THE PERSONAL SIDE OF OUR TOWN

By BILL ATHIS

For months I have been talking about them — looking at photographs and artists conceptions of them — and once in a while, I have even talked to someone who claimed that he had seen them. I have read weird accounts of their probable origin—also, some down to earth explanations of them. I have heard them verified, and I have heard them debunked.

After a couple of months of the aforementioned, I decided, that after all, if so many have seen them, why haven't I been able to catch a glimpse of them? Why shouldn't I be one of the select group able to boast that they have witnessed one of these strange phenomena? After all, am I not equal to my fellowman, and should I not be allowed the same opportunity as the others? I was determined! I was going to see one, if not many.

Now, dear reader, imagine that a few months have elapsed since I had made my ever-so-determined resolution. Imagine my enthusiasm waning with each passing month — my vigil becoming not quite so vigilant. Imagine my disbelief growing as time goes by because of my inability to see as much as a glimpse of one.

To add to my disbelief, so-called reliable sources are constantly discrediting these objects which so arouse the adventuresome spirit within me. Finally, I am convinced! They are a pack of lies. Mere figments of someone's imagination! Mass hysteria — call it what you want; I ceased to even read about them, let alone look for them.

By last Saturday, my long and watchful waiting came to a complete stop! I decided that if it was adventure that I wanted, vicarious or otherwise, I would have to seek it in other quarters. I packed my tent, my camp stove, other camping paraphernalia, my family that is, I took my family, I didn't pack them) and (oh yes, my car, such as it is, went along) departed for Degr Creek Canyon. There, I spent a quiet weekend of commuting with nature (and freezing) — there I also fulfilled my great desire for adventure, even if it was only in my imagination. Late in the evening I could see the eyes of ferocious animals (chipmunks) ready to pounce upon me and my family — ready to devour us! I could picture myself doing mortal combat with these ferocious beasts — finally the beast succumbing to my overpowering strength, and I, lying on the ground bleeding profusely and completely exhausted from combat. Next, help is summoned — I am taken to the hospital — newspapermen arrive — photographers take my picture—the radios all over the world tell of my great feat and how I risked my very life to save my family from such a horrible death—the President awarding me the Medal of Honor! Ah! Adventure! What care I about those stupid things. They couldn't have possibly given me one tenth the satisfaction as I have received here in the wilderness, miles away from civilization. Suddenly, around three o'clock Sunday afternoon, the realization strikes that we better pack up and leave as I must be fresh and efficient to gather news for Morry Zenoff on Monday morning. What a let down! Oh well — It still was a wonderful weekend! UNTIL — when I returned a friend confronted me and said, "Did you see the flying saucers Saturday? Oh, you were gone? That's too bad, almost every other person in Henderson saw them, and I knew how badly you had wanted to see one? What's the use?"

Gordie McCaw Will See Land Down Under for Free; Will Take the Missus

It couldn't have happened to a nicer guy! Gordon McCaw, principal of the elementary school, recently won a round trip ticket to Australia with $200 expense money, on the Earn Your Vacation program which originated in The Hotel Flamingo last week.

McCaw, who is a native of Australia, arrived in the U. S. in 1931 and became a naturalized citizen. He has his mother, three sisters, two brothers and a score of nephews and nieces in Australia that he has not seen since his arrival in this country. His exact date of departure, for the "land down under", is not known at present as passports must be secured and other technicalities must be taken care in preparation for the trip.

An interesting bit of prognostication may be noted in the fact that when I contacted Gordon, a couple of weeks ago, for some news, he said, "wait until I win the trip to Australia, and I'll have some news for you." The sleepless nights and nervous hours of waiting finally paid off, eh Gordon?

Basic Scullers Come Out of Desert and Steal Water Honors

The trio of scullers, that Walter Hoover Sr. took to Lake Merced last week, greatly justified and may have even far exceeded Hoover's fondest expectations. The three boys, Bill Stitt, Bobby Miller, and Walter Hoover Jr., won every event that they entered and set a new course record for a mile and an eighth in the senior championship singles. Young Hoover finished first in this event, followed in line by his teammates Stitt and Miller—all three breaking the old record.

In the events, Miller won the junior singles using a borrowed boat and oars. Stitt took the 145 pound singles. The 145 pound quarter mile dash was won by Hoover and Stitt, and the senior quarter mile dash was b the three Henderson boys.

