Owen McClelland

When Owen McClelland, 40, talks music, he is usually speaking from experience. As the music department supervisor at the Barnes & Noble bookstore on Sunset Road and Stephanie Street, he brings the experience of 20 years as a professional musician to the four-year-old store.

"I was a professional jazz saxophonist for about 20 years," McClelland said. "I have toured all over the continental U.S., Puerto Rico, Canada and Bermuda."

"I even lived and played in Japan for a year."

A resident of the valley for nine years, McClelland has worked at the Barnes & Noble since it opened.

"I think we have one of the greatest collections of classical music and showtunes in the valley," McClelland said. "Part of its eclecticism is surely due to my influence."

School break-up petition filed

By Lee Scrivner
Staff News Writer

A petition of 62,000 signatures, the latest phase in an initiative to break the Clark County School District into smaller districts, was filed in all 17 Nevada counties on Thursday.

Part of the Community Schools Initiative, the petition urges legislators to repeal a 50-year-old state law that designates one school district per county in Nevada.

"Nevada law is outdated," said petitioner Maryan Sharp, a Henderson resident. "Today's student demographics have changed."

"Clark County, with 231,000 students, is the sixth-largest in the country, while the whole of Esmeralda County has 105 students."

The petition seeks to change the state law so that a city with a population of 125,000 or more may request a county ballot for creating its own school district, a prerequisite that the city of Henderson would meet.

"This measure is very popular in Henderson," said Assemblywoman Sandra Tiffany, R-Henderson.

Helping to file the bulky petition at the office of the Clark County Registrar of Voters, Tiffany underscored her assertion that the Clark County School District has gotten too big, and that its students are suffering from it.

"This is a military operation," Tiffany said. "Reading and math

Meeting angers Sun City residents concerned about hillsides

Misrepresentation may give homeowners basis for lawsuit

"I expected a meeting so we could air our grievances," said Sadie Leming, one of many residents of Sun City/MacDonald Ranch who came to the Henderson Convention Center expecting a formal meeting with city officials.

Instead, the 75 residents who came found different booths set up around the room where they could receive information and talk to city officials.

"I was expecting more of a formal program," Gary Robinson said.

Residents of Sun City MacDonald Ranch had received a notice, stating there would be an "Open house with city of Henderson staff to discuss the pending development of hillside lands behind Sun City MacDonald Ranch."

Since hearing about building plans by Rich MacDonald, who owns an interest in the land, residents have expressed a lot of anger, saying that Del Webb's salespeople had told them the land would never be developed.

Although most residents say they remember signing a disclaimer saying Del Webb could make no guarantees about the future of the hills south of Sun City, they say they took the salespeople's word.

"When we built our house, they told me they wouldn't build on any property behind us in our lifetime," said Joe Ciscorra, who said he paid a $20,000 lot premium for his location near the hills.

Del Webb salespeople contacted by the News said they had no comment or did not return phone calls.

Susan Hallfin said her salesperson and mortgage company, Fairmount Mortgage, which is owned by Del Webb, told her that nothing would be built in the hills behind her home.

Mike Hall, president of Fairmount, said he did not know what had been told Sun City home buyers by his company's representatives.

"We haven't heard that claim," Del Webb spokesperson Sean Patrick said.

Residents said they were told that the property was BLM land, and would stay undeveloped.

"I was told that there was no sewer, no access, no utilities there, so I thought, how would they get in there," said Terry Goldbaum, who acknowledged that she did sign a disclaimer when she purchased her home.

"I chose a home purposely in an age-restricted community," she said. "I don't want teens with music and barking dogs near me."

When Del Webb purchased the property for Sun City/MacDonald Ranch from MacDonald, an agreement was signed stating that Del Webb would not oppose other plans that MacDonald may have for his property. But the agreement also stated that no age-restricted development would take place, to avoid competition.

Therefore, MacDonald said he sees nothing legally that would prevent him from building the low-density residential project he has proposed.

In fact, MacDonald came to Thursday's meeting, despite the fact he wasn't invited. He

C.T. Sewell ES gets drug-free message

By Lisa Stiller

This week, students at Sewell Elementary School will hear the message that drugs will kill them.

As a continuation of last week's Red Ribbon Week, students will continue to get messages about the dangers of drugs. All last week students engaged in a number of activities aimed at drug prevention.

To celebrate their participation, an assembly was held on the school's playground on Thursday.

"This is the first time I've been invited to a school to celebrate a decision to remain drug-free," said Mayor Jim Gibson, an alumni of Sewell Elementary.

Gibson told the students it was important to spread the messages they had heard. "It is important to talk to people around you," he said. "Always be supportive of one another.

DRUG PREVENTION — Mayor Jim Gibson speaks to the Sewell Elementary School drug prevention assembly Thursday.

It's harder if one person wants to do drugs."

Students had heard this message.

If pressured to use drugs, fourth and fifth graders had answers.

"I'd tell you it's bad for your health and you'll get hooked on drugs for the rest of your life," Anna Cuedas said.

"I'd try to tell them they're not my friend if they use drugs," Andrea Guerra said.

OVERVIEW

PAUL SZYDELKO

A few thoughts in waning weeks on campaign

Create doubt in voters' minds. Take advantage of nagging suspicions about your opponent. Make sure those who support you but who are on the threshold of ambivalence get out to vote for you.

These aren't exactly great campaign themes, but they are at the heart of all the political advertising you've been seeing on television, radio and the newspapers in the last few weeks.

Few tout the positive aspects and goals of a candidate. Most merely work to criticize opponents, inflame passions, or of course, confuse voters.

If you're in trouble as a candidate, then you feel compelled to create issues that distract and promote images that will shake up voters.

It's sad but true, negative advertising is effective, because voters who aren't paying close attention seem susceptible to easy, from-the-gut messages.

A drawback to early voting: Any way to get citizens to vote is, almost by definition, a worthy goal. Registration drives, absentee ballots and yes, early voting all work to increase turnout, but at what price?

You could have voted Saturday, but what if you found out something new about a candidate or issue and changed your mind today. You can't take your vote back.

Yes, you have a choice. If your mind is made up about all the issues and all the candidates on the ballot, you have my heartiest congratulations. You've done your homework and you're decisive. Nothing you will hear in the next two weeks will change your mind and you knew that when you pushed that button in the booth.

But earlier this year, I proposed making Election Day a national holiday. Not only would it likely improve turnout, it would create a sense of community, obligation and patriotism. Most all of us would be doing roughly the same thing on the same day. There could be picnics, concerts and fireworks as the votes are cast and tabulated.

Election Day loses that feeling when you cast your vote ahead of time.

Jokes from the trail: Both Al Gore and George W. Bush appeared at the traditional Al Smith bipartisan fundraiser in New York Thursday. It's a breather from the campaign trail and an opportunity to make jokes at your own expense.

Looking over the white-tie crowd of "have and have-mores," Bush said "Some people call you the elite. I call you my base."

This week's Time has a column that will delight fans of the Academy Award-winning movie "Amadeus." It debates whether Gore (the Salieri of politics) should get President Clinton (the Mozart of politics) out on the campaign trail. Gore knows the notes but can't seem to put together a melody as well as Clinton.

Gore said he wanted to be his own man at the convention, so appealing at the last minute to his mentor for the past eight years would raise some nagging doubts.

To a lesser extent, Bush has the same problem with his father, who also had to emerge from President Reagan's giant shadow.

POLICE BRIEFS

Sexual assault suspect caught in California

A Los Angeles man was arrested in Barstow, Calif., in connection with a sexual assault in Henderson Oct. 15.

Henderson Police contacted the victim in the area of Sun City Anthem about 6 a.m. She said she had been kidnapped from the Flamingo Hilton Hotel after the suspect said he was going to give her a ride home. The victim said that the suspect was driving a Chevrolet van, identified the plates and said the suspect was a heavyset Hispanic man, police said.

California Highway Patrol stopped the vehicle in Barstow and Jose Alberto Arrivillago, 45, was taken in custody for first-degree kidnapping and sexual assault.

While in custody, police determined that Arrivillago has a warrant for sexual assault under the name of Juan Ayala in Los Angeles. He was subsequently booked in California and a detainer was placed for the Henderson Police Department.

