Sub-Station Party A Big Success

If the amount of ice cream cups and cakes dispensed with is any indication of the success of the recent open house, at the new sheriff's sub-station; the affair was a huge success. According to Chief Deputy S. H. Milligan, 1,000 ice cream cups and three huge cakes were given away at the affair.

Adult Swim Classes Started

Ann Campbell, who is in charge of the Red Cross adult swimming classes, announced that the adult classes began last Monday night. The classes are held every Monday and Thursday evening, 5:45 to 6:45, at the Vegas Wash beach. The classes will continue for eight weeks. The instructions are free and all who are interested are asked to furnish their own transportation.

Freddy Nagel, popular dance band maestro, with his wife and two young sons, stopped over in Boulder City for a few days visit en route to San Francisco for a vacation trip from Chicago, where Freddy recently completed a lengthy engagement at one of the leading hotels in that city.

Work valued at $720 million was done during April this year on the record number of new homes that have been started in the United States in the past five months, the U. S. Department of Commerce says.

County Seeks to Take Over Victory and Carver Houses From Uncle Sam; Change-Over Would Bring About Modernization at Same Low Rentals

The housing units at Victory Village and Carver Park will pass into County hands in the near future, if the local Housing Authority is successful in its efforts to have the projects qualified for such transfer, according to James Farndale, Executive Director.

Under new amendments to the Lanham Act, by which the projects were built and have been operated since 1948, temporary housing projects may be turned over to a local non-profit governing body without cost. The land however must be under the control of such local body. The County in which the property is located must give a waiver to the removal requirements of the law whereby temporary housing must be removed from site when no longer needed to house veterans, servicemen and displaced persons.

There are some sections of the new law which might be difficult to meet, with respect to the Henderson property. In an effort to start the ball rolling towards a test of the case, Wm. M. Brown, who has no local government body requests transfer before January, chairman of the County Housing Authority, Fred Gibson, a member of the Authority Board and Farndale met with the Colorado River Commission on Monday and made a formal request for transfer of the site to the Housing Authority, by the State. This ground is included in that which was transferred to the State with the Henderson townsite and the plant. The Commission offered full cooperation in the matter, and indicated that they were willing to make the transfer. They have promised an early reply to the Authority, and it is confidently expected an agreement will be forthcoming.

The three officials of the Authority later conferred with the Board of County Commissioners and requested the Commission's cooperation in seeking to qualify the projects for transfer from the Federal Government to the County. The County Commissioners gave full assurance that they would execute the necessary documents required under the law.

With regard to projects for 1951, such projects will be subject to removal from site as soon as tenants living in them can find other housing.

The Victory Village and Carver Park projects have been held open to all who need housing. Recent announcements by the Washington office of the Housing Agency, however, indicate that the present relaxed occupancy regulations may be changed, permitting only veterans and servicemen in the projects. Nevertheless, it is believed that if the Authority make an application for transfer of the projects, occupancy regulations will remain as at present. Meanwhile, the Authority is receiving tenants without restriction.

Rents remain substantially the same as during the war years, and the Authority has gone forward with many improvements. Plans are under way for further improvements and, if the projects are transferred, a long-range program of modernization will be undertaken. After the transfer if it is found feasible, all of the revenues will remain in the County with no further payments to the federal government.

Twelve new tenants have been listed for the Townsite since May 15. In addition to this, thirty have been reported for Victory Village, and three for Carver Park since May 22.

The new tenants for the Townsite are: John Pantuso, 22 Washington; Carroll Fitzgerald, 18 California; L. C. Fitzpatrick, 239 Nebraska; Howard Cahoon, 239 Kansas; Harry Rosencrantz, 10 E. Texas; Clyde Lauritzen, Unit 1 Apt. 114; Jack Carter, Unit 2 Apt. 215; Wm. Hatfield 171 Copper; Ted Hoffman, 15 Arizona; Donald Williams, 167 Magnesium; Charles Bennett, 6 Colorado; and William Love, 130 Magnesium. Of the new residents, four are employed by Stauffer, two by O. J. Scherer, two by Post Transportation, one by the Tastee Tavern, one by the Henderson Department Store, and two are Veterans.