The affair was the championship regatta of the Pacific Coast Association of Oarsmen. Walter Hoover, who is a former champion sculler, has done a wonderful job of training the boys, and the boys, on the other hand, have certainly justified his confidence in them.

Boulder City Ball Tossers Bow Before Basic Jr. Legion

The Basic Junior Legion added another win to its record by defeating the Boulder City Legion team, 11 to 9, in a game played in Boulder last Tuesday evening.

Most of the runs gathered by both sides were due to errors and bases on balls. Five errors committed by the Basic boys enabled the Boulder team to run up its score, while 10 bases on balls given up by Marsh, the Boulder pitcher, helped the Basic boys garner enough runs to win.

Dubravac Protects Henderson's Water Rights As Las Vegas Group Lays Plans to Purchase

Chamber Also Informs Visitor Of Local Wants

S. R. Dubravac, plant manager, stated today, that in talks with Col. Clark, mgr. of the Las Vegas Water District, he had emphasized the fact that, if Las Vegas were to purchase the water facilities of Henderson, the Townsite and the plant must first be assured of a sufficient amount of water for the operation of the plant and the fulfillment of all the requirements of the local residents. Engineering data, set-up, and present operation of the water treatment plant were the other topics of discussion between Dubravac and Clark.

At the last meeting of the Chamber of Commerce here, Colonel Clark, who was the main speaker, was told outright by our business and professional men that Henderson's water needs for now and the future must be taken care of before any deals with the Las Vegas group could be considered.

Henderson folks even suggested that the new group build their own reservoir and thus not have to depend upon using only the surplus water in the present reservoir.

Currently, there is enough water available, but should the plant expand and the housing needs increase, it is feared there would not be enough water to take care of Vegas, too. The pumping facilities are adequate, though, for as much water as is needed.

The final solution is expected to take care of Henderson's needs.

Henderson Girls Wind Softball Season Unbeaten

The Henderson girls' softball team defeated the Boulder City girls' team 17 to 6 last Wednesday night, to remain undefeated in their season's play. The girls have previously defeated Kingman twice this season and the Kingman girls have asked for return games in hopes of evening the series. If the girls continue playing the same type of ball that they have displayed recently, they will be tough to beat by anyone.

EDITOR'S NOTE

The news this week that Harvey Machine Company may think of moving to Montana poses some thoughts and questions, which you and I ought to think about.

You and I want Harvey Machine to come to Henderson, in order to bring new life to a waiting community.

But, the powers that be in Washington refuse to okay the deal.

We've begged, borrowed, pleaded with our supposedly powerful Pat McCarran—but suddenly he keeps his nose out of the deal, suddenly he is busy making campaign trips to bolster his falling walls around Nevada, suddenly he criticizes President Truman for his present Korea policy. Suddenly he has no time for Henderson.

This week again, Henderson is sold down the river, because an aged man plays politics while the people he represents get the cold brushoff.

Classes Set Red Cross Swim Sched. Still Open

Enrollment for the Red Cross swimming program is still open and anyone wishing to enroll may sign up with Ruth Ball at the high school office. All enrollments should be in by the end of this week in order to allow time for the scheduling of classes. The program will begin on Wednesday, July 5.

Gordon McCaw, chairman of the Red Cross swimming program, announced that the Red Cross instructors course was to be held in Las Vegas on July 5, 6, 7, and 8. The classes will be held in the late afternoon. Anyone wishing to enroll for the course should contact Gordon McCaw by calling 1038-J, here in Henderson.

Pal Party Held Monday Nite

The semi-annual Pal Party of the Mothers' Club was held on the back lawn of 667 Vienna Co. Monday night, with Wilma Cooper and Jessie Robinson as co-hostesses.

Mrs. William Baird, of the Mohave Ceramic Shop, demonstrated the art of molding to the group, and explained procedures of ceramic making.

Mrs. Cooper, who has a small work-shop in her home, presented each member with a favor in the form of a ceramic nut cup, with "Mothers' Club" lettered in gold on the bottom of the tray.

Pal gifts were exchanged, identities of past pals disclosed, and refreshments served to the club members.

Don Detomasies Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. Don Detomasi and her son Don Jr. have returned from a two week vacation in Utah. While in Utah, Mrs. Detomasi attended a four day convention of the Does in Ogden. The Does is the auxiliary of the Elks.

