WHAT'S YOUR SPECIALTY?

At our recent seminar several people indicated that they needed assistance with their research. Also at the Heritage Room at the Paseo Verde Library, patrons ask for assistance in specific areas of genealogy.

One of our Heritage Room volunteers suggested that CCNGS put together a list of people that have expertise in certain areas related to genealogy. As an example: surnames, parts of the world, photo dating, Polish research, German research, African-American research, Welsh research, PAF, Family Tree Maker, scanning photos and documents, etc.

If you would like to be included on this list, please submit your name, phone number, e-mail address (if you have one), and the area(s) of genealogy in which you have knowledge to share to Ron HUGHES who will compile the list.

Bear in mind that no one in CCNGS considers them self to be "an Expert" in any particular area, however many of us have a special interests in various areas so that we might be able to assist someone who is in need of help. This compiled list will allow CCNGS the opportunity to call on you to help someone else who is needing assistance with their research.

WOW-GREAT SEMINAR!!

CCNGS wants to thank Sharon DeBartolo CARMACK for presenting an outstanding seminar on Saturday, March 27, 2004. Sharon was well spoken, WELL ORGANIZED, and delightful in her presentation. She covered her topics in a timely manner, made each topic relevant to the audience and drew in the audience for participation.

If you missed this seminar, you missed ONE OF THE BEST SEMIMARS that CCNGS has had the pleasure of presenting.

Be sure to put our FALL SEMINAR, October 2, 2004 on your calendar.

John COLLETTA another outstanding speaker, will be with us on October 2, 2004. WATCH FOR FURTHER DETAILS.

LIVE AND LEARN

We are living and every day we are learning. Learning is an ongoing process. This learning process is also what we experience as we pursue our hobby of researching our families.

Good News: One of the greatest learning opportunities that we have in southern Nevada is achieved by attending the Clark County Nevada Genealogical Society's biannual seminars. The speakers who have been selected to present are learned, (often) nationally recognized genealogical authorities. They bring their expertise to share with our membership and with our guests and everyone profits from the genealogical education.

Bad News: Very few members of CCNGS are taking advantage of the wonderful educational opportunities which are being provided. As a result, our last fabulous seminar was a "money looser" rather than a "break even" which is our goal.

CCNGS has tried to explore the question of why more members are not taking advantage of these learning experiences.

1. THE PRICE: CCNGS strives to bring the best speakers to our community. Some speakers are more well-known than others. As a result the cost of the seminar will vary which means that the price that CCNGS must charge will also vary.

2. THE TOPICS:

a. The topics which are selected are based on the specialties of the speaker and within that frame-work CCNGS tries to provide a wide variety of topics so that all members wiill have an opportunity to attend a seminar and learn new genealogical techniques and methods.

b. The titles of the topics can be misleading; perhaps a more detailed description of the title would provide our membership with the added information to say "yes' to a seminar.

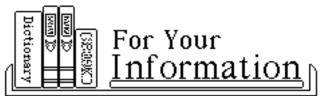

3. THE VENUE: CCNGS strives to select a site for the seminar which keeps the cost down so that the fee is reasonable. Other venues might be available but could significantly impact the fee for each attendee.

4. THE TIME AND DAY:

a. CCNGS schedules the seminars for March and October to provide consistency. The availability of the speaker is the final determining factor as to when a seminar is held.

b. Full Day vs Half Day attendance: While "half day" attendence has been offered previously, our last seminar did not provide this option. One factor for this decision related to CCNGS not having a confirmation of the order of the classes from the speaker. Past experience has presented problems when the speaker changes the sequence of the presentations when people schedule half day attendence.

By investigating these areas and others CCNGS will strive to increase Seminar attendance for future events.

Genealogical Peripheral Vision By Erin RIGBY

A few weeks ago a friend of mine was showing me her recent research. She had a breakthrough on a difficult line by researching a witness to a marriage who turned out to be important to her family line. She had the document for some time, but hadn't thought to research that person before. This got me thinking. How many times do we overlook those people and miss critical information?

I have heard many genealogical breakthrough stories that involve looking at the next census sheet, researching a person on a document that didn't seem to be directly related, or looking in a county that the family didn't live in. These bits of information are found by doing searches that are seemingly outside the focus of the research. I like to call this "genealogical peripheral vision." Hopefully by using your genealogical peripheral vision, breakthroughs can be more deliberate.