The new residents of Victory Village are: T/Sgt. J. C. Plock, 119-A; D. E. Munter, 870-D;

K. I. Sellers, 69-B; M. H. Mathable, 6-C; I. L. Keil, 89-B; Trent, 36-A; P. W. Duffy, 18-C; E. W. Smith, 80-C; W. P. Evans 107-A, R. E. Walker, 87-B; D. B. Darling, 75-B; P. R. L. Bleakmore, 40-C; S/Sgt. H. F. Lisiecki, 73-D; M. J. Leavitt, 69-B; D. A. Edwards, 45-D; V. B. Hawkins, 61-C; C. R. Calderon, 48-B; T. R. Monteverde, 72-D; Sgt. H. H. Reese, 46-C; Cpl. L. Hickman, 14-C; T/Sgt. M. Bedgood, 6-B; Leo M. Combs, 36-C; Clayton Doyle, 24-B; William Sexton, 89-B; S/Sgt. E. H. Lesley, 89-C.

Sgt. Norval Halstrom, 115-C; Robert Lunderville, 40-D; H. E. Skinner, 20-A; Leon Payne, 101-D; Glade Stubbs, 94-C.

The three new additions to Carver Park are: S/Sgt. G. L. Southern, 11-D Washington; R. L. Gallier, 9 1/2-A Carver, and Cpl. F. X. Infanti, 10-C Carver.

The Townsite, Victory Village, and Carver Park join together to bid "Welcome" to their new neighbors.

Advice On How to Keep Insect Free

Preston Austin, Housing Manager, has announced that bids have been received and arrangements are being made to spray the Townsite with insecticide. The spraying will begin in the very near future.

Austin stated that he has been very fortunate inasmuch as he has been relatively free of insects and that the spraying of garbage cans, etc. will help in preventing any future infestation of the area. Tenants are requested to keep their garbage cans covered and to wrap their garbage before disposing of it, as garbage makes an excellent breeding place for flies. Tenants should also be on the lookout for any stagnant pools of water as they are the favorite breeding places of mosquitoes.

Austin has also requested that tenants be careful of any unnecessary wasting of water. Inspectors and the sheriff's office have the authority to turn the water off when they notice that it has been left on so that it is running on the street. The people of the townsite should feel free to use as much water as they deem necessary to keep their lawns in good condition, but, allowing it to run all night on one spot or on the street is neither a good conservation practice nor very beneficial for the lawns. A piece of hose attached to the color outlet will help in irrigating plants and will also prevent the water from running under the house and rotting the underpinnings.

45 New Tenants Welcomed to Townsite, Victory Village, Carver Park

STORY TELLING HOUR ... program there will be a party for all with ice cream and cookies; and best of all, the children having the three best dressed cowboys, will receive a prize.

Story Telling Hour & Summer Reading Program Announced by Librarian

Mrs. D. Malcom, Henderson librarian, announced that a story telling hour will be held in the Victory Village Auditorium on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, starting June 19 and ending July 7. The hour will run from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Assisting Mrs. Malcom, will be Mary Church and Suzanne Schwartz.

Stories will be chosen for preschool and primary grade youngsters, however all children are welcome to come and listen. This is a free service of your library to the children of Victory Village.

Mrs. Malcom also announced that a summer reading program will start July 11 and continue for six weeks until August 19. Any child who will enter the third, fourth, fifth or sixth grade next fall, may obtain a library card, if he does not already have one, which will enable him to take out books free of charge. This card, however, must be turned in at the close of the summer reading program.

Everyone joining the club will be given an opportunity to earn a jolly cowboy with full western regalia by reading a certain number of books; first, the cowboy, then his big blue hat, then his green neckerchief, next his tan chaps and his larit and then if one really wants to add adornment, there are silver stars to go all the way down the sides of his chaps to represent the silver ornaments which are to be seen on the riders at the Helderado parades.

At the end of the six weeks

The official population of Henderson, Nevada is 5324.

That's it, folks, right from the census mogul himself — Francis Heber.

All his census taking statistics have been gone over and the one figure which will be quoted and recorded for the next 10 years, until 1960 when another federal nose counting will take place—until then, the figure will be—5,324.

It is believed that this will automatically move our town into the third largest city class in the state. Officially, this won't be known for the next week or so. It could be, Henderson will be fourth.

Boulder City, which had always been considered the third city, lost that classification last year at the unofficial census taking conducted by the citizens. The count was 3828.