Make the 4th Safe and Sane

Firecrackers have been outlawed by most of the population centers in Nevada, due to danger to life, limb and property, but they still remain a hazard through use in outlying districts.

It seems an odd way to celebrate freedom — blowing off a hand or setting fire to the landscape, yet a certain amount of it persists, and it involves both first and second childhood.

Deaths from this cause have become few and far between in Nevada, due to local laws regulating the sale and use of fireworks, but accidents from this cause are still numerous, and many of them maim their victims for life.

The state department of health recommends that Nevada say it with flags this year, celebrating the Fourth quietly, in small groups, close to home, in order to prevent not only fireworks mishaps but holiday auto accidents and drownings as well.

Seven Townsite Tenants Arrive

Seven new tenants have moved into the Townsite since June 9 of this year. The newcomers are: Mr. Bruce Gates, 119 Basic Road; Howard Hooper, Unit 1, Apt. 117; M. H. Garrett 59 E. Texas; Charles England, 330 Basic Road; Stella Havers, 46 Atlantic; James Longley, 19 Colorado; and Clyde Wenz, 42 Atlantic. Of the newcomers, Garrett, England, and Longley are veterans; Gates is employed by the Union Oil Station, Hooper by Stauffer, Havers by the Rose de Lima Hospital, and Wenz, by Post Transportation. Once again Henderson lays down the Welcome mat for its new neighbors.

7 Foot Display Window Building

Work has begun on a 7 foot display window at the Industrial and Commercial Electric Co shop, located in the Chamber of Commerce building. The showcase will be used to display the complete line of electrical appliance that the shop will feature. Slow, but sure, our downtown section is taking on a dressed-up look.

Junior Legion

The Basic Junior Legion will play a game against Caliente next Sunday, July 2, at the American Legion field in Henderson. The boys have a scrappy team and they deserve the support of all the townspeople. Let's all be there.

Boulder City Damboree Will Be Greatest July 4 Celebration

The Second Annual Boulder Damboree parade in Boulder City July 4th starts at 10 a.m. on Nevada Highway near Peterson Field and will be a fine display of interesting entries from all parts of Southern Nevada.

In addition to the Veterans Organizations of Southern Nevada who will participate in this event and with the massed colors of the various Posts and other organizations there will be many noted entries in the parade. The American Legion Band of Post 8 Las Vegas which has won national recognition and won first place at Long Beach, Calif., recently in a band contest will be present in the parade. The Marine Band from San Diego Marine Recruit Station will also arrive here on July 3rd to participate in the event and furnish their usual fine music for the entertainment of all of Southern Nevada. The Nellis Air Base Band will also participate and this fine band which made such a wonderful impression during the recent Elks Helderado celebration will again appear for the entertainment of Southern Nevadans and will participate in this parade.

In addition to the above the

An article in the Kalispell Montana Daily Inter Lake" seems to indicate that Henderson will be losing the Harvey Machine Co. The June 21 issue of the paper indicated that the location of a huge aluminum reduction plant, in the Flathead Valley is in the final steps of negotiation. The tentative site of the plant is two miles northeast of Columbia Falls on the north bank of the Flat-head river. Options on approximately 700 acres of land were secured and the Harvey Machine Co. has been studying the Valley for some time. When the plant goes into operation, it will have a 2000 man payroll which will amount to about $100,000 a week.

Harvey had stressed the necessity of preventing too exuberant an attitude by the residents, but, extremely well informed sources indicate that the Flathead Valley site has been settled on definitely and only minor details remained to be ironed out.

Harvey, also emphasized that he has been considering other sites including the one in Henderson, Nevada. The possible sites have finally been boiled down to two; the Flathead Valley and Henderson.

The plant, which would be located near Hungry Horse Dam and the Great Northern Railway, has been assured adequate power by the Bonneville Power Administration. The first installations at the plant will be one pot line and plans are made for further expansion once operations are begun. The options on the 700 acres have not as yet been exercised.

Roland Wiley, Las Vegas Candidate For Governor, Visits These Parts

Roland H. Wiley, leading contender in the race for governor, visited Boulder City and Henderson early this week and in a statement issued to this newspaper declared:

"There are definite issues facing the people in this campaign, and that these issues are more important than personalities."