In many of the documents a genealogist uses, there are periphery people. If you find a name on a record related to your family, and you aren't sure who that person is, it is a good idea to find out how they relate to the document and your family. Witnesses to marriages and wills are good places to start, but be creative. Periphery people can be found in other places as well. It may sound like extra work, but researching these people may lead you to the answers you have been looking for.

Because many families lived near each other, look at a few pages before and after the page where your family is found on the census. I have seen many people find a family in the census they had been unable to find before because of a horribly misspelled last name.

While researching, keep in mind families that you aren't focused on but who lived in the same area. Keeping these other families in mind can help you spot them as you sift through information and may indirectly benefit you.

Another place to use your genealogical peripheral vision is in neighboring counties and states, especially when your family lived near a border. With the constantly fluctuating counties in the United States, this can solve many problems. For example, I found birth and death dates for an entire family when I looked in a cemetery book of the neighboring county.

Honing your genealogical peripheral vision can help you find information you weren't necessarily looking for but that is pertinent to your family line.

Erin RIGBY has a B.A. in Family History/Genealogy from Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. Erin specializes in the Southern States and has research experience in the entire country.. She can be contacted at airinjune@yahoo.com

BOOKS, BOOKS, BOOKS

Where are your genealogy books? Sitting on a shelf gathering dust? Or have they found a new home at the Heritage Room of the Paseo Verde Library where lots of people have the opportunity to use them now that you have gleamed all of the information you need from them?

So...if you have books to donate to the Heritage Room, CCNGS is accepting your books at any of the monthly meetings of the Clark County Nevada Genealogical Society. Just be sure to give them to the Library Committee of CCNGS (ex: Helen SMITH, Barbara CULLINGS or Ron HUGHES) or to one of the CCNGS Board Members. Your books will be catalogued by the Society and a donation plaque will be placed on the inside cover of the book acknowledging your name and the year of the donation. Our collection is growing and we are happy to say that it is being used by the many patrons to the library.

PLEASE BE AWARE:

IF YOU DONATE YOUR BOOKS TO THE LIBRARY DIRECTLY, THERE IS A HIGH PROBABILITY THAT THE BOOKS WILL END UP IN THE "USED BOOK SALE".

NEWS RE: FAMILY HISTORY LIBRARY

Diane HADDAD, Newsletter Editor - Family Tree Newsletter, 3/5/04

Back in September, after the Federation of Genealogical Societies (FGS) conference, we told you about a Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Family History Library (FHL) announcement: The FHL was conducting a worldwide genealogical needs assessment in preparation for developing a new system that could flindamentally change how you do research. (See newsletter: http:// www.familytreemagazine.com/newsletter/.091103.htm)

We heard some speculation last week that the changes would include a newly organized FamilySearch Web site (http://www.familysearch.org), which would combine all the current site's databases, possibly with links to source documents viewable online. But don't get excited yet. The only official word from the FHL is that there'll be another announcement at this year's FGS conference (Sept. 8-11, http://www.FGS.org/2004conf/FGS-2004.htm), and the public launch is likely another two years away.

COMPUTER CLASSES!

The Paseo Verde Library will be conducting basic computer classes throughout the year. Persons interested in signing up for these informative classes should call the library at 492-7252. The classes fill quickly, so don't delay.

DONATED BOOKS!! WHERE ARE THEY??

THIS IS A REMINDER: DO NOT BRING BOOKS DIRECTLY TO THE PASEO VERDE LIBRARY TO DONATE FOR THE HERITAGE ROOM.

LIBRARY STAFF OFTEN ARE BUSY AND NOT FAMILIAR WITH OUR BOOKS. GENEALOGY BOOKS CAN EASILY END UP IN THE "USED BOOK SALE" IF THEY ARE BROUGHT DIRECTLY TO THE LIBRARY.

BRING YOUR BOOKS TO ONE OF THE CCNGS MEETINGS AND GIVE THEM TO ONE OF THE MEMBERS OF THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE OR TO ONE OF THE BOARD MEM-BERS.

DO YOU LOVE MAPS?