MORRY'S STORY

By MORRY ZENOFF

A sensible piece of speech-making was reported to publishers about the country this week by the editor and publisher's magazine. It quotes from a talk by Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press, a keen student of world affairs. I'd like you take the time to read a digest of it.

"If the United States gets into another war, it will be our own fault because we have led some aggressor to believe we could be licked."

"We got into the last two wars that way. The Kaiser thought, first, that we would not fight and, secondly, that if we did fight we could not transport an army to Europe. The Japanese thought we could be licked. Hence Pearl Harbor. Hitler shared that delusion. Hence his declaration of war on the United States."

"Personally, I am in favor of letting the world know how formidable we are so that hostile nations, or those which might become hostile, will be afraid to attack us."

Mr. Baillie said the chances are against premeditated military attack as long as the Nuernberg hangings are remembered.

"I remembered them very well," he said. "I knew personally a number of those who were hanged. I shall never forget how they eyed me in the courtroom when they saw me in the press box—those Nazis whom I had seen and talked with when they were in positions of high power in the German government and the German army."

Add noble experiments department—Each year on my birthday I stop smoking. For the past seven years I've made it a part of my way of life. Each year, I've vowed that from 12:01 a.m. June 3 on for the next six months, I would not smoke.

It has been especially difficult to stick it out because when my smoking season is on, I eat up some 3 1/2 packages a day. I do not look forward to tomorrow. It is a dreadful try on one's nerves—having to cut out a habit which gives so much enjoyment. The urge to reach out and light up, the wonderful taste, the feeling of relaxation, the companionship the cigarette gives you when you drive, talk, work.

Then, why do it? Why stop smoking? Well, I've always been told by doctors that smoking just isn't good for you period.

Too, I hate to feel that I am enslaved to anything—and especially the tobacco habit. People have been trying to break the habit for years. Many can't.

I don't want to be in the role of not being able to. So, for the past seven years, I've been able to master Mr. Cigarette.

I have found the first three days the hardest. You want to cheat on yourself, sneak a puff off the neighbor's cig., swear off and start over again.

Then, suddenly, you find you can get along without it. You find your chest taking deeper breaths, your mouth feeling cleaner, your whole body reacting from that tired feeling you use to have.

This column wishes to officially commend George Franklin Jr. for being willing to step forward as so many other strong young Americans ought to do—and stand willing to fight the forces that he believes wrong—the Pat McCarran machine—which has held Nevada in its grip so long.

Trying to beat McCarran is a tough job. Yet, if George can force the aged senator to come out in the open on all issues, let the people know where he stands and why he acts as he does—if George can make him do that, he will be doing a service to the people of Nevada.

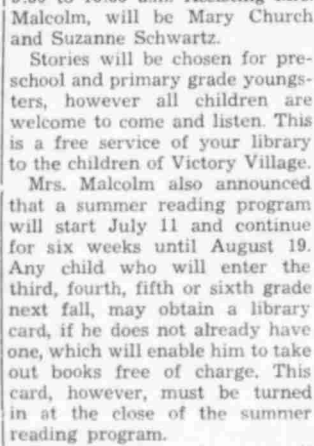

George refuses to tie up with factions, play politics, and he doesn't believe any other representative of the people should do so—he believes in sound government, not pressure government.

He deserves praise, indeed, for stepping forward and taking the fight to McCarran where others feared to try.

Win or lose, George, we congratulate you

The above insignia has been adopted by the Nevada State Fair and will be imprinted on all State Fair literature. 10,000 window stickers have been printed and will be distributed to all committeemen, exhibitors, and premium sponsors. The committeemen who have accepted from Clark County are Rodney Colton, County Commissioner, and M. M. Zenoff, editor.

The 1950 Nevada State Fair will be held in Fallon, September 1, 2, 3, 4.

Send your comments, suggestions and criticisms to Hoedowners, Box 1543, Henderson, and I'll forward them. See you at the next one, gang!

FATHER'S DAY RECALLS TO WRITER HOW THINGS WERE IN GRANDPA'S DAY

By HARRY MacKAY

I see by the papers that Sunday June 18 is Father's Day. If the ads are any indication the fathers of America will receive, as tokens of affection, exerything from gaudy neckties to power lawnmowers. Gifts that will tickle the average man silly or make him feel silly, as the case may be. In any event I'll bet there are five million men in this country who would trade the most expensive gadget for two hours in a bath room not cluttered with feminine haberdashery.