Wiley, who is on a vigorous political campaign that will eventually take him into every corner of the state, pointed out that "development of the state's industrial, mining and agricultural resources, with particular attention to the Esac Magnesium Industries plant, are issues uppermost in the minds of the people."

Wiley emphasized that he is confident his program, reflecting the people's wishes, "represents a constructive alternative to a 'do nothing' policy, and only can be accomplished by electing a governor with vision and leadership."

Wiley will carry his campaign message "directly to the people."

He said he will be "a people's governor," and proposes a "new leadership to create opportunities for the people and for a greater Nevada."

Declaring that he is a "free man and an independent-type candidate," Wiley asserted, "we cannot accomplish the development that is necessary and imperative throughout the state by serving special and selfish interests."

Wiley made reference to the present state administration which he described as "a well financed political machine which seeks perpetual control," and added, "this type of government is not in the best interests of the people."

He continued, "a governor should lead, not ride the fence. He should not serve the interests of the selected few."

"I am not aligned with any man or group of men," Wiley emphasized.

"It is widely known by the people, as evidenced particularly by my work as District Attorney of Clark County that I have never been and never will be connected with, or identified with any clique—either in business or politics, professionally or socially."

"I am absolutely a free man, and because of this independence, I am confident that I will be able to bring peace and harmony to the conflicting groups that so often arise and which even now exist."

"There will be but ONE governor. There will be no buck-passing, no broken promises. I will not say one thing today and another thing tomorrow," Wiley asserted.

Thomas P. O'Neill, veteran employee of the Bureau of Reclamation and the only remaining local resident who was a member of the party which surveyed the Colorado River for suitable dam sites back in 1920-'24, will retire from Government service at the close of business today, it was learned in a statement issued by Acting Director of Power, L. J. Hudlow.

"Tom" as he is known to all the old-timers with the Reclamation Bureau and to his countless friends in this little community, has elected to retire at this time rather than continue on the job until September when he would reach the mandatory retirement age, and thus will close one of the most colorful careers in Reclamation history.

O'Neill joined the Boulder Canyon survey party as camp cook 30 years ago, and, with the exception of a few years between 1925-'30, has served the local project ever since.

A native of Brooklyn, O'Neill was left an orphan early in life and since the age of nine has been his own support.

As did many others Tom left the east and sought his fortune in the growing west. Arriving in Los Angeles nearly forty years ago, he followed his trade of cook and caterer for some time. But, when he learned that preliminary investigations were to be made prior to the construction of a giant dam in southern Nevada, Tom took leave of the metropolitan area and set out to seek employment with the new enterprise.

Arriving at Las Vegas, Tom learned that a party was being organized to survey sites in Boulder Canyon or a proposed dam. Headed by Walker R. Young, who recently retired as chief engineer of the Bureau, the party was in need of a camp cook. This was Tom's liking and he immediately "joined up."

But, the job of camp cook with that survey party proved to be one of the most difficult assignments ever undertaken. For that part of the Colorado River to be surveyed was nearly as isolated as the Sahara Desert, and in many respects as hostile to human habitation.

In this desert region, and without any of the most rudimentary modern conveniences, it was Tom's duty to prepare a menu that would not only be nourishing, for the labor was arduous, but to set a table that would meet the approval of the most discriminating. For, he had not only to cater to his own crew members, but to all visitors who might come to see first-hand the progress of the work in connection with the project which was gaining worldwide attention.

To Tom's table came the great and near great. Among his guests were; Herbert Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, late Secretary of the Interior, the late Senators Key Pittman, James Scrugham, and Senator Pat McCarran, and countless engineers, college professors and others of world repute. The fact that the work was completed in record time, and without undue distress was in no small measure a result of the tremendous ingenuity on the part of the camp cook.

After these surveys had been completed, Tom returned to the west coast, but not for long. He was back in southern Nevada at his old work as camp cook in 1929 with the crew making the final surveys in Black Canyon for the mighty barrier. He has served the local project ever since.

Since 1933, when his work as camp cook was done, he has worked in various jobs, and in 1942 was assigned as janitor in the Administration building. He has remained in this position ever since.

Tom, is not, and never has been, an engineer or technician, yet solely through his unflinching attention to duty, no matter what is might have been, he has gained the admiration and respect of the top men in the Bureau despite the fact that he has worked in an agency where technical training is almost a requisite for attaining recognition.