One dead in single-car accident

One passenger died when a 1967 Mercury Cougar, driven by Christopher Sobalvarro, 18, struck a light pole on Horizon Ridge Parkway new Carmel Mesa shortly after 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Police said Sobalvarro was traveling at a high rate of speed eastbound on Horizon Ridge Parkway when he lost control and struck the pole. He and the passenger, whose name was name available at presstime, were airlifted to the University Medical Center Trauma Unit. Sobalvarro sustained cuts and bruises.

Alcohol is not believed to be a factor in this incident, but police said criminal charges are pending.

Blockbuster, Jitters robbed

A syringe was used as a weapon in two robberies last weekend in Henderson.

The Blockbuster Video store,

4301 E. Sunset Road, was robbed at about 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Police said the suspect entered the store and approached a clerk with a syringe containing an orange substance. The suspect demanded money, lunged forward with the syringe, took the money and fled.

He is described as a white man, 5 feet 9, with a medium build, reddish brown hair, thick reading glasses and a goatee. He also had a tattoo on his right forearm.

Jitters, 671 Mall Ring Circle, was robbed shortly after 6 p.m. Saturday. Officers were advised that a man entered the business and asked a sales associate for change. Upon opening the cash register, the suspect displayed a syringe containing an unknown substance and said "AIDS." The suspect took an undisclosed amount of cash and fled.

He is described as a white man, about 6 feet tall with curly brown hair and a full beard. He was wearing a short sleeve shirt and blue jeans.

Anyone with information about either incident should call the Henderson Police Department, 565-2000, or Secret Witness, 385-5555.

Man arrested for change clerk robbery

A man has been arrested for an armed robbery at Albertsons, 724 S. Boulder Highway, on Oct. 7. Witnesses told police that a black man pointed a short-barreled shotgun at the change clerk for the poker machines. Two shots were fired, but no one was injured. On Oct. 20, Henderson Police investigators arrested Antonio Demon Addison, 20, of Las Vegas.

brought conceptual drawings with him.

He said he too thought he would get a chance to speak at the meeting.

MacDonald said he intended to keep the lines of communication open with Sun City residents. "It's not a Sun City issue; our interest is in dealing with people who are impacted," he said.

Del Webb did not have a representative at the meeting. "We weren't invited," Patrick said.

He said Del Webb would stick to the signed disclosure form. Some residents do not remember signing the form, but according to Patrick, it was part of the sales contract, which buyers signed when they purchased their property.

Residents said a lot of paperwork was presented to them at one time when they signed the purchasing papers, and the disclaimer was glossed over.

"Home purchase is a complicated thing, there are a lot of details to cover, so a sales contract can be lengthy," Patrick said.

But there has been no talk about premium refunds, said

Patrick. "We're going ahead and meeting one-on-one with those who think they were misrepresented."

Sensing some resentment, planning director Mary Kay Peck did address the crowd briefly on Thursday. "The reason we chose an informal meeting is because we don't have an application from MacDonald yet," she said. "We wanted to find out your concerns."

"I expected a town meeting, more than just going from display to display," Leonard Weilman said. He and his wife Diana paid a $55,000 premium for a lot adjacent to the hills.

Everyone attending the open house was asked to fill out a card with their concerns. Peck said that when staff receives an application, they would then be able to consider it along with residents' comments. She also promised that neighborhood meetings would be held, and Sun City residents would be kept informed of every step of the process.

Al Stramalgia, a spokesperson for the residents, told the crowd, "We are supporting your efforts to keep this thing from happening."

But MacDonald said there was little the Sun City residents could do.

"You can't just kill a project, that isn't going to happen," he said. MacDonald said he had a contractual agreement with the properties owners to purchase the land, develop it and sell it.

"If anyone interferes, that is called tortuous interference," he said, explaining that anyone found to interfere with a contract would be liable for triple damages.

MacDonald did say there could be room for compromise. He has letters of intent from potential developers.

"We're going to be submitting a plan in about three weeks. There are a bunch of different options on the piece that borders their land," he said. One of these includes a golf course, the other a luxury recuperation facility for people who have just undergone plastic surgery.

But Sun City residents may have an option.

"I don't know what Del Webb told its people," MacDonald said. "Real estate agents are required to know the pertinent facts that impact the property you are selling."

A representative from the state Attorney General's Real Estate Division substantiated MacDonald's statement.

"They are required to disclose everything they know about the surrounding areas," said someone in the compliance division who did not wish to be identified, adding that if they didn't know who owned it, Del Webb's salespeople should not have said it was BLM land.

NRS 645.252 requires real estate agents to make these disclosures, stating that agents have to give out material or relevant facts relating to the property that is the subject of the transaction.

When asked what he would like to do now, Weilman said, "It wouldn't be worthwhile individually, but perhaps a class action suit."

scores are low; the drop-out rate is the highest in the nation ... because our children are numbers and not names."

School District Superintendent Carlos Garcia opposes Tiffany's plan the plan for deconsolidation. He said that a neighborhood focus can be implemented at Clark County schools without breaking up the district.

Since the initiative involves a state law change, it had to be qualified with signatures from registered voters equal to 10% of the voters in the previous election in 13 of Nevada's 17 counties, making a statewide total of 44,009 signatures required.

Despite her optimism at obtaining 62,000 names, Tiffany said that the petition will most likely not be approved by the Legislature.

"The education bureaucrats have a vested interest in keeping the Clark County School District intact, as does the teachers' union; It gives them power, and maintains their high-salary jobs," Tiffany said.

The effects of the petition submission are by no means immediate. Ten days are allowed for the Office of the Clark County Registrar of Voters to verify the signatures. Then, if the measure is not approved by the Legislature, it will be placed on the statewide ballot in 2002.

"By the time a deconsolidation plan is implemented," Tiffany said, "a minimum of five years will most likely have passed. By then there will be another 50,000 students in the district."

Deby LaRocca, a pre-school teacher at Sewell, originally came up with the idea to have the school participate in the national program.

When one of her pre-schoolers was picked up at school by the police to be taken to Child Haven because her mother had been arrested for shoplifting and possession of drugs, LaRocca said she knew she had to do something.

She said classroom teachers will continue with drug awareness activities throughout the year. The messages have not been sugar-coated.

Fifth grader Kenneth Oliver said his class was given the facts about the physical effects of drugs. "It gets you sick and you

"My brain and health and life and future depends on not taking drugs," said Sarah Johnson, another fifth grader.

LaRocca said she realizes the importance of continuing the drug-free message.

"It's not a daily or weekly event," she said. "It's a daily message."

Finnegan to face murder trial

By Lisa Stiller
News Staff Writer

"The state has met their burden of proof," said Justice of the Peace Rodney Burr Thursday, as he rendered his decision to bind Stephen Hodges Finnegan over for trial in the March 1998 murder of 16 year old Jessica Heaney.

Burr said the prosecution had established enough evidence during the two-week hearing to try Finnegan in District Court for murder, sexual assault and kidnapping.

Heaney's body was found on March 7, 1998, in the ladies' restroom of the Arbor Court Condominiums, in one of the bathroom stalls, by Curtis Liquin, who was at that time the condominium's homeowners' association president.

Liquin testified to calling police right away. Rich Little, a crime scene technician with the Henderson Police, said he took fingerprints off the stall and other surfaces, including the sauna door, where Heaney's shoes were found.

Sabrina Pritchett, the janitor at the condominiums, said the restroom, including the stall walls, had been thoroughly cleaned 10 days earlier, establishing the fact that fingerprints lifted by Little were relatively fresh.

But the prints weren't clear, making them hard to match. At the end of May, crime analyst Ron Workman had been attending a seminar in new fingerprint technology, and decided to run those found in the bathroom using the new method. He came up with a positive match on Finnegan, who was arrested the next day, on May 31. Finnegan lived at the Arbor Court Condominiums at the time of Heaney's death.

In an interview with detectives Eddie Newman and Gerry Collins just before his arrest, Finnegan said he had never been in the ladies' restroom at the condominiums. He also told them that he thought the bathrooms had been switched at one time. Liquin and Pritchett said they never had been switched.

Based on the conflicting evidence of Finnegan's fingerprints found in the restroom and the fact he denied ever having used it, Newman said he arrested Finnegan.