You know, Dad, somewhere along the line, we the Fathers of America, lost control of the ball. I can remember when Grand-dad was the Big Wheel on the family wagon. Every day the Fathers' Day, not just twenty-four hours or 0 1/2 275% of the year. The old gent was president, vice president and sec-treasurer of the whole damn family including the sons and daughters in law. He selected his own clothes, played poker when he pleased and spanked the pants of the kids, grandma too, if they slipped up on their chores.

Today, the women not only dictates what men will wear but insist on our pants being plenty large in the seat so Mamma can wear them on shopping expeditions or to bridge club. The same is true of smoking tobacco and alcoholic beverages. And if that is not bad enough, they control eighty per cent of the wealth of the country. In all sincerity, I ask you, why?

I'm not sure, but I think Grand-dad put us on the skids the day Grandma sold him on the idea of moving the plumbing inside. This so called modern convenience, changed the center of family life from the kitchen to the bathroom.

Prior to that time, Pa held his shaving equipment in a special cabinet mounted on the kitchen wall. This outfit also contained special drawers for his smoking, chewing and sniffing tobacco. His razor strop hung from a hook at the side.

Quite a few years have slipped by, but even today when I see a barber take a razor strop off a hook, I expect my pants to automatically come down with it. It's a complex that would do the youth of today a lot of good, not that they are any worse than we were.

Grand-dad was strict but he had a lot of humor in his make-up. Do you remember the day I asked him why he shaved in the kitchen? His answer was, "Where else kid? There isn't room to hang up my shaving cabinet out back, and I couldn't see to shave with what little light comes thru the half moon in the door. The climate wouldn't do my smoking tobacco any good either."

It was exciting and educational to watch Pa shave. He always took a full windup and could, in one pass, knock the whiskers off both sides of his face. This was possible because his razor was always sharp, no one dared monkey with it, and the kitchen was not cluttered up with a lot of unmentionable feminine laundry.

To the best of my knowledge, the only accident Pa ever had while shaving, occurred when the cat jumped on his shoulder just in time to receive the back swing. Gramps never was able to convince TOM that it was strictly an accident, and what good is a cat's tail anyway?

Ma was a little peeved about it because the shortened handle reduced the distance she could throw the cat. She got over it though when Pa brought home a new cat and agreed hereafter to pause one second before making his pitch. This removed what little danger there was because the kitchen was large and Gramps always stood well back from the razor, which reduced any personal danger.

Tee off with a straight razor in a modern female dominated bath room and it's strictly accidental if you DON'T file your throat. Failing that, you slice thru seven wire clothes hangers, decapitate a hot water bottle and amputate the feet from six pairs of nylon hose.

The follow through performs an appendectomy on three pairs of suspanties, carves the seat out of a wet bathing suit and punctures the float in the flush tank. While you are in the process of unraveling yourself from the shower curtain, you wonder if you are in condition to think at all—why they feed the damn cat raw meat on the bath room floor, until closer inspection reveals that it is your left ear.

Yes sir, Dad, you and I and the fathers of this country—to say nothing of the straight razor—have been pushed completely out of the picture. We are no longer the big frog in the family puddle. Today it's click click push pull and last in line at the bathlove them, if they would on Father's one day of the year, strip the bath room of all things feminine. And if they really want to go all out, give us two undisputed hours therein with a shaving outfit which does not reek of feminine cosmetics, a full tank of hot water, a half dozen lip-stick free towels — king size — and a good two bit mystery magazine.

Happy Father's Day, Harry.

Nevada Gets 542,000 Pounds Of Surplus Food From Uncle Sam

About 542,000 pounds of surplus foods acquired by the U. S. department of agriculture under price support programs, valued at $47,016, have been distributed to Nevada schools, institutions, welfare agencies, and Indians since July 1, 1949.

E. A. Settelmeyer, chairman of the U. S. production and marketing administration Nevada state committee, reported this week that the bulk of the surplus foods were used in the school lunch program which serves approximately 5,300 children in Nevada. The balance went to eligible institutions serving 1,380 persons, welfare agencies serving 100 clients, and to some 40 Indians. Surplus foods have been distributed under two different laws, one of the comparatively recent, Settelmeyer explained, and differences in the laws have resulted in considerable misunderstanding and confusion among receiving organizations.