It is a high tribute, that whenever such men as Dr. Julian Sav-

Henderson Lions Elect Officers

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Morry Zenoff, City,

"July 4, 1776"—"July 4, 1950"

"An American Flag over every threshold, every place of business, Church and hall."

You as a newspaper man probably know better than Mr. John Q. Citizen the real International conditions most pertinent to the welfare of every American today.

So, now as then—Words to live by—to die for!

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their "Creator" with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness. . . . That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just power from the consent of the government. . ."

These words Mr. Zenoff express the true essence of "genuine patriotic Americanism," and build the passion, zeal and reverence for the "grandest Flag in the World today" and the most beautiful, our own "Stars and Stripes."

Mr. Zenoff, I ask you in all sincerity—wouldn't it thrill you and every person in Boulder City, July 4, 1950 to see our beloved "Old Glory" floating serenely over every threshold and place of business in this beautiful little desert town—100 per cent? Why not?

Just what does Independence Day mean to us now? "Old Glory"? And the following immortal days of the year: "Lincoln's birthday," "Washington's birthday," "Memorial Day," "Flag Day", and the most important of all "Independence Day"?

Mr. Zenoff, last June 14, 1950—I covered most of our town and even drove through McNeversville, and the full length of Nevada highway, not one American Flag did I see displayed in front of any business house or home except the American Legion Hall and Gov. offices and my own home 608 Avenue I.

Can you explain such utter indifference unconcern and obvious lack of patriotism, reverence and honor to our "National Emblem"?

And frankly speaking as a Veteran of the 1st World War, I was deeply mortified.

I have been speaking about this apparent lack of patriotism, to quite a few of my friends here, and what do you think some of the people's answers were?

1st—We just didn't think of putting it out!

2nd—We just didn't think of putting it out!

3rd—Why that isn't a custom here!

Well, I say as a patriotic American, it is the obligation of all "Veterans' posts" and a very noble one, to see that every family has an American Flag and urge them to Honor, Reverence and give it, its proper place on those days set aside for the honor of our "National Emblem."

And I feel that our Chamber of Commerce could do a lot to improve this situation.

"Renew Nevada Drivers' Licenses July 1 or Suffer Penalties" --- Walsh

Approximately 6,000 Nevadans must renew their licenses before July 1 or be required to pass an examination before the delinquent license can be reissued, it was announced today by Jack Walsh, Director of the Drivers' License Division of the Public Service Commission. Drivers who renew licenses before the expiration date are not required to take an examination unless they have been involved in an automobile accident in the past year or been convicted of a moving traffic violation.

Persons holding typewritten paper licenses will find an attached application form which may be filled out as indicated and presented to a local office or mailed to Carson City. All questions of the form must be answered.

At the present time 2,000 licenses have been cleared through the Carson City office. The work has been expedited by the utilization of any spare time since the last registration period in typing new licenses for each driver currently registered with the division. The procedure has resulted in a decrease in extra help required during rush periods and speeded up the issuance of individual licenses, Mr. Walsh declared.

Licenses can be renewed at offices established in Reno, Las Vegas, Elko, Ely, Tonopah and Carson City. Persons renewing license by mail should direct their applications to the Carson City office. Applications for chauffeurs' licenses should be accompanied by a fee of $2.00. Checks, money orders, or cash may be submitted with each application. Stamps cannot be accepted.

Persons who have not as yet applied for renewal of their chauffeurs' licenses should do so immediately to avoid delays caused by the heavy workload at the close of the registration period with the consequent danger of operating without a valid license. Persons who will be required to take a driving examination through involvement in automobile accidents or violations should contact one of the local offices immediately for the prescribed tests.

The Hoedowners Square Off

The Hoedowners, the local square dance organization, will hold their 10th annual evening Frolic at the school auditorium at 8 p. m. Wednesday, June 22, with admission by the door, 50c per person.

Piano Students Give Recital

A piano recital, by students of Mrs. Lyl Burkholder, will be presented at 8 p. m. Friday, June 30, at the home of Mrs. Burkholder. The recital will be presented to an audience of the participating children's parents and close friends. Trios, duets and solos will be featured during the recital. The children participating are: Joan Schreck, Kay Ellen Buck, Mary Church, George Ann Miller, Shirley Burkin, Patricia Keenan, James Pitts, Sandra Don Carlos, and Bobby Truworth.

