris Gallaspy and Norm Millet combined for the win.

Henderson will meet up with Legacy tonight at Arroyo Grande at 8 p.m.

Softball all-stars dealing with shortages, playing good games

Joshua Primack
News Staff Writer

With the softball all-star world up and running, the women of Little League are dealing with some problems — namely, a lack of teams and players.

The Senior division has been cancelled because Henderson Little League had the only team in the area.

Green Valley and Legacy little leagues were unable to even get a team together in the regular season.

So the Junior division has moved to the forefront of the District 2 Little League All-Star season.

Legacy seems to be in control with victories over Green Valley and Henderson.

After a 10-3 win over Green Valley Thursday, Legacy beat Henderson 7-6 Saturday.

For Green Valley, the runs came with much difficulty, but Corrine Allain, Shara Webb and Brittany DeSantis were able to cross the plate. DeSantis's run came on when she stole home.

"We're a lot better than we showed that game," coach Debbie Headley said.

Henderson and Green Valley played Monday after the News went to press.

MAJORS

In a three-team Majors division, the girls' woes continue, but the softball doesn't.

Legacy has dominated the division so far with mercy-rule victories over Henderson and Green Valley.

For Green Valley in its 15-2 loss to Legacy, Michelle Panaro and Kelly Schlueter scored the only runs Friday.

Henderson lost to Legacy Saturday 12-0.

Green Valley and Henderson met Monday after the News went to press.

9 & 10-YEAR-OLDS

A two-team division produces interesting matchups, especially when the winner of the first contest loses in the second game of a best-of-three series.

Legacy's 9 & 10-year-old softball team defeated Henderson 11-10 Friday.

Henderson had runners on second and third with two out when the batter struck out to end the game.

But Henderson redeemed itself Saturday with a 12-4 victory. "We had a lot of jitters Friday," Henderson coach Victor Niel said. "The difference was there were no errors Saturday."

where it needs to be. I can do a decent job against quality teams."

Grant Stanley tends to let loose when playing his former club. In the first meeting during the high school season, Stanley drilled two home runs as the Falcons were narrowly defeated.

"We came out flat and Stanley threw a heck of a game," Green Valley coach Ron Sufana said. "The kid did a great job on the mound, he is a heck of a ball player."

Rick Stanley says this win, combined with a close loss to Durango three weeks ago, should add some confidence in the Falcons' dugout.

"We are trying to tell the boys that they played a great game against Durango, one of the top teams in town, and played another great game against Green Valley that resulted in a win," Stanley said.

"They can play with anybody on any given day. It's a matter of going out every day with the attitude that 'If I play baseball the way I know how, we have a chance of winning this game.'"

Foothill is 8-11 overall and 5-6 in league.

In Wednesday's blowout, Eugene Edwards led the charge for Green Valley with a 3-for-4 performance, including a home run, four runs scored and five RBI.

Zeke Parraz went 4-for-5 for Green Valley with three RBI.

Saturday, the Gators rallied back from a five-run deficit to defeat Bishop Gorman 6-5.

Green Valley, trailing 5-0 entering the fourth inning, plated two runs in the fourth and four more in the fifth for the win. Parraz had the game-winning hit for the Gators, capping off a string of five consecutive hits.

In the win, Parraz, Edwards and Chris McGovern had two hits.

SILVERADO

The Las Vegas Hawks, Silverado's American Legion affiliate, recently captured a tournament in Twin Falls, Idaho, by posting a 4-0 record in the wooden bat-only event.

"The pitching was probably the most consistent part of our game," Hawks' manager Art Besser said. "We used four pitchers for four games and never had to go to our bullpen."

Tyler Coon, Ken Clayton, Dan Murray and Mike Welter all threw complete games for the Hawks en route to the title.

In the title game, the Hawks defeated Idaho Falls, Idaho, 11-1 behind a home run from Tommy Rojas.