Clark County Coroner Dr. Sheldon Green and Linda Ebbert, a UMC sexual assault nurse who examined Green's findings, testified that the evidence supported the fact that involuntary sexual assault had taken place.

Defense attorney Bill Terry raised the possibility of voluntary sex, but prosecutor Lisa Luzaich said the injuries were consistent with the use of force.

According to prosecutors Michael O'Callaghan and Luzaich, Finnegan was also being charged with kidnapping for holding Heaney against her will.

"Willful confinement by any means for purposes of sexual assault and murder is kidnapping as defined by state statute," Luzaich said.

Green testified that Heaney had been strangled. Luzaich said that although Heaney's shoes were found by the sauna, she could have been dragged to the stall, and then strangled.

The footprint found on Heaney's back, said Luzaich, was a result of Finnegan standing on top of the girl to make sure she was dead. Detective Garry Russell, who is the same height as Finnegan, had positioned himself in the stall to show just how Finnegan's fingerprints had gotten on the walls.

Terry argued that 'mere presence' is not enough evidence to argue guilt, but O'Callaghan said a preliminary hearing needed only to show that there was enough probable cause to bind the defendant over for trial.

"This is a case everyone wants solved, but they are targeting the wrong individual," Terry said.

Burr disagreed. He said Finnegan's fingerprints at the crime scene and his denial about ever using the restroom were the strongest pieces of evidence.

Terry asked the court for bail, arguing that his client had a wife and child and would not leave the area.

Prosecutors firmly objected, citing Finnegan's past convictions on sexual offenses, and the revocation of his probation in a case with Judge Kathy Hardcastle due to failure to appear at a hearing.

Burr said he would not make a decision until speaking with Hardcastle. Terry said he definitely intended to make sure that Burr followed through on that decision.

O'Callaghan has filed papers to seek reservation to pursue the death penalty. An assessment committee composed of attorneys, judges and others make a decision whether the case warrants this sentence. Because the murder occurred during a suspected sexual assault of the victim, O'Callaghan said the death penalty could be warranted.

Finnegan will be arraigned in District Court on Thursday, Nov. 2.

Berkley announces funding for redevelopment

U.S. Rep. Shelley Berkley, D-Nev., recently announced the final provisions of the annual funding bill for veterans affairs and the nation's housing and infrastructure stock.

Southern Nevada will stand to gain over $2 million in projects in Henderson and Las Vegas. Specifically, the bill would provide:

- $1,250,000 for the city of Henderson for downtown redevelopment and infrastructure upgrade.

- $350,000 for Opportunity Village Foundation, Las Vegas, Nevada, for start-up funding for downpayment assistance program to disabled.

- $500,000 for the Boys and Girls Club of Las Vegas, Nevada, for the renovation and expansion of existing facilities.

"As a resident of Henderson, I've watched as our community has become the fastest-growing city in the entire country," Berkley said. "All the growth we've experienced has put a tremendous strain on our infrastructure. These funds will allow Henderson to modernize and expand basic infrastructure, while furthering downtown redevelopment."

VOTE YES ON

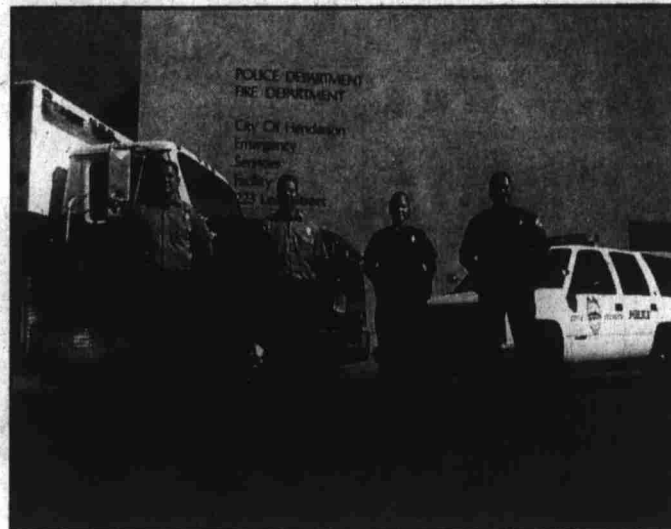

HENDERSON QUESTION #1

The facts are simple. Without a YES vote on Question #1, the Henderson Police and Fire Departments will simply not be able to adequately ensure our quality of life. We currently have 1 police officer per 1,000 residents.

The National average is 2.5. Our fire stations should be no further than 3 miles apart. These things won't happen without a YES vote on Question #1.

100 percent of the revenues will be used for public safety. That will mean 166 new police officers and 30 firefighters and paramedics. In addition, we'll get a badly-needed police training facility and state-of-the-art firefighting equipment.

Henderson Question #1 will raise $12.3 million annually, and will cost residents only a few dollars a month (the owner of a $100,000 home would pay $7 monthly).

Hunter's safety workshop offered this Saturday

The Nevada Division of Wildlife and the Henderson Parks and Recreation Department are co-sponsoring a hunter's safety workshop from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Oct. 28 at the Whitney Ranch Recreation Center, 1575 Galleria Dr. Participation is open to individuals 12 years of age or more.

After registration, participants will be required to obtain a course workbook at the Whitney Ranch Recreation Center or the Nevada Division of Wildlife office. The workbooks must be completed prior to attending the workshop. Those successfully completing the workbooks and workshop may earn their hunter's safety cards.

Successful completion of a hunter's safety workshop is required before an individual may obtain his or her hunting license in the state of Nevada.

Nationally, more than 16 million hunters have been taught the concepts of ethical hunting and the safe use of firearms through similar state-run courses. An estimated 750,000 individuals enroll in hunter's safety courses annually.

"Hunter's safety workshops and classes are directly responsible for the decline in hunting accidents annually," said Xanie Derrick, APRP, recreation coordinator. "Mandatory hunter education is the first step in keeping hunters aware of their responsibilities, both to themselves and to fellow hunters."

According to studies conducted by the Hunter Education Association, hunting related fatalities declined by 50% from the 1930s to the 1980s. Thanks in part to the success of mandatory hunter education, this trend is expected to continue.

"Driver education is a requirement of obtaining a driver's license," Derrick said. "A hunting license is no different."

Workshop registration is accepted through the Nevada Division of Wildlife. For information, call 486-5127.

Workshop focuses on Vegan holiday desserts

The Whitney Ranch Recreation Center is hosting a workshop entitled "Vegan Holiday Desserts" from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Oct. 31.

Participation is $30 per person, which includes supplies, recipes and a meal. The workshop is part of the Henderson Parks and Recreation Department's Vegetarian Cooking for the Family series, which is designed to help participants master basic cooking techniques and develop a flair for gourmet vegetarian cuisine.

The instructor will discuss basic baking techniques, including conversion methods and decorating ideas. Participants will prepare an assortment of vegetarian holiday desserts that are flavorful, yet nutritious.

"Baking without eggs requires a lot of innovation because eggs are a key ingredient in most baked goods," said Xanie Derrick, APRP, recreation coordinator. "Eggs serve as a leavening and binding agent so when they are omitted from a recipe, you must compensate by adding other ingredients that can achieve similar results."

Common substitutions include applesauce, which adds moisture and serves as a binding agent, and a small amount of baking powder which helps the mixture to rise. Tofu is also becoming a popular ingredient in vegetarian baking. One-quarter cup of mashed silken tofu and a small amount of extra baking powder serve as a substitute for one egg.

"Bananas also make a great egg substitution in sweet baked goods," Derrick said. "Prunes are another option as they add a lot of flavor and sweetness to a recipe."

For more information about the Henderson Parks and Recreation Department's Vegetarian Cooking for the Family series, call 450-5885.

Seniors' Auxiliary to host Oktoberfest at Senior Center

The Henderson Seniors' Auxiliary will host its annual Oktoberfest event from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., Oct. 28, at the Henderson Senior Center, 27 E. Texas St. Admission is free.

Music and entertainment will be provided by the Dummkopfs band. The band members are known as much for their comical antics and German costumes as their upbeat oom pah standards. The event will also feature traditional German-style meals available for purchase ($2 each). Each meal comes complete with bratwurst mit weinkraut (sausage and wine cabbage), speiseknodel (dumplings) and rogen brot (rye bread).