The Heritage Room at the Paseo Verde Library now has access to MAP CASES. If you have maps from various you areas of the world that you are researching and are interested in donating them for others to use, please donate them to the Library Committee of CCNGS at one of the regular meetings so that they may be used in the library.

Maps are a great asset to conducting research. Please help us with our map collection.

The Paseo Verde Library now has a wall map of the United States and another of the World which are on the wall in the Heritage Room. Maps enhance research for everyone!!

Computer Group Offers "How To Workshop"

The Las Vegas PC Users Group meets on the fourth Saturday of each month at the Paseo Verde Library from 9:30 - 3:00 generally, they have between 20-50 people a month attending. Their main goal is to help members and non-members alike with their personal computers, in the form of personal help from a staff of volunteers. This includes troubleshooting, education, software/hardware installs and questions on how to use the computer. A high-speed internet connection is available.

This is a hands-on-workshop. Moreover, they work on an appointment type system where LVPCUG members get preference for having their systems looked at. You will need to make an appointment at least one week in advance to make this possible.

Contact the SIG Leader, Dennis KEMPER at 458-0654 or director@lvpcug.org to schedule an appointment.

Logging on and those 'senior moments'

by Ron HUGHES

The January issue of The Prospector contained an article regarding the use of passwords and how important it is to maintain them in a safe manner. The article pointed out that you should print a list of all your passwords in case your computer crashes or some other tragedy strikes. Reading the article reminded me of how tedious it was in the old days to record and update all my passwords (I use over 40). If you are like most of us, maintaining such information on 3x5 cards is just too much work.

Well, I have a solution. It's called RoboForm. By using this application software, you will no longer have to maintain all these logs and cards.

Here's how it works. After you load RoboForm onto your computer, it becomes a part of your internet browser. If you go to a website that requires a password, RoboForm will pop-up and ask if you want the program to remember' the password for you. Click 'yes', and you will no longer have to remember your user ID and/or password for that website.

The next time you go to the site, RoboForm will again pop-up and ask if you want it to fill in the ID and/or password for you. Click "yes", and it's done.

Filling in forms is not limited to User ID and Password Information. It will remember your address, phone number, social security number, safe combinations, etc.

Going on a trip? Well, download all your passwords to your laptop and take it with you. No need to take all those 3x5 cards so you can log onto Ancestry.com from Aunt Mary's house on the other side of the country. As an alternative, tell RoboForm to print a list of all your passwords. Have difficulty making up a password? RoboForm can make one up for you.

Sounds like something you just can't do without doesn't it? Go to http://www.RoboForm.com and download a free version. It's just like the full version, except you can only record about 30 passwords. The full version is limitless.

TEACHERS NEEDED

Have you ever thought that you know as much (or more) about a family history topic presented by one of our speakers? Or that you could make a presentation with a little preparation? Maybe "Yes" or maybe "No". But no matter what your answer, we need you!

Many in our genealogical society have a great deal of expertise in various fields of research and now we need you to step up to help us by teaching a basic genealogy class to be held at the Paseo Verde Library.

The first round of "Beginning Genealogy" classes (a series of four sessions) concluded recently and now these budding genealogists need additional information to continue their research.

The classes which will be offered now will cover basic topics such as "Census", "Vital Records", "Naturalization", etc. If you have a topic which you would enjoy presenting to our beginners, please contact Helen SMITH, Library Director or Kat McMAHON, President at our next meeting, by calling CCNGS voice mail 225-5838, or by e-mailing at CCNGS@Juno.Com.

Sharing your knowledge is fun and CCNGS appreciates what you have to share.

CLARK COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT

The Prospector is pleased to continue a series of articles which feature schools in the Clark County (Nevada) School District named in honor of individuals from the Clark County, Nevada area. The information presented has been extracted from material derived from each of the schools so honored.

Mike O'Callaghan Middle School

Mike O'CALLAGHAN, son of a Wisconsin farmer who lost his farm in the Depression, was born 10 September 1929, in LaCrosse, Wisconsin. During the Depression of the 1930s, he attended a one-room schoolhouse where his mother taught. He attended high school in Winona, Minnesota and at age 16, joined the U.S. Marines. Discharged as "Sergeant O'CALLAGHAN" in 1948, he continued his studies and also worked as an ironworker until 1950.