Besser said Mike Meusy, Danny Esquere, David Gordon and Shane McPherson all had good tournaments.

Back in town, the Hawks lost to Gorman and Cimarron-Memorial on consecutive days before defeating Foothill 9-5 Sunday.

The Hawks are 23-10 overall, 9-4 in league.

TIMET

Timet, Basic High School's American Legion team, went 2-4 this past week at a tournament in Albuquerque, N.M.

"Almost all of the innings pitched were from the younger kids," Timet coach Mike Kazek said. "I was impressed with the way they handled themselves. We gave up some big shots, but they held their ground."

Timet could have been 3-0 in pool play, but lost two close games — 4-2 to Santa Fe, N.M. Friday and 7-5 to Roswell, N.M. Saturday.

"We hit the ball hard, we just couldn't execute when we needed to," Kazek said.

No other results were available from this event.

dures are designed with the dignity of the sport as well as the well-being of the hunter and hunted.

Once the fees are accounted for and the paperwork is completed, an individual is free to hit the outdoors — an experience

Allen hopes is as memorable as the times he has had in the wildlife field.

"I like the outdoor experience as much as anything," he said.

While enjoying this experience to the fullest, Allen has traveled to places like Canada and Alaska to hunt.

And according to Allen, Nevada is a great place to start a hunting hobby.

"Nevada has one of the most sought out desert bighorn sheep in the world," he said.

recovery of related gas costs (Advice Letter No. 377).
Docket No. 00-6006
NOTICE OF PREHEARING CONFERENCE
A tariff filing, designated as Docket No. 00-6006, has been filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Nevada ("Commission") by Southwest Gas Corporation ("Southwest") to revise its Nevada Gas Tariff No. 6 in accordance with its annual Purchased Gas Cost Adjustment ("PGA") and to recover related gas costs (Advice Letter No. 377).
Specifically, Southwest proposes average increases for northern and southern Nevada, respectively, in accordance with the PGA which provides for an annual filing to adjust rates to reflect changes in the cost of purchased gas. Southwest also proposes to adjust customers' rates on the first billing cycle of each month based on a rolling 12-month average of actual gas costs. Furthermore, Southwest notes that Risk Sharing Revenue Stability charges have resulted from a settlement with El Paso Natural Gas Company in Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Docket No. RP95-363, and that such charges need to be allocated among Southwest's sales and transportation customers. Southwest indicates that it is also seeking to recover certain gas supply related costs that were disallowed by the Commission in Docket No. 97-6004 but permitted by the Clark County District Court in Docket No. 33751.
This filing is made pursuant to the Nevada Revised Statutes and the Nevada Administrative Code ("NAC") Chapters 703 and 704.
Pursuant to NAC 703.655, the Commission will hold a PREHEARING CONFERENCE on this filing and related matters as follows:
Friday, August 11, 2000
11:00 a.m.
Public Utilities Commission of Nevada
101 Convention Center Dr., Suite 250
Las Vegas, Nevada 89109
The purpose of this prehearing conference is to formulate and simplify issues involved in this proceeding and to set a hearing and procedural schedule. The Commission may also rule on any pending Petitions for Leave to Intervene. At the prehearing conference, the Commission may take any action authorized by NAC 703.655.
This filing is on file and available for public viewing at the offices of the Commission: 1150 East William Street, Carson City, Nevada 89701 and 101 Convention Center Drive, Suite 250, Las Vegas, Nevada 89109.