"Oktoberfest is one of our most festive and best-attended events of the year," said Othens Williams, vice president of the Henderson Seniors' Auxiliary. "It's a great way not only to experience the sights and sounds of a traditional Oktoberfest, but also to support the Henderson Seniors' Auxiliary in its biggest fundraiser of the year."

Proceeds from the event's handmade craft sale, bake sale and fine arts show will benefit meal programs at the Henderson Senior Center. Funded jointly by the city of Henderson, Henderson Allied Community Advocates (HACA) and the Henderson Seniors' Auxiliary, the meal program serves weekday lunches at the Henderson Senior Center for a suggested donation of $1.10. The program also provides Meals on Wheels for home-bound seniors.

To help raise additional funds for the meal program, the Henderson Seniors' Auxiliary is also hosting an Oktoberfest raffle. Prizes include Southwest Airlines tickets for two, a Lake Mead cruise for two, cash prizes of $250 and $150, and more than 40 other prizes. Winners need not be present to win. Raffle tickets are available for $1 each or six for $5.

HOMECOMING HONORS

Landwell Co. donates $400,000 to proposed Nevada State College

The University of Nevada Board of Regents accepted a donation of $400,000 for the development of the Nevada State College at Henderson from The LandWell Company at their meeting Friday in Carson City.

The LandWell Company, a major Henderson landowner and developer, has already advanced $200,000 to the college project for initial conceptual plans.

The most recent gift will finance the architectural planning for the college's first building, a 137,000-square-foot structure that will include academic and student services, and landscaping improvements on 20 acres.

Earlier this year LandWell agreed to donate the 260-acre college site at Lake Mead Drive and Boulder Highway in exchange for city-owned parcels totaling some 118 acres that are located in and around the company's planned Provenance community, which is adjacent to the college site, for a net donation of $25 million.

"The college will be an important anchor for Provenance, which is being designed as a traditional hometown on 2,300 acres in the heart of Henderson," said Dan Stewart, LandWell's president and CEO.

"We believe the college is a very good investment, not only for LandWell but also for all of our Southern Nevada neighbors who care about the growth of higher education close to home."

According to Richard Moore, president of the college, some $36 million will be needed to fund the college's first phase, with $26 million requested from the State of Nevada, and $10 million in other gifts.

The Nevada State College Foundation has been established to assist in planning and fundraising, headed by Jim Rogers, president and CEO of Sunbelt Broadcasting.

Other members include Selma Bartlett of Bank West of Nevada; City of Henderson Mayor Jim Gibson; Rick Kellogg, BMI chairman of the board; Fred Cox, a Lake Las Vegas retiree; Perry Rogers, president of Agassi Enterprises; Eric and Robert Sletten of Sletten Construction; and Stewart.

Real Leadership for Henderson

Richard Perkins' roots in Henderson run deep. He grew up here, attending our city's schools, and is now raising his family here in our community.

As Majority Leader of the State Assembly, Richard has played an integral role on issues such as education, anti-crime legislation, economic diversification and managed growth.

Richard Perkins' leadership in the State Assembly will continue to help Henderson and all of Southern Nevada maintain the great quality of life our residents have come to expect and enjoy.

'The Wonder of Reading' festival draws hundreds of young book lovers

Henderson's Seven Hills community played host to inaugural event

The Wonder of Reading, a Southwest Reading Festival, recently drew several hundred book-lovers of all ages to Sonata Park in the Seven Hills master-planned community in Henderson.

The free event featured a wide range of entertainment and activities including a Harry Potter Pavilion, Entertainment Pavilion, appearances by Marshmallow the Clown, comedy hypnotist Justin Tranz, the Dick Saxe Dixieland Group and puppet shows by Kids on the Block.

Other activities included "How to Make A Newspaper," "How to Make a Book," a kids' book sale and a "How to Manage Money" book sale. There was also free food sampling, face painting, balloon animals and character appearances.

The Wonder of Reading was sponsored by the Seven Hills Builders and a number of other community-based organizations. Samantha Bonham, community marketing manager, said it was an enjoyable and educational experience for everyone involved.

"Throughout the year, the Seven Hills Builders have sponsored and co-sponsored a number of special events for the enjoyment of all Southern Nevada residents," Bonham said. "Events such as 'The Wonder of Reading' are especially gratifying, as they promote fun, educational activities for young people in our community."

A development of Silver Canyon Partnership, Seven Hills offers a wide range of housing choices — from detached single-family homes from the $130,000s to luxury floor plans priced from about $330,000. Buyers can tour dozens of furnished and decorated model homes and choose from more than 45 distinctive floor plan designs. Also available is a wide selection of premiere custom home sites that are priced from about $180,000 to $950,000.

Heffinger honored for community service

Nevada Eye & Ear recently gave its first "Seeing & Believing in Las Vegas" community service award to Henderson baseball coach Chris Heffinger.

The purpose of this award is to recognize the men and woman in the community who volunteer their time and talents to organizations that are dependent on volunteers to successfully carry out their programs.

The recipient of this award will have a donation of $1,000 made to the organization that they represent.

The doctors and staff of Ne-

vada Eye & Ear feel that this can be yet another way of giving back to the community. Recipients of this award can be involved in activities such as youth sports organizations, youth or adult educational programs or senior assistance groups.

Heffinger is being recognized for the continuous energy and talent that he has put into the Henderson youth baseball program. Eleven years ago, he started coaching T-Ball and he has continued working with children in different programs throughout the years.

Heffinger is recognized this year as being the winning coach of the Legacy 9-10 year old All-Star Baseball Team that went on to win the Nevada State title.

He also coaches the Henderson Viper baseball club team which is ranked number one in the western region. He had been a member of the Legacy Baseball board for four years.

Del Webb Corp. named 'Builder of the Year' by LV valley realtors

Del Webb Corp. was named "Builder of the Year" by the Greater Las Vegas Association of Realtors on Saturday evening during the installation of 2001 officers.

A committee of the Association made the announcement after carefully reviewing all of the builders in the valley. The decision was based on several factors including how well the builder welcomes Realtor business and the positive relationships formed between the builder and Realtor community.

"The recognition is quite an honor, and we're certainly proud of the professional business partnership we've formed with local Realtors," said Steve O'Connor, vice president of sales and marketing, Del Webb Corp. "We look forward to continuing to build and maintain positive relationships with the outstanding Realtors in the Las Vegas Valley."

The Greater Association of Realtors is a trade association representing 6,200 Realtor members. All members pledge to uphold a strict Code of Ethics and meet continuing education requirements.

Irene Vogel, executive vice president of the Greater Association of Realtors said Del Webb justly deserves the prestigious recognition "The honor is not only for a builder that delivers quality work and has a tremendous presence in the Las Vegas market, but it is for a builder consistently meeting the needs of the valley's Realtors," said Vogel.

"We're extremely honored that the Greater Association of Realtors would recognize Del Webb and their efforts in creating a Realtor-builder partnership for the 21st Century," added Sue Streeter, realtor relations coordinator, Del Webb Communities.

Del Webb Communities won a total of five Homer Awards from the Southern Nevada Home Builders Association, including the prestigious "Home of the Year" award for the 3,009 square-foot Anthem model.

Recently, Del Webb celebrated the grand opening of the 75,000-square-foot Anthem Center in Sun City Anthem. The $30 million facility, the largest recreation center Del Webb has ever built, offers fitness, social, hobby and dining amenities for Sun City Anthem residents.

Rite Aid organizes food drive to benefit Catholic Charities

Rite Aid Pharmacies, throughout Las Vegas and Henderson, will have barrels located in each store for canned and boxed food to help the needy and homeless this holiday season.

Customers can drop off canned and boxed food at their local Rite Aid stores from Oct. 23 through Dec. 16. They will also have canisters at each register for monetary donations. The charitable donations of food and money will benefit Catholic Charities of Southern Nevada.

"Rite Aid encourages its employees to be involved in the community we serve," said Gary Allen, Rite Aid regional vice president. "Rite Aid has a community commitment. We strive to continually increase involvement in the towns and cities where we do business. We recognize fully that we, and our neighbors, all benefit from thriving communities."