While in military service O'CALLAGHAN became a highly decorated soldier and later was often honored for his community activities. His distinguished military career in the 1950's included service as an intelligence officer in the Aleutians and military honors which included two Purple Hearts, the Bronze Star with a V for valor, and the Silver Star.

O'CALLAGHAN served in three military branches; the Marine Corps as part of the post-World War II occupation forces, the Air Force as an intelligence specialist, and the Army as an enlisted man during the Korean War. It was while he fought in the Korean War that O'CALLAGHAN lost his left leg in battle.

A humanitarian, O' CALLAGHAN often visited local hospitals to talk to recent amputees. Once, to a teenager who had lost a leg in an auto accident, O'CALLAGHAN showed the boy his prosthetic limb and said: "This never stopped me from doing anything I wanted in life. Don't let it stop you from pursuing your dreams," according to a story published in the Sun's 50th anniversary issue.

"Even on one leg, Mike O'CALLAGHAN stood heads and shoulders above other men," Sun Publisher Barbara GREENSPUN said. "He was a very dear man. I will miss him terribly."

Mr. O'CALLAGHAN graduated among the top ten graduates earning both his B.S. and M.Ed. degrees from the University of Idaho. His post-graduate work continued at Georgetown University, Claremont Graduate School, Colorado State, and the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. In 1974, Time Magazine named him among the "Promising 200 Young Americans."

As a public school teacher, Mr. 0'CALLAGHAN taught government and history for five years at Basic High School in Henderson, NV. He served as the Las Vegas Chief Probation Officer in 1961-62. Mr. 0'CALLAGHAN was the first Director of Health and Welfare in Nevada in 1963-64, after which he served as Director of the Job Corps Conservation Centers Program in Washingron, D.C. until 1966. From 1967 to 1969, he was the Regional Director for the office of Emergency Preparedness for Utah, Nevada, Arizona, California, Hawaii, Guam, American Samoa, and the Pacific Trust Territory. One of five "two-term" governors in Nevada history, Mr. O'CALLAGHAN served from 1971 to 1978, and chaired the Western Governors' Conference. His efforts in developing the Presidential Reorganization Plan 1 resulted in the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Mike O'CALLAGHAN, his wife Carolyn, and their five children are long-time members of the Nevada family. He held the position of Executive Vice-President of the Las Vegas Sun newspaper. His tireless involvement with education and community issues was as evident in his journalism as it was from the governor's chair more than two decades ago.

Mike O'CALLAGHAN Junior High School was named for him in 1992, and the Mike O'CALLAGHAN Federal Hospital at Nellis Air Force Base was named in his honor in 1996. A park in Henderson also was named for him. As an additional tribute, the O'CALLAGHAN Regimental Rifle Range carries his name

With all of these honors, O'CALLAGHAN long maintained that "perhaps the greatest honor I ever received happened thousands of miles from here when the regimental rifle range in Korea was named for me."

In addition to the preceding honors, O'CALLAGHAN received many other awards: the 1994 International Communication Service Award from the Republic of China, the 1987 Anti-Defamation Award, the 1989 Nevada Judges Association Award, and the U.S. Department of Defense Outstanding Public Service Award.

As a newsman, O'CALLAGHAN saw government as a necessary tool for our society to survive. In his columns, O'CALLAGHAN was tough on politicians who didn't meet the high standard of public service that he helped set. "I never attack individuals I take issue with what they do "he said in 2000. "I don't see anyone as being really evil. But I see mistakes being made and I write about them."

Former Governor Mike O'CALLAGHAN collapsed and died, Friday, 5 March 2004, from an apparent heart attack while attending Mass at St. Viator Catholic Church in Las Vegas.

O'CALLAGHAN is survived by his wife, Carolyn (RANDALL) O'CALLAGHAN; five children: Michael, Colleen, Teresa, Brian and Tim; and 15 grandchildren.

Genealogical Codicil to

My Last Will and Testament

The following is a suggestion of how to add a codicil to your will to cover the proper care of your genealogical materials upon your demise or to include when you prepare your will.

To my spouse, children, guardian, administrator and/or executor:

Upon my demise it is requested that you DO NOT dispose of any or all of my genealogical records, both those prepared personally by me and those records prepared by others which may be in my possession, including but not limited to books, files, notebooks or computer programs for a period of two years.