In re joint petition of CENTRAL TELEPHONE COMPANY, d/b/a SPRINT OF NEVADA and 2ND CENTURY COMMUNICATIONS for approval of Master Network Interconnection and Resale Agreement pursuant to Section 252 of the Telecommunications Act of 1996.
Docket No. 00-6046
NOTICE OF JOINT PETITION REGARDING MASTER NETWORK INTERCONNECTION AND RESALE AGREEMENT AND PENDENCY OF HEARING
On June 27, 2000, Central Telephone Company, d/b/a Sprint of Nevada and 2nd Century Communications (collectively the "Joint Petitioners"), filed a Joint petition with the Public Utilities Commission of Nevada ("Commission") for approval of a Master Network Interconnection and Resale Agreement ("Agreement"), pursuant to 47 U.S.C. §252(e) of the Telecommunications Act of 1996. This filing was designated by the Commission as Docket No. 00-6046.
Interested and affected persons may obtain a copy of the Agreement from the Commission, and may file comments pertaining to this Agreement at either of the Commission's offices on or before Thursday, July 27, 2000. Any comments must be simultaneously served on the Commission, parties to the Agreement, the Regulatory Operations Staff, and the Attorney General's Bureau of Consumer Protection - Utility Consumers' Advocate. In response to the comments filed on or before July 27, 2000, the Joint Petitioners may file reply comments and legal arguments on or before Friday, August 11, 2000.
The Commission has jurisdiction over this matter and legal authority to conduct proceedings pursuant to Chapters 703 and 704 of the Nevada Revised Statutes ("NRS") and Nevada Administrative Code ("NAC") and, in particular, NRS 704.040 and 704.120, NAC 703.290, and 47 U.S.C. §252(e). NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a public HEARING in the above matter will be held as follows:
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 2000
1:30 p.m.
Public Utilities Commission of Nevada
101 Convention Center Drive, Suite 250
Las Vegas, Nevada 89109
at which time interested persons may appear and be heard. Pursuant to NRS 703.320, if the Commission does not receive any adverse comments regarding the Agreement or a request for a hearing by July 27, 2000, the hearing will be canceled.
Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. §252(e) and NRS 704.120, the Commission will receive evidence pertaining to the issues raised by the comments that are filed and any responses by Joint Petitioners regarding any dispute over the terms and conditions of the Agreement.
Pursuant to Section 252(e)(2)(A) of the 1996 Telecommunications Act, the Commission may only reject a negotiated agreement, or any portion thereof, if it finds that (i) the agreement discriminates against a telecommunications carrier not a party to the agreement; or (ii) the implementation of such agreement is not consistent with the public interest, convenience, and necessity.
Interested and affected members of the public may also comment at the hearing. At the hearing, the Commission may also consider issues related to the provisions of 47 U.S.C. §§251 and 252, Chapters 703 and 704 of the NRS and NAC, may discuss public comments, and may make decisions on the procedural and substantive issues raised at the hearing. Thereafter, the Commission may vote to approve or disapprove, in whole or in part, Joint Petitioners' Agreement.
The Agreement is available for public viewing at the offices of the Commission: 1150 East William Street, Carson City, Nevada 89701 and 101 Convention Center Drive, Suite 250, Las Vegas, Nevada 89109.
This notice has been posted at the county courthouses in Carson City, Reno, and Las Vegas.

PUBLIC NOTICE
The Clark County District Board of Health will conduct a Public Hearing at approximately 8:00 a.m. during its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, August 24, 2000, in the Clemens Room at the District Health Center, 625 Shadow Lane, Las Vegas, Nevada, to consider the adoption of Regulations Governing the Sanitation of Farmers' Markets (FM) and for satellite food vendors at Farmers' Markets.
The purpose of these Regulations is to establish regulations governing the sanitary requirements for Farmers' Markets (FM) where farm produce (i.e., fruits, vegetables, nuts, grains, and beans) may be sold direct to the public and for satellite food vendors operation at Farmers' Markets. The owner/operator of a Farmers' Market (FM) will be responsible for compliance with these Regulations which apply to farmers selling farm produce and for regulations governing satellite food vendors.
All produce to be sold at a Farmers' Market requires a certification from the State Department of Agriculture where the product was produced.
Copies of the proposed Regulations may be reviewed at the Clark County Health District, Environmental Health Division, 625 Shadow Lane, Las Vegas, Nevada, during the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday

NOTICE OF TARIFF FILING
A tariff filing, designated as Docket No. 00-6006, has been filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Nevada ("Commission") by Southwest Gas Corporation ("Southwest") to revise its Nevada Gas Tariff No. 6 in accordance with its annual Purchased Gas Cost Adjustment ("PGA") and to recover related gas costs (Advice Letter No. 377).
Specifically, Southwest proposes average increases of 13.0% and 10.6% for northern and southern Nevada, respectively, in its Tariff in accordance with the PGA which provides for an annual filing to adjust rates to reflect changes in the cost of purchased gas. Due to significant rate fluctuations for customers in recent years, Southwest also proposes to adjust customers' rates on the first billing cycle of each month based on a rolling 12-month average of actual gas costs. Southwest represents that this change is part of an effort to moderate price swings experienced by customers and to send a more accurate price signal to customers. Furthermore, Southwest notes that Risk Sharing Revenue Stability charges have resulted from a settlement with El Paso Natural Gas Company in Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Docket No. RP95-363, and that such charges are to be allocated among Southwest's sales and transportation customers. While this matter was originally assigned to Docket No. 97-8002, Southwest has sought an order to address the matter in this docket instead. Southwest indicates that it is also seeking to recover certain gas supply related costs that were disallowed by the Commission in Docket No. 97-6004 but permitted by the Clark County District Court in Docket No. 33751.

Jarrett hopes tragedies bring change

LOUDON, N.H. (AP) — The point of impact on the wall was already painted over the day after Kenny Irwin's car hit it nearly head-on going 150 mph.

Harder to cover up Saturday was the sadness and loss wrought by yet another driver's death at New Hampshire International Speedway.

"We're all stunned, shocked that this could happen again," Winston Cup champion Dale Jarrett said.

"Unfortunately, we all have to go on about our business."

It was hardly business as usual.

The 30-year-old Irwin died of multiple injuries Friday after his car struck the wall entering the nearly flat third turn and flipped over during practice for the New England 300. On May 12, at almost the same spot, Adam Petty died while practicing in his Busch Series car on the 1.058-mile track.

"Hopefully, we'll use these unfortunate circumstances to make things better," Jarrett said. "There should be something come out of these two accidents that will be beneficial to everyone in the future."

Although there was still no official word on what caused

"We're all stunned, shocked that this could happen again."

Dale Jarrett
Winston Cup champion

the accident, a single car running straight into a wall often is the result of a throttle stuck in the open position.

Jarrett, Mark Martin and Ward Burton say flat tracks with long straightaways and very sharp turns like those in Loudon and Martinsville, Va., pose the biggest problems if the throttle sticks. With little or no banking, a driver can't run uphill to slow the car and minimize contact with the wall.

"I think it needs to be addressed," Burton said.

Kevin Triplett, NASCAR's director of operations, said that while an investigation was under way, "we just haven't found anything yet."

Speedway officials had no comment regarding the racing surface, spokesman Fred Neergaard said.

Rusty Wallace, who has the pole for Sunday's race, said placing a metal loop over the accelerator would allow a driver to slide his foot higher on the pedal to free the throttle. Jarrett says such things can be avoided with careful inspections.

"That's the responsibility of the driver to look at that," he said.

Jarrett learned that lesson several years ago in Richmond, Va., when he hit the wall hard but escaped without injury.

"It's the worst feeling a driver can have," he said. "A hung throttle and fire are the worst things that can happen."

Because of protective fuel cells, fire has been eliminated as a major problem in stock car racing. But now, with seven NASCAR deaths in the last 10 years, drivers are suggesting some changes.

Wallace wants tracks to consider installing soft barriers in the turns, similar to those used on road courses like Watkins Glen, N.Y. There, tires are tied together and secured to the walls.

"I'm a big fan of these barriers after what I saw in the Busch race at Watkins Glen, when that one fellow hit and flipped over and it softened the blow," Wallace said.