Local Rite Aid stores for food and monetary donations: 716 S. Boulder Hwy, 8500 S. Eastern Ave, and 2255 N. Green Valley Parkway.

Rite Aid is one of the nation's leading drugstore chains with about 3,800 stores in 30 states and the District of Columbia.

Southwest Gas Corp. employees to help maintain Henderson Bird Viewing Preserve

The Bird Viewing Preserve in Henderson will benefit from the national "Make a Difference Day" activities this year thanks to Southwest Gas Corp.'s Employee Volunteer Team (EVT) and the company's Trailhikers Club.

The EVT members, Trailhikers, family, and friends will gather Saturday, Oct. 28, to clear unwanted vegetation, plant trees, and reinvigorate the bird viewing area of the Preserve.

The Preserve, located at 2400

Moser Dr., encompasses more than 90 acres of lagoons and ponds that provides nesting for more than 200 species of migratory and native birds.

"We are anticipating more than 100 employees and family members to help improve this environmentally sensitive area," said Warren Rustad, Southwest Gas Southern Nevada Division vice president.

"The bird sanctuary is truly a southern Nevada treasure. Our employees are excited about helping with its preservation."

"Make A Difference Day" is a national day of helping others or improving the community. It was created by USA Weekend magazine and is held in partnership with the Points of Light Foundation.

This event takes place the fourth Saturday of October each year.

Southwest Gas provides natural gas service to nearly 400,000 homes and businesses in Southern Nevada, including Bullhead City, Ariz.; and Needles, Calif.

Mark Alden's opponent says he's a danger to the community.

The REAL danger is electing someone with NO experience who moved to our area just months ago specifically to run for this seat!

Mark Alden has lived in our community for more than 20 years. He's raised his kids here and knows our concerns and our hopes for higher education.

Our Governor, Kenny Guinn, strongly supports Mark, saying, "Mark has been a watchdog on the Board of Regents and a real asset to higher education in Nevada."

Don't be fooled by desperate candidates! Mark's opponent has flat-out lied about his record and will do and say anything to get elected!

Silverado tennis claims school's first girls title

By Joshua Primack
News Staff Writer

Running from court to court, the Silverado girls tennis team lost its breath this past Thursday.

When it was all over, the scoreboard read 13 1/2-9 as the Skyhawks barely had enough energy to cheer after winning the school's first team state championship over Bishop Gorman in Reno.

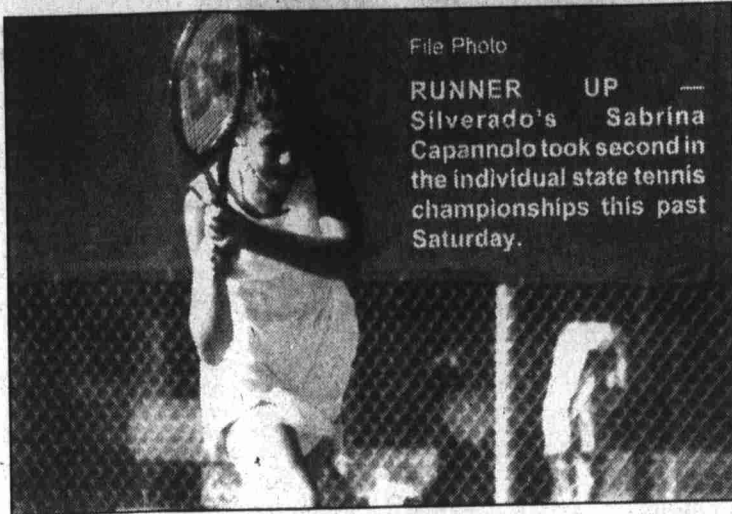

The state title is the second in the school's seven-year history, but only this tennis squad won its final match.

Silverado's baseball team earned the state championship uncontested in May when all other competition was disqualified from the tournament.

"As soon as it was over, we were all a little numb," Skyhawks' coach Bob Clements said. "I just feel lucky to be their coach."

The Skyhawks were loaded with talent this season with No. 1 singles player Sabrina Capannolo, a freshman, took second in the individual state tournament, two days after the team finals.

Against the Gaels, Capannolo was paired with No. 2 singles player Annabelle Janairo to form a lethal combination that went 3-0 winning 6-2, 6-2, 7-5. Their final set was the clincher for the team victory.

In singles, Jasmine Smith and Clarissa Moreno, both usually in doubles, each went 4-0.

"We were all getting nervous," Silverado junior Jamie Marshall said. "We all ran on the court and some of us cried." After Moreno completed her third set of the day, the last ones on the court, Silverado gathered in a big circle and celebrated Skyhawk style.

Marshall teamed up with Lauren Martines in doubles for a 2-1 record.

Silverado led after the first two rounds, 10-5, but Moreno trailed in her final set 4-1.

"Clarissa pulled out her match and everyone was excited," Marshall added. "The Basic football on Cloud 9 with first division title in 11 years

Basic could have easily been 0-9 this year on the gridiron — at least according to its quarterback Mark Rose.

Rose's shouted this prediction to his teammates one unforgettable practice four weeks ago with his team struggling in several facets of the game.

One month later and the team that opened with four straight loses is looking like world beaters.