During this time period, please attempt to identify one or more persons who would be willing to take custody within your family or friends of the said materials and the responsibility of maintaining and continuing the family histories. [If you know who within your family or friends are likely candidates to accept these materials, please add the following at this point: "Regarding the assumption of the custody of these items, I suggest that the persons contacted include but not be limited to" and then list the names of those individuals at this point, with their addresses and telephone numbers if known]

In the event you do not find anyone to accept these materials, please contact the various genealogical organizations that I have been a member of and determine if they will accept all or some parts or all of my genealogical materials. [List of organizations, addresses and phone numbers at bottom; include local chapters, with their addresses, phone numbers and contact persons if available as well as state/national contact information and addresses]

Please remember that my genealogical endeavors consumed a great deal of time, travel, and money. Therefore, it is my desire that the products of these endeavors be allowed to continue in a manner that will make them available to others in the future.

1930 CENSUS INDEX

The US Federal Census for 1930 is indexed and online with: http://www.Ancestry.com

Murphy's Law for Genealogists

- The public ceremony in which your distinguished ancestor participated, and at which the platform collapsed under him, turned out to be a hanging.
- When at last after much hard work you have solved the mystery you have been working on for two years, your aunt says, "I could have told you that!

You grandmother's maiden name that you have searched for for for four years was on a letter in a box in the attic all the time.

You never asked your father about his family when he was alive because you weren't interested in genealogy then.

The will you need is in the safe on board the Titanic.

Copies of old newspapers have holes occurring only on the surnames.

John, son of Thomas, the immigrant whom your relatives claim as the family progenitor, died on board ship at age 10.

Your great grandfather's newspaper obituary states that he died leaving no issue of record.

The keeper of the vital records you need has just been insulted by a another genealogist.

The relative who had all the family photographs gave them all to her daughter who has no interest in genealogy and no inclination to share.

The only record you find for your great grandfather is that his property was sold at a sheriff's sale for insolvency.

The one document that would supply the missing link in your dead-end line has been lost due to fire, flood or war.

The town clerk to whom you wrote for the information sends you a long handwritten letter which is totally illegible.

The spelling of your European ancestor's name bears no relationship to its current spelling or pronunciation.

None of the pictures in your recently deceased grandmother's photo album have names written on them.

No one in your family tree ever did anything noteworthy, owned property, was sued or was named in wills.

You learn that your great aunt's executor just sold her life's collection of family genealogical materials to a flea market dealer "somewhere in New York City."

Ink fades and paper deteriorates at a rate inversely proportional to the value of the data recorded.

The 37 volume, sixteen thousand page history of your county of origin isn't indexed.

You finally find your great grandparent's wedding records and discover that the brides' father was named John SMITH.

Online Norwegian Research

Nathan W. MURPHY, AG

Within the last few years, the Internet has made finding Norwegian ancestors much easier. Two all-encompassing Norwegian censuses and a large collection of Lutheran parish registers are now available online in free searchable databases. Two valuable Web sites for Norwegian research are Digitalarkivet (www.digitalarkivet.no) and FamilySearch (www.familysearch.org).

Through joint efforts made by the History Department at the University of Bergen and the National Archives of Norway, two principal 19thcentury Norwegian censuses are now available online at the National Archives' Web site, Digitalarkivet. The 1801 and 1865 censuses have been entirely transcribed, and the 1875 census is in progress. To search for your ancestors, go to their website at: www.digitalarkivet.no. If you prefer the English version, click English in the lower toolbar. Next, proceed to search for your ancestors by selecting the source of interest in the upper toolbar, i.e. 1801, 1865, etc. The search engine permits several types of queries such as exact spelling, or initial letters of surname/given name. The starting with search is particularly useful, as it accounts for variations of Norwegian name spellings, eliminating problems caused by the equal search. If you do not find your ancestor's name, just key in the first few letters. When you begin the search, a list of possible spelling variations will appear.