Accidents of all types took 44 lives in Nevada during the first quarter of 1950, and exactly half of these deaths were the result of motor vehicle accidents.

Urge All Employers Release Reserve Members for Training

All employers of members of Reserve Components of the Armed Forces and of the National Guard were urged today by Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson to be liberal in granting special leaves of absence to participate in annual periods of military training.

Secretary Johnson pointed out the importance to national security of maintaining a well-trained military reserve force, in a statement addressed to employers. He urged that a liberal policy in granting leaves of absence is fundamental.

Secretary Johnson's statement to employers was made at the request of Chairman Edwin H. Burgess of the Civilian Components Policy Board of the Department of Defense.

Secretary Johnson's statement follows: Last June I appealed to you, the Employers of the United States to assist in the building of our team for national defense by adopting liberal policies relative to granting leaves of absence to the employee members of the various civilian components of the Armed Forces in order that they might participate in the regular annual periods of training duty with their units.

This year it is even more important that we place maximum civilian components to augment our Regular Forces in the event of national emergency.

While it is an economy to train a reservist on a part-time basis instead of a Regular on full-time duty, yet such training must attain a set standard and these volunteers must be maintained in constant readiness to accept their responsibilities. It is also their right to be able to come adequately prepared when they are called.

Basic Jr. Legion Downs Needles 18 to 6; Cactus Club Drops One

The Basic Junior Legion defeated the Needles Junior Legion baseball team 18 to 6, last Sunday afternoon in a doubleheader at the American Legion field in Henderson. The other game of the afternoon was between the Cactus Club of Henderson and the Westside Tigers, with the Cactus Club finding themselves at the short end of a 19 to 4 score.

In the Basic-Needles game, the Basic boys collected sixteen hits to six for the opposition. Hickman, the Basic pitcher, and Long, the pitcher for Needles both struck out 9 men. The only home runs of the game were by two Needles boys, Hammer and Dewoody.

In the Cactus-Westside tilt, the Westsiders collected 14 hits to 8 for the Cactus club. 10 walks given by the Cactus pitcher played an important part in the final score.

Chinese Timetable

Looking forward to a great increase in air travel between countries in South America and the Orient this year, Panagra (Pan American-Grace Airways) has just published a timetable in Chinese.

This Chinese edition of the airline's timetable, designed for the convenience of the large Chinese populations in cities along the west coast of South America, gives flight times and fares between South America and cities in the United States and the Far East served by Panagra and Pan American World Airways.

The timetable is attractively printed in two colors with Chinese characters and a map showing the routes of Panagra, Pan American and connecting air lines to key cities in the Orient.

Great Britain has allotted $9,000,000 to purchase Canadian flue-cured tobacco this year. This is $1,000,000 more than was allotted in 1949, Foreign Commerce Weekly reports.

New Speed Camera Wartime Exercises

A new camera which will take photographs at the rate of 100,000 frames per second is being used by the Army Ordnance Department for recording shock and detonation waves in the study of explosives, the Department of the Army announced today.

The camera, in use at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland, as an aid to research, photographs waves which move at a velocity of 8000 meters per second, or about 18,000 miles per hour. It is expected to help materially in the future design and development of war weapons, but may also be put to use for the study of detonation knock in internal combustion engines.

The camera was made partly from scrap equipment and odds and ends in the laboratory at Aberdeen. Total cost is estimated as less than $500. It was designed by Morton Sultanoff, a civilian employee at the Proving Ground.

An explosion, Ordnance Department official explained, has a definite, well-ordered pattern from detonation to shock. Although the period from detonation to shock is only millionths of a second, the velocities of these phenomena are one-quarter of an inch in one millionth of a second. The new camera was designed

The United States Air Force today announced that an exercise involving the Military Air Transport Service, Strategic Air Command and Continental Air Command was held during the first two weeks of June.

The exercise was the first since the revision of MATS peacetime mission to one of training for the support of major commands. It also provided training for elements of Continental Air Command in the air defense of certain areas involved in the exercise.

The area involved encompassed most of the continental United States and utilized bases such as Selfridge Air Force Base, Mount Clemens, Michigan, Davis-Monthan AFB, Tucson, Arizona, Fairfield-Suisun AFB, California and Westover AFB, Chippewa Falls, Mass.

There were concentrations of air traffic at particular times during the period involved.

The ultra high speed action is obtained by use of a framing grid and a rotating mirror. The