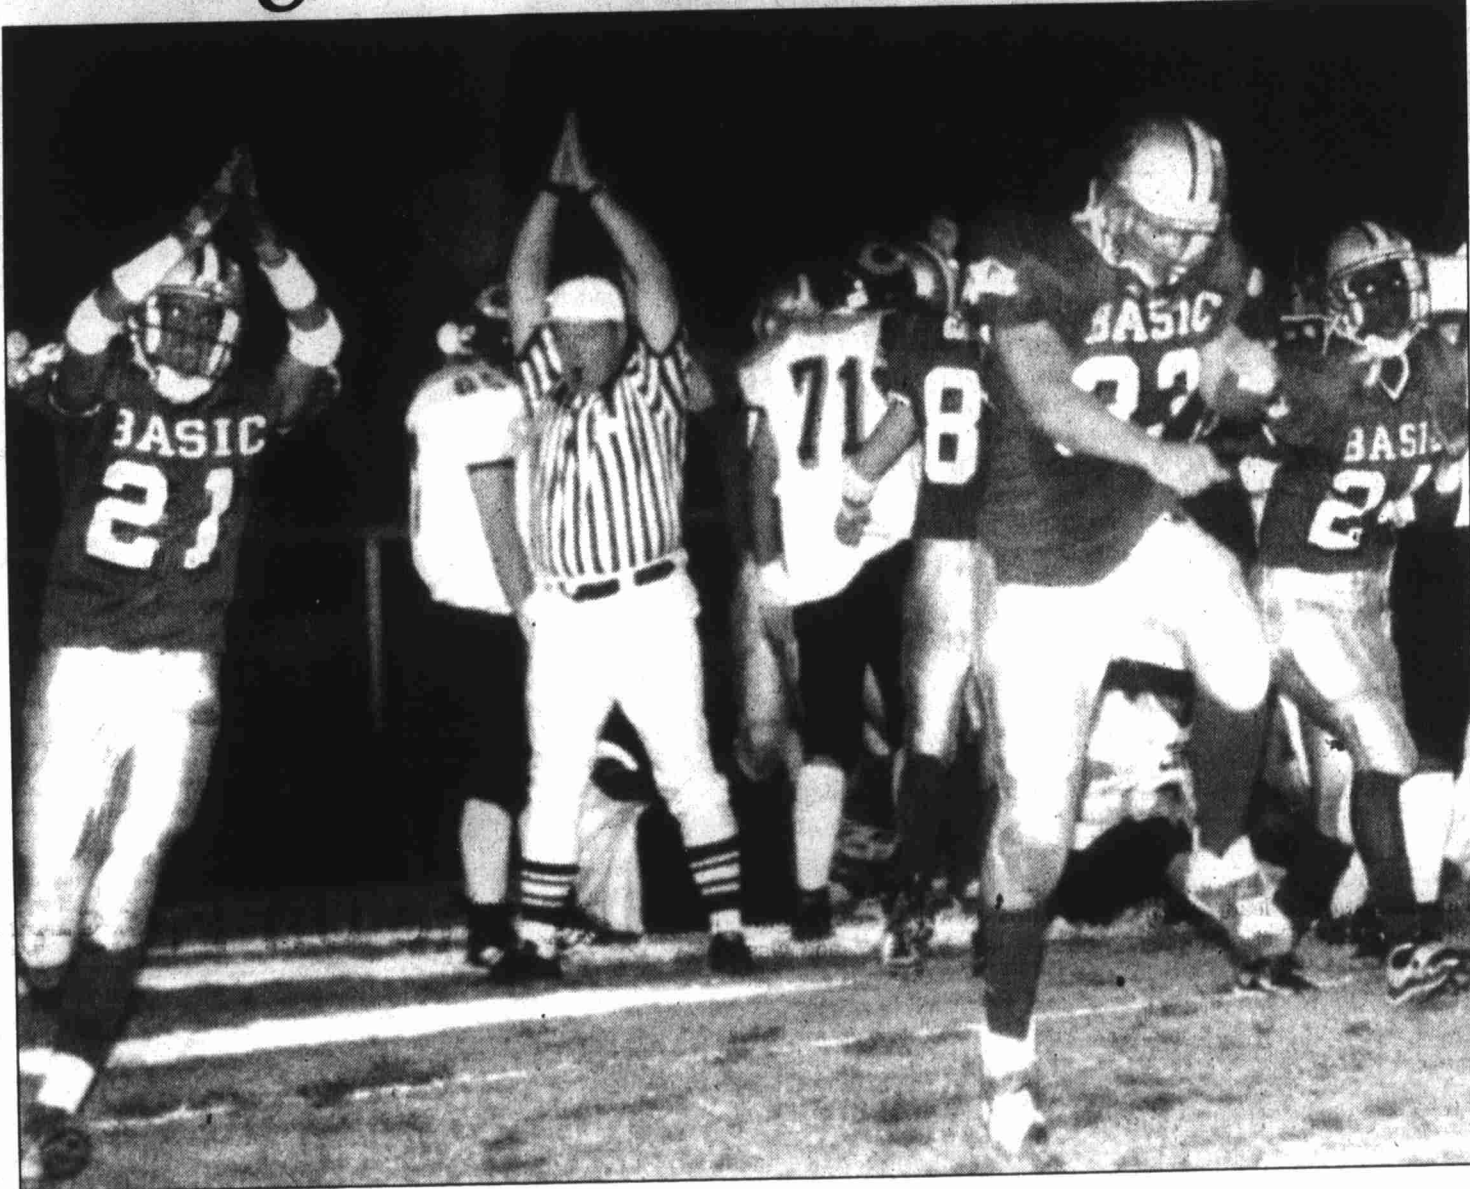

The Wolves won their fourth straight game Friday, defeating Chaparral 39-17 behind two touchdowns plunges from fullback T.J. Portolese and 233 yards passing from Rose to highlight the school's annual Homecoming festivities.

The win, coupled with Silverado's 32-30 loss to Foothill, also gave the Wolves the Southeast Division title — their first division title since 1989 — and put them in the driver's seat to win the News' inaugural Henderson City Championship.

Basic closes out the regular season Thursday at Silverado before hosting a first round playoff game in two weeks. If they beat Silverado, they'll win the Henderson City Championship.

"When I said that, it really opened some eyes," Rose said. "People came up to me after practice and said I really had a point."

Since the comments, Rose's arm has been more valuable to the Wolves than his motiva-tional speaking.

Take the win over Chaparral for instance where Rose and Co. exploded for 39 straight points in overcoming an early 9-0 deficit, the Wolves' third divisional contest on the season.

Basic scored 29 points in the second quarter, including 14 from junior tailback Brandon Parcell.

Parcell got the scoring started with a four-yard scoring run one minute into the second quarter.

Following a Chaparral punt, Rose connected with Nate Lord on a 75-yard reception and Portolese smashed into the endzone giving Basic the lead for good. Parcell added the two-point conversion.

The onslaught continued with Rose hitting Brandon Hawkins for an 80-yard touchdown — the third consecutive game the 6-foot-4 sophomore has caught a touchdown pass.

Basic's defense recorded a safety and Parcell scored on a 24-yard run to close out the half. "I'm really proud of the kids,"

Wendy's Three-Tour Challenge tees off today

By the News Staff

With nine of the greatest golfers in the world assembled in Henderson for the Wendy's Three-Tour Challenge beginning today at Lake Las Vegas Resort, everyone will have a chance to attend the ninth annual event.

Complimentary tickets are available for the fifth Challenge hosted at Lake Las Vegas and the first team will tee off at approximately 8:30 a.m. with the following teams teeing off in 15-minute intervals.

Notah Begay III, Tom Watson and Juli Inster make up the first trio of golfers with Rocco Mediate, Tom Kite and Dottie Pepper in the second group.

Phil Michelson, Hale Irwin and Karrie Webb comprise the final team. The charity event will air on ABC Sports Dec. 23 and 24.

Since its inception in 1992, the Wendy's Three-Tour Challenge has raised more than $5.4 million for the Dave Thomas Foundation for Adoption and has attracted some of the greatest names in golf.

Hale Irwin, of the Senior PGA Tour, will be defending his 1998 and 1999 titles.

To reach the Lake Las Vegas Resort, take U.S. Highway 95 toward Henderson, exit at Lake Mead Drive and head east to Lake Las Vegas Parkway.

State title or not, Green Valley girls golfers proud of 2000 season

By Ray Brewer
News Sports Editor

After capturing the state title the past four seasons, Green Valley's girls golf team was a long shot — at best — to make it five straight.

That is something the team accepted entering the 4A event, which concluded late last week at the Genoa Lakes Golf Course, outside Reno.

Durango High won state with a two-day 397 while Green Valley finished in fifth out of eight teams with a 451. Silverado took eighth with a 497.

Even though not winning state is upsetting, the Gators are more than thrilled with the accomplishments they have made this season.

This includes that little streak everyone seems to be mentioning.

The same little streak many of the golfers in the starting six knew nothing about entering the season.

Behind a foursome of top notch golfers — Emily De'Ath (Washington State), Mary Jan Fernandez (Tulane) and Kim Kindig (Southern Miss) — the Gators were unstoppable the past four seasons, not only win four state titles, but helping continue the program's streak for consecutive match victories.

The magic number for the Gators is 129, which would place them in a tie with an all-girls Catholic school in the Phoenix, Ariz., for straight victories.

After this year's team won nine straight, Green Valley is just 18 victories shy of reaching that mark — roughly towards the end of sophomore Monica Brown's senior season.

Brown had some knowledge of the streak entering the season after being a seldom-used reserve on last year's team.

This experience also gave Brown a chance to get real worried when she walked out to the first day of practice this year and saw several new faces, including four raw freshmen that would be contributing.

"I was kind of worried at first," Brown said. "But when everyone started hitting balls and stuff, I knew we could do it."

"I was kind of worried at first. But when everyone started hitting balls and stuff, I knew we could do it."

Monica Brown
Green Valley golfer

As destiny would have it, the Gators were perfect again, including a one-stroke win over a Palo Verde team that finished ahead of them at state.

In the win over the Panthers, Brown made up three strokes in the final group to key the victory.

"I guess I stepped up when I had to," Brown said. "We have grown a lot closer and bonded since then. It was difficult at first because we didn't know each other."

The girls say this chemistry is a big reason for their season. The squad is simply more relaxed on the links and having a good time.

Freshman Nicole McGirr won the Sunrise Regional tournament while leading the Gators to a nine-stroke victory in the team event and fellow ninth grader Chelsea Pendleton earned medalist honors in a handful of matches this season.

"Right now, if you look at it, we are second in the nation," Brown said. "It's real important to us to be first. It's the most important thing for us."

Even more important than winning state.

In terms of experience, Green Valley is a few years behind some of the valley's veteran squads like Durango and Bishop Gorman.

But for now, the little streak that fell into their laps has provided plenty of motivation and a sense of accomplishment.

5,400,000 — Dollars raised in the nine years of the Wendy's Three-Tour Challenge.

Turning Point of the Week

After defeating Chaparral by three touchdowns Friday, Basic's football team proved they are the real deal.

Before the win over the Cowboys, the Wolves had defeated two second-year programs — granted improved programs in Desert Pines and Foothill — as well as a struggling Green Valley squad. Here's what the four victories have done for the Wolves' season:

- The Southeast Divisional title even if they lose Thursday to Silverado.