In comparison to the 1800 Federal Census of the United States, the 1801 Norwegian Census contains much more genealogically useful information. For example, in 1801 the intrusive Norwegian government obtained the names of every man, woman, and child within its boundaries. In addition, this record contains the following information on each individual: the relationship to the head of household, age, marital status, occupation, gender, and specific comments and remarks. The United States government sought only meager data from its citizens, such as the name and approximate age of the head of household. The other members of the household are identified by ambiguous tally marks, categorized by approximate age, gender, and race. To family historians accustomed to U.S. research, this record is a genealogist's paradise.

To find exact birth, christening, and marriage information on the individuals found in census records, search Lutheran parish register extractions available at the FamilySearch Web site at www.familysearch.org. Because the Lutheran church has historically been the state religion of Norway, these records cover the entire population. As census records do not always provide accurate ages, search for an approximate year of birth. Be sure to check the results from both the International Genealogical Index, and the Vital Records Index, as Lutheran parish register entries may appear in either of these databases.

Norwegian genealogists owe a great debt of gratitude to the transcribers and digitizers of this wealth of historical information. Our Norwegian ancestors are now just a click away.

FORAY INTO FUNERAL HOMES

Family Tree Magazine E-Mail Update, March 5, 2004

This week's tip comes from Gene KERLIN of Prattville, AL. "On a research trip, my wife and I stopped in a small town where her great-aunt and -uncle had lived. Her uncle had died several years earlier, and it had been some time since we'd heard from her aunt. We didn't know if she was living, so we went to the cemetery where we knew he was buried. We found the grave with a "double" tombstone: It had his name and dates of birth and death, and her name with only her birth date. So we set out to find her. We went to the local funeral home, and they had no burial record. We were about to leave when the clerk checked the insurance files and found that the aunt had a paid-up burial arrangement and, furthermore, was living in a nearby nursing home. Don't forget funeral parlors as a research resource. You might find a long-lost living relative!"

HELIA WAS A NATIVE BORN CITIZEN; WHY WAS SHE NATURALIZED? By: Helen SMITH, CCNGS

When I received all of the documents about my Godmother Helia following her death, I found that she had naturalization papers and had gone to night school to take classes for citizenship in about 1918. I had always wondered why she had done this when I knew that she was born in Minnesota and that her parents came from Finland and that her father was naturalized in 1898. Therefore Helia WAS a citizen of the United States.

Then I found the following information which clarified this confusion for me. If a woman married a "foreigner" between the years 1907 and 1922, she had to assume the citizenship of her husband's birthplace. The Expatriation Act of 1907 provided that "any American woman who marries a foreigner shall take the nationality of her husband." Later, the Cable Act of 1922 repealed this marriage provision, but for those who married a foreigner during that time period (1909 - 1922), they had to go through the naturalization process.

Here is another source of documents that you can search if you have a female ancestor who married a foreign born man between the years 1909 and 1922.

GENEALOGY ETIQUETTE

The following article is a reminder of the use of etiquette when surfing the net and acquiring genealogical information from others who are researching the families which you are researching. We all need to keep these simple rules in mind and follow them as we strive to find our ancestors. GeneaNet suggests the following.

GENEANETIQUETTE... Courtesy friendly reminder (Newsletter GeneaNet, January 14, 2004)

Since its creation in 1996, GeneaNet allowed thousands of genealogists to correspond, exchange and share data and information. The original creator's goal was to facilitate the genealogists' exchanges using the wonderitil tool that Internet is. Nevertheless, it so happens that the initial protocol fails to be observed by all, allowing some users to just copy data they find from an other user, without even sending a little message to the person responsible for all the hard work. It terms of conviviality, this is highly regrettable and above all, it means denying that the enrichment of their own base relies on hours and hours of work somebody else did before them.

Yet, it is so simple to just to send a little "thank you note" to thank this or that person who helped unblock a branch of your tree and who may be allowed you to trace new cousins.

Unfortunately, this kind of behavior discourages the genealogists from posting their work and making it available to all other users!

Thus, it seems that a friendly reminder about basic rules has become necessary and most of all these simple rules that are only a matter of good sense (or even just education) may allow hundreds of thousands GeneaNet members to be able to continue sharing their work in the best possible conditions.