He was referring to a high-speed, head-on crash by Jimmie Johnson into a tire barrier last month. Johnson emerged from his car unhurt, both arms raised in triumph as the crowd roared.

"I would hope that after these two tragic deaths we can take a hard look at how to make the tracks safer," said Wallace, expressing confidence that NASCAR will listen to the drivers. "They're not just going to blow it off."

Jarrett agrees that tire barriers may be the answer, but going fast means risks, and safety sometimes becomes a secondary issue.

"We're here to race, and that's what we'll do tomorrow," he said.

Irwin was a third-year driver who never won a Winston Cup race. Brett Bodine will try not to think about him while he's racing on Sunday, but he'll never forget his friend.

"It was a terrible day for our sport," he said. "We're going to miss Kenny very much."

Irwin's funeral is set for Wednesday in Indianapolis.

In addition to Krynzel and Billy Schmitt, a 22nd round selection of the St. Louis Cardinals, several other players contributed to this team.

Jon Slack, who was selected by the Toronto Blue Jays in 1999 and captained the Community College of Southern Nevada's team this past season, played outfield.

Sells and Grose are headed to Arizona to play junior college ball while players like Bronson Duck, Adam Gatan and Nate Shue all contributed on Green Valley's varsity team this year.

But it's players like Hennesey and Joe Yairo — two guys who never played varsity for the Gators — that truly thrived in the Little League spotlight.

It was time when Hennesey's skills where parallel to Krynzel's.

The team's road trip to New Mexico for the regional tournament is something they all agree is legendary.

"For all those kids, they'll tell you, that was the best baseball trip they have been on," Dennis Hennesey, Jason's father and the team's manager, said. "We had so much fun off the field, the rain just killed us."

"It's probably more rewarding to walk in the house at night and see Jason on the Internet talking with Krynzel in Odgen (Utah, the site of the Brewers' rookie ball team)."

There were no stars on the '97 All-Star team.

"Looking back on it, I'm amazed at how far we have gone and how better we have gotten," Grose said. "Even Dave Krynzel was just another kid."

In the eyes of his All-Star teammates, Dave Krynzel will always be that, just another ordinary other kid.

with a 14-1 victory over Paradise Valley-National Thursday and a 3-1 win over Green Valley Saturday.

In the fourth inning against Green Valley, Henderson was losing 1-0 when Joshua Soto got aboard on a stand up double and Kevin Karier hit a two-run home run.

Steven Hewitt added to Henderson's lead when he stole home in the fifth inning.

"They had a couple of rallies but we were able to hold them off," coach David Soto said.

"Our pitching just held them."

Against PVN, Henderson hit four home runs, including two by Karier, bringing his total to three in two games, and one each by Jacob Gibson and Geoffrey Hilts.

Henderson is down to just 11 players and had to pick up four players late, but they are gelling together as Soto said.

Legacy took the lead in the Majors division with three wins.

The first was a 5-3 victory over a tough Central team

Thursday. Trevor Clausen put away 15 of the 18 outs in the game with strikeouts.

After that, Legacy's pitching has been on the ball.

Friday, Legacy recorded a shutout with a 16-0 win over Marty Barrett.

Jeffrey Rogers threw the complete game shutout and hit two home runs in the game.

Rance Roundy and Clausen hit the other two home runs at Desert Bloom Park.

But Jeffrey Campbell pulled out the best pitching performance yet with a one-hitter in Legacy's victory over Silverado 4-0.

The only hit was a ground ball that barely tipped the second baseman's glove.

"We've been playing very well," Legacy coach Rick Roundy said. "Campbell was throwing smoke."

In the game, Tyson Poots involved himself in every run, ending up with three RBI and scoring the third run.

Legacy will take on Henderson tonight at 7 p.m. at Desert Bloom.

Paseo Verde Little League has been eliminated from the Majors division with losses to Marty Barrett and Central.