- The school now has something else to get excited about besides a highly successful baseball and cross country programs.

- A new method of scheduling the season and creating an offensive game plan for coach Cliff Frazier and his staff.

- Basic's first playoff appearance in 11 years and Frazier's first appearance as the Wolves' head coach.

- Arguably the most lethal passing attack in Southern Nevada football with Mark Rose at quarterback and a slew of talented receivers in Nate Lord, Brandon Hawkins and Chris Campbell.

Foothill wins thriller — and Victory Bell — as Silverado misses last-minute FG

By Joshua Primack
News Staff Writer

They came. They saw. They rang.

In finishing out its first season of divisional play 3-1 with a 32-30 win, Foothill's football team walked away with more than just a victory Friday.

The Falcons carted off with the Victory Bell, the trophy in rivalry games between the second-year institution and Silverado — the two newest high schools in the Henderson area.

"That was on my mind the whole game," Foothill quarterback Alex DeVaughn said. "We wanted to beat them bad."

Foothill wanted revenge after losing to Silverado last season, 55-0, in a game that saw three Skyhawks rush for over 100 yards — Joe Jackson, Levi Neshkoff and Will Batts.

DeVaughn, like many Falcon football players, transferred to Foothill from Silverado and, although they are all good friends, this game was for bragging rights.

A missed 47-yard field goal attempt sealed the win, but from the start of the game, Silverado looked to be the dominant squad once again.

The Skyhawks jumped out to a 16-0 lead in the first quarter on a nine-yard touchdown run by Joe Jackson, a Steve Whiteman 25-yard field goal and a 37-yard scamper by Brandon Shimono.

Only one play went Foothill's way that quarter — Scott Bevill's interception with five seconds left.

"That couldn't have come at a better time," Bevill said. "I jumped because I didn't expect the ball to be that low. I was too focused on just trying to get a finger on it."

Bevill tipped the ball up, fell on the ground and snatched it out of the air for the Falcons' first turnover.

Foothill drove 53 yards, setting up DeVaughn's three-yard touchdown run. The 2-point conversion failed and Silverado led 16-6 with 9:49 left in the half.

After a deep Silverado punt, Foothill drove from their own 18 to score on a 13-yard pass from DeVaughn to Nate Wederquist, who accounted for all 82 yards on the drive.

Silverado's lead was cut to three, 16-13, after the extra point.

"Wederquist is a legitimate player," Foothill coach Ray Fenton said about the sophomore. "We really count on him for our big plays."

first time this season, intercepted a pass with 1:30 left in the half. On the second play from scrimmage, Shimono found a hole for a 48-yard score, his second of the day.

Silverado nailed the extra point and led 23-13.

With 51 seconds before halftime, Foothill's Tim Campbell sprinted 44 yards, setting up the third Falcon score — a 21-yard pass to tight end Jabe Beard.

The extra point was no good and Silverado held the lead for the last time, 23-19.

"Giving up the touchdown right before the half has had its effect on us," Silverado coach John DeNardin said. "We have to stop some people and improve on our defense."

The Skyhawks troubles continued in second half when quarterback Tony Welch got the wind knocked out of him and sophomore replacement J. R. Thomas threw an interception on his first play to Foothill's Mike Monga.

A couple of big passes later and Bevill found the endzone for a 24-yard score, moving the Falcons into the lead, 25-23. Silverado's Joe Fiorio blocked the extra point.

Foothill extended its lead, 31-23, with a 10-play drive ending on a nine-yard score by Campbell with 6:00 left in the game. Beard split the uprights for the extra point.

Silverado rode fullback

Marvin Reddick's back into the endzone with 2:54 left in the game. Reddick scored from seven yards out to close within two points after the good extra point, 32-30.

"Marvin is a big part of our offense," DeNardin said. "Teams bring up nine guys in the box against us and we have Marvin to move the pile. He is more of the true fullback, giving us a punch up the middle."

After the Skyhawk defense forced Foothill to punt, they moved within field goal range for Whiteman from four yards out.

With the wind blowing right to left and from the right hash mark, Whiteman missed the field goal attempt wide left.

"We scored a lot of points," DeNardin added. "The kids didn't give up and had the opportunity to get the win."

Silverado fell to 1-2 in the division while Foothill solidified second at 3-1.

OVERTIME — Reddick led Silverado in rushing for the first time this season with 91 yards. Shimono was second with 89 yards and two scores. Foothill's Campbell finished the game with 89 yards as well. DeVaughn passed for 251 yards and was held to just 10 yards on the ground. Silverado's John Murphy caused a fumble in the first quarter. Wederquist had 120 yards receiving while DeVaughn found four different receivers. Jackson played three different positions for Silverado — tailback, wide receiver and cornerback. ... The Foothill marching band played "Caravan" at halftime. ... The Victory Bell is the small trophy version. The big version will permanently sit on Foothill's field for it is eight-feet tall and weighs at least one ton. It is from the El Rancho Hotel & Casino's sign. ... Silverado has still outscored Foothill in the schools' first two meetings, 85-32.

Gators drop fourth straight in football

By Joshua Primack
News Staff Writer

On the defensive side of the ball, the Green Valley football team is in full stride.

This past Friday, the Gators allowed just 14 points and 281 yards in falling to Sunrise Regional rival Rancho, 14-12, in Green Valley's 10th Homecoming game.

"The defense played well in all regards," Gator coach John Culver said. "You should win when you hold a team to two touchdowns."

Using more penetration by the defensive line and solid pass coverage, especially by Dustin Richter at strong safety, the Gators (3-5 overall) were able to cut down on big yardage gains by the Rams.

"They did a good job with that," Culver said. "They just let up one long pass."

The offensive game was totally different for the Gators.

Tailback Ryan Smith got the scoring started with an eight-yard run in the first quarter. The kick failed after being set on the back of the tee and Green Valley took a 6-0 lead.

Smith finished the game with 224 rushing yards.

"Ryan ran well for us," Culver said. "He finds the cracks the offensive line opens up and makes things happen."

Rancho's Clifton Dickey rushed tied the game with a six-yard run and the Rams took the lead with a successful extra point, 7-6.

Both offenses were held at bay until the fourth quarter when both showed signs of life.

The Rams added to their lead with a 21-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter and the Gators answered with five minutes left.

Quarterback Chris McGovern hit Gabe Ameling on a five-yard roll-out.

Trailing by two, 14-12, with the clock running down, the Gators went for the 2-point conversion and failed.

"We didn't function well," the coach added. "It was a frustrating night for everyone. The offense had opportunities to score."

Penalties and fumbles halted any progress the Gators' offense made throughout the game.

OVERTIME — Ameling finished the game with 60 yards receiving. ... Former Green Valley principal Carol Johnston was the Grand Marshall of the Homecoming Parade down Arroyo Grande Boulevard. ... The offensive line featured two new additions in Kenny Kneezle and Matt Newell. ... Rancho's Dickey finished the game with 179 yards on the ground.

TENNIS

team victory was the biggest thing for us because we have been together for so long and worked so hard to get there.

"We gave everything we had." Clements knew the key to victory had to be through doubles set wins, which are worth 1 1/2 points as opposed to just one point in singles.

"We knew we were capable of winning," Clements said. "I was concerned when Gorman won all nine doubles sets from Bonanza [in the regional finals] and that would be the only way they could beat us."

Silverado completed the season perfect with a 22-0 record. The final match was the closest this season for the Skyhawks, who graduate just five players including Janairo and Moreno.

INDIVIDUALS

Capannolo wasn't the only underclassman from the Henderson area making headway in the state individual matches.

Foothill's Lew DeLeon took second in the boys singles tournament Saturday to Reno's Dan Scafidi, 7-6 (7-3), 4-6, 6-4.

"It was an outright battle," DeLeon said. "That is how a final should be."

"I did the right things against him (Scafidi). He was tough and overpowering. I stayed in the match by staying within myself."

After making an early exit from last year's state tournament, DeLeon feels he is a completely different player than he was as a freshman.

Scafidi broke DeLeon's serve in the final set and went ahead 5-3. Other than that, the match was even.