-  Do not disturb genealogists with too general questions. Ask precise questions. Give all the relevant information in your possession.
- * * If you make a postal request, always enclose a pre-stamped and addressed envelope.
- * * Mention your sources (we will further address this matter in a following newsletter). If you use somebody's data, give him the paternity of the research!
- * * Thank your correspondents! Behind the anonymity of a GeneaNet user, there is a genealogist who, just like you, is proud of his work and highly appreciates thanks and cheering.
- * * If you have enriched your family tree with the aid of another genealogist, try to keep him up to date on complements or corrections you may have brought to the tree you acquired from him/ her.

Remember to keep your personal information up to date in your panel board. Certain people make regular updates to their data, but forget to put their e-mail addresses up to date. It is then impossible to contact them!

These tips will allow you to optimize GeneaNet use!

Tips for Using Italian Civil Vital Records

Nathan W. MURPHY, AG

Tracing Italian ancestry is rewarding and exciting research. As Italian-American genealogists quickly discover, Italy has historically kept more detailed biographical information on its citizens than the United States. Italian civil vital records are one example of their recordkeeping superiority. This article will discuss the usage of Italian civil vital records and some of the nuances involved in their interpretation.

Civil vital records are an important starting point for American genealogists to begin searching for their Italian roots. Once the ancestral hometown in Italy is discovered, civil vital records are one of the first sources that should be consulted. Dating from the early 19th century, these registers document the lives of the large group of New Wave Italian immigrants, who came to the United States between 1890 and 1914. The records include births, publication of banns, marriages and deaths. Napoleon introduced the idea of using civil in addition to ecclesiastical records to document vital information about individuals in his empire. This system first emerged in what is now Italy in the French-controlled Southern and Central regions; but by 1870, the newly unified nation of Italy had extended this practice throughout the rest of the country.

In order to read Italian civil vital records, only a basic knowledge of the Italian language is required. In contrast to Catholic parish registers, which were often composed in Latin, civil records were written almost entirely in Italian. Each of the civil record types, birth, publication of banns, marriage, and death, follows a unique formulaic pattern. Reading a few of each will familiarize the genealogist with the terminology needed to successfully trace his or her ancestry. There are several nuances that the genealogist encounters when using this source. Annual indexes, normally located at the end of each book, provide quick reference to the person of interest. However, occasionally the index is in alphabetical order by given name rather than surname, and in many instances decennial (10-year) indexes also exist. Beware that there are multiple dates listed in a single document. For example, in a birth act the date at the beginning of the record is when the birth was registered, the actual birthdate not appearing until later in the text. In marriage and death acts, the preposition fu, positioned before the name of a parent, indicates that the parent is deceased. If the preposition di (literally of) and a given name follows the surname of an individual, such as Vincenzo di Lauro di Michele, the record is stating that Vincenzo di Lauro is the son of Michele di Lauro, who is living. Pay close attention to marginal notes listed by the entry as they often contain marital, emigration, or death information. Also be careful not to confuse the witnesses — whose names, ages, and occupations are listed — with the parental data.

In order to locate the civil registration records of interest to your family tree, first identify the comune to which your ancestral hometown or village pertained. Civil vital records are stored at the township level (comune) and a township often has jurisdiction over several villages (frazioni). Many 19th-century Italian civil vital records are available on microfilm from the Family History Library in Salt Lake City, Utah and its 3,400 satellite Family History Centers located throughout the world. Use the place search of their on-line library catalog, available at www.familysearch.org/Eng/Library/FHLC/ frameset_fhlc.asp, to find your township. Follow the link labeled "Civil registration" to identify the filmed records. If your registers are not available on microfilm, you can request an extract of the original document from the civil vital records office (ufficio de stato civile) of the township of interest in Italy. For additional information on obtaining an extract, consult a good Italian genealogical reference book such as Italian Genealogical Records by Trafford R. Cole.

The CCNGS fee for research assistance is $10. The fee covers the society's or the volunteer researcher's costs of preparing replies, making copies, providing forms, and mileage and parking expense. If costs exceed the amount remitted, we will contact you before incurring added costs. Include with your request the non-refundable fee, this completed form, and a SASE (Self-Addressed-Stamped-Envelope). Also provide us with a Family Group record, Pedigree Chart or other summary telling us why you think the records you are seeking will be found in Las Vegas or Clark County. Please determine the complete date of birth, marriage or death before you request a newspaper search.

CCNGS has no members who do research for pay. For this reason, we are not able to undertake major genealogy or family history research projects.