The vast majority of surplus foods were distributed under "Section 32" of a law passed in 1935, with handling and transportation charges paid by the government.

Some 489,800 pounds of food, valued at $43,397, was distributed in Nevada under Section 32, most of it to the school lunch program. Foods distributed included fresh potatoes, frozen turkeys, creamery butter, honey, fresh apples, dried milk, and dried prunes.

However, Settelmeyer said, on January 17 section 416 of the agricultural act of 1949 became effective, providing for distribution of "food stocks . . . for which to market outlet in normal trade channels is foreseen during their storable life, thus exposing them to danger of deterioration or spoilage."

"Section 416 also provides that such commodities be donated at point of storage, and beyond that point all expenses incidental to handling, transportation, and repacking must be borne by the receiving organization."

Commodities declared available under Section 416 include fresh potatoes, dried milk, dried eggs, and, recently, cheese and butter.

About 52,000 pounds of fresh potatoes, dried eggs, and dried milk, valued at $3,620, have been distributed in Nevada since January 17. The bulk of the commodities went to the school lunch program.

Orders are now being received by the PMA food distribution programs branch in San Francisco for butter and cheese, Settelmeyer said.

Under legislation recently signed by the President, the production and marketing administration has announced that transportation and handling charges can be paid by the government on remaining stock of 1949—crop fresh potatoes acquired under price support. Transportation and handling charges on other commodities under Section 416 still must be paid by the receiving organization.

Settelmeyer reported that a number of inquiries have been received as to why other types of commodities, such as dry beans, have not been included in the Section 416 program.

Commodities under this program, Settelmeyer points out, are limited by law to those in danger of deterioration or spoilage. Dry beans and like commodities do not fall in this classification.

CANADA'S ART IMPORTS

Last year Canada imported works of art, including paintings, and pastels, statues and statuettes, and sculptures, valued at more than $2,500,000, with the United States a major supplier, according to statistics reaching Foreign Commerce Weekly.

Publicly reported cash dividend payments, from 60 to 65 per cent of all dividend payments, by United States corporations amounted to $1,561,800,000 in the first quarter of 1950, an increase of 8 per cent over the like period of 1949, says the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Business firms operating in Mexico are required to employ a minimum of 80 per cent Mexican nationals, the U. S. Department of Commerce says.

Those who live in places with a population of 2,500 or more are urban residents, and all others are rural residents.

Jet Fighters for Nevada's Air National Guard Set for Reno Air Base by Jan. 1

Hard, unceasing work on the part of the officers of the Nevada Air National Guard, with much of the credit due Capt. James Ray, who was in charge of the recruiting drive has brought the 192nd Fgtr Sq and the units stationed at the Reno Air Base up to authorized strength, assured the continuance of the base in Reno, and assured, also, that this base will see jet fighters replacing the planes now stationed at the base prior to the first of the year.

Cooperation from merchants and civic minded Nevadans enabled an unprecedented drive for recruits to prove so successful. Not only did everyone in the Nevada Air National Guard exert every possible effort to bring the drive to a successful conclusion, but members of the ground forces aided in every possible way to keep the interest of young men alive in the Nevada National Guard by steering recruits to the Air arm of the guard, after an economy move had frozen the strength of the ground forces at the strength then held, even though the 421 AAA Gn Bn (90mm) NNG was then in the midst of its own recruiting drive. The victory is a highly important one to the State of Nevada.

While it is true there is but one base for the Nevada Air National Guard, the Air Guard definitely belongs to the State of Nevada, and time and time again has demonstrated its ability to meet any emergency that might arise. That was the attitude manifested by the merchants and those citizens of Nevada who supported the NANG in the successful drive for recruits.

Major John A. Arant, commanding officer at the Reno Air Base, addressing the various groups of recruits after they had passed their examinations and been sworn into service, stressed repeatedly the purpose of and reason for the existence of the NANG.

When Brig. Gen. Jams A. May returned from Washington recently he brought with him the good news that an additional $30,000 had been released for the building of improvements at the Reno Air Base, to raise the efficiency of the NANG. It could well be said that the enthusiasm indicated by the officers and airmen of the NANG has spread as far as Sacramento, for on the following pages is described the first Gun-structor installed for a National Guard unit in the Pacific area, a training device of great importance in the training of a pilot.
