

Henderson Hearsay

By Bert Havens

This town is rapidly going to the dogs, and we don't seem to be able to do anything about it. In groups running up to half a dozen or more, the mutts mess up lawns, chew up milk containers, knock over garbage cans, run after cars and kids on bicycles and, in general, make themselves a blankety-blank nuisance.

Following the biting of several children and a fatal motorcycle accident caused by a dog some time ago, the "Powers that Be" spoke up and warned residents to keep the animals on their premises or be faced with cancellation of their leases, but was any action taken? Definitely not! The Sheriff's office has no authority to act unless a formal complaint regarding a specific dog is made, but who can say who owns the stray canines that are running wild throughout the area? The dog catcher is located in Las Vegas and hasn't been seen around these parts for many weeks. He seemingly gets his orders from the Humane Society, an organization obviously more interested in the welfare of animals that they are of humans, as otherwise they would see to it that this present annoyance and potential danger is taken care of without further delay.

It is obvious that a lot of people who own dogs feel that because the animal is licensed they can turn it loose on the streets without responsibility. By this type of reasoning, a person could buy a pistol, pay a license fee and then feel free to go out and shoot up the town! Wonder what sort of a fine would be meted out if an irate citizen finally turned and bit one of the dogs?

A friend of ours who is interested in mining suggested that the B. M. Plant would be an ideal location for an ore smelter to serve the mines in southern Nevada and northern Arizona. According to him, or eis now being shipped hundreds of miles to smelters in Utah and California. With cheap electric power available here, an electric smelting furnace should be practical and could be a great help in encouraging further development of mining properties in this part of the country. Could be?

As basketball players, our Basic Wolves should have stuck to football. How's about it, Coach? With Tedo Williams ineligible, you could stick Hunter in again at fullback, and with a full 11-man team we might win some basketball games. The other side would still put only five men on the court, of course, to make it even. We're only joking, but after five straight losses we have to think of SOMETHING to make the record look a little better. Anyhow, football is our first love and it doesn't look natural to see "Chuck" Galloway, "Moose" Hanson, et al prancing around in those chorus girl outfits. We'd rather see Chuck take the ball, fade 'way back, spot Hanson in the clear down near the goal line, cock his arm for a long pass... and then have four guys break through and set him on his pants! Yuk! Yuk! Sweet memories...

Wedding Shower For Mrs. Jack Dill

A wedding shower was held for Mrs. Jack Dill last Friday night at 7:30 by Janet Sue Savalli, 159 Copper. Mrs. Dill is the former Doris Pagan, niece of Constable and Mrs. Aubrey Pagan of 67 Pacific. Her marriage took place December 25.

The wedding cake which was baked by Mrs. Gladys Morley, was decorated with a bride and groom in miniature and was the centerpiece of a lace covered table attractively set off by a bowl of delicate white flowers and graceful white candles. Sandwiches were served on a silver service. The entire motif was bridal. Guests included Nancy Otero, Merle Bracken, Betty Hietbrinck, Betty Riggins, Melinda Hall, Joanne Schwartz, Katherine Corn, Anna Mae Dill, Barbara Gale, and the honoree Doris Dill. Co-hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Gladys Morley, Mrs. Aubrey Pagan and Mrs. Savalli.
