PARTY LINE MANNERS

Telephone facilities are still limited by material shortages. For this reason we are making the best use of available lines by asking our new customers to take party-line service. This plan enables many families to have telephone service who otherwise could not be served.

If you are a party-line user, your courteous and cooperative use of the line will be appreciated. Here's how you can do your part:

1. Listen a moment to see if the line is in use—if it is, replace the receiver quietly and wait a reasonable length of time before making another attempt.
2. Hold your calls to a reasonable length so that others can use the line. Their call may be an emergency.
3. Teach the children considerate use of the telephone.
4. Answer your telephone promptly.
5. Be careful to replace the receiver after each call.

IF ONE RECEIVER IS LEFT OFF, THE ENTIRE LINE IS PUT OUT OF SERVICE.

In this case, not even emergency calls can be completed, either in or out.

REMEMBER, THE EMERGENCY MIGHT BE YOURS!

DO NOT "FLASH THE OPERATOR" before or after your connection has been made. "Flashing" or moving the receiver hook AUTOMATICALLY BREAKS THE CONNECTION and causes a "cutoff." If you are the called party, and are "cut off," hang up at once, so that the connection can be reestablished quickly.

HOW TO PLACE OUT-OF-TOWN CALLS

STATION CALLS ARE:

If you will talk to anyone who answers at an individual line or party-line telephone or private switchboard.

To place Station Calls, call Long Distance and tell the operator who answers, the city or town you want, the out-of-town telephone number, if you have it, or the name under which it is listed.

PERSON CALLS ARE:

If you want to reach a particular person, or a particular extension telephone or department connected through a private switchboard.

To place Person Calls, call Long Distance and tell the operator who answers, the city or town you want, the out-of-town telephone number, if you have it, or the name under which it is listed, and the name of the person, the extension telephone number or department you want.

COLLECT CALLS ARE:

If you wish the called number to accept the charge.

To place Collect Calls, call Long Distance, place your call in the usual way, being sure that the Long Distance Operator understands that you wish to have the charges reversed.

Upon request, the charge on calls to most points within the Continental United States, Alaska, Canada, and to certain overseas points, may be collected at the called station.

HENDERSON – THE PAST

Men without vision could have stood on the sun-baked, greasewood-covered slopes and seen nothing but dry-arid desolation, but engineers are not ordinary men. To an engineer the slope on which the huge, sprawling Basic Magnesium plant was to be erected represented a site with proper drainage, proper wind direction and proper qualifications for a $147,000,000 investment.

At the time the plant was constructed, the world was in turmoil. The greatest war in history was being fought over-seas. The United States had just entered the war, and the Nazi war machine was running rough shod over country after country. England was being besieged by German bombers which could drop devastating loads of high-powered bombs on its cities. Realizing that there was a desperate need for magnesium for "block busters", England and the United States joined hands to erect a plant which would produce the materials for such bombs. Such a plant had never been built in this country, but England knew how and we knew how to put it into mass production.

When the plant produced for the first time in 1942 it set a record which still stands for such plants. It not only produced but it over-produced with the result that magnesium was stock-piled and the plant was used for small arms.

This record was set by approximately 15,000 employes working 24-hour shifts. A town was constructed to house the employes; 1,000 homes and 58 apartments. Still more housing was needed, and on the other side of the Boulder highway more apartments were built. Even then men were living in tents up and down the highway or in trailer parks laid out near the plant. Men and women poured into the townsite, named Henderson, from all parts of the country. Schools were built for their children; clubs were organized and community projects worked out. Without a city government councils were organized to bring the community problems to those in charge of the plant and townsite.

Liking the climate and the freedom of the state of Nevada, many workers stayed on even after the plant was closed down and it looked for a while as if the town and plant would be sold to the highest bidder.

When the Stauffer Chemical Company of Nevada leased the chlorine section of the plant, the people took hope. When the Western Electrochemical Company leased other units at the plant, the people tightened their belts and decided to see the thing through. Maybe there was a chance of saving the plant and the town, and they could settle here and make their homes here.

The people were right. Although the years in between were slim, work was scarce, they hung on and were rewarded when the State of Nevada stepped in and purchased the plant from the federal government in 1948 and turned it over to the Colorado River Commission to either sell or lease. By the end of 1950 all space had been leased, all power contracts drawn and by 1952 the plant and townsite were both sold to private industry and to the people.

HENDERSON – THE FUTURE

The future of Henderson is not built on today's economy but on 50 years from now. Planners at the various plants are looking ahead to a future far beyond the vision of the average man or woman.

What is in store for Henderson is a steady growth based on the firm economy of industrial plants. Industry is something new to Southern Nevada and because of this there have been misunderstandings. Industry moves slowly, makes long-range plans and studies carefully every phase of an operation before it steps in and goes to work.

Plans are still being made by the various companies at the huge Basic Magnesium plant. Power must be found to meet the demands of the companies. This is being done by the Colorado River Commission. Raw materials must be located, markets must be found for products, and profit and loss figures studied.

Although the plant is now devoted to production for defense, its products can serve both civilian and defense economies. The ending of the war in Korea would affect the plant in some ways, but there would be no closing down of units. The work of the companies is geared to switch from one type of production to another. Chlorine, caustic soda, insecticides, weed killers, lime, titanium, manganese, to name a few of the products produced, are all valuable in peacetime as well as wartime.

Because the products of the companies are useful in both peacetime and wartime, there should be no wholesale disruption when peace comes. For this reason the economy of Henderson stands on firm ground. The growth of the plant and town will be a steady growth built on need and as a result there will be no boom town atmosphere about the place.

The impact of industry upon Southern Nevada is already being felt, not only in increased tax revenue, but in the influx of new people into the state. These people are coming in with new ideas and new ideas mean growth no matter what the community or its location. These ideas will be felt throughout the state.

A new language is springing up; words being used which had no meaning to this area prior to now such as titanium, perchlorates, benzenehexachloride, and many other words. The fact that a new town, having a population of 10,000 by the end of 1952, is important to a state as scarcely populated as Nevada. The increase in the number of young men and women is extremely important to the state because they are the ones who will carry out the plans of the future.

Opportunities of all kinds are available at Henderson for men and women with vision. Here is a new town, not yet settled in its ways. Here is opportunity to pioneer and bring forth a model community which could rank with the best in this country for its size. The next five years in Henderson are important because it will be during this period that the future of the town will be laid. Only people with vision and the will to see things through can do the job. It will not be easy but it is a chance few persons have an opportunity to participate in today.

The path is clear — an industrial community with large payrolls, large number of employes, for years to come. What the future has in store is up to you, the people of Henderson.

If you have party-line service,
be a good Telephone Neighbor.
SHARING the line will help you and the other fellow to better service.

SOMETIMES persons you call may be near the telephone and can answer quickly. Other times, they may be in another part of the house or out-of-doors. You can save the time of another call by waiting a little longer for an answer.