"I wasn't thinking about last year," DeLeon said. "I had to take care of business and I think I did that. I played the perfect match until the last two games where he broke me."

"I am disappointed because I wanted it so badly and was so close to it. My game is getting better every day and I knew exactly what I had to do after it was over."

The Silverado freshman, Capannolo, fell in the final match to Bishop Manogue's Lara Burgarello, 6-2, 6-0.

Even though the score appears to be blowout, Capannolo kept the match alive against the senior with long points and several extended games.

"I was using my whole net game and putting volleys where they needed to be," Capannolo said. "I was relieved when it was all over because I was nervous going into it."

To reach the finals, Capannolo defeated Bonanza's Trisha Piercy 6-3, 2-6, 6-1.

In girls doubles, Martines and Smith joined up, taking the runners-up position as well to Kristin Turner and Catrina Thompson from Gorman, 6-0, 6-1.

The Silverado duo went through McQueen's Stacey Stewart and Caitlin Fuetsch in the second round.

MORE INDIVIDUALS

Finishing out his high school career with a victory, Green Valley's Joel Kielbowicz placed third in the tournament over Palo Verde's Cameron Parker, 6-2, 6-3.

Kielbowicz had the most difficult road through the tournament, playing two No. 1 seeds in Bonanza's Sean Hubbard, a three-set victory, and Scafidi.

"Joel had a tough draw," Green Valley coach Luther Bohanan said. "Scafidi was tough as nails and then Joel had more experience against Parker and it showed."

Ryan Lorenz, also a Green Valley senior, fell to Scafidi in the first round, 6-2, 6-0.

Green Valley's two boys doubles squads — Jason Harper-Jon Fayeghi and Tim Mullin-Scott Moon — fell in the first round as did two of Silverado's girls doubles teams — Marshall-Moreno and Christina Capannolo-Rachel Cohen.

Kim Cavan, a senior at Foothill, lost her first round match against Burgarello, while Janairo fell in two sets to third-place finisher Christian Thompson from Gorman.

MORE TEAM TOURNAMENT

Green Valley's boys lost in a dual match for the first time since 1994 to Galeno, 16-6 1/2, for an early exit in the team state tournament.

Kielbowicz and Jon Fayeghi combined for a 3-0 record in doubles while Ryan Lorenz and Zach Porter each won one singles set.

"Nobody likes losing," Bohanan said. "The kids understand what is going on."

But Green Valley's legacy is not completely finished just yet.

The Gators keep their 87-match regular season winning streak in tact but fell short of matching the Green Valley record six straight team state championships set by the baseball squad (1993-1998).

BASIC

Basic coach Cliff Frazier said. "I know I say that a lot, but I really mean that. The kids haven't stopped."

Basic iced the game in the third quarter with a 27-yard field goal from Rose and an 11-yard run from Portolese.

"Our defense did a great job again," Rose said. "The defense has been the heart of our team this year, I think."

Flashback to Rose's outburst at practice.

The comments were made as the Wolves had problems moving the sled during a conditioning drill designed to improve their running attack.

After having no rushing touchdowns the first four games, the four ground scores against Chaparral and over 160 yards of rushing offense says a lot.

"Winning the division means a great deal to us," Rose said.

"It's one of the many goals we have."

Clinching the title doesn't mean the Wolves plan on taking it easy this week, especially with the city championship up for grabs.

"We definitely want to win the city championship," Rose said. "We want to get as many records as we can out of the way."

So far so good — Basic captured the Henderson Bowl for the first time since 1993 and will play in the playoffs for the first time since 1989.

Parcell had 86 yards rushing on 16 carries, Lord had 96 yards receiving and Hawkins had 88 yards receiving.

OVERTIME — Tight end Chris Campbell was crowned Homecoming King at halftime, joining a long list of football players to win the honor at the school. Max Ramos (99), Ray Gonzales (98) and Eric Wise (97) are also on the list. Sunshine Davis was the Homecoming Queen. ... Basic had a Homecoming treat — their names on the back of their jerseys. ... Safety Nate Goodman had his best game of the season, making several tackles. He also played backup quarterback. ... If you are football purest then you had to smile when junior Aaron Hales entered the game at center. The seldom used Hales has been part of the Wolves' program for three years, logging roughly less than five minutes of field time combined. But he has earned the respect of his peers for his passion for the sport. ... Senior Danny Combs might be a little superstitious. The 6-1, 300-pound center has been sporting a rubber band around his wrist for games. So far the Wolves haven't lost when Combs wears the jewelry. Combs claims he won't take the rubber band off during the season.

The Voice of Reason in Local Government

Commissioner Bruce Woodbury is often referred to as the "voice of reason" on the Clark County Commission. Representing Southern Nevada's largest and most populous district, Bruce has been a prominent leader in developing solutions to area traffic, flood control, air pollution, neighborhood planning and water-related concerns.

Residents of District A have benefited greatly from Woodbury's active participation as Chairman of the Regional Transportation Commission. He spearheaded development of the Beltway, significantly alleviating traffic concerns.

Columnist Jon Ralston said: "Commissioner Woodbury has taken the point on substantive efforts to attack Southern Nevada's vexing growth-related problems. He is perceived as the man who made homes safer from flooding, streets clear from traffic jams..."

Bruce and his wife, Rose, have seven children and five grandchildren. They have lived in Boulder City since 1978.

Silverado takes out Basic in volleyball

By Joshua Primack
News Staff Writer

With the girls volleyball season winding down and the playoff picture heating up, Silverado (7-1) is making its final push for the Southeast Divisional title.

Since falling to Green Valley Oct. 5, the Skyhawks have played perfect volleyball, losing only one game.

This past Thursday, Silverado continued its magic with a three-game victory over Basic, 15-12, 15-8, 15-2.

"We struggled to win those games," Skyhawk coach Pam Sloan said. "Defensively, they were picking up everything we threw at them."

And that was everything including the kitchen sink.

Setter Lacey Koelliker recorded a personal match-record 52 assists, distributing 12 kills each to Britt Wimmer and Ashley Kordestani.

Both hitters also had eight service points.

Deanna Appuglise had six kills and four service points.

"Lacey was spreading the ball well," Sloan said. "We needed the challenge and Basic definitely provided that."

Basic fell to 3-5 in the Southeast Division.

GREEN VALLEY

The Gators (8-0) are holding on to first place in the division with little challenge.

A three-game victory over Chaparral this past Thursday, 15-2, 15-5, 15-9, strengthened Green Valley's grip on the division.

Emily Macy, one of six Gator seniors, led the way with seven kills on senior night.

All seniors on the squad started the match with April Daoang at setter.

Erika Twesme, Katie Swart, Camille Roney and Staci Crupi rounded out the starting six in their final home match.

"The girls did a phenomenal job out there," Green Valley coach Ben Abramowitz said.

Swart finished the match with six kills and two digs.

FOOTHILL

In a four-game match with Vo-Tech, Foothill pulled out the victory, 15-9, 15-5, 11-15, 15-3.

Darci Woodring had 22 assists and Tiare Monga had 10 kills.

JV-B football

BASIC — The Wolves improved to 7-1 overall in junior varsity action with a 40-13 win over Chaparral at Basic last week.

Andrew Butler scored twice for Basic while Frank Blurton had two touchdown passes — one to Gilly DePoorter and one to James Espinoza.

Arizona Hurt also had two touchdowns for the Wolves.

Speaking of 7-1 teams, Donny Eredia had 120 receiving yards and a touchdown as Basic beat Chaparral 22-13 in 'B' action.

Chris Montano accounted for over 200 yards of passing offense.

SILVERADO — The Skyhawks won their fourth straight game on the 'B' level with a 30-14 victory over Foothill on Thursday.

Silverado trailed by 14 points before its ground attack took over. Ryan Meuir had 120 yards rushing and two touchdowns. Tony Bell had 100 yards rushing and a touchdown and Austin Byrd had a touchdown run. Justin Salayich scored three two-point conversions.

More importantly, it's something that links the past to the present — Green Valley hasn't lost a dual match since Chaparral beat them in the early 90s, roughly nine years ago.

At state, Silverado's Monika Lee finished in fifth place with a two-day 147, the best score in of all Henderson golfers.

Pendleton shot Green Valley's lowest score with a 169, good enough for 18th place.
